IF YOU ARE GOING EAST OR SOUTH ASK YOUR NEAREST AGENT FOR TICKETS VIA THE BURLINGTON AND TAKE NO OTHER LINE.

Ripans Tabules cure constipation.

Ripans Tabules cure the blues.

Ripans Tabules cure dyspepsia.

THE READING WRECK

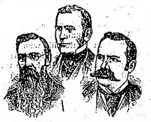
MEN PROMINENTLY IDENTIFIED WITH THE RECENT READJUSTMENT.

The Story of A. A. McLeod's Career Reads Like a Romance In Railroading—Something About the Reading's Receivers. Justice Paxson's Record.

The story of the Reading railroad is one which might well furnish the basis for a sensational play or very realistic novel. It was but a few weeks ago the greatest of all railroad combinations and had at its head Archibald Angus McLeod, the most phenomenally successful of railway operators. All at once there was a change more startling than any kaleidoscope can produce, and now the combined railways are in the hands of receivers, and there has been a fall in the stock and a convulsion in Wall street which in a less healthful state of the market might have produced a panic.

Ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt of New York, of whom the public has heard and read since he "went out with Conkling" in 1881, filed the suit in the United States court in Philadelphia, his right to do so being as a holder of $55,000 of the company's preference bonds on which interest had been refused. No denial of the facts being made, Judge Dallas made the order as of course, and on suggestion of the parties appointed as receivers Chief Justice Edward M. Paxson of Pennsylvania, President A. A. McLeod and E. P. Wilbur. George L. Crawford was named special master, before whom the receivers must lay a completed account each month.

Archibald Angus McLeod, though but 45 years old, has had a career which is a romance in railroading. Born in the northwest and educated in the practical school of life, his first appearance as a railroader was as a rodman for the engineers locating the line of the North Pacific. He soon showed unusual capacity, rose rapidly through all the grades and was made general manager of the Elmira, Cortland and Northern road in New York. In 1886 he secured the same position in the Reading system. Soon after he was made vice president, and on June 27, 1890, on the retirement of President Corbin, became president.



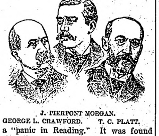
EDWARD M. PAXSON.
E. P. WILBUR. A. A. M'LEOD.

In a little while the country was startled by the announcement that the company had combined all the anthracite coal interests and all the roads by which the coal reached the cities; that this gigantic corporation, "combine" or "trust" therefore controlled some $600,000,000 in capital and 120,000 employees, and that the price of coal was to go up accordingly. The legal battle which followed is fresh in the public memory. The New England and other railway combines thwarted the Reading combine, and soon it transpired that the latter's property was in a wretched condition. It fell with a great ruin, and the highest estimate now places its value away below $200,000,000. Monarchies of note have fallen and caused less suffering.

Chief Justice Edward M. Paxson had a salary of $8,500 a year, and his term would have continued till 1896. His resignation to accept the receivership shows, therefore, how important this matter is to his state and city. He was born Sept. 3, 1824, in Bucks county, Pa., was admitted to the bar there in 1850 and located in Philadelphia soon after. In 1874 he was elected to the supreme bench of the state, for the full term of 21 years, and in 1889 became chief justice by seniority for the 7-year term.

The third of the receivership trio is Elisha P. Wilbur, president of the Lehigh Valley road, principal of the many lines involved. The history is a curious epitome of railway development and fluctuation in the United States, as the Reading system, so called, has twice before been in the hands of receivers. The original incorporation was in 1833 and authorized the Philadelphia and Reading company to construct a railroad between those two cities. Will it be believed at this day that they were five years in doing it—not quite 12 miles a year? In 1842 the road was paying well and absorbed the lines to Mount Carbon and Pottsville.

This was the beginning of a long, long career of extension and absorption of coal lands, railroads and other property, the coal and iron lands alone being valued at $41,296,250. May 21, 1880, began a "panic in Reading." It was found that the extension business had been overdone, and on the 24th three receivers were appointed. The assets were returned at $161,258,070, of which $76,600,000 was in coal lands; the liabilities at $145,320,668. In 1884 the Reading was again placed in the hands of receivers, and soon after the great Drexel-Morgan syndicate took it, with J. Pierpont Morgan as the directing genius. His name was a power, and in 1888 the whole system was returned to the stockholders in fairly good shape. Austin Corbin became president and gave place, as aforesaid, to Mr. McLeod.



J. PIERPONT MORGAN.
GEORGE L. CRAWFORD. T. C. PLATT.

New York Society In Wartime.

Out of the great excitement of the war grew a fantastic gayety, a wild sort of Carmagnole frenzy. Society did strange things. Women would dance the german at a fashionable New York party with their hair hanging in long streamers down their backs, while the young men would seize those beautiful tresses for reins and drive the fair women with imitation whips. Everybody was half mad. And after the war was over these women, to whom philanthropy had become a business, found it hard to return to the common everyday work of life. So Mrs. S. M. K. Barlow, one of the best and noblest of human beings, suggested that we should help the south. We went to work again at the dramatic committee and invoked Mr. Wallack. Mr. Jerome lent us the theater, and we really did some very good works, producing plays which were not stumbled through, but had some resemblance to the real thing.

The money we made we sent to the clergymen of the south, who wrote of individual cases of distress. It was our pleasure to save the lives of sick children who needed more delicate food than their poor mothers could otherwise have procured. We used to receive most touching letters. Thus was the first effort at reconstruction attempted and carried through successfully. We tried to follow Grant at Appomattox and to be worthy of the last words of Lincoln.—Mrs. M. E. Sherwood in Lippincott's.

The Original Four Hundred.

It is generally thought that the saying that the only people in New York worth knowing can be numbered by 400 was originated by Ward McAllister, but it can be found in the Bible. Acts v, 36, which speaks of Theudas boasting himself to be somebody, to whom a number of men, about 400, joined themselves, who were scattered and brought to naught. The verse referred to reads as follows, "For before these days rose up Theudas, boasting himself to be somebody, to whom a number of men, about 400, joined themselves, who were slain, and all, as many as obeyed him, were scattered and brought to nought."

Another verse worth mentioning in this connection is from I Samuel xxii, 2, "And every one that was in distress, and every one that was in debt, and every one that was discontented, gathered themselves unto him. and he became a a captain over them, and there were with him about 400 men."—Keystone.

The Abbreviation of Zoological.

The tendency among English people to clip long words into short ones, or even into monosyllables, is notorious. Thus "cabriolet" has become cab, "omnibus" bus and so on. But the change of "zoological" into zoo is, to any one who knows the origin of the word, the most exasperating of all, and yet we now meet with "zoo" in well written journals, and I see the word is being advertised as the title of a book.

There is another variation, which comes simply from bad pronunciation, as when a cockney holiday maker tells you he has been to the "slogical." If "zoological" is to undergo a shortening, like that which has befallen "omnibus" and "cabriolet," let it at least become zo. This would be correct as far as it went and would not be so excruciating as the detestable zoo.—Cor. Notes and Queries.

Buying a Rare Book.

A good story was told on Sam McConaha at a certain book store the other day. During the holiday rush he went out to buy a book for his little girl. He went from one book store to another and said, "I want a nice holiday edition of 'The Prodigal Son.'" No one seemed to have the book. When Sam went home, he did not say anything to his wife, as the book was intended as a surprise Christmas present. The next day he determined to go in further quest of the book. But it was not to be found. The fun of it is Sam wanted "The Pilgrim's Progress," and somehow he got names mixed. He said the thing flashed across his mind in a dream two nights before Christmas, and he then got the book that he wanted.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Efficacy of "Chlorobrom."

A combination to which the name of chlorobrom has been given—a solution containing 30 grains of chloralamide and a similar amount of potassium bromide, in an ounce of menstruum—has come into considerable favor, according to some of the foreign journals, as an efficacious preventive of seasickness on short voyages. The passenger is recommended to take a podophyllin pill for one or two nights before the date of sailing, and when on board to remain for a time, before rough water is reached, in a horizontal position with eyes shut, and to take no food on short trips.

Powdered Foods.

Many artificial baby foods are manufactured and sold in concentrated form. For example, products advertised as "substitutes for mother's milk" are made from cow's milk, to which is added a sufficient quantity of sugar to correspond with the constituents of mother's milk. The water is removed from the mixture in vacuo, leaving a fine white powder, which is put up in packages. Finely powdered wheat flour and other nutritious vegetable elements are added in more elaborate preparations.—San Francisco Examiner.

Poor Business In a Theater.

When Charles Yale was experiencing wretched business during one week in the south, a brother manager asked if the people were treating him right.

"It's frightful," replied Mr. Yale. "Last night was the worst I ever heard of. I never imagined it could be so bad. All records for small receipts were smashed."

"How is it tonight?"

"Fifteen dollars less than last night."—New York Evening Sun.

An Affecting Scene.

Mr. Younghusband—Darling, you have been weeping. What is it, my sweetest love?

Mrs. Younghusband—Horse radish!—Exchange.

THE NEW
NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana. FARM LANDS

NEW TOWNS 100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.

Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products. LOW RATES

Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills. Horses, Cattle.

Health, Wealth. In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.

Sweetes Grass Hills, Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise. Sheep, Hogs.

Herds, Mines These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.

THE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,

M. RAUENBUEHLR, Proprietor.

A full supply of everything kept by the trade.

Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

[First publication Jan. 26th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-one and 25-100 dollars ($191.25) interest now due upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Frank St Martin and Delina his wife, mortgagors, to The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of October, 1888, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the fifth day of November, 1888, at 8:45 o'clock a. m., in book 40 of mortgages, on page 370.

And whereas the said The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, the mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of one thousand two hundred and twelve and 25-100 ($1,212.25) dollars, with interest on eleven hundred and seventy-five (1175) dollars thereof at the rate of seven per cent. per annum from the 19th day of January, 1893, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The north half (n½) of the southwest quarter (sw¼) and the north half (n½) of the southeast quarter (se¼) of section thirty-three (33), of town one hundred and fifty-one (151) of range forty-three (43), in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the twenty-fifth day of March, 1893 at 2 o'clock p. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of one thousand two hundred and twelve and 25-100 dollars, and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty (50) dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 19th, A. D. 1893.

THE LOAN AND GUARANTEE COMPANY,
of Connecticut,
Mortgagee.

A. HUMPHREYS,
[41-47] Attorney for Mortgagee.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of five hundred and eighty-nine and twenty hundredths dollars, ($589.20) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Mary E. Smith, an unmarried woman, to George T. Ladd, bearing date the tenth day of August A. D., 1885, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 10th day of August A. D. 1885, at 3:20 o'clock p. m., in book W of mortgages, on pages 277, 278 and 279 therein, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The northeast quarter of section twelve in township 151, of range 47, containing 160 acres more or less in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the 11th day of March A. D. 1893, at ten o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Crookston, Minn., Jan. 11th, A. D. 1893.

GEORGE T. LADD,
Mortgagee.

MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Mortgagee. [41-47]

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE
The Great English Remedy.

Before and After.

Promptly and permanently cures all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses. Been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for Wood's Phosphodine; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, leave his dishonest store, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlet in plain sealed envelope, 2 stamps.

Address THE WOOD CHEMICAL CO.,
131 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.

Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

Cook's Cotton Root
COMPOUND.

A recent discovery by an old physician. Successfully used monthly by thousands of Ladies, is the only perfectly safe and reliable medicine discovered. Beware of unprincipled druggists who offer inferior medicines in place of this. Ask for COOK'S COTTON ROOT COMPOUND, take no substitute, or inclose $1 and 6 cents in postage in letter, and we will send, sealed, by return mail. Full sealed particulars in plain envelope, to ladies only, 2 stamps.

Address Pond Lily Company,
No. 3 Fisher Block, Detroit, Mich.

Sold at Crookston by A. C. Anderson, S. A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

C. HENDRICKSON, President.
L. ELLINGTON, Vice President.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier.
H. STEENERSON, 2d Vice President.
A. P. Hanson, Assistant Cashier.

Scandia-American Bnk,

Of Crookston, Minn. Organized 1877 under the State law. Capital $50,000. Surplus, $5.000. Undivided profits, $15,000. Special attention given to collections.

DIRECTORS—C. Hendrickson, Grafton, N. D.; C. O. Christianson, Halvor Steenerson, Max Ericsson, J. W. Wheeler, E. P. Pierce, L. K. Aaker, D. H. Turner, A. G. Gallasch, Lewis Ellington, J. H. Locken, O. H. Lucken.

S. L. COLLINS,
Proprietor of Main Street
Livery and Feed Stables.

Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., west side,
CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA.

Horses bought and sold on commission. Everything neat and nobby. Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection, which I will attend to in person.

Valley Roller Mills.

CROOKSTON, MINN.
Manufacturers of

FINE FLOURS

MADE FROM SELECTED RED RIVER HARD WHEAT.

BRANDS:
Patent: Lee & Herrick's Best.
Straight: North Star
Bakers': Fife.
Low Grade: Skip Jack.

BRAN, SHORTS
AND SCREENINGS,
Always on hand at reasonable prices.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

[First publication Jan. 26th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of forty-three and thirty-seven hunnredths dollars ($43.37) interest now due upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by George Richards (single) mortgagor to The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut mortgagee, bearing date the first day of November 1889 and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the. Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the fourteenth day of November 1889 at 9:20 o'clock a. m., in book 48 of mortgages, on page 91.

And whereas the said The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, the mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgagee due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of six hundred and fifty-two and forty-seven hundredths dollars ($652.47) with interest on six hundred and forty-two ($642) dollars thereof at the rate of seven per cent. per annum from the 19th day of January 1893, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgagee, or any part thereot.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The southeast quarter (se¼) of section twenty-four (24) of town one hundred and fifty (150) of range forty-two (42,) in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the twenty-fifth (25th) day of March, 1893, at 2 o'clock p. m., of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of six hundred and fifty-two and forty-seven hundredths dollars ($652.47) and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided, by law.

Dated January 19th, A. D. 1893.

THE LOAN AND GUARANTEE COMPANY,
of Connecticut,
Mortgagee.

A. HUMPHREYS.
(41-47) Attorney for Mortgagee.

"In no way can Americans so effectively inform themselves on the subjects that claim public attention from one month to another as by reading the North American Review."

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

THE TOPICS are always those which are uppermost in the public mind—in morals, politics, science, literature, business, finance, industrial economy, social and municipal affairs, etc.—in short all subjects on which Americans require and desire to be informed. No magazine follows so closely from month to month the course of public interest. All subjects are treated of impartially on both sides.

THE CONTRIBUTORS to the Review are the men and women to whom the world looks for the most authoritative statements on the subjects of the day. No other periodical can point to such a succession of distinguished writers. The list is a roll of the people who are making the history, controlling the affairs, and leading the opinion of the age, such as Mr. Gladstone, the Prime Minister of England, Mr. Blaine, Signor Crispi, Ex-Prime Minister of Italy, Baron Hirsch, H. R. H. the Count of Paris, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishops Potter, Doane, Mallelieu, Foss, etc., etc

THE TIME when these subjects are treated of by these contributors is the very time when the subjects are in the public mind—not a month or two after people had ceased to think of them. The promptness with which the Review furnishes its readers with the most authoritative information upon the topics of the day is one of its most valuable features.

Subscription Price, $5.00 a year,
THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW,
3 East 14th Street, New-York.

A Dollar Saved
IS A Dollar Earned.

DO YOU
WANT
TO EARN A
FEW DOLLARS?

IN THE SPRING OF THE YEAR everyone requires some Garden or Flower Seeds, and we have made arrangements with the Weekly Pioneer Press of St. Paul, whereby we are enabled to distribute

SEEDS
FREE
OF
COST.

And we can also furnish THE WEEKLY PIONEER PRESS cheaper than it can be got any other way.

HERE IS THE OFFER we are prepared to make.

For $2.00 we will send

	Regular price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
20 packages Garden Vegetable Seeds, retail price	1 25
	$3 75

THIS offer is good to New Subscribers, or to Old Ones paying all arrearages and one year in advance. Cash must accompany the order in every case.

Another Offer.

For $1.85 we will send you

	Regular price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
The Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
An "up to date" Pocket Map of any State in the Union	1 00
	$3 50

These maps are reliable and "up to date," and the map of Illinois includes a map of Chicago, which is valuable to any one contemplating a visit to the World's Fair.

Address
Polk County Journal,
Crookston, Minn.

GREAT NORTHERN

Railway

TIME CARD.

MONTANA EXPRESS—Daily.

West				East
7:4p m	De.	St Paul	Ar.	6:55 a m
2:50 a m	"	Fergus Falls	"	11:25 p m
4:47 a m	"	Glyndon	"	9:36 p m
7:20 a m	"	CROOKSTON	"	7:25 p m
8:40 a m	"	Grand Forks	"	6:20 p m
9:45 a m	"	Larimore	"	5:06 p m
2: 1 p m	"	Devils Lake	"	2:55 a m
7:00 p m	Ar.	Butte	De.	7:30 a m

ST. VINCENT BRANCH—Daily except Sunday
Depart 7:30 a m Arrive 6:30 p m

FOSSTON BRANCH—Daily, except Sunday.
Depart 8:00 a m Arrive 5:30 p m

ST. HILAIRE, Thief River and Red Lake Falls Branch—
Monday, Wednesday and Friday,
Depart 9:00 a m Arrive 6:50 p m

GRAND FORKS' ACCOMMODATION.
Arrive 9:50 a m Depart 7:55 p m

The scenic route to Spokane, Helena, and Butte on the west, and St. Paul, Minneapolis-Duluth and West Superior on the east. Dining and sleeping cars on all through trains. Tickets on sale to all principal places. Baggage checked through to destination.

W. W. FEGAN, Agent.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leaves Crookston Daily
For St. Paul, Minneapolis, Superior, Ashland, Duluth, Chicago, and for all points South, East and West.........at 7:12 p. m.
For Grand Forks, Grafton, Pembina, Brandon, Winnipeg, and points north, ...at 8:19 a. m.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 57.
1 Northern 55.

Attorney Averill, of Fosston, is attending court.

Hugh Thompson went to Minneapolis Monday evening.

Potatoes retail at the stores for one dollar per bushel.

Ira C. Richardson is in from Thief River Falls this week.

M. J. Stoeser went to Grafton Monday on a business trip.

Jas. Meehan Jr. was down from Thief River Falls last week.

Oats are in good demand in this market at 25 cents per bushel.

Alvy Newland is able to be at his desk in the Commercial again.

Mike O'Reilly and Wm. Haynes were up from Fisher on Monday.

Tod Haney was up from Fisher on Monday after sawdust for his ice house.

The usual amount of apathy seems to prevail in relation to the coming city election.

Andrew Feragon and Mrs. Hitterdahl, of Thief River Falls were visiting in the family of Peter Cornelius last week.

Judge Benson has purchased the residence on Sampson's woodland addition, formerly owned and occupied by Peter Berg.

Torger Swenson, of Fisher, was brought before Judge Benson last week for examination as to his sanity. He was allowed to go home.

L. K. Aaker: I've just received a letter from my wife, who has been at Grand Forks attending our daughter Clara who has been sick with typhoid fever for four weeks. She is getting better now.

Will Peterson went south on Monday morning to make towns on the Northern Pacific railroad, beginning at Moorhead. Will does not allow any grass to grow under his feet this kind of weather.

"Make hay while the sun shines," is a good rule to follow in the summer time and has a significance also at this time while hay is offered so freely on the market. All who have use for it would do well to secure enough now to last until next grass.

Should the weather continue cold until and into April and then come off warm and pleasant it is better you get your high rubber boots on and get ready for the deluge. Should this body of snow all go off at once it would make things decidedly moist.

Judge Benson informs the JOURNAL that Polk County has 33 patients in the insane asylum at Fergus Falls. During the past year five women were sent to St. Peter and during the past two years nine. Eight men have been sent to Fergus Falls during the past year making eleven for the past two years.

J. E. Scheffestad who went away with the violinist Aamold returned on Monday morning.

Mrs. Charles Hurst, (formerly known in our village as Miss Jennie Lanterman,) is visiting with her parents in the city.

Andreas H. Hang and Amanda Grover, of McIntosh, were married last Saturday at the residence of Joe Benoy, by Judge Christianson.

Mrs. N. Hierman, of the town of Knute, died in the hospital in St. Paul last week and the remains were brought home for interment on Thursday last.

The Tribune outfit was sold under chattel mortgage last week. It was bid in by County Attorney A. R. Holston who will add newspaper work to his hotel business and other side issues.

C. H. Baldwin of the firm of Larsen, Capenter & Co., who has been visiting in New York City for a couple of months, returned last Thursday. He says New York is dull—too slow for a western man—and he wouldn't live there under any consideration.

Ole H. Bang was up from the west side on Saturday chatting with friends and neighbors. He came up for the purpose of closing a deal for Louis Larson's farm, for which he paid $25 per acre. Ole is one of those shrewd, far-seeing farmers who believe in Polk county realty.

The gentlemanly and suave P. S. Ware, of the Thief River Falls Press, was a welcome caller at our den on Saturday, Mussey and Ware are giving the village of Thief River Falls an excellent local paper and appearances indicate that they are making a financial success of it as well.

I. W. Webb, who moved from Edna to St. Paul a short time since is up for a few days looking after his farming operations. He has rented his Polk County farm and will engage in business in St. Paul for a while. I. W. thinks crop prospect were never better at this stage of the game.

H. B. Davis was in from Red Lake Falls last Thursday and dropped in to cheer the JOURNAL with an order to "set it ahead one year." Mr. Davis reports wolves very plentiful in the eastern part of the county. Coming down on the train they saw several bands of these ferocious animals. Mr. Davis is hopeful of good crops next season.

Capt. Rhinehart came down from the woods Monday and went up to Thief River Falls Tuesday. In talking with him he said: People are predicting a flood of water in the spring, but I never saw a flood here in the spring except when there was but little snow during the winter. When we have lots of snow in the winter we don't have much rain in the spring.

The JOURNAL learns with regret of the death of Louis Huot who died suddenly at his residence in the town of Louisville last week. He was one of the old settlers in Polk County, a man highly respected by all who knew him. Quiet and unassuming he was a man of broad and liberal ideas and a man of great influence among his people. The post-office, over which he presided was named for him. The funeral was largely attended on Monday.

IN view of the fact that there will be no state fair this year, the Minneapolis exposition proposes to come to the rescue and will offer big premiums for the best displays of agricultural products. This will, in a measure, make up for the mistake that the state fair officials made when they decided to hold no fair this year. The exposition, which has always been a very interesting event, will no doubt be very much better this year owing to this addition to its many attractive features.

J. E. Fisk, who has represented the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company here for about a year, left this week for St. Paul, where he will open an office and represent his company in that city, having obtained the agency for Ramsey county. This change has been brought about by the fact that the company, in looking round for a man to take charge of the St. Paul work, selected Mr. Fisk on account of his hustling qualities and the record he has made while here. He has moved his family and household goods to St. Paul and will go to housekeeping at once. Mr. Fisk is a genial, whole-souled citizen, and will make friends wherever he goes.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder.
The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

County Attorney A. R. Holston purchased the Central house last week and will try his hand as a hotel-keeper on the side.

The residence of Hans C. Johnson a few miles west of the city, took fire on Saturday morning and was totally consumed together with its contents.

Chas. Teal Sr. came down from Euclid on Monday to meet his teams on their way home from the lumber-camps. He expects to seed 800 acres this spring.

George McLean Jr. came up from St. Paul on Saturday to spend the Sabbath with his——and other friends in the city. George has a fine situation in St. Paul and enjoys life at the capital hugely.

On Tuesday February 28th, the home of Peter Cornelius was gladdened by the arrival of a bouncing baby boy. Pete said he would have reported this important event before only for the fact that he has been laid up with rheumatism for two weeks.

A number of logging outfits arrived in the city on Saturday evening. Some came by train from Fosston, others drove in over-land. Those who drove in report that the roads were in good condition except for a short distance around Mentor.

Rev. H. Battey went up to Stephen to hold services on Sunday. He says that the prospects there are very encouraging—lots of business, people all encouraged over the crop prospects and several families arriving to make homes in Marshall county. Some are apprehensive of floods when the break-up comes.

George Vine has received the plans for his new building on Broadway from Architect Ross and as soon as the season permits will commence active operations upon the same. The building will be two stories high with basement with an elegant front on Broadway. He expects to have the building ready for occupancy by June 1st.

F. T. Haseltine: I am confident we are on the eve of the most prosperous period we have ever had in the Red River valley. Next fall will be the beginning of it. We are sure to have the biggest crop we ever had, and even should the price of wheat be low it will make good times. When wheat is a good price the farmers hold it and lose thereby. When the price is low, the farmers sell their wheat and pay their debts, and that puts a lot of money in circulation and makes good times. The tree business is all right and I'm going to have a great trade this year.

She Job Blue and Dick Big Bird, two Indians who had been at Crookston as witnesses in a case of selling whiskey to the Indians were taken from their rooms at the Commercial hotel in Fosston on Sunday night by a mob and treated to a coat of tar and feathers, after which they were compelled to run the gauntlet saluted by kicks and blows. After the performance it was suggested that a hanging bee would be a fitting close for the origies, and ropes were quickly procurred but by the earnest protest of citizens of Fosston, this part of the program was omitted and the Indians were allowed to go more dead than alive. It is said that one of them, an old man, was so seriously injured that his life is despaired of. It was on the testimony of these very Indians at the trial of the man accused of selling whiskey to Indians that the man was cleared of the charge. The mob that did this disgraceful business is said to have been composed wholly of outsiders—men who had just arrived there from the woods, and that the people of Fosston and the police did all in their power to prevent the outrage.

Harry Norrie, Will Peterson, Henry Funk and Carl Riedesel went up to Thief River Falls last week on a business trip. On arrival at St. Hilaire they conceived the brilliant idea of hiring a rig and driving to the Falls, while the train went down to Red Lake Falls and return, thus saving about three hours. So they proceeded to put their project into execution, securing, as they supposed, a good safe rig and driver. They had not got out of St. Hilaire before the sleigh upset and piled them all ap as neat as a cord of Norrie's nice green wood. It is said that history repeats itself and the boys believe it, for before they had reached a point midway between St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls they had repeated their upset 'steen times or so and the last time wrecking the sleigh so completely as to render it unfit for further use. Then what to do? It was too cold to sit there and wait for the train, and, as Harry had a number of tie passes left, he offered to take them in on the railroad and that is the way they finally arrived at Thief River Falls. Harry returned on the train, but the rest remained to transact the business for which they had come.

A. Kaiser, the genial financier of the Bank of Fosston, was in the city Tuesday.

Dr. Dunlop was called to McIntosh Tuesday to attend Mrs. S. P. Johnson.

Stewart Chapin was over from Dakota on Tuesday chatting with old friends.

C. Snyder broke camp at Mentor last week and returned with his teams Friday evening.

Mrs. R. P. Roberts, who since the birth of her child has been seriously ill is reported convalescent.

Mr. Hammill, Fontaine & Anglim's book-keeper is building an addition to his residence on Elm Street.

C. F. Page and wife, of McIntosh, came down on Monday's train for a brief visit with friends in the city.

Edward Simmons of Brooking, S. D., is visiting his brother Isaac, of this city. He is a veterinary surgeon.

Will Carlton was down from Angus on Tuesday to see the boy and take in the minstrels in the evening.

Our old friend Bemis, formerly of the Commercial, has returned to the state and will make his future home at Lake Park.

Get your tickets printed at the JOURNAL office for the coming town meetings. Write all names plainly and send in copy early.

Among the recent arrivals of new settlers the JOURNAL notes a daughter to Wm. Eichoff on Friday and a daughter to carpenter Johnson.

The hardware firm of Sylvester & Finseth made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors last week. J. W. Wheeler was appointed assignee.

Chas. Teal Sr. arrived this week from a pleasant visit to the old home in Canada. He reports that many of his old friends there are coming to this country this spring.

The Schilling Minstrel show at the Grand opera house on Tuesday evening was something unique in its way—different from the ordinary minstrel show. Some of its features were decidedly good and the company is in the front rank of traveling players. The attendance was good and the performance seemed to give perfect satisfaction.

George Adams was brought down from Fosston on Saturday by Nels Anderson to be examined before Judge Benson as to his sanity. In view of certain facts the judge wired Fosston on Monday morning and held the examinations open till evening to await the answer to his questions. No one showing up the judge discharged Mr. Adams who goes about seemingly as sane as anybody.

Jim Bain was up from Fisher on Tuesday. Talking with our reporter Jim says: "I want to give Dr. M. Leguee a deserved puff. Not long since a valuable mare of mine cut her foot severely and, as all ordinary remedies utterly failed to effect a cure and she grew steadily worse, I brought her up to have Mike see what he could do for her. By this time tetanus set in and I thought it was all day with my horse all right, but the doctor took her through all right and to-day she is as sound as any horse. Such extreme cases as these are oftener lost than saved and I consider Dr. Leguee one of the most faithful and successful veterinaries I ever employed."

Carl Kretzschmar the genial Thief River Falls boomer, was in the city this week chatting with old-time friends (whose name is Legion) and attending to various and sundry business matters. Mr. Kretzschmar was one of the old settlers of Crookston, coming in 1878, and locating in business on Robert street in a little 12 by 14 claim shanty, and later on building one of the largest stores in town on Second street, where he coined much wealth. Together with other of our citizens he became interested in Red Lake Falls realty, finally removing to that place where he sank all he had made in the endeavor to build a railroad into the Falls. Here also his wife, who had been to him a most faithful helpmeet, died, and Charles, bereft of wife, home and property, was left to battle alone with life, but he did not sit supinely down and whine and mourn like many another has done, but he bravely buckled on his armor and went to work. Soon he managed to build a 60 barrel flour mill at Thief River Falls and with indomitable will re-commenced the struggle and he intends in the near future to increase the capacity of the mill to its fullest extent. He has unlimited water power at command to run any size of mill and the ambition to succeed. The JOURNAL adds its best wishes to those of his hosts of friends for his unlimited success. Such men are always bound to succeed in this country. Adverse circumstances may put them down temporarily but cannot keep them down. Like a cork in the water they are bound to rise.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.
Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

Geo. C. Wilde, who has been very sick with pneumonia, is reported convalescent.

C. Carothers, cashier of the bank of Emerado, N. D., of which institution C. H. Baldwin of this city is president, was in the city last week.

Robert and Charles Casney and John Scheutzen were in the city on Tuesday interested in a law suit resulting from an obstructed culvert.

W. J. Brown of Verndale, Minn., is in the city in the interest of the Northwestern Life association of Minneapolis. He is a brother-in-law of Arthur Stewart.

The Valley Roller mill is grinding North Dakota wheat now and running night and day. It is expected the mill will be kept going all summer. Part of the power for the mill is supplied from the waterworks power house, and part by the engine at the mill.

On Tueday evening Dr. Just received a letter requesting him to come at once to Euclid if possible to attend to a scarlet fever case in the family of H. C. Misner. As it was impossible for him to go that evening he went up on Wednesday morning's train. About 9:30 o'clock on Wednesday Charles Misner received a telegram announcing that the patient, little Florence Misner, died about 9 o'clock. She was 7 years old and is the second one within a few weeks. They have one child left, a boy about 9 years old. He has had the fever but is now considered out of danger.

E. D. Childs received a telegram on Wednesday morning conveying the sad news of the death of Jack McLaren, which occurred at San Antonio, Texas, at 10 o'clock Tuesday evening. The remains will be brought home for burial. Mr. McLaren came to Crookston in 1878, and has been in the employ of the Red River Elevator company as foreman of construction and repair work on their elevators. He has been a prominent citizen, representing his ward in the council several terms; he was a member of the Crookston fire department and a mason in good standing. He leaves a wife and four children to mourn his loss, and hosts of friends who will join in sympathy for the bereaved family.

The engine belonging to the waterworks plant has been placed in position in the power house and the company will now have an abundance of power and be prepared for any emergency. In talking with Assistant Superintendent Peterson, he explained why the city engine house and the waterworks power house should be connected by an electric alarm. In case of fire an alarm should be sent to the power house at once, so that the engineer could get up steam in the boilers to assist the waterpower if needed. They have always been able to furnish sufficient water for any fire, but when the hydrants are opened suddenly it makes the pump jump so that it makes a severe strain on it and it is better to have steam up and be prepared for any emergency.

Something new, call up and see it.
P. M. DAUSER,
Corner Gallery.

The sale at the New York Store will not last forever so don't put off your shopping too long—you might get left—and that would make you feel bad.

Money to Loan

On city property, business and dwelling—at 6½ per cent per annum. For full particulars call on P. J. Russell, 25 and 26 Reckitt block, Crookston, Minn. [47tf]

Of Course You Read

The testimonials frequently published in this paper relating to Hood's Sarsaparilla. They are from reliable people, state simple facts, and show beyond a doubt that HOOD'S CURES. Why don't you try this medicine? Be sure to get Hood,s.

Do you want some dress goods, flannels, skirtings, sheeting, yarns, linens or notions, carpets and draperies, go to the New York Store. Never before was there such a large stock of goods sold so cheap.

Mothers' Recommendation.

We are acquainted with many mothers in Centerville who would not be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house for a good many times its cost, and are recommending it every day. From personal experience we can say that it has broken up bad colds for our children.—Centerville, South Dakota, Citizen. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

To Whom it may Concern.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between John N. Priester and Wm. H. Norrie under the firm name of Priester & Co., is dissolved by mutual consent; further, all bills due the firm to date of Feb. 11th, 1893, inclusive, will be collected by John N. Priester and all legal liabilities of the firm are assumed by W. H. Norrie with all accounts due after Feb. 11th, 1893, and the business will be carried on by W. H. Norrie.

W. H. NORRIE,
[45-47] J. N. PRIESTER.

Come quick and get some of my A No. 1 dry maple before it is all gone. I have green ash, also that cannot be beat. Prices of dry oak, birch, tamarac and poplar still very low. All kinds of wood sawed as you want it at very cheap rate. My feed mill runs every day until April 1st and longer if necessary. Feed ground for cash or toll. Low rates for large quantities. Call and see me.

W. H. NORRIE,
Corner Main and Third Streets.

COUGHING LEADS TO CONSUMPTION
Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

St. Vitus' Dance cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

The Crookston Belle—Kœppe's new cigar, is as fine as silk. Try it.

Call and see L. I. Benoit in his new store.

Lane's Medicine Moves the Bowels Each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary.

Viava remedies for sale by Mrs. John Wyatt, sole agent for Polk county, Sano, sure cure for piles. Room 46, Reckitt Block. [30-tf]

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure at Druggists.

6 MONTHS

Accumulation of Remnants and short lengths will be put on sale at Unparalleled Wholesale Reduction Prices,

Wednesday, December 28th,

The people know that at these sales no regard is paid to values, only one thing, the

REMNANTS MUST GO!

Fontaine & Anglim.

Historical Society

Polk County Journal.

VOL. XVI. CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, MARCH. 16, 1893. NO. 48

Crookston Furniture Co.

FURNITURE, CARPETS, BURIAL SUPPLIES.

$1.35.

Antique Oak Finish.

$19.50.

Solid Oak,
Large Glass,
Plush-lined Drawers.

8-ft. Oak Table,

42x42, only

$7.90.

OFFICIAL DIRECTORY.

State.

Governor....................Knute Nelson.
Lieutenant Governor..........David M. Clough.
Secretary of State............Joseph Bobleter.
Attorney General.................H. W. Childs.

Congressional.

Member of Congress, 7th Dist....Haldor E. Boen,

Legislative.

Senator, 51st Sen. Dist..............E. E. Lommen.
Representatives, 51st Sen. Dist.....John D. Knuteson, B. M. Chesley and Hans Juelson.

Judicial.

Associate Justices Supreme Court.....Thomas Canty, Daniel Buck, Wm. Mitchell and Loren W. Collins.
Judge 14th Jud. District ....Frank Ives.

County.

Auditor.........................C. U. Webster
Treasurer......................J. T. Beaudry
Register of Deeds.................John Amundson
Attorney.........................A. R. Holston
Sheriff........................Arny Grundysen
Judge of Probate...................C. M. Benson
Supt. of Schools..................A. A. Lommen
Surveyor............................O. L. Hamery
Court Com'r.......................W. H. Averill
Coroner..........................Henry Shepard

County Commissioners.

First District........... John E. Oppegaard
Second District...................Anton Linden
Third District......................M. E. Kirsch
Fourth District....................C. P. Demers
Fifth District....................Robt. Anderson

Town Clerks.

The following is a list of the town clerks for the several towns in Polk county:

Andover,	E M Bivins	Crookston
Angus,	J M Palmer	Angus
Black River,	P A Eckstrom	Wylie
Bray,	Albert Wickstrom	Wylie
Badger,	P N Savalrud	Sletten
Brandsvold.	Ole Nelson	Fosston
Belgium,	Henry Biever	Euclid
Brislet,	A P Frank	Warren
Bygland,	Halvor Grundesen	Fisher
Crookston,	E O Flanders	Crookston
Crookston, city,	E C Carruth	Crookston
Columbia,	R H Carr	Columbia
Chester,	O J Mattson	Lindsay
Emardville,	Peter Anderson	Emard
Euclid,	F Tiedt, Jr.,	Euclid
Eden,	Neri A Skele	Olga
Fairfax,	Wm Himmelsback	Crookston
Farley,	Mark Congnon	Warren
Fanny,	John G. Tenney	Buffington
Fisher,	John Gleason	Fisher
Fisher, vil.,	John Gleason	Fisher
Gd Forks,	John McCoy	E G Forks
Gd Forks, city,	John McCoy	E G Forks
Garfield,	Iver J Ingebretson	Fertile
Garden,	John Hanson	Ringdal
Gentilly.	H F Goudron,	Gentilly
Gervais,	John Deforge	R L Falls
Grove Park,	E E Abbott	Mentor
Goderey,	D T Mitchell,	Maple Bay
Hammond.	Ernest Hanna	Crookston
Higdem.	Ole Hendrickson	E G Forks
Hill River,	Fred S Syeverson	Lindsay
Huntsville,	O Osmundson	Mallory
Hubbard.	Frank Hanson,	Neilsville
Keystone,	D E Geddes	E G Forks
Kerlsonville,	Fred Benoit	Gentilly
King,	K C Norsving	McIntosh
Knute,	O H Dale	Erskine
Lake Pleasant,	Jos Perrault	R L Falls
Lambert,	Samuel Gebcan,	Lamber
Liberty,	Nelson Clementson	Fertile
Lessor,	H Helgeson	Ovetia
Lowell,	Ole Christiauson,	Crookston
Louisville,	Louis Huot	Huot
Nesbit,	Robert Nesbit	Mallory
Norden,	O J Tweet	Tweet
North,	S T Johnson	T R Falls
Numedal,	Olaf Larson	Warren
Onsted,	W A Marin	Melvin
Parnell,	Thos Filban	Crookston
Poplar River,	J B Hebert	Brooks
Polk Centre,	Wm Wylie,	Wylie
Queen,	Hans L Houkom	Fosston
R L F, village,	August Herard,	R L Falls
Red Lake Falls,	Ildaig Baril	R L Falls
Reis,	D C Hallock	Edna
River Falls,	K C Gigstad	St. Hilaire
Rocksbury,	P Englesiad	St. Hilaire
Roome,	P Boukon	Neby
Rosebud,	M E Randkler	Fosston
Russia,	Orens Simmons	Crookston
Sanders,	Nils K Anderson	St. Hilair
Sandsville,	Henry Nelson	E G Forkse
St. Hilaire,	L J Johnson	St. Hilaire
Sletten,	Ingebret Larson	Winger
Sullivan,	P A Hotvedt	E G Forks
Tabor,	F J Cernousek	Tabor
Terrebonne,	Edonor Perruse	Terrebonne
Tilden,	S J Furan	Dugdale
Tynsid,	A O Stortroen	Neby
Vineland,	John Thompson	Neby
Winger,	Albert Johnson	Winger
Woodside,	Joseph Tagley	Woodside
Wyandotte,	O J Johnson	St. Hilaire
Rhinehart,	Oscar Winck	E G Forks
Thief River Falls	C J Knox	T R Falls

For Sale at a Discount.

A scholarship in the Crookston Business College. Apply at the JOURNAL office. [10 t.f.]

Don't forget my feed mill—feed ground every week day during February either for cash or trade at rate of one sack for seven or ⅛ bushel per bushel ground. Special contract for large quantities. Call on me. W. H. NORRIE,
Successor to Priester & Co.,
Corner Main and Third streets.

COUGHING LEADS TO CONSUMPTION Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

Fits.

All fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St. Phila., Pa. For sale by all druggists; call on yours.

Rheumatism Quickly Cured.

Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism; but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert, of New Brunswick, Ill.: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right to-day; and would insist on every one who is afflicted with that terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

For Rent.

The Schraeder livery barn on Main street. Apply to Mrs. E. D. Schraeder at the store on Main street. [46-47]

Cholerine in Pennsylvania.

Swickley Penn.: We had an epidemic of cholerine, as our physicians called it, in this place lately and I made a great hit with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. I sold four dozen bottles of it in one week and have since sold nearly a gross. This remedy did the work and was a big advertisement for me. Several persons who had been troubled with diarrhœa for two or three weeks were cured by a few doses of this medicine.

P. P. KNAPP, Ph. G.

25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

Do you want some dress goods, flannels, skirtings, sheeting, yarns, linens or notions, carpets and draperies, go to the New York Store. Never before was there such a large stock of goods sold so cheap.

Though other dealers may offer you some small articles at less than cost to deceive you into the opinion that I. U. Jennings is not selling at cost, and thereby induce you to buy some larger article at a large profit to themselves, yet it is a fact that you can buy of him as cheaply as at the factory cost of freight added.

Strongly Endorsed.

The advertising of Hood's Sarsaparilla appeals to the sober, common sense of thinking people, because it is true; and it is always fully substantiated by endorsements which in the financial world would be accepted without a moment's hesitation. They tell the story—Hood's cures.

CITY COUNCIL.

Special Meeting to Appoint Judges and Designate Polling Places for City Election.

Sudden Death of A. D. Morris Sunday Night—His Body Taken to Canada.

The Union Temperance Meeting—C. H. Saake as an Inventor—Matrimonial Prizes, Etc.

Proceedings of a special meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston, held in the city hall, on Friday evening, March 10th, 1893:

Meeting called to order by President Cromb.

Roll call.

Aldermen present, Anderson, Austin, Childs, Jennings, Jerome, Morrisey, Monroe, Marlette, Watts and Cromb.

Aldermen absent, Walker.

Call of mayor read.

At a special meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston, held the 10th day of March, 1893, Alderman Childs offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Morrisey:

Resolved, That the following named persons be and are hereby appointed as judges of election for the respective election districts of said city:

First ward—I. U. Jennings, F. Anderson, L. Fontaine.

Second ward—J. E. Morrisey, J. Monroe, A. C. Schmidt.

Third ward—W. E. Walker, M. R. Brown, C. H. Mix.

Fourth ward—F. Jerome, E. M. Walsh, M. Lally.

Fifth ward—E. D. Childs, R. G. Marlette, W. F. Hitchcock.

For the charter election of said city, to be held on Tuesday, the 4th day of April, 1893, and the following places are hereby established as polling places of said election, to-wit:

First ward—City hall.

Second ward—McKenzie building, on Second street.

Third ward—Commercial hotel sample room.

Fourth ward—St. Louis hotel sample room.

Fifth ward—E. D. Childs' Co. office.

Upon the call of the ayes and nays the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative, Anderson, Austin, Childs, Jerome, Morrisey, Monroe, Marlette, Watts, Cromb.

Aldermen voting in the negative, none.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 10th day of March, 1893.
JOHN CROMB,
President of the Council.

Approved this 10th day of March, 1893.

Attest: WM. ANGLIM, Mayor.
E. C. CARRUTH, Clerk.

On motion council adjourned.
E. C. CARRUTH, Clerk.

Sudden Death.

A. D. Morris died at his rooms in the McKinnon block at 1 o'clock a. m. on Monday. He had been confined to his bed but a few days with an attack of erysipelas and the announcement early on Monday morning came as a clap of thunder from a clear sky, as but few knew that he was dangerously sick. Mr. Morris came to this city some years ago and went into the jewelry business with his brother Thomas, finally disposing of his interest in the store and going to Minot where he engaged in the jewelry business with a branch store at Devils Lake. When Tom went to Superior two or three years since Dunc came to Crookston and engaged in business and has been so engaged every since. He was a valuable member of the Crookston fire department always on deck ready for any duty however arduous and was one of its most efficient members. He was 31 years old and leaves a wife, an aged mother and two brothers to mourn his loss. His brother Jack, arrived on Wednesday morning to escort the remains to Goderich, Canada, for interment.

The Temperance Meeting.

The Congregational church was crowded to the altar steps last Sunday evening, the occasion being the Union temperance meeting. Rev. O. H. Elmer discussed the temperance question, and the services were conducted by Revs. McDonald, Squier and Smith. Mr. Elmer had prepared some figures and his chief point was to show the enormous amount of money annually spent for liquor, as compared with other items of expense in this country. The annual consumption of liquor in this nation, he said, was $1,550,000,000, the capital of all the national banks in this country was $667,000,000, there was invested in manufactories in this country $4,000,000,000, and in railroads $5,000,000,000. After several other comparisons and deductions in regard to the drink bill of the nation, the reverend gentleman came down to the liquor question in the city of Crookston. He found twenty-one saloons in operation and he figured that it required $39,360 to run those saloons one year and give each proprietor a salary of $400. This sum did not represent the amount spent here for liquor, it was simply a minimum estimate of the actual expense of conducting them. The cost of maintaining our public schools was $16,670 per year, and an approximate of the cost of our eleven churches he placed at $10,200. Therefore the cost of maintaining the saloons exceeded the cost of the schools and churches by $12,490. The amount spent for liquor would probably reach $100,000. These are cold indisputable facts, and while he had no remedy to propose, he said he wanted the people to think over these figures. He also referred to the coming city election, and wanted the voters to impress upon the candidate for mayor that he is expected, when elected, to enforce the laws and the city ordinances.

Mr. Elmer made a good, practical business talk—the kind that appeals to the people—and not one of those windy, rhetorical efforts which are sometimes heard, and are simply a repeated denunciation of the "damnable traffic."

At the close of Rev. Elmer's discourse, J. G. McGrew addressed the audience briefly, stating that the legislature should be petitioned to enact a law making saloon-keepers liable for damages when a person was injured from the effects of liquor sold by the saloon-keeper after being forbidden to sell liquor to said person.

City Convention.

A city convention for the City of Crookston is hereby called to convene at the city hall in the City of Crookston at 8 o'clock p. m. on Monday March 20th 1893 for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the following offices:

Mayor.
One alderman at large.
City Treasurer.
City Clerk.
Assessor.
Two Justices of the Peace.

Two Constables, to be voted for at the charter election to be held in the City of Crookston April 4th, 1893. Each ward shall be entitled to delegates in said convention as follows:

First Ward, 6.
Second Ward, 5.
Third Ward, 4.
Fourth Ward, 7.
Fifth Ward, 2.

The basis of representation fixed is one delegates at large for each ward and one additional for each 50 votes or fraction thereof cast for governor at the November 1892 election.

The caususes in the different wards for electing delegates and nominating ward aldermen are recommended to be held at 8 o'clock p. m. on Saturday March 18th, 1893, and the ward committees are requested to at once give notice of the place of holding the caucuses which place where practicable should be the usual place where caucuses have been held.

Dated March 15th 1893.

H. E. COOKE,
E. D. CHILDS,
JOHN R. MCKINNON,
J. E. MORRISEY,
T. H. BJOIN,
F. FOURNET,
R. J. MONTAGUE.
City central committee for citizens party.

Election in Crookston Township.

The following ticket was elected Tuesday in the township of Crookston:

Supervisors—Chas. Regimbal Chairman, John A. Wyand, William Heldrich.

Town Clerk—E. O. Flanders.

Treasurer—Joseph Sauve.

Assessor—Arnold Webster, Jr.

Justices of the Peace—R. N. Cochrane, Peter Cornelius.

Constables—M. Langevin, Wm. Young.

Overseers of Highways—1st district—Joseph Gouche, 2nd district—S Langevin, 3rd district—E. O. Flanders, 4th district—J. A. Wyand.

It was voted to raise $200 for revenue funds, $200 for road and bridge, and $80 for interest on bonds. E. O. Flanders' house was designated as the place for holding the town meeting in 1894. It was also voted to prohibit all herding of cattle in the township, and to prohibit the driving of the city herd on the highways of the township. The fees of township offices were raised to $2.00 per day.

DISTRICT COURT.

Resume of the Proceedings Since our Last Issue, and a Review of Some of the Cases.

The "Horse Case" the Most Important, and two Days Were Consumed in Trying it.

The Judge Compelled to Adjourn Court With a Great Deal of Unfinished Business.

WEDNESDAY MARCH 8TH.

The first case tried was that of Fred Sweatt vs O. B. Valtinson—a suit on a promissory note. A verdict was rendered for plaintiff for $1125.64. A. A. Miller appeared for plaintiff and E. M. Stanton for defendant.

The case of Addie B. Hunt et al vs Pierce & Kelsey was a suit brought by the wife of the editor of the McIntosh News to stop foreclosure proceedings instituted by the defendants to recover on a note and mortgage given by the aforesaid Hunt. It seems that previous to engaging in the newspaper business Hunt occupied his spare time in tilling the soil, and while thus occupied he bought a threshing outfit. When there was but $200 remaining unpaid on Mr. Hunt's note, an agent of the Minneapolis Harvester works went to McIntosh to appoint an agent in that place and also to collect Hunt's note. Hunt put himself forward as a suitable man for the agency, but the agent told him the company would never accept him as their agent unless he fixed up his past due paper. This Hunt did by giving a mortgage on a lot in McIntosh and on some wheat. A blank contract was filled out and sent to the company for their approval. But they failed to approve it, thinking perhaps that Hunt wasn't the proper kind of a man to represent them. Hunt paid a portion of the note, and had the balance extended. When that finally became due he failed to pay it, and the company started foreclosure proceedings through Pierce & Kelsey. Hunt then asked Pierce & Kelsey to stop proceedings, throw off the costs, and he would pay it by a certain date. His request was granted and an agent of the company came up to settle. When he got to Crookston, he offered to sell the note to Pierce & Kelsey at a slight discount and thus save him a trip to McIntosh. Thinking Hunt was a man of his word this firm bought the note, but were never able to collect it, and started foreclosure proceedings again. After giving security on the aforesaid lot, Hunt had built a house on it, and his wife brought suit against Pierce & Kelsey to stop the foreclosure proceedings, claiming the property as her own. There seemed to be but two issues in the case, and they were outlined and given to the jury. The questions involved were:—First, was there a contract as alleged in the complaint entered into by and between W. G. Hunt and the Minneapolis Harvester Works for the sale of machinery for said company at McIntosh and vicinity for season of 1889? Second:—Did such a contract form the sole consideration for the making and delivering of the note and mortgage described in the complaint? To the first question the jury answered "Yes." and to the second they answered "No." A. R. Holston appeared for Hunt, and W. Watts for defendant.

Robert Casmey vs. James McGory was a suit for $400 damages which the plaintiff claimed were caused by the defendant diverting or stopping the water from flowing along the road which separated their farms. Said farms are in Section 32 near Buffington station. The jury found a verdict of $100 for plaintiff. A stay of 30 days was granted. W. Watts for plaintiff and A. A. Miller for defendant.

THURSDAY MARCH 9TH.

Yellow Medicine County Bank vs O. J. Tagley et al was probably the most interesting one of the term. It was an action brought by the Yellow Medicine County Bank of Granite Falls, Minnesota, to recover on one of a series of three notes owned by said bank. The history of the case is briefly as follows: Clancy Bros. of Merriam Park, with the broad and philanthropic view of improving the breed of horses in and around Erskine, induced about 20 farmers in that vicinity to take a share of $100 each in a stallion (It might be stated that one of these farmers testified that all the live stock he had was a yoke of oxen.) The horse was delivered to the farmers, they put their names to the papers, which they claimed were three notes for $33.33 each, payable in one, two and three years. The note turns up now to be an $800 note, with two or three small sums endorsed on the back. The case was stubbornly fought from beginning to end. About two days were taken up with this case, but the jury took about fifteen minutes only to bring in a verdict in favor of the defendants. The case may go to the Supreme Court. A. A. Miller for plaintiff and H. Steenerson for defendant.

SATURDAY, MARCH 11TH.

Samuel H. Bearns vs. John Chillback was an appeal case. Bearns sues defendant for something like $210. $46.00 was for work done for defendant, of which the defendant admitted $36.00 of it to be correct. They had entered into a contract for cutting and pressing hay during last summer. Shortly after the season was over for cutting they had some talk about selling out their respective shares of hay, one to the other and Chillback finally said he would give Bearns $150 for his share. Meeting Bearns a few days after he offered him his note but Bearns would not accept it unless it was bankable. The matter dropped, and shortly after the hay or nearly all of it went up in smoke. Bearns sued to recover. A verdict of $40 was given for the defendant. Wm. Watts for plaintiff and E. P. Pierce and Ed. George for defendant.

The case of Cleophia Pori against Hypolite Pori, of Wylie, Minn., was an action for divorce. Drunkenness and inhuman treatment on the part of the husband was the ground for the action of separation. The court allowed an order to be issued granting the request, and gave the plaintiff the care of the three younger children, aged 13, 15 and 18. E. M. Stanton for plaintiff, no appearance for defendant.

As Judge Ives had to go to Moorhead on Sunday night to finish the adjourned term there, and being unable to get anyone to finish the term here, court adjourned sine die.

During the term several Yankees were manufactured out of former citizens of Norway and Sweden.

Obituary.

We clip the following notice from San Antonio (Texas) Daily News:

John Blacklaw McLaren was born October 31, 1851, at Perth, Canada; married Margaret Jeannette Gray, at Ontario, Canada, March 6, 1878, and removed the same year to Crookston, Minn., where he has since lived. December 25, 1892, he came to San Antonio, an invalid, and after a long illness, surrounded by wife and friends, died of consumption March 7, 1893, at 820 Avenue C. A wife and 5 small children mourn the loss of a devoted husband and a kind and indulgent father. He was a highly respected citizen and an honored member of Crookston Lodge No. 141, A. F. and A. M., Crookston, Minn., and Pearson Chapter, No. 41, R. A. M., St. Paul, Minn. His remains will be taken to Niagara, N. D., for interment.

Land Contests.

The timber-culture contest of Johannes I. Rostad vs. Samuel F. Johnson is being tried at the land office today. The land is in town 142, range 43, Becker county.

On March 23rd the tree-claim contest of Eric S. Peterson vs. Ludvig Arneson, will be heard in the local land office. The land in dispute is in this county, in town 153, range 45.

Advertised Letters.

List of letters remaining unclaimd at the Crookston postoffice for the week ending March 13th 1893.

Blue, Dan	Erickson, Gust
Gagnon, Alfred	Matheman, Ed
Melgaard, H. L.	Stewart, Hutchie
Scott, R. W.

Persons calling for the above letters please say advertised.

WM. B. DAWLEY, P. M.

Sells for Cash.

Charles Vine has adopted the cash system at his meat markets and also adopted cash prices. He sells the choicest cuts at lowest rates—and sells for cash only. Markets on Broadway and Second street. [48-tf]

The sale at the New York Store will not last forever so don't put off your shopping too long—you might get left—and that would make you feel bad.

Money to Loan

On city property, business and dwelling—at 6½ per cent per annum. For full particulars call on P. J. Russell, 25 and 26 Reckitt block, Crookston, Minn. [47tf]

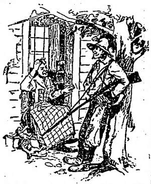
Constipation, and all troubles with the digestive organs and the liver, are cured by Hood's Pills. Unequalled as a dinner pill.

TOM'S STRATEGY.

By HARRY STILLWELL EDWARDS.

[Copyright, 1892, by The Century Company. All rights reserved.]

CHAPTER I.



"Set down. How yer do, Unc' Torm?"

"Wha' yer gwine to do wi' dat gun?" It was Tempy Taylor who propounded that question, and she did it in a tone of voice that would have attracted anybody's attention. She was a tall, heavy, masculine woman of some two hundred odd pounds, and as she straightened up over the washtub under the chinabery tree at the end of her cabin she was indeed a formidable looking figure. Her great black, muscular arms drooped toward the scrubbing board that reclined in the tub, and her hands grasped a wet garment upon which she had been expending some of her prodigious strength. The person addressed was a small old man whose face was pretty well covered with a gray, kinky beard. He nervously shifted the weapon he bore—an ancient muzzle loading fowling piece, with a wire wrapped stock and reed ramrod, and affected an easy, conciliatory manner.

"Des' gwine down yander on de crick. Ole buck rabbit down dere ev'y day 'bout dis time. 'Spec' he oughter be en de pan time Mammy Jo' git heah en de morndin." The voice was drawling and childlike in its modulations. He struck the right chord, and very skillfully. Mammy Jo' was the mother of the amazon at the tub, and had sent word of her intended visit. The little old man moved off slowly, with a peculiar shuffling motion. "Dat 'possum mighty fine back yander," he ventured, with a motion of his head toward the cabin, "but 'tain't gwine ter las' all day."

As he passed on, his ear waited for a harsh summons, but heard only the mutterings of his spouse when she plunged a little more vigorously into her work. The little strip of pine woods toward which his face was turned seemed to approach at a snail's pace only, but he was afraid to change the gait he had chosen. As he stepped at last into the friendly cover of the trees he stole a backward glance over his shoulder, and then abruptly quickened his motions. At the same instant his whole manner changed, and when presently he heard his name echo through the wood, borne upon the imperative tones of a pair of prodigious female lungs, he laughed aloud and held on his way. The woman at the tub talked to herself.

"Mighty takin on 'bout Mammy Jo' all er sudd'n. Mammy Jo'! Mammy Jo'! Heap he kyre 'bout Mammy Jo'," she laughed scornfully. "Better be out en dat patch pick'n cott'n or en dem peas. Ef hit wuz lef' ter him dat steer go 'long ter town ter be sold 'stidder de cott'n bag. I know him; he can't fool me. Gi' 'im time an he go skipp'n 'bout over yonner at de Stillson place, de lyin little debbil." She gave the shirt of her absent lord a vicious wring, as if she felt him in it, and lifted up her voice, obeying a sudden impulse:

"You Torm!" There was no reply except a few echoes that mocked her. "He heah me," she continued, resuming her labors, and then she resumed, too, the thread of her reverie. "'Morndin, Sis' Lizer; how yo' he'th terday, ma'am? Morndin, Sis' Chloey; I hope yer feelin berry well, ma'am.'" She imitated the insinuating, childlike tones of her absent spouse and repeated her scornful laugh. "Nex' time I heah 'bout 'im gwine over deir I'll bre'k ev'y bone en 'is triflin hide."

But Tom was thinking no longer of his industrious and indignant spouse. He was rapidly moving along the new line of departure from home and the haunts of the buck rabbit in the creek bottom. He had a slight limp, caused by a bale of cotton rolling against his leg when he was young, and as he trotted along his funny little figure bobbing up and down caused the powder horn under his arm and the shot gourd to swing out and collide fiercely.

A couple of miles glided away thus, when suddenly out from under his feet a rabbit scurried a few yards away, and pricking up his ears looked back at the rude disturber of his afternoon ramble. Tom brought the gun down across his knee, cocked it successfully, the hammer going back half a circle with three distinct clicks, rested it for a moment against a tree, aimed long and carefully and pulled the trigger. There was a deafening explosion; the little old man staggered back six feet, the muzzle of his gun dropped to the ground, and the rabbit sprung high in the air, turned a somersault and fell dead. Had there been a witness present he would have observed that the ground about the unfortunate animal was more or less torn up for a space of twenty feet square. Tom rushed in and secured his prize, then carefully reloaded his weapon and resumed his journey.

He had not gone far before a rooster, leading his family among the dead leaves of some scrub oaks, straightened up and uttered an inquiring cackle. At the same instant a hound near at hand gave vent to a prolonged howl, and barking fiercely galloped out toward the newcomer. Tom entered a small clearing where stood a log cabin with a garden at the rear, guarded from a couple of cadaverous looking pigs and the chickens by a split picket fence re-enforced with brush. In the doorway sat a young woman twisting her hair into the tight little rolls which all of the kinky headed race affect under the idea that straight hair will finally result therefrom.

"How yer do, Sis' Chayney? How yo' he'th terday, ma'am?" Tom had reduced his gait, and his voice rose and fell melodiously. The woman laughed, showing a mouthful of dazzling teeth.

"I'm toler'ble. Set down. How yer do, Unc' Torm?"

"Des so so." He laid the rabbit on the single step beside her feet and continued facetiously:

"'Spec' dat rabbit knowed wha' I wuz gwine, an des git right en de way ter come erlong too." The woman laughed again. She stole a look at Tom as she sat up with both hands over her head engaged upon a final knot.

"How 'e know?"

Tom raised his eyebrows and scratched his ear.

"He knowed I warn' gwine home," he said slowly, and meeting the comic look on his face with one of intelligence she threw her head back and gave expression to her mood again. She did not thank him for the gift, but took it up as she rose and turned it over. "Rabbit fat," she said, and laid it on the water bucket shelf just inside. "How yer lef,' Aunt Tempy?"

"She putty well," said Tom carelessly. He was studying the toe of his foot visible through a rift in his well worn brogan. Again the laugh of a woman, this time from the inside of the house, reached him.

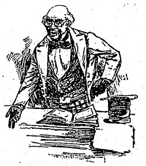
"Tempy gwine ter be heah en dis worl' w'en you an me done gone," she called out. Tom passed his hand over his face and looked as if the idea was not a pleasant one. "Better bring yo' cher enside," added the woman after a few moments, and he complied. Then she began to busy herself straightening things in the simple room, and as she worked the conversation went on.

"Unc' Josh Sims gwine ter preach termorrow," she said. "He come erlong heah des now an he 'low dat he wuz gwine ter turn all de niggers over 'bout heah, 'count er dey debblement."

"Dey es er needin hit," said Tom. "Ef I had er seen 'im I'd er got squar' wid some, sho's you born."

"Oom-hoo! An I reck'n some seen 'im 'fo' now an ten' ter dat 'head er you. Maybe some done got squar' wid ole man Torm." She was passing him as she spoke, and gave him a sharp slap on the jaw.

CHAPTER II.



"Shake off yo' weights!"

When Tom, warned by the sinking sun, set his face homeward, he took a course that would carry him in or about the creek bottom, to which he had ostensibly set out. His way led him by the log church in which a neighborhood preacher or elder held forth every Sunday, except when the famous and eccentric Reverend Joshua Sims visited it, which was three or four times a year. As he approached the edifice, which stood in a pine thicket and boasted of a bush arbor awning in front, he heard the voice of a preacher breaking loudly upon the afternoon calm. Never before had Tom known of a church meeting on Saturday afternoon. It was the time universally claimed by the negroes for town shopping or loafing. He knew of no one recently dead, and besides had any one died that late in the week the body would have been saved until Sunday.

In open mouthed astonishment Tom approached at the side. Sure enough, "preaching" was going on. His first impulse was to enter, but, still suspicious, he placed his eye at a crevice and looked through. There was only one person within the church, and that was the Rev. Joshua Sims. Standing in the pulpit, he was preaching to an imaginary audience the sermon evidently prepared for the next day. Tom squatted down on his haunches, and a broad, comprehensive grin lighted his face as he realized the situation. The speaker thundered over the book lying upon the pulpit, slapping it vigorously from time to time, and walking from side to side.

Half of the Reverend Joshua Sims' success lay in his figure, tempestuous delivery and thrilling tones, and he knew it. The sermon was delivered in a shout, and wherever in a sentence the speaker sought for a word he would prolong the preceding tone with "er-rer." Sometimes saliva from his mouth flew over the pulpit into the vacant auditorium as foam is tossed from a horse's mouth.

Tom had missed the text, and indeed most of the sermon, but this much reached him through the crevice.

"Shake off yo' weights! Shake 'em off! Dey es good ter put on er race horse w'en dey es er trainin 'im, but w'en de time come ter race dey must be shook off. Ef yer gwine ter run er race wid de debble, shake off dem weights, an go et fum de drop er de hat.

"Shake off yo' weights! Shake 'em off! Sister, ef hit's fine clo'es, shake 'em' off! Shake 'em off! Dey ain't no fine clo'es in hebben; de angels don't wear nuthin but de plaines' kine. Yer can't run no race wid er long gown hangin ter yer an er bustle an er hoop erfloppin aroun. Yer can't run no race wid dem sacks an high hats an fedders ter ketch de win an dem high heel shoes er-ketchin en de grass. Shake 'em off! Shake off yo' weights!

"Shake off yo' weights! Shake 'em off, brudders! Yer can't run er race wid de debble an yer full er whisky. Er wise man 'ill take er gourd er spring water at de start an go bar'footed, like Moses roun de bush, an trus' de Lord when 'e want mo' ter run er branch 'cross de road, like he does fur de mule gwine ter town. Shake off de weights! Shake 'em off!

"Shake off yo' weights! How does po' sinner run? He runs wid de weights on, an debble keep right 'long at his heels, so close sinner hear him laugh. Dey trabble 'long tergedder, an bimeby, 'fo' dey gits ter de las' milepos', debble trip up po' sinner an win de race. Shake off yo' weights! Oh, shake 'em off!

"How do de righteous run? He strips off de weights an cuts out. Mos' 'fo' yer know 'e gwine run, 'e done gone, an debble come erlong an find trail so cole 'e don't know wha' good man gone, an 'e win de race. Shake off yo' weights! Yer all got weights, an I'm gwine tell yer 'bout 'em. Deir's sump'n enside already tell yer, but I'm gwine ter tell out loud so ev'ybody know yer been tole." He descended from the pulpit and marched up to the amen corner, still talking. "Here 's Bre'r Dan! Here 's Bre'r Dan! Bre'r Dan got weights, an 'e ain' shake 'em off. What es dem weights' name? Too much corn en 'is crib fur de size er 'is crop! Too much cott'n en 'is crib fur de size er 'is patch! Too many chickens en de pan fur two hens 'an er rooster! Too many shotes erbout Chrismus fur er no sow man. Shake off yo' weights, Bre'r Dan—shake 'em off! Oh, w'at es sech er sinner like? He like er one legged grasshopper, w'a' think 'e es er jumpin somewhar, w'en ev'ybody know 'e jes tu'nnin roun en de road, p'intin er new way ev'y time."

Tom rolled over on the ground outside and kicked his heels in the air, convulsed with laughter. "Somebody done got squar' wid Unc' Dan," he gasped. Then he quickly rose up and glued his eye to the crack again. The preacher was standing with uplifted hands over another imaginary sinner.

"An heah ole Black Aleck! Bre'er Aleck got weights. No chutch on Sunday fur Aleck. Mus' fish tro'tline an hunt squ'r'l. Mus' hoe de gyardin an hunt guinea nes' en de jimsun weeds. Mus' do anythin but heah de Lord's word, 'cept'n' ole Unc' Josh come ter preach. Dem de weights Bre'r Aleck got. Shake 'em off, er-rer! Shake 'em off! Oh, w'at es sech er sinner like? He like er las' yer wasp en er spider web—holler an dry, an 'is wings won't flop no mo'.

"An heah es Bre'r Clay! Heah es my dear Bre'r Clay! Bre'r Clay got weights. W'at kind er weights 'e tryin ter run wid? Lazy weights. Won't work cott'n patch, won't work tater patch, won't work collurd patch, won't work nowhar. O Lord! did anybody ever see er lazy man win er race? 'T ain't gwine ter he'p yer, Bre'r Clay, ter put on dem good clo'es heah an say 'Amen,' an 'Bless de King,' an 'He'p Lord!' loud 'n anybody ef yer lef' de ole 'ooman an de chillun ter work all de week. Shake off de weights, Bre'r Clay! Shake 'em off! Oh, w'at es sech er sinner like? He like er tadpole en er mud puddl' w'at done dry up 'fo' time come fur 'im ter drop 'is tail an be er frog."

Tom went over on the ground while Black Aleck was being dealt with, and he was too weak with laughter to sit up during the time devoted to Clay. Presently he heard:

"An heah Sis' Tilly! Heah es dear Sis' Tilly. Wa't es Sis' Tilly's weights? She got weights ter shake off. She run roun tellin tales on oth'r 'oomen's husbun's"—

"Ooom-hoo!"

Tom cocked his head up as he uttered this assenting exclamation and listened.

"An she scole"—

"Dat's right!"

"An mek troubl' ev'ywhar she go."

"Somebody done got squar' wid Aun' Tilly." Tom ducked his head down and rolled over again.

"Shake 'em off, deah sister! Sh[illegible] 'em off! Oh, w'at es sech er sinner like? She like er cockleburr en de tail uv er dry cowhide an gone ter markit—no good heah an no good deir.

"An heah Bre'r Torm!" The preacher was right over the crevice, and his voice sounded like thunder in the ears of the startled eavesdropper outside. "Little Bre'r Torm. He tryin ter run wid big weights. W'at es Bre'r Torm's weights? He heah ter see dis 'ooman, an yonder ter see dat 'ooman; fus' one way an den ernudder, an er wife down yonner home t'ink 'e gone huntin ev'y time 'e take 'is gun."

A horrible groan broke from the lips of the trembling man without, and a cold sweat started forth all over him. In a frenzy of terror he raised himself to his knees and brought the old gun to full cock. Then realizing what he was doing he returned the hammer to a safer place with feverish anxiety. The Reverend Joshua Sims heard nothing but his own voice. "Shake 'em off, Bre'r Torm! Shake 'em off! Yer can't run no race wid dem weights er-hangin on yer. Oh, w'at es sech er sinner like? He like er snake en de grass, an fus' t'ing 'e know 'e gwine ter lan en de fire wid 'is back broke."

Tom's hilarity was all gone. If that sermon was preached on the morrow he might not literally land in the fire with his back broke, but his back would suffer until the sensations would make it appear so. He left almost as suddenly as his mirth. Gliding into the woods he made his way to the bend in the road; then, as if struck with a new idea, stopped short and took a seat on a stump. In an attitude of profound reflection he waited until, having finished his sermon, the preacher came down the road with great dignity. When he reached the vicinity of the little man the latter started suddenly, looked over his shoulder, and an affable and delighted expression dawned upon his face.

"How do yer do, Bre'r Sims? Lord, I wuz des er-sayin how I 'u'd like ter see Bre'r Sims, an heah 'e come er-walkin right erlong." By this time he was up and shaking the newcomer's hand.

"Wha' yer gwine dis time er day?" The Reverend Joshua returned the greeting, but with less demonstration.

"Well, I wuz er-gwine down ter Sis' Thomson's."

"Wha' dat!" Tom threw up both hands in well affected astonishment. "Man, night ketch yer 'fo' yer git half way deir! No, sah; yer come erlong wid me. Tempy'll be proud ter see Bre'r Sims, an I 'spect by now dat possum w'at wuz er-cookin 'while back done got done." Tom laughed and slapped his companion on the back. The Reverend Joshua Sims was a large, heavy man, with a round, full jaw and a well fed look. It really mattered little to him where he spent the night, and the possum decided the point. He suffered himself to be led off. Tom, having got himself well under way, continued gayly:

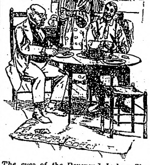
"I knowed dat possum up ter sump'n. Las' night de rooster call me ter run deir quick. Bre'r Possum was squattin en de henhous' des like 'e been sont fur an come, an heah 'tis." Tom wagged his head sagaciously. "Oomp! Ef I c'u'd des jump Bre'r Rabbit now, 'spect he'd he'p bre'kfus' mightily." And he began to peer around with a great show of eagerness.

"Didn't yer shoot erwhile back? Heah somebody over yonner 'bout Sis' Chayney's."

Tom shook his head. "'Spect dat wuz one dem Gillus boys. Dey all time bangin way over deir. When Tom shoot, sump'n gwine hang 'bout 'is clo'es." He lifted the gun quickly and sighted it toward a clump of bushes, then took it down.

"Dat mullein leaf down deir fool me. Look mighty like er molly cott'n." But Brother Sims plodded along behind the loquacious little man—his mind on other things again.

CHAPTER III.



The eyes of the Reverend Joshua Sims danced.

Tempy received the pair graciously. She was a devout church woman on Sundays. Like most negro women she had infinite respect for preachers, and this respect in the case of the Reverend Joshua Sims was mixed with something of fear, for his methods in the pulpit were exceedingly pointed and personal, as has perhaps been gathered, and ridicule has a disastrous effect upon ignorant people. She vied with Tom in attentions to the shepherd. One placed a chair near the door; the other brought a gourd of water. One took his hat and Bible; the other got him a fan. Presently there came a lull in their ministrations, for the reason that there was nothing left to be done for the guest. Then Tom plucked the sleeve of his life partner at an opportune moment and glided out the back door behind the chicken house.

Puzzled by this demonstration Tempy looked out after him. Presently she saw his head thrust out and his features working mysteriously. She took a pan in her hand, as if on some domestic mission, and went behind the chicken house also. Tom straightened up his little body and looked her full in the face. Her mountain of flesh loomed above him, but his assumption of a common danger had made him bold.

"Put dat possum on de table, Tempy," he said in a tragic whisper.

"W'at I gwine ter put Mamma Jo's possum on table fur?" In her surprise and indignation she did not trouble herself to subdue her voice. Tom grasped her with both hands.

"Sh-h-h-h!" he said. "Don't let 'im heah, Tempy," and his voice was just audible, while his features shifted themselves as under the pressure of some great emotion. "I wuz er-comin 'long by de chutch des now an Bre'r Sims wuz en deir er-preachin by hisse'f, er-gittin ready fur termorrer. He dess gi' de niggers de wuss raspin y' ever heah—Dan an Clay an Aleck an Sis' Tilly"— A low chuckle escaped from Tempy's lips.

"Needn' laugh. He tech on you too."

"W'at 'e say 'bout me?"

Tempy bristled up, but instantly looked around as if afraid of being heard.

"Sh-h-h-h! He gi' yer fits. Can't tell w'at 'e did say. Somebody been tellin lies 'bout yer, sho'. He ain't say nuthin 'bout me, but 'e gi' yer de wuss sort er name fur lyin an er-tarkin roun"—

"Be deir in one minute!" Tom elevated his voice as if he heard the Reverend Joshua Sims calling. "Put dat possum on table, Tempy." Snatching up an armful of wood he went in, tossed it down noisily on the fireplace and joined his guest in the broad passageway between the two rooms of the little home.

Half an hour later the three sat down to eat. There was a scarcity of crockery, and there were only two forks, and all had to drink water from a single gourd that hung by the bucket, but this did not lessen their enjoyment of the meal. There was plenty of hot, "crackling" bread, great generous pones that crumbled under the eager fingers of the men; and there was the possum warmed over, with its halo of baked sweet potatoes and all as brown as a partridge's back.

The eyes of the Reverend Joshua Sims danced at the sight of this dish, and when, having quartered the animal, Tom gave him a ham and poured the rich brown gravy lavishly over all, a happier man could not have been found. Between his attacks upon the tempting dish he began to tell of his adventure some weeks before at a baptizing. He had undertaken to put Sis' Tilly Hunter under the water, when she caught him around the legs, and over they both went. The elders pulled Tilly out by the heels, and Tilly pulled him. Tom laughed loudly and slapped himself on the legs, and ever and anon he would lay down his knife, and, overcome with the recollection of the scene, repeat the performance.

"Bre'r Sims," he exclaimed to Tempy between his paroxysms, "es mighty hard ter beat." Tempy, too, simulated a great laugh, but with poor success.

What raconteur is not moved by the success of his stories? Stimulated by the unstinted applause, the Reverend Joshua Sims was stirred to further endeavors.

"Bre'r Torm," he said, after a long pull at the pitcher of persimmon beer that Tempy had remembered to fetch, "sump'n happ'n las' ye'r en de drought dat beat dat. I wuz er baptizin Bre'r Dick Simins, an de crik wuz mighty low, lemme tell yer, 'cause hit hadn' rain fur nigh onter eighty days, and Bre'r Dick said de worl wuz er gittin ready to burn up, an so 'e wanter come inter de chutch. De water wuz dat low we had ter dam up de crik, an den we tuk Bre'r Dick en, an Bre'r Jerry Toler an me try ter put 'im unner. Bre'r Dick wuz er might' big man, an de water did n' 'zactly git up over 'is stumick. Now yer know er man got ter go clean unner 'fo' 'is sins wash' erway, an Bre'r Jerry 'lowed dat ef 'is stumick staid out all de sins gwine ter stick right deir—des like fleas come up on er dog's head w'en he go in de water. Well, sah, w'en Bre'r Jerry see dat stickin up deir 'e put bof han's on hit an bear down hard. Bre'r Dick wuz hol'n 'is bref deir, an w'en 'e git Bre'r Jerry's weight 'e blow water way up yonner an say 'Poo-oo-oo!' an 'is foots an head pop out. Bre'r Jerry put 'is foots back an I shove 'is head unner; den 'is stumick come out ergin. Den Bre'r Jerry mash down, an Bre'r Dick say, 'Pooh!' and pop up 'is head and 'is foots des like 'e did fus' time. Somebody on de bank yell out, 'Tu'n him over,' an we gi' 'im er roll, but, bless yo' soul, 'is back rose up like er fiddle, an by dis time Bre'r Dick wuz mighty nigh full er water an de dam done broke."

Tom was ducking his head about under the table and screaming with laughter, and the Reverend Joshua Sims stopped to join in. Tempy was waving back and forth in her chair, clapping her hands every time her head came down. Then Tom gasped for breath, and clutched his guest by the shoulder, turning an appealing glance upon him.

"Hush, Bre'r Sims—hush!"

"Now, wuz Bre'r Dick baptiz 'cordin ter de doctrun, er wuz 'e not? Some sez yes, an some sez no, 'cause deir nebber wuz er time w'en some er 'im wasn' showin, but Bre'r Dick say"—

"W'at 'e say?" Tom gasped out the question.

"He cussed and say he ain' gwine ter try hit any mo', an dat settle hit wid me. Ef Bre'r Dick had er had 'is sins wash' erway he 'u'd er been full er de speret er righteousness, an not cussin mad."

The last vestige of opossum, the last sop of gravy and the last swallow of persimmon beer had disappeared down the throat of the distinguished guest when the party went forth under the china tree and found seats. The moonlight lay soft upon the cotton field—a silvered silence under which only the crickets and a single mocking bird tried to give a concert. Tom brought out a corncob pipe for the preacher and shaved him tobacco from a plug, and Tempy brought a coal of fire in the hollow of her hand from the kitchen. The itinerant held forth for an hour upon many subjects, but never to a more attentive and appreciative audience. When at last they lay down to sleep Tom's sides really ached, and a ready made smile clung to his face until far into the night. Even after it vanished it returned dream summoned and occupied from time to time its old familiar place.

Next day the personal rebuke of the preacher burst like a thunderstorm upon his hearers. Dan was crushed. Aleck let his head go down upon his hands. Clay slipped out of the door as soon as public attention was drawn from him and went home. Tilly crouched behind the bench and hid herself. Few of all the adults there escaped the lash. But Tom leaned back against the wall with his eyes half closed and Tempy by his side. A peaceful smile was upon his face—the smile that went to bed with him the night before. When Dan was scored he said softly, "Come back ter de fold, Bre'r Dan; come back." To Aleck he murmured dreamily, "Face de light! Face de light!" And when Clay received punishment, from the lips of the serene little fellow floated, "Sinner, tu'n; why will yer die?—why will yer die?"

When the Reverend Joshua Sims came in front of his former host a close observer might have noticed that the latter's half shut eyes fell a little closer and his thin sides filled out with a prolonged breath, but as the preacher passed on the eyelids slowly lifted again, the sides sank gently and something like the restful sigh of a cow when she lies down floated out from the half parted lips of the devout little man.

THE END.

Knew the Soil.

There is a little story of Professor Huxley. During a walking tour he once missed his way owing to the darkness of the night. He walked on for some distance, and meeting with no other person of whom he could make inquiries he suddenly stopped, took up a handful of earth from the road, lit a match and said triumphantly, "Uxbridge!"—London Tit-Bits.

A Child's "Reason Why."

"Tell me, mother, did grandmother lose her teeth a long time ago—a very, very long time ago?"

"Why do you ask such a question?"

"Because, mother, dear—because, you see, when I know—why, then, I shan't ask you again."—Le Gaulois.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank.

A. H. DUNLAP, M. D.
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS. QUEBEC.
Office in McKinnon Block.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist,
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

MARTIN O'BRIEN,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
{I. O. O. F. BUILDING.} Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block } CROOKSTON, MINN.

MILLER & FOOTE,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW.
McKinnon Block. - Crookston, Minn.

E. D. SCHREADER
Veterinary Surgeon.
Horse Dentistry a Specialty.
All Calls receive Prompt Attention. Satisfaction guaranteed in all cases. Office: 319 North Main Street, in connection with Livery house.
CROOKSTON, MINN.

FITS STOPPED FREE
Marvelous success.
Insane Persons Restored
Dr. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER
for all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure cure for Nerve Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No Fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send names, P. O. and express address of afflicted to DR. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. See Druggists. BEWARE OF IMITATING FRAUDS.

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the
Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

THE PRESS
(NEW YORK)
For 1893
Has a larger Daily Circulation than any other Republican newspaper in America.
DAILY. SUNDAY. WEEKLY.
The Aggressive Republican Journal of the Metropolis.
A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES.
Founded Dec. 1st, 1887.
Circulation over 125,000 copies daily. The most remarkable Newspaper Success in New York. The PRESS is a National Newspaper. Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of the the PRESS.
The PRESS has the brightest Editorial page in New York. It sparkles with points. The PRESS Sunday Edition is a splendid paper, covering every current topic of interest. The PRESS Weekly Edition contains all the good things of the Daily and Sunday editions.
AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM
The Press has no superior in New York.
THE PRESS
Within the reach of all. The best and cheapest Newspaper in America.
Daily and Sunday, one year.........$5 00
" " 6 months.........2 50
" " 1 " 45
Daily only, one year.........3 00
" " 4 months.........1 00
Sunday, one year.........2 00
Weekly Press, one year.........1 00
Send for Press circular. Samples free. Agents wanted everywhere. Liberal commissions.
Address THE PRESS,
38 Park Row, New York.

SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN!

Catches Fish Every Time.

A live minnow in an annealed, flanged, flint glass tube, so arranged as to magnify the minnow; hole in each end to keep the bait alive. One minnow lasts a day. It catches the largest fish and salt water fish. You can use angle-worms, crabs grass-hoppers, or any other bait. To introduce this patent a few will be sold in each town and sent by mail on receipt of $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 each, which will be refunded within 10 days if the device is returned in good order.

On all tests with other devices it has caught 10 to their 1. In ordering do so with ink, send money order, write plainly your name, town, county and state, and say what kind of fish you want to catch. The tubes will be made 3½, 4½ and 5½ inches long, and trimmed proportionately with white hooks swivel and white wire leader, ready for use. Only the minnow is seen in a foot of water.

Don't write to ask questions for this circular goes to every postoffice in the U. S., and I have no time to answer, life is too short. If the idea catches you as the device catches the fish, order one, if not please hand this to some progressive fisherman. Orders will be filled only on receipt of cash in turn, and as fast as can be manufactured.

Any transparent device for fishing without the name "Welch & Graves Patent Jan. 3, 1893," in the glass, is an infringement and the users will be prosecuted. Address,

Calvin V. Graves,
Natural Bridge, Jefferson Co., N. Y.

Reference: National Banks of Carthage, Lowville and Boonville, N. Y.

The MacKaye Spectatorium.

"The MacKaye Spectatorium" will, it is said, prove the principal feature of the Columbian celebration. Current rumors, from authoritative sources, assert that it will be a very noble as well as a strangely novel institution presenting a production in every way worthy of the grandeur of the occasion it is to celebrate. The MacKaye spectatorium, in a word, is a building in which a presentment will be given of Columbus, his life and the events of his first voyage. The building itself is a massive one, being 500 x 380 feet on the ground and six stories in height. This building, with its appliances, great studios and power houses, will occupy nine acres of ground, and the mounting, setting and surroundings of the production will cost, in round numbers, about $1,500,000. It is all the conception of Mr. Steele MacKaye and it is being completed by the Columbian Celebration company. This company is composed of gentlemen not often heard of in connection with anything of this kind, but gentlemen whose names are a power in every branch of the business world. Such men indeed as George M. Pullman, Lyman J. Gage, Murry Nelson, Benj. Butterworth, Franklin H. Head, E. B. Butler, J. O. Hinkley, E. W. Gillett, Judge Leroy D. Thoman, P. E. Studebaker, Gen'l A. C. McClurg, C. L. Hutchinson and others of like ability and power. Those who have seen the working of the $30,000 model tell tales so strange that one can scarcely believe in the realization of ideas so entirely beyond the ordinary.

Something New in Train Equipment to Chicago.

The "Limited" train on The Northwestern Line," leaving Minneapolis 7:30 p. m.; St. Paul 8:10 p. m. and arriving Milwaukee 7:25 a. m., Chicago 9:30 a. m., is now equipped with Wagner Compartment Cars in addition to Standard Sleepers, and also with Buffet Smoking and Library Cars.

This is the finest equipped train in America, is the only train of its kind west of Chicago, and no extra fare is charged on this "Northwestern Limited."

By "The Northwestern Line" you also have advantage of fast day train, leaving Minneapolis 7:20 a. m. and St. Paul 8:30 a. m., arriving Milwaukee 7:55 p. m., Chicago, 9:35 p. m., also an afternoon train, leaving Minneapolis 5:00 p. m., St. Paul 5:35 p. m., arriving at Chicago 7:45a. m

"The Nortwestern Line" is also the only Pullman Car Line from St. Paul and Minneapolis, Sioux City, Omaha, Kansas City, Duluth and Ashland.

For luxury and comfort, best equipment and road bed, secure ticket via "The Northwestern Line," they are on sale at all stations. Illustrated Map Folder free on application to

T. W. Teasdale
Gen. Pass. Agent,
[32tf] St. Paul, Minn.

Cheap Fuel.

From a limited amount of wood, I will deliver to any part of the city four foot dry soft wood at $4.00, four foot dry hard wood at $5.50, sawed, as you want it for 50 cents extra.

W. H. Norrie,
Successor to Priester & Co.
Corner Main and Third streets.

Women Will Vote

as usual at the next school election—but for many candidates. They give a unanimous vote—every day in the week—in favor of

KIRK'S WHITE RUSSIAN SOAP

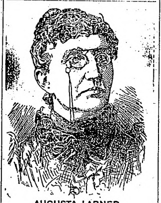
because they know it has no equal as a labor and temper saver on wash-day. The "White Russian" is a great soap to use in hard or alkali water. Does not roughen or injure the hands—is perfectly safe to use on the finest fabrics.

JAS. S. KIRK & CO., Chicago.

Dusky Diamond Tar Soap. Makes the Skin Soft and Smooth.

COUGHING LEADS TO CONSUMPTION Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

St. Vitus' Dance cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine.



AUGUSTA LARNED.

The Latest Story

from the pen of this gifted writer will soon appear in these columns. Its title is the first of a series of Novelettes by leading authors we propose publishing.

Pride and Poverty,

* * *

Your Subscription
Can Begin Now.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9th, 1893.]
[Last publication April 20th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale dated February 5th, 1890, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on February 15th, 1890, in book 51 of mortgages, on page 530, whereby Ephraim Audette and Philanise Audette his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to The Security Trust Company, mortgagee, all that tract, piece or parcel of land situate in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of section ten, in township one hundred and fifty north, of range forty-five west, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of, $547.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m., at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, and $25 Attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

SECURITY TRUST COMPANY,
Mortgagee.
Montague & Bucklen,
Attorneys for Mortgagee. [47-1]

The St. Paul Globe And Cleveland.

Now that the Democratic party, by the vote of a large majority of the American people, has been placed in possession of all branches of the national government,

YOU WILL WANT
THE ST. PAUL GLOBE

As a regular visitor in your home.

It will give you the news of the world.
It will give you the markets of the world.
It will give you the doings of congress.
It will give you the doings of your own state legislature.

It will keep you informed upon the acts of the administration of President Cleveland, as well as the acts of the Republican state administration.

It will discuss, intelligently and impartially, questions of legislation and administration in both state and nation—giving especial attention to questions of taxation, finance, free wheat markets and those things in which you are most deeply interested.

You also want the Globe's great Geographical and Political Map, to hang up in your house or office. No intelligent family will want to be without the Globe or its Map.

Price of either the Weekly Globe one year or the Map, $1. Both taken together, $1.50.

RATES OF GLOBE BY MAIL.

	1 yr.	6 mo.	3 mo.	1 mo.
Daily	$8.00	$4.00	$2.00	70 cts
Daily and Sunday	10.00	5.00	2.50	85 cts
Sunday	2.00	1.00	.50	......
Weekly	1.00	.50	.25	......
Club of three Weeklies				$2.70
Club of 5 Weeklies, and 1 to agent free. 1 yr.				$5.00

All subscriptions payable in advance.

Address, ST. PAUL GLOBE,
St. Paul, Minn.

IN PROBATE COURT.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk:—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, Feb. 23d, 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Stener Knutson deceased:

On receiving and filing the petition of Elias Steenerson of the County of Polk representing, among other things, that Stener Knutson, late of the County of Polk in the State of Minnesota, on the 11th day of October, A. D. 1891, at the County of Polk died intestate, and being an inhabitant of this county at the time of his death, leaving goods, chattels and estate within this county, and that the said petitioner is a son of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be to Elias Steenerson granted;

It is ordered, that said petition be heard before said court, on Monday the 25th day of March A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the Probate Office, in the City of Crookston in said county.

Ordered further, that notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased and to all persons interested, by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Polk County Journal, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 23rd day of February A. D. 1893.

By the Court,
C. M. BENSON,
[46-48] Judge of Probate.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9th, 1893.]
[Last publication April 20th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing power of sale, dated June 10th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on June 21st, 1887, at ten o'clock a. m., in book 33 of mortgages, on page 17, whereby Knud Johnsen and Guri Johnsen, his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, all that tract of land situate in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, described as follows: The southwest quarter of section nine, in township one hundred and forty-nine north, of range forty west, containing 160 acres more or less, excepting therefrom two acres in the southwest corner of said section, which excepted part is used for a church and cemetery, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $442, being the amount of the principal secured by said mortgage, with interest thereon and the taxes for the years 1888, 1889, 1890, 1891 and 1892, paid by the mortgagee, with interest thereon from the date of such payment. Said mortgage and the debt secured thereby were duly assigned by an instrument in writing bearing date September 8th, 1887, by said mortgagee to George Parker, and said assignment was on September 13th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said county, in book 23 of mortgages, on page 241.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m., at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, and $25 Attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

GEORGE PARKER,
Assignee of Mortgagee.
Montague & Bucklen,
Attorneys for Assignee.
[47-1] Crookston, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9, 1893]
[Last publication April 20, 1893]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale, dated November 21st, 1890, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk County, Minnesota, on November 24th 1890, in book 49 of mortgages on page 208, whereby Bertha Rundhaug, formerly Bertha Iverson, and Torgrim O. Rundhaug, her husband, mortgagors, mortgaged to Martin Lally, mortgagee, all that tract, piece or parcel of land, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The north-east quarter of the south-west quarter and lot six, all in section six in Township one hundred and forty-nine of range forty-two, containing 78 and 72-100 acres, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $158.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a.m., at the front door of the Court House in the City of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, and $25 attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

MARTIN LALLY,
Mortgagee.
Montague & Bucklen,
Attorneys for Mortgagee. [47-1]

The Farmers' Tribune

THE Best Newspaper.
THE Best Agricultural Paper
THE Best Editorials.

THE BEST MISCELLANEOUS READING.
THE BEST SKETCHE OF TRAVEL.
THE BEST ESSAYS AND SERMONS.

Should be read in every home in the Northwest.

LIBERAL PREMIUMS.

Each subscriber who pays arrearges and one year in advance, or each new subscriber who sends one dollar for one year's subscription between Feb. 15th and May 1st, 1893, will receive as a premium their choice of either

No. 1—12 Packages Vegetable Seed.
No. 2—12 Packages Flower Seeds.
No. 3—25 Strawberry Plants,
No. 4—1 Lb. Farmers' Tribune Pedigreed Seed corn.

Remember, $1.00 for the Farmers' Tribune one year, with choice of either of above premiums. Or the

POLK COUNTY JOURNAL
ONE YEAR
AND EITHER OF THE ABOVE PREMIUMS,
For $2.00.

Address
THE JOURNAL,
Crookston, Minn.

Ripans Tabules cure constipation.
Ripans Tabules cure the blues.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."
BEECHAM'S PILLS
TASTELESS—EFFECTUAL
FOR A DISORDERED LIVER

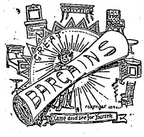
Taken as directed these famous Pills will prove marvellous restoratives to all enfeebled by the above or kindred diseases.

25 Cents a Box,

but generally recognized in England and, in fact throughout the world to be "worth a guinea a box," for the reason that they WILL CURE a wide range of complaints, and that they have saved to many sufferers not merely one but many guineas, in doctors' bills.

Covered with a Tasteless & Soluble Coating.
Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box.
New York Depot, 365 Canal St.



GREAT
BARGAINS
Come and see for Yourself.

A Neatly Furnished House

Is a joy and comfort to its possessor. In this glorious northwest none are too poor to have good furniture and comfortable fixtures for their home. We carry not only the most expensive furniture and house furnishings, but also a line of good, substantial, nice-looking goods, which we can sell at prices within the reach of all. We carry everything to be in a first-class furniture store, and we guarantee to undersell our competitors.

Scandia Furniture Co.
OPERA BLOCK,
Crookston, - - - Minn.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

Is the only line running
THROUGH PULLMAN CARS
BETWEEN
Chicago, St. Paul,
Minneapolis
AND
NORTH PACIFIC COAST POINTS.

THE DINING CAR LINE
Dining Cars on all through Trains.

THE YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
This marvellous Wonderland reached only by this line.

THE PEOPLE'S LINE
The people's highway from Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and West Superior to Winnipeg, Helena, Butte, Missoula, Spokane, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and Puget Sound.

THE TOURISTS' LINE
The popular line to reach Lakes Pend d' Orielle Cœur d' Alene, Kootenai, Chelan, the Hot Springs and Mountain Resorts of the Northwest and to Alaska.

DAILY EXPRESS TRAINS
Have Pullman Palace Cars, Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Free Colonist Sleeping Cars.

THROUGH TICKETS
Are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and West, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave Crookston.	For St. Paul, Minneapolis Chicago, Duluth and West Superior,	7:12 p.m.
Daily	For Grand Forks, Grafton, Brandon and Winnipeg,	8:10 a.m.

For rates, maps, time tables, or special information, apply to

Chas. A. Sharkey,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.,
Crookston, Minn.
Chas. S. Fee,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn

Ripans Tabules cure dyspepsia.

SAAKE

Is still doing business at the old stand and selling
WATCHES, CLOCKS
JEWELRY
CHEAPER
THAN EVER.

WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ROBERT STREET,
CROOKSTON, MINN,
C. H. SAAKE.

Schmidt, the Painter,

CARRIES A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF PAINTS,
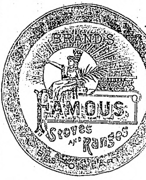
OILS AND
VARNISHES.
ALSO A FULL AND COMPLETE LINE OF
WALL PAPER.

Painting in all its branches, and Paper Hanging artistically done.

Call at the Shop on Broadway.

If you want a
STOVE OR RANGE
FOR WOOD OR Coal, see the



FAMOUS
BRAND
STOVE

AT ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER'S.

They are the finest line of stoves ever brought to Crookston, and are sold at

REASONABLE PRICES.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPENS MAY 1ST.

Are You Going? If so be sure and take out a Membership Certificate in "The Chicago Entertainment Bureau."

It will save you Worry, Time and Money. Respectable and well located rooms at moderate prices guaranteed. Send for descriptive circulars to the

Minnesota and Dakota Headquarters, 618 AND 619 PIONEER PRESS BLDG., ST. PAUL,
N. T. HALL, Manager.

Partial List of References: HON. KNUTE NELSON, Gov. of Minnesota; HON. A. R. McGILL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; HON. W. R. MARSHALL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; RT. REV. W. N. GILBERT, Ass't Bishop, Diocese, Minn., and many other equally well known names.

Chew Climax Plug

It's Much the Best.

Its name indicates it,
Its make guarantees it,
Its use will prove it.

Try it and see.

Sold everywhere. Made only by
THE P. LORILLARD COMPANY,
The oldest tobacco manufacturers in America and the largest in the World.

Polk County Journal.

BY COOKE & HAMMOND.

Devoted to the Welfare of Polk County.

OFFICIAL PAPER, CITY OF CROOKSTON.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

THERE will be no extra session of congress. So says the executive.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has intimated that those who held office during his former administration should be disqualified from holding office again. He is not in favor of two terms—except as it applies to himself.

THE government crop report shows that the proportion of wheat on hand is 26.2 per cent of the last crop. This is the smallest percentage on hand for 10 years, and it is thought that the price of wheat will take an upward tendency soon, and get back to where it belongs.

THE friends and admirers of Gov. McKinley have come to his rescue by raising $90,000 for the governor, and none of his or his wife's property will be touched. There were 40,000 contributors, and most of the money was raised by one-dollar contributions. This money will go to redeem the paper which the governor endorsed for a friend of his who failed.

AN unusual precedent has been established by the Minneapolis City Council. Without bringing any charges against their presiding officer, they voted to depose him and elected another alderman as their chairman. Should this rule hold good, presiding officers are liable to be deposed every time they make a ruling distasteful to a majority of the board.

THE Kansas populists who elected Jerry Simpson because of his simplicity of manner and his alleged interest in the common people must have been surprised when reading the account of the inauguration ceremonies at Washington. Their sockless chieftain was right in it with the best of 'em and Mrs. Simpson is described as wearing "black velvet, point lace and diamonds."

THE JOURNAL has received a copy of the division bill that Hunt and others spent all winter incubating. We see nothing incendiary in its provisions, but are of the opinion that the number of voters required to call an election—(only 15 per cent of the legal voters being necessary,) is too small. But after all said and done it appears to be a very innocent document compared with what we had been led to expect.

THE dyed-in-the-wool democrats are wishing that Stevenson was president instead of Cleveland. The latter is too slow in "turning the rascals out," and Stevenson's well-known policy in this direction endears him to all democratic office-seekers, and he will be a strong candidate for the presidency in 1896. It is said by his friends that there wouldn't be a republican in office a month after Adlai was inaugurated as president.

WHEN boss Doran of St. Paul suggested to President Cleveland that Lewis Baker be given the Brazilian mission, Grover inquired: "Baker! Baker! Who is this man Baker?" Mr. Baker thought at one time that his distinguished services as democratic national committeeman for Minnesota, and as editor of the St. Paul Globe, would have given him the privilege of distributing a large share of the patronage of this state. But it seems Grover don't even know him. During the late campaign Baker supplied the brains and Doran disbursed the funds.

SOME of our legislators are worried about the deliberate manner Governor Nelson has of considering all bills sent him. He reads every bill over carefully and thoroughly understands every paragraph before he signs it. It has been the custom of other governors to sign all seemingly unimportant or local measures without considering them. Governor Nelson is opposed to the manner in which the legislature is trying to evade the constitutional amendment prohibiting special legislation, by passing special bills in a general form, and to guard against this is one reason for his watchfulness.

THAT legislature junket that we have heard so much about resolved itself down to senator Jay LeDue, from the senate and J. J. Furlong from the house. Only for the stand taken by Governor Nelson the whole shooting-match, including all of the state officers would have gone off to Chicago, to the neglect of their duties at home and the tax-payers would have to pay the fiddler. Governor Nelson did not think it right to saddle this useless expense upon the people and he had the manliness to decline to subject them to this extra expense. He is for the best interests of the people first, last and all the time.

THE Bismark Tribune gives the following account of the dissolution of the house of the North Dakota legislature:

The last speech of the session was made by Mr. Hurley. The governor had locked up and gone, the secretary's lights were out, the tread of senatorial feet might have been heard on the stairway. Mr. Strom had for hours tried in vain to secure consideration for Johnson's senate bill No. 253 only to be crowed aside by rules which his friends were not strong enough to suspend. At last they consulted and the bill was taken up. Hurley undertook to make a set speech which should crowd it over the time set for adjournment. Some one had stopped the clock. One by one the members gathered up their files of bills and other plunder and passed on. Hurley was still talking. At last the roll was called. Hurley explained his vote. The members still passed on with their plunder. A quorum did not vote. Senate bill 253 died with the last coffering gasp of the legislature of 1893.

THE legislatures of Washington, Wyoming & Montana, after being in session 60 days, and transacting scarcely any business whatever, adjourned without electing a United States senator, and North Dakota just escaped the same result by about ten days. If this don't give the people of those states an object lesson in favor of electing United States senators by a vote of the people then nothing under heaven will. When a legislature, which is elected to enact laws for the benefit of the people, will spend 60 days and thousands of dollars, wrangling over the choice of a senator—and then not elect one—nor enact any laws—it is time that the people took the senatorial election out of the hands of the legislatures. The present system is a farce—and an expensive one at that. The people—the dear people—have no more voice in the selection of a senator than they had in the question of a treaty with Hawaii.

AT the National Encampment at Washington last fall, the writer was attending a camp fire in one of the tents when one of the speakers recited an original poem on the army mule. It caused a great deal of comment, and James McElroy, the editor of the National Tribune, being present promised to get it and give it to the boys in the Tribune, but we failed to see it there and last week we found it in the Fergus Falls Journal. So we give it for the benefit of old vets, every one of whom will be able to appreciate it:

THE ARMY MULE.

I sing of the mule, of the Grand Army mule,
The butt of all and yet nobody's fool;
A four-footed Solon, who knew his own mind
And wisely kept part of his foresight behind.

A general guarding his forces from fear
By keeping a ba'tery close to his rear;
A strategist keeping his plans under cover
By marching one way and fighting the other.

A tactician of whom we all will agree
That he taught the whole world, including
Hardee,
The science of meeting the battle's fierce brunt
By swinging his rear quickly 'round to the front.

A musician of note, who never was paid,
Tho' he led every charge of the Hard-tack brigade;
A song-bird wearing his wings on his head,
A player of bones when we thought he was dead;
The only recruit wearing Uncle Sam's brand,
Whose heels were drum-sticks and his head a brass band.

Wheat Prices.

The editor of the Delano Eagle has made a study of the wheat question and says:

"There is more or less speculation going on just now as to whether or not it will pay to put in much wheat this coming season. The price of this cereal has been so low this winter that it must have been discouraging to the bonanza wheat farmers of the northwest, more so even than to the small farmer in other parts. The year's product is therefore likely to be less than in either of the two preceding years. Prices ranged so low that even with good crops it proved unprofitable to the big farmer, and this must have the effect of reducing the acreage. The price for the coming season will therefore depend as much or more on the surplus of wheat held and carried over than on the present year's product. Statistics as to the amount on hand or carried over are anything but correct; it is more guess work than anything else. Experience has shown that in years of plenty or following large crops and low prices, the supply held or carried over is invariably larger than estimated, and the years following small crops and high prices, just the reverse. It would not be a great surprise, if with but half the product of last year, the close of the present year would still not feel a scarcity of wheat."

PENSIONS.

Democratic soldier-hating papers have made a great howl about the pensions paid to the veterans of the late war, and just now they are howling in great glee over the prospect that Grover will at once take steps to put a stop to the service pension law. Not long since those same papers were howling loud and long about the great surplus in the United States treasury, and demanding that the government devise a way to put this money into general circulation. The United States owes a debt of gratitude to these old boys that no money consideration can ever pay. We have been paying millions of money in interest to those who simply furnished their money to carry on the war, but who did not imperil their lives and their health in putting down the rebellion, and the man who went to the front in those days for a sum equal to about $6 per month, and who imperiled his life and health to preserve the Union, is more deserving of consideration than he who simply furnished money at a large rate of interest. If the United States owes a debt to the bondholder, why does she not to the soldier who did the hard work? Our pension system pays the old soldiers of the Mexican war far more in proportion than it does the veterans of the war of the rebellion, and yet you never hear a democratic paper kick against that. The payment of the small pittances that our boys in blue get, distributes the money all over the United States and thus helps, not only the beneficiaries themselves, but incidentally everybody else as well. Should Grover attempt to monkey with the pension system he will wake up a hornet's nest he little dreams of.

THE MAYORALITY.

Mayor Anglim, whose term expires this spring upon the election and qualifying of a successor, will not be a candidate for re-election. Over two months ago, when he was asked by several of our leading citizens to be a candidate for re-election, Mayor Anglim's reply was that his business arrangements were such as to preclude the possibility of entertaining the idea. He said: "The mayor of this city should be so situated as to be able to give very much of his time to public duties, and my business arrangements are such that I expect to be away from the city much of the time, and for the reason that I shall be unable to devote as much time to it as I have done in the past year, I feel it but justice to the best interests of the city to decline the office for the coming year. While I feel grateful to you gentlemen as well as to all who have given expressions of approval of my acts as mayor of this city, I shall be obliged to decline a re-nomination if offered me." Mr. Anglim has administered the affairs of the city as its mayor to the best of his ability, and he will leave the chair to his successor feeling that he has given the city a good administration. Prominent among the names we have heard mentioned for his successor are Halvor Steenerson, A. D. Stephens, E. M. Walsh, Wm. Watts, Louis Ellington, John Cromb, E. D. Childs, J. E. Morrisey, Hugh Thompson A. A. Miller, J. W. Wheeler and John McKinnon. Of these the JOURNAL learns that Louis Ellington, Wm. Watts, E. M. Walsh, Hugh Thompson, J. E. Morrisey and John McKinnon have refused emphatically to have their names considered. Mr. Thompson has been urged by many of his friends to reconsider his refusal, but owing to his duties in the land office he is not eligible any way. He would make one of the best of mayors and would no doubt be nominated in spite of his declination if eligible. The convention next Monday night will without doubt name the coming mayor and the JOURNAL has no doubt that he will be a good one.

Bride Hunting For Bridegroom.

A policeman at Portobello on going his rounds very early one morning discovered a young man on the roof of a low building, and naturally believing him to be a burglar seized him. He was surprised on seeing that he was evidently in his best clothes, and still more so when on searching for burglar's tools he found only a piece of bride cake. The captive offering no explanation the officer was puzzled. Suddenly a party of young women—a bride and bridesmaid—approached in an excited state. They were evidently searching for some valuable which had been lost. On catching sight of the culprit there was a shout of "Why, here he is!" The poor bride seemed greatly moved.

During the marriage festivities he had for some unexplained reason slipped away from the scene, and his friends had divided into parties, searching high and low for the runaway. They were naturally greatly astonished that he had preferred a cold roof in winter time to the society of his charming bride. Without any more fuss they took possession of the fugitive from matrimony who looked somewhat depressed, and bore him away in triumph. -Scotsman.

A Bewildered Sunflower.

Sir Robert Ball tells an amusing anecdote illustrating Moore's words, "The sunflower turns to her god when he sets the same look that she turned when he rose." An explorer, he said, intent on proving the truth or otherwise of this theory, took out a sunflower seed to the arctic regions and planted it there. In the course of time the plant came up and flowered vigorously—just, however, at the season when the sun never sets in the arctic circle, so the poor sunflower, true to its nature, followed the process of the sun, expecting it to disappear at night in the ordinary course, but as the sun did not set at all, the flower strained itself round and round until it twisted its own head off.

THE LEGISLATURE.

TWENTY-EIGHTH SESSION.

Tuesday, March 7.

ST. PAUL, March 7.—The house passed a resolution to adjourn April 18.

Mr. O'Neil's bill that insurance policies shall be valid whether notes issued in payment have been paid or not, was taken up and the senate amendment concurred in. A recess was then taken to 2:30.

At the afternoon session the house went into committee of the whole on the special order of the day, H. F. 582, a substitute for H. F. 6, 248, 244 and 246, all free text book bills. The bill was supported by Messrs. Winston, Greer, Fuller and others. The entire afternoon was spent in discussion, and the bill was finally recommended to pass.

In the senate the first bill on the calendar was the measure providing for letting franchises in cities and villages to the highest bidder, and for their reversion after 20 years. It was passed by a vote of 30 to 1.

The bill giving Duluth another judge was passed unanimously.

The seed loan bill was taken up as a special order and passed, 41 to 2.

The Lineau election bill passed by a vote of 27 to 12. Several other measures were also passed, including a bill for an increased bounty for wolves and Sanborn's state contract bill.

Wednesday, March 8.

ST. PAUL, March 8.—After some minor business the house took up the Winston ballot bill. The committee on elections submitted a majority and a minority report on the Winston ballot bill. The difference of opinion was on the form of the ballot. The majority, headed by Chairman Cairns, favored the form of the ballot used last fall, while the minority favors the Winston ballot with the squares and the top stricken off. These squares were intended to allow a voter to vote a party ticket by placing one cross in the square at the top. After an hour's debate Mr. Wacek moved the previous question. The minority report was lost by a vote of 40 to 63, and the majority report was adopted.

The capitol bill was made a special order for next Wednesday.

In the senate a report from the St. Cloud reformatory investigating committee was presented. The committee declined to make any recommendation in regard to whipping, but declared the institution was well managed.

There was no other business of special importance.

Thursday, March 9.

ST. PAUL, March 9.—The house worked industriously on the calendar, and when it adjourned thirty bills had been passed, among them five senate files. The proceedings in consequence were exceedingly dull, there being no discussion, and one roll call followed another with stupefying regularity. Among the principal measures passed was the free text book bill. This bill received 76 affirmative votes, only 10 members voting in the negative.

Other important measures passed were Mr. Young's bill to forfeit the land grant of the Hastings and Dakota railroad, and one relating to employes at the opening of legislative sessions.

In the senate, Keller's resolution, directed at the land owning corporations, was passed without objection. Senator Donnelly offered a resolution requiring the state auditor to suspend the sale of state lands until the legislature shall have time to take the steps necessary to protect for the state any coal lands there may be in the northern part of the state. This was passed, as was also a resolution giving the committee on judicial reapportionment 10 days longer in which to make a report.

A law defining and punishing incest was passed without division.

Friday, March 10.

ST. PAUL, March 14.—The senate proceedings were enlivened during the morning by a veto from Governor Nelson of the bill increasing the edition of legislative manuals. The Governor's objections were based on the ground that the expense was too largely increased and the method of distribution not equitable. The committee on printing was instructed to bring in a bill which would meet the objections urged by the governor.

In committee of the whole the following bills were recommended to pass.

mended to pass.

Joint resolution instricting the railway commisioners to revise frieght tariffs.

Bill providing for free employment bureaus in cities of over 20,000.

S. F. 117—To regulate casuality associations.

H. F. 110—Issuing bonds by townships on a vote of the people.

In the house the committee on railroads recommended the indefinite postponment of the bill for an addition to the constitution of the state making the office of railroad and warehouse commissioner elective. The report was adopted.

Several measures were recommended to pass, but none of great importance.

Saturday, MarcF 11.

ST. PAUL, March 11.—The senate accomplished some good work in committee of the whole. The Sevatson incest bill and the judiciary committee's substitute for it were indefinitely postponed on the ground that the Davis substitute for both has already passed the senate. Other bills were acted on as follows;

S. F. 3—To punish corrupt practices at elections; to pass.

S. F. 32—McMillan's primary election bill; to pass.

S. F. 338—Relating to local boards of health; to pass.

S. F. 285—Allowing towns to give bounties for killing of gophers; to pass.

H. F. 10—Providing for the classification of steam boilers; to pass.

In the house the attendance was light and the members were tired. The committees reported back a large number of bills with recommendations. The house in committee of the whole recommended for passage H. F. 766, the substitute for Mr. Walsh's bill requiring electrical street railway companies to vestibule the front end of their cars. The original bill was introduced early in the session and provided for vestibuling both ends of the cars by December, 1893; under heavy penalties, but has been greatly modified until it meets the approval of the street railway companies. Two other bills were recommended to pass, H. F. 296, the appropriation for Fergus Falls hospital, and S. F. 891, a wolf county bill.

Monday, March 13.

ST. PAUL, March 13.—There were only 23 senators present when the session opened, and it was 10:45 before enough had come in to allow the transaction of business.

The finance committee reported back, with recommendations to pass, the Wyman house bill, providing for an annual tax levy of .15 of a mill for the state university. They also recommended to pass the bill prepared by the majority of the capitol commission for a new capitol. The committee on claims reported favorably on the Minnette bill, appropriating $1,500 for Mrs. Margaret Vogel, who lost a hand in a mangle at the St. Peter hospital for the insane.

In committee of the whole several bills were recommended to pass, among them the following.

S. F. 899—Allowing corporations five instead of three years to wind up their affairs; to pass.

H. F. 292—To provide for the organization of new counties out of the territory of others; to pass.

In the house Mr. Wyman occupied the chair in the absence of Speaker Lee. Only a bare quorum were present. A few unimportant committee reports were made and the house went into committee of the whole.

Progress was reporeed on several bills and some were recommended to pass, among them the following:

To provide a system of accounting for public funds; recommended to pass.

Horton's bill to tax sleeping car companies; recommended to pass.

H. F. 610—Relating to certificates of officers of the United States government; to pass.

H. F. 465—Defining legal holidays; to pass.

NEW LINE PROPOSED.

Another Railroad From Winnipeg to Port Arthur.

WINNIPEG, March 14.—The chief topic of conversation is a proposed new road between Winnipeg and Lake Superior paralelling the Canadian Pacific. Men interested say they have $8,000,000 of New York capital ready to build the line and that all they want is a guarantee of the local government to go on with the work. A strong deputation of citizens waited on the governor Monday to urge him to call a special session of the legislature. The intention is to run the proposed line from Winnipeg, south of the Canadian Pacific, tapping the Rainy river country and through to Port Arthur, a distance of between 400 and 500 miles. It is proposed to utilize either the Manitoba Southwestern or Winnipeg Southwestern charter through the province to the Lake of the Woods and also utilize the charter of a company which has powers to run through the Rainy river country to Port Arthur, Duluth and Wisconsin. The Northern Pacific has made arrangements for running over the latter line to Port Arthur. The company will file a bond with the government of Manitoba to reduce present grain rates 2 3-4 cents per bushel between Winnipeg and Lake Superior. The governor assured the deputation that their request would be taken into consideration at the first cabinet council meeting.

HOLD THE AUSTRALIA.

The Honolulu Steamer Held for Two Days at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—From Washington arrangements have been made with Spreckels Bros. to hold the steamer Australia, which was to have sailed for Honolulu Wednesday, until Friday. Postmaster Backus was instructed by H. M. Brooks, superintendent of foreign mails, to make such arrangement. The action is supposed to be taken in connection with some very urgent and important official communication to be dispatched to Honolulu.

BURNED BY OIL.

Three Railroad Men Meet a Horrible Fate.

UTICA, N. Y., March 14.—An oil train on the Erie and Western railway broke in two on an up grade near Oneida, the rear part colliding with another oil train that was following. The engine and four of the cars were wrecked and burned. Engineer Michael Donohue of Oswego, Fireman Martin Dalrymple of Oswego, and Head Brakeman Burke of Norwich, were instantly killed and their bodies burned.

CONVICTS STARVING.

A Fearful State of Affairs at Coal Creek.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 13.—The Tennessee legislative invetsgation committee reports a fearful condition of affairs among the convicts at Coal Creek. They are in the most diseased and filthy condition and many of them are so poorly fed that they are starving to death.

The Ann Arbor Strike.

TOLEDO, O., March 14.—It is apparent that the bottom has suddenly fell out of the Ann Arbor strike and that the difficulty will be satisfactorily adjusted in the next 24 hours. Chief Arthur with his assistant, Youngston, and Chief Sargent has been in conference all day with the strikers and Commissioner Kirby.

Big Claim Allowed.

DENVER, March 14.—The claims of John Shevnin against the estate of his daughter, the Countess Cassil, for $78,000 has been allowed by a jury in the county court. The claim is for services in managing the large estate, amounting to $500,000, for the past 12 years. Miss Shevnin went to Europe, remaining there several years, and there married Count Cassil.

To Succeed De Lesseps.

CAIRO, March 13.—M. Chevalier, of the department of public debt, has been chosen to succeed M. Charles de Lesseps as director of the Suez Canal company.

LATEST MARKET REPORT.

St. Paul Union Stock Yards.

SOUTH ST. PAUL, March 13, 1893.

HOGS—Dull. Reports come in that Eastern markets were demoralized and no sales were made at 10@20c decline.

CATTLE—Steady, but quiet; lack of material. Prime steers, $3.00@4.25; good steers, $3.50@4.00; prime cows, $3.50@3.75; good cows, $2.50@3.00; common to fair cows, $1.25@2.25; light veal calves, $3.00@4.50; heavy calves, $2.00@3.50; stockers, $1.75@2.75; feeders, $2.50@3.50; bulls, $1.50@2.50.

SHEEP—Steady.

Receipts—Cattle, 50; hogs, 250.

Minneapolis Grain.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 13, 1893.

WHEAT—May opened, 64¼c; highest, 64¾c; lowest, 64⅛c; closed, 64⅛c. July opened 67c; highest, 67¼c; lowest, 66¼c; closed, 66⅜c. On Track—No. 1 hard, 63c; No. 1 Northern, 61½c; No. 2 Northern, 59c.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO UNION STOCK YARDS, March 13, 1893.

CATTLE—Weak.

HOGS—Weak, 10@15c lower. Heavy, $7.50@7.80; mixed and medium, $7.40@7.55; light, $7.15@7.50.

SHEEP—Steady.

Receipts: Cattle, 18,000; hogs, 18,000; sheep, 12,000.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, March 13, 1893.

OPENING PRICES.

WHEAT—May, 77c; July, 73½c.
CORN—May, 44⅛c; July, 44⅝.
OATS—May, 33c.
PORK—May, $17.65; July, $17.75.
LARD—July, $11.42½.
SHORT RIBS—May, $10.12½.

CLOSING PRICES.

WHEAT—March, 72¾c; May, 76@76¼c; July, 72⅝c.
CORN—March, 41⅝c; May, 43¾c; July, 44¼c.
OATS—March, 30⅝c; May, 33⅛@33⅜c; July, 32⅝c.
PORK—March, $17.25; May, $17.55; July, $17.57½.
LARD—March, $12.00; May, $12.10; July, $11.22½.
SHORT RIBS—March, $10.05; May, $10.20; July, $9.60.

TREATY RECALLED.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND WITHDRAWS THE AGREEMENT.

How the Withdrawal Is Looked Upon in Washington—Isaac P. Gray of Indiana Gets the Mexican Mission. Other Appointments.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—President Cleveland's first executive communication to the senate of the United States came during the afternoon and proved to be a surprise, not only to the Republicans, but to many Democrats as well. In the communication Mr. Cleveland withdrew the treaty with Hawaii which was sent to the senate a weeks ago by the president. The message was short, simply requesting the senate to transmit to the executive the proposed treaty with Hawaii. The message was received without comment on the floor of the senate. The Republican senators regard this action of the president as in line with the course pursued by Mr. Cleveland in withdrawing the Nicaraguan treaty sent to the senate by Mr. Arthur in the closing days of his administration.

Democratic senators look upon the act from a two-fold point of view, some taking the ground that it shows Mr. Cleveland to be against annexation or American domination of any sort in the Hawaiian islands, while others hold that he will send in another treaty more to his liking.

PRESIDENTIAL APPOINTMENTS.

Gray Gets the Mexican Mission—Collins Consul General at London.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The president has sent the following nominations to the senate:

Josiah Quincy of Massachusetts, to be assistant secretary of state.

Robert A. Maxwell of New York, to be fourth assistant postmaster general.

Isaac P. Gray of Indiana, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Mexico.

Patrick A. Collins of Massachusetts, to be consul general of the United States to London.

James H. Oakley of Illinois, to be an assistant surgeon in the marine hospital service.

Fred Brown Busey of Kentucky, and Edward Mansfield Shipp of Virginia, to be assistant surgeons in the navy.

THE RULE GOES.

President Cleveland Will Not Appoint Former Office Holders.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Senators and representatives who called on President Cleveland during the morning received confirmatory evidence of the report that Mr. Cleveland does not intend to give offices to those who had been favored under the previous Democratic administration. Ex-Representative Hemphill of South Carolina, called expressly for the purpose of ascertaining whether the report was true and he received an affirmative answer from Mr. Cleveland.

OFFERS OF GOLD.

Bankers Coming to the Assistanca of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Secretary Carlisle has received offers from Chicago bankers offering to exchange $3,000,000 of gold for a like amount of small treasury notes of the denominations of $5, $10 and $20. Intimations were made that the amount of small notes that will be needed will reach $10,000,000, for which gold will be paid. He will forward the small notes at once.

So far as the treasury department is advised, no more gold has been engaged at the New York subtreasury for shipment. Several more offers of gold for small treasury notes were made to Secretary Carlisle during the afternoon. Cincinnati bankers offered $1,000,000, of which $600,000 was accepted. Other offers in smaller quantities came from bankers in Kentucky, Illinois and Missouri. Treasurer Nebecker was much pleased with the turn affairs had taken and declared that sufficient offers of gold had been received to absorb all the small legal tender notes at hand.

Immigration Regulations.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Secretary Carlisle has issued the new regulations regarding the precautions to be observed in admitting emigrants. The regulations contain 17 articles, the first 10 of which are substantially the same as the regulations now in force. Articles 11 to 15 inclusive are practically new and made to conform to the new laws affecting immigrants passed by the last congress and approved on the 3d of this month.

Allen Returned.

OLYMPIA, March 11.—The governor has reappointed John B. Allen United States senator.

"The Blood is the Life,"

Runs the old saying, and everything that ever makes part of any organ of the body must reach its place therein through the blood. Therefore, if the blood is purified and kept in good condition by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, it necessarily follows that the benefit of the medicine is imparted to every organ of the body. Can anything be simpler than the method by which this exellent medicine gives good health to all who will try it fairly and patiently?

The Crookston Belle—Kœppe's new cigar, is as fine as silk. Try it.

Call and see L. I. Benoit in his new store.

Lane's Medicine Moves the Bowels Each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary.

Now your blood should be purified. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best spring medicine and blood purifier.

DAMS DEMOLISHED.

THOUSANDS OF ACRES IN MICHIGAN INUNDATED,

And It Is Believed Many Lives Have Been Lost—Residents of the Flats at Grand Rapids Driven from Home. Flood News from Other Points.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., March 14.—A report has been received that the dams at Gowlandsville, south of here, and at Plainwell and other places to the north have gone. Thousands of acres of land are inundated and many lives and much property are no doubt lost. The Kalamazoo river was never before known to be so high.

AT GRAND RAPIDS.

Occupants of Houses on the Flats Rescued by Boats.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 14.—The Grand river is rising at the rate of 2 inches an hour and at 10 o'clock was 16 feet 8 inches above low water mark. The major portion of South Grand Rapids, which is built on the flats, is inundated and people were removed from their houses in boats. At this point the river is a mile wide and the loss will be heavy, falling mainly on the poor Hollanders employed in the furniture factories.

A portion of the city is in total darkness, the gas plant being partly submerged. The Grand Rapids Chair factory, Michigan Barrel works and the Stow & Davis, Barkley & Gay and Mason & Candour furniture factories have been forced to shut down, the machinery being under water.

Report has just reached here that the Northern Michigan railway bridge three miles above the city has gone out. If this is true it will also take the Canal Street toll bridge.

HALF A MILLION LOSS.

The Edison Display for the World's Fair Ruined by Water.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., March 14.—A mile south of this city, at a point where the tracks of the Delaware and Hudson Canal company pass under those of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad, the foundation of the latter road has been washed away, stopping all traffic between this city and Albany on the main line. Passenger trains on the Central road were sent around by the way of Troy. No trains are passing over the Delaware and Hudson road. All the exhibits which the Edison company were preparing for the world's fair are practically destroyed by the water, as is also most of the stock on the first floor of their factory located there. The loss is estimated at over $500,000.

CANAL BOATS LOST.

An Ice Gorge Near Eddyville, N. Y., Does Much Damage.

ROUNDOUT, N. Y., March 14.—The ice gorge in Roundout creek, below Eddyville, gave way about 3:30 p. m. and let a tremendous amount of water down the creek. The steamboats of the Cornell Steamboat company and about 50 canal boats were swept into the river and driven helpless down stream. Many of them were badly damaged. The steamers Pittston and Adriatic, valued at $18,000, were stove in and it is feared they will sink. A number of canal boats were crushed like eggshells and sank directly. The boats in the river are surrounded by tight wedged ice. Many boat hands had narrow escapes but no loss of life is reported. The loss to the Cornell fleet will be about $40,000; to the Delaware and Hudson company, $50,000.

Lowlands Inundated.

FONDA, N. Y., March 14.—The ice in the Mohawk river from this village west is still gorged and the water continues to rise. All the lowlands are inundated with several feet of water. The Cuyagutta Creek is exceedingly high and in places the Central railroad tracks are covered with water. At Cuyaghani the people have had to vacate their farms on the lowlands and move to higher ground.

KANSAS PRAIRIE FIRE.

A Swath Several Miles Wide and the Length of Two Counties.

PLAINVILLE, Kan., March 14.—A prairie fire started Sunday in western Books county and was driven by a furious wind southeast across Books into Ellis county. Nearly everything was swept away in the path of the fire, which was several miles wide. The town of Palo was burned except three buildings. The total loss is about $80,000. Webster Cannell and Oscar Lilly, farmers near Ambrey, were caught by the fire. The former's clothing was burned entirely off and he will die. The latter will recover. The buildings of Sam Wise, a farmer, were burned with their contents. The loss is heavy. The Bopra school house, southwest of Plainville, was also burned. The fire ran southeast across the Saline river and much damage was done.

BOSTON'S BLAZE.

One of the Most Destructive Fires in the City's History.

BOSTON, March 11.—The fire which broke out at 4 p. m. was of the most destructive both to property and life of any since the memorable Thanksgiving day of 1888, when the same territory was burned over. The property loss is estimated at between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000, and is probably nearer the latter sum. The fire was attended by Park Rapids to Leech Lake.

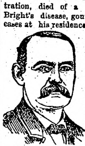
PARK RAPIDS, Minn., March 14.—Work has begun on the extension of the Great Northern from Park Rapids to Leech Lake. Large forces of men will be put on the work at once.

J. W. HYATT DEAD.

The Ex-Treasurer of the United States Succumbs to Bright's Disease.



JAMES W. HYATT.

NORWALK, Conn., March 13.—James W. Hyatt, United States treasurer under Mr. Cleveland's former administration, died of a complication of Bright's disease, gout and other diseases at his residence on West avenue shortly after 3 p. m. after a long and painful illness, aged 55 years. Over a week ago his eyesight failed and for several days he has been almost totally blind. Mr. Hyatt was taken suddenly ill late in February, but rallied sufficiently to be about the house and subsequently was enabled to visit his club. A few days later, however, he again took to his bed and failed rapidly. Saturday his family was summoned to the bedside, but the sick man was unable to speak, and passed into a state of coma from which he did not revive. Death came peacefully, the patient falling into a deep sleep. At 11 o'clock the dying man's family were summoned to the bedside, where they remained until the end. The funeral will occur Thursday afternoon.

DR. TALMAGE'S TROUBLES.

The Brooklyn Divine Talks About the Tabernacle Finances.

DETROIT, Mich., March 14.—Rev. Dr. T. DeWitt Talmage of Brooklyn, in answer to a reporter's inquiries, spoke as follows regarding the financial embarrasement of his big Brooklyn tabernacle, which, it is stated, will be lost to the congregation unless a large sum can be raised by April 1: "We have been at our wits' end how to save our church. The embarrassment arises through no fault of ours. The story in a nutshell is that years ago we built a large church. The next year we enlarged it at almost the expense of a new church. Just as we were getting it paid for it burned. Then we built another large church. Just as we were getting it paid for the lightning put an end to it. We then built this church, which is practically the fourth church, counting the enlargement referred to as a new building. We have raised during my pastorate $1,040,000 for religious purposes. But no church on earth could endure without serious embarassment what we have been called on to go through, and we must have help or stop. Our congregation is going to do its utmost, and day and night our people will exert themselves. The newspaper press are doing us a kindness that I know not how sufficiently to thank them for."

Dr. Talmage also stated that contributions for the purpose of relieving his congregation from their financial difficulty might be forwarded to him in Brooklyn, and would be promptly acknowledged.

NOT MADE PUBLIC.

The Senate Committees Completed by the Democratic Caucus.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The senate Democratic caucus has completed the list of committees under the new organization. The list will not be made public until approved by the Democratic majority and then turned over to the Republican minority. The members are pledged not to divulge the result of their work until the report is submitted and they say that meantime all statements touching upon the position of the committees must be speculative, and, as is apparent from the list published Monday, very largely inaccurate.

OFFENSIVE PARTISANSHIP.

The Offense Defined by Postmaster General Bissell.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—"In the matter of offensive partisanship," said Postmaster General Bissell, "I shall only consider the use of postoffices for partisan purposes as being offensive. The men who have been active Republicans, but have not used the postoffices for partisan purposes, will not be disturbed in their places, but postmasters who have posted political placards in postoffices and otherwise abused their offices, need expect no leniency from this administration."

Brokers Will Fight.

HELENA, Mon., March 14.—The governor has signed the anti-scalper bill. Under its provisions it is unlawful for any one to deal in railroad tickets save the agents of railroad companies. The penalty is a fine of $500 and imprisonment for one year. The bill provides for the redemption of the unused portions of tickets by the companies. The The American Ticket Brokers' association say they will make a test case, and claim the law is unconstitutional. The law goes into effect in 60 days.

Harrison Goes Hunting.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 14.—Ex-President Harrison has left on his duck hunting excursion with General Boyd. Their destination is Havana Ill., a hamlet on the Illinois river, where they have a hunting boat fitted out with provisions for a week's cruise among the marshes. Since his return from Washington, General Harrison's health and spirits have been excellent.

Killed by Bandits.

MADRID, March 11.—A band of bandits broke into the house of a steward named Hipoluo, in Albalt, province of Quenca, on Wednesday night, killed the five inmates and carried off all the articles of value in the house. None of them have been captured.

Fourteen Workmen Killed.

BERLIN, March 14.—A building in the Sprudel-Strasse, Carlsbad, collapsed during the day while 20 men were repairing it. Fourteen were killed. Seven of the bodies have been taken from the ruins.

THE WEEK'S NEWS.

Wednesday, March 8.

Money loaned at 51 per cent in Wall street Saturday.

Jack King, the wrestler, was defeated cy Farmer Burns at Decorah, Ia., Tuesday night.

Austin Gibbons knocked out Mike Daly at New Orleans Tuesday night in 81 rounds.

Before acting on the annexation question President Cleveland may appoint a commission to visit Hawaii.

Vice President Reinhart of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road, has been chosen to succeed the late President Manvel.

During the past eight years the government has saved, by the advance purchase of bonds, interest amounting to nearly $90,000,000.

Mrs. A. L. Brown, eldest daughter of Chief Justice Fuller, died at Chicago Tuesday from blood poisoning, following an operation at the birth of her child two weeks ago.

Thursday, March 9.

A New York paper says that the government will issue more bonds.

Favorable news from America was received with great enthusiasm in Hawaii.

Bob Fitzsimmons defeated Jim Hall in four rounds at New Orleans and won a purse of $40,000.

Montana has a bucking bull which vanquishes all cowboys and will be sent to the world's fair.

Figures are made public showing that the last congress appropriated over $38,000,000 more than the Fifty-first congress.

A call has been issued for a conference of Prohibitionists, women suffragists and others interested in reforms, to be held at Pittsburg March 16.

General Schofield has decided that the profits derived from post exchanges may be used for the purchase of footballs, baseballs, bats and other apparatus for outdoor sports and games.

Friday, March 10.

The naval review at New York will be held April 27.

The Empress of Austria has decided not to go to America during the world's fair.

Baihut, one of the Panama canal bribers, made a full confession in court at Paris Thursday.

Crow Indians in Montana threaten to take the warpath. Two of them were recently killed by white men.

Jim Keene has cornered 10,000,000 bushels of wheat and will probably win or lose that number of dollars.

Secretary Carlisle has appointed his son, Logan Carlisle, chief clerk of the treasury department, vice Stocks, resigned.

Mrs. Mary Smith, aged 107, died in New York Thursday. She was undoubtedly the oldest inhabitant in the city.

Advices from East Africa state that the German troops have won an important victory over the hostile natives at Uniangwira.

Saturday, March 4.

McLeod, receiver of the United States land office in that city, has purchared a half interest in the Aberdeen Daily News.

Cambridge university will send its full crew to this country to contest for the international honors in the eight oared championship race at Detroit.

The reichstag has rejected the second clause of the army bill, providing for the increase of the regimental strength of all branches of the service.

The Wisconsin legislature is considering a bill providing for the adoption of the grade and diningroom systems in the Waupun prisons, and members of the Wisconsin board of control have been at Stillwater looking over the systems in the Minnesota state prison.

Monday, March 13.

Chicago switchmen have decided not to strike for the present.

The Manitoba legislature adjourned Saturday after a six weeks session.

A Winona physician just returned from Germany says there is but little danger of a cholera epidemic in the United States this year.

A bank which embodies some features of the sub-treasury scheme advocated by the Populists in this country has been established in Venezuela.

M. Bourgeois minister of justice in the French cabinet, has resigned on account of recent revelations in the Panama scandal.

Democrats of the Minneapolis council with the aid of two Republicans, deposed the president of that body, elected one of their own number in his place, and appointed an entire new set of committees.

Tuesday, March 14.

Mr. Gladstone is seriously ill.

Mr. Edison's world's fair display was ruined by a flood at Schenectady, N. Y.

The French chamber of deputies has again voted confidence in the cabinet.

The Atkinson House Furnishing company, Boston, has failed for $1,500,000.

The receivers of the Reading state that the assets are $16,000,000 and the debts over $18,000,000.

The ladies of New Orleans have organized a league to abolish the fistic carnivals of the Crescent City.

Two small planets were discovered in the Nice observatory on the 8th and 9th of this month.

The United States supreme court has decided that letter carriers are entitled to extra pay when they work over eight hours a day.

President and Mrs. Cleveland received Princess Kaiulani and party Monday afternoon. The call was purely of a social nature.

A Prophecy of Thackeray's.

So far as knighthood is to be regarded as a mark of eminence in literature, science or art, the result appears pretty much the same as that which Thackeray describes in one of his "Roundabout Papers" as likely to have ensued if George III had instituted the Order of Merit, which he once had in serious contemplation. That order was to have been dedicated to Minerva, and Dr. Johnson himself was to have been the first president or grand cross or grand owl of the society. The members were to be adorned with a star of sixteen points and a yellow ribbon, and all the recognized luminaries of the literary, scientific and artistic worlds were to be enrolled among them. But how, Thackeray asks, when they had all of them been admitted, could the door be shut against inferior claimants? How could you have excluded Sir Alexis Sover, Sir Alessandro, Tamburini, Sir Agostino Velluti, Sir Antonio Paganini (violinist), Sir Sandy M'Goffog (piper to the most honorable the Marquis of Farintosh), Sir Alcide Flicflac (premier danseur of her majesty's theater), Sir Harley Quin and Sir Joseph Grimaldi (from Covent Garden)?

"They," he adds, "have all the yellow ribbon. They are all honorable, clever and distinguished artists. Let us elbow through the rooms, make a bow to the lady of the house, give a nod to Sir George Thrum, who is leading the orchestra, and go in and get some champagne and seltzer water from Sir Richard, who is presiding at the buffet." This was intended to be a caricature when Thackeray wrote it. But it certainly reads a great deal more like a prophecy now.—London World.

Accepted the Offer.

"One of the greatest performances I ever heard of," said an actor, "was that of Ed Thorne. He had been playing on the western circuit and had not been making money very steadily with a piece called, I think, 'The Missing Witness.' In one scene, where the hero is posted on the wall of an inn as a murderer, he has to come on, read the bill and exclaim, 'Ten thousand dollars for the missing witness to prove my innocence!' or something like that. The piece had been going on for some time in the old hand to mouth way, and Thorne suddenly conceived the idea that he would like to see it himself. So one day at a matinee he went out into the audience and saw his understudy do his part.

When they came to this scene and the inn was shoved on—same inn that does for Macbeth's castle and Juliet's chamber, you know—the hero for the afternoon came in, took his cloak down from his face long enough to say, 'Ten thousand dollars for the missing witness,' when Thorne calmly arose in the audience and walked to the stage. 'Done,' said he. 'Here are the band parts, prompt copy, lines, stage plans and everything. All for ten thousand.' I presume the man on the stage was pretty well broken up about then."—New York Sun.

Detectives of Tillie Smith's Murderer.

All newspaper readers will remember the celebrated Tillie Smith murder in New Jersey. Tillie Smith, a young servant girl, was killed in defending herself against some man whom the police gave up all hope of discovering. James Creelman, of The World, and C. W. Tyler, of The Sun, worked together as detectives on the case. They convicted Titus, the janitor of the institution where Tillie Smith lived. He was sentenced to be hanged, but the sentence was afterward commuted to imprisonment for life.

In addition to the good detective work which these two brilliant reporters did they wrote such simple, touching, straightforward accounts of the girl's heroic defense and atrocious death that the tearful public subscribed plenty of money to erect a monument to Tillie Smith's memory. This was probably the first money ever put up in honor of a murdered servant girl. It was certainly a creditable monument to human sympathy.—New York World.

What Quicksand Is.

The reason a person sinks in quicksand is because the latter is composed chiefly of small particles of mica mixed largely with water. The mica is so smooth that the fragments slip upon each other with the greatest facility, so that any heavy body which displaces them will sink and continue to sink until a solid bottom is reached. When particles of sand are ragged and angular any weight pressing on them will crowd them together until they are compacted into a solid mass. A sand composed of mica or soapstone when mixed with sufficient water seems incapable of such consolidation.—Detroit Free Press.

Going Down When Riding Up.

Speaking of up and down in England, it may be added that so far is the practice carried and so wonted have the English become to it that they talk even of going down from London to Windsor, say, when they actually get on a boat on the Thames and ride up the river. Nor do they see the slightest inconsistency in so doing.—Cor. New York Tribune.

A Deathbed Scene.

A Scotch lad of 20 died, leaving a widowed mother, a sister and two brothers younger than himself. He had been their main support, and while dying was full of anxieties as to what should become of them. His last words were, holding the hand of the brother next to himself in years and looking at the poor sobbing woman, "Try and do as weel's ye can."—"Twenty-five Years of St. Andrew's."

Dimensions of the Coliseum.

The largest single structure in the world for audience and spectacular purposes is the Coliseum at Rome. It is in the form of an ellipse. Its long diameter is 615 feet, its short, 510; the height of the outer wall, 164. The arena is 281 feet long by 176 broad. The tiers of seats accommodate 100,000 spectators.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

42 Prescriptions Failed
BUT
Hood's Cured
Scrofula—Lost 40 Pounds in a Year

Mr. Geo. W. Doner
Clerk of Le Seur Township, Kingsbury County, South Dakota, says:
"I certify that I was sick for four years with an affliction my physician called scrofula.
Blotches Came Out
all over my body, and swelling on the right side of the neck, and in less than a year I had lost 40 pounds in flesh. I was induced by H. L. TUBBS, our druggist, to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. He insisted on my giving it a fair trial, by using six bottles. After taking the fourth bottle the blotches began to disappear, as did also the lump in my neck, and I soon began to Gain in Flesh
I still continued to take the medicine for four months, and at the end of that time there was none of the disease in my system, and I was as well and strong as ever. I look upon Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the greatest remedies of the day." G. W. DONER, Osceola, S. Dakota.
HOOD'S Sarsaparilla CURES
"I Can Vouch for the Truth
Of the above letter from George Doner. I can show 42 prescriptions I put up for him, which did him no good. I persuaded him to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and he is entirely cured." H. L. TUBBS, druggist, Iriquois (formerly of Osceola,) South Dakota.
HOOD'S PILLS cure Constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal.

BECKWITH BARRED.

Democratic Senators Will Not Seat the Wyoming Appointee.

CHEYENNE, Wy., March 13.—Reliable advices from Wyoming Democrats in Washington are to the effect that the senator appointee A. C. Beckwith will not be seated. Both the law and the precedent are against him and likewise political expediency. There are two Republicans appointed, and the Democrats will therefore be losers by admitting Beckwith, as they must necessarily concede to Montana and Washington what they grant to Wyoming. It is claimed here by those high in the councils of Wyoming Democrats that Governor Osborne has been appraised of all these circumstances, and, in fact, that the governor is in constant communication with Senator Gorman and the other members of the Democratic steering committee. The governor will therefore be advised to call an extra session for the purpose of electing a successor to Senator Warren.

The Glass Industry.

The progress of the glass industry in America has been far from constant. It has suffered severe and violent fluctuations, amounting almost to annihilation. Several times it has needed to be born again. But the sum total of these successes and vicissitudes has been the establishment of an industry which, while it is the oldest, is also at the present time one of the most promising and most highly developed of all our industries.—Professor C. H. Henderson in Popular Science Monthly.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss.
District Court, 14th Judicial District.

In the matter of the assignment of Solfest A. Sylvester and Martin Finseth, copartners as Sylvester & Finseth.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of Sylvester & Finseth in the above entitled matter, of the city of Crookston, in said county and state, have by deed in writing, dated 4th day of March, 1893, made a general assignment to the undersigned, of all copartnership and individual property not exempt by law from levy and sale on execution, for the benefit of all their creditors, without preferences.

All claims must be verified and presented to the undersigned for allowance.

Dated March 11th, 1893.

JEROME W. WHEELER, Assignee,
(48-2) Polk County, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of three hundred and four dollars ($304) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Jedire Draper and Alice Mariah Draper his wife, to The Security Trust Company, a corporation bearing date the 4th day of September, A. D. 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 22d day of October, A. D. 1890, at 8:40 o'clock a. m., in book 52 of mortgages on page 447, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots fifteen and sixteen (15 and 16) of block eighty two (82) of Kretzschmar's Addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county, in Polk county and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state on the 29th day of April A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and $6.65 taxes paid by the mortgagee on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, which sale is subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 1st, A. D. 1893.

SECURITY TRUST COMPANY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN, Attys. (48-2)

My Sweetheart's Face
—that's my wife's you know—wears a cheerful, life-is-worth-living expression, ever since I presented her a box of
KIRK'S WHITE RUSSIAN SOAP
She is always recommending Kirk's soaps to her friends—says she is through with experiments—has just what she needed to make labor easy, and ensure perfectly clean clothes. She knows what she's talking about—don't forget it.
JAS. S. KIRK & CO., Chicago.
Dusky Diamond Tar Soap The Soap for Cuts Wounds and Bruises

You will Make a Strike

If You Buy
YOUR CLOTHING
of Us!
You need them; we don't. They were bought for you!
Our peculiarity is three sights
CLEAR SIGHT,
LONG SIGHT
and FORESIGHT.
We don't have to wait until the first of the month before knowing what you will want at that time.
WE ARE ALWAYS PREPARED
to supply your wants beforehand at moderate prices, and are never caught napping.
The stock is full of what you want and you want to see it immediately, or you may not see something that'll cost you money to to miss. Don't by any means miss this striking opportunity that we are now offering.
GREAT BARGAINS
ALL OVER
THE HOUSE.
BOSTON
ONE PRICE
Clothing House
Mossefin & Lindell, Proprietors.

RED RIVER VALLEY
LOAN AND INVESTMENT
COMPANY.
MONEY TO LOAN
ON REAL ESTATE.
FARMS AND LANDS
For Sale in nearly all the Towns of Polk County.
CITY LOTS
In Crookston and Thief River Falls.
List your Lands and Lots with us and effect quick sales.
OFFICE IN OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.
A. G. GALLASCH, Pres.
J. W. WHEELER, Vice Pres.
W. H. MATHEWS, 1st Vice Pres.
A. F. GEORGE, Sec.
O. H. LUCKEN, Treasurer.

KIT CARSON IN ITS PRIME.

It Had Seven Thousand Hustling Citizens Where Now but a Hundred Remain.

"In 1870 you might have traveled 1,000 miles and not have found as lively a town as Kit Carson, Colo.," said Station Agent Billy Dunaway the other day as the Kansas Pacific train lingered before the station house at the now quiet little town on Big Sandy creek in eastern Colorado. "This was then the terminus of the Denver line of the Union Pacific, and you can just bet the camp was a hummer. There were over 7,000 people here, and a gayer crowd you never saw. The population was made up of railroad men, cowboys, mule skinners, gamblers and a preacher.

"The latter was sometimes lonely, but the 6,999 other people in camp were fairly sociable and managed to have a moderately good time, and everything ran wide open, and in the palmiest days of the camp there were 47 saloons, 7 dance halls, 2 theaters and all the other things necessary to the lubrication of existence in the gay and bounding west. For two years things were redhot, with fights, shooting matches and lynching bees nearly every night.

"Some of the old time engineers who were jerking steam over the line then say a regular daily news item in railway circles for awhile was to the effect that a man or two had been hung the night before to the bridge on the Sandy. The lynching of a man for murder was an unusual event, but dire vengeance was wreaked on the petty burglar, horse thief or other unprincipled offender who did not have the nerve to shoot, but sneaked around after dark to do his nefarious work. When dealing faro, the gamblers preserved peace and quietude in the game by wearing two 6-shooters silently swinging from their belts, and when in a game of 'stud' the pack was always secured from being blown away by one of these same free moral agents Some stiff games were played in those days, and when a cowboy came in off the roundup, or when the freighters came in from a long trip off to Mexico and Arizona, or pay day on the line came along, money was stacked a foot high on the cloth.

"After the camp had been running in this way for two years the road was put on through to Denver, and the crowd followed. Where once you could see over 7,000 people there are now a hundred or so, and all that remains of the former glory of this namesake of old Kit Carson is the nameless barnyard you see up there on the hill, a lot of broken beer bottles and desertion."—Denver News.

A Disturber at a Rehearsal.

Julius Eichberg writes: "At the occasion of a musical festival in Dusseldorf I witnessed a scene that produced general and not unjustifiable excitement among those present. It was at the last rehearsal of Beethoven's ninth or choral symphony, and the great hall was filled with people from near and far anxious to hear the then but little known work. While the orchestra played the first movement we noticed a dark bearded, spectacled, middle aged man in the audience, who had a score before him and was gesticulating wildly, being evidently very much dissatisfied with the performance. Suddenly he arose, advanced toward the orchestra and began to shout:

"'This is all wrong. It was not thus that my immortal friend, Beethoven, wanted his masterpiece to be played You ought to play it much slower, and in this way.' He began to beat time vigorously to the astonished musicians, entirely ignoring Mendelssohn, who conducted the symphony. At this moment several people forcibly ejected the disturber from the hall. The man was the well known Professor Anton Schindler, Beethoven's constant friend during the last years of his life and the author of a 'Biography of the Master.'"—Boston Journal.

Leopard Shooting.

Mr. Simson writes thus: "I consider that exposure to a leopard on foot, with due precaution and a proper weapon, is only a fair sporting risk, and accidents must happen occasionally." Mr. Simson is certainly entitled to speak. He shot many leopards on foot; he was twice badly wounded by a leopard, but on one of these occasions a third leopard unexpectedly attacked him from behind, when he had already killed two others in the same patch of grass jungle.

Mr. Simson mentions that an old French gentleman whom he knew used to go about hunting for leopards with a nondescript sort of dog, half pariah and half spaniel. "When the dog smelled a leopard, he would cock his ears and point out from a respectful distance where the leopard lay. The Frenchman kept on peeping and peering about, wholly regardless of anything the leopard might do in the way of attack, till he could sight the animal. He then killed him almost to a certainty with a single shot."—Chambers' Journal.

Helping on a Good Cause.

Philanthropist—I am exerting myself in behalf of a worthy object, and my first thought was to come to you for assistance.

Scribe (the writer)—Well, sir, I am willing to assist by tongue or pen.

Philanthropist—We would be pleased to have you use your pen in our aid.

Scribe (flattered)—My services are at your command.

Philanthropist—Thank you, sir. Now please get your pen and affix your signature to this subscription paper, and you can pay the 5 guineas at your convenience.

Scribe (in changed tone)—Oh!—London Tit-Bits.

Wearing the Hair In Japan

Japanese men and women in their own country are distinguished chiefly by their hair. The men shave the crown of the head, while the women not only allow all their own hair to grow, but frequently add to it by purchase. The hair is usually twisted and coiled in the most fantastic way. The higher a woman's rank the more elaborate is her coiffure.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

An End to the Engagement.

Two unusually pretty girls were they, lazily swinging in the hammock and gossiping idly. A bright featured oriole swayed to and fro upon the topmost bough above them, with now and then a soft, liquid note. An invisible katydid emitted its rasping noise at long intervals. Otherwise it was perfectly still.

The girl with red shoes yawned.

"I wish there was some news going," she sighed, half petulantly.

The girl with green suspenders pondered.

"So do I," she assented.

For a time they listened in silence to the oriole and the katydid.

"Oh, Sue, by the way, you"——

The girl with red shoes turned in the hammock with a suggestion of animation.

"Have heard the latest of course."

The girl with green suspenders was uncertain.

"About Jack and Carrie, you know, Sue."

The girl with green suspenders was interested.

"No," she eagerly rejoined. "What is it?"

The girl with red shoes raised herself to a sitting posture.

"Why, they've had a falling out."

"I want to know."

"Yes, they don't speak."

"Well, well."

The girl with green suspenders grew thoughtful.

"Of course," she observed musingly, "their engagement is broken."

"In one way, yes."

The girl with green suspenders elevated her eyebrows in surprise.

"What do you mean, Sue?"

"They're married."

The oriole took wings at that juncture, while the katydid decided not to emit any more rasping noise for the present.—Detroit Free Press.

The Russian Student.

The material position of the student is not an enviable one. Poverty and want stare him in the face wherever he goes, and his personal appearance leaves much to be desired. In 1850, when the Russian government wished to limit the number entering the university, the most effectual way of stopping the influx was by giving notice that only those would be received who were able to dress themselves decently and keep up an appearance suitable to their rank.

By far the larger proportion of students are sons of officers whose pay is small and whose life is a continual struggle against want; about one-third are children of merchants and shopkeepers. Out of 4,000 in St. Petersburg and Kiev ninety belong to the peasant class. The mininum that a student requires in the year to keep himself at the university has been calculated at 375 rubles, or nearly £60. Imagination can hardly picture the condition in which the student lives, sometimes without fire or light. Three or four of them often occupy the same room, and each pays 1½ rubles (4s. 6d.) a month for his "corner." Cases have been known where he had only five copecks (2½d.) a day to buy food. The purchase of books under these circumstances is not to be thought of.

Some credit is due, however, to the government for the assistance it has afforded. A large percentage of students have always been assisted by the state. In 1877 82 per cent. were in some form or other aided by the state.—Scottish Review.

Where Immigrants Stop.

When we look at industrial conditions it is learned that the absorption of immigrants has not been equal. The facts in this respect cannot be given for 1890, but for 1880 they indicate what may be expected when the full facts for 1890 are reported.

In 1880 the whole number of people engaged in agriculture was 7,670,493. Of this number 812,829 persons were of foreign birth—that is to say, 10.06 per cent. of the whole number employed in agriculture in 1880 were foreign born. The total number employed in manufacturing, mechanical and mining industries in the United States in 1880 was 3,837,112. Of this number 1,325,787 were of foreign birth, and this number is 32 per cent. of the whole number of persons engaged in these industries.

The tendency therefore of our immigrants is to assimilate with our mechanical industries. This increases the supply of labor in comparison to the demand, and may in some localities tend to lower wages and sometimes to cripple the consuming power of the whole body of the people.—Carroll D. Wright in Popular Science Monthly.

Jolly to Be an Editor.

A schoolboy's composition on "The Editor" ran as follows:

The editor is one of the happiest individuals in the world. He can go to any circus in the afternoon and evening without paying a penny, also to inquests and hangings; has free tickets to theaters, gets wedding cake sent him, and sometimes gets a licking, but not often, for he can take things back in the next issue, which he generally does. While other folks have to go to bed early, the editor can sit up late at night and see all that is going on. When I am a man I mean to be an editor, so that I may stay out late at night. That will be jolly.—Exchange.

When a woman tires of a man she has once truly loved, there is reason to believe he has outraged her affection and wounded her inmost self esteem.

Keep the mouth closed while chewing. Don't masticate food on the principle which controls the running of a sewing machine—the faster the better.

Jennie Wonch, a 16-year old girl of Collingwood, Ont., killed her mother and 6-year-old brother so she could marry her lover.

Reports from all over the Northwest report the storm of Monday night as the worst of the season. Trains on all roads are blocked or greatly delayed by the snow.

In a list of 162 different firms and professional people who were engaged in business in Bay City, Mich., 25 years ago there is not one but who has undergone a change either in name or in partnership.

It does not seem possible to emphasize too strongly the importance, which indeed amounts to a necessity, of freeing the body of some of its waste products by physical exercise performed daily.

Photographers have begun to use storage battery plants, which operate a ruby colored incandescent light in the darkroom, and the effect on their health has been very beneficial.

The Tahitian when discovered was as uncultured as the Papuan now is, yet the former approached as near positive beauty as the latter does to positive deformity.

Rich, Red Blood

As naturally results from taking Hood's Sarsaparilla as personal cleanliness results from free use of soap and water. This great purifier thoroughly expels scrofula, salt rheum and all other impurities and builds up every organ of the body. Now is the time to take it.

The highest praise has been won by Hood's Pills for their easy, yet efficient action. Sold by all drugists. Price 25 cents.

About Matrimony.

In the spring a young man's fancy
Lightly turns to thoughts of love.

Thus sang Tennyson, and a poet laureate is supposed to be a judge of the sentimental feelings. The end of love, when it is mutual, is usually marriage—sometimes not to last very long. The history of matrimony is varied and curious. To the Aryan races belongs the distinction of being the authors of monogamy—that is, thinking that a man who had one wife had his share. Among other races a man was allowed as many wives as he could buy, or capture in war. Among some Oriental nations polygamy is still practiced. Among monogamous peoples, woman occupies the hightest position in society—among polygamists she is a toil-worn slave or the plaything of an idle hour. In England a man may marry his first cousin, but not the sister of his deceased wife. In the United States this restriction does not obtain. In most states, licences are necessary, but in others, Wisconson for instance, marriage is quite a free contract. The main point, however, is to get a good wife—and one of the brightest editors in Minnesota says he owes his spouse to having transportation on the Burlington. The moral is to get your wife in some of the many cities and towns on the Burlington Route, and you will make no mistake. For a list of these places, and tickets, maps, etc., call on your home agent, or write to w. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

That cure of Geo. W. Turner of Galway, N. Y., of scrofula, by Hood's Sarsaparilla, was one of the most remarkable on record.

Homes at the World's Fair.

There is no reason why anyone should be deterred from visiting the World's Fair by reason of possible inconvenience and uncertainty attending the securing of satisfactory hotel accommodations.

The Nothern Pacific railroad will in due time publish low excursion rates to Chicago and return for this occasion, while its double daily passenger train service, including through sleeping cars of both classes (standard and tourist) to Chicago, will as usual be at the head of the list in every particular.

To help you in fixing in advance upon your place of residence while attending the World's Fair, we have placed in the hands of C. A. Sharkey, our agent at your station, a book compiled by perfectly trustworthy parties called "Homes for Visitors to the World's Fair." This little book, which you can purchace for fifty cents, contains a list of about 9,000 private families who will accomodate visitors in Chicago during the time of the Fair, viz: May 1st to Oct. 30th; gives their names and addresses, and number of rooms each will have to spare. The book also gives a list of the hotels and their locations; has twelve full page large scale maps, each representing a section of the city, so that with this information before him the intending visitor himself can, at leisure, select the quarter of the city in which he would prefer to stop, by corresponding in advance with one or more families in that locality with reguard to rates and the accommodations desired..,

CHAS. S. FEE, N. P. R. R.

[3teow]

NEW CIGAR STORE
SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot it a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit he fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerchaum.

CALL IN.

HON. Z. AVERY,
ONE OF THE LARGEST CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS IN NEBRASKA.

HEART DISEASE 30 YEARS.

GRAND ISLAND, NEB., April 8th, 1892.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

GENTLEMEN: I had been troubled with HEART DISEASE FOR THE LAST 30 YEARS, and although I was treated by able physicians and tried many remedies, I grew steadily worse until I WAS COMPLETELY PROSTRATED AND CONFINED TO MY BED WITHOUT ANY HOPE OF RECOVERY. I would have very bad sinking spells, when my pulse would stop beating altogether, and it was with the greatest difficulty that my circulation could be started, which would bring me back to consciousness again. While in this condition I tried your NEW HEART CURE, and began to improve from the first, and now I am able to do a good day's work for a man 68 years of age. I give DR. MILES' NEW HEART CURE all the credit for my recovery. It is over six months since I have taken any, although I keep a bottle in the house in case I should need it. I have also used your NERVE AND LIVER PILLS, and think a great deal of them. Z. AVERY.

CURED THOUSANDS

SOLD ON A POSITIVE GUARANTEE.

TRY DR. MILES' PILLS, 50 DOSES 25 CTS

C
AT BEDTIME
I TAKE A PLEASANT
HERB
DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1.00 a package. If you cannot get it, send your address for free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary. Address, ORATOR F. WOODWARD, LEROY, N. Y.

John Wyatt
THE UNDERTAKER,
EMBALMER AND
FUNERAL DIRECTOR.

Besides carrying a full and complete line of COFFINS,
CASKETS
AND BURIAL SUPPLIES.
has the largest and most complete stock of Pictures, Picture Frames,
—AND—
Picture Framing Material
—In the city.—

Special discount During the Holidays.

Office 105½ Broadway,
CROCKSTON. - - - - MINNESOTA.

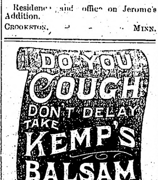
W. A. ROBERTSON
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.

N, B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE. IN McKINNON BLOCK.

M. LeGUEE.
Veterinary Surgeon

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.



It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

YOU

Will want a Drill, and of course want nothing but the best. The best is always the cheapest in the end. The

Dowagiac Shoe Drill

Leads them all in Lightness of draft, has the most perfect spring pressure, is the most easily handled, in fact

IT CAN'T BE BEATEN.

We can furnish them either 5 or 6 inch, and in all sizes from 13 to 26 shoe, with or without press wheels, and all we ask is a chance to demonstrate their merits. We have also a

Full Line of Harrows,

Including the Steel Lever Harrow, the finest thing out. To see it is to buy it. We have them in all sizes.

We keep a complete line of Farm Implements and sell them at prices to correspond with the times. Don't forget that we carry a full line of Harness of all styles, and especially the celebrated Cork Faced Collars, warranted not to gall a horse's shoulders if properly fitted.

Remember also that MERIT WINS and that cheap goods are dear at any price.

Cor. Robert St. and Broadway, Crookston. Larsen, Carpenter & Co.,

McKINNON BROS.,
—DEALERS IN—
ALL OF THE LEADING
Agricultural Implements
MAIN STREET. McKINNON BLOCK.
☞ Before Purchasing, Give Us a Call. ☜

CHRISTIANSON BROS.,
Abstracters of Title, Loans,
Real Estate and Insurance:

N. B. FARM LOANS a specialty. Terms, three to five years. Lowest rate of interest, payable annually at our office.
☞ Choice FARM LANDS for sale cheap, on terms to suit purchasers. ☜
Office on Robert Street, CROOKSTON, MINN

Crookston Business College
and INSTITUTE OF SHORTHAND.

DEPARTMENTS:—Commercial Shorthand, Typewriting and English.
TEACHERS:—R. C. Holaday, Nellie B. Perry and L. E. Gossman.
Winter Term begins Monday, January 2d, 1893. Send for new catalogue.
CROOKSTON BUSINESS COLLEGE, Crookston, Minn.
BENJ. A. STRAWBRIDGE, Prop.

ASTHMA CURED BY DR. TAFT'S ASTHMALENE

Instead of flying to the door gasping for breath, seeming as if each one would be your last, you have only to take a few doses Asthmalene when the spasm is broken, the breathing becomes easy and you feel as if an angel of mercy had unloosed the iron grasp of the fingers of death. The happiest moment of your life will be when you have used a few bottles of Dr. Taft's ASTHMALENE and it has cured you of Asthma. We mail to any Asthma sufferer a trial bottle FREE and get that it does Cure Asthma. Sold by druggists. Dr. Taft Bros. M. Co., Rochester, N.Y

IF YOU ARE GOING EAST OR SOUTH ASK YOUR NEAREST AGENT FOR TICKETS VIA THE BURLINGTON AND TAKE NO OTHER LINE.

THE DUAL
MEAT MARKET.
CHARLEY VINE
Is Headquarters for all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats.

Highest cash price paid for cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry and hides.

SHOPS
Corner Broadway and Robert street,
and on Second street, in Reckitt block,
Crookston, - - Minn.

NEW BARBER SHOP.
On Main St. C. E. MISNER, Prop
Invites your patronage. Everything in the very latest style of the art.
RAZORS HONED. If you desire your Razor Honed and cannot bring it, send it to me with 30 cents and your name and address and I will hone and return it.
Yours Respectfully,
C. E. MISNER.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON
PAID IN CAPITAL. - $100,000
SURPLUS. - - $14,200

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

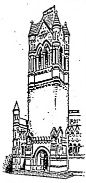
DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, E. D. Chase, E. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, J. R. McKinnon, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, Chas. E. Sawyer W. H. Crosby

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON. MINNESOTA

THE AMERICAN OXFORD.

Plans For the Great Methodist University at Washington.

The great Methodist university at Washington city is a fixed fact. True, the structures are yet to be built, and even the cornerstone of Lincoln memorial hall will not be laid till next October, but the ground is secured, the plans have been enthusiastically approved by the whole church, and therefore the university is a fixed fact.



THE LINCOLN TOWER.

The site consists of 92 acres of ground, beautiful for situation and the delight of all who have seen it, in the famed northwest section, bisected by Massachusetts avenue extended, and is now worth about $750,000. It was presented to the trustees by the citizens of Washington, and already one may see there indications of the rising city which is to be from the start consecrated to piety and sound learning. Within a few years the denomination which had its origin at ancient Oxford will have an American Oxford of its own. Lincoln memorial hall, as aforesaid, is to be the first structure erected, and this is to be paid for by $1 contributions from those who desire to honor the memory of Abraham Lincoln.

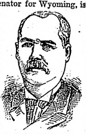
At the main entrance to the tower 13 granite columns will represent the original states. At the corners are columns representing the new states admitted down to the time of Lincoln's inauguration. Above in the turret are the prophecies of the states yet to be and the territories. In the center of the space elevated above this canopy is the shield of the United States, the bars of gothic tracery and the field set with 13 translucent and glittering stars of Rocky mountains quartz crystal. Surrounding the whole is a roof of metal in the form of tents, as near as possible, as a suggestion of the tented field.

This tower is to be upon the highest plateau in the District of Columbia, and from its top the view will extend over the whole territory between the Blue Ridge and the Atlantic ocean. Toward the right rises the Sugar Loaf mountain, and to the left are the windings of the Potomac, beyond which are the historic battlefields. Massachusetts avenue, running through the very center of the city, and upon which stands many palatial residences, opens up direct communication with the university. Every prominent building of the city will be visible from this elevation, and towering far above them all is the beautiful vaulted dome of the capitol and the shapely shaft of the monument. And on this commanding plateau the Methodists expect to rear the American Oxford.

A PROSPEROUS PIONEER.

The Successful Career of Wyoming's Newly Appointed Senator.

Asahel Collins Beckwith, appointed United States senator for Wyoming, is the richest man in the state, and now probably the oldest pioneer in it, though but little past 60 years old. Indeed there are few pioneers of his experience in the whole west, for he was in the Missouri river country at the early age of 15 and has been first settler or first merchant in many places from Iowa to Nevada.



A. C. BECKWITH.

He has held but two offices. One was membership in the national World's fair commission and the other membership in the first town council of Cheyenne. He went there 27 years ago, working his passage across the plains with an ox team. He identified himself with the community by building its first house and opening a grocery. When the railway came and went on, he went with it and was a rich man before he settled in Evanston, a thrifty town near the Utah line. There he owns the local bank, herds of cattle and tracts of range, coal mines and coal and timber lands. His hobby is horses, and he breeds trotters on the finest farm in the mountains. He is married and has four children.

New York is his native state, but most of his life has been passed in the west. He was already so much of a pioneer in 1866 that he was called from his ranch to go to Fort Phil Kearny during the Indian troubles there. The result was that he was within hearing of the famous massacre there, when 81 soldiers were killed by the Indians, and he helped bury the dead. Despite his unsettled life in those years, he acquired a fair education and is a man of considerable culture. In religion he is of Methodist leanings and in politics has always been a Democrat of the straightest sect.

Old Trees In Massachusetts.

There are a dozen great oaks at Waverly, Mass., that are said to be survivals of a forest that must have existed as far back as the tenth century, and there is a larger one at Ipswich that is supposed to be older. Waverly also has an old elm that is larger than any tree in the state—if not in New England. The state park commissioners will take means to preserve the trees and make them public property.

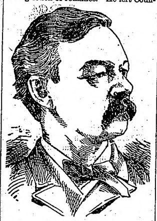
The Latest Fad In Leather.

Lizard skin has become a very popular material for cardcases, purses and such things, and a large business has sprung up in the raw material. Over 500,000 of the skins were imported from the state of Tabasco, Mexico, last year, and it is estimated that fully 5,000,000 lizards were killed there. Many of the skins went to Europe.

HE WAS A POOR IRISH BOY.

Pat Collins May Go to London as Consul General.

Ex-Congressman Patrick A. Collins of Massachusetts, who is likely to be American consul general at London, has had a strangely varied career, to which the proposed appointment would add a finishing touch of romance. He left County Cork, where he was born in 1844, when he was but 4 years old, his widowed mother fleeing from the poverty and misery which followed the famine and "famine clearances." Yet despite his 44 years in America he is still Irish in his sympathies, though he has always earnestly opposed the mixing up of Irish matters with American politics.



PATRICK A. COLLINS.

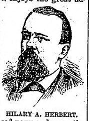
His mother secured a modest home in Chelsea, Boston's suburb, and the son gained eight years of American training and a common school education before going at hard work at the age of 12. In boyhood he went to Ohio, where he worked on a farm and in the coal mines, ran a stationary engine and did all sorts of common labor, but always struggling to improve. He returned to Boston, learned the trade of an upholsterer, was foreman of a shop at the age of 21 and soon laid up money enough to take a course in law, graduating from the Harvard law school. His success was great from the start and his manner of speaking singularly effective.

In 1871 he retired from practice and soon became noted in politics. After holding some minor offices he was elected to congress in 1882-4-6. He was for six years at the head of the state Democratic committee, has been a delegate at several national conventions and is doubtless the most influential Irishman in American politics. The return of such a man as consul general to the United Kingdom, which he left as a poor orphan, would add another to the many brilliant proofs that in such a land as this no youth need despair.

HILARY A. HERBERT.

His Training For the Position of Secretary of the Navy.

The new secretary of the navy, Hon. Hilary A. Herbert, enjoys the great advantage of a thorough knowledge of all the details of his department. During all his 16 years in congress he has been on the committee on naval affairs, was its chairman for two terms, was an enthusiastic advocate of an increased navy and an untiring student of the best methods to secure it. He also has the great advantage of possessing the confidence of every congressman who has served with him, regardless of party.



HILARY A. HERBERT.

He was born March 12, 1834, at Laurensville, S. C., but was soon taken to Greenville, Butler county, Ala. He was educated at the University of Alabama and the University of Virginia, studied law and was admitted to the bar. He entered the Confederate service as captain and was in a short time promoted to the colonelcy of the Eighth Alabama volunteers. He was wounded at the battle of the Wilderness in 1864. After the war he resumed the practice of law at Greenville, Ala., until 1872, when he removed to Montgomery, where he has since practiced. He was elected to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth and Fifty-first congresses, and re-elected to the Fifty-second congress as a Democrat, receiving 10,611 votes against 2,681 votes for S. A. Pillary, independent.

His Democracy is of what is now called the Cleveland type—that is, he advocates a radical reform of the tariff, is opposed to free coinage of silver, is a practical civil service reformer and opposed to those schemes of government paternalism now so much advocated. He is a widower with three children, one a married daughter, another a young lady and the third a younger son at school.

The Smallest Government.

Moresnet, which lies between Belgium and Germany and has a population of 2,000, is the smallest government in the world. There is a senate of 10 members, who are appointed by the mayor. He is appointed by two delegates, one from Germany and one from Belgium. The territory was made independent in 1815 to settle a dispute. Germany and Belgium both wanted it on account of its tin mines, but neither of them got it. The territory contains a trifle over two square miles of ground.

Disease Spread by Pencils.

Now they say that the free lead pencils furnished the school children of Detroit by the board of education are responsible for the epidemic of diphtheria in that city. The children get a different pencil every day, all the pencils being dropped into a box at the close of school. The average child using a pencil will put the point in its mouth very frequently, and it is not difficult to see that the practice might become very dangerous.

THE NEW
NORTHWEST

FARM LANDS Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana

NEW TOWNS 100 or more, along the Great Forthern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. Whitney, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.

LOW RATES Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.

Horses, Cattle. Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.

Health, Wealth. In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.

Sheep, Hogs. Sweetes Grass Hills. Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise.

Herds, Mines These have made Montana the richest state per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.

THE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUEHLR, Proprietor.
A full supply of everything kept by the trade.
Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, MINN

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE
The Great English Remedy.

Before and After.

Promptly and permanently cures all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses. Been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for Wood's Phosphodine; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, leave his dishonest store, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlet in plain sealed envelope, 2 stamps. Address THE WOOD CHEMICAL CO., 131 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.

Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

[First publication Jan. 26th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-one and 25-100 dollars ($191.25) interest now due upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Frank St Martin and Delina his wife, mortgagors, to The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of October, 1888, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the fifth day of November, 1888, at 8:45 o'clock a. m., in book 40 of mortgages, on page 370.

And whereas the said The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, the mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of one thousand two hundred and twelve and 25-100 ($1,212.25) dollars, with interest on eleven hundred and seventy-five (1175) dollars thereof at the rate of seven per cent. per annum from the 19th day of January, 1893, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The north half (n½) of the southwest quarter (sw¼) and the north half (n½) of the southeast quarter (se¼) of section thirty-three (33), of town one hundred and fifty-one (151) of range forty-three (43), in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the twenty-fifth day of March, 1893 at 2 o'clock p. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of one thousand two hundred and twelve and 25-100 dollars, and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty (50) dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 19th, A. D. 1893.

THE LOAN AND GUARANTEE COMPANY,
of Connecticut,
Mortgagee.

A. HUMPHREYS,
[41-49] Attorney for Mortgagee.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, March 8th 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Ingeborg N. Tysse, deceased:

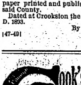
On reading and filing the petition of Ole J. Tysse setting forth the amount of personal estate that has come into his hands, the disposition thereof, and how much remains undisposed of; the amount of debts outstanding against said deceased, as far as the same can be ascertained; the legacies unpaid, and a description of all the real estate, excepting the homestead, of which said deceased died seized, and the condition and value of the respective portions or lots thereof; the persons interested in said estate, with their residences; and praying that license be to him granted to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased. And it appearing, by said petition, that there is not sufficient personal estate in the hands of said administrator to pay said debts, the legacies or expenses of administration, and that it is necessary for the payment of such debts, legacies or expenses, to sell the whole of said real estate;

It is therefore ordered, that all persons interested in said estate, appear before this court, on Monday the 3rd day of April 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office in Crookston in said county, then and there to show cause (if any there be) why license should not be granted to said Ole J. Tysse to sell so much of the real estate of said deceased as shall be necessary to pay such debts, legacies and expenses.

And it is further ordered, that this order shall be published once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said County.

Dated at Crookston the 8th day of March A. D. 1893.

By the Court.
C. M. BENSON,
[47-49] Judge of Probate.



Cook's Cotton Root
COMPOUND.

A recent discovery by an old physician. Successfully used monthly by thousands of Ladies. Is the only perfectly safe and reliable medicine discovered. Beware of unprincipled druggists who offer inferior medicines in place of this. Ask for COOK'S COTTON ROOT COMPOUND, take no substitute, or inclose $1 and cents in postage in letter, and we will send, sealed, by return mail. Full sealed particulars in plain envelope, to ladies only, 2 stamps. Address Pond Lily Company, No. 3 Fisher Block, Detroit, Mich.

Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, & A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

C. HENDRICKSON, President. L. ELLINGTON, Vice President.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier. H. STEENERSON, 2d Vice President.
A. P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.

Scandia-American Bank,

Of Crookston, Minn. Organized 1877 under the State law. Capital $50,000. Surplus, $5,000. Undivided profits, $15,000. Special attention given to collections.

DIRECTORS—C. Hendrickson, Grafton, N. D.; C. O. Christianson, Halvor Steenerson, Max Ericsson, J. W. Wheeler, E. P. Pierce, L. K. Aaker, D. H. Turner, A. G. Gallasch, Lewis Ellington, J. H. Locken, O. H. Lucken.

S. L. COLLINS,
Proprietor of Main Street
Livery and Feed Stables.
Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., west side,
CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA.

Horses bought and sold on commission. Everything neat and nobby. Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection, which I will attend to in person.

Valley Roller Mills.
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Manufacturers of
FINE FLOURS
MADE FROM SELECTED RED —RIVER HARD WHEAT.—

BRANDS:
Patent: Lee & Herrick's Best.
Straight: North Star
Bakers': Fife.
Low Grade: Skip Jack.

BRAN, SHORTS
AND SCREENINGS,
Always on hand at reasonable prices.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

[First publication Jan. 26th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of forty-three and thirty-seven hundredths dollars ($43.37) interest now due upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by George Richards (single) mortgagor to The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut mortgagee, bearing date the first day of November 1889 and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the fourteenth day of November 1889 at 9:20 o'clock a. m., in book 48 of mortgages, on page 91.

And whereas the said The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, the mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of six hundred and fifty-two and forty-seven hundredths dollars ($652.47) with interest on six hundred and forty-two ($642) dollars thereof at the rate of seven per cent. per annum from the 19th day of January 1893, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgagee, or any part thereof

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The southeast quarter (se¼) of section twenty-four (24) of town one hundred and fifty (150) of range forty-two (42,) in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the twenty-fifth (25th) day of March, 1893, at 2 o'clock p. m., of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of six hundred and fifty-two and forty-seven hundredths dollars ($652.47) and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 19th, A. D. 1893.

THE LOAN AND GUARANTEE COMPANY,
of Connecticut,
Mortgagee.

A. HUMPHREYS,
(41-49) Attorney for Mortgagee.

"In no way can Americans so effectively inform themselves on the subjects that claim public attention from one month to another as by reading the North American Review."

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

THE TOPICS are always those which are uppermost in the public mind in morals, politics, science literature, business, finance, industrial economy, social and municipal affairs, etc.—in short all subjects on which Americans require and desire to be informed. No magazine follows so closely from month to month the course of public interest. All subjects are treated of impartially on both sides.

THE CONTRIBUTORS to the Review are the men and women to whom the world looks for the most authoritative statements on the subjects of the day. No other periodical can point to such a succession of distinguished writers. The list is a roll of the people who are making the history, controlling the affairs, and leading the opinion of the age, such as Mr. Gladstone, the Prime Minister of England, Mr. Blaine, Signor Crispi, Ex-Prime Minister of Italy, Baron Hirsch, H. R. H. the Count of Paris, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishops Potter, Doane, Mallelieu, Foss, etc., etc.

THE TIME when these subjects are treated of by these contributors is the very time when the subjects are in the public mind—not a month or two after people had ceased to think of them. The promptness with which the Review furnishes its readers with the most authoritative information upon the topics of the day is one of its most valuable features.

Subscription Price, $5.00 a year,
THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW,
3 East 14th Street, New York.

A Dollar Saved
IS A Dollar Earned.

DO YOU
WANT
TO EARN A
FEW DOLLARS?

IN THE SPRING OF THE YEAR everyone requires some Garden or Flower Seeds, and we have made arrangements with the Weekly Pioneer Press of St. Paul, whereby we are enabled to distribute

SEEDS
FREE
OF
COST.

And we can also furnish THE WEEKLY PIONEER PRESS cheaper than it can be got any other way.

HERE IS THE OFFER we are prepared to make.

For $2.00 we will send

	Regular price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
20 packages Garden Vegetable Seeds, retail price	1 25
	$3 75

THIS offer is good to New Subscribers, or to Old Ones paying all arrearages and one year in advance. Cash must accompany the order in every case.

Another Offer.

For $1.85 we will send you

	Regular price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
The Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
An "up to date" Pocket Map of any State in the Union	1 00
	$3 50

These maps are reliable and "up to date," and the map of Illinois includes a map of Chicago, which is valuable to any one contemplating a visit to the World's Fair.

Address

Polk County Journal,

Crookston, Minn.

GREAT NORTHERN

Railway

TIME CARD.

MONTANA EXPRESS—Daily.

West				East
m	De.	St Paul	Ar.	6:55 a m
2:50 a m	"	Fergus Falls	"	11:25 p m
4:47 a m	"	Glyndon	"	9:36 p m
7:20 a m	"	CROOKSTON	"	7:25 p m
8:40 a m	"	Grand Forks	"	6:20 p m
9:45 a m	"	Larimore	"	5:06 p m
2: 1 p m	"	Devils Lake	"	2:55 a m
7:00 p m	Ar.	Butte	De.	7:30 a m

ST. VINCENT BRANCH—Daily except Sunday

Depart 7:30 a m Arrive 6:30 p m

FOSSTON BRANCH—Daily, except Sunday.

Depart 8:00 a m Arrive 5:30 p m

ST. HILAIRE, Thief River and Red Lake Falls Branch—

Monday, Wednesday and Friday,

Depart 9:00 a m Arrive 6:50 p m

GRAND FORKS' ACCOMMODATION.

Arrive 9:50 a m Depart 7:55 p m

The scenic route to Spokane, Helena, and Butte on the west, and St. Paul, Minneapolis-Duluth and West Superior on the east. Dining and sleeping cars on all through trains. Tickets on sale to all principal places. Baggage checked through to destination.

W. W. FEGAN, Agent.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leaves Crookston Daily

For St. Paul, Minneapolis, Superior, Ashland, Duluth, Chicago, and for all points South, East and West.........at 7:12 p. m.

For Grand Forks, Grafton, Pembina, Brandon, Winnipeg, and points north, ...at 8:19 a. m.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 57.
1 Northern 55.

H. W. Webster was over from Fisher for saw-dust for his ice house on Saturday.

Geo. Vine is pushing the work of excavating for his new building vigorously and will soon be ready to lay brick.

Miss Mabel Arnold will entertain a party of her young friends to-morrow (Friday) evening, the occasion being her nineteenth birthday.

Notwithstanding the rain on Friday a great many loads of hay appeared on our market, the demand for which seemed to be excellent.

The first rain of the season put in an appearance on Friday of last week, which softened up the snow in great shape and played havoc with the roads.

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Robertson welcomed the arrival of a sweet little stranger at their home on Sunday morning. Pa and ma and the little lady are all reported as doing nicely.

Fred Davis returned from the woods last week where he has been at work hauling logs during the past winter. Fred reports that a great many logs have been banked this winter—more than usual.

"Our Boss" is the name of an elegant little cigar made especially for W. D. Wilson, of the imported stock of pure havanna. When you feel like you would enjoy a nice smoke try Wilson's "Boss."

Robert Teal and family returned on Friday from a winter's visit to Canada and reports great interest among his old neighbors and friends in relation to this country, many of whom may decide to come out and try the realities of life in the Red River Valley.

Speaking of a Crookston old-timer the Minneapolis Tribune says: "Ira M. De Camp, clerk of the Brunswick Hotel, will pack his grip and steal away in the direction of Chicago April 1. He goes to assume the management of the newly constructed Hayes Hotel." Here's Ho, Ira, we will all remember where you are during World's fair time.

Mr. and Mrs. David Robinson departed on Friday evening for their new home at Wadsworth, Ills. Mr. Robinson has been a resident of this city for several years and for some time has been on the police force. The company of which he is a member has securred a large grading contract on a railroad and will put five crews upon the work at once. After this work is completed the company will commence on a contract for laying steel rails. The JOURNAL unites with the many friends of Mr. Robinson in best wishes for his future prosperity.

See those fine mares at Brown's sale stables.

A cold wave struck this country on Sunday and so far this week the weather reminds one of mid-winter.

The train from the south on the Great Northern road on Tuesday was delayed three hours by the storm.

Rev. R. H. Battey went up to Thief River Falls last week and ordered two car-loads of poplar wood which arrived this week. If you wish some nice dry wood cheap call on Mr. Battey.

It is a pleasure to look at such a fine lot of horses as M. R. Brown brought in on Monday morning—as handsome as pictures and as good as gold—if you want a good team now is your chance.

M. R. Brown arrived from Iowa on Monday morning with a carload of choice young horses which were bought in the vicinity of Des Moines. The prices this year will be less than the ruling prices of last year.

It will cost you nothing to look at that carload of young mares just arrived at M. R. Brown's sale stables. He will take pleasure in showing them and if you buy he will guarantee them to be all right in every particular. Call early for choice.

The work of taking down the Ives building on Main street was commenced on Monday morning. This building was put up in 1878 and for a long time was used by Judge Ives for an office. This move looks like the Judge intends to put up a brick block.

The calling of the city convention for next Monday evening will necessitate the calling of the caucuses for next Saturday evening. This early call was necessitated in order to give the candidates plenty of time to file the required acceptance under the new law.

Talking with our reporter on Friday of last week, Mr. E. D. Childs said he was sorry to see such evidences of an early break up as he had about two weeks' hauling of lumber yet to do, and, said he, "I do not believe it will hasten seeding a particle. I do not think that any seeding will be done in 35 days yet, as this thaw will no doubt be succeeded by a cold spell."

If you are looking for a choice young team of mares—something built for business—call at the sale stables of M. R. Brown and look over that lot just arrived from Iowa. A finer lot of serviceable horses never was offered in this market, every one solidly built, well put up and not one over six years old. They are all high grade Percherons except one which is a full-blood.

A private letter from Conductor J. B. Copeland, says that he is enjoying excellent health over on the west side and likes his new duties as superintendent, though they have had a fearful time all winter trying to keep the road in running order, owing to deep snows and landslides. He speaks of "green grass" all the same like it was summer-time. The family will go to Seattle to join him about June 1st.

The next attraction at the Opera House is the Linden Trio, under the auspices of the Crookston band boys, on which accasion will appear as the central figure, Miss Grace Clarke violinist. The work executed on the violin by this young and attractive lady is said to be truly meritorious and remarkably well rendered. Make up your mind to see her, and as evidence you have, reserve your seats at Tom Morris' jewelry store. Tickets will be on sale Monday morning.

When M. R. Brown sets out to do a thing—in the line of buying good horses—you may safely bet your pile it is thoroughly done, as anyone, who is a judge of good horses can readily verify by calling at his stables and looking over that lot just received. He has got the cream of the state of Iowa this time for a fact. Not a spot or blemish can be found on one of them. To say that Mr. Brown will guarantee them shows his confidence in the lot, and he cordially invites the inspection of all.

Superintendent C. H. Jenks was tendered a reception at the elegant rooms of the Columbia club in the Reckitt block on Wednesday evening. After he had enjoyed the greetings of friends awhile, Frank Gravel rapped for order and in a neat little speech A. D. Stephens presented Mr. Jenks with a beautiful cane, the gift of citizens of Crookston. The superintendent was taken wholy by surprise, but managed to make an appropriate reply, after which a happy evening was spent. The superintendent left on Thursday morning for his new field of labor.

A. G. Gallasch is in St. Paul.

I. W. C. Misner, of Euclid, was in the city on Monday.

Halvor Steenerson made a business trip to the Twin cities this week.

If you want to sell your farm, list it with the Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company. Office in Opera block, Crookston.

The Crookston fire department met on Monday evening to pass resolutions of respect on the death of their late comrade, A. D. Morris.

When farmers get their business down so fine that they can regulate the amount of wheat that shall be raised then they will be in shape to control the price of that staple.

Sheriff Grundysen and County Attorney A. R. Holston were wired to come to Fosston at once and went up on Monday morning returning in the evening on the snow-bound train.

It is rumored that on April 1st, the Northern Pacific will put on a through train between Duluth and Winnipeg. Leaving Duluth about 8 o'clock p. m., it will reach Crookston about 7 a. m. This will be a great convenience—a decided improvement on the present method of reaching Duluth.

The work of repairing the break at the mouth of the sewer is practically completed this week. Dan McDonald has had a force of men at work for about three weeks and he has paid strict attention to his business though obliged at times to work in mud and water. Dan feels like a school boy just released from on extra long session.

Rev. R. H. Battey was up at Northcote on Saturday last to talk with Capt. H. W. Donaldson on the captain's plan to substitute the county control of the liquor question for high license and was so favorably impressed with the idea that he will write an article favorable to it in the forth coming April issue of THE MESSAGE.

On Tuesday the JOURNAL received—in an envelope—a copy of the Fertile Daily Journal. The paper is 6½ by 10½ inches in size, and its proprietor was probably afraid to trust it to the paper sack lest it get lost, and this may account for its being mailed in an envelope. No one claims any paternalism for the thing, and the interest taken in the village election of Fertile, which occurred Tuesday—was probably the cause of its borning.

The Fosston train which left here last Saturday morning got stalled on the return trip about Tilden and the passengers walked over to the Northern Pacific, went down to Fertile, remained there all night and reached Crookston on the morning passenger. The Fosston train didn't get in until about 4 o'clock Sunday morning. Geo. Carpenter was one of the passengers who enjoyed the pleasure of returning via Fertile. He says that the snow drifted badly on the prairie, notwithstanding the light crust which had formed after the thaw of Friday.

Among the passengers on the snow-bound train on the Fosston line on Monday were comrades L. Fontaine and J. Kelly. Being old soldiers and used, in times past, to forced marches, they prepared themselves for trouble before they left Mentor by laying in a generous supply of crackers and boiled eggs enough to last them for a week. As they had had a good supply before they left Mentor they did not get hungry until Tuesday morning and by that time they found that the lady passengers and children on the train had had nothing to eat since Monday noon, so they divided all the rations they had among them which generous action was highly appreciated. The boys enjoyed their division when the train reached this city on Tuesday noon.

Sauk Centre Avalanche: F. E. Barnum went down to St. Paul last Saturday to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the State Editorial Association, called to make arrangements for a trip to the World's Fair. It was decided that the start be made May 14th, and the Burlington will undoubtedly carry the pencil pushers. The state association will be joined by the North Dakota editors, and about two weeks will be spent in the windy city. Those of the Minnesota editors who wish to join the excursion, and are not already members of the association, should send their names, accompanied by $2, to D. Ramaley, St. Paul, which will entitle them to the privileges to be enjoyed; but must do so before April 15th. It is expected that not less than 200 of the Minnesota editors, including their wives, will join in the event, and accommodations not to exceed $3 per day for two people, will be arranged for during the stay in Chicago.

H. B. Budd was up from Beltrami Wednesday on business.

T. O. Bergland was in the city Wednesday celebrating the arrival of a little girl at his home.

For a quick sale list your farms and city property with the Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company. Opera block, Crookston, Minn.

Miss Emma Veronneau goes east this week to post upon the new style in millinery and select the spring stock. She will return fully prepared to supply the wants of all her lady patrons with the very latest millinery.

E. O. Flanders reports the election in Crookston township the most hotly contested one ever held in the town. Notwithstanding the cold weather the farmers all turned out. Two tickets were in the field, each called "The People's Ticket." Great are the people.

The body of J. B. McLaren arrived on Wednesday morning. The funeral sermon was preached at 2:30 by the Rev. O. H. Elmer at the Presbyterian church. The fire department and the Masons attended in a body and the remains were laid to rest in Oakdale cemetery.

A queer postal card was received by Larsen, Carpenter & Co. the other day. It had been mailed at Crookston, and was addressed

"Flour city
Sen Paull
Minn."

The writer wanted a catalogue of hay presses and hay loaders. The card was sent to St. Paul, where they decided to send it to some machinery firm, and it was mailed to Deering & Co., Minneapolis. That concern handles a machine called the Flour City hay press, but as they do not deal with the farmers the card was sent to Larsen, Carpenter & Co. The writer was no doubt thinking about the name of the machine he wanted when he addressed the card.

In looking the field over for suitable material for justice of the peace for the ensuing year the claims for recognition of Judge C. S. Spendley should not be over looked. The Judge has already filled that office for two terms and should he desire it, amply deserves re-election. The Judge has always been a public-spirited man; he was one of those who when the life of the country was in danger hastened to the front and placed his life in peril to save the country and now that he is in a position to need return favors he should be given them without a question. He has amply proven his fitness for the position by faithfully discharging its duties which answers any objections that might be made and should he desire to serve another term it would be but simple justice to nominate and elect him.

Matrimonial Prizes.

A unique feature of the coming Polk county fair will be a matrimonial department, which will be in charge of President Hugh Thompson of the association. The first couple who will make application to the association to be married on July 27th, at 5:30 p. m. in front of the grand stand on the fair grounds, will receive from the association a handsome bed-room suit, valued at $45.00. On July 28th the first couple complying with the same conditions as on the previous day will be presented by Hugh Thompson with five barrels of the best flour manufactured by the Valley Roller mills. Young couples contemplating matrimony should make a note of this.

Come quick and get some of my A No. 1 dry maple before it is all gone. I have green ash, also that cannot be beat. Prices of dry oak, birch, tamarac and poplar still very low. All kinds of wood sawed as you want it at very cheap rate. My feed mill runs every day until April 1st and longer if necessary Feed ground for cash or toll. Low rates for large quantities. Call and see me.

W. H. NORRIE,
Corner Main and Third Streets.

Mothers' Recommendation.

We are acquainted with many mothers in Centerville who would not be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house for a good many times its cost, and are recommending it every day. From personal experience we can say that it has broken up bad colds for our children.—Centerville, South Dakota, Citizen. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

People wonder how I can sell goods so cheap. I can't and make any profit. But I must; my stock is too large.

A. CHABOT,
New York Store.

Photographs.

Having secured the best of help, prepared to do first-class work, in a week from time of sitting. Something new. Call up and see it.

P. M. DAUSER,
Corner Gallery.

DR. PRICE'S
Cream Baking Powder.
The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.
Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

AROUND THE COUNTY.

Euclid Items.

From our regular correspondent.

EUCLID, March 15, 1893.

Michael Shultz was doing a little courting in Crookston last week.

Miss Della Hancock who has been attending the high school in Crookston, returned home Tuesday.

Messrs. Timelain and Main, of Dakota, have purchased of S. S. Simpson the southwest quarter of section 28, town of Euclid.

The town dads held a meeting to transact some important business, Tuesday.

Mr, McVean came down from Hallock on Monday.

Mr. Brink, one of St. Hilaire's principal business men, was in town Thursday.

Wm. Davidson, the manager of the Keystone farm, shipped a carload of horses south, Friday.

Little Florence, aged seven years and nine days, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Misner, was called to her final resting place, Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. She had been sick a little over two weeks with that dreadful disease, scarlet fever. The family have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in this their sad hour of bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Harrington of Grand Forks, came down on Wednesday's train, returning Saturday.

J. D. McPhee shipped a carload of barley from Lockhart to be used as seed on the Keystone farm.

H. C. Misner took a run over to Grand Forks Friday to see how Dr. Chapin was progressing. He found the doctor somewhat on the mend.

T. Weis of Warren, was doing the village Friday.

Robert Teal and family returned from a very pleasant trip to Canada, Saturday.

J. D. Fairweather with his bagpipe, returned from Argyle, Friday.

M. B. Van Vranken of North Dakota, has purchased of Mr. Gordon and E. L. Smith all of section 29, town of Euclid, and still the real estate transfers go on.

Robert Casmey and son Charlie were among the callers at the county seat last week.

H. G. Fargo says he finds that there is money in raising hogs.

We are reliably informed that several of the parties who left here for Calgary, Alberta, N. W. T. last spring, will be back here this spring.

Ole Anderson has rented the southeast quarter of section 12, Euclid township, of J. S. Chapin.

T. Solberg of Belgium township, has rented the south one-half of section 24, of J. A. Hazard, of Los Angeles, California.

Richard Casmey had the misfortune to loose one of his mares while on the way home from the lumbering camp.

Viava remedies for sale by Mrs. John Wyatt, sole agent for Polk county, Sano, sure cure for piles. Room 46, Reckitt Block. [39-tf]

We have inquiries for improved farms in the river towns. List your property with the Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company. Opera block, Crookston.

The Premium List.

Secretary Wyatt has been hard at work for a week getting the premium list for the fair in shape. It will make a good sized pamphlet and be ready for publication in about three weeks. Liberal premiums are offered—better in fact than those usually offered by county fairs. Thousands of these pamphlets will be printed and distributed, and will be a constant reminder of the coming fair.

An Automatic Car-Coupler.

C. H. Saake has invented an automatic car coupler, from which he expects great results, and has made application to the patent office at Washington to have it patented. It is in the shape of a square iron box, with one side open, which is to be fastened on the car where the coupling attachments now are. A round iron rod with a flat head on it, projects out of the box, and when this rod is pushed in by coming in contact with a similar projection on another car, it lets a suspended hook drop into a fastening on the opposite car. To uncouple the cars, an upright rod is twisted by the brakeman and the hooks are lifted out of the fastenings. Mr. Saake has spent a good deal of time and study upon his invention, and is confident he has got something which will revolutionize the present car coupler—in fact, do away with it altogether.

Farmers,

I am now making arrangements to buy wood from you. Call on me and we can agree. W. H. NORRIE,
Wood yard corner Main and Third streets, Crookston. [48-3]

Something new, call up and see it.

P. M. DAUSER,
Corner Gallery.

Now is the time to list your farms and city property with the Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company. Opera block, Crookston.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure at Druggists.

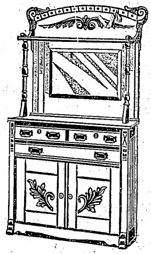
GRAND OPERA HOUSE
L. J. COLUMBUS. - - MANAGER.
ONE NIGHT ONLY.
Saturday Evening, March 18th.
—THE—
LINDEN TRIO
Comprising the following Musical and Elocutionary Artists:
MISS GRACE CLARKE, Violinist
MISS GENIE BALDWIN, Soprano
MISS LOUISE ROMAN, Pianist
MISS IDA M. CLEMENTS, Reader
Under the auspices and for the benefit of
THE CROOKSTON BAND BOYS.
Seats now on sale at Tom Morris' Jewelry Store.
Prices, - - 75 Cents.

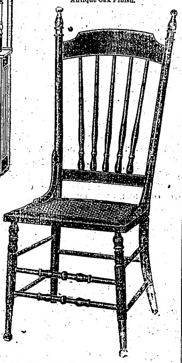
6 MONTHS
Accumulation of Remnants and short lengths will be put on sale at Unparalleled Wholesale Reduction Prices,
Wednesday, December 28th,
The people know that at these sales no regard is paid to values, only one thing, the
REMNANTS MUST GO!
Fontaine & Anglim.

Historical Society

Polk County Journal.

VOL. XVI. CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, MARCH. 23, 1893. NO. 49





Crookston Furniture Co.

FURNITURE, CARPETS, BURIAL SUPPLIES.

$1.35.

Antique Oak Finish.

$19.50.

Solid Oak,

Large Glass,

Plush-lined Drawers.

8-ft. Oak Table,

42x42, only

$7.90.

OFFICIAL DIRECTORY.

State.
Governor	Knute Nelson.
Lieutenant Governor	David M. Clough.
Secretary of State	Joseph Bobleter.
Attorney General	H. W. Childs.
Congressional.
Member of Congress, 7th Dist	Haldor E. Boen,
Legislative.
Senator, 51st Sen. Dist	E. E. Lommen.
Representatives, 51st Sen. Dist	John D. Knuteson, B. M. Chesley and Hans Juelson.
Judicial.
Associate Justices Supreme Court	Thomas Canty, Daniel Buck, Wm. Mitchell and Loren W. Collins.
Judge 14th Jud. District	Frank Ives.
County.
Auditor	C. U. Webster
Treasurer	J. T. Beaudry
Register of Deeds	John Amundson
Attorney	A. R. Holston
Sheriff	Arny Grundysen
Judge of Probate	C. M. Benson
Supt. of Schools	A. A. Lommen
Surveyor	O. L. Hamery
Court Com'r	W. H. Averill
Coroner	Henry Shepard
County Commissioners.
First District	John E. Oppegaard
Second District	Anton Linden
Third District	M. E. Kirsch
Fourth District	C. P. Demers
Fifth District	Robt. Anderson

Town Clerks.

The following is a list of the town clerks for the several towns in Polk county:

Andover,	E M Bivins	Crookston
Angus,	J M Palmer	Angus
Black River,	P A Eckstrom	Wylie
Bray,	Albert Wickstrom	Wylie
Badger	P N Savalrud	Sletten
Brandsvold.	Ole Nellon	Fosston
Belgium,	Henry Biever	Euclid
Bristol,	A P Frank	Warren
Bygland,	Halvor Grundesen	Fisher
Crookston,	E O Flanders	Crookston
Crookston, city,	E C Carruth	Crookston
Columbia,	R H Carr	Columbia
Chester,	O J Mattson	Lindsay
Emardville,	Peter Anderson	Emard
Euclid,	F Tiedt, Jr.,	Euclid
Eden,	Neri A Skeie	Olga
Fairfax,	Wm Himmelsback	Crookston
Farley,	Mark Congnon	Warren
Fanny,	John G. Tenney	Buffington
Fisher,	John Gleason	Fisher
Fisher, vil.,	John Gleason	Fisher
Gd Forks,	John McCoy	E G Forks
Gd Forks, city,	John McCoy	E G Forks
Garfield,	Iver J Ingebretson	Fertile
Garden,	John Hanson	Ringdal
Gentilly.	H F Gondron.	Gentilly
Gervais,	John Deforge	R L Falls
Grove Park,	E E Abbott	Mentor
Goderey,	D T Mitchell,	Maple Bay
Hammond.	Ernest Hanna	Caookston
Higdem,	Ole Hendrickson	E G Forks
Hill River,	Fred S Syeverson	Lindsay
Huntsville,	O Osmundson	Mallory
Hubbard.	Frank Hanson,	Nellsville
Keystone,	D E Geddes	E G Forks
Kerlsonville,	Fred Benoit	Gentilly
King,	K C Norsving	McIntosh
Knute,	O H Dale	Erskine
Lake Pleasant,	Jos Perrault	R L Falls
Lambert,	Samuel Gebeau,	Lamber
Liberty,	Nelson Clementson	Fertile
Lessor,	H Helgeson	Ovetia
Lowell,	Ole Christianson,	Crookston
Louisville,	Louis Huot	Huot
Nesbit,	Robert Nesbit	Mallory
Norden,	O J Tweet	Tweet
North,	S T Johnson	T R Falls
Numedal,	Olaf Larson	Warren
Onstud,	W A Marin	Melvin
Parnell,	Thos Filban	Crookston
Poplar River,	J B Hebert	Brooks
Polk Centre,	Wm Wylie,	Wylie
Queen,	Hans L Houkom	Fosston
R L F, village,	August Herard,	R L Falls
Red Lake Falls,	Hdaig Baril	R L Falls
Reis,	D C Hallock	Edna
River Falls,	K C Gigstad	St. Hilaire
Rocksbury,	P Englestad	St. Hilaire
Roome,	P Boukon	Neby
Rosebud,	M E Randkler	Fosston
Russia,	Orens Simmons	Crookston
Sanders,	Nils K Anderson	St. Hilair
Sandsville.	Henry Nelson	E G Forkse
St. Hilaire,	L J Johnson	St. Hilaire
Sletten,	Ingebret Larson	Winger
Sullivan,	P A Hotvedt	E G Forks
Tabor,	F J Cernousek	Tabor
Terrebonne,	Edonor Perruse	Terrebonne
Tilden.	S J Furan	Dugdale
Tynsid,	A O Stortroen	Neby
Vineland,	John Thompson	Neby
Winger.	Albert Johnson	Winger
Woodside.	Joseph Tagley	Woodside
Wyandotte,	O J Johnson	St. Hilaire
Rhinehart,	Oscar Winck	E G Forks
Thief River Falls	C J Knox	T R Falls

For Sale at a Discount.

A scholarship in the Crookston Business College. Apply at the JOURNAL office. [10 t.f.]

Don't forget my feed mill—feed ground every week day during February either for cash or trade at rate of one sack for seven or ⅛ bushel per bushel ground. Special contract for large quantities. Call on me. W. H. NORRIE,

Successor to Priester & Co.,

Corner Main and Third streets.

COUGHING LEADS TO CONSUMPTION Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

Fits.

All fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St. Phila., Pa. For sale by all druggists; call on yours.

Rheumatism Quickly Cured.

Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism; but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert, of New Brunswick, Ill.: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right to-day; and would insist on every one who is afflicted with that terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

Cholerine in Pennsylvania.

Swickley Penn.: We had an epidemic of cholerine, as our physicians called it, in this place lately and I made a great hit with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. I sold four dozen bottles of it in one week and have since sold nearly a gross. This remedy did the work and was a big advertisement for me. Several persons who had been troubled with diarrhœa for two or three weeks were cured by a few doses of this medicine.

P. P. KNAPP, Ph. G.

25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

Do you want some dress goods, flannels, skirtings, sheeting, yarns, linens or notions, carpets and draperies, go to the New York Store. Never before was there such a large stock of goods sold so cheap.

Though other dealers may offer you some small articles at less than cost to deceive you into the opinion that I. U. Jennings is not selling at cost, and thereby induce you to buy some larger article at a large profit to themselves, yet it is a fact that you can buy of him as cheaply as at the factory cost of freight added.

Come quick and get some of my A No. 1 dry maple before it is all gone. I have green ash, also that cannot be beat. Prices of dry oak, birch, tamarac and poplar still very low. All kinds of wood sawed as you want it at very cheap rate. My feed mill runs every day until April 1st and longer if necessary. Feed ground for cash or toll. Low rates for large quantities. Call and see me.

W. H. NORRIE,

Corner Main and Third Streets.

CITY CONVENTION.

The Citizens' Convention Puts a Ticket in the Field for the Spring Election.

Large Chunks of Harmony Were a Noticeable Feature of the Convention.

Little Opposition to any of the Candidates Named—A. D. Stephens for Mayor.

The Proceedings in Full.

The citizens' convention met at the city hall on Monday evening and was called to order at 8 o'clock by the chairman of the city committee who proceeded to read the call, after which Hugh Thompson was duly elected chairman and M. E. Kirsch, secretary. The chair appointed P. J. McGuire, S. Rosenthal, John Kyle, W. F. Hitchcock and A. C. Schmidt as a committe on credentials; and E. M. Walsh, John Monroe and John McKinnon as a committee on permanent organization.

The committee on credentials reported the following delegates entitled to seats in the convention, viz:

1st ward, H. E. Cooke, S. Rosenthal, Joe Gervais, I. N. Simmons, John R. McKinnon and A. Dufresne.

2nd ward, A. C. Schmidt, John Monroe, Chas. Walters, N. P. Stone, J. O. Mathews and Sam Lusian.

3rd ward, M. E. Kirsch, John Kyle, Arny Grundyson and S. L. Collins.

4th ward, Ed. George, Felix Fournet, C. N. Lindell, I. Sylvester, H. Thompson, P. J. McGuire and E. M. Walsh. The committee further reported that they had found that the fourth ward was entitled to 8 delegates, under the call and, that Hugh Robertson had been elected as the 8th delegate and recommended that he be admitted to a seat in the convention.

5th ward, W. F. Hitchcock and R. G. Marlette.

On motion the report of the committee was accepted and adopted as read.

The committee on permanent organization reported, recommending that the temporary organization be made permanent. Adopted

It was moved that the nominations for the various offices be by ballot and that the 1st ballot in each case be an informal one, also that nominating speeches be ruled out which motions prevailed.

The first informal ballot for candidate for mayor stood: A. D. Stephens 19, A. A. Miller 1, C. O. Christianson 1, E. M. Walsh 1, John R. McKinnon 1, M. E. Kirsch 1, John Cromb 1, Hugh Thompson 1.

M. E. Kirsch moved that the rules be suspended and that the election of A. D. Stephens be made unanimous. Carried.

The chair appointed a committee to wait upon the candidate and bring him before the convention which meantime took a recess for a few minutes. Presently the committee returned with their victim who made a graceful speech of acceptance, promising if elected to do his best in the interests of the city. He said that he was doubly gratified because this nomination had been tendered him without exacting from him a single pledge and also that the convention tendering it was composed of leading, representative business men and that he should do his best to justify the confidence thus reposed in him, if elected to the office.

The first informal ballot for alderman-at-large resulted as follows: I. N. Simmons 16, J. E. O'Brien 8, A. K. Austin 1 and Wm. Munch 1.

1st formal ballot, I. N. Simmons 15, J. E. O'Brien 11. Mr. Simmons was declared the nominee.

On the first informal ballot for treasurer Joseph Mathews received 18 votes, L. C. Couvrette 4, and A. Chabot 4.

The 1st formal ballot resulted as follows: Joseph Mathews 16, A. Chabot 5, and L. C. Couvrette 5.

Joseph Mathews was declared the nominee of the convention.

On the first informal ballot for city clerk, E. C. Carruth received 20, J. V. E. Wyatt 2, O. Christianson 2, L. C. Couvrette 1 and Ole Hagen 1.

A motion to suspend the rules and declare Carruth the nominee prevailed.

The informal ballot for assessor stood: A. C. Schmidt 14, W. F. Arnold 5, J. V. E. Wyatt 5, Geo. C. Wilde 1, and A. M. Childs 1.

On the first formal ballot the vote stood: Schmidt 17, Wyatt 6, Arnold 2, Geo. C. Wilde 1.

A. C. Schmidt was declared duly nominated.

The position of Justice of the Peace being now reached and there being two places to fill, it was decided to vote for one at a time, and the first informal ballot resulted as follows: C. S. Spendley 10, G. H. Palmer 3, L. E. Gossman 12, Ed. George 1.

First formal ballot, Gossman 12, Spendley 12, Palmer 1, George 1.

Second ballot, Gossman 16, Spendley 10.

L. E. Gossman was declared the nominee of the convention.

The first informal ballot for the second justice resulted as follows: C. S. Spendley 17, G. H. Palmer 9, and the first formal ballot resulting in the same figures. C. S. Spendley was declared the choice of the convention.

The first informal ballot for constable was as follows. Geo. Holt 18, O. Ducharme 4, P. J. McGuire 1, M. O'Brien 1, J. E. Morrisey 1 and John Kyle 1.

On motion Geo. Holt was declared the nominee, and the informal ballot for the second constable was as follows: O. Ducharme 22, Jack Carter 1, Felix Fournet 1, J. E. Morrisey 1, John Kyle 1.

O. Ducharme was on motion made the candidate.

This completing the business Hugh Robertson moved that the chair appoint a city central committee consisting of 7, one from each ward and 2 at large and the convention adjourned.

Fosston Election.

The following officers were elected for the village of Fosston for the ensuing year;

President of Council—S. S. Stadsvold.

Members Council—Lewis Lohn, D. Ray, J. E. Campbell.

Recorder—J. H. Loen.

Treasurer—Ole Peterson.

Constables—F. O. Sibley and Chas. Anderson.

Justice of the Peace—Gus. Hanson.

Elections Around Fertile.

EDITORS JOURNAL:—The election in the town of Liberty was very quiet indeed. Our town has been run in such a business manner for the past two years, no one cared to change the officers and all the old officers were re-elected except R. J. Balli, who has sold his farm. Mr. Ole K. Hollin was elected in his place. Officers are as follows: Nels Clementson, clerk; Ole J. Moen, chairman; Thos. Densmore, Ole K. Hollin, commissioners; J. S. Nichols, treasurer; C. B. Goodale, assessor; John Olson, J. P., and A. Boddy, constable.

The farmers surrounding Fertile met at Fertile on the 17th to complete the organization of Farmers Elevator Co. A splendid start was made, two directors were elected from each of the towns who deal principally at Fertile. The directors are as follows:

Garfield, K. Nelson and Ole Opheim.

Garden, Simon Olstedel and Isaac Holen.

Bear Park, Ole F. Rindalt and Ole Renne.

Sundall, B. L. Bjerkness and Ole Rune.

Liberty, Nels Clementson and J. S. Nichols.

Godfrey, Theodore Nelson, Jergen Rud.

At large Brown A Horvick, of Garfield.

A meeting of directors will be held at Fertile, March 25th, to transact business, about eight hundred dollars in stock was subscribed at the meeting and the balance can be easily secured. The intention is to build a twenty-five hundred dollar house or larger, and to be ready for the first grain threshed next fall.

AN INTERESTED ONE.

We have inquiries for improved farms in the river towns. List your property with the Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company. Opera block, Crookston.

People wonder how I can sell goods so cheap. I can't and make any profit. But I must; my stock is too large. A. CHABOT,

New York Store.

The sale at the New York Store will not last forever so don't put off your shopping too long—you might get left—and that would make you feel bad.

See those fine mares at Brown's sale stables.

For a quick sale list your farms and city property with the Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company, Opera block, Crookston, Minn.

CITY COUNCIL.

Official Proceedings of a Regular Meeting of the City Council Held March 14th.

Bills Passed—Reports and Resolutions Offered and Adopted—More Sidewalk for Carman.

Proceedings of the Adjourned Meeting of the Council Held on March 17th.

An Ordinance Relating to Changing of Street Grades and a Fire Ordinance Were Passed.

Full Text of the Ordinances.

Proceedings of a regular meeting of the city council of the City of Crookston held in the city hall on Tuesday evening March, 14th 1893.

Meeting called to order by president Cromb.

Roll called.

Aldermen present:—Anderson, Austin, Childs, Jennings, Jerome, Morrisey, Marlette, Munroe, Watts, Cromb.

Alderman absent, Walker.

The minutes of the previous meetings read and approved.

The mayor arose and stated that the bond commissioners who had charge of the $50,000 bonds of the city in favor of the Duluth Crookston & Northern Railway, were present, and were ready to turn over the bonds to the council. On motion the rules were suspended and the bond commissioners heard.

Moved by Alderman Childs seconded by Alderman Anderson that the president be instructed to destroy the bonds according to the order of the court. Carried. The president proceeded to destroy them in the presence of the council.

President reported that he had carried out the instructions of the council and destroyed the bonds in the presence of Mayor Wm. Anglim, and the members of the council.

The city attorney reported upon the matter of the real estate of Mrs. Cox. She had disposed of the property or her interest in the property for the sum of $50. On motion the report was accepted and the committee discharged.

The committees who were appointed to look after the matter of the houses of ill-fame in Chase addition reported as follows:

CROOKSTON, Minn., March 14th, 1893.

To the president and the members of the City Council.

GENTLEMEN:—Your committee to whom was referred the petition of residents of Chase's addition in regard to houses of ill-fame said to exist in said addition, report that your committee advise these petitioners to place all the evidence they can get to prove the truth of the charges so made in the hands of the Mayor and if it is sufficient in the opinion of the city attorney to prove these houses of ill-fame, we recommend that his honor the Mayor take such action as in his opinion shall be necessary to abate the nuisances as prayed for in this petition.

FRED ANDERSON,
I. U. JENNINGS,
JAS. E. MORRISEY.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey seconded by Alderman Jerome that the report be accepted and the committee discharged. Carried.

On motion the report was made a part of the minutes.

Alderman Jennings as a committee of one reported that he had collected the sum of $104.00 on the grading of Second street. The report was accepted and the engineers list of names ordered entered on the minutes.

Engineer's list of property owners on Second street, owing for grading in front of their property.

	Frontage	Amt
Francis Reckitt	230	59 60
A. F. Rauch	79½	20 67
H. F. Brown	38½	10 00
Carl Reidsel	22	5 72
Earnest Rolech	40	10 40
Jas. McKenzie	35 Paid	9.10
Alden Braley	35 Paid	9.10
C. H. Saake	30 Paid	7.80
C. C. Rickett	20	5 20
First National Bank	200 Paid	52.00
A. Clements	150	39 00
R. J. Stanton	150	39 00
C. E. Dampier	100 Paid	26.00
Judge Lewis	50	13 00
City of Crookston	20	5 20

Total cost of Second street grade $623.71.
Total cost to property on Second street $311.85.
Cost per front foot 26 cents.
Total cost to bridge approach $282.10
Total cost to Fletcher street $29.75

GEO. A. RALPH,
City Engineer.

The following resolution was offered by Alderman Marlette and seconded by Alderman Anderson.

Resolved:—That the bond of T. G. Thompson having been duly approved and his application for license duly published. Resolved, that the license be granted as prayed for, upon the payment of the sum of $500 to the treasurer of this city. Carried.

A communication was read from the National Board of Underwriters.

On motion the communication was referred to the fire committee with instructions to confer with the secretary of the local board with regard to the matter.

The finance committee reported favorably upon the following bills.

Thos. Young, freight and drayage	$ 3 77
A. C. Cowing, hardware	26 95
Robt. Kittleson, labor	9 00
Fontaine & Anglim, merchandise	16 70
Rasmussen & Frankenfield, hardware	21 95
F. L. Durand, sponges fire department	4 80
H. M. Sorlie, ice	4 60
Sam Lusian, labor	2 50
Crookston Water Works Power & Light Company, water and lights	1567 22
Crookston Water Works Power & Light Company, water and lights	2020 00
O. Vian, labor	11 85
George Young, draying	5 50
Ed. Barrette, merchandise	4 20
McKinnon Bros., coal	163 80
Priester & Company, wood	20 25
Crookston Fire Department, attendance at fires	73 00
Crookston Fire Department, attendance at fires	57 00
J. E. O'Brien, hardware	33 90
Crookston Plumbing Company	23 75
Chicago Fire Hose Company, rubber hose	434 50
Jas E. Greenhalgh, labor	62 00
I. N. Simmons, draying	4 00
Cooke & Hammond, printing	7 50
D. F. McDonald, labor	21 37
Crookston Fire Department, attendance at fire	58 00
Crookston Fire Department, attendance at fires	76 00
W. E. McKenzie, printing	6 20
Fred Anderson, Judge of election November 8th, 1892	15 00
Cooke & Hammond, printing	3 50
O. Vian, labor	55 00
Stewart Lumber Company, lumber	21 01
E. D. Childs Company, lumber	443 37
C. E. Dampier, medical attendance	26 00
Carl F. Schmidt, labor	2 25
Anton Netzer, labor	15 00
Geo. Castle, wood	115 00
Jas. E. Greenhalgh, labor	56 00
Engen & Evenson, meals to prisoners	8 75
D. F. McDonald, labor	49 25
D. F. McDonald, labor	284 75
D. F. McDonald, labor	402 12
D. F. McDonald, labor	19 50
Louis Gonyea, conveying Olson children to Minneapolis	17 00
E. Allard, boarding paupers	14 00
W. H. Norrie, wood	2 50
T. H. Bjoin, rent	30 00
Emma Austin, boarding paupers	17 25
Rasmussen & Frankenfield, hardware	19 63

They also reported unfavorably upon the bill number 1189 of Hans Wilson and also that bill number 1193, be allowed at $9.00, bill number 1203 at $1567.22.

Moved by Alderman Childs seconded by Alderman Jennings that the report be recepted and the bills reported upon favorably be allowed and ordered paid. Carried. The clerk was instructed to make out orders for the freight express charges on the pieces of sewer pipe which the committee had ordered.

The fire ordinance committee presented the revised fire ordinance and it was read to the council.

The superintendent of poor presented his report, and on motion the same was referred to the finance committee.

Moved by Alderman Morrissey seconded by Alderman Jerome that an adjourned meeting be held on Friday evening next at 7:30 a. m. Carried.

On motion the clerk was instructed to procure another record for the committee on poor.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey seconded by Alderman Watts that City Attorney and Engineer be instructed to draw up an ordinance, bringing the grade of Robert street up to the Great Northern tracks. Carried.

A communication was read from A. Halvorson relating to a bill for board of a pauper in 1890. On motion the communication was referred to the committee on poor to report at the adjourned meeting.

At a regular meeting of the city council of the City of Crookston, held the 14th day of March 1893, Alderman Childs offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Marlette.

The city council of the City of Crookston do hereby resolve:—That the street commissioner be and hereby is ordered to construct a sidewalk along the easterly side of school street in Carman addition to Crookston in front of and adjacent to lots one(1) and twelve (12) of block Twenty-one (21) and lots one (1) and twelve (12) of block twenty-eight (28) in said addition also on the northerly side of Third Avenue north in said addition in front of and adjacent to lot one of block thirty-three said last named sidewalk to extend from intersection of aforesaid school street with said Third Avenue north to the centre of said lot one of block thirty-three in accordance with a certain resolution heretofore passed by the city council on the 19th day of May A. D. 1892.

Upon the call of ays and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative; Anderson, Austin, Childs, Jennings, Jerome, Morrisey, Monroe, Marlette, Watts, Cromb.

Aldermen voting in the negative: none.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 14th day of March 1893.

JOHN CROMB,
President of Council.

(Continued on page 5.)

DID LOUIS USE PAINT?

ZOLA'S CHARGE THAT NAPOLEON PAINTED HIS FACE.

The Novelist Says the Emperor Made Use of Rouge at the Battle of Sedan—The Statement Contradicted by Eminent Authority—Did He Turn Green?

On the declaration of war against Prussia, both MM. de Cassagnac and Mitchell threw down their pens for the sword, and enrolled themselves as volunteers in the First zouaves. Both were personally known to the Emperor Napoleon III, who saw them almost every day, and now these two distinguished authorities have come forward to traverse the inference suggested by M. Emile Zola in "La Debacle" that Napoleon III at Sedan had resorted to a cosmetic to impart unnatural rosiness to his complexion. M. Zola describes the emperor as having glowing cheeks, and adds, "Assuredly he had his face painted." M. de Cassagnac has emphatically stated that during his close association with Napoleon before the battle he never noticed a trace of paint on the imperial countenance, and in this denial he is corroborated by M. Robert Mitchell, who declares his certainty that the then ruler of the French people used no pigment whatsoever during the operations leading to the capitulation of Sedan.

The question, although intrinsically unimportant, is very curious, inasmuch as this is not the first time that the change of complexion of the son of Queen Hortense has been made a matter of public discussion. The anonymous writer of that most entertaining medley, "The Englishman in Paris," who first met Prince Louis Napoleon at the Hotel du Rhin, Paris, in 1848, has plenty to say about the personal appearance of the then pretender to the French throne. He describes his heavy brown mustache, his thin lank hair, his aquiline nose and grayish blue eyes and the general impression which the features of the prince gave him of being a habitual opium eater; and opium eaters are assuredly not as a rule persons of a ruddy tint. Provokingly enough the Englishman has nothing to say touching the prince's complexion at this stage of his career.

The late Mr. Kinglake has, on the other hand, a great deal to state touching the facial hue of the third Napoleon. In his prologue to the history of the Crimean war the writer describes the emperor as apt, on days of great peril, to turn facially green, and on this circumstance he founded the opinion that the emperor, either at the period of the coup d'etat or on subsequent occasions as momentous, did not, so far as could be judged from his appearance, suggest the conclusion that he was a man of exceptional courage. It is said, indeed, that when Napoleon III read the first volume of Mr. Kinglake's history he observed with a smile to one of his confidants, "This," pointing to the sea green passage, "must have been written by a woman," and anti-English French journalists of the period did not scruple to insinuate that Mr. Kinglake's strictures on the personal appearance of the emperor were due to the inspiration of an Egeria well known in Parisian society, who hated the third emperor as bitterly as the first one had been detested by Mme. De Stael.

The authority, however, of the historian of the Crimean war was naturally so highly valued in England that the story of the emperor turning green on days of battle or revolution obtained universal credence, and to some extent it was used to bolster up the absurd accusation of personal cowardice which the ultra republicans constantly brought against their imperial foe. It remained for an illustrious English surgeon, not long deceased, to point out the indubitable verity that a man has no command over his blood, although by the exercise of his will he has every command over his muscles. Meanwhile it must be frankly admitted that in circumstances of emergency the features of Napoleon III did assume a peculiar hue.

The color was certainly not ruddy, nor was it swarthy or sallow; it was a curious leaden gray. But that such a leaden gray had nothing to do with the emperor's capacity for incurring danger without wavering there is on record first the observation of the distinguished English medical man to whom allusion has been made, and next to the personal testimony—not by any means exclusively that of MM. de Cassagnac and Mitchell—of people who had constantly been close to the emperor, and who had observed his physical mien from the early stages of his career to its mournful and inglorious close. He was undoubtedly as brave as his uncle, the Great Napoleon, who, by the way, was frequently accused in the English press of being an abject coward.

The harum scarum adventure of Strasburg and the madcap escapade at Boulogne showed that poltroonery was not among his shortcomings, and although Mr. Kinglake would have us believe Napoleon III turned green at Solferino and Magenta, there is plenty of evidence from eye witnesses who were near to the emperor throughout those momentous battles to show that whatever tint the face of the emperor took, it was certainly not a verdant one. As to Sedan there is the further testimony of Princess Mathilde, who declares that she never told any one that the emperor was in the habit of using cosmetics. Since the appearance of M. Zola's statement she has questioned persons who were at the battle and they all assert that "the legend is absolutely false." The princess adds, "I cannot believe that, even with a good intention, he could have employed that actor's trick under such grave circumstances."—London Telegraph.

In Greece the priests sell sick charms, consisting of pieces of paper, on which is written the name of the disease from which the person is suffering, and these are nailed to the door of the chamber.

Australian Shark and Diver.

On one occasion a big shark came alongside me where I was working. I stopped, of course, and stepped back quietly to let him pass. But he did not. He came nearer. I then thought he was curious, but soon found that another feeling than curiosity was moving him. As I retreated he still advanced, until I found myself jammed up against the rock. I could retreat no farther, and yet the brute came on determinedly. But instead of approaching me with his long nose—for you don't see his jaws—he turned his side and began to rub up against me. I had a small "jumper" in my hand, which I held with the point outward against his skin, as I did not wish to have his rough skin scoring along my dress.

It was something like what a cow would be rubbing against you. The iron on his skin was, however, the very thing he wanted, as he soon gave me to understand. I was kept there at least half an hour scratching that monster with the sharp iron. He took it like a pig, bending his body and turning over on his side so as to present a fresh surface to the jumper. I suppose he must have felt easier for the operation, for after a time he moved away.

I had one or two further visits from him on following days, on each of which I was obliged to scratch him for a time. I think he must have recognized me as a kindly and effectual scratcher. I imagine he was suffering from some parasitical or skin disease, to which he may have fallen a victim. Otherwise I might be in that scratching billet still.—"A Diver" in Chambers' Journal.

Things That Affect the Hypnotic State.

The differences in the climates appear to have great influence on hypnotic susceptibility. Southerners and altogether those who have been exposed to the tropical heat are much more easily influenced than those who live in the temperate or frigid zones. Hypnosis not only appears sooner in the tropical climates, but it is usually deeper, and the more complicated conditions of the states invariably appear immediately. The hypnotic susceptibility does not depend on these circumstances alone. There are many other conditions which we must find partly outside of the individual and partly within. It is necessary to especially notice the different tempers of mind, such as delight, sorrow, etc.

What also works against coming into the hypnotic state is overexertion, either mentally or bodily, an empty or overloaded stomach, excessive use of certain nourishing substances, liquors, strong spices, coffee or tea. All these conditions more or less prevent or disturb the coming hypnosis. Furthermore, outward influences, such as temperature, dress, place of residence and surroundings, should all be considered. The room in which experiments are to be performed must neither be too warm nor too cold.—Chicago Herald.

Whittier's Picture.

On one occasion when the artist Parker had been painting a portrait of Charles Sumner, Whittier came to Chestnut street and said to Mrs. Sargent:

"Friend Elizabeth, wilt thee go with me to see Friend Parker's picture of Charles?"

"I should be very glad to," she answered.

"Wilt thee go this morning?" he asked, and upon her assenting they set off for the studio. When they arrived they examined the portrait of Sumner, but Whittier seemed to Mrs. Sargent to be preoccupied and to be in haste to call her attention to something else. In a moment he said:

"Friend Parker, where is the other?"

The artist turned around an easel, and there was a portrait of Whittier himself. The poet was as pleased as a boy at Mrs. Sargent's surprise, and as she had not even known of his sitting she was naturally not a little astonished. He was like a genial comrade in his fun, and, although he was naturally grave and sedate, there was in him a most beautiful and genial humor and sweetness, like the color and perfume of the mayflower under the grayness of the leaves in the spring.—Arlo Bates in Chicago Tribune.

Anglo-Indian Words.

Colonel Yule, the editor of Marco Polo, has published, with John Murray, of London, a glossary of Anglo-Indian colloquial words. In this work, along with well known loan words from remote oriental tongues, we are surprised to meet "Just the cheese," derived from chiz, meaning "thing;" also, "Don't care a damn," derived from dam, a small copper coin and equivalent for a "brass farthing." "Candy" sugar comes from khanda, and means "broken" sugar. "Chicane" and "chicanery" are derived through French usage from chaugan, horsegolf, or what we call polo, a game which has reached us for the second time since it was imported into Europe from the east before the Middle Ages. Demijohn is not from French dame jeanne, but the town of Dannaghan, in Persia. Turban is a corruption of dulband, a Persian word for a head wrap. —Exchange.

True Appreciation.

"I did not hear of your bereavement, old fellow, until yesterday," observed a man in the elevated train to another passenger; "let me offer you my condolences. I feel terribly sorry for you. It must be an awful affliction to lose one's wife."

"Yes," replied the other, "it is certainly very hard on me. Until she died I did not know for twenty years what it was to put a set of studs in my shirt.—New York Times.

The Difference.

When a man leaves our side and goes to the other side he is a traitor, and we always felt that there was a subtle something wrong about him. But when a man leaves the other side and comes over to us, then he is man of great moral courage, and we always felt that he had sterling stuff in him.—London Tit-Bits.

It Worked to Perfection.

Two young women stood by the cashier's window the other day. One was an ambitious writer of verse whose effusions had been persistently rejected by stony editors, and the other was a teacher out of a position and sorely in debt. They were engaged, just then, in commiserating each other, when suddenly a little brown dwarf with a hump and a mournfully patient face pushed her way up to the paying place. "My dear girl, now's your everlasting chance," whispered the poetess excitedly. "Get right up behind her, where she can't see you, and touch her hump. Then I'll follow suit. It's bound to bring us good luck; better than a rabbit's foot: never knew it to fail."

"What nonsense! I won't be such a goose!" demurred the teacher girl. "But go ahead yourself," and she stood aside for the other to get into a secure position; the whole charm depending of course upon doing it unknown to the humpbacked one.

It is only necessary to add that the experiment was entirely successful, and that the poetess went straight home and wrote "Loving and Losing," which she sold today for—but that is another story, I can't tell it.—New York Recorder.

Eating Rats.

We have tasted the rats that have run riot in isolated wheat ricks, and we can conscientiously aver that they are both both sweet and succulent. Their flesh is white as that of a sweetbread, and has unquestionably more flavor. We understand that field mice are still more delicate, and considering the simple and wholesome habits of their virtuous lives, we can well believe it. The "Englishman in Paris" speaks of a salmi served soon after the beginning of the seige of the commune, and the very memory of it seems to have made his mouth water. Yet the town mice scarcely gave the experiment a fair trial, for they had been snared on the bastions between the outer boulevards and the fortifications.—London Saturday Review.

"Doing" Europe.

"Tourists do say funny things yet," said a young woman just home from Europe, "though I feared I shouldn't hear any of them. Two women were standing before a tapestry in a church, and as I approached one of them said to the other? 'Got your notebook, Hannah? Put down (consulting her catalogue) 'tapestry of St. Agnes;'' then, studying the picture before her, she summed it up: 'Girl on a bench, sheep in the foreground,' and the two moved on without a second look."—New York Times.

Overjoyed.

Travers—Strange what different emotions some occasions will bring out. I was down to the races, and in the excitement my tailor, who happened to be there, actually came up and threw his arms around my neck.

Dashaway—I suppose he had picked a winner, hadn't he?

Travers—No, but he saw that I had.—Clothier and Furnisher.

A London Idea.

In certain London restaurants each customer is allowed to make his or her tea. The waitress lights the gas burner, which is affixed to each table, and sets thereon a silver kettle. Then she presents to the teamaker a silver caddy divided into compartments and offering a choice of Souchong, Ceylon or green tea. Any one who is compelled to drink the lukewarm stuff called tea at restaurants will appreciate the new idea.—London Letter.

Homes at the World's Fair.

There is no reason why anyone should be deterred from visiting the World's Fair by reason of possible inconvenience and uncertainty attending the securing of satisfactory hotel accommodations.

The Nothern Pacific railroad will in due time publish low excursion rates to Chicago and return for this occasion, while its double daily passenger train service, including through sleeping cars of both classes (standard and tourist) to Chicago, will as usual be at the head of the list in every particular.

To help you in fixing in advance upon your place of residence while attending the World's Fair, we have placed in the hands of C. A. Sharkey, our agent at your station, a book compiled by perfectly trustworthy parties called "Homes for Visitors to the World's Fair." This little book, which you can purchace for fifty cents, contains a list of about 9,000 private families who will accomodate visitors in Chicago during the time of the Fair, viz: May 1st to Oct. 30th; gives their names and addresses, and number of rooms each will have to spare. The book also gives a list of the hotels and their locations; has twelve full page large scale maps, each representing a section of the city, so that with this information before him the intending visitor himself can, at leisure, select the quarter of the city in which he would prefer to stop, by corresponding in advance with one or more families in that locality with reguard to rates and the accommodations desired..,

CHAS. S. FEE, N. P. R. R.

[3teow]

NEW CIGAR STORE
SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor,
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot it a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit he fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerchaum.

CALL IN.

JAMES R. WAITE,
Manager of Waite's Celebrated Comedy Co., Premium Band and Orchestra.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

You will remember the condition I was in five years ago, when I was afflicted with a combination of diseases, and thought there was NO HELP FOR ME. I tried all kinds of medicines, and scores of eminent physicians. My nerves were prostrated, producing dizziness, heart trouble and all the ills that make life miserable. I commenced to take DR. MILES' NERVINE and in three months I WAS PERFECTLY CURED. In my travels each year, when I see the thousands of physical wrecks, suffering from nervous prostration, taking prescriptions from local physicians who have no knowledge of their case, and whose death is certain, I feel like going to them and saying, "GET DR. MILES' NERVINE AND BE CURED." In my profession, where there are so many sufferers from overwork, mental prostration and nervous exhaustion, brought on by the character of the business engaged in, I would recommend "MILES' NERVINE" as a sure cure for all suffering from these causes.
JAMES R. WAITE.

HAS CURED THOUSANDS

SOLD ON A POSITIVE GUARANTEE.

TRY DR. MILES' PILLS, 50 DOSES 25 CTS.

AT BEDTIME
I TAKE A PLEASANT
HERB
DRINK
C

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1.00 a package. If you cannot get it, send your address for free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary. Address
ORATOR F. WOODWARD, LeROY, N. Y.

John Wyatt
THE UNDERTAKER,
EMBALMER AND
FUNERAL DIRECTOR.

Besides carrying a full and complete line of COFFINS,
CASKETS
AND BURIAL SUPPLIES.
has the largest and most complete stock of Pictures, Picture Frames,
—AND—
Picture Framing Material
—In the city.—

Special discount During the Holidays.
Office 105½ Broadway,
CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

W. A. ROBERTSON
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.
N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas), administered for the painless extraction of teeth.
OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK

M. LeGUEE.
Veterinary Surgeon
Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

DO YOU
COUGH
DON'T DELAY
TAKE KEMP'S
BALSAM
THE BEST COUGH CURE
C

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

YOU
Will want a Drill, and of course want nothing but the best. The best is always the cheapest in the end. The

Dowagiac Shoe Drill

Leads them all in Lightness of draft, has the most perfect spring pressure, is the most easily handled, in fact

IT CAN'T BE BEATEN.

We can furnish them either 5 or 6 inch, and in all sizes from 13 to 26 shoe, with or without press wheels, and all we ask is a chance to demonstrate their merits. We have also a

Full Line of Harrows,

Including the Steel Lever Harrow, the finest thing out. To see it is to buy it. We have them in all sizes.

We keep a complete line of Farm Implements and sell them at prices to correspond with the times. Don't forget that we carry a full line of Harness of all styles, and especially the celebrated Cork Faced Collars, warranted not to gall a horse's shoulders if properly fitted.

Remember also that MERIT WINS and that cheap goods are dear at any price.

Cor. Robert St. and Broadway, Crookston. Larsen, Carpenter & Co.,

McKINNON BROS.,
—DEALERS IN—
ALL OF THE LEADING
Agricultural Implements
MAIN STREET. McKINNON BLOCK.
☞ Before Purchasing, Give Us a Call. ☜

CHRISTIANSON BROS.,
Abstracters of Title, Loans,
Real Estate and Insurance:
N. B. FARM LOANS a specialty. Terms, three to five years. Lowest rate of interest, payable annually at our office.
☞ Choice FARM LANDS for sale cheap, on terms to suit purchasers. ☜
Office on Robert Street, - - - CROOKSTON, MINN

Crookston Business College
and INSTITUTE OF SHORTHAND.
DEPARTMENTS:—Commercial Shorthand, Typewriting and English.
TEACHERS:—R. C. Holaday, Nellie B. Perry and L. E. Gossman.
Winter Term begins Monday, January 2d, 1893. Send for new catalogue.
CROOKSTON BUSINESS COLLEGE, Crookston, Minn.
BENJ. A. STRAWBRIDGE, Prop.

ASTHMA CURED BY DR. TAFT'S ASTHMALENE
Instead of trying to the door gasping for breath, seeming as if each one would be your last, you have only to take a few doses Asthmalene when the spasm is broken, the breathing becomes easy and you feel as if an angel of mercy had unloosed the iron grasp of the fingers of death. The happiest moment of your life will be when you have used a few bottles of Dr. Taft's ASTHMALENE and it has cured you of Asthma. We mail to any Asthma sufferer a trial bottle FREE that it does Cure Asthma.
Sold by druggists. Dr. Taft Bros. M. Co., Rochester, N.Y.

IF YOU ARE GOING EAST OR SOUTH ASK YOUR NEAREST AGENT FOR TICKETS VIA THE BURLINGTON AND TAKE NO OTHER LINE.

NEW BARBER SHOP.
On Main St. C. E. MISNER, Prop
Invites your patronage. Everything in the very latest style of the art.
RAZORS HONED.
If you desire your Razor Honed and cannot bring it send it to me with 30 cents and your name and address and I will hone and return it.
Yours Respectfully,
C. E. MISNER.

THE DUAL
MEAT MARKET.
CHARLEY VINE
Is Headquarters for all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats.
Highest cash price paid for cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry and hides.
SHOPS
Corner Broadway and Robert street,
and on Second street, in Reckitt block,
Crookston, Minn.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON
PAID IN CAPITAL, - $100,000
SURPLUS, - - $14,200
Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.
GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.
DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, E. R. Chase, R. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, J. R. McKinnon, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, Chas. E. Sawyer, W. H. Crosby

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA

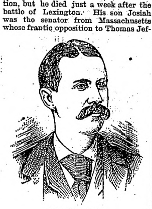
SOME NEW OFFICIALS

MASSACHUSETTS, NEW YORK AND INDIANA HONORED.

Josiah Quincy, Assistant Secretary of State. Ex-Governor Gray, Minister to Mexico. Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Maxwell.

The appointment of Josiah Quincy of Massachuetts as assistant secretary of state at Washington rouses anew the interet in this remarkable and truly historic American family—the only American family, it is believed, which has maintained an unbroken succession of wealth and talent for 250 years. He is the sixth Josiah Quincy of eminence. The first was that Josiah Quincy, who in 1730-50 was so active and efficient as Massachusetts' commissioner in dealings with England, and he was the great grandson of the scarcely less famous Edmund Quincy, founder of the family, who landed in Massachusetts in 1633.

Of the first Josiah the third son, Josiah, was the famous Quincy of the struggle which brought on the revolution, but he died just a week after the battle of Lexington. His son Josiah was the senator from Massachusetts whose frantic opposition to Thomas Jefferson excited so much amusement and indignation. He was the first man to advocate the right of secession on the floor of congress, declaring that if Louisiana were purchased and made into states the compact was dissolved and New England should withdraw from the Union. He died in 1864, aged 92. His son Josiah was mayor of Boston and an author of some note. His son Josiah was long a political writer of note.



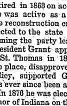
JOSIAH QUINCY.

The present Josiah Quincy was born in Quincy, Mass., Oct. 15, 1859; was graduated from Harvard in 1880 and admitted to the bar in 1884 and immediately became conspicuous as one of the young Republicans who refused to support James G. Blaine for the presidency. In 1887 he was elected to the legislature as a Democrat and has since been reelected three times. His committee work in regard to labor, election laws and tax reform elicited high praise. He is a bachelor, and a bright particular star in the inner circles of Boston's most exclusive society.

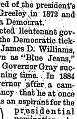
As if to emphasize the contrasts of American life, society and politics, President Cleveland on the same day with Mr. Quincy's appointment named for minister to Mexico Isaac Pusey Gray of Indiana, one of the newest of new men in all those respects. He was born of Quaker parents at Downingtown, Pa., Oct. 18, 1828, but was reared chiefly at New Marion, O., where he married Miss Eliza Jaqua. He began active life as a dry goods clerk, then became a merchant at Union City, Ind., studied law and soon acquired a lucrative practice.

His political life began with the war, of which he was an ardent supporter. He entered the service early as a captain in the Fourth Indiana cavalry, but retired in 1863 on account of ill health. He was active as a Republican during the reconstruction era, and as such was elected to the state senate in 1868, becoming the party leader in that body. President Grant appointed him consul to St. Thomas in 1870, but he declined the place, disapproved of the president's policy, supported Greeley in 1872 and has ever since been a Democrat.

In 1876 he was elected lieutenant governor of Indiana on the Democratic ticket, and as Governor James D. Williams, affectionately known as "Blue Jeans," died late in his term Governor Gray succeeded for the remaining time. In 1884 he was elected governor after a campaign of such brilliancy that he at once became prominent as an aspirant for the presidential nomination. As a political manager he has few equals and possibly no superior, but for various reasons he has failed to receive the united support of his party as his state's candidate for the presidency. His life is, in the broadest sense of the word, democratic, and his religious leanings are Presbyterian. His family consists of his wife and two sons, both lawyers.



GRAY.

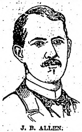


MAXWELL.

Another comparatively new man appointed on the same day is Robert A. Maxwell, fourth assistant postmaster general. He was born in 1840 in Washington county, N. Y.; was reared on a farm, obtained a common school education, went to Wisconsin and lived as a farmer a few years, then became a commission merchant in Chicago and finally located in Batavia, N. Y., where he has made a fortune as a maltster. In 1881 he was elected state treasurer as a Democrat and was re-elected in 1883. He has since been active in the party counsels and has served his fellow Democrats in many capacities.

TO SUCCEED HIMSELF.

Senator Allen of Washington, Who Has Been Reappointed by Governor McGraw.



J. B. ALLEN.

John Beard Allen, who succeeds himself in the position of United States senator from the state of Washington, having been appointed by Governor McGraw on the adjournment of the legislature after a failure to elect a successor to Mr. Allen's seat, has been prominently identified with Washington since 1870, when he went there from Rochester, Minn. He was appointed United States attorney for Washinton territory by President Grant in 1875 and held the office for 10 years with notable success, acting also as official reporter of the supreme court of the territory.

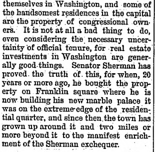
Since 1881 he has been a resident of the city of Walla Walla, and there he has built up what is probably the most lucrative legal practice of any lawyer in eastern Washington, few cases of any prominence coming up in which he is not engaged on one side or the other. He was elected to represent the territory as a delegate in congress in 1887, defeating a Democrat who had served two terms.

Mr. Allen was born at Crawfordsville, Ind., in 1848 and was educated at Wabash college in his native town. He enlisted in 1864, though not yet 19 years old, and served through the war as a private soldier, his regiment being mainly engaged in Tennessee and Alabama. At the close of the war he removed to Rochester, Minn., where he acted for awhile as agent for a grain firm. Then he entered the law school at Ann Arbor, Mich., and was admitted to the bar in 1869, going soon afterward to Olympia, Wash., where he commenced practice.

SHERMAN'S MARBLE PALACE.

The Ohio Senator Expects to Occupy His New Washington Residence Next Fall.

A great many of the senators and representatives buy or build houses for themselves in Washington, and some of the handsomest residences in the capital are the property of congressional owners. It is not at all a bad thing to do, even considering the necessary uncertainty of official tenure, for real estate investments in Washington are generally good things. Senator Sherman has proved the truth of this, for when, 20 years or more ago, he bought the property on Franklin square where he is now building his new marble palace it was on the extreme edge of the residential quarter, and since then the town has grown up around it and two miles or more beyond it to the manifest enrichment of the Sherman exchequer.



SENATOR SHERMAN'S NEW HOUSE.

The senator says he has a natural bent for building and thinks he would probably have been an architect or builder if he had not gone into public life. He certainly shows excellent judgment in his purchases of real estate, and his new house will be an example of his good taste and appreciation of comfort and convenience. It has a frontage of about 50 feet on K street and is 100 feet in depth. It is rapidly approaching completion, and the senator expects to occupy it next fall.

The chief characteristic of the interior of the house is roominess. There is a very wide and imposing entrance hall, and on the right of this is the library, a room 25 feet long, with a large fireproof vault built in the rear end of it for the safe keeping of the senator's papers and other valuables. On the left of the hall are the parlors, and back of them is the dining room, all very large rooms and admirably adapted to the purposes for which they are designed. The parlors are beautifully finished in white satin wood and will be handsomely frescoed. The dining room has a ceiling of paneled oak. The choicest hard woods have been used throughout the house, most of it having been brought from Ohio, where much of the work on it was done.

The chambers are large and airy, and many of them are finished in birdseye maple, an exceptionally pretty wood for the purpose. Senator Sherman owned a planing mill once and knows all about the different kinds of wood, and his knowledge and good taste have been admirably displayed in his selections. There are about 30 rooms in the new house, including half a dozen bathrooms, finished with tiles and furnished with the best and latest conveniences.

Changing Air Into Liquid.

Professor Dewar of the Royal Institution of Great Britain recently gave an exhibition of turning atmosphere into water. To change air into a liquid it is necessary to cool it sufficiently. But the difficulty in the process is to attain the extreme degree of cold required. A temperature of not less than 182 degrees centigrade below freezing is demanded. What such a depression of the thermometer implies may be realized from the fact that it is nearly twice as far below zero as boiling water is above the same point. If a vessel containing air has its temperature abated to this extent, then the air will condense, trickle down the sides and accumulate as a liquid at the bottom.

THE NEW NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana — FARM LANDS

NEW TOWNS — 100 or more, along the Great Forthern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.

Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products. — LOW RATES

Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills. — Horses, Cattle.

Health, Wealth. — In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.

Sweetes Grass Hills, Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise. — Sheep, Hogs.

Herds, Mines — These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.

THE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUEHLR, Proprietor.
A full supply of everything kept by the trade.
Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON. MINN

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE
The Great English Remedy.

Before and After.

Promptly and permanently cures all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses. Been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, leave his dishonest store, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlet in plain sealed envelope, 2 stamps.
Address THE WOOD CHEMICAL CO.,
131 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.

Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

[First publication Jan. 26th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-one and 25-100 dollars ($191.25) interest now due upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Frank St Martin and Delina his wife, mortgagors, to The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of October, 1888, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the fifth day of November, 1888, at 8:45 o'clock a. m., in book 40 of mortgages, on page 370.

And whereas the said The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, the mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of one thousand two hundred and twelve and 25-100 ($1,212.25) dollars, with interest on eleven hundred and seventy-five (1175) dollars thereof at the rate of seven per cent. per annum from the 19th day of January, 1893, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The north half (n½) of the southwest quarter (sw¼) and the north half (n½) of the southeast quarter (se¼) of section thirty-three (33), of town one hundred and fifty-one (151) of range forty-three (43), in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the twenty-fifth day of March, 1893 at 2 o'clock p.m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of one thousand two hundred and twelve and 25-100 dollars, and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty (50) dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 19th, A. D. 1893.

THE LOAN AND GUARANTEE COMPANY,
of Connecticut,
Mortgagee.

A. HUMPHREYS,
[41-49] Attorney for Mortgagee.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, March 8th 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Ingeborg N. Tysse, deceased:

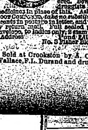
On reading and filing the petition of Ole J. Tysse setting forth the amount of personal estate that has come into his hands, the disposition thereof, and how much remains undisposed of; the amount of debts outstanding against said deceased, as far as the same can be ascertained; the legacies unpaid, and a description of all the real estate, excepting the homestead, of which said deceased died seized, and the condition and value of the respective portions or lots thereof; the persons interested in said estate, with their residences; and praying that license be to him granted to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased. And it appearing, by said petition, that there is not sufficient personal estate in the hands of said administrator to pay said debts, the legacies or expenses of administration, and that it is necessary for the payment of such debts, legacies or expenses, to sell the whole of said real estate;

It is therefore ordered, that all persons interested in said estate, appear before this court, on Monday the 3rd day of April 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate Office in Crookston in said county, then and there to show cause (if any there be) why license should not be granted to said Ole J. Tysse to sell so much of the real estate of said deceased as shall be necessary to pay such debts, legacies and expenses.

And it is further ordered, that this order shall be published once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said County.

Dated at Crookston the 8th day of March A. D. 1893.

By the Court.
[47-49] C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.



Cook's Cotton Root
COMPOUND.
A recent discovery by an old physician. Successfully used monthly by thousands of Ladies. Is the only perfectly safe and reliable medicine discovered. Beware of unprincipled druggists who offer inferior medicines in place of this. Ask for COOK'S COTTON ROOT COMPOUND, take no substitute, or inclose $1 and 6 cents in postage in letter, and we will send, sealed, by return mail. Full sealed particulars in plain envelope, to ladies only, 2 stamps.
Address Pond Lily Company,
No. 3 Fisher Block, Detroit, Mich.
Sold at Crookston by A. C. Anderson, S. A. Wallace, F.L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

C. HENDRICKSON, President. L. ELLINGTON, Vice President.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier. H. STEENERSON, 2d Vice President.
A. P. Hanson, Assistant Cashier.

Scandia-American Bank,

Of Crookston, Minn. Organized 1877 under the State law. Capital $50,000. Surplus, $5,000. Undivided profits, $15,000. Special attention given to collections.

DIRECTORS—C. Hendrickson, Grafton, N. D.; C. O. Christianson, Halvor Steenerson, Max Ericsson, J. W. Wheeler, E. P. Pierce, L. K. Aaker, D. H. Turner, A. G. Gallasch, Lewis Ellington, J. H. Locken, O. H. Lucken.

S. L. COLLINS,
Proprietor of Main Street
Livery and Feed Stables.
Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., west side,
CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA.

Horses bought and sold on commission. Everything neat and nobby. Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection, which I will attend to in person.

Valley Roller Mills.
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Manufacturers of
FINE FLOURS
MADE FROM SELECTED RED RIVER HARD WHEAT.

BRANDS:
Patent: Lee & Herrick's Best.
Straight: North Star
Bakers': Fife.
Low Grade: Skip Jack.

BRAN, SHORTS AND SCREENINGS,
Always on hand at reasonable prices.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

[First publication Jan. 26th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of forty-three and thirty-seven hundredths dollars ($43.37) interest now, due upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by George Richards (single) mortgagor to The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut mortgagee, bearing date the first day of November 1889 and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota on the fourteenth day of November 1889 at 9:20 o'clock a. m., in book 48 of mortgages, on page 91.

And whereas the said The Loan and Guarantee Company of Connecticut, the mortgagee and holder of said mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of six hundred and fifty-two and forty-seven hundredths dollars ($652.47) with interest on six hundred and forty-two ($642) dollars thereof at the rate of seven per cent. per annum from the 19th day of January 1893, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgagee, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The southeast quarter (se¼) of section twenty-four (24) of town one hundred and fifty (150) of range forty-two (42,) in Polk county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston in said county and state, on the twenty-fifth (25th) day of March, 1893, at 2 o'clock p. m., of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of six hundred and fifty-two and forty-seven hundredths dollars ($652.47) and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated January 19th, A. D. 1893.

THE LOAN AND GUARANTEE COMPANY,
of Connecticut,
Mortgagee.

A. HUMPHREYS,
(41-49) Attorney for Mortgagee.

"In no way can Americans so effectively inform themselves on the subjects that claim public attention from one month to another as by reading the North American Review."

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

THE TOPICS are always those which are uppermost in the public mind—in morals, politics, science, literature, business, finance, industrial economy, social and municipal affairs, etc.—in short all subjects on which Americans require and desire to be informed. No magazine follows so closely from month to month the course of public interest. All subjects are treated of impartially on both sides.

THE CONTRIBUTORS to the Review are the men and women to whom the world looks for the most authoritative statements on the subjects of the day. No other periodical can point to such a succession of distinguished writers. The list is a roll of the people who are making the history, controlling the affairs, and leading the opinion of the age, such as Mr. Gladstone, the Prime Minister of England, Mr. Blaine, Signor Crispi, Ex-Prime Minister of Italy, Baron Hirsch, H. R. H. the Count of Paris, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishops Potter, Doane, Mallelieu, Foss, etc., etc.

THE TIME when these subjects are treated of by these contributors is the very time when the subjects are in the public mind—not a month or two after people had ceased to think of them. The promptness with which the Review furnishes its readers with the most authoritative information upon the topics of the day is one of its most valuable features.

Subscription Price, $5.00 a year,
THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW,
3 East 14th Street, New York.

A Dollar Saved
IS
A Dollar Earned.

DO YOU WANT TO EARN A FEW DOLLARS?

IN THE SPRING OF THE YEAR everyone requires some Garden or Flower Seeds, and we have made arrangements with the Weekly Pioneer Press of St. Paul, whereby we are enabled to distribute

SEEDS
FREE
OF
COST.

And we can also furnish THE WEEKLY PIONEER PRESS cheaper than it can be got any other way.

HERE IS THE OFFER we are prepared to make.

For $2.00 we will send

	Regular price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year.....	$1 00
Polk County Journal 1 year..............	1 50
20 packages Garden Vegetable Seeds, retail price..............................	1 25
	$3 75

THIS offer is good to New Subscribers, or to Old Ones paying all arrearages and one year in advance. Cash must accompany the order in every case.

Another Offer.

For $1.85 we will send you

	Regular price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year...	$1 00
The Polk County Journal 1 year.......	1 50
An "up to date" Pocket Map of any State in the Union.................	1 00
	$3 50

These maps are reliable and "up to date," and the map of Illinois includes a map of Chicago, which is valuable to any one contemplating a visit to the World's Fair.

Address

Polk County Journal,

Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

BY COOKE & HAMMOND.

Devoted to the Welfare of Polk County.

OFFICIAL PAPER, CITY OF CROOKSTON.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

WILL HE VETO IT?

In spite of the overwhelming sentiment against it by the over-burdened tax-payers of the state, the bill providing for the erection of a new capitol building has passed, and it remains to see whether the governor will sanction it. There are other far more important needs to the people of the state—for instance the drainage appropriation. Here is a measure that will save hundreds of thousands of dollars to the people of the state, if it passes, but a new capitol building would not save them a solitary cent. We trust the governor will exercise his usual good sense and veto this capitol bill. The people do not need the building at present as they do the drainage measure.

WHAT though the legislature in its finite wisdom has decreed that railroad lands shall not bear a just proportion of taxation, let us take courage for they don't propose that the dear people shall be poisoned by ammonia. Just now they are wrestling nobly with the baking powder question and here's dollars to doughnuts they will pass the bill to purify baking powders—so that a fellow can get a chance to live long enough to pay his excess of taxes.

A TEMPEST in a tea-pot was created by the seizure of the books of one J. J. Rhodes, by the coal combine investigating committee of the house of representatives. They first demanded the books of him and he stated under oath that he did not have any. Later on the committee seized the books and then the music began and results developed a contest between the courts and the legislature to see which body was the supreme power. The books were all finally returned to Rhodes except the letter press book which is said to contain just the kind of evidence the committee desires to get hold of. The committee still holds their book and at the present writing it looks as though they would do so as long as they desire to use it. Rhodes brings suit for $50,000 damages against the committee.

THE Markham bill—providing for the taxation of railroad lands, was defeated in the senate last week. If this bill was so drawn as not to endanger or invalidate the gross-earnings tax (and the attorney general says it was) it should have passed, but having failed to pass it, the senate should now devise some plan to relieve those counties in which these lands are situated from the burden entailed by non-taxation of these land. It was urged by the opponents of this bill that the state had entered into contract with the companies to accept the gross-earnings tax in lieu of a tax on these lands and for that reason the Markham bill would invalidate the gross-earnings tax, which, they say, in a few years will amount to more than enough to liquidate the entire state tax, thus relieving everybody of a state tax. Even if this be true, what right or power has the state to make a contract that entails upon certain counties an undue proportion of taxes? If they do is such a contract legal?

A Kick from Nichols.

Fertile, Minn. March, 15.

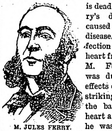
EDITOR JOURNAL—In your editorial you say I am not fair, when I accuse the republicans etc. I wish I could be able to apologize to you, but I think we will let the charge remain. The two old parties can be compared with the lion and the lamb in one respect; they are building their nest to lie down together in, we do admit a republican was the father of a bill which if it had been made a law would have done more for the farmer than all the laws passed in all the states put together can do, but both parties are to blame for the defeat of it and while we have the option bill before us lets see or hear some of the reasons for allowing gambling in the products of the farmer. There are so many reasons against it, I should like to hear some good reason for its continuance. The gambling in grain, if still allowed, will bring every farmer to bankruptcy (if there was such a thing for the farmers,) but there is not, so we will say mortgage foreclosure. Allowing a gang of market manipulators to rule and govern the markets using future prospects, estimating what will be produced six months hence and by a system of false reports, bear the market until the producer can not realize the cost of production. Over-supply, over-supply is their cry, and yet if God sent a failure of our crop for one year, half the people would die of starvation before another crop could be produced. Is there any wonder farmers are leaving the old parties? There will be no measure passed in Cleveland's administration to benefit the producer.

We will have to unite our own strength to overthrow this controlling power, if our representatives get so big-headed when they get to Washington that they forget the bread-producers of the land it is about time we start up a small hornest's nest in the rear and make it decidedly hot for them. I was brought up in the belief of a God and when a small boy I was taken to task by my good old father for throwing into the brush pile a piece of bread that I had no further immediate use for, was told it was a sin to waste food of God's providing. I wondered when I looked into that gambling hell called the board of trade in Chicago, if my early teaching was not all wrong for surely if there was a God he would not allow any such hell-holes to exist. Our states are all passing laws against pooling on horse races and the farmer is not affected one iota. Let the thugs and their like waste all the money they please on this, and we farmers can still plod along the same, but no, our cities can see the dreadful degrading influence, and pooling must go. The farmer must come out firm on this option in wheat, it must go, and at once.

J. S. NICHOLS.

JULES FERRY STRICKEN.

The Noted French Statesman and Scholar Dies Suddenly at Paris.



M. JULES FERRY.

PARIS, March 17.—Jules Francoise Camille Ferry, the celebrated French statesman and president of the senate, is dead. M. Ferry's death was caused by heart disease. The affection of the heart from which M. Ferry died was due to the effects of a bullet striking a rib near the base of the heart at the time he was attacked by Aubertin in 1878. He was seized with spasms early in the morning and despite every effort made by the physicians who were hastily summoned the convulsions grew in violence until 5 o'clock in the evening he expired in a terribly severe spasm.

The news of M. Ferry's death astounded the city. None since Gambetta's death has made such an impression. A few evenings ago he was at the opera, and Thursday he presided over the senate. Hundreds of politicians called at the house during the evening and inscribed their names in the visitors' book. Last week M. Ferry resigned the presidency of The Estafette newspaper, and the presidency of the National Republican association, that he might devote himself entirely to his duties in the senate.

THRUN HAS CONFESSED.

The Insurance Swindler Gives His Version of the Noted Case.

CHICAGO, March 20.—W. J. Thrun has made a written confession of the details of the now celebrated insurance swindle of Romeo, Wis. It is in possession of the detectives in charge of the case and implicates the general assistant special claim agent of the Wisconsin Central as chief conspirator. Hansen was arrested by William Beck, special agent of the New York Mutual Life Insurance company, at the Wisconsin Central office in this city. He was immediately turned over to the sheriff of Romeo, who left for his home last night. Thrun declares that Hansen planned the swindle and for carrying it out. Hansen had been suspected by the detectives who have been working on the case before Thrun's confession was secured. The detectives in the case think that Hansen has been in communication with Mrs. Thrun ever since her husband's disappearance, and if what Thrun says in his confession be true, has directed her movements in getting insurance. His connection with the Wisconsin Central gave him plenty of opportunity of visiting Romeo without attracting attention, and he therefore does not have to use the mails. The detectives say that Hansen acted uneasy when Thrun was arrested and did away with all the papers he may have had bearing on the case.

Furnished the Money

SAILED FOR HONOLULU.

Ex-Congressman Blount Takes Passage on the Revenue Cutter Rush.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Ex-Congressman James H. Blount, commissioner to Hawaii, accompanied by Mrs. Blount and Ellis Mills, stenographer of the state department as secretary, arrived from Washington during the morning and shortly after noon started for Honolulu on the United States revenue cutter Rush. Commissioner Blount was seen for a few minutes before boarding the Rush and upon being requested to say something about his mission, replied:

> My mission, so far as instructions connected with it are concerned, is a secret one. In regard to those instructions I am absolutely unable at present to prepare any information for the public. I would like to do so but I cannot.

When asked if he had any idea as to how long he would be away, he said:

> I imagine that I may be absent about three months. The Rush will probably, according to what I hear, remain at the islands as long as I am there and I shall very likely remain in Honolulu.

SOME OF THE PLUMS

BIG BATCH OF NOMINATIONS SENT TO THE SENATE.

Theodore Runyon Goes to Germany and ex-Senator Eustis to France. Judge Jenkins of Wisconsin Given a Circuit Judgeship—Nominations Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The president has sent the following nominations to the senate:

James B. Eustis, of Louisiana, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to France.

Theodore Runyon, of New Jersey, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Germany.

John E. Risley, of New York, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Denmark.

Justice G. J. Jenkins, of Wisconsin, to be United States circuit judge for the Seventh judicial circuit.

Walter D. Abney, of Virginia, to be solicitor for the department of the state.

Charles B. Stuart, of Texas, to be judge of the United States court for Indian territory.

To Be Marshals of the United States—David T. Guyton of, Mississippi, for the Northern district of Mississippi.

William H. Hawkins, of Indiana, for the district of Indiana.

Abner Gaines, of Arkansas, for the Eastern district of Arkansas.

James W. McAllister, of Indian Territory, for the United States court for Indian Territory.

To Be Attorneys of the United States—Clifford L. Jackson, of the Indian Territory, to be attorney of the United States court for the Indian Territory.

Joseph W. House, of Arkansas, for the Eastern district of Arkansas.

Treasury—Ernest P. Baldwin, of Maryland, to be first auditor of the treasury.

Thomas W. Holcomb, of Delaware, to be fifth auditor of the treasury.

Wade Hampton, of South Carolina, to be commissioner of railroads.

Postmasters—Wisconsin, Frank Warring, Florence; Paul J. Millard, Antigo; De Witt S. Johnson, Rhinelander.

THESE WERE CONFIRMED.

List of Presidential Nominations Acted Upon.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The senate has confirmed the following:

Josiah Quincy, of Massachusetts, to be assistant secretary of state.

Isaac P. Gray, of Indiana, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Mexico.

James B. Eustis, to be minister to France.

Patrick A. Collins, of Massachusetts, to be consul of the United States to London.

Robert A. Maxwell, of New York, to be fourth assistant postmaster general.

Wade Hampton, of South Carolina, to be commissioner of railroads.

William McAdoo, of New Jersey, to be assistant secretary of the navy.

Dale J. Grittenberger, to be postmaster at Anderson, Ind.

Charles H. Long, to be postmaster at Tipton, Ia.

Stephen J. Smith, to be postmaster at Tama, Iowa.

A number of army and navy promotions were also confirmed.

LABORS COMPLETED.

Democrats Announce Their Selection of Senate Committees.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The Democratic caucus has finished its labors so far as the reorganization of the committees of the senate is concerned. The Democratic and Alliance chairmen are as follows:

Agriculture, George; Appropriations, Cockrell; Contingent Expenses, White (La.); Census, Turpie; Civil Service, Call; Claims, Pasco; Coast Defense, Gordon; Commerce, Ransom; District of Columbia, Harris; Education and Labor, Kyle; Enrolled Bills, Caffery; To Examine the Civil Service, Peffer; Finance, Voorhees; Fisheries, Coke; Foreign Relations, Morgan; Immigration, Hill; Improvement of Mississippi, Bate; Indian Affairs, Jones (Ark.); Interstate Commerce, Butler; Irrigation, White (Cal.); Judiciary, Pugh; Library, Mills; Manufactures, Gibson; Military Affairs, Walthall; Mines, Stewart; Naval Affairs, McPherson; Patents, Gray; Pensions, Palmer; Post-offices, Colquitt; Printing, Gorman; Privileges and Elections, Vance; Public Lands, Berry; Railroads, Camden; Relations with Canada, Murphy; Revision of Laws, Daniel; Rules, Blackburn; Territories, Faulkner; Transportation Routes to the Seaboard, Irby; Pacific Railroad, Brice; Indian Depredations, Lindsay; University of the United States, Hunton; Quadro-Centennial, Vilas; Geological Surveys, Martin; National Banks, Mitchell; Forest Reservations, Allen (Neb.); To Investigate Trespassers on Indian Lands, Roach.

REPUBLICAN CHAIRMANSHIPS.

The Places On the Committee Filled by the Caucus.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The Republican caucus to fill minority places on the senate committees did not finish its labors at the morning session. After the noon recess there was a debate of some length on the subject of the removal of Mr. Stewart of Nevada from the appropriations committee, as he had been the recipient of a chairmanship at the hands of the majority. He was removed and Mr. Teller of Colorado was substituted. So far as finally agreed upon the 11 minority chairmanships will be filled as follows:

Mr. Sherman of Ohio was awarded the conference committee; engrossed bills, Mr. Allison of Iowa; epidemic diseases, Mr. Jones of Nevada; phosphate land claims, Mr. Hale of Maine; committee to investigate condition of the Potomac river front of Washington, Mr. Frye of Maine; woman suffrage, Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts; additional accommodations for the library of congress, Mr. Morrill of Vermont; five civilized tribes of Indians, Mr. Teller of Colorado; transportation and sale of meat products, Mr. Platt of Connecticut; corporations in the district of Columbia, Mr. Aldrich of Rhode Island; revolutionary claims, Mr. Cameron of Pennsylvania; claims of citizens of the United States against the government of Nicaragua, Mr. Hawley, Connecticut.

APPOINTED SENATORS.

They Will Probably Be Seated Notwithstanding a Constitutional Strain.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The appointed senators who have been waiting for admission will probably, after the usual long-winded speeches in the senate, be admitted and sworn in. This has been practically agreed upon by a large number of senators, although they believe the constitutional limits will be crowded by their admission. The fact that Senator Allen of Washington has been a member of the club gives him a pull in the matter, and his return is an earnest plea for admission of the governor's appointees.

Both Legs Off.

ST. PAUL, March 21.—Peter Gallagher, brakeman, had both legs crushed at Hinckley. He was brought to this city where amputation was performed.

CAUSED A CALAMITY.

Four Persons Killed and Two Injured by the Ignorance of a Workman.

LOCKERIDGE, Ia., March 21.—A terrible accident occurred at a sawmill on the Skunk river, three miles north of here, on Sunday afternoon, whereby four men lost their lives and several were injured seriously. The engineer had allowed one of the boilers of the engine to run out of water. A workman noticed the danger and thinking to avoid a calamity sealed his own doom and that of his fellow-workmen by injecting cold water into the boiler, causing it to explode with a fearful report, tearing the building to pieces and blowing him to atoms. The dead are:

JOHN ADAMS, saw tender.
GATES, engineer.
BALDOSSE, assistant engineer.
ESHELMAN, a boy.

Among the injured are:

Michael O'Hern, owner of the mill, fatally.
Theodore Lillyblade, fatally.

The remains of the dead men were all horribly mangled and in some cases only recognizable by their clothing.

A FALLING WALL.

Three Buildings at Toledo Wrecked. Several Persons Missing.

TOLEDO, March 21.—During a heavy gale of wind the west wall of the burned Wheeler Opera House, which was left standing after last Friday morning's fire, was blown down, completely wrecking the building recently occupied by Peter Sateler, harnessmaker, and L. D. Parker, groceries, and tearing the east side out of a 8-story building owned by W. A. Gilhouse, flour and feed merchant. Parker sold out his business during the morning to George H. Davis and it is thought that Davis and two others have been buried in the ruins. An explosion of gas or oil followed the falling of the wall and in a few minutes flames shot up from the ruins. An alarm of fire brought two companies to the scene and in a short time the blaze was under control. The ruins are in such shape that it will be impossible to make any examination of them before morning. The loss on the three buildings will be about $120,000.

PERISHED IN THE FIRE.

Three Lives Lost by the Burning of a Factory at Kenosha, Wis.

KENOSHA, Wis., March 21.—Chris Arentzen, a maker of fireworks, his father and a boy who lived with Arentzen, were killed during the afternoon by an explosion of fireworks, and the building in which Arentzen lived and in which he had his workshop were burned. Neigbors saw flames coming out of the Arentzen house and an alarm was turned in. Those nearby rushed over to save what they could. When the firemen had subdued the flames they began to search the interior of the house, where they stumbled over the bodies of the two men and boy. From their position it was hard to say whether they had been burned to death by an explosion of the material with which they were working or had been suffocated by the smoke.

HARRIS SENTENCED.

The New York Wife Murderer to Be Electrocuted in May.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Recorder Smythe has sentenced Carlysle W. Harris to be electrocuted during the week beginning May 8.

Millionaire Mackay Worse.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Millionaire Mackay has had a turn for the worse. Peritonitis has set in and an operation will be necessary, which, in his present condition, will be extremely dangerous. His wife and son have been cabled to come from England.

Walsh Admitted.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Hon. George H. Walsh, speaker of the North Dakota house, has been admitted to practice before the court of claims.

Abbingdon Dead.

NEW ORLEANS, March 18.—Squire Abingdon, Charley Mitchell's friend and backer, died early in the morning of pneumonia.

LATEST MARKET REPORT.

St. Paul Union Stock Yards.

SOUTH ST. PAUL, March 20, 1893.

HOGS—10c higher. Range of prices, $7.40@7.50.

CATTLE—Quiet, but steady; good demand; Prime steers, $3.90@4.25; good steers, $3.50@4.00; prime cows, $3.50@3.75; good cows, $2.50@3.00; common to fair cows, $1.25@2.25; light veal calves, $3.00@4.50; heavy calves, $2.00@3.50; stockers, $1.75@2.75; feeders, $2.50@3.50; bulls, $1.50@2.50.

SHEEP—Steady. Muttons, $3.00@4.90; lambs $4.00@5.00; stockers and feeders, $3.00@4.25.

Receipts—Cattle, 250; hogs, 150; calves, 10, sheep, 125.

Minneapolis Grain.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 20, 1893.

WHEAT—May opened, 64⅞c; highest, 64⅞c; lowest, 64½c; closed, 64⅝c. July opened 64⅝c.; 67⅝c; highest, 67⅝c; lowest, 67c; closed, 67½c. On Track—No. 1 hard, 66c; No. 1 Northern, 64½c; No. 2 Northern, 62c.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO UNION STOCK YARDS, March 20, 1893.

CATTLE—Firm.

HOGS—Strong, 5c higher. Heavy, $7.75@7.90; mixed and medium, $7.40@7.75; light, $7.25@7.65.

SHEEP—Steady.

Receipts: Cattle, 11,500; hogs, 18,000; sheep, 11,000.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, March 20, 1893.

OPENING PRICES.

WHEAT—May, 77⅛c; July, 74¼c.
CORN—May, 43⅝c; July, 43⅞@44.
OATS—May, 32⅝c.
PORK—May, $17.80.
LARD—July, $11.42.
SHORT RIBS—May, $10.20; July, $9.75.

CLOSING PRICES.

WHEAT—March, 73⅜c; May, 76⅝c; July 73¼c.
CORN—March, 41¼c; May, 43⅛c; July, 44½c.
OATS—March, 30⅝c; May, 32⅝c; July, 32c.
PORK—March, $17.70; May, $18.00; July, $17.62½.
LARD—March, $12.10; May, $12.25; July, $11.50.

THE LEGISLATURE.

TWENTY-EIGHTH SESSION.

Tuesday, March 14.

ST. PAUL, March 14.—An important bill was introduced in the house. The bill is to establish a district court of appeals, and for this purpose the state is divided into three appellate districts. The court is to be composed of the appellate judge, who shall preside at the trials, and two judges of the district court, who shall sit with him. The appellate judge is to be elected by the electors in his judicial district in the same manner as state officers are elected and hold office for six years.

Thirty-one bills were passed from the calendar.

After the presentation of petitions in the senate the bill regarding the parole system at Stillwater was taken from the table and ordered engrossed for its third reading. Several minor measures were passed.

The Markham railroad taxation bill was the special order in the afternoon. Senator McHale's amendment was reported immediately upon Senator Day moving to recommend the passage of the bill. Senator Tawney objected to the wording of the amendment and a technical discussion followed. The language was finally fixed and a general debate on the bill followed. The entire afternoon was spent in discussion and adjournment was taken without any action on the bill.

Wednesday, March 15.

ST. PAUL, March 15.—Exciting scenes characterized today's session of the senate. It was a red letter day—a day of oratory, and a day of thrilling debates. The Markham railroad taxation bill was finally dealt a death blow after consuming more time than any other measure that has ever been before a session of legislature. The debate was stormy, and every sort of scheme was resorted to to defeat the bill by its enemies. Amendments of a technical nature, so subtly drawn that they were well calculated to deceive and mislead, it is alleged by the friends of the measure, were offered, but they were subsequently voted down. The consideration was in the committee of the whole, and the committee reported in favor of the indefinite postponement of the bill, and the report was adopted. The woman suffrage bill was amended and recommended to pass by the committee of the whole. The amendment simply strikes out the word "male" in the constitution, so that women will be given equal franchise rights with men, if the act becomes a law. There was a large delegation of women present to listen to the debate.

In the house the bill providing for a new capitol building occupied most of the time and a hot debate was on. The first section of the bill, providing for the erection of a new building, was favorably acted upon.

Thurdsay, March 16.

ST. PAUL, March 16.—There was a majority and a minority report of the house committee on temperance on Mr. Wahlund's bill requiring that one-half of the moneys received by villages from liquor licenses be paid into the road and bridge fund of the counties in which the villages are located. The majority report favoring indefinite postponement was adopted. Mr. Walsh then sent up a resolution providing for the retention of the coal combine books by the investigating committee. Adopted.

In committee of the whole the capitol bill was discussed by sections. It was finally recommended to pass. The bill provides for the erection of a building on the present site, the total cost not to exceed $2,000,000.

The house adopted the concurrent resolution instructing the investigating committee to retain possession of the coal combine books.

At the afternoon session the senate considered usury bills, five in number. After a discussion lasting more than an hour, Senator Sanborn moved that all the interest bills be indefinitely postponed. The motion prevailed—22 to 18 and the committee then arose.

Friday, March 17.

ST. PAUL, March 17.—After considerable discussion of unimportant matters in the house the capitol bill was taken up and a call of the house ordered. The roll call showed that only three members were absent. Several members who had voted against the bill in committee of the whole changed to aye and explained their votes. The bill passed by a vote of 68 to 40. The bill as passed limits the cost of the building and site to $2,000,000. It must yet pass the senate, but friends of the measure say that it is certain to go through.

The senate committee on education recommended the passage of the house school text book bill, and the report was adopted.

Dean's bill to prevent corrupt practices at elections met with much opposition. On roll call the bill failed to pass, receiving 27 votes, one less than the constitutional majority.

At the afternoon session the following bills passed:

S. F. 70—Amending the law in regard to organizations of school districts.

S. F. 362—Allowing purchasers under mortgage foreclosure sales to pay assessments and taxes so as to save the high rates of interest upon delinquencies.

S. F. 390—Amending the law so as to give corporations five years instead of three in which to wind up affairs upon dissolution.

S. F. 413—Providing for the vacation of territorial roads.

Saturday, March 18.

ST. PAUL, March 18.—Mr. Markham, from the committee on taxes and tax laws, reported back Mr. Boggs' bill providing for an equitable distribution of the income from the gross earnings tax, with a recommendation that it be indefinitely postponed. A substitute bill was sent in with the report which provides that the state auditor shall set aside from the gross earnings tax 2 cents per acre for every acre of unused railroad land, said money to be placed to the credit of the counties in which such unused land is located.

The bill declaring express companies common carriers and providing for their regulation was recommended for indefinite postponement by a majority of the judiciary committee. The recommendation prevailed.

Bills appropriating $25,000 a year for summer training schools for teachers, and to place hail insurance companies under supervision of state insurance departments were recommended to pass.

Several resolutions were introduced in the senate, and one by Mr. Donnelly was adopted. It appropriates $200 more for the Keller investigating committee.

In reply to an inquiry Secretary of State Brown communicated the statement that the total cost of election blanks was $1,725.30.

The capitol bill came in from the house and was ordered printed as amended, and referred to the committee on public buildings.

The bill providing for free text books was made a special order for Wednesday.

Monday, March 20.

ST. PAUL, March 20.—The house transacted no business at the morning session, a majority of the members having gone over to the senate to listen to the coal combine debate.

At the afternoon session the house in committee of the whole recommended the passage of the bill to tax inheritances introduced by Mr. Peterson. Jacobson's local option bill was laid on the table.

The house resolution directing Representative Walsh to hold on to the Rhodes letter book at all hazards was the first business before the senate. Senator Sanborn offered a substitute that Representative Walsh be directed to submit himself with the said book in his charge to the jurisdiction of the district court of Minnesota as to whether his possession of the book referred to was lawful or unlawful. This caused a warm debate, but was passed, 34 to 3, Sanborn, Stevens and Craven alone voting no.

Senator S. D. Peterson's bill relating to the receipt, storage and shipment of grain at elevators, was discussed in committee of the whole. Senator Tawney offered an amendment so that a receipt may issue to the shipper that may be valid in the home market, or at some terminal point, thus having the benefit of a terminal market at any time he may see fit. The amendment was adopted, and the bill was recommended to pass.

Ouisconsin.

This is not a World's Fair prize puzzle, but the old French way of spelling the title of what is now one of the best states in the Union—Wisconsin. The French explorers named the territory from the river which rises in the northern portion of the State, runs due south for 150 miles and then turns westward to the Mississippi. The word means "wild rushing river." It is a rather singuler fact that three seperate parties of early explorers, in their routes, marked out nearly the boundaries of the present State. One started from the mission of La Pointe, on the South shore of Lake Superior, went to the head of the Lake, where Duluth now is, then came to the site of St. Paul. A second party came from Green Bay, along the Fox and Wisconsin rivers, to the Mississippi. A third went up the Mississippi from Dubuque. The Indian tribes early fell under French control, and a number of Wisconsin savages fought on the French side on the day of Braddock's defeat, when George Washington saw his first battle. Prairie du Chien was for a time held by the British in the war of 1812, and Victory takes its name from the battle which closed the Black Hawk war of 1832. Indian mounds, containing many strange and curious remains, are numerous in the western part of the state, easily accessible to the tourist by the Burlington Route, which whirls the traveler through lovely scenery, and past the location of many a romantic legand. For tickets call on your home agent, and for information address W. J. C. Kenyon, General. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

Viava remedies for sale by Mrs. John Wyatt, sole agent for Polk county, Sano, sure cure for piles. Room 46, Reckitt Block. [39-tf]

Now is the time to list your farms and city property with the Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company. Opera block, Crookston.

REPORT OF THE CONDITION

—OF THE—

Scandia-American Bank

At Crookston, in the State of Minnesota, on the 6th day of March, 1893.

RESOURCES.

Bills receivable	$216,315.70
Overdrafts	2,564 68
Due from other banks	12,854.49
Furniture and fixtures	1,030.00
Current expenses	1,048.58
Cash on hand	14,255.60
Total	$247,539.05

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$50,000.00
Surplus	5,000.00
Undivided profits	22,513.07
Individual deposits subject to check	55,014.63
Demand certificates of deposit	77,511.35
Bills Payable	37,500.00
Total	$247,539.05

I, J. W. Wheeler, Cashier of the Scandia-American Bank, of Crookston, Minnesota, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

J. W. WHEELER, Cashier.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
County of Polk. } SS.

Sworn and subscribed to before me this twenty-second day of March, 1893.

{ SEAL. }
A. F. GEORGE.
Notary Public.
Polk County, Minn.

Correct—Attest:
L. ELLINGTON.
C. O. CHRISTIANSON, } Directors.

REPORT OF THE CONDITION

—OF THE—

Merchants' National Bank

At Crookston, in the State of Minnesota, at the close of business, March 6th, 1893.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$177,511 86
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	2,292 04
U. S. Bonds to secure circulation	19,000 00
Stocks, securities, etc	4,014 53
Due from approved reserve agents	7,065 23
Due from State Banks and bankers	1,597 39
Banking-house, furniture and fixtures	20,000 00
Other real estate and mortgages owned	4,342 10
Current expenses and taxes paid	940 89
Premiums on U. S. bonds	1,390 00
Checks and other cash items	703 29
Bills of other banks	360 00
Fractional paper currency, nickels, and cents	228 63
Specie	5,892 50
Legal-tender notes	2,270 00
Redemption fund with U. S. Treasurer (five per cent. of circulation)	855 00
Total	$248,558 46

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$ 75 000 00
Surplus fund	2,500 00
Undivided profits	6,372 46
National Bank notes outstanding	17,100 00
Individual deposits subject to check	44,932 89
Demand certificates of deposit	63,843 51
Cashier's checks outstanding	9 60
Notes and bills re-discounted	38,800 00
Total	$248,558 46

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
County of Polk, } ss.

I, A. D. Stephens, Cashier of the above-named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

A. D. STEPHENS, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 21st day of March, 1893.

{ Notary Seal. }
WM. A. LANCTOT,
Notary Public,
Polk County, Minn.

Correct—Attest:
JOHN CROMB,
HUGH THOMPSON,
A. BRALEY, } Directors.

SUMMONS.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, county of Polk—ss. District Court, 14th Judicial District.

State Bank of Warren, plaintiff, vs. Joseph S. David, defendant.

The State of Minnesota to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which complaint is now on file in the office of the clerk of the above named court and to serve a copy of your answer to said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county of Polk, and state of Minnesota, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of six hundred and eighty-eight dollars, and interest thereon at the rate of ten per cent. per annum since the 26th day of December, 1892, besides the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated February 23d, 1893

H. TEKNERSON,
Attorney for Plaintiff,
Crookston, Minn.

(49-51)

CITY COUNCIL.

(Continued from page 1.)

Approved this 14th day of March 1893.

Wm. Anglim, Mayor.

Attest: E. C. Carruth,
Clerk.

James Burt appeared before the council and asked the help of the city in the sum of $15.00

Moved by Alderman Morrisey seconded by Alderman Anderson that $15.00 be placed in the hands of the superintendent of poor to be used as he thought best in the matter. Carried.

Alderman voting in the affirmative, Anderson, Austin, Jennings, Jerome, Morrisey, Monroe, Marlette, Watts and Ctomb. Declared carried.

On motion council adjourned.

E. C. Carruth,
Clerk.

Proceedings of an adjourned meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston held in the city hall on Friday evening, March 17th, 1893.

Meeting called to order by President Cromb.

Roll call.

Aldermen present:—Anderson, Austin, Jennings, Jerome, Morrisey, Monroe, Marlette, Walker, Cromb.

Aldermen absent:—Childs, Watts.

The committee to whom was referred the bill of M. Leguce for damage sustained by his horse reported that they had investigated the matter and reported adversly to his claim being allowed, being of the opinion that he has no legal claim on the city. On motion the report was accepted.

The ordinance relating to changing the grade of streets was then put on its final passage.

At an adjourned meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston held the 17th day of March, 1893. Alderman Cromb offered the following ordinance which was seconded by Alderman Morrisey.

An ordinance changing the established grades of streets in and for the city of Crookston so far as the the same relates to Broadway street therein from its intersection by Second street to its intersection by Fourth street. Ash street therein from the intersection thereof by Second street to the intersection thereof by Third street and Third street therein from the intersection thereof by Main street to the intersection thereof by Elm street.

The city council of the city of Crookston do ordain:

Sec. I That the established grades of streets in and for the city of Crookston be and the same are hereby changed to the extent and in the manner hereinafter designated, to wit; Broadway street therein from the intersection thereof by Second street to the intersection thereof by Fourth street, be changed to the extent and in the manner shown and designated by profile on Broadway street grade marked "Exhibit B" and now on file in the office of the City Engineer in and for said city. Ash street therein from the intersection thereof by Second street to the intersection thereof by Third street, be changed to the extent and in the manner shown and designated by profile of Ash street grade, marked "Exhibit B" now on file in aforesaid office; and Third street therein from the intersection thereof by Main street to the intersection thereof by Ash street, be changed to the extent and in the manner shown and designated by profile on Third street grade marked "Exhibit B" now on file in aforesaid office.

Sec II All ordinances and parts of ordinances, resolutions or by-laws heretofore passed is so much and to such extent as they may conflict with, or be inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Sec. III This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage, approval, publication and recording.

Aldermen voting in the affirmative, Austin, Jennings, Jerome, Morrisey, Monroe, Marlette, Walker and Cromb.

Aldermen voting in the negative none.

Alderman Anderson not voting.

Passed this 17th day of March, 1893.

John Cromb,
President of Council.

Attest: E. C. Carruth,
Clerk.

Approved this 18th day of March, 1893.

Wm. Anglim,
Mayor.

The communication and bill of A. Halvorson was referred back to the council without recommendation by the committee on poor.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey seconded by Alderman Marlette that the clerk be instructed to make out an order for $36.00 for J. Muier. Carried.

On motion the fire ordinance was put on its final passage.

At an adjourned meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston held the 17th day of March, 1893. Alderman Morrisey offered the following ordinance which was seconded by Alderman Jennings.

AN ORDINANCE

For the prevention of fires, establishing fire limits and regulation of construction, repairing and removing buildings therein.

The city council of the city of Crookston do ordain as follows:

Sec. 1. The territory now constituting blocks 1, 2, 17, the south half of block 16 and the southwest quarter of block 18 in the original townsite of Crookston, and blocks 3, 4, 5, 6, and the west half of blocks 11, 12, and 13 in Fletcher and Houston's addition to the city of Crookston; shall hereafter be known and constituted the fire limits of the city of Crookston.

Sec. 2. No person shall erect or attempt to erect, rebuild, raise or enlarge within said fire limits, or remove from any place in said fire limits to another place therein or from any place outside to the inside of said limits, any building or structure of any nature or description unless the outside and party walls thereof shall be composed of brick of a thickness of at least eight inches or of stone of a thickness of at least twelve inches or of other material equally fire-proof, and unless the party wall of every building shall be made to extend above the roof a distance of twelve inches. And said building or structure shall be provided with metal or other fireproof covering for the roof thereof. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than five and not more than one hundred dollars and costs of prosecution and if such fine shall not be paid forthwith such offender may be imprisoned for a period not to exceed thirty days.

Sec. 3. No person shall repair any wooden building in said fire limits when the same has been damaged to the extent of 50 per cent. or more of the value thereof.

Sec. 4. In ascertaining the extent to which any building specified in the preceeding section has been damaged, there shall be appointed a board of arbitrators to consist of three freeholders of the City of Crookston, one of whom shall be named by the City Council one by the owner of said building and these two shall choose a third without unnecessary delay. The said arbitrators shall be sworn by some officer authorized to administer oaths, before entering upon their duties, to perform the same fully, faithfully and impartially, and make due return to the city council of their action. They shall qualify as such arbitrators within two days after personal service on them by written notice signed by the city clerk of their appointment as such arbitrators. They shall serve a notice in writing by personal service on the owner of said building or his or her or their authorized agent and upon the city clerk within two days after the last of them has qualified, of a time and place at which the owner of said building, and representives of the City of Crookston will be heard upon the question before them, which hearing shall be had not less than one nor more than five days after the service of said notices, provided that said owner may have said hearing postponed from time to time upon a written application therefor to said board of arbitrators; after hearing the aforesaid interested parties the said arbitrators shall view the premises in question and shall render a decision as to the extent of said damage within two days after the hearing aforesaid and file the same in the office of the City clerk. Vacancies in said board shall be filled in the manner hereinbefore provided for the appointment of the individual members thereof.

Sec. 5. It shall be the duty of the City Council at its first meeting after any application is made to it for permission to repair any wooden building as aforesaid, to appoint the person hereinbefore specified as being named by the city council to act as one of the aforesaid arbitrators.

Sec. 6. As soon as said arbitrators file the report of their estimate of such damage and whenever the same shows that the damage does not equal or exceed 50 per cent. of the value of the said building, the city clerk shall at once issue a permit under his hand and official seal to the owner of the building therein specified, authorizing him, her or them to repair the same. No wooden buildings shall be repaired within said limits without such permit. All arbitrators appointed under the provisions of this section shall receive compensation at the rate of three dollars per day for services actually rendered, to be paid out of the funds provided for the current expenses of the city. Any person violating any of the provisions of this and the preceding sections 3, 4 and 5 of this ordinance shall be punished by a fine of not less than one nor more than one hundred dollars and costs of prosecution, and if such fine be not paid forthwith such offender may be imprisoned for a period not exceeding thirty days.

Sec. 7. All buildings, additions, enlargements or structures hereafter erected, repaired, removed or built in said fire limits in violation of this ordinance are hereby declared public nuisances and upon due proof of the facts before any competent court of jurisdiction may be abated by the chief of police upon the order of such court.

Sec. 8. No stovepipe shall be conducted through any roof or outer wall of any building in the platted portion of this city, but they shall be conducted into proper chimneys of brick or stone; and no stovepipe shall be conducted through any partition, floor or ceiling constructed wholly or partly of wood, in any building, unless it be conducted through a double funnel or crock with an air space of not less than one (1) inch, or through inlaid brick; and no stove shall be set up in any building unless it be placed not less than four (4) inches from the floor on which it stands, and twelve (12) inches from any wall or partition constructed wholly or partly of combustible materials, and all stoves or furnaces shall be set on a sheet of metal or a bed of brick laid in mortar or sand or on ground; and any owner, lessee or occupant of any building in the platted portion of the city who shall put up, set up or cause to be set up any stove or stovepipe, or shall continue or permit any stove or stovepipe to be in condition contrary to the foregoing provisions in any such buildings, shall be punished by a fine of not less than five (5) dollars nor more than twenty-five (25) dollars and costs of prosecution, or by imprisonment, should there be a default in the payment of such fine, for not less than ten (10) or more than thirty (30) days.

Sec. 9. No person shall deposit or stack any hay, straw, shavings or other easily combustible material in any yard or lot in open air at a less distance than one hundred (100) feet from any building in the platted portion of this city, or allow the same to remain in such locality for more than forty-eight (48) hours after this ordinance shall take effect. Any owner or person having control over any such material, who shall violate any of the provisions of this section, shall be punished by a fine of not less than Three ($3.00) dollars nor more than Twenty-five ($25.00) dollars and and costs of prosecution.

Sec. 10. No person shall deposit any ashes containing fire within any building, unless the same be kept in metallic or other fire proof vessel or receptacle, or deposit the same in any yard, street, alley or lot where the same may be disturbed or blown about by the wind, or deposit the same in any wooden vessel in any yard, lot, street or alley, unless the same be kept covered and at least ten (10) feet distant from any wooden building or combustible material.

Sec. 11. No person or persons shall keep for sale or store in any place or buildings, within the platted portion of the corporate limits of this city any gunpowder, except under the following provisions: Gunpowder may be kept in sealed tin or sheet iron cans in quantities not exceeding twenty-five (25) pounds in any one store or building, and in no case shall any person sell, handle or dispose of the same in any manner or quantity, except in daylight, provided however that notice of quantity and location exceeding ten (10) pounds of same must be made in writing to the chief of police and fire marshal of said city.

Sec. 12. No person or persons shall keep or store in any place or building, within the platted portion the corporate limits of this city, any crude petroleum or kerosene oil, or any chemical oils or any of their products, except under the following provisions: Crude petroleum, earth or rock oils, or any of their products, may be stored in detached and properly ventilated warehouses, the exterior walls of which shall be of stone, brick or iron, especially adapted to that purpose, by having raised sills at least two (2) feet high, or the ground floor of which shall be at least two (2) feet below the level of the street or adjoining land in such manner as to effectually prevent the overflow of such oils beyond the premises where the same may be kept or stored, and which said warehouses shall not be occupied in any part as a dwelling, and if less than fifty (50) feet from any adjoining building, the same must be separated therefrom by a brick or stone wall at least ten (10) feet high and sixteen (16) inches thick.

Sec. 13. No refined petroleum or kerosene oils shall be kept for sale or stored within the platted portion of the corporate limits of this city, the fire test of which shall be less than one hundred and ten (110) degrees Fahrenheit; said test shall be determined by an authorized inspector using approved instruments for that purpose. When stored above the cellar or basement of any store or building, and in barrels of not over fifty-five (55) gallons each, or metalic tanks or vessels for convenience of retailing the quantity of such refined oil so stored shall not exceed the contents of five (5) barrels. When stored in cellars or basements surrounded by walls of brick or stone, and at least two (2) feet below the level of the sidewalk, street or land adjacent, the quantity so stored shall not exceed the contents of fifty (50) barrels, unless stored in warehouses especially adapted for that purpose, as provided in section 12 of this title; provided also, that, no quantity of such oils greater than two (2) barrels shall be kept or stored in any building occupied in any part thereof as a dwelling.

Benzine, naptha, or chemical oils may be kept or stored under the provisions of this section as follows: When stored above the cellar or basement, the quantity so stored shall not exceed the contents of three (3) barrels of either kind of said oils. When stored in a cellar or basement the quantity so stored shall not exceed ten (10) barrels; when stored in any building, any part of which is used as a dwelling, the quantity so stored shall not exceed one (1) barrel of either kind of said oils.

Sec. 14. In no case shall any of the articles recited in sections, 11, 12, and 13 of this title be allowed to remain upon any sidewalk or street a longer time than is actually necessary for the storage, shipment or delivery of the same, nor after sunset; nor shall any of the articles recited in sections 11 and 12 exceeding ten (10) gallons be kept in any building, except that notice of quantity and location be made in writing to the chief of police and fire marshal.

Sec. 15. No person or persons shall keep or hold for sale, or otherwise store on any premises, within the limits of this City, any unslacked lime, except in buildings absolutely water proof and so constructed in all respects as to prevent rain and water from beating or soaking in, or upon, or coming in contact with the same in any manner.

Sec. 16. Any person violating any of the provisions of sections 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 or 15 of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than one nor more than one hundred dollars and costs of prosecution, and in the default in the payment of such fine may be imprisoned for a period not exceeding three months.

Sec. 17. It shall be unlawful for any person to operate or maintain any manufactory, laundry or other business requiring the use of a boiler and engine in the platted portion of the city unless the stack or chimney be constructed of good quality of brick, stone, earth, iron, or sheet iron, resting on a substantial base of stone or brick, and provided with spark arresters, and in no case must exhaust steam be thrown into said stack or chimney. Any violation of the foregoing upon complaint made before any city justice, shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five ($25.00,) nor more than one hundred ($100.00) dollars and costs of prosecution, and if said fine be not paid forthwith the said offender may be imprisoned for a period not exceeding three months.

Sec. 18. It shall be the duty of the chief of police in the city of Crookston to inspect, or cause to be inspected by the other policemen of the city, or fire warden, all the buildings of the city to ascertain as nearly as possible all violations of the preceeding sections and to prosecute the same and report the same to the city council of said city.

Sec. 19. All the ordinances and parts of ordinances in so much and to such extent as they may be inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Sec. 20. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage, approval, publication and recording.

Aldermen voting in the affirmative Anderson, Austin, Jennings, Jerome, Morrisey, Monroe, Marlette, Walker and Cromb.

Carried unanimously.

Passed this 17th day of March, 1893.

John Cromb,
President of Council.

Approved this 17th day of March, 1893.

Attest Wm. Anglim,
Mayor.
E. C. Carruth,
Clerk.

Ordinance relating to raising the grade on Robert street read.

On motion council adjourned.

E. C. Carruth,

Sells for Cash.

Charles Vine has adopted the cash system at his meat markets and also adopted cash prices. He sells the choicest cuts at lowest rates—and sells for cash only. Markets on Broadway and Second street. [48-tf]

For Sale.

One pair of good farm mares and two or three extra good, new milch cows. For further particulars address.

F. Bivins & Son,
[49-2] Crookston, Minn.

For Sale.

Eight choice young cows, two-thirds Jersey and one-third Holstein, from three to five years old; will be new milch cows in April. Will sell for cash or bankable paper due November 1st. Address.

E. Lanctot,
[49-52] Crookston, Minn.

"Brace Up"

Is a tantalizing admonition to those who at this season feel all tired out, week, without appetite and discouraged. But the way in which Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the tired frame and gives a good appetite is really wonderful. So we say, "Take Hood's and it will brace you up."

Mothers' Recommendation.

We are acquainted with many mothers in Centerville who would not be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house for a good many times its cost, and are recommending it every day. From personal experience we can say that it has broken up bad colds for our children.—Centerville, South Dakota, Citizen. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

It is a pleasure to look at such a fine lot of horses as M. R. Brown brought in on Monday morning—as handsome as pictures and as good as gold—if you want a good team now is your chance.

Mrs. M. S. Moses
Fort Atkinson, Wis.

Woman's Greatest Boon

For Weakness, Debility, After the Grip

Took Hood's Two Months and Was Perfectly Well

"I wish to add my mite to the many recommendations of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a general medicine. Last winter my wife had an attack of the Grip, which left her in a very weak and debilitated condition. She tried a good many medicines, but none of them did her any good until she got a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. She thought she was better after the first day she took the medicine, and before she had taken one bottle she was so greatly improved that she could

Do Her Housework Alone

Which she had not been able to do for two months. She says Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest boon to women in existence. She has been taking it for two months, and considers herself a well woman. This is certainly a good record for Hood's Sarsaparilla, as she had not been well for a year. My son's wife has been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for swelling in her neck or

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Goitre

She noticed that the swelling began to go down when using the first bottle. She is now taking the third, and the swelling is nearly all gone. We have been watching the effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla in this case, and are glad to make so favorable a report." M. S. Moses, Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently, on the liver and bowels. Try a box.

Farmers,

I am now making arrangements to buy wood from you. Call on me and we can agree.

W. H. Norrie,

Wood yard corner Main and Third streets, Crookston. [48-3]

Money to Loan

On city property, business and dwelling—at 6½ per cent per annum. For full particulars call on P. J. Russell, 25 and 26 Reckitt block, Crookston, Minn. [47tf]

Sealed Bids.

The Board of Supervisors in the town of Bygland will receive sealed bids for the construction of two bridges to be built in said town. The Board of Supervisors will meet on April 4th at the house of Ole O. Legvold, Jr., to open and act upon said bids. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Plans and specifications for said bridges can be seen at my office

Halvor Grundeson,
Town Clerk.
Post office Fisher, Minn.

It is worth something for the privilege of buying a reliable horse of a reliable man. Every horse that M. R. Brown sells is fully guaranteed, and Brown is always here to make his guaranty good. He has a few more choice animals to close out the spring trade, and will probably get no more till after seeding.

WE SELL

Dowagiac shoe drills, Rushford wagons,
Advance threshers and engines, Columbus buggies,
John Deere plows, Grand Detour plows
Steel lever harrows, 2, 3 and 4 horse, Boss Harrows, all sizes
Diamond feed mills and powers,
Buggies, road wagons and carts,
Light harness, single and double,
Farm harness, cheaper than anybody,
Cork-faced collars, the clear thing,
Victory fanning mills, world beaters,
Road Scrapers,

In fact there is nothing in the

IMPLEMENT LINE

BUT WHAT WE CAN FURNISH,

And we have the best line of goods made.

"MERIT WINS."

Larsen, Carpenter & Co.,

Broadway and Robert street, - Crookston, Minn.

If Your Cistern Is Out of Order or Soft Water is scarce, don't worry yourself for a moment—go right ahead and use hard water with and you'll never know the difference. The clothes will be just as white, clean and sweet-smelling, because the "White Russian" is specially adapted for use in hard water.

KIRK'S WHITE RUSSIAN SOAP

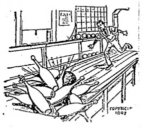
JAS. S. KIRK & CO., Chicago.

Dusky Diamond Tar Soap. Best Soap for the Hands.

You will Make a Strike



If You Buy YOUR CLOTHING of Us!

You need them; we don't. They were bought for you!

Our peculiarity is three sights——=

CLEAR SIGHT,
LONG SIGHT
and FORESIGHT.

We don't have to wait until the first of the month before knowing what you will want at that time.

WE ARE ALWAYS PREPARED

to supply your wants beforehand at moderate prices, and are never caught napping.

The stock is full of what you want and you want to see it immediately, or you may not see something that'll cost you money to to miss. Don't by any means miss this striking opportunity that we are now offering.

GREAT BARGAINS
ALL OVER
THE HOUSE.

BOSTON
ONE PRICE
Clothing House
Mossefin & Lindell, Proprietors.

RED RIVER VALLEY LOAN AND INVESTMENT COMPANY.

MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE.

FARMS AND LANDS For Sale in nearly all the Towns ol Polk County.

CITY LOTS

In Crookston and Thief River Falls.

List your Lands and Lots with us and effect quick sales.

OFFICE IN OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.

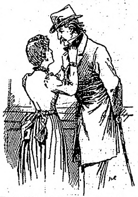
A. G. GALLASCH, Pres.
J. W. WHEELER, Vice Pres.
W. H. MATHEWS, 1st Vice Pres.
A. F. GEORGE, Sec.
O. H. LUCKEN, Treasurer.

PRIDE AND POVERTY

By AUGUSTA LARNED.

[Copyright, 1892, by American Press Association.]

CHAPTER I.



"There, there, Judith, you have fussed long enough."

He was a tall old man, with a certain military rigidity and stiffness about his long, lean person. His members had the jointed mechanical look of an artist's wooden model, and the bony, thin arms hung at his sides. His head, that topped this elongated person, slightly bent at the shoulders, was small, but shapely, with a mass of iron gray hair that hung down to the rusty collar of his cloak, and in front was tossed carelessly off a low forehead lined with many wrinkles that extended themselves in a fine network above his faded eyes.

This abundance of tossing locks at first disguised the man's age, but as you looked closely into his face you saw that he must have numbered nearly fourscore years. An undisguised querulousness marked the lines of the mouth under the the long, ragged mustache, and he stood now with an air of ill disguised impatience as a young girl raised herself on tiptoe in front of him to adjust his hair, then with quick strokes proceeded vigorously to apply a brush broom to all parts of his seedy person, giving little dabs and pats to the worn cloth, picking off white threads and bits of fuzz, and rubbing gray and brown spots between her small hands. Then she proceeded to untie his limp, black silk neckcloth, and to tie it again in a bowknot more pleasing to feminine eyes, taking pains to pull out the ends and adjust them properly under his chin.

The old man stood an unresponsive image of impatient endurance of all these little loving attentions from his daughter's hands.

"Now I wish I had a rosebud or a white chrysanthemum for your buttonhole, father. Then you would look like an old hidalgo walking down State street."

"There, there, Judith," he replied, half pettishly, "you have fussed long enough. Let me go," and he took his cane and turned toward the door.

"Have you forgotten, father?" she said reproachfully, with a little cloud on her face.

He turned quickly back, as if reminded of some neglected duty, and taking the bright blond head of the young girl in his stiff, rheumatic old hands proceeded to print a light kiss on her forehead. "There, there," said he hastily, "be a good girl and amuse yourself."

A strange little smile curved Judith's lips, and her eyes seemed unnaturally bright as she looked up at the old man and said, "You know you are all I have in the world, father."

If she had said, "I am all you have in the world," the speech would have seemed more natural and pertinent. But Judith never thought of her father in this way. He was her charge, her care: something to make and mend, to cook and pinch and find for; something to protect and defend, to shelter and feed and keep warm, if it lay in her power. She was to do it all with her two little hands. She expected nothing of him, absolutely nothing. All those who through life had expected anything of Stephen Renwick had been disappointed. Now, as she stood bareheaded on the doorstep of the Union's old colonial house that had always been her home, the wind lifted the light locks from her round forehead, and she called out to him as he went stiffly striding down the path to the street, "Come home early, father."

He nodded without turning round just as he reached the gate, now off its hinges and resting against the fence as a superfluous reminder of better days. The fence itself had been a fine one in its day, with handsome posts and ornamental woodwork, but it was now literally on its last legs, leaning and tottering with old age and decrepitude. The old house had been left high and dry on a rather steep bank owing to the changing of the street level, and there were three or four broken stone steps leading down to the sidewalk. Judith stood and watched to see her father grope with his stick and tread safely the loose stones on his way to the street, and then she entered the house and shut the door.

The old man turned toward the center of the town, with his head high and his stiff limbs moving mechanically, intensely conscious that he was Stephen Renwick, the man who by culture, birth and breeding had always felt himself far above his provincial neighbors—trenched in indomitable pride that finds its chief stronghold among the best people of little towns, the old American village aristocracy. Judith watched him from the window as he passed down under the trees, with his stiff stateliness, head held high, punctilious in his salute to such old townsmen as he felt deserved his notice, but oblivious to all newcomers and parvenues. Renwick pursued his way through the busiest streets of the town, wrapped in his self absorption, his high nose and flowing gray hair moving above the heads and shoulders of other men, and his stiff old legs getting on as if by their own volition, quite apart from the action of his brain.

He turned, as was his habit every day, in at the door of the library, hung his hat and coat on the peg he had appropriated, drew his books from the librarian, who kept them apart, a little heap of brown old volumes ready for Renwick's hand, and who watched the old man silently as he bore them away to an inclosed nook in one of the alcoves, where stood a small table and a chair. For more than fifteen years the old man had spent his days in that place poring over his books and making notes in a succession of little diaries. Owing to his bowed gray head and absent look, visitors to the library often mistook him for some great oriental or Greek scholar engaged on a profound and learned work, the slow product of a lifetime of labor. But could you have glanced over his shoulders at the books on which he was so busily engaged you would have discovered that they were all curious and useless volumes, utterly valueless for the present practical purposes of the world, embracing old fads and fashions of bygone times—the equipment and pleasures of idle classes who have banished and left only the memory of their futilities. Heraldry, venery, the noble art of self defense, the pleasures of chivalric ages, nice points of costume and ceremonial, the accomplishments of courtiers, the etiquette of kings and queens—these were among the absorbing interests of old Renwick's life; but above all he delighted in the recondite studies of genealogy, in tracing out the collateral branches of old and celebrated families, with roots deep down in the annals of the English aristocracy.

Over these pursuits he labored with grave and solemn earnestness, putting into them the patience and assiduity that should have been given to better things, and primarily to the earning of daily bread. In his youth he had considered these curious inquiries the proper pursuits of a gentleman. His antiquarian tastes all ran in the direction of things that earn no dirty money—the strictly uncommercial and patrician pleasures of a man of elegant leisure. Having inherited a fine old house and an ample fortune for the town where he lived, Renwick saw no reason why he should not please himself. Self indulgence had been the rule of his life, but gradually through bad investments the money had all slipped through his fingers—the fine old pictures, the precious editions of rare old books had disappeared. Penury took up its abode in the big bare rooms. The old house had literally fallen to decay. The roof leaked. The kitchen part was crazy and ruinous. Snow and rain came in on the very bed where Judith slept, but the old man was always the same—always Renwick, the provincial aristocrat, who, like the Bourbons, forgot nothing and learned nothing. Stiff, rigid, punctilious, methodical as a clock, the old man lived wrapped in the illusory sense of the dead Renwicks and of his own.

Renwick had lost two wives and many children, but nothing changed his habits of life. He seemed incapable even of remarking the alteration in his circumstances now that he was reduced to poverty and alone in the world with his youngest girl, Judith. Still he lived wrapped in the sense of superiority to his shopkeeping neighbors; a crystallized egotism inclosed him as in a glass house and preserved his health and vigor. His townspeople revenged themselves for his hauteur by making jokes on old Renwick, who sat year in and year out in a nook of the library scribbling notes apropos of nothing, and yet some few perhaps saw a certain pathos in the depths of delusion into which the human soul can plunge.

Now as the old man trudged stiffly down the street, his head knocking the stars, the bright haired Judith shut the door, shivering a little from the cold, and turned back into the room where a moment before she had been brushing and patting the impatient old gentleman. It was a large room, and once had been handsome, even elegant, for the chimney piece, now cracked and smoke stained, was of carved Italian marble, and the moldings and rich decorations of the woodwork were in the best colonial style. The liberal windows let in floods of sunlight, showing the sad contrasts of this room that once had been the stately library of the old mansion, but had now fallen on evil days. Patches of plaster had broken from the ceiling, and the wall paper showed sad rents and discolorations where the carved oaken bookcases had once stood. The floor was bare save for a few rusty braided rugs that lay on the boards, and the ragged chair coverings were patched with stuff of another color. The large, hospitable fireplace had been boarded up, and an old Franklin stove, propped on bricks, diffused such heat as it could through the large room.

Pitifully shabby and scantily furnished as it was, scrupulous neatness and a certain refined touch of arrangement made the old room dignified. The young girl stood there now like a figure in a picture, her hands clasped behind her, and her head thrown a little back, showing the full white throat and the pretty outline of her form in its rusty black gown, over which was tied a white apron. All the rays of the October sunshine seemed gathered about her head making a glory, but the face was not regularly beautiful. The mouth was too wide for a perfect curve, though filled with even white teeth that flashed out in a brilliant smile, matching the natural warmth of the dark blue eyes. The nose was not quite Grecian, nor was the complexion very blooming, but a frank, bright independence—a spirit of repressed fun that saw all the humorous things in life—seemed to beam from this picturesque face, in the end more bewitching than the most perfect contour.

It had rained the night before, and water had come in on her bed through the broken roof, making a little pool on the old quilt with which she was covered, but that was the last thing that troubled Judith as she stood there gazing at a cracked glass on the window shelf filled with bright autumn leaves and red berries. She was saying half aloud now to herself as she counted the items on her fingers, "Only a handful of flour in the barrel, no butter, no eggs, no meat, tea out, kerosene for one night more, half a candle, a paper of oatmeal, half a peck of potatoes." These items summed up at the moment the contents of the Renwick larder.

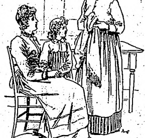
The old man never knew how the house was provisioned. He believed in the special providence of the Renwick family and transferred the responsibilities of life to the heavenly powers. Gradually he had lapsed from affluence into poverty through unsound speculations and bad investments. At the moment he owned much worthless stock and certain mythical mining lands in the far west. Knowing nothing about business, he held on to these with the tenacity of an artful child, waiting for a rise which never came.

Wrapped in dreams and illusions, odd fads and fancies he glided down the slope from affluence to poverty. There was no very abrupt transition. He had calmly eaten up the shreds and tatters of the old estate, and until the last few years, since Judith had come to womanhood, there had been no actual, sharp pinch of poverty. The carved bookcases, the rare editions of the classics, the old pictures had all gone into the pot and the oven. He had gradually contracted his way of life—had narrowed himself to three or four rooms. One whole half of the rambling old house was unfurnished and empty, given over to rats and spiders. When Judith proposed to let this half to Mr. Holcomb, the bookseller, Renwick was very angry and flung out of the house without giving her his goodby kiss. Renwick would sooner starve than allow a tradesman to harbor under his decayed roof.

The old man went off to the library in an aristocratic huff, and Judith did the work of the meager household with tears in her eyes. She could do nothing with that impossible nature save by stealth. He loftily ignored all the disagreeable facts of life, and especially the prime fact that there was little food or fuel in the house. When people set themselves up as superior to others there are always some who believe in them. Judith in a half amused way did believe in the old man. He was all she had to love, and she was humbly willing to delve and toil in secret that he might bolster himself on his family pride. As he was absent all day at the library, poor Judith, to buy him warm winter underflannels and to put a few bins of coal in the cellar, had taken in two little pupils, nieces of the store dealer, Sparkler, who lived in a small brown house just around the corner in Grove street. Mrs. Sparkler's back yard adjoined the Renwick garden.

She had no children of her own and had adopted her husband's two orphan nieces, who soon became the torment and terror of her life. Mrs. Sparkler was a woman not used to children, morbidly clean, and who had trained Sparkler by judicious discipline to give probably less trouble in the house than any other man in the town. To have two children brought into the family who had, as she said, more of the nature of "wild Injuns" than of "stiddy white folks," was the peculiar form of trial to which Mrs. Sparkler was forced to submit. Moreover, it was "aggravatin" that Sparkler, a meek and submissive man on all other points, was determined "to fetch up" his dead brother's two orphan girls without the aid of the switch, having a weak spot in him, as Mrs. Sparkler expressed it, toward the motherless.

CHAPTER II.



"Let them come to me."

One day in the early summer Judith had found Prue Sparkler mounted on the topmost limb of a tall cherry tree in the old Renwick garden, disputing possession of the ripe fruit with the birds and squirrels, and throwing down great bunches to her little sister Sally, who stood, with her frock held wide and her curly head thrown back, gazing up into the branches. Judith forced the child to come down out of the tree and gave her a little lesson on the difference between meum and tuum, which the girl received unabashed, with a pair of bold, black eyes fixed on her face. Her hands and mouth were smeared with cherry juice; her clothes were tattered and torn from a rude encounter with the tree branches. She was lean and dark and wiry, with black hair hanging straight down on her neck. Her elbows were sharp and her legs totally without calves.

Sally, on the contrary, was a dimpled, curly pated, chubby little girl, whose will was wholly submissive to her bold and spirited sister, for whom she had unbounded admiration. It was easy to perceive what Mrs. Sparkler meant when she said Prue had "Injun" blood in her. She was the kind of girl to stir up all the rebellious elements and thoroughly demoralize a school. She was a born leader, fearless and bold in her freebooting, and a thorough adept in every form of mischief. Owing to Prue's shining talents she had been suspended from the public school, and little Sally had gone home whimpering behind her, with her finger in her mouth.

Though Sparkler was thought by the neighbors to be considerably henpecked, in spite of the enormity of Prue's crime he took those two naughty, wicked children and snuggled them up against his breast, and made a shelter for them with his arms from the wrath of his spouse, who felt it was a great shame to have any "feelin about dead folks' feelin's" when righteous indignation is balked of its prey.

It was the next day after Prue's ignominious dismissal from school that Judith caught her up in the cherry tree and made her scramble down, to be led home in a draggled and torn condition. She took the two little girls through a gap in the wall dividing the old garden from the Sparklers' back yard and appeared with them at the kitchen door of the little brown house.

"Now, ain't it too bad," cried Mrs. Sparkler in a voice of piercing complaint as she appeared at the door with a dish towel in her hand, "that Sparkler won't let me take a switch to them little devils, and especially to that Prue, that's the very mother of all mischief? Sally would be as good as a kitten if it warn't for Prue, but she's right down there under her sister's thumb, and if she told her to go to the top of the house and jump off she'd do it if she knew 'twould kill her the next minute. Oh, she's a ringleader, she is, and Sparkler won't let me lay a finger on 'em. I believe he thinks the dead father and mother would get up out of their graves and spook him if the switch was laid on to them children. And he always such a mild man, like new skimmilk cheese, till these young ones come to live with us! You see, miss, they was raised on a farm and allowed to run wild, and there ain't a blessed thing they're afraid of. Prue when she wasn't more than five years old would go right hand over hand across the cows' backs when they stood in a row, and she would ride wild colts round the pasture bareback.

"Both the children lived with animals and mothered the old ducks and hens, and was followed all over the place by lambs and little pigs and every blessed thing, and Sparkler says it ain't no wonder they can't bear to be shut up and set prim and proper on a bench and be made to study.

"Why, that girl Prue—I never did know anything like it. Seems as though she just loves the earth. She'll go out into the yard and put herself face down flat on the ground and clutch the grass as if it was a human being and had a heart in it and she could hear it beat, and there she'll lay and go fast asleep. I tell Sparkler she's that wild she'll take to the woods some day and drag off Sally to live up a tree. What am I going to do with such creeturs, Miss Renwick? They've turned her out of school, and I can't make Sally go alone, and I can't keep 'em here shet up like a squirrel in a cage, especially with Sparkler that set on the whippin question. If I could find somebody to teach 'em privately, even if they didn't learn much, just to take 'em off my hands a few times a day, I would be willing to pay a good price."

"Let them come to me," said Miss Renwick, who had now sat down on a kitchen chair, still keeping hold of Sally's little chubby hand. "I will teach them all I know," she added, blushing and hesitating a little.

Mrs. Sparkler squared her elbows and poked out her chin in a way peculiar to herself. She was rather a portly woman, and her apron made a fine curve as it descended over her neat print gown.

"Mercy me, Miss Renwick, what would your pa say? He'd go into convulsions if he knew you was colleaguing with folks like me. Why, he don't think me and Sparkler is fit to wipe his old shoes on."

Miss Renwick blushed even more vividly, and the heightened color was very becoming to her style of beauty.

"Why should he know, Mrs. Sparkler?" said she, softly patting the little hand that lay in hers. "He is an old gentleman, who has his pet prejudices that must be humored, and perhaps he has grown a little childish of late years. He is away all day at the library poring over his books, and why should I trouble him about this matter?"

Mrs. Sparkler shook her head very skeptically at first, but before Judith went home it was agreed between them that the children should come to her every week day at ten in the morning, to remain until two, bringing with them a small luncheon to appease the childish pangs of hunger. There was also to be a little recess, when they were to run in the garden and let out their "whoop," as Mrs. Sparkler expressed it. For her services in teaching them their small lessons Judith was to receive a certain specified sum—Mrs. Sparkler was a business woman, and insisted on having everything down in black and white.

The little Sparklers had been under Judith's instruction for about three months now, and she flattered herself that the progress toward good manners, a proper behavior and docility had been considerable, proceeding as it did, however, by fits and starts and varied by not infrequent outbreaks of rebellion. Little Sally, the curly pated, dimpled child, certainly loved her teacher, but Prue was a strange, incalculable being, wayward, capricious and fascinating by turns. Judith that morning had just arranged her table to give the children a lesson on shells, for she varied the regular order of teaching by object lessons from nature—on birds and beasts, minerals, insects, leaves, flowers and grasses.

It was just at this moment that Mrs. Sparkler, wild eyed, bonnetless, shawlless, rushed into the house. She had scrambled through the gap in the garden wall and come in the back way.

"They're gone," she cried, looking hurriedly round the room. "It's just as I said. They ain't here. You could knock me down with a feather," and then she sank into the nearest chair, and putting her thick, red hands over her face she burst into tears. "Oh, Miss Renwick, I can't ketch my breath. I'm gaspin like, for Sparkler sets such store by them children if anything should happen them he'd go out of his mind."

Judith was standing by trying to quiet her. "I can't tell no straight story, Miss Renwick. It's that Prue that has led away Sally. They've been puttin their heads together in a corner these last two or three days, and I felt sure Prue was cookin up some mischief. This morning when I came down stairs early the house was still as death. I looked for them in the stable where Sparkler keeps his business cart, and where they're wild to get in along with the horse, and then I went to the shop and raised the neighborhood generally, but they've skooted sure enough."

"Where do you think they can have gone?" Judith asked in sympathetic distress.

"Mebbe they made a bee line for the old farm up at Hillman's Four Corners; who can tell? Prue at times is so homesick for them cows and chickens and pigs she looks a sage green, and the whites of her eyes is something dreadful. I looked at the book they've been readin. They got it at the Sunday school last week. It's all about Tommy Sawyer, that ran away from a cruel gardeen and had queer adventures sleepin in barns and sheds until at last he came into his fortune. I guess it's that story that's put 'em up to this caper, and to think of them two little creatures trudgin along the roads, and especially Sally, that's only a baby, is most distractin to the mind of my husband."

Judith tried to console her distressed neighbor by assuring her that the children could not wander far; that some one would be sure to pick them up and bring them home before nightfall.

Mrs. Sparkler listened with a dumb incredulity painted on her face. She was gazing in a vacant stare out of the window when suddenly she sprang to her feet exclaiming, "Goodness gracious, Miss Renwick, there's your pa comin up the path with a young man in tow. Don't, for mercy sake, let 'em see me with my face all blotched from crying and my hair in a tousle," and she darted out into the kitchen and home the back way through the garden.

It was years since stranger guests had come to the old house. Judith could hardly believe her eyes as she saw her father show in the young man who came close behind him with courtly, old fashioned politeness. The young man, whose bearing was modest, though his eye was quick and lively, must have detected the expression of dismay in Judith's face, for there was a certain pulsating air of confusion about him as the old man, waving his hand gracefully, said: "My daughter Judith, sir; my last, my only surviving child. We live here, sir, in old fashioned simplicity, as you will see. Judith, this is Mr. Mildmay, of Arizona. He has come to speak to me on business, the sale of my western lands, in fact, Judith, and you will make him welcome."

Judith was conscious of making a very awkward bow to Mr. Mildmay, of Arizona, as she hastily pushed back the little lesson table she had arranged for her pupils and covered it with an old black shawl. Mr. Mildmay, though he sat there on one of the rickety patched chairs looking like the most unobserving of mortals, had seen the movement and was speculating as to the cause. Unlike old Renwick, he seemed not to make the slightest demand on the homage of his fellow beings, as if it had never entered his head that he was much of anybody or had the remotest claim to notice. But Judith saw in a glance that he had an engaging smile, frank and friendly, even merry, and his singularly bright hazel eyes wandered into every corner of the old room and came back to rest on the face and form of the young girl in her shabby black gown with a pleasant look of interest and inquiry.

"You have a fine old house here, Mr. Renwick," the young man was saying, "early colonial of the first period."

"Yes, yes," said the old man, with a stately bow; "a good house, sir, in its day, not kept up, I am sorry to say, as it should be. My family has shrunk to such pitiful dimensions we have contracted our way of life, sir; have, in fact, abandoned the best rooms to the rats and mice and crept into a corner. The house was built by my great-grandfather, whose name figures not dishonorably in the history of our country, sir. If you will stay and dine with us I shall be pleased to show you some autograph letters from Alexander Hamilton and General George Washington addressed to my ancestor."

Mildmay's perceptions were of the acutest. At a glance he had taken in the bare, poverty stricken aspect of the room, and he thought he could interpret aright the look of confusion and trouble in Judith's face. So he seized his hat he had laid upon the floor and said firmly, "I think I must return at once to the hotel."

"No, sir, you must remain," cried old Renwick with a pugnacious obstinacy. "I shall not allow you to go away without breaking bread."

Judith, with the memory of the bag of oatmeal and the half peck of potatoes in her mind as the only available resources of the larder, had got behind Mildmay's chair and was making furtive but desperate gestures to her father to refrain from pressing the gentleman to remain. But the old man, eager and intent in his effort to keep his guest, was totally oblivious to the pathetic dumb show Judith was carrying on behind Mildmay's back. She stood there pleading as if for dear life when suddenly she happened to glance at the opposite wall, where to her horror she saw an old fashioned, long mirror, hanging well aslant from its fastenings, which reflected everything in that part of the room. Mildmay's eyes were fastened on the mirror, where her own face and form and every gesture she made were plainly visible. Suddenly her hands fell to her sides, and she turned of a vivid, fiery red all over her cheeks, brow and neck, and even the tips of her ears burned like live coals.

(To be Continued.)

The Crookston Belle—Kœppe's new cigar, is as fine as silk. Try it.

Lane's Medicine Moves the Bowels Each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."
BEECHAM'S PILLS
(Tasteless—Effectual.)
FOR ALL
BILIOUS and NERVOUS DISORDERS,
Such as Sick Headache,
Weak Stomach,
Impaired Digestion,
Constipation,
Liver Complaint,
and Female Ailments.
Covered with a Tasteless & Soluble Coating.
Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a Box.
New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank.

A. H. DUNLAP, M. D.
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS, QUEBEC.
Office in McKinnon Block.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist,
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK.
☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

MARTIN O'BRIEN,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
{I. O. O. F. BUILDING.} Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block } CROOKSTON, MINN.

MILLER & FOOTE,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block. - Crookston, Minn.

FITS STOPPED FREE
Marvelous success.
Insane Persons Restored
Dr. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER
for all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure cure for Nerve Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No Fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send names, P. O. and express address of afflicted to Dr. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. See Druggists. BEWARE OF IMITATING FRAUDS.

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the
Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

THE PRESS
(NEW YORK)
For 1893
Has a larger Daily Circulation than any other Republican newspaper in America.
DAILY. SUNDAY WEEKLY.
The Aggressive Republican Journal of the Metropolis.
A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES.
Founded Dec. 1st, 1887.
Circulation over 125,000 copies daily. The most remarkable Newspaper Success in New York. The PRESS is a National Newspaper. Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of the PRESS. The PRESS has the brightest Editorial page in New York. It sparkles with points. The PRESS Sunday Edition is a splendid paper, covering every current topic of interest. The PRESS Weekly Edition contains all the good things of the Daily and Sunday editions.
AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM
The Press has no superior in New York.
THE PRESS
Within the reach of all. The best and cheapest Newspaper in America.

Daily and Sunday, one year	$5 00
" " 6 months	2 50
" " 1 "	45
Daily only, one year	3 00
" " 4 months	1 00
Sunday, one year	2 00
Weekly Press, one year	1 00

Send for Prospectus. Samples free. Agents wanted everywhere. Liberal commissions.
Address THE PRESS,
38 Park Row, New York.

A COMBINE EXISTS.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE SECURED BY THE COMMITTEE.

Seized Books Show That the People Are at the Mercy of a Combine. Pennsylvania Dealers Threaten to Shut Off the Supply of Hard Coal.

ST. PAUL, March 18.—Matters are coming to a focus with great speed in the fight of the Minnesota legislature against the coal combine. Nearly fifty letters from the letter book of John J. Rhodes, manager of the Minnesota bureau of coal statistics were given out by the joint committee during the afternoon showing that the coal combine required every wholesale coal dealer in Minnesota to pay $1,000 to John J. Rhodes; that every retail dealer had to pay him $100; that all had to swear to maintain the prices fixed by the combine, and that all persons attempting to sell coal without joining the combine had their supply cut off and they were thus Forced Out of Business.

All the damaging letters given are signed by John J. Rhodes. One of these dated Sept. 1, 1892, and addressed to R. H. Wilson, Minneapolis, says that Wilson is furnishing coal to W. Estee, a retail coal dealer in New Boston. Mr. Estee is not a subscriber to the bureau and Mr. Rhodes orders Mr. Wilson not to sell him coal.

H. W. Armstrong & Co. of Minneapolis, under date of Oct. 27, 1892, are instructed not to continue furnishing coal to T. E. Smith of New Boston, for the reason that Smith is not a subscriber to the bureau. Rhodes closes this letter by saying that if Smith wishes to remain in the coal business he must come into the combine. Thus the letters run all through.

Donnelly Springs a Sensation.

One of the sensations of the day was the announcement by Senator Donnelly of the receipt of a threatening letter from Pennsylvania. Regarding the matter he said:

Yes, I received a letter from a coal baron in Pennsylvania notifying me that the coal dealers in that state have heard of the legislative investigation now under way, and give us timely warning that unless we stop it this entire state will be shut out from the hard coal market of the season of 1893-4. I have not yet answered the letter, but when I do I think I shall be able to satisfy the gentleman that we in Minnesota are not accustomed to being scared by threats like that.

The books of the combine, with the exception of the letter book, have been returned to John J. Rhodes. The letter book will be turned over to the grand jury by the legislature with a request that it bring in indictments for criminal conspiracy under chapter 10 of the General Laws of 1891, the penalty for which is a fine of from $500 to $5,000. In the meantime, John J. Rhodes has brought suit for $5,000 damages against the officers of the senate and house for keeping his books.

THE LAWMAKERS WIN.

The Minnesota Coal Combine Given a Black Eye by Judge Egan.

ST. PAUL, March 20.—The Minnesota bureau of coal statistics, known to the general public as the hard coal combine, received a black eye at every turn yesterday. There was a wild scene in the district court at 11 a. m. Representative Richard A. Walsh, in possession of the letter books of John J. Rhodes, general manager of the combine, had just been placed on the stand when Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms Wells of the house of representatives appeared and demanded the body of Mr. Walsh. Several deputy sheriffs and other officers of the court moved forward and when Judge Egan dismissed Mr. Walsh and told him he could go to the capitol if he desired. Sergeant Wells had just come from the capitol with an order from the house for Walsh. The house had been in a frenzy for an hour, and had just begun preparing impeachment proceedings when Mr. Walsh appeared on the scene. In the senate sensational speeches were being made. Senator Sanborn introduced a resolution referring the controversy over the letter books to the six judges of Ramsey county sitting en banc. This excited the ire of Senator Donnelly, who said:

A Conflict Seemed Certain,

The legislature is supreme. It does not have to look to the little circuit court of Ramsey county for a decision. We sent for papers, seized them, as the resolution instructs, and I cannot understand why these quibbles should be raised in defense of an iniquitous gang of thieves and marauders. The state is aroused and we must act. It would take very little to arouse the people of Minnesota and cause the members of this iniquitous combine to dangle from lamp posts.

The Sanborn resolution was defeated.

Judge Egan's Decision.

At the afternoon session of the district court Judge Egan made the legislature's victory complete by deciding that the court had no jurisdiction over members or officers of the legislature and could not compel them to give up the books of the combine in their possession.

The latest sensational turn of the case was taken in the evening, when John J. Rhodes, general manager of the coal bureau, brought suit in the district court for $50,000 damages against the joint legislative committee and its officers, alleging that they have kept him from his property and ruined his business.

Was Utterly Insolvent.

OMAHA, March 21.—Evidence taken by the committee of the legislature which inquired into the condition of the state funds on deposit in the defunct Capital National bank has been filed. It shows the bank to be utterly insolvent. Bank Examiner Griffith testified that at no time within a year could the Capital National have paid the money on deposit.

Her Kindness Paid.

A crabbed old bachelor who was in the habit of calling at a Washington postoffice for his letters was so much impressed by the kindly attentions of the postmistress that he one day walked up to the counter, and, remarking that she was the only person who had spoken a kind word to him for years, handed her a parcel which contained a deed for five acres of land worth $3,000.

Something New in Train Equipment to hicago.

The "Limited" train on The Northwestern Line," leaving Minneapolis 7:30 p. m., St. Paul 8:10 p. m. and arriving Milwaukee 7:25 a. m., Chicago 9:30 a. m., is now equipped with Wagner Compartment Cars in addition to Standard Sleepers, and also with Buffet Smoking and Library Cars.

This is the finest equipped train in America, is the only train of its kind west of Chicago, and no extra fare is charged on this "Northwestern Limited."

By "The Northwestern Line" you also have advantage of fast day train, leaving Minneapolis 7:20 a. m. and St. Paul 8:30 a. m., arriving Milwaukee 7:55 p. m., Chicago, 9:35 p. m., also an afternoon train, leaving Minneapolis 5:00 p. m., St. Paul 5:35 p. m., arriving at Chicago 7:45a. m

"The Nortwestern Line" is also the only Pullman Car Line from St. Paul and Minneapolis, Sioux City, Omaha, Kansas City, Duluth and Ashland.

For luxury and comfort, best equipment and road bed, secure ticket via "The Northwestern Line," they are on sale at all stations. Illustrated Map Folder free on application to

T. W. TEASDALE
Gen. Pass. Agent,
[32tf] St. Paul, Minn.

Cheap Fuel.

From a limited amount of wood, I will deliver to any part of the city four foot dry soft wood at $4.00, four foot dry hard wood at $5.50, sawed as you want it for 50 cents extra.

W. H. NORRIE,
Successor to Priester & Co.
Corner Main and Third streets.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of three hundred and four dollars ($304) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Jedire Draper and Alice Mariah Draper, his wife, to The Security Trust Company, a corporation bearing date the 4th day of September, A. D. 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 22d day of October, A. D. 1890, at 8:40 o'clock a. m., in book 52 of mortgages, on page 447, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots fifteen and sixteen (15 and 16) of block eighty-two (82) of Kretzschmar's Addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county, in Polk county and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 29th day of April, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and $6.65 taxes paid by the mortgagee on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 1st, A. D. 1893.

SECURITY TRUST COMPANY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN, Attys. [48-2]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. District Court, 14th Judicial District.

In the matter of the assignment of Solfest A. Sylvester and Martin Finseth, copartners as Sylvester & Finseth.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of Sylvester & Finseth in the above entitled matter, of the city of Crookston, in said county and state, have by deed in writing, dated 4th day of March, 1893, made a general assignment to the undersigned, of all copartnership and individual property not exempt by law from levy and sale on execution, for the benefit of all their creditors, without preferences.

All claims must be verified and presented to the undersigned for allowance.

Dated March 11th, 1893.

JEROME W. WHEELER, Assignee,
(48-2) Polk County, Minn.

The St. Paul Globe And Cleveland.

Now that the Democratic party, by the vote of a large majority of the American people, has been placed in possession of all branches of the national government,

YOU WILL WANT
THE ST. PAUL GLOBE

As a regular visitor in your home.

It will give you the news of the world.
It will give you the markets of the world.
It will give you the doings of congress.
It will give you the doings of your own state legislature.
It will keep you informed upon the acts of the administration of President Cleveland, as well as the acts of the Republican state administration.
It will discuss, intelligently and impartially, questions of legislation and administration in both state and nation—giving especial attention to questions of taxation, finance, free wheat markets and those things in which you are most deeply interested.

You also want the GLOBE's great Geographical and Political Map, to hang up in your house or office. No intelligent family will want to be without the GLOBE or its Map.

Price of either the WEEKLY GLOBE one year or the Map, $1. Both taken together, $1.50.

RATES OF GLOBE BY MAIL.

	1 YR.	6 MO.	3 MO.	1 MO.
Daily	$8.00	$4.00	$2.00	70 cts
Daily and Sunday	10.00	5.00	2.50	85 cts
Sunday	2.00	1.00	.50	......
Weekly	1.00	.50	.25
Club of three Weeklies				$2.70
Club of 5 Weeklies, and 1 to agent free, 1 yr,				$5.00

☞ All subscriptions payable in advance.

Address, ST. PAUL GLOBE,
St. Paul, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9th, 1893.]
[Last publication April 20th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing power of sale, dated June 10th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on June 21st, 1887, at ten o'clock a. m., in book 33 of mortgages, on page 17, whereby Knud Johnsen and Guri Johnsen, his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, all that tract of land situate in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, described as follows: The southwest quarter of section nine, in township one hundred and forty-nine north, of range forty west, containing 160 acres more or less, excepting therefrom two acres in the southwest corner of said section, which excepted part is used for a church and cemetery, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $442, being the amount of the principal secured by said mortgage, with interest thereon and the taxes for the years 1888, 1889, 1890, 1891 and 1892, paid by the mortgagee, with interest thereon from the date of such payment. Said mortgage and the debt secured thereby were duly assigned by an instrument in writing bearing date September 8th, 1887, by said mortgagee to George Parker, and said assignment was on September 13th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said county, in book 33 of mortgages, on page 241.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m., at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, and $25 Attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

GEORGE PARKER,
Assignee of Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Assignee,
[47-1] Crookston, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9, 1893]
[Last publication April 20, 1893]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale, dated November 21st, 1890, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk County, Minnesota, on November 24th 1890, in book 49 of mortgages on page 208, whereby Bertha Rundhaug, formerly Bertha Iverson, and Torgrim O Rundhaug, her husband, mortgagors, mortgaged to Martin Lally, mortgagee, all that tract, piece or parcel of land, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The north-east quarter of the south-west quarter and lot six, all in section six in Township one hundred and forty-nine of range forty-two, containing 78 and 72-100 acres, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $158.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a.m., at the front door of the Court House in the City of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, and $25 attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

MARTIN LALLY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Mortgagee. [47-1]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9th, 1893.]
[Last publication April 20th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale dated February 5th, 1890, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on February 15th, 1890, in book 51 of mortgages, on page 539, whereby Ephraim Audette and Philanise Audette, his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to The Security Trust Company, mortgagee, all that tract, piece or parcel of land situate in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of section ten, in township one hundred and fifty north, of range forty-five west, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $547.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m., at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, and $25 Attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

SECURITY TRUST COMPANY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Mortgagee. [47-1]

The Farmers' Tribune

THE Best Newspaper.
THE Best Agricultural Paper
THE Best Editorials.

THE BEST MISCELLANEOUS READING.
THE BEST SKETCHE OF TRAVEL.
THE BEST ESSAYS AND SERMONS.

Should be read in every home in the Northwest.

LIBERAL PREMIUMS.

Each subscriber who pays arrearges and one year in advance, or each new subscriber who sends one dollar for one year's subscription between Feb. 15th and May 1st, 1893, will receive as a premium their choice of either

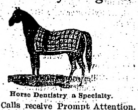
No. 1—12 Packages Vegetable Seed.
No. 2—12 Packages Flower Seeds
No. 3—25 Strawberry Plants,
No. 4—1 Lb. Farmers' Tribune Pedigreed Seed corn.

Remember, $1.00 for the Farmers' Tribune one year, with choice of either of above premiums. Or the

POLK COUNTY JOURNAL
ONE YEAR
AND EITHER OF THE ABOVE PREMIUMS,
For $2.00.

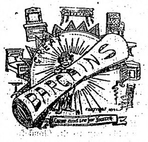
Address
THE JOURNAL,
Crookston, Minn.

E. D. SCHREADER
Veterinary Surgeon.



Horse Dentistry a Specialty.

All Calls receive Prompt Attention. Satisfaction guaranteed in all cases. Office: 319 North Main Street, in connection with Livery house.
CROOKSTON, MINN.



BARGAINS
Come and see for yourself

A Neatly Furnished House

Is a joy and comfort to its possessor. In this glorious northwest none are too poor to have good furniture and comfortable fixtures for their home. We carry not only the most expensive furniture and house furnishings, but also a line of good, substantial, nice-looking goods, which we can sell at prices within the reach of all. We carry everything to be in a first-class furniture store, and we guarantee to undersell our competitors.

Scandia Furniture Co.

OPERA BLOCK,
Crookston, - - - - Minn.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

Is the only line running
THROUGH PULLMAN CARS
—BETWEEN—
Chicago, St. Paul,
Minneapolis
—AND—
NORTH PACIFIC COAST POINTS.

THE DINING CAR LINE
Dining Cars on all through Trains.

THE YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
This marvellous Wonderland reached only by this line.

THE PEOPLE'S LINE
The people's highway from Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and West Superior to Winnipeg, Helena, Butte, Missoula, Spokane, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and Puget Sound.

THE TOURISTS' LINE
The popular line to reach Lakes Pend d' Orielle Cœur d' Alene, Kootenai, Chelan, the Hot Springs and Mountain Resorts of the Northwest and to Alaska.

DAILY EXPRESS TRAINS
Have Pullman Palace Cars, Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Free Colonist Sleeping Cars.

THROUGH TICKETS
Are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and West, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave	For St. Paul, Minneapolis Chicago, Duluth and West Superior,	7:12 p.m.
Crookston
Daily	For Grand Forks, Grafton, Brandon and Winnipeg,	8:10 a.m.

For rates, maps, time tables, or special information, apply to

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.,
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn

Ripans Tabules cure dyspepsia.

Ripans Tabules cure constipation.

SAAKE

Is still doing business at the old stand and selling

WATCHES,
CLOCKS
JEWELRY

CHEAPER THAN EVER.

☞ WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. ☜

ROBERT STREET,
CROOKSTON, MINN,
C. H. SAAKE.

Schmidt, the Painter,

—CARRIES A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF—PAINTS,
OILS AND VARNISHES.
—ALSO A FULL AND COMPLETE LINE OF—
☞ WALL PAPER. ☜

Painting in all its branches, and Paper Hanging artistically done.

Call at the Shop on Broadway.

If you want a
STOVE OR RANGE,
—FOR WOOD OR Coal, see the—

FAMOUS
BRAND
STOVE

AT ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER'S.

They are the finest line of stoves ever brought to Crookston, and are sold at

REASONABLE PRICES.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPENS MAY 1ST.

Are You Going? If so be sure and take out a Membership Certificate in "The Chicago Entertainment Bureau." It will save you Worry, Time and Money. Respectable and well located rooms at moderate prices guaranteed. Send for descriptive circulars to the

Minnesota and Dakota Headquarters, 618 AND 619 PIONEER PRESS BLDG., ST. PAUL,
N. T. HALL, Manager.

Partial List of References: HON. KNUTE NELSON, Gov. of Minnesota; HON. A. R. McGILL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; HON. W. R. MARSHALL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; RT. REV. W. N. GILBERT, Ass't Bishop, Diocese, Minn., and many other equally well known names.

An even mouthful of Climax Plug gives more satisfaction than a bulging mouthful of any other tobacco for the reason that

Climax Plug is much the best

GREAT NORTHERN
Railway
TIME CARD.

MONTANA EXPRESS—Daily.

West		East
7:40 p m Dc.	St Paul	Ar. 6:55 a m
2:50 a m "	Fergus Falls	" 11:25 p m
4:47 a m "	Glyndon	" 9:36 p m
7:20 a m "	CROOKSTON	" 7:25 p m
8:40 a m "	Grand Forks	" 6:20 p m
9:45 a m "	Larimore	" 5:06 p m
2: 1 p m "	Devils Lake	" 2:55 a m
7:00 p m Ar.	Butte	De. 7:30 a m

ST. VINCENT BRANCH—Daily except Sunday
Depart 7:30 a m Arrive 6:30 p m

FOSSTON BRANCH—Daily, except Sunday.
Depart 8:00 a m Arrive 5:30 p m

ST. HILAIRE, Thief River and Red Lake Falls Branch—
Monday, Wednesday and Friday,
Depart 9:00 a m Arrive 6:50 p m

GRAND FORKS' ACCOMMODATION.
Arrive 9:50 a m Depart 7:55 p m

The scenic route to Spokane, Helena, and Butte on the west, and St. Paul, Minneapolis-Duluth and West Superior on the east. Dining and sleeping cars on all through trains. Tickets on sale to all principal places. Baggage checked through to destination.

W. W. FEGAN, Agent.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leaves Crookston Daily
For St. Paul, Minneapolis, Superior, Ashland, Duluth, Chicago, and for all points South, East and West.........at 7:12 p. m.
For Grand Forks, Grafton, Pembina, Brandon, Winnipeg, and points north, ...at 8:19 a. m.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 53.
1 Northern 51.

J. W. Galloway was in from Fosston last week.

For a general family cathartic we confidently recommend Hood's Pills.

Mayor-elect Thompson of McIntosh was in the city last week celebrating his election.

The Fosston cases attracted considerable attention in justice court last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith and family returned Wednesday from a visit to Canada.

Geo. M. Swift came down from Mentor last Thursday returning Friday morning.

Mrs. J. A. Bemis, the former popular landlady of the Commercial was in the city last week visiting friends.

The plain truth is good enough for Hood's Sarsaparilla. No need of embellishment or sensationalism. Hood's Cures.

A. R. Dawson, solicitor for the Grand Forks Herald, was working the city in the interest of the Herald last Thursday.

Some interest begins to be manifest in the approaching spring election which may yet develope a right smart fight before the 4th of April.

V. E. Leibig, who has been acting as night clerk at the Commercial for some time, has accepted the position of day clerk at the St. Louis.

Edward Lanctot intends to take a trip back to Canada next summer and visit the World's fair on his way. Expects to start about June 1st and be gone until September.

Bill Nye will appear in this city on April 24th, under the auspices of the ladies of the Congregational church society. Everybody turn out and listen to this noted speaker.

Thos. Erwin and A. G. Rutledge of Fisher were at the county seat Thursday, They report the arrival home from Hot Springs, of Thos. Nesbit who has been at that health resort for a couple of months and now feels like a new man.

Among the Fosston people who were in the city last week were attorney Averill, O. L. Larson, S. C. Bagley, E. M. Masters, Jim Campbell, T. Orvick, A. L. Yoeman, Oscar Olson, Geo. Umland, Iver Peterson, Martin Iverson and Thos. Keenan.

Samuel F. Johnson, who appeared before the United States Land office last week as defendant in a land contest case, met with quite a serious accident before he started to come to Crookston. The night before he came up he slept at Ullen, and was awakened suddenly in the night by a sound that he mistook for the train coming and rising hastily he fell down an unprotected stairway fracturing a rib and bruising himself considerably.

The question now is: "When will the Red Lake Reservation be opened?"

Business at the U. S. land office keeps up well. On Wednesday eight homestead filings were made.

Only a few days on sale and seven horses sold. That's the way M. R. Brown's horses are going and if you need a team, speak quick.

M. R. Brown will not get another carload of horses right away, so if you need a team for springs' work it is better you see him before this lot is all sold,

Peter Dulude came down from Gentilly and bought a fine mare of M. R. Brown. On one point we are perfectly confident—that the mare will not Delude Peter.

In order to vote in the second ward caucus on Saturday night one had to be a legal voter of the ward. That was right and should have been so in every ward if it was not.

The last issue of the East Grand Forks Review was a daisy. The Review is the only paper printed and published in East Grand Forks and seems to be—as it should be liberally patronized.

Mrs. Edward George went to St. Vincent last week for a visit with relatives and friends in that village, meantime Ed. keeps house all alone, without one ray of brightness to cheer his lonely way.

Frank DeMers Jr., died of apoplexy in Grand Forks on Tuesday. He was the son of Capt. F. S. DeMers, formerly a resident of Fisher in this county. The body passed through this city on Tuesday evening on its way to St. Paul for burial.

D. S. Irish was up from Lake Park last week as a witness in a land case. He expects to make his usual veterinary trip through Polk county about May 20th. Anyone desiring his services should address him by postal at Lake Park anytime before May 15th.

H. F. Brown commenced the work of reconstructing his buildings on Second street this week. He expects soon to have the building in running order as good as new. A. C. Schmidt will occupy the part formerly occupied by Duntley's Cafe as a paint shop.

Geo. Young is an excellent judge of horses and that is how he happened to go to M. R. Brown and buy one of the finest teams of mares ever brought to this city. They came with the Iowa lot that Mr. Brown brought up last week. George justly feels very proud of them.

On Wednesday morning when W. R. Schendel awoke he discovered that his wife, who had been sleeping by his side, was dead. She had been suffering from catarrh of the stomach. Mr. Schendel is the man who recently purchased the Ralston barber shop on Second street and was living over the shop.

The young people of the M. E. church society will give another one of their pleasant little entertainments some evening next week at the M. E. churh. The last time it was Scotch and "no Irish need apply" but the next one will be Irish and the braw Scot will not be in it. The evening will be announced later.

On Tuesday Miss Emma Veronneau bought out her partner, Mrs. T. E. Adams, and will hereafter conduct the millinery business alone, assisted by competent help. Miss Veronneau is too well known as one of the best in her line to need any introduction to JOURNAL readers, and as she is an expert milliner and has lots of friends we readily predict for her a brilliant success.

August Wentzel returned on Thursday of last week from his western trip having visited Washington, Oregon and California. He says that while he saw some very fine country, very much of it was not so fine and he thinks there is no better place to make money than in Polk county. Joe Hoch found a situation in Astoria and remained but Kankle and Kronschnabel returned with Wentzel. August says he saw Box, Copeland, Utzinger, Paul Bataglia and Leslie McDonald and many of our former citizens all of whom are well and hearty and most of them are doing well financially. He says that if he had an independent fortune he could be contented to live in some places that he saw but he saw no place where he thinks a man of limited means could do better than he can here. August is fully satisfied that Polk county is all right.

S. A. Sylvester is in St. Paul this week.

W. Leman was in from Angus on Tuesday.

J. F. Creamer went to Fertile on Tuesday evening.

Dave Miller and Al. Shaw arrived from the woods on Saturday.

The registration of votes commenced on Tuesday morning.

Rev. Smith went over to Grand Forks to preach on Sunday last.

Bishop's genial traveling man, M. B. McClellan, was in the city on Tuesday.

Pat Cox and Pat Lealos two prominent west side farmers, were in the city on Saturday.

W. C. Andrew, representing Wright, Barrett & Stilwell, was doing business in the city on Monday.

I. E. Baker, a Crookston old-timer, was in the city last week adjust the loss H. C. Johnson sustained by fire.

H. E. Wilson, came down from the Red Lake Reservation on Saturday on his way to St. Cloud for a brief business visit.

Will Heidrich and wife came down from Winnipeg on Sunday for a few days visit with friends and relatives in the city and vicinity.

Only a few more horses left of that fine lot that M. R. Brown brought from Iowa recently. If you want a good team, don't delay too long before you buy.

Alexander Burnam, one of the leading farmers of Andover, purchased a team of those Iowa horses of M. R. Brown last week. Aleck knows a good thing when he sees it.

Have you seen that carload of horses that M. R. Brown brought from Iowa? If you have not and wish to, you will have to hurry up up for they are going like hot cakes.

Bob Johnson came over from Devils Lake to visit in the city a few days. Bob says he sees many improvements that have taken place during the year that he has been away.

Miss Veronneau has returned from her eastern trip and daily expects her new spring stock. She invites her lady friends to call and inspect her new stock of spring styles just as soon as they arrive.

In relation to the rumor relating to a through train to Duluth, that we published a week or so since, the agent, Mr. Sharkey, says that while he knows nothing definite about it, he is of the opinion that it will be done about April 1st.

Austin Bros. have sold their saloon and hotel property to J. O. and S. Sundit, who will take possession of the hotel property at once and put in a restaurant. They will take possession of the saloon property about July 1st, when the license expires.

Rev. R. H. Battey went up to Stephen to conduct services on Sunday and remained over to deliver a lecture on Monday evening. He came down on Tuesday evening and took the south-bound train for Barnesville. Expects to be back Saturday morning.

On Friday evening of last week a number of the friends of Miss Mabel Arnold met at her residence in this city on the occasion of that young lady's 19th birthday and after a pleasant evening left with her an elegant pair of opera glasses and various other little mementos of the event.

Gustave Lubertz came down from Black River last Saturday to see those horses that he saw advertised in the JOURNAL last week, and the result was that he bought one of the finest teams of mares that M. R. Brown brought up from Iowa recently. He was as proud as a boy with a little red wagon.

The Linden Trio company appeared before a Crookston audience on Saturday evening in an excellent program: Owing to the fact that the city caucuses occurred on the same evening, the attendance was very light, but the exercises were highly enjoyed. Miss Roman is a very talented pianist, and lovers of piano music enjoyed a rich treat; Miss Baldwin has a grand soprano voice, showing great culture; the reader, Miss Clemens is excellent, while the violinist, Miss Clark, was the envy of every young lady in the audience, who secretly wished her own beau could display as many diamonds as did Miss Clark's.

Farmers,

Go to A. Sture and he will pay you the highest market price for eggs, butter and wool, and he will sell you anything in the line of dry goods, groceries, crockery, boots and shoes at bottom prices. Call and see him at Williams & Roberts' old stand, McKinnon block, Crookston. [49.50

If you want to sell your farm, list it with the Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company. Office in Opera block, Crookston.

W. Loman was in from Angus on Tuesday.

The county board will meet in regular session on Wednesday next.

T. J. McAdam has been nominated to succeed himself as mayor of East Grand Forks.

I. I. Hillestad, the Fosston merchant, passed through the city Thursday on his way home from Grand Forks.

The schoolhouse in the town of Woodside was burned one night last week. When the teacher, Miss Helen Stoddard, appeared in the morning she found only a heap of smoking ruins.

If the chairmen in the different wards on Saturday night last will take the pains to hand in the committees appointed we can place them on record, where they will come in handy next year.

Jerome's new addition—a bouncing boy—was duly recorded on Tuesday night, and Alderman Frank Jerome was busy on Wednesday setting up the cigars.

On Thursday of last week Squire Abbott was called upon to unite for life two happy hearts—Henry Jones, of this city, to Miss Isabella, daughter of Wesley Morris, Esq., of Mentor. The JOURNAL extends congratulations.

A. O. Daniels celebrates the arrival of a bran new son at his house on the 7th of March. His excuse for not reporting this arrival before was that it was the seventh boy in the family and he was too happy to come to town before.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nelson have been called upon to mourn the loss of their youngest son, Nels Albert, aged 8 years and 10 months, which sad event occurred at the family residence, No. 320 International avenue, Grand Forks, on Wednesday morning, March 15th, at 8:45. The funeral occurred on Friday at 3 p. m.

The Ward Caucuses.

The ward caucuses on Saturday evening were well attended, one very noticeable feature being so many prominent business men in attendance. In the first ward I. U. Jennings was nominated for alderman. In the second ward, W.H. Norrie; in the third ward, Wm. Watts; in the fourth ward, John Cromb, and in the fifth ward, R. G. Marlette. The names of the delegates elected in the various wards appear in the report of the convention elsewhere in this issue.

Hidden in Little Things.

It is the apparently small affairs in life that lay the foundation for some of the deepest romances. Objects that have for days passed almost unnoticed before our eyes, may contain in themselves the clue to some happening that would rank as dramatic, or at least unusual.

This fact is exemplified in the play shortly to be presented here at the Grand opera house on Tuesday March 28 by Katie Putnam and her excelent company. "An Unclaimed Express Package" forms the basis upon which the playwright has cleverly reared a romantic and absorbing story, every situation of which is not only possible, but probable. The play gives splendid opportunities for display of the favorite star's abilities, and it goes without saying that she takes full advantage of them.

The Fosston Trouble.

The people of Fosston are having a peck of trouble since the tar and feathers episode. On March 11th a couple of Fosston citizens drove to McIntosh and wired the county attorney and sheriff to go out to Fosston on the 13th. The said officials went out and were given warrants for the arrest of about 25 of the citizens charged with riot. But only three young men—two of them mere boys—were brought to Crookston, and the case was opened before Judge Christianson, but the state asked for more time to get witnesses, and were granted an extension of time till the 23rd inst. The names of the parties arrested are A. L. Yoemans, Oscar Olson and George Umland.

On Tuesday, March 14th, occurred the village election, and the defeated faction had three parties arrested for illegal voting—Iver Peterson, Martin Iverson and Thos. Keenan. They were brought to the city, but the case was dismissed on the grounds that the complaint was imperfectly made out. The Fosston parties in the city last week claim that the men arrested are all legal voters.

Fosston has been free from factional fights thus far, and it is to be regretted that a spirit of ill-feeling has been engendered among its citizens.

Up to the hour of going to press the ward committees had not been announced, but will no doubt be in time for our next issue when they will appear together with the city central committee.

Joe Veronneau left for Cloquet, Minn. this week, where he goes to work in a store. Joe has spent most of his life in this village where he is known as an honest, sober, industrious boy and he leaves many friends here who will unite with the JOURNAL in best wishes for his future prosperity.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.
Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

AROUND THE COUNTY.

McIntosh.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

MCINTOSH, March 20, 1893.

The last blizzard of the season, we will hope, set in last Sunday night, and the familiar sound of the howling wind was heard round the house corners.

Sleighing has been excellent for the last couple of weeks, and the boys have availed themselves of the opportunity by taking their best girls for cutter rides.

Ole Stovem, A. Gilmour, A. Thompson, H. Quam and O. Narveson took Wednesday's train for Crookston and returned on Friday.

J. P. Johnson, A. Engesetter and J. A. Drew left for Alexandria last week to attend a law suit.

M. W. Jenson and Owen Nelson took a flying trip to Fertile, via Crookston, last week, taking in the city of Tilden on the Northern Pacific on their way back.

George and Ole Mandt left for St. Cloud on Monday to file on pine claims.

Election is over and a majority of two to one in favor of license was the consequence.

There seems to be quite a craze about going to the pineries and taking out timber claims just at present, and a number of our citizens are off in that country for tha purpose.

McIntosh will have more saloons than churches next year, as seven applications for license are in already, and there is talk of one or two more.

The dance given on St. Patrick's day was a very successful affair, although the boys did not turn out as well as expected.

A free dance will be given by the new officers-elect some time in the near future, and a good time is expected.

The winning ticket at the late village election is as follows:

President—Thompson.
Councilmen—Ole Stovern, T. West and A. Engesetter.
Recorder—Owen Nelson.
Justices of the Peace—A. Gilmour and W. G. Hunt.
Constables—Chas. Conger and E. B. West.
Street Commissioner—Andrew Stovern.

Euclid Items.

From our regular correspondent.

EUCLID, March 21, 1893.

Mr. Scotland, of Crookston, was in our village Wednesday.

Mr. Stenson with the Altman Taylor Company was doing business here Wednesday.

John Gilstof and Ed. Vandyne returned from the lumbering camp, Thursday.

The Euclid Clyde Association held an all day business meeting Thursday.

M. P. Losey returned from the county seat in time to take in election.

Mrs. N. Piatt was over to Grand Forks visiting with her son who has been very sick, but is reported on the mend.

Mrs. Wm. Davidson and son Willie, were among the visitors in the Queen city last week.

P. Fairweather took a run up to his Argyle farm Wednesday.

Miss Lillie Losey has been visiting with friends in Argyle for several days this week.

Miss Mary Useldinger, who has been visiting in Crookston for a number of weeks returned home Friday.

Mat Bats, of Fairfax, came up to visit with the Bievers Saturday.

Quite a number of the young people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hanson to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Miss Mary Theodore. It is reported that there were a number of costly presents.

Charlie Laidman has moved into the section house.

William Barenstine will try farming in Marshall county this season.

John and Bernard Tiedeman drove to Crookston Saturday.

Barney Harn thought the cannon ball too slow; said he preferred walking to Crookston.

It is reported that Herman Wallis lost one of his mares while on his way home from the lumbering camp.

Nellie and Harry Chapin went over to Grand Forks Saturday to see their parents who have been stopping there during the doctor's illness.

Pete Kelley is up from Eau Claire, Wis., visiting with his parents.

Mrs. Robert Casmey and daughter Emma, returned home from a trip to Crookston Tuesday morning.

Mrs. M. A. Amsden, lately of Bolton, Texas, will join her husband at Rock Valley, Iowa, where Mr. Amsden will engage in the lumber business.

The following officers were elected at the last town election: Supervisors, T. E. Biever. C. Stuhr, T. Myer; Town Clerk, H. C. Misner; Treasurer, E. C. Murney, Assessor, Peter Stuhr; Justice of the Peace, N. Piatt; Constable, Fred Goosen.

Henry Schantzen, who has been visiting with his brother John returned to his home in Marshall County, Monday.

Miss Matilda Bush of London Ontario is visiting, with her brother Charlie.

The following gentlemen were nominated for aldermen in the various wards on Saturday evening, viz: First ward, I. U. Jenning; Second ward, W. H. Norrie; Third ward, Wm. Watts; Fourth ward, John Cromb; Fifth ward, R. G. Marlette.

News of the marriage of Frank J. Arnold to Miss Henrietta Burlieni, has been received.

Ira M. De Camp is visiting friends in the city this week. As noted in the JOURNAL last week he will go to Chicago shortly as manager of a hotel in the windy city.

Carnegie's Mill at Homestead

In the third act of Miss Pulnam's new play, "An Unclaimed Express Package," the first scene shows the village church in midwinter by moonlight, and on a distant hill can be seen a huge blast furnace in operation. The scene is said to be an excellent reproduction of the famons village church at Homestead, the scene of the late strike, with Carnegie's, steel mill in the distance. Grand opera house, Tuesday, March 28.

6 MONTHS
Accumulation of Remnants and short lengths will be put on sale at Unparalleled Wholesale Reduction Prices,
Wednesday, December 28th,
The people know that at these sales no regard is paid to values, only one thing, the
REMNANTS MUST GO!
Fontaine & Anglim.

DR. PRICE'S
Cream Baking Powder.
The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

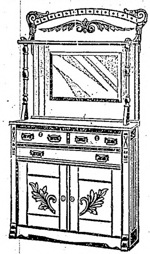
Historical Society

Polk County Journal.

VOL. XVI. CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, MARCH. 30, 1893. NO. 50

Crookston Furniture Co.

FURNITURE, CARPETS.
BURIAL SUPPLIES.

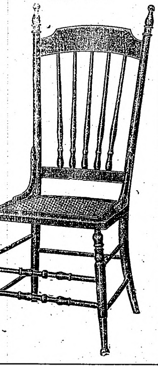


$19.50.

Solid Oak,
Large Glass,
Plush-lined Drawers.

8-ft. Oak Table,
42x42, only
$7.90.

$1.35.
Antique Oak Finish.



OFFICIAL DIRECTORY.

State.

Governor............Knute Nelson.
Lieutenant Governor..........David M. Clough.
Secretary of State..........Joseph Bobleter.
Attorney General..........H. W. Childs.

Congressional.

Member of Congress, 7th Dist....Haldor E. Boen,

Legislative.

Senator, 51st Sen. Dist..........E. E. Lommen.
Representatives, 51st Sen. Dist.....John D. Knuteson, B. M. Chesley and Hans Juelson.

Judicial.

Associate Justices Supreme Court.....Thomas Canty, Daniel Buck, Wm. Mitchell and Loren W. Collins.
Judge 14th Jud. District..........Frank Ives.

County.

Auditor..........C. U. Webster
Treasurer..........J. T. Beaudry
Register of Deeds..........John Amundson
Attorney..........A. R. Holston
Sheriff..........Arny Grundysen
Judge of Probate..........C. M. Benson
Supt. of Schools..........A. A. Lommen
Surveyor..........O. L. Hamery
Court Com'r..........W. H. Averill
Coroner..........Henry Shepard

County Commissioners.

First District.......... John E. Oppegaard
Second District..........Anton Linden
Third District..........M. E. Kirsch
Fourth District..........C. P. Demers
Fifth District..........Robt. Anderson

Town Clerks.

The following is a list of the town clerks for the several towns in Polk county:

Andover,	E M Bivins	Crookston
Angus,	J M Palmer	Angus
Black River,	P A Eckstrom	Wylie
Bray,	Albert Wickstrom	Wylie
Badger'	P N Savalrud	Sletten
Brandsvold.	Ole Nelion	Fosston
Belgium,	Henry Biever	Euclid
Brislet,	A P Frank	Warren
Bygland,	Halvor Grundesen	Fisher
Crookston,	E O Flanders	Crookston
Crookston, city,	E C Cairuth	Crookston
Columbia,	R H Carr	Columbia
Chester.	O J Mattson	Lindsay
Emardville,	Peter Anderson	Emard
Euclid,	F Tiedt, Jr.,	Euclid
Eden,	Neri A Skeie	Olga
Fairfax,	Wm Himmelsback	Crookston
Farley,	Mark Congnon	Warren
Fanny,	John G. Tenney	Buffington
Fisher,	John Gleason	Fisher
Fisher, vil.,	John Gleason	Fisher
Gd Forks,	John McCoy	E G Forks
Gd Forks, city,	John McCoy	E G Forks
Garfield,	Iver J Ingebretson	Fertile
Garden,	John Hanson	Ringdal
Gentilly.	H F Gondron,	Gentilly
Gervais,	John Deforge	R L Falls
Grove Park,	E E Abbott	Mentor
Goderey,	D T Mitchell,	Maple Bay
Hammond.	Ernest Hanna	Caookston
Higdem,	Ole Hendrickson	E G Forks
Hill River,	Fred S Syeverson	Lindsay
Huntsville,	O Osmundson	Mallory
Hubbard.	Frank Hanson,	Neilsville
Keystone,	D E Geddes	E G Forks
Kerlsonville,	Fred Benoit	Gentilly
King,	K C Norsving	McIntosh
Knute,	O H Dale	Erskine
Lake Pleasant,	Jos Perrault	R L Falls
Lambert,	Samuel Gebcan,	Lamber
Liberty,	Nelson Clementson	Fertile
Lessor,	H Helgeson	Ovetia
Lowell,	Ole Christianson,	Crookston
Louisville,	Louis Huot	Huot
Nesbit,	Robert Nesbit	Mallory
Norden,	O J Tweet	Tweet
North.	S T Johnson	T R Falls
Numedal,	Olaf Larson	Warren
Onstad.	W A Marin	Melvin
Parnell,	Thos Filban	Crookston
Poplar River,	J B Hebert	Brooks
Polk Centre,	Wm Wylie.	Wylie
Queen,	Hans L Houkom	Fosston
R L F, village,	August Herard,	R L Falls
Red Lake Falls,	Ildaig Baril	R L Falls
Reis,	D C Hallock	Edna
River Falls,	K C Gigstad	St. Hilaire
Rocksbury,	P Englesiad	St. Hilaire
Roome,	P Boukon	Neby
Rosebud,	M E Randkler	Fosston
Russia,	Orens Simmons	Crookston
Sanders,	Nils K Anderson	St. Hilair
Sandsville.	Henry Nelson	E G Forkse
St. Hilaire,	L J Johnson	St. Hilaire
Sletten.	Ingebret Larson	Winger
Sullivan,	P A Hotvedt	E G Forks
Tabor,	F J Cernousek	Tabor
Terrebonne,	Edonor Perruse	Terrebonne
Tilden.	S J Furan	Dugdale
Tynsid,	A O Stortroen	Neby
Vineland,	John Thompson	Neby
Winger.	Albert Johnson	Winger
Woodside,	Joseph Tagley	Woodside
Wyandotte,	O J Johnson	St. Hilaire
Rhinehart,	Oscar Winck	E G Forks
Thief River Falls	C J Knox	T R Falls

For Sale at a Discount.

A scholarship in the Crookston Business College. Apply at the JOURNAL office. [10 t.f.]

Farmers,

Go to A. Sture and he will pay you the highest market price for eggs, butter and wool, and he will sell you anything in the line of dry goods, groceries, crockery, boots and shoes at bottom prices. Call and see him at Williams & Roberts' old stand, McKinnon block, Crookston. [49.50

Don't forget my feed mill—feed ground every week day during February either for cash or trade at rate of one sack for seven or ⅛ bushel per bushel ground. Special contract for large quantities. Call on me.

W. H. NORRIE,
Successor to Priester & Co.,
Corner Main and Third streets.

COUGHING LEADS TO CONSUMPTION

Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

Fits.

All fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St. Phila., Pa. For sale by all druggists; call on yours.

Rheumatism Quickly Cured.

Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism; but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert, of New Brunswick, Ill.: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right to-day; and would insist on every one who is afflicted with that terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

Cholerine in Pennsylvania.

Swickley Penn.: We had an epidemic of cholerine, as our physicians called it, in this place lately and I made a great hit with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. I sold four dozen bottles of it in one week and have since sold nearly a gross. This remedy did the work and was a big advertisement for me. Several persons who had been troubled with diarrhœa for two or three weeks were cured by a few doses of this medicine.

P. P. KNAPP, Ph. G.

25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

Do you want some dress goods, flannels, skirtings, sheeting, yarns, linens or notions, carpets and draperies, go to the New York Store. Never before was there such a large stock of goods sold so cheap.

Come quick and get some of my A No. 1 dry maple before it is all gone. I have green ash, also that cannot be beat. Prices of dry oak, birch, tamarac and poplar still very low. All kinds of wood sawed as you want it at very cheap rate. My feed mill runs every day until April 1st and longer if necessary. Feed ground for cash or toll. Low rates for large quantities. Call and see me.

W. H. NORRIE,
Corner Main and Third Streets.

THE LEGISLATURE.

TWENTY-EIGHTH SESSION.

Tuesday, March 21.

ST. PAUL, March 21.—The senate voted to substitute the capitol bill which has already passed the house for the senate bill, and to make it a special order for Thursday.

The first bill on the calendar was the woman suffrage bill, and it was passed, 31 to 19.

The Eaton interest bill was killed.

In the house the village option bill passed; also bills to punish incest, to authorize corporations to refund bonded indebtedness, and to prevent introduction of contagious diseases.

A resolution was also passed providing for evening sessions, to be devoted to general orders.

Mr. Horton offered a resolution reciting the course of Judge Egan in the coal combine controversy, and commending his course and recalling any harsh expressions toward the judge, and providing for an engrossed copy of this disclaimer to be sent to the court. The house, however, refused to apologize until Judge Egan should first take back what he had said regarding the house.

The following bills were acted on:

H. F. 204—To provide for county teachers' training schools and appropriating $25,000 annually therefor; passed.

H. F. 88—To tax, in certain cases, inheritances, gift or devise of personal property, except life insurance money; passed.

Wednesday, March 22.

ST. PAUL, March 22.—The house did not transact any very important business during the day. A few bills were recommended to pass in committee of the whole, and then a recess was taken till 2 p. m.

When the house reassembled in the afternoon Judge Fleming introduced a resolution calling for the appointment of a committee of three, with full authority to administer oaths, summon witnesses and inquire into the conduct of Judge Brill in reprimanding Mr. Horton in his court Tuesday. After a short discussion the resolution was passed and Speaker Lee appointed Messrs. Wilson, F. M., McGuire and Howard.

A resolution was also introduced denying the privileges of the floor to the law firm of C. D. and T. D. O'Brien for the recent attack made on the legislature by them in Judge Egan's court. It was overwhelmingly adopted.

The senate took up the free text book bill, which was the special order for the day. There were two measures, one a house file and the other Senator Smith's bill. The former provides for local option, but the latter is compulsory. The Smith bill was shelved, and the house bill passed after many futile attempts to amend it. It will now go to the governor for his approval.

Thursday, March 23.

ST. PAUL, March 23.—Mr. McDonough's bill providing that officers of state institutions shall have been residents of the state for three years prior to appointment, Speaker Lee's bill relating to the filing of marriage certificates, and Senator Sanborn's bill prohibiting officers or employes of state institutions from being interested in contracts, purchases or sales on account of state institutions, were recommended for passage.

The calendar was reached at 11 o'clock and the following bills disposed of:

S. F. 372—Providing for a parole system at the state penitentiary; passed.

S. F. 47—Requiring the railroads to select their swamp lands within two years; passed.

H. F. 173—Prohibiting the abandonment or vacation of railroads; passed.

In the senate the bill to prevent the issue of liquor licenses to any but the bonafide residents of the state, was passed under suspension of the rules.

Nearly the entire afternoon was spent in debate on the public elevator bill and when a vote was reached the bill was passed, receiving only the necessary 28 votes. The vote was almost strictly partisan, only one Democratic or Alliance vote being cast in its favor.

Friday, March 24.

ST. PAUL, March 24.—At the opening of the morning session Senator McMillan introduced a resolution calling for an opinion from the attorney general as to whether this legislature could legally and constitutionally make any reapportionment. It was adopted with a few negative votes. A large number of bills were considered in committee of the whole, but none were of special importance.

When the house met a communication from the governor of Nebraska was read, transmitting a memorial of the Nebraska legislature with reference to the construction of a north and south railroad from Dakota to the gulf by the ten states to be traversed. It proposes a convention on the subject. The communication was laid on the table.

Mr. Rodgers introduced a resolution instructing the judiciary committee to investigate and report as soon as possible as to whether a bill would be constitutional providing for individual action against members of trusts in commodities. If such a law would be constitutional the committee is to report a bill. If it is not, a constitutional amendment is to be drawn. The resolution was adopted.

Measures on the calendar were acted upon as follows:

H. F. 666—To regulate the payment of delinquent taxes; passed.

H. F. 18—To regulate primary elections; passed.

H. F. 226—To legalize sales of real estate by executors of estates of decedents made three years after orders were issued by the probate court; passed.

A bill to abolish capital punishment; passed.

Saturday, 25.

ST. PAUL, March 25.—In committee of the whole the senate spent several hours discussing S. F. 4, the bill proposing a constitutional amendment authorizing the taxation of gross earnings in this state of sleeping, drawingroom and parlor car companies, telegraph companies, express companies and insurance companies, and the output of mines. This is the law which the people voted on at the last election and defeated, because the word "railroad" had crept into the law. Senator Leavitt moved to strike out the reference to telephone companies. Adopted. Senator Leavitt then moved to amend the bill further by making the iron ore tax 5 cents for five years, and after that from 5 to 10 cents instead of 3 and 5 cents as proposed by the bill. This amendment caused another long debate but was finally adopted. Further consideration of the bill was then postponed.

The house held only a short morning session and did very little business at that.

The reapportionment bill, H. F. 883, was reported back by Chairman Dunn and read the first time. It was made a special order for Tuesday at 2 o'clock.

Monday, March 27.

ST. PAUL, March 27.—In the senate the bill appropriating $50,000 to indemnify members of the coal combine investigating committee against possible damage suit verdicts was referred to a special committee. The following bills were acted upon in committee of the whole:

S. F. 197—Giving applicants for teacher's certificates an appeal to the state superintendent; to pass.

S. F. 332—To consolidate the three regiments of the M. N. G. into two and knocking out the brigade formation; to pass.

H. F. 274—Requiring all passenger trains, excepting through and transcontinental trains, to stop at county seats; to pass.

Bill providing for the destruction of grasshoppers; to pass.

Bill providing for an assistant bank examiner; to pass.

In the house the point of order was raised that no more bills could be introduced without the governor's sanction and was sustained after some debate. The following bills were taken from the calendar and acted upon:

S. F. 168—To prevent cruelty to animals; passed.

S. F. 190—Providing for the planking of railroad crossing at grade; passed.

S. F. 62—To compel railroad companies to erect platforms along sidetracks for loading and unloading heavy [illegible]

THE ABUSE OF HYPNOTISM.

Quacks and Charlatans Who Make Use of It to Gull the Public.

While the benefits from hypnotism thus far have been few and small, the evils have been many and great. Its sleeplike state is not a normal sleep, bringing health and strength to the slumberer, but a morbid condition bordering upon disease. It irritates the entire nervous organization and temporarily if not organically weakens the system. This drawback is serious enough.

Darker and more terrible effects lie in the suppression of the object's will for the time being, and the substitution therefor of the operator's. In this regard it opens avenues to crime and criminals such as has never been equaled heretofore. Already so many discreditable actions, not to use a stronger word, have been committed in Europe by means of hypnotism that in Italy, Austro-Hungary, parts of Switzerland, Copenhagen and other municipalities laws have been enacted prohibiting its public practice by any except physicians. So, on the other hand, the police, without any statute on the subject, have treated traveling mesmerists as disorderly characters. Thus Donato was expelled from Italy, and Hansen, another hypnotist, from Austria, was notified never to return under penalty of arrest, fine and imprisonment.

This Donato (whose real name, by the way, is Dhont) hypnotized an Italian artillery officer, who immediately became half crazy. From time to time he would go into somnambulism at the sight of a bright object. He would follow carriage lamps, and unless prevented would walk toward locomotive or steamer lights.

An architectural student was mesmerized by staring at his compasses, after which it was impossible for him to draw without going to sleep.

A young girl of Milan, of beauty and character, was hypnotized and impressed with the notion that she was married to a man she had never seen but once, and then in the darkness. She went crazy and died in a hospital.

Another young girl (of Paris, this time) was put under a similar spell and was ruined. She finally entered the Saltpetriere hospital, where, after a long and painful remedy, what was left of her former self was pronounced cured.

In New York a hypnotized person was made to believe that he had taken slow poison. He fell sick and wasted away to a shadow. Not until the attending physician discovered the true nature of the hallucination and rehypnotized the subject was there any symptom of convalescence.

In Turin, at a series of hypnotic lectures and public experiments, a large proportion of those who attended were taken sick with headache, insomnia and other nervous ailments. A few of those who were of a hysterical temperament remained ill for a long time.

In the foregoing cases the hypnotizing was done with no evil intent, but there are hundreds of recorded instances where it was done with intent of evil.—Philadelphia Times.

Long Winded Fogies.

"The Scythians," said Sydney Smith, "ate their grandparents when they became troublesome and told long stories." Who knows whether the Eumenides may not suffer a remnant of these useful Scythians to survive even unto our day to be a terror to long winded fogies, male and female?

I met at dinner recently an old fogy who I am sure has his Scythian waiting for him. He had been harrying the company with stupid remarks about natural history, asking questions, too, that would turn the stomach of a school inspector. At length, in that peculiar tone of voice in which theological questions are uttered, our fogy said, "Has an oyster brains?" "Certainly," replied our host, "for an oyster knows when to shut up."—Temple Bar.

Sport for the Dog.

The most laughable thing I have seen lately was the discovery of a new kind of game by a lively young setter dog. It was in a large dry goods store where cash is sent to the desk in little boxes whirring along on slender rails. The dog was following his pretty mistress sedately enough, when he heard the sound and saw the swift flight of the of the cash box. He thought it was a bird, and tore up and down the aisles after it, scattering the crowd and amusing everybody in sight. As he would not be convinced of his illusion, he had to be removed forcibly from what he probably thought the best hunting ground he had ever struck.—Kate Field's Washington.

A Lawyer's Defense.

Your honor and gentlemen of the jury, I acknowledge the reference of counsel of the other side to my gray hair. My hair is gray, and it will continue to be gray as long as I live. The hair of that gentleman is black and will continue to be black as long as he dyes.—Exchange.

THE WEEK'S NEWS.

Wednesday, March 22.

The mayor of Moscow was assassinated Tuesday.

The Lincoln monument at Springfield, Ills., is said to be fast going to ruin.

The Cingalese workmen at the Ceylon exhibit of the world's fair struck for higher wages.

J. Pierpont Morgan has gone to Europe, it is said to negotiate a loan of $50,000,000 in gold for the United States government.

Charles de Lesseps, Baihut and Blondin have been convicted in Paris of bribery in connection with the Panama canal. The other defendants were acquitted.

The bodies of five Nebraska people, who are thought to have been murdered, were found in a box floating down the Missouri river. They are believed to be a family which disappeared several months ago.

Thursday, March 23.

Oxford won the Oxford-Cambridge boat race on the Thames Wednesday.

The supreme council, Patrons of Industry, is in session at Detroit, Mich.

Mr. Abbey is to be the lessee of the new Metropolitan opera house of New York.

Justice Brewer of the United States supreme court has come out in opposition to the Chinese exclusion act.

Immigration during February aggregated 12,568, a great falling off over corresponding months of previous years.

Joseph French Johnson of Spokane Falls, Wash., has been elected a professor of the university of Pennsylvania.

The funeral of Jules Ferry occurred at Paris Wednesday. Thousands of strangers were in the city to witness the obsequies.

The Princess Kaiulani, her guardians, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Davies, their daughter and Miss Whatopp were passengers on the Majestic Wednesday morning, sailing for Europe.

Friday, March 23.

The Great Northern road will have a handsome grain column on exhibition at the world's fair.

Carlyle Harris has been taken to Sing Sing to await electrocution.

President Pyle and Inspector Cornish have retired from the St. Paul school board. They claim there is too much politics in it.

Three thousand people attended the mass meeting at St. Paul Thursday evening to protest against the alleged coal combine.

Two men from New Orleans committed suicide on the Casino grounds at Monte Carlo Wednesday night. Their names are given as Weill and Robb. They had been playing heavily at the Casino for several days and has lost enormous sums.

Saturday, March 28.

The long strike of cotton spinners in Manchester, England, has ended, the men accepting a reduction.

It has been decided by a Montana judge that international extradition laws do not apply between states of the Union.

The convicts who have been locked in their cells in the Massachusetts state prison for two weeks have resumed their various occupations.

It transpires that the interior department during Harrison's administration reversed a ruling under which $2,000,000 in pensions had been illegally paid.

E. O. Graves of Seattle, Wash, assistant treasurer of the United States under Arthur, will, it is rumored, be appointed United States treasurer by Mr. Cleveland.

Monday, March 27.

Pneumonia and influenza are alarmingly prevalent and fatal in New York city.

England and France have raised their representatives at Washington to the rank of ambassadors.

Hon. M. S. Wilkinson has been appointed postmaster at Wells, Minn., and John Sheehy at Montgomery, Minn.

The New Jersey board of pardons dismissed the petition of Murderer John Hall, aged 15, and he will be hanged April 14.

Frank Hickey, supposed to be the murderer of John M. Clayton at Little Rock, Ark., four years ago, is under arrest at Butte, Mon.

Boston carriage and wagon makers have demanded a 9-hour day, 8 hours on Saturday, 10 hours pay and a 10 per cent increase for piece hands.

Pancoast, the well known sire, is dead. Pancoast had a record of 2:21 3-4 and once sold for $28,000, the highest price at that time ever paid for a trotter.

Tuesday, March 28.

Queen Victoria has consented to receive Cardinal Baussa as representative of the pope.

The discovery has been made that the upper peninsula of Michigan may belong to Chippewa Indians.

A motion to censure the Gladstone government was defeated in the house commons by a majority of 47.

A Canadian company will build a canal between Lake Erie and Ontario and provide a new waterway to New York.

The St. Paul chamber of commerce tabled the Phœnex Athletic club communication asking for moral support to secure the Mitchell-Corbett fight.

The German government will raise the Washington legation to an embassy in the view of a similar action being taken by the United States in Berlin.

Maffee Barberini Colonna di Scirari, prince of Carbagnano, has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of 6,200 lire for having sold works of the old masters to persons outside of Italy without the consent of the government Shot While Going For a Doctor.

It was in Pittsburg some seven years ago that my wife woke me up one night and said that our little boy was very sick and would I go for a doctor. I said of course I would, and slipping into my clothes I grabbed my hat and started out. When I reached the first corner, I passed a stranger who was running the other way. I cut diagonally across the street and ran toward the center of town. Pretty soon I heard footsteps some distance back, and then several shots were fired. I felt as though some one had thrown a stone and struck me on the leg, but I couldn't run any more worth a cent. I stumbled down and then drawing myself up put my hand where I felt the pain and found that my leg was moist with blood. I easily realized that I was shot. The possessor of the revolver drew up before me panting for breath and exclaimed, "You will rob people, will you?" It was a policeman. I began to upbraid him most thoroughly.

Explanations nor execrations did not help the matter any, and I was taken in a patrol to the station. I repeated my story and insisted that a doctor should be sent to my house. The desk sergeant finally did as I wished, and our family doctor called at the house, and later came by the station. It did not take me long to convince the station officers that I was not the party, and was set at liberty and removed to my home. When I was able to get around again, I sued the city for $5,000, and I got it.—Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Crooked Railway.

There are few more interesting engineering achievements than the little narrow gauge railroad running to Caracas, the capital of Venezuela, from its seaport, La Guayra. The distance between the two cities, as the crow flies, supposing for the moment that he could fly through the mountains, is only six miles, but the railway connecting them is twenty-three miles in length, and consequently twists and turns on itself. The road runs in zigzag fashion up the mountain to an altitude of about 5,000 feet above its starting point and then descends some 1,500 feet in the same manner into the valley of Caracas.

Twenty-two thousand rails were used in laying the track, and of these over 18,000 are bent. It is jestingly said that the engineer almost died of a broken heart because he could invent no excuse for bending the remaining 4,000. He did his best, however, and no one who has to ride over the line and find himself shaken at every one of the 346 sharp twists which the track makes will find it in his heart to condemn the poor man for not making a perfect job. Two passenger trains pass over the road daily, leaving La Guayra at 8:30 in the morning and at 3:30 in the afternoon, making the journey in two hours and a half. This is a speed, exclusive of stops, of not quite ten miles an hour.—Pearson's Weekly.

Close Observers of Nature.

The most successful beast tamers are generally small, wiry fellows, with plenty of nerve and a good stock of trade secrets, derived from the close study of wild animals. In the latter respect savages, with their outdoor mode of life, have a considerable advantage over their civilized rivals. In the Chilean Andes the naturalist Tschudi made the acquaintance of a creole farmer who confessed that he had experimented for several years before he succeeded in capturing a live alpaca.

He had imitated the traps of the Indians, their method of fixing them in the sand of the river banks, their precaution in obliterating the traces of their footsteps, but all in vain till an Indian renegado revealed the secret—namely, that the alpacas select their drinking places where there is an audible ripple in the current of the river, perhaps for the same reason that cows prefer a brook to a pond and a running spring to a sluggish creek.

The murmuring of the stream seemed to suggest the idea of purer and cooler water, and where the current was slow the Indians contrived to produce a ripple by an artificial obstruction.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Many Questions but for Mirrors.

It is doubtful whether men would gain as much time as women would by the loss of mirrors. Aside from the fact that they don't have the chance to spend so much time at their looking glasses as women do (if they did you may be sure they would), it is likely that a man would have to stand as a kind of substitute for the mirror in his wife's toilet. Most men, therefore, would be able to go down to the grave with the proud consciousness that they had answered the question, "Is my hat on straight?" 10,000,000 times in the course of a long and happy life instead of only 5,000,000 times, as they probably do now.—New York World.

THE WEEK'S NEWS.

Wednesday, March 15.

Free gold is increasing in the treasury. More than $5,000,000 is now on hand.

President Diaz has decreed the free importation of maize and beans for an indefinite period.

Lady Mowatt, wife of Sir Oliver Mowatt, premier of Ontarior, died at Toronto, Monday, aged 68.

There is a rumor at Washington that General Bragg of Wisconsin will succeed G. A. Pierce as minister to Portugal.

Dates for examinations have been canceled by the civil service commission because congress failed to provide money enough to pay the traveling expenses of the examiners.

Mr. Hepburn, the comptroller of the currency, has called for a report of the condition of national banks at the close of business Monday, March 6, 1893.

Louis Nettlehorst, the well known German and ex-president of the Chicago board of education, died suddenly in that city Tuesday of Bright's disease.

Thursday, March 16.

The street cars in Minneapolis last year carried an aggregats of 25,000,000 passengers.

Citizens of Fan-Tu, China, attacked a band of pirates numbering 60 and put them all to death.

Three firemen were buried under falling walls at Minneapolis Wednesday evening. One is seriously injured.

Numerous Austrian, Swiss and German Catholics have petitioned the pope that he call an international conference to take steps to abolish gambling at Monte Carlo.

A special general assembly of the Presbyterian church in Ireland, convened in Belfast, has passed unanimously resolutions condemning the home rule bill.

Baron Du Casse is dead at Paris. He was born in 1833. In 1864 he was made chief of squadron. In 1855 he became an officer in the Legion of Honor. His principal military writings concern the last campaigns of Napoleon.

Friday, March 17.

Charley Mitchell, the pugilist, will sail for England Wednesday.

Mr. McCarthy's resolution calling for a reform of the tariff was defeated in the Ottawa house by a vote of 64 yeas to 116 nays.

It is reported that William J. Scanlan, the well known Irish comedian who is now an inmate of the Bloomingdale insane asylum, suffering from paresis, will not live more than a week.

A cablegram has been received at The Police Gazette office from London saying that Bill Goode of Battersea, has just issued a challenge to fight Alex Greggains for 500 pounds a side and the largest purse offered in America.

Saturday, March 18.

President Cleveland was 56 years of age Saturday.

There will be a cowboy race from Chadron, Neb., to the world's fair grounds in Chicago in May.

Dr. Virchow, son of the German scientist, has arrived in New York and states that America has little cause to fear cholera from Germany.

The liabilities of the Beaupre Mercantile company, which failed at St. Paul last week, foot up to $517,288. Creditors will not get more than 25 cents on the dollar.

Bishop Brown, of the African Methodist Episcopal church, died at Washington Thursday, aged 75. Bishop Brown was eminent in the church and was greatly respected and esteemed.

Monday, March 20.

The Sarnia, the long overdue steamer, has arrived at Halifax.

Fire at Milwaukee Saturday caused a loss of nearly $300,000.

Tremont Temple, Boston, was burned for the third time Sunday.

Captain Jacob Vanderbilt, brother of the late Commodore Vanderbilt, died at New Brighton Sunday.

Two dynamite bombs were discovered on the vessel Cyrus Wakefield, while she was being loaded at New York.

Princess Kauilani declares herself well satisfied with the turn Hawaiian affairs have taken. She will sail for England Wednesday.

Montana's silver statue of Justice for the world's fair was successfully cast at Chicago Saturday. Sixteen hundred pounds of silver were used.

Krupp's 124-ton cannon for the world's fair has arrived at Baltimore. The calibre of the gun is 19 1-2 inches. The projectiles fired from it weigh 2,000 pounds, and are four feet long. About 700 pounds of powder are used at a single shot, and the projectile is hurled with such terrific force that it will go through a plate of steel 20 inches thick at a distance of nine miles.

Tuesday, March 21.

Applicants for West Point will be examined in St. Paul next week.

A deserted infant was found on the doorstep of E. N. Winslow's residence at St. Paul.

Samuel Sutton and Louise Sochley, both murderers, died natural deaths in jail at Trenton, N. J.

All the workingmen in Belgium threaten to strike if parliament does not vote universal suffrage.

Captain C. Hooper, who commands the Rush, expects to make the trip in about eight days.

Eight Miners Killed.

LONDON, March 21.—A horrible affair occurred during the morning in a coal pit near Chesterfield, Derbyshire. While the cage was descending, loaded with miners going to their day's work, the cage, owing to some accident to the apparatus, suddenly fell to the bottom of the shaft and eight of the miners were killed.

RHODES ARRESTED.

Charge of Perjury Made Against Him and His Bond Fixed at $5,000.

ST. PAUL, March 27.—Upon complaint of Richard A. Walsh, a member of the joint legislative coal investigating committee, John J. Rhodes, general manager of the Minnesota bureau of coal statistics, was arrested on the charge of perjury late Monday afternoon. He was taken before Judge Cory, of the municipal court, and after his bail had been fixed at $5,000, E. H. Bailey, cashier of the First National bank, and Charles A. F. Morris were accepted as bondsmen and he was released. The grand jury will meet in May. Attorney General Childs is not yet ready with the criminal conspiracy cases.

The house of representatives has unanimously passed Senator Donnelly's bill making it the duty of Minnesota courts to dismiss any action like the $50,000 suit brought by John J. Rhodes against members, officers and employes of the legislature for damages inflicted while in the discharge of their duties and making void any judgment rendered in such case.

A BIG MASS MEETING.

Leading Citizens of Minnesota Protest Against the Coal Combine.

ST. PAUL, March 23.—The mass meeting to protest against the coal combine at Market hall during the evening was one of the largest held in St. Paul in many years, and would have been much larger had the capacity of the building been greater. Brief addresses were made by many leading citizens, but the chief speech of the evening was made by Senator Ignatius Donnelly, who promised that two or three of the leading members of the coal combine would be landed in state prison for perjury and that the criminal conspiracy under which the people are obliged to pay from $2 to $3 per ton bonus to the coal barons for the privilege of burning anthracite coal would be broken up. He referred sarcastically to the threat of Pennsylvania mine owners to shut off Minnesota's coal supply, and said personally he was willing to retire to his Nininger retreat and burn wood until the Keystone millionairs are ready to capitulate.

THE ROACH CASE.

Republican Senators Will Insist on an Investigation.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—After numerous conferences among themselves the Republican members of the senate have decided that they will insist upon an investigation of the charges that have been made in the public prints relative to the character of Mr. Roach, recently elected as senator by the legislature of North Dakota and now occupying a seat in the house. The Republicans say that in view of the seriousness of the charges it is the duty of the senate to ask that a committee be appointed to investigate if Mr. Roach himself does not make the request. If this is not done, it is understood that a motion with such a purpose in view will be introduced by a Republican. It is also said that Republicans will protest against any motion to adjourn this extraordinary session of the senate until this matter has been brought up.

Sales of State Lands.

ST. PAUL, March 28.—There will be a sale of leased and capitol lands in Kandiyohi county, which were forfeited to the state on account of non-payment of rent at Willmar on May 6 at 10 a. m. A sale of state lands will also take place at Rochester, April 22, and at Le Sueur Center, in Le Sueur county, on May 18.

After Pool Rooms.

CINCINNATI, March 27.—At 1 p. m. a patrol with Chief of Detectives Hazen, Detectives Toker, Witte, Callahan and Lieutenent Hill aboard drew up in front of Joe Kamp's pool room, on Sixth street. The detectives smashed the betting desk with an axe and carried out the two telegraph instruments and arrested the clerks.

Justice Deady Dead.

PORTLAND, Or., March 25.—Matthew D. Deady, United States district judge, is dead.

LATEST MARKET REPORT.

St. Paul Union Stock Yards.

SOUTH ST. PAUL, March 27, 1893.

HOGS—But a small bunch received. Range of prices, $7.10@7.30.

CATTLE—Steady. But little offered. Fair demand all around and yards well cleared up. Prime steers, $3.90@4.25; good steers, $3.50@4.00; prime cows, $3.50@3.75; good cows, $2.50@3.00; common to fair cows, $1.25@2.25; light veal calves, $3.00@4.50; heavy calves, $2.00@3.50; stockers, $1.75@2.75; feeders, $2.50@3.50; bulls, $1.50@2.50.

SHEEP—Steady at last week's decline. Muttons, $3.75@4.90; lambs, $4.00@4.90; stockers and feeders, $3.00@4.40.

Receipts — Cattle, 50; hogs, 25; calves, 5, sheep, 275.

Minneapolis Grain.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 27, 1893.

WHEAT—May opened, 65⅛c; highest, 65⅝c; lowest, 65c; closed, 65⅝c. July opened 67¾c; highest, 68⅛c; lowest, 67½c; closed, 67⅞c. On Track—No. 1 hard, 68c; No. 1 Northern, 66½c; No. 2 Northern, 63@64c.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO UNION STOCK YARDS, March 27, 1893.

CATTLE—Weak, 10c lower.

HOGS—Market steady. Heavy, $7.35@7.65; mixed and medium, $7.25@7.65; light, $7.10@7.40.

SHEEP—Firm.

Receipts: Cattle, 20,000; hogs, 18,000; sheep, 10,000.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, March 27, 1893.

OPENING PRICES.

WHEAT—May, 78¾c; July, 73⅛@73¼c.

CORN—May, 42¼c; July, 43¼.

OATS—May, 31¼c; July, 43¾c.

PORK—May, $17.67½; July, $17.72½.

LARD—May, $11.02½.

CLOSING PRICES.

WHEAT—March, 76¾c; May, 79¾c; July, 73c.

CORN—March, 40⅛@40¼c; May, 42c; July, 42¾c.

OATS—March, 29c; May, 30⅛@30⅜c; July, 30⅝c.

LARD — February $12.62½; May, $12.67½; July, $11.02½.

PORK—March, $17.62½; May, $17.72½; July, $17.72½.

A Cabman's Retort.

Irascible Old Gentleman (putting head out of 4-wheeler that is crawling along at an unconscionable pace)—I say, cabby, we're not going to a funeral.

Cabby (promptly)—No, and we ain't goin to no bloomin fire either.—London Tit-Bits.

Homes at the World's Fair.

There is no reason why anyone should be deterred from visiting the World's Fair by reason of possible inconvenience and uncertainty attending the securing of satisfactory hotel accommodations.

The Nothern Pacific railroad will in due time publish low excursion rates to Chicago and return for this occasion, while its double daily passenger train service, including through sleeping cars of both classes (standard and tourist) to Chicago, will as usual be at the head of the list in every particular.

To help you in fixing in advance upon your place of residence while attending the World's Fair, we have placed in the hands of C. A. Sharkey, our agent at your station, a book compiled by perfectly trustworthy parties called "Homes for Visitors to the World's Fair." This little book, which you can purchace for fifty cents, contains a list of about 9,000 private families who will accomodate visitors in Chicago during the time of the Fair, viz: May 1st to Oct. 30th; gives their names and addresses, and number of rooms each will have to spare. The book also gives a list of the hotels and their locations; has twelve full page large scale maps, each representing a section of the city, so that with this information before him the intending visitor himself can, at leisure, select the quarter of the city in which he would prefer to stop, by corresponding in advance with one or more families in that locality with reguard to rates and the accommodations desired.

CHAS. S. FEE, N. P. R. R.

[3teow]

Just as Sure
as Preaching

is it that the best of current fiction appears.

IN THESE COLUMNS.

We leave no stone unturned to make this a

HOME PAPER

in every sense of the word.
Are you a subscriber?

NEW CIGAR STORE
SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, MINN

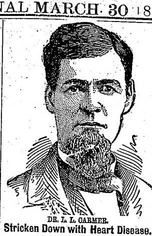
Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerchaum.

CALL IN.

A. H. DUNLAP, M. D.
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS, QUEBEC.
Office in McKinnon Block.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist,
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank.



DR. L. L. CARMER.
Stricken Down with Heart Disease.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

GENTLEMEN: I feel it my duty, as well as a pleasure, to publish, unsolicited, to the world the benefit received from DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE REMEDIES. I was stricken down with Heart Disease and its complications, a rapid pulse varying from 90 to 140 beats per minute, a choking or burning sensation in the wind pipe, oppression in the chest, much pain in the region of the heart and below lower rib, pain in the arms, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, weakness and general debility. The arteries in my neck would throb violently, the throbbing of my heart could be heard across a large room and would shake my whole body. I was so nervous that I could not hold my hand steady. I have been under the treatment of eminent physicians, and have taken gallons of Patent Medicine without the least benefit. A friend recommended your remedies. She was cured by Dr. Miles' remedies. I have taken three bottles of your New Heart Cure and two bottles Nervine. My pulse is normal, I have no more violent throbbing of the heart, I AM A WELL MAN. I sincerely recommend every one with symptoms of Heart Disease to take Dr. Miles' Restorative Remedies and be cured.

THOUSANDS CURED

Gypsum City, Kans. L. L. CARMER.

SOLD ON A POSITIVE GUARANTEE.

TRY DR. MILES' PILLS, 50 DOSES 25 CTS.

AT BEDTIME
I TAKE A PLEASANT
HERB
DRINK
C

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1.00 a package. If you cannot get it, send your address for free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary. Address, ORATOR F. WOODWARD, LeROY, N. Y.

John Wyatt
THE UNDERTAKER,
EMBALMER AND
FUNERAL DIRECTOR.

Besides carrying a full and complete line of
COFFINS,
CASKETS
AND BURIAL SUPPLIES.
has the largest and most complete stock of Pictures, Picture Frames,
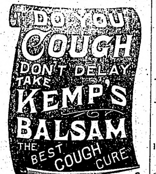
—AND—
Picture Framing Material
—In the city.—
Special discount During the Holidays.
Office 105½ Broadway.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINNESOTA.

W. A. ROBERTSON
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.
N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.
OFFICE: IN McKINNON BLOCK

M. LeGUEE.
Veterinary Surgeon
Residence and office on Jeromes Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.



It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

WE SELL

Dowagiac shoe drills, Rushford wagons,
Advance threshers and engines, Columbus buggies,
John Deere plows, Grand Detour plows
Steel lever harrows, 2, 3 and 4 horse, Boss Harrows, all sizes
Diamond feed mills and powers,
Buggies, road wagons and carts,
Light harness, single and double,
Farm harness, cheaper than anybody,
Cork-faced collars, the clear thing,
Victory fanning mills, world beaters,
Road Scrapers,

In fact there is nothing in the
IMPLEMENT
LINE
BUT WHAT WE CAN FURNISH,
And we have the best line of goods made.
"MERIT WINS"
Larsen, Carpenter & Co.,
Broadway and Robert street, - Crookston, Minn.

McKINNON BROS.,
—DEALERS IN—
ALL OF THE LEADING
Agricultural Implements
MAIN STREET. McKINNON BLOCK.
☞ Before Purchasing, Give Us a Call. ☜

CHRISTIANSON BROS.,
Abstracters of Title, Loans,
Real Estate and Insurance:
N. B. FARM LOANS a specialty. Terms, three to five years. Lowest rate of interest, payable annually at our office.
☞ Choice FARM LANDS for sale cheap, on terms to suit purchasers. ☜
Office on Robert Street, - - - CROOKSTON, MINN

Crookston
Business College
and INSTITUTE OF SHORTHAND.
DEPARTMENTS:—Commercial Shorthand, Typewriting and English.
TEACHERS:—R. C. Holaday, Nellie B. Perry and L. E. Gossman.
Winter Term begins Monday, January 2d, 1893. Send for new catalogue.
CROOKSTON BUSINESS COLLEGE, Crookston, Minn.
BENJ. A. STRAWBRIDGE, Prop.

ASTHMA CURED BY
DR. TAFT'S
ASTHMALENE
Instead of flying to the door gasping for breath, seeming as if each one would be your last, you have only to take a few doses Asthmalene when the spasm is broken, the breathing becomes easy and you feel as if an angel of mercy had unloosed the iron grasp of the fingers of death. The happiest moment of your life will be when you have used a few bottles of Dr. Taft's ASTHMALENE and it has cured you of Asthma. We mail to any Asthma sufferer a trial bottle FREE and prove that it does Cure Asthma.
Sold by druggists, Dr. Taft Bros. M. Co., Rochester, N. Y.

IF YOU ARE GOING EAST OR SOUTH ASK YOUR NEAREST AGENT FOR TICKETS VIA THE BURLINGTON AND TAKE NO OTHER LINE.

NEW BARBER SHOP.
On Main St. C. E. MISNER, Prop
Invites your patronage. Everything in the very latest style of the art.
RAZORS HONED.
If you desire your Razor Honed and cannot bring it, send it to me with 30 cents and your name and address and I will hone and return it.
Yours Respectfully,
C. E. MISNER.

THE DUAL
MEAT MARKET.
CHARLEY VINE
Is Headquarters for all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats.
Highest cash price paid for cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry and hides.
SHOPS
Corner Broadway and Robert street,
and on Second street, in Reckitt block,
Crookston, - - - Minn.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON
PAID IN CAPITAL. - $100,000
SURPLUS. - - - $14,200
Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.
GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.
DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. E. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine. J. R. McKinnon. A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh. Chas. E. Sawyer. W. H. Crosby

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, - MINNESOTA

SOUTHERN CYCLONE

REPORTS OF LOSS OF LIFE CONTINUE TO COME IN SLOWLY.

The Death List Now Numbers a Score, While the List of Injured Will Reach Into the Hundreds—Property Damage Amounts to Millions.

MEMPHIS, March 25.—The damage done by Thursday's cyclone in the Mississippi valley in enormous. While the loss of life is not as great as at first reported the damage to property will reach $2,000,000. The telegraph wires are still demoralized and reports are coming in slowly from the storm districts and it will be several days before the full extent of the disaster will be known. The death list now foots up 18, while the list of injured will Run Up Into the Hundreds.

The first heard of the cyclone was in North Louisiana and Southern Arkansas. It crossed the Mississippi a few miles above Greenville, devastating plantations, wrecking farmhouses and uprooting giant forest trees. The path of the storm was about a half mile wide and nothing was left standing in its track. The first fatalities occurred near Shaws Station, Miss., where the house of Driar Summerell, a prosperous and industrious colored farmer, was levelled to the ground, Killing the Entire Family of nine persons. The cyclone passed through the suburb of Shaws and demolished several residences and small stores, but no one was killed. The hurricane then changed its course slightly and traveled the right of way of the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad until it eneered Cleveland, Miss., where the public school building and several stores and residences were razed to the ground. No fatalities occurred at Cleveland, but several people were Struck by Flying Timbers and more or less injured. Leaving Cleveland the cyclone passed within a mile of Clarksdale, a town of 2,000 inhabitants, and next struck Tunica, the county seat of Tunica county. Nearly every building in the place was wrecked. The newly completed courthouse went down before the wind's fury. The colored school building was wrecked and over 30 children maimed. As the cyclone left Tunica it divided, one portion traveling in a northeasterly direction, while the other took a northwesterly course and again crossed the Mississippi river into Arkansas, where it spread through three counties. The towns of Crawfordsville and Vincent were nearly Wiped Off the Face of the Earth and the storm then took a northeasterly course, reaching Kelly, Miss., about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Here the greatest damage was done. Six people were killed outright and scores injured. Not a building was left standing, the fragments being strewn over the country for miles. The damage to property in the vicinity of Kelly will reach $150,000. After leaving Kelly the cyclone passed into Tennessee, the next place to fall in its path being Spring Creek, a small town in Madison county, where several people were injured, but no one was killed.

TWO DARING ROBBERS.

Bank of Caney, Kan., Cleaned Out by a Pair of Desperadoes.

CANEY, March 27.—A bold and successful robbery was perpetrated in this little town during the day by Henry Starr and Ed Newcome, two notorious and desperate Delaware halfbreeds. They rode into town from the south and leaving their horses near the Caney Valley bank walked into the bank with drawn revolvers and compelled Cashier Hollingsworth, Teller Sturm and Mr. McHenry to throw up their hands and walk into a back room, locking the door after them. The robbers then entered the open vault and seized all the money that was in sight, something over $2,000, and leaving the bank hastily mounted their horses and were off before the people of the town had any knowledge of what had happened. The citizens immediately organized and started a posse in pursuit, but there is little hope of their catching the bold thieves.

LATIMER ESCAPES.

The Famous Matricide Walks Out of the Jackson Penitentiary.

JACKSON, Mich., March 27.—R. Irving Latimer, the Jackson matricide, is at liberty and is armed with a rifle. He escaped soon after 1 a. m., after drugging George W. Haight, who had charge of the gate upstairs. Haight died at 3 a. m. as a result of the poison. Captain Gill, night keeper, is under arrest, charged with being Latimer's accomplice. Latimer tried to release the prisoners near his own cell, but failing made his own escape by way of the front gates. Latimer secured a rifle and a quantity of ammunition before going, and will surely make a desperate resistance. Those who know him say there is not one chance in a thousand of ever taking him alive.

LEFT THE SAFE UNLOCKED.

Thieves Get $20,000 Through a Cashier's Carelessness.

MILAN, Mo., March 27.—Shortly after noon thieves entered a rear window of the Sullivan County bank of this place, while the cashier had gone to dinner. He had left the safe unlocked and the thieves got over $20,000 and made their escape, leaving no clue.

Recent Milwaukee Fires.

MILWAUKEE, March 27.—Judge Wallber of the municipal court, has called a grand jury to investigate the causes of the recent fires in Milwaukee, as it is generally believed that they were the work of firebugs.

ELLIOTT F. SHEPHARD,

Noted Editor of the New York Mail and Express Dies Suddenly.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Colonel Elliott Fitch Shephard, editor of The Mail and Express, died suddenly during the afternoon at his home, 5 West Fifty-second street. His death followed the administration of ether by Dr. Charles McBurner and Dr. McLean, the family physician. A month ago Mr. Shephard noticed symptoms that led him to believe that he was suffering from stone in the bladder. He let it go and did not consult a physician until a week ago, when he sent to Dr. McLane and told him of his suspicion. The doctor urged him to submit to an examination and undergo an operation if necessary. The colonel was undecided at first but finally agreed and Friday was fixed on as the day. About 9 o'clock, just before the arrival of the doctor, he Complained of Severe Pains and said that he thought he would go to bed. The distress he suffered left him soon after and when the physicians and nurses came in he was in good spirits. He had induced his wife and youngest daughters, Marguerite and Alice, to go out for the day. His son, Elliott F. Shepard, Jr., was with him. About 1 o'clock Colonel Shepard said that he was ready for the surgeons and they, with the nurses, began the work of putting him under the influence of ether. He had inhaled the drug but two or three times when the physicians Detected Dangerous Symptoms and stopped the inhalation. Colonel Shepard sank rapidly and for a time it was feared that he could not be rallied. Powerful restoratives were administered. At the end of an hour's work with oxygen he was restored to partial consciousness and he continued apparently to rally until about 4 o'clock. Then, without warning, and for no apparent reason, he began rapidly to sink. The oxygen treatment was resumed, but it was of no avail and at 4:20 he died. He was unconscious and his death was peaceful. The cause of death given by the physicians was odema of the lungs.

Funeral Services Tuesday.

NEW YORK, March, 27.—The funeral services over the remains of Colonel Eliott F. Shepard will take place Tuesday at his late home. The Rev. John Hall of the Fifth avenue Presbyterian church, will conduct the services. Dr. J. W. McLane and Dr. Charles McBurney, the physicians who administered the other to Colonel Shepard denied themselves to all inquiries after issuing a brief bulletin.

BEHRING SEA DISPUTE.

The Court of Arbitration Holds Its First Session.

PARIS, March 24.—The court of arbitration appointed to adjust the difficulties between the United States and Great Britain in regard to the seal fishing in Bering sea met during the day in the office of the French foreign minister. All the members of the court of arbitration were present. After organization the court adjourned till April 4, in order to examine the printed arguments of the United States and Great Britian which were presented.

AN EXTRA SESSION.

The Herald Says Cleveland Will Call One in September.

NEW YORK, March 27.—A Washington special to The Herald says: President Cleveland has finally made up his mind to call an extra session of congress next September. He made this statement several times during last week to prominent members of both houses of congress.

NO COMPROMISE.

Republicans Will Contest the Organization of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—By a practically unanimous vote the Republican caucus has decided to reject all offers of compromise and contest the proposed Democratic reorganization of the elective officers of the senate to the end.

RACE HORSES PERISH.

Valuable Equines Cremated in a Fire at Mason City, Ia.

MASON CITY, March 27.—The stable containing Kirk Bros.' racing string was burned to the ground during the evening. In the stables were Storm, 2:08 1-4; Brown John, full brother to Storm; Storm Bird, Red Clay and several other valuable horses.

Storm was one of the most promising horses on the turf. His speed showed an increase from 2:23 as a 2-year-old to 2:08 1-4 as a 4-year-old. An offer of $30,000 was refused but a few days ago. The entire string was valued at $100,000. The cause of the fire is not known.

FATAL WISCONSIN FIRE.

A Father and Two Children Burned to Death Near Neillsville.

NEILLSVILLE, March 27.—At 4 a. m. Oliver Saunders, living four miles from this city, discovered his house to be on fire, and at once got his wife and baby out and then returned for the remaining two children, aged 3 and 6, but never returned with them. The three bodies have been taken from the ruins in a charred and unrecognizable condition.

$50,000 for a Patent.

PIERRE, S. D., March 28.—The inventors of two different patent car couplers live in Pierre. Since the law passed congress compelling all railroads to put on safety couplers, S. G. Trine, one of the inventors, has received an offer of $50,000 for his patent.

The New York Times Sold.

NEW YORK, March 28.—It is reported that a contract for the sale of the New York Times has been drawn up and agreed to. The chief spirit in the buying syndicate is believed to be Charles R. Flint.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

A Milwaukee Man Shoots His Fiance and Suicides.

PASS CHRISTIAN, Miss., March 17.—A most startling discovery was made here during the day of the bodies of Miss Alma Nunnemacher, daughter of Mr. Herman Nunnemacher, a prominent merchant of Milwaukee, and W. B. Miller, also of Milwaukee, both of whom had been shot through the head. Miss Nunemacher had been spending the winter with her parents here and last week Mr. Miller, to whom she was engaged, arrived here. Her parents opposed the match and on Friday last she left the house and as night came on and she did not appear, Mr. Miller also disappeared. It was supposed they had gone off together. On Sunday the parents left, hoping to find their daughter in New Orleans. Thursday afternoon a young boy Found the Bodies in a pine thicket on the north side of the railroad about 200 yards from the depot. From the position in which they were lying the supposition is that the young man must have first shot his companion through the left temple and then shot himself behind the right ear.

The Republican members of the United States senate resolve to fight the Democratic organization of that body at the extra session.

The Phœnix Athletic club of St. Paul has asked moral support of the chamber of commerce in making a bid for the Corbett-Mitchell fight.

Dean Millard has suspended the senior class of the medical department of the Minnesota State university as the culmination of trouble which has existed for some time.

An Idea of Heaven.

On one occasion the leader of talk started the subject of the generally prevailing ideas about heaven. After the usual hit at the materialistic views of the Mohammedan, he turned to an American gentleman at the table and asked what were his notions on the subject? The Yankee, with his slow, nasal accent and cool manner commanding attention, replied, "Waal my notion of heaven is that of a quiet, green place, without money and without price."—Mrs. Anthony Cross in Temple Bar.

No Head for Business.

Mose Schaumburg, Jr.—Vader, a shentlemans vants to know if dot unshrinkable undershirt don't shrink a leedle anyvay.

Mose Schaumburg, Sr.—Does dot shirt fit him?

"No; it vas choost a little too pig."

"Of course it vill shrink. Vy don't you have some heads for pishness."—Texas Siftings.

Swordfishing.

The swordfish lives from five to ten hours after it is harpooned, and at any time in that period he is a dangerous customer for the fisherman. Indeed swordfishing is one of the most dangerous as well as most exciting of all the variety of enterprises pursued by our fishermen.—Lewiston Journal.

A Youthful Sculptor.

Julia Bracken, who has received the commission to execute the figure representing "Illinois Welcoming the Nations," is considered the best of all Sculptor Taft's assistants. She is but little more than twenty years of age.

Potato rot is caused by a minute parasite, which is so small that a colony numbering 200 individuals can live in a space smaller than a pin's head.

Richard Baxter, the great Puritan preacher, was the son of a tenant farmer, and until nearly grown the future author did the work of a farm hand.

If you wish success in any society avoid the belle of it. This will put you in favor with the other women—and eventually with the belle.

Frederick Barbarossa, emperor of Germany, was drowned while crossing a small river in Asia Minor when on his way to fight the Turks.

THE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUEHLR, Proprietor.
A full supply of everything kept by the trade.
Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON. MINN

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE
The Great English Remedy.

Before and After.

Promptly and permanently cures all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses. Been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, leave his dishonest store, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlet in plain sealed envelope, 2 stamps. Address THE WOOD CHEMICAL CO., 131 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.

Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

Cook's Cotton Root
COMPOUND.

A recent discovery by an old physician. Successfully used monthly by thousands of Ladies. Is the only perfectly safe and reliable medicine discovered. Beware of unprincipled druggists who offer inferior medicines in place of this. Ask for COOK'S COTTON ROOT COMPOUND, take no substitute, or inclose $1 and 6 cents in postage in letter, and we will send, sealed, by return mail. Full sealed particulars in plain envelope, to ladies only, 2 stamps. Address Pond Lily Company, No. 3 Fisher Block, Detroit, Mich.

Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

C. HENDRICKSON, President. L. ELLINGTON, Vice President.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier. H. STEENERSON, 2d Vice President.
A. P. Hanson, Assistant Cashier.

Scandia-American Bank,

Of Crookston, Minn. Organized 1877 under the State law. Capital $50,000. Surplus, $5,000. Undivided profits, $15,000. Special attention given to collections.

DIRECTORS—C. Hendrickson, Grafton, N. D.; C. O. Christianson, Halvor Steenerson, Max Ericsson, J. W. Wheeler, E. P. Pierce, L. K. Aaker, D. H. Turner, A. G. Gallasch, Lewis Ellington, J. H. Locken, O. H. Lucken.

S. L. COLLINS,
Proprietor of Main Street
Livery and Feed Stables.
Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., west side,
CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA.

Horses bought and sold on commission. Everything neat and nobby. Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection, which I will attend to in person.

Valley Roller Mills.
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Manufacturers of
FINE FLOURS
MADE FROM SELECTED RED RIVER HARD WHEAT.

BRANDS:
Patent: Lee & Herrick's Best.
Straight: North Star
Bakers': Fife.
Low Grade: Skip Jack.

BRAN, SHORTS
AND SCREENINGS,
Always on hand at reasonable prices.

SUMMONS.

STATE OF MINNESOTA county of Polk—ss.
District Court. 14th Judicial District.
State Bank of Warren, plaintiff, vs. Joseph S. David, defendant.
The State of Minnesota to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which complaint is now on file in the office of the clerk of the above named court, and to serve a copy of your answer to said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county of Polk, and state of Minnesota, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of six hundred and eighty-eight dollars, and interest thereon at the rate of ten per cent. per annum since the 26th day of December, 1892, besides the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated February 23d, 1893.

H. STEENERSON,
Attorney for Plaintiff,
Crookston, Minn.

(49-51)

THE NEW
NORTHWEST

FARM LANDS — Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana.

NEW TOWNS — 100 or more, along the Great Forthern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.

LOW RATES — Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.

Horses, Cattle. — Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.

Health, Wealth, — In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns. New Railways. New Mines. Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.

Sheep, Hogs. — Sweetes Grass Hills. Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise.

Herds, Mines — These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.

"In no way can Americans so effectively inform themselves on the subjects that claim public attention from one month to another as by reading the North American Review."

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

THE TOPICS are always those which are uppermost in the public mind in morals, politics, science literature, business finance, industrial economy, social and municipal affairs, etc.—in short all subjects on which Americans require and desire to be informed. No magazine follows so closely from month to month the course of public interest. All subjects are treated of impartially on both sides.

THE CONTRIBUTORS to the Review are the men and women to whom the world looks for the most authoritative statements on the subjects of the day. No other periodical can point to such a succession of distinguished writers. The list is a roll of the people who are making the history, controlling the affairs, and leading the opinion of the age, such as Mr. Gladstone, the Prime Minister of England, Mr. Blaine, Signor Crispi, Ex-Prime Minister of Italy, Baron Hirsch, H. R. H. the Count of Paris, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishops Potter, Doane, Mallalieu, Foss, etc., etc.

THE TIME when these subjects are treated of by these contributors is the very time when the subjects are in the public mind—not a month or two after people had ceased to think of them. The promptness with which the Review furnishes its readers with the most authoritative information upon the topics of the day is one of its most valuable features.

Subscription Price, $5.00 a year.
THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW,
3 East 14th Street, New York.

A Dollar Saved

IS

A Dollar Earned.

DO YOU
WANT
TO EARN A
FEW DOLLARS?

IN THE SPRING OF THE YEAR everyone requires some Garden or Flower Seeds, and we have made arrangements with the Weekly Pioneer Press of St. Paul, whereby we are enabled to distribute

SEEDS
FREE
OF
COST.

And we can also furnish THE WEEKLY PIONEER PRESS cheaper than it can be got any other way.

HERE IS THE OFFER we are prepared to make.

For $2.00 we will send

	Regular price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
20 packages Garden Vegetable Seeds. retail price	1 25
	$3 75

THIS offer is good to New Subscribers, or to Old Ones paying all arrearages and one year in advance. Cash must accompany the order in every case.

Another Offer.

For $1.85 we will send you

	Regular price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
The Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
An "up to date" Pocket Map of any State in the Union	1 00
	$3 50

These maps are reliable and "up to date," and the map of Illinois includes a map of Chicago, which is valuable to any one contemplating a visit to the World's Fair.

Address

Polk County Journal,

Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

BY COOKE & HAMMOND.

Devoted to the Welfare of Polk County.

OFFICIAL PAPER, CITY OF CROOKSTON.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

ALDERMAN MARLETTE will succeed himself. He's all right.

JOHN J. RHODES is under $5,000 bonds to answer to a charge of perjury in the now famous coal combine case.

THE race between Joe Matthews and L. C. Couvrette for the treasurership will be close, and no odds are being offered on either one.

THE public feeling this spring seems to be in the line of changing the complexion of things municipally—a general renovation, as it were.

JOHN CROMB, without whom the city council would seem unfamiliar, will be returned for another term as alderman from the fourth ward.

A NEW candidate for aldermanic honors is Isaac Simmons, who was nominated at the citizens' convention for alderman-at-large. It is a for-sure case of the office seeking the man, for no one was more surprised than Mr. Simmons when his nomination was announced. Mr. Simmons has been a resident of the First ward for many years and by care and industry has accumulated considerable property. He is a drayman by occupation, but shrewd and level-headed withal. He would make a careful, conservative alderman. His opponent—Mr. A. K. Austin—has served the city in this capacity, and so far as the JOURNAL knows, he has given satisfaction. It will be "nip and tuck" between these two.

THE JOURNAL expected to see the people of the second ward nominate Alderman Monroe. He was appointed last summer to fill an unexpired term, and it was his first service as an alderman. He has acquitted himself creditably, and it would have only been an act of courtesy for his constituents to show their appreciation of his services by nominating and electing him for a term. His friends took the matter up and had his name put on as an independent candidate, so that all those who think he performed his duties as an alderman satisfactorily can have an opportunity to express themselves. The regular nominee—Mr. Norrie—is a good parliamentarian, well posted on city affairs, very popular and would make an excellent alderman.

AMONG the present city officers who seem to have a grip upon their office is E. C. Carruth, city clerk. His friends claim that he can hold the office just as long as he wants it. Perhaps he can, but it generally happens that when a man imagines he owns an office, the people conclude it is time to give him a rest. About the only objection heard against Mr. Carruth is that his election simply contributes $400 a year to the support of the Times, and that that institution has had a great sufficiency—in fact more than its share—of the public pap. E. M. Scanton—who consented to have his name put on the ballots as an independent candidate for clerk—may not be as well known as Mr. Carruth, but he is in every way qualified for the office, and could devote more time to it than the present incumbent, whose mutitudinous duties in the Times office occupy about all his time.

As the date for holding the city election—April 4th—approaches, considerable interest is being taken in the question of who shall fill the city offices for the ensuing year. Of course the principal interest centers in the mayorality—the office of least emolument to the incumbent. Although the citizens' convention was probably the most representative of the business interests of the city that has ever been held here, another ticket has been put in the field—by petition. There is nothing wrong about this. It would be a very tame election with only one ticket in the field, besides it always tends to better government to have some opposition. There is no issue in the election, or any fundamental principle at stake. It is simply a matter of individuality, and as the JOURNAL has no candidates, it leaves the people to make their own selections. The makers of neither ticket saw fit to place their candidates upon any platform or pledge them to any line of policy. As far as Messrs. Stephens and Wheeler are concerned the JOURNAL believes that either one would give the city a good administration. Both are good business men and good citizens. Both are bank cashiers of different banks, and both have their friends and followers. Mr. Stephens has the advantage of being the unanimous nominee of a convention of delegates selected by the regularly called ward caucuses. And it is an undeniable fact that these caucuses were more largely attended by the representative business men of the city than ever before and the JOURNAL ventures the prediction that as the caucuses and convention went so will go the election—in most cases.

A RATHER caustic criticism of the JOURNAL's article in relation to affairs at Fosston, was sent us this week, which would be all right for publication if it was not altogether too personal in its tone and if it did not assume to sum up the case and give a verdict in advance of the trial of the cases referred to, in the courts, all in favor of one side of the case. The JOURNAL's article was inspired by a wish for the general prosperity of the village of Fosston as a whole, and was not intended in the interest of any clique or faction, and the JOURNAL has no wish to identify itself with either (if any such exists) but in the best interests of the prosperity of the village as a whole. We heartily endorse the sentiments of the writer when he says that no expense should be spared to bring to justice the aiders and abettors of the tar and feather disgrace, and every law abiding citizen of the village will concur in that opinion, but we believe the proper place for the trial and judgment in that case is in the courts, and we do not believe it is the province of a newspaper to stir up factional animosities in the matter in advance of trial. Every law-abiding citizen should unite in the effort to see that justice is done in this matter and not waste any time in unseemly wrangling over it. In some instances we believe the article in question to be manifestly unfair and altogether too personal throughout without an iota of testimony to back up its assertions. All that is necessary is that its contents be brought out at the trial when it occurs, and the court is the proper place for it.

LOVE AND DISCRETION.

Has the Tempering of the One with the Other Affected Matrimony?

It cannot be doubted that the popularity of matrimony has materially declined in recent years, and that a kind of general hesitancy seems to prevail respecting the negotiation of such alliances. There was a time when the young people of the country hastened to pair themselves with birdlike eagerness and delight as soon as they were out of school, and society not only encouraged them, but practically commanded them to take that course. They were considered superfluous and burdensome until they got married. The true work of life could not begin with them, they were taught, so long as they remained single. It was their duty to become yoked without unnecessary delay, and it was a disgrace to miss reasonable opportunities in that relation. But it is decidedly different at the present day. The practice of wedlock is no longer imperative, nor does discredit attend the unmated state, even when prolonged into the thirties. There is as much advice given against marriage as in favor of it by the wise and experienced of both sexes, and the result is a steady decrease in the proportion of actual weddings to possible ones.

The causes which have produced this marked change are not sufficiently definite for satisfactory analysis. It is probably true that our extravagant style of living as compared with that of former times is one of the effective influences. The cost of supporting a wife and raising a family is much larger than it used to be, and this feature of the matter often gives pause on both sides. We have come to measure so many other things by money that matrimony has not escaped the rule. The young people are disinclined to start in a humble way and gradually improve their situation. They want all that their parents have without waiting and striving for it. Many proposals are unquestionably delayed or rejected on this account.

Then it is well known that the new avenues of employment open to women have made them more independent, and probably also more exacting as to the qualifications of husbands. It is not nearly so common as it once was for girls to marry simply in order to secure a home and a living; they are able now to earn good wages and to take their time about assuming the duties of wives and mothers. We may safely believe, moreover, that the progress of women in education and in social power has led them to look less favorably upon the connubial condition by subordinating their hearts to their heads, so to speak. And finally it cannot but be that the abundance of criticism to which the marriage system has been subjected by writers of pronounced vigor and skill has served to weaken it in the popular estimation, and to disparage the quality of sacredness that is its highest claim to respect and honor.

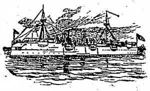
There is no reason as yet, however, to lament the prevailing tendency as a national misfortune. The amount of marrying is still large enough for all ordinary purposes, and it may be that less rather than more of it would best promote the interests of society. Such unions should be formed with some other object than that of merely propagating the species. They involve the most serious obligations and responsibilities of human life, and if people are learning to be slow and careful about making contracts of so much importance it is hardly a sign of decay or a threat of calamity.

GREAT NAVY REVIEW

WARSHIPS OF ALL NATIONS WILL PARTICIPATE.

A Naval Spectacle That Will Surpass In Magnitude and Grandeur Anything the World Has Ever Seen—Some of the Details of the Great Display.

School children as well as many "children of a larger growth" have been taught to regard the "Invincible Armada" with which the misguided Philip II, king of Spain, fondly imagined that he would be able to effect the conquest of England as the most formidable naval demonstration the world has ever seen. This is of course a ridiculous error, for on many occasions since then there have been gatherings of war vessels which would have annihilated the misnamed "Invincible Armada" in an hour.

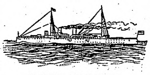


UNITED STATES FLAGSHIP BALTIMORE.

Unquestionably the most imposing marine spectacle ever seen will be the naval review in New York harbor, which will be a fitting prelude to the opening of the World's fair. Most of the great powers will have their best ships at the display, which will be in command of Rear Admiral Gherardi of the United States navy.

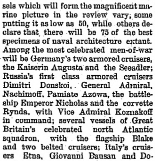
The great Spanish armada was made up of 65 galleons and large ships, 25 urcas of 300 to 700 tons burden, 19 tenders of 70 to 100 tons, 13 small frigates, 4 galleoses and 4 galleys, in all 130 vessels, with a total tonnage of 75,868 tons. This is less than one-third of the tonnage which will participate in the great naval review. One vessel of the new United States navy, the Columbia or the New York, could lie at anchor and permit the entire armada to pepper away at her for a week without making a return, and she would not be injured at all. Any one of our rams could destroy the entire armada without suffering any damage and without discharging a single gun.

The fleets sent by each of the foreign countries will be received at Hampton Roads on April 17 by Admiral Gherardi. There will be a week for evolutions, sham battles, etc., when the warships will proceed to New York, arriving on the 26th. The big review will occur the next day. On the 28th Admiral Gherardi will give an elaborate dinner to the foreign officers and other distinguished guests, most of whom will leave under escort the same evening for Chicago, arriving there in ample time to take part in the opening ceremonies of the World's fair.



BRITISH FLAGSHIP BLAKE.

The estimates as to the number of vessels which will form the magnificent marine picture in the review vary, some putting it as low as 50, while others declare that there will be 75 of the best specimens of naval architecture extant. Among the most celebrated men-of-war will be Germany's two armored cruisers, the Kaiserin Augusta and the Seeadler; Russia's first class armored cruisers Dimitri Donskoi, General Admiral, Nachimoff, Pamiate Azowa, the battleship Emperor Nicholas and the corvette Rynda, with Vice Admiral Koznakoff in command; several vessels of Great Britain's celebrated north Atlantic squadron, with the flagship Blake and two belted cruisers; Italy's cruisers Etna, Giovanni Bausan and Dogali; Spain's cruisers Reina Regente and Infanta Ysabel, and the gunboat Espana, with the Duke of Veragua and his suite on board; France's large cruiser Arethuse and several other of her most famous warships; Brazil's ironclad Aquidaban and cruisers Republica and Tiradentes; Holland's first class frigate Van Speyk, and the United States ships Baltimore, New York, Chicago, Charleston, San Francisco, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Kearsarge, Bennington, Concord, Miantonomoh, Bancroft, Vesuvius and several others which have not yet been definitely decided upon. It is expected that Russia will have the largest representation of any foreign power, although she has not by any means the largest navy in the world, being excelled in this respect by both France and England.

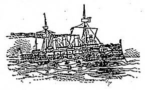


FRENCH FLAGSHIP ARETHUSE.

Official figures show that at the beginning of last year there were 58,000 men in active service in the English navy. She had 62 armored vessels, 29 protected and 282 unprotected, making in all 373 ships. By 1894 England expects to have 77 armored ships, 88 protected and 336 unprotected—a total of 501 vessels. France has 61 armored and 198 unarmored ships, 5 armored and 65 unarmored gunboats and 194 torpedo boats. She has 76,070 men in her navy. Russia has 87,080 men on the active list, and her war vessels comprise 65 armored and 61 unarmored ships, 5 armored and 23 unarmored gunboats and 107 torpedo boats. It may surprise many persons to know that, in point of men on the active lists of the navies of Europe, Turkey comes fourth, with 36,890 men; Spain fifth, with 26,360; Italy sixth, with 16,500; Germany seventh, with 12,160; Holland eighth, with 10,160; Sweden and Norway ninth, with 8,369; Denmark tenth, with 7,798, and poor little Portugal eleventh, with but 2,844 men. France also leads with her naval reserve of 150,000, nearly three times as many as her nearest rival, Great Britain, which has but 55,000 men.

It is estimated that 5,000 sailors will be required to man the American ships which will be in the naval review, while there will be about 20,000 men on board the foreign vessels. The total value of all the craft will probably exceed $200,000,000. Thus it is no exaggeration to say that "compared with the matchless array of battleships that will parade in New York harbor the navies of the world's infancy were the merest toys," or "the Persian ships that gathered by thousands at Salamis, and the Roman and Egyptian galleys that darkened the Mediterranean off Actium were relatively but insignificant chips on the surface of the sea." The vast wooden fleets of England, France and Spain which seemed invincible little more than 100 years ago positively excite amusement by comparison with the proposed aggregation of vessels in New York harbor.

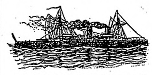
During the week devoted to the rendezvous in Hampton Roads it is proposed to give an exhibition of more than ordinary interest because of the historical associations connected with the event which it is desired to commemorate. This will consist of a sham battle between old fashioned ironclads of the types of the Merrimac and Monitor. The mimic contest will occur on the very spot where the vessels really fought on March 9, 1862.



GERMAN IRONCLAD EMPRESS AUGUSTA.

Many a naval officer will doubtless reflect as he stands watching the sport from the bridge of his steel cruiser that if it had not been for that fight he might still be walking the deck of a wooden vessel which a shot from guns now considered useless would easily sink if it happened to strike just between wind and water. There will be salutes of all descriptions at Hampton Roads, and the foreigners will be entertained appropriately by the officers of the American navy. Countless receptions have already been planned in the cities near by, and many of them will probably materialize.

If the present plans be not changed, when the great fleet sails for New York April 24 it will probably proceed in squadron order under a headway of 7½ knots. On the journey north there may be some evolutions by the representatives of the different countries. The ships are expected to anchor in Sandy Hook bay. On the morning of the review, upon receiving the signal, the foreigners will take the positions assigned them by Admiral Gherardi, but it has been decided that they will keep the starboard side of the channel, the Americans escorting them on the port side. The procession will then move forward in double column at a uniform speed of 7½ knots, with a reserve speed of three knots to guard against emergencies.

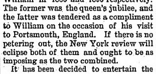


ITALIAN CRUISER GIOVANNI BAUSAN.

When the line reaches the Narrows, both Forts Wadsworth and Hamilton will salute with every available gun, and as each vessel arrives opposite the fortresses it will probably deliver a rattling broadside first in the direction of Hamilton and then toward Wadsworth. It will be a novel sight, and hundreds of thousands of persons will doubtless see the sinister tongues of flame leap from the ships' sides and hear the fearful report that follows. The three caravels made in exact imitation of Columbus' vessels—the Santa Maria, Pinta and Nina—will also participate in the review. They will be regarded with great curiosity.

Comparisons have very naturally been made between the coming review and the two great naval displays given in honor of Queen Victoria and Emperor William in 1886 and 1890 respectively. The former was the queen's jubilee, and the latter was tendered as a compliment to William on the occasion of his visit to Portsmouth, England. If there is no petering out, the New York review will eclipse both of them and ought to be as imposing as the two combined.

It has been decided to entertain the foreign visitors elaborately in New York upon their return from the World's fair, but the plans have not yet been perfected. Everything, however, will probably be in charge of the chamber of commerce of that city. This is the best sort of a guarantee that the receptions and other forms of entertainment tendered the distinguished guests will be on a particularly elaborate scale. The question of a second naval display just prior to the departure of the war vessels has also been suggested, but this has been opposed on the ground that it will detract from the interest in the great event.



SPANISH WARSHIP INFANTA YSABEL.

HERBERT LESTER.

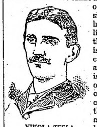
Land Values Rising In England.

Land in Great Britain sold at considerably higher prices last year than during the two years previous.

AN ELECTRICAL WIZARD.

Nikola Tesla Allows a Charge of 200,000 Volts to Pass Through His Body.

"I am convinced that I can today send a message to a ship at sea, and that those on board can understand it. If I cannot, I am willing to lay my head on the guillotine."



NIKOLA TESLA.

It was Nikola Tesla who made the above strange remark, and his wonderful achievements in the development of electrical science make his words worthy of respectful consideration. He has already established the fact that but one wire is necessary to create an electrical current and is now engaged on the problem of transmitting a current without the use of a wire at all. That he has grasped the secret of how this may ultimately be accomplished some of the experiments exhibited at his public lectures would seem to demonstrate.

Tesla produces a distinct and powerful glow without the aid of wires or globes and with apparatus remarkable chiefly for its simplicity. This consists of two highly charged disks, between which the light appears without a connecting filament of any kind. In an incandescent lamp hung on a single wire, but not connected with it, he produces a red light almost blinding in its brilliancy, which becomes a powerful white on increasing the frequency of alternations in the current. Concerning his theory of the possibility of transmission without wires Mr. Tesla says: "I have already proved the contrary of what everybody believed. I have proved that it is not necessary to have two wires to establish an electrical current. In my machine I have but one wire. I utilize the air as the other. But as I now get a return through the air I believe that I can also transmit through the earth, thus doing away with even the one wire. The earth is a great insulated globe filled with electricity, or the capability of electrical vibration. The only problem is to awaken this electricity, to shake this immense earth so as to set this mighty world force swinging or wagging. Of course it will take a great force to start this motion, but there is no doubt we can get it. Electricians thought 10,000 volts was a wonderful pressure. I have already stirred up hundreds of thousands, and the limit is far off. Instead of 300 vibrations I have already secured 3,000,000 a second. Give me the machine, and I will make a spark half a mile long. Now, at Niagara, for instance, which is destined to be a marvelous center of electrical force for America, enough force can be secured to supply all the needs of the human race twice over. By shaking the entire earth with the mighty power to be obtained there this earth electricity could be started. With this earth force in vibration the next problem would be to build machines able to catch and respond to the earth motion. There would have to be a synchronism between the electrical swinging of the earth and the machine. For example, I hold a glass to my mouth and speak. The glass is shattered. My voice to do this must have the same resonance as the glass. Such I conceive to be the secret of all nature—resonance. Then, setting this machine at any point in the world, the message transmitted through the earth can be received and read at Paris, at Hong-Kong—anywhere. Distance no longer exists. I am convinced that I today can send a message to a ship at sea, and that those on board can understand it. If I cannot, I am willing to lay my head on the guillotine."

Mr. Tesla has also discovered a means of harnessing electricity so that it shall serve mankind without injuring him. To demonstrate this he allows a current of 200,000 volts to pass through his body and illuminate a bulb containing sulphate of calcium which he holds in his hand. The bulb glows with a light so intense as to fill the room with brightness and to disclose the great electrician holding it aloft, unharmed and smiling. Then he assures the spectators that "this is nothing."

Nikola Tesla is only about 35 years old. He is a Montenegrin by birth, but was educated in Hungary and now resides in New York. Inheriting an eager inventive genius from his mother and a fortune from his father, he has given his whole energy to the science of electricity as a labor of love. He has no commercial connections whatsoever, and his lectures are given purely to stir up interest in his loved study. When only about 21 years old, he came to America and worked under Edison at Menlo Park. In the discovery of the harmlessness and free transmission of electricity he has eclipsed every thinker in the world.

Pio Nono Filled the Gap.

It is said that the pope is the only priest in Christendom who never preaches a sermon. Only once during 300 years has this rule, if rule it be, been departed from. This was in 1847, when Pius IX was pope. Father Ventura, a famous orator, was to have preached at a church in Rome. A great crown assembled to hear him, but at the appointed hour there was no priest. Presently the pope arrived. Probably he, too, had come to listen to Ventura. Taking in the situation at a glance, Pio Nono was equal to the occasion, for he preached the sermon.

Unique San Francisco.

The San Francisco Olympic club proposes to re-enact in its big gymnasium the scenes of the Roman Coliseum. The performance will be the feature of an April fair. There will be a grand entry of emperor and court, and the gladiators—20 on a side—having chanted the historic "Ave Cæsar! Morituri te salutamus," will take their places and engage in mimic battle to the death. This combat will be followed by other of the feats of arm common in the Roman arena. A special librette will be written for the performance.

Women
Will Vote

as usual at the next school election—but for many candidates. They give a unanimous vote—every day in the week—in favor of

KIRK'S
WHITE RUSSIAN
SOAP

because they know it has no equal as a labor and temper saver on wash-day. The "White Russian" is a great soap to use in hard or alkali water. Does not roughen or injure the hands—is perfectly safe to use on the finest fabrics.

JAS. S. KIRK & CO., Chicago.

Dusky Diamond Tar Soap. Makes the Skin Soft and Smooth.

You will
Make a Strike

If You Buy
YOUR CLOTHING
of Us!

You need them; we don't.
They were bought for you!

Our peculiarity is three sights—

CLEAR SIGHT,
LONG SIGHT
and FORESIGHT.

We don't have to wait until the first of the month before knowing what you will want at that time.

WE ARE ALWAYS PREPARED
to supply your wants beforehand at moderate prices, and are never caught napping.

The stock is full of what you want and you want to see it immediately, or you may not see something that'll cost you money to to miss. Don't by any means miss this striking opportunity that we are now offering.

GREAT BARGAINS
ALL OVER
THE HOUSE.

BOSTON
ONE PRICE
Clothing House
Mossefin & Lindell, Proprietors.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON CLAIMS.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, March 27th, 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Ranold D. Camson deceased:

Letters testimentary on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Donald McKinnon of said county.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court, for examination and allowance, at the probate court office in the City of Crookston on Monday, the 11th day of September, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock, a. m.

It is further ordered, that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown, further time be allowed.

Ordered further that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said County.

Dated at Crookston the 27th day of March, A. D. 1893.

By the Court.
C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.

[50-52]

M. LeGUEE.
Veterinary Surgeon

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON. [illegible] MINN.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

Euclid Items.

From our regular correspondent.

EUCLID, March 28, 1893.

Mr. Burrows of Grand Forks was doing business with some of our people Thursday.

Mr. Verett Munger of the Perry farm, came over to do some trading Friday.

J. O. McWaters of Buffington, was shopping in the village Saturday.

Quite a number of our young people attended the dance at the Hart farm Friday evening. A good time is reported.

The cannon ball was "conspicuous by its absence," Friday.

Matt Cornelius came up Saturday to take an inventory of school books.

There is some talk of a lumber yard going in here. It would pay well.

C. Teal, Sr. took a run up to Argyle Saturday.

D. H. Miller returned from the lumbering camp Saturday.

William Casmey went down to the Queen city, Friday.

Nels Freeburgh has tendered his resignation as manager of the Buffington farm.

Fred Taylor and father of Red Lake Fall, spent several days among us last week.

We understand that the Kelso farm is to be offered for sale in small parcels.

Will Kennar of Warren, has accepted the position of manager of the Buffington farm.

Ole Wilson has rented one of P. Fairweather's farms in Marshall county and will go there to reside.

There has been a number of important real estate transfers around here of late.

Rev. S. Currie took a run over to Grand Forks Saturday.

L. A. Downing goes to Larimore, North Dakota, to reside.

John Curl has rented of Robert Casmey the ne¼ of section thirty-two of Euclid township.

Wm. Davidson is busy hauling last year's crop off the Keystone farm to the elevator.

E. C. Murney our village blacksmith, had the misfortune to lose another horse this week.

C. Michler and Nick Engle drove to Crookston Monday.

Our citizens are taking advantage of these nice days. Sleighriding is the order of the day.

Taylor & Co. have shipped considerable barley and oats lately.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Palmer of Angus were calling on friends Monday.

Al Vine the genial Crookston butcher, was looking over the field Monday.

Frank Creamer the all around machine man, was doing business here Monday.

Mrs. William Brandt who has been visiting friends at Thief River Falls returned home the fore part of the week and now Will is happy.

Womans' Board of Missions.

Nothern Pacific railroad makes reduced rates to Owatonna for the annual meeting of the Womans' Board of Missions of the interior to be held at Owatonna, Minn., April 12th and 14th, 1893, we will make rate of fare and one-third on certificate plan to St. Paul and return subject to usual attendance.

C. A. SHARKEY,
Agent.

Swedish Lutheran Jubilee.

Northern Pacific make reduced rates to Minneapolis, for the Swedish Lutheran Jubilee Festival, to be held at Minneapolis, May 22nd and 23rd, we make rate of fare and one-third on certificate plan, provided there are one hundred or more in attendance, who have paid full fare on the going trip.

C. A. SHARLEY,
Agent.

The Northern Pacific railroad, makes reduction in rates to Mankato for the annual meeting of the Minnesota Sunday School Association to be held at Mankato, Minn., April 4th to 6th inclusive. We will a make rate of fare and one-third on certificate plan from points in Minnesota, subject to an attendance of one hundred.

C. A. SHARKEY,
Agent.

To the Ladies of Crookston.

Easter opening of millinery at Mrs. I. U. Jennings', Friday afternoon the 31st of March.

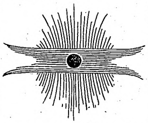
A Rare Old Globe.

One of the most significant curios in New York is a copper globe in the Lenox library. It is only 4½ inches in diameter, but it is believed to be the earliest globe to lay down the new discoveries by Columbus. It dates back to the first decade of the Sixteenth century. The little it shows of this hemisphere is mostly wrong, and the few names would be recognized only by experts in matters geographical, but the globe is rightly esteemed one of the chief treasures of a rare collection.—New York Sun.

THE SOLAR CORONA.

Professor Schaeberle Travels Thousands of Miles to Properly Observe It.

The journey of Professor J. M. Schaeberle of the Lick university to Chili to observe the coming eclipse of the sun on April 16 excites intense concern among all interested in astronomy, and may be regarded in current history as a romance of science. Not only does the professor go almost alone, trusting to hire assistants in Chili, but he takes with him a ton or more of instruments and machinery, which must be transported over the highest mountains in primitive fashion, and for the means to do this he is indebted, as the university lacked the funds, to the liberalty of Mrs. Phœbe Hearst of San Francisco.



THE CORONA AS IT MAY APPEAR.

When it is added that Professor Schaeberle is already noted for his novel theories as to the nature of the solar corona and that his observations will prove or disprove his views, the interest is greatly heightened. As every one knows, the sun is so much larger than the moon that the cone shaped shadow of the latter nearly always runs to a point before reaching the earth, and it is only on those very rare occasions that there is an eclipse when the moon is nearest the earth that the point of the shadow strikes the earth so as to make a total eclipse at that point. Even then the totality covers a very small section, the greatest recorded width of any total eclipse being 107 miles.

Now, the eclipse of April 16, 1893, will be total—first at a point in latitude 20 degrees south, on the coast of Chili, and thence in a northeast line across the Argentine Republic and Brazil, and similarly in a line across Africa, etc., but it will last but four minutes in each place, and one light cloud lasting that long would defeat all the astronomer's plans, so a station has been selected so high and so far inland that a clear sky may be looked for with certainty, and there Professor Schaeberle and his assistants will note every phenomenon and take photographs of sun and moon during the eclipse as fast as his great photoheliograph and smaller instruments can be worked.

The so called solar corona is that peculiarly brilliant and many colored light which extends far beyond the rim of the sun and can be studied closely only during an eclipse. It is usually attributed to a vast gaseous envelope or superheated atmosphere about the sun, but Professor Schaeberle maintains that it is chiefly due to the immense fiery streams poured out by the sun's volcanoes, which streams break into molten and vaporous spray and are instantly drawn back by the sun's immense attractive power. He has worked all this out with scientific detail and drawn complete and very detailed maps of the sun as it must look if his theory is correct. If observation during this eclipse shows it to look otherwise, then his theory must be given up.

To make the observations all his apparatus was transported 27 miles from Mount Hamilton, where the Lick observatory is, to the railroad; thence to the coast by rail and to Huasco, Chili, by steamer, and thence by porters and llamas it must go to a point on the Andes many thousand feet above the sea. British and French astronomers are making even more extensive preparations for observations in Brazil, Africa and elsewhere.

Irish Spies and Informers.

The recorded emoluments of these Irish informers were enormous. As to their indirect profits it would be idle to speculate. One Reynolds, a spy of very secondary importance, received on March 4, 1799, a sum of £5,000 from the secret service money, and was further gratified with a secret pension of some hundreds a year. He afterward obtained the office of British postmaster at Lisbon, the emoluments of which amounted during his four years of service to nearly £6,000. He was subsequently appointed to more than one well paid consulship, and at length, retiring in middle life from the public service of his country, he chose Paris as his final place of abode, and enjoyed his pension to the day of his death, having drawn from the exchequer of a hated government not less in all than £45,000.

Armstrong is said to have received close on £30,000 for his information; and Magan, who took up the business as a needy barrister, left over £14,000 to his sister. Higgins, who was not even an informer at first hand, but a species of information agent or spy keeper, began life as a pauper and a "sham squire," and after many years of free and easy living in Dublin, maintaining a reputation for that liberal hospitality so necessary to his success in his profession, died worth no less than £40,000. Very few were the real squires or peers of Ireland for the matter of that who left so considerable a sum of money behind them in the early days of the present century. —Edinburgh Review.

Getting a "Scoop."

I remember seeing a war correspondent of a Boston paper at the battle of Bull Run. Bullets were flying thick as hailstones, and shells were cracking as though pandemonium had broken loose, but the correspondent kept skirmishing around in the thick of it all, notebook in hand. Our major bawled out to him, "Lie down, you fool—you'll be killed." "Maybe so," he replied, "but I'm getting the d—dest scoop on the other papers ever you saw!" A little thing like getting killed doesn't worry your thoroughbred news gatherer when there's a scoop in sight.—Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

FREE HOMESTEADS

In the Saskatchewan Valley.

160 acres free to all males over 18 years of age in the beautiful Saskatchewan valley, where wheat goes 40 bushels to the acre and potatoes 600 bushels, and hay cuts from three to four tons an acre. Plenty of timber for buildings, fencing and fuel. First-class soil and water. Good railroad facilities. Fine climate and good markets and where taxes are only for school purposes. For full information apply to

C. A. MUNSON,
Colonization Agent,
Commercial Hotel. Crookston.

Advertised Letters.

List of letters remaining unclaimd at the Crookston postoffice for the week ending March 27th 1893.

Davis, E. W.	Gardner, Henry
Janson, J.	Jenson, Martin
Miller Minnie	Olson, Ole S.
Pfaff Olfans	Sten, Caroline Miss

Persons calling for the above letters please say advertised.

Wm. B. DAWLEY, P. M.

Free Trip to Chicago.

Separate W-O-R-L-D-S F-A-I-R and use the letters to spell as many words as you can by using the letters as many times as you wish, either backwards or forwards, but not use the same letter in making any one word more than it appears in "World's Fair."

It is said SEVENTY-FIVE small English words can be spelled correctly from the ten letters contained in "World's Fair." Example:—Wad, waif, soar, idol, etc. If you are good at word-making you can secure a FREE trip to the World's Fair and return, as the Scott Seed Company will pay all expenses, including R. R. fare, hotel bills, admissions to the Columbian Exposition, and $50.00 in cash for incidental express, to the first person able to make SEVENTY words from the letters contained in "World Fair," as above. They will also give a FREE TRIP to the World's Fair and return with $25.00 for incidental expenses, to the first person sending SIXTY words as above. They will also give a FREE TRIP to the World's Fair and return (without cash for incidental expenses) to the first person sending FIFTY-FIVE words.

To the first person sending FIFTY words will be given $50.00 in cash towards paying expenses to the World's Fair, to each of the first FIVE persons sending THIRTY-FIVE words will be given $10.00 in cash, and to each of the first ten sending THIRTY words will be given $5.00 in cash.

Only one prize will be awarded to the same person. Write your name on list of words (numbered) and enclose the same post-paid with fifteen U. S. two-cent stamps for a large package of our Choice English Cottage Garden Flower Seeds.

This combination includes the latest and most popular English flowers of endless varieties (same as will be contained in the elaborate exhibit of English flowers at the World's Fair.)

This "World's Fair" Contest will be carefully and conscientiously conducted solely for the purpose of introducing our business in the U. S.

You will receive the BIGGEST value in flower seeds ever offered, and if you are able to make a good list of words and answer promptly you will have a first-class opportunity to secure a free trip from your home to Chicago and return.

We are spending a large amount of money to start our trade in the U. S. and want your trial order. You will be more than gratified with the result. Send to-day, and address The Scott Seed Company, Toronto, Canada. [50-1]

Spring Novelties for Ladies.

Novelties innumerable greet the shopper this season at every step of her journeyings from shop to salon, from Bazaar to emporium. Never was the variety greater or the materials more beautiful in texture, coloring and device. The woolen textiles of to-day—if one confine her attention to them alone—have reached such a degree of rich beauty that it would be an easy matter to design an entire outfit, or indeed, a whole trouseau with them. Among other elegant fabrics are grenadyne rayee, and miroir, ombre, cameleon and nacre velvet to use in combintion with handsome silk or wool tissues. Bengaline ondine is very effective. Eglantine royale is another handsome tixtile, likewise French taffeta in delicate tintings, brocaded with Pompadour bouquets in natural colors. The oriental dyes also are noted in many of these fabrics, the gay mixture catching the eye of the shopper at onte. The McDowell Fashion Journals are precisely a sure companion for they contain the best and the most practical information. "La Mode de Paris," and "Paris Album of Fashion" are unique in taste and style, and cost $3.50 a year or 35 cts a copy. "The French Dressmaker," $3.00 per annum, or 30 cts a copy, ought to please every dressmaker. If you want to know all about the latest fashions, read "La Mode," which is intended to find its place in every home, is only $1.50 per annum, or 15 cents a copy. If you do not find it at your newsdealer's you can be supplied with them by applying directly to Messrs. A. McDowell & Co. 4 West 14th street, New York.

All-Fools Day.

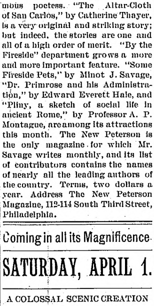
From a time long beyond the memory of the "oldest inhabitant," the first day of April has been deemed to give license for practical jokes to any extent. In the middle ages and down to the latter part of the eighteenth century, the peasantry of Europe celebrated All Fools Day by gathering in some church, choosing a bishop or archbishop, or pope of fools, and performing such burlesques on religious ceremonies as would now be thought highly improper, if not sacrelegious. It is said there is a fool born in the world every minute, and the literature of all centuries is sprinkled with allusions to them. Carlyle said that the population of Great Britain was thirty millions people, "mostly fools." This was dyspepsia run mad—but almost all persons are foolish about some things. Sometimes it does not make any important difference, but these are matters in which it is fatal to be foolish or fooled—and one of these is the selection of a railroad when you travel. You will be preeminently wise if you always choose the Burlington Route when traveling, for it goes every where and has the finest accommodations. For particulars, call on your home agent or write to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Better and better.—The New Peterson for April is even more attractive than its predecessors and cannot be too highly praised, both for its contents and illustrations. "Easter Days in and About Rome," by Sarah Powel, begins with a visit to the eternal city in the days of Pius IX. It is not only amusing but instructive; and several of the photographs are entirely new. "A College Girl," by Ellen Olney Kirk, is one of that popular author's best stories. The New Peterson was very fortunate to secure her, as she can seldom be persuaded to take magazine work. "Hawaiinei," by Mary Gray Umsted, is a delightful account of the Sandwich Islands, taken from a journal kept during a residence there, and the photogravures are admirable. "Easter at Naples," by Louise Chandler Moulton, is worthy the pen of that famous poetess. "The Altar-Cloth of San Carlos," by Catherine Thayer, is a very original and striking story; but indeed, the stories are one and all of a high order of merit. "By the Fireside" department grows a more and more important feature. "Some Fireside Pets," by Minot J. Savage, "Dr. Primrose and his Administration," by Edward Everett Hale, and "Pliny, a sketch of social life in ancient Rome," by Professor A. P. Montague, are among its attractions this month. The New Peterson is the only magazine for which Mr. Savage writes monthly, and its list of contributors contains the names of nearly all the leading authors of the country. Terms, two dollars a year. Address The New Peterson Magazine, 112-114 South Third Street, Philadelphia.

Coming in all its Magnificence

SATURDAY, APRIL 1.

A COLOSSAL SCENIC CREATION



M. B. LEAVITT'S

New Grand Spectacular Production,

Spider AND Fly!

ORGANIZED IN EUROPE AT AN OUTLAY OF OVER $30,000.

UNEQUALLED EUROPEAN CELEBRITIES.

Pantomimic Features Dazzling Ballets. Unique Originalities Superb Musical Gems Magnificent Imported Costumes. Gorgeous Entrancing Scenery, Marvelous Electric and Mechanical Effects, Interspersed with High Class Vaudeville.

AN ARTISTIC, MATCHLESS PRODUCTION.

AN EPOCH IN JOURNALISM.

"The New York Sunday Press" is regularly Publishing an Art Cover in Seven Colors.

On Sunday, March 12, The Sunday Press (New York), started a feature that will mark an epoch in American Journalism. It consists of an Art Cover, in which the paper when folded to the quarter size, is encased, and it has created an unprecedented demand for the Sunday Press among all classes of people.

The front page of the Art Cover, next Sunday, will show a beautiful reproduction of the German masterpiece, "St. Cecilia," and for the four Sundays in April it will present an original water color design with an art calendar, an eminent American artist, and two reproductions of famous paintings, admitted masterpieces. The inside pages of the Art Cover will always contain exquisite half-tone portraits and illustrations of people and topics of the then current week.

Every copy of the Art Cover of any issue of the Sunday Press would command in any art store at least $1.00.

For Sale.

Eight choice young cows, two-thirds Jersey and one-third Holstein, from three to five years old; will be new milch cows in April. Will sell for cash or bankable paper due November 1st. Address.

E. LANCTOT,
[49-52] Crookston, Minn.

Viava remedies for sale by Mrs. John Wyatt, sole agent for Polk county, Sano, sure cure for piles. Room 46, Reckitt Block. [39-tf]

Now is the time to list your farms and city property with the Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company. Opera block, Crookston.

Sells for Cash.

Charles Vine has adopted the cash system at his meat markets and also adopted cash prices. He sells the choicest cuts at lowest rates—and sells for cash only. Markets on Broadway and Second street. [48-tf]

For Sale

One pair of good farm mares and two or three extra good, new milch cows. For further particulars address.

F. BIVINS & SON,
[49-2] Crookston, Minn.

Farmers,

I am now making arrangements to buy wood from you. Call on me and we can agree. W. H. NORRIE,
Wood yard corner Main and Third streets, Crookston. [48-3]

Money to Loan

On city property, business and dwelling—at 6½ per cent per annum. For full particulars call on P. J. Russell, 25 and 26 Reckitt block, Crookston, Minn. [47tf]

A Little Red Spot

Developed Into Severe Case of Psoriasis

Wonderful Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mr. Theo. Destiche
Green Bay, Wis.

"I am very glad to tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I was digging a well; by some slight accident scraped off a little of the skin between my left knee and ankle. Next day appeared, which spread something like a run-round. Then more spots and patches came; first on my legs, and finally all over my body, even on the bottoms of my feet, the palms of my hands, and inside my ears. It was a terrible sight and the itching and burning was intense.

A Little Red Spot

I Scratched and Scratched, only to make my body raw and in a more fearful condition yet. Physicians treated me without benefit. During the summer the disease was agonizing. One day my son took me to Rev. Father Cantevcel's, Schiller P. O., township Humboldt, a distance of eight miles. He advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I lost no time in getting Hood's Sarsaparilla and began taking it, according to the directions. The result was wonderful and a most joyous one for me. The large scabs which had covered my body, peeled off in great flakes. Dark spots remained, but all disappeared in about 6 months.

I Am now a Well Man.

No one who has not passed through such a terrible ordeal knows of the great joy to once more

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

be perfectly well. I am very thankful to Hood's Sarsaparilla and Rev. Father." THEO. DESTICHE, Robinsonville, Green Bay, Wis.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently, on the liver and bowels. Try a box.

SPRING SCHOOL TERMS.

We publish below a list of the schools which will be commenced throughout the county in April and May; also the length of the term, with the name of the Clerk of the Board and number of district. Thus any teacher wishing a position can make application to the boards direct:

Dist. No.	Clerk.	Post Office.	Term Begins.	Length of Term.
4	Asselstine, A. C.	Fisher	April 15	3 months.
5	Dale, Halvor G.	Neilsville	April 15	3½ months.
10	Onstad, O. P.	Melvin	May 1	4 months.
13	Erwin, Thomas	Fisher	April 10	4 months.
16	Vraa, J G	Neilsville	April 15	3 months.
18	Christianson, H B	Crookston	April 1	3 months.
21	Thompson, Andrew	Fellsville	April 1	3 months.
23	Iverson, Blanchard	Neilsville	April 15	3 months.
26	Eastman, W G	Crookston	April 15	3 months.
27	Ducharme, Moses	Red Lake Falls	April 1	3 months.
29	Bivins, E M	Crookston	May 1	2½ months.
30	Horn, H G	Euclid	April 1	4 months.
31	Rupert, Wm L	East Grand Forks	May 1	3 months.
32	Perreault, Jos	Red Lake Falls	April 5	4 months.
33	Thorson, Peter	Neby	April 10	2 months.
34	Knappen, W F	Northland	April 15	3½ mos.
42	Duffy, E M	East Grand Forks	April 15	5 months.
43	Kilberg, Peter	Wylie	May 20	3 months.
44	Nelson, A	Fertile	April 15	2 months.
49	Demarais, J B	Red Lake Falls	April 15	2 months.
52	Tullar, A C	Warren	April 1	3 Months.
53	McMillan, D	Edna	May 1	3 months.
54	Aubol, Ed A	St Hilaire	April 1	3 months.
55	Danielson, W O	Crookston	April 15	4 months.
56	Hixson, A N	Crookston	April 15	3 months.
58	Weber, A Jr	Crookston	April 15	3 months.
59	Teal	Euclid	May 5	2½ months.
60	Tripp, G H	Mentor	April 15	3 months.
61	Swift, G M	Mentor	May 1	2 months.
66	Goodale, C B	Fertile	April 10	3 months.
68	Bartholemew, E M	Crookston	April 15	3 months.
71	Lemen, W	Angus	April 3	3 months.
73	Wassen, Andwew A	St. Hilaire	April 15	3 months.
74	Samson, Thos	Crookston	April 15	3 months.
75	Marin, W A	Melvin	April 1	3½ months.
76	Gibeau, Samuel	Lambert	May 1	3 months.
77	Tenney, J G	Crookston	April 1	3½ months.
78	Dangerfield, G E	Grand Forks	April 1	4 months.
80	Quesnell, Stephen	Dugdale	April 1	3½ months.
81	Perreault, Louis	Terrebonne	April 1	4 months.
82	Bergland T O	Crookston	April 1	4 months.
84	Stewart, T D	Mallory	April 1	4 months.
85	Sprout, Wm C	East Grand Forks	April 1	4 months.
86	Wedebill	Fertile	April 15	5 months.
89	Long, W R	Tilden	April 1	6 months.
92	Ose T D	Wig	April 12	3 months.
93	O'Brien, Ed	Mallory	April 15	3 months.
96	Benson, Nils	Crookston	April 15	3 months.
98	Appel, Wm	Buffington	April 15	4 months.
99	Hanson, Eric	Wylie	May 15	2 months.
100	Oleson, Peter	Rindal	April 3	3 months.
103	Lemay, Patrice	Lambert	May 1	2 months.
104	Gullikson, C J	Edna	April 15	2 months.
105	Fortier Remi	Gentilly	May 1	5 months.
110	Davis, F L	Crookston	April 1	3 months.
111	Hershberger, R M	Fosston	April 1	3½ months.
113	Hall, Jacob	Maple Bay	May 1	2 months.
115	Anderson, Peter	Emard	April 1	2 months.
117	Skinner, Wm	Fisher	April 1	3½ months.
108	Cernousek, F J	Tabor	April 1	3 months.
124	Shirrick, Frank	Wylie	April 1	4 months.
125	Anderson, John	St. Hilaire	April 1	3 months.
129	Gilmour, James	Mallory	April 1	4 months.
131	Luther J E	Lindsay	April 15	3 months.
133	Erickson, A A	St Hilaire	May 10	2 months.
135	Finke, John L	Thief River Falls	May 10	2½ months.
136	Kruger, Chas	Buffington	May 10	2½ months.
138	Brunn, Iver F	Fosston	May 1	2 months.
139	King, John S	McIntosh	May 1	3 months.
140	Regimbal, Fabier	Gentilly	May	3 months.
143	Richardson, C S	Warren	May 1	5 months.
145	Bergdahl O H	Fosston	May 1	2½ months.
147	Albue Erik	Tweet	May 1	2½ months.
148	Christianson, C	St. Hilaire	May 1	2 months.
150	Hansel, C C	Crookston	May 1	2½ months.
151	Brohman Joseph	Lombert	May 1	2 months.
153	Huot Louis	Huot	April 1	3 months.
157	Anderson, James M	Hansville	April 15	3 months.
158	Nass, C C	Erskine	April 15	2 months.
161	Grundesen, Halvor	Fisher	May 1	3 months.
162	Distad, John S	McIntosh	May 1	2 months.
163	McCarty, C	McIntosh	May 1	2 months.
164	Lof, Lars J	Erskine	April 1	3 months.
168	Amundson, L A	Lindsay	May 15	2 months.
170	Gilbertson, Henry T	Erskine	April 3	2½ months.
172	Helgeson, H H	[illegible]	May 1	2½ months.
173	Hopkins, James	Crookston	May 1	3 months.
176	Swanson Swan	McIntosh	May 1	2 months.
183	Laknes, Ole	Winger	May 1	2 months.
186	Anderson Martin	Rindal	May 1	2 months.
187	Honkom Hans	Fosston	April 3	3 months.
194	Amundson R S	St Hilaire	April 15	2 months.
195	Skin, Neri A	Olga	April 15	2 months.
197	Juvrud John E	Fosston	May 1	2 months.
199	Eggen E	East Grand Forks	May 1	3 months
200	Thorkelson, Thorvald	Lindsay	April 20	3 months.
201	Rose Robert A	Fisher	April 15	3 months.
202	Waale, Knut	Fosston	April 3	2½ months.
204	Hince, Peter	Lambert	May 1	3 months.
206	Stortroen, Eric O	Neby	May 1	3 months.
207	Stavig Ole O	Snake	May 1	2 months.
209	Lindberg R O	Edna	May 15	2 months.
211	Stromstad, John	Edna	May 15	2 months.

PRIDE AND POVERTY.

(Continued.)

The young man sprang to his feet. He still held his hat in his hand, and his face was quite crimson with embarrassment to match the flag of shame hung out in Judith's cheeks.

"Really, sir," he stammered, not knowing what he was saying, "I must go. —I find I shall have to be off by the two train. Very important business which for the moment I had forgotten." He glanced at Judith furtively with a reassuring look to tell the golden haired young lady that she should not be troubled by the presence of an unwelcome guest if the heavens fell.

"But you must remain," cried the old man imperiously, getting on his feet. "I shall not allow you to leave my house in this manner. Our business is unfinished. I want to talk to you about your pedigree."

"My what?" said the young man smiling.

"Your pedigree. I am particularly interested, as you must know, in family histories, and I think it more than probable that you may be descended from that Sir Bruce Mildmay, who fought in the Wars of the Roses and was chamberlain to Henry VII. Judith, request Mr. Mildmay to stay and dine. He bears a fine old historic name, but he will not mind our simple fashions. He will not expect a very extended bill of fare. Just pot luck, sir; pot luck."

Judith, still with burning cheeks, came slowly up to Mildmay and said, with her eyes dropped and a quiver in her voice, "Do stay, sir; it will be a great pleasure to my father and to me." She raised her eyes, and Mildmay thought he detected a suspicious brightness about them—something like a tear that hung suspended on the lashes and made the girl adorable. He studied her face a moment with a gentle, inquisitive glance, and then he said slowly, "As it will be such a pleasure to you, Miss Renwick, I will stay."

Judith frowned slightly at this speech. She was angry and she hardly knew why. But suddenly her face began to dimple with a consciousness of the absurdity of the situation. He caught the reflection, and they both broke into a suppressed gurgle of laughter.

Judith ran out into the kitchen and Mildmay sat back in his chair, and with those apparently unobservant eyes of his that saw everything began to study the great bare room with its details of ill disguised and pinching poverty. Everywhere he saw the darns and patches and makeshifts of a skillful woman's fingers trying to put the best side out, and there was a pathos in it when contrasted with old Renwick's high tone and exalted pretensions.

Judith meantime was surveying the cold kitchen, where the wood fire was always allowed to die out between meals to save fuel. The place was chill and dreary, and she shivered slightly through her shoulders as she looked about her. Already she had investigated the safe and the cupboard. She had found nothing but a slice and a half of bread; four cold potatoes on a broken plate, saved from yesterday; no tea or coffee, no meat, no dessert—not food enough, all told, to satisfy the appetite of one healthy person. There, to be sure, was the bag of oatmeal. But how could she offer a dish of oatmeal porridge to a dinner guest. Moreover she had taken only a pint of milk that morning, just enough to put in her father's tea.

The girl stood thinking, quite at her wits' end. She had only a few pence in her pocket, and the Renwick credit was not good at the grocery store and the meat market. Where was Mr. Mildmay's dinner to come from? Suddenly a light broke in. She remembered that Mrs. Sparkler owed her a quarter's tuition of the children, and here seemed a loophole of escape from the sorely hedged path. She had left her shawl in the living room and would not go back. Hastily she threw an old red tablecloth over her head, and softly opening the back door sped through the garden to the gap in the wall. She found her neighbor in the clean kitchen mournfully concocting squash pies. There were pots and saucepans on the stove all bubbling and boiling and emitting a good odor, proof positive that the family dinner was well in hand.

"Have you heard any news of them children?" Mrs. Sparkler cried excitedly as she saw Judith flit past the window with the red tablecloth over her head.

"No indeed; I only wish I had. I have come to you, Mrs. Sparkler, on my own account. I am in a great strait."

"You in trouble too? Poor thing! Well, it does look as if the whole world was all crooked today—gone topsy turvy. There's Sparkler gone off nearly distracted, with his horse and wagon, to scour the country. He's locked his shop and put out a sign, 'Closed on account of misfortune.' Folks will think he's burst up or gone crazy. But what is the matter with you, Miss Renwick? Is your pa took poorly?"

Judith shook her head. "No, it isn't that. It's something perfectly ridiculous," and she burst into a hysterical laugh. "He has brought a stranger, a Mr. Mildmay, home to dinner!"

Mrs. Sparkler paused in the act of trimming the crust from around a pie plate, and looking over her shoulder she repeated vaguely, "Home to dinner?"

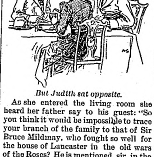
"Yes, and that is the joke of it," and Judith laughed until the tears ran down her cheeks. "There isn't anything in the house to eat—not enough to feed a cat."

"And you want some of my dinner," said Mrs. Sparkler brightening, glad to do a kind deed and for a moment to forget her worry. "What's neighbors for if not to help each other in a pinch, and haven't you helped me, Miss Renwick, and been a real streak of sunshine, whatever happens to them young ones? I don't know what I was about cookin up a big dinner if it wasn't for you in your hobble. Sparkler ain't here, and a mouthful would choke him if he was, and as for me I hain't no more appetite to eat than a sick kitten.

"I guess I kind of did it to distract my thoughts. There's boiled beef and vegetables, carrots and turnips and beets and potatoes. I've got some bread new baked. Had the best kind of luck with my bakin this time, and you shall have one of these squash pies and a pot of coffee. Now you go home and lay the table, and I'll bring the dinner in a basket through the gap in the wall around to your back door in less than half an hour."

Judith could have fallen down and kissed Mrs. Sparkler's old shoes, but she did dash home with the red tablecloth over her head, singing pæans of thanksgiving in her heart.

CHAPTER III.



But Judith sat opposite.

As she entered the living room she heard her father say to his guest: "So you think it would be impossible to trace your branch of the family to that of Sir Bruce Mildmay, who fought so well for the house of Lancaster in the old wars of the Roses? He is mentioned, sir, in the ancient chronicles, and his 'scutcheon has Plantagenet quarterings. There are many of his descendants still extant in England."

Mr. Mildmay's face was turned aside, but Judith could see that his back was shaking slightly with suppressed laughter.

"Why, no, sir, no; I never heard of Sir Bruce in my life. None of our Mildmays has been great or distinguished for anything in particular. My father was a very poor man, a genuine Yankee with a knack at inventions, and like inventors in general he was always hard up. He kept tavern, taught school, drove a stage and speculated in land, and between whiles contrived a number of useful things that have since made the fortune of other men, but nothing ever succeeded with him. I had to work my way through school and college as I could; borrowed the money to fit myself for my profession—that of a civil engineer—and paid it by day's wages earned in a shop or at farm labor. I did anything that would keep me going. Happily I had inherited a little of my father's inventive knack, and was not as easily gulled as he was, and when I went west and found an abandoned mine filled with water that nobody had been able to clean out I offered to do it for a half share in the enterprise. I rigged up machinery that freed the workings in less than a month, and the profit turned out to be pretty large."

As Mr. Mildway proceeded with his account of himself old Renwick's gaze had become cold and stony. He had frozen again into his stiff, formal politeness. The old hidalgo look had come back to his high, bony features and cold, faded blue eyes.

"I see what you have been striving for," said the old man, wearily waving his hand. "Success, success, the god of our nation; the avid love of gain; souls trafficked for gold. Yes, sir, I know the whole story, from A to Zed." The tone was rasping, icily edged. The young man turned crimson up to the very roots of his hair, and instinctively turned toward Judith, where she had paused in laying the table with the poor remnants of the old Renwick china. She had caught her father's trenchant tone with a feeling of inward dismay. She hoped her father would not bully the young stranger; patronize and condescend to him he was sure to do, but she knew he was capable of the violent outbreaks of testy old age. A sympathetic glance seemed to pass from her eyes to Mildmay's, reassuring him, and presently she heard him say in a clear, emphatic, honest voice:

"I am no worshiper of money, Mr. Renwick. There are things I would lay down millions to gain if I had them to command. After father died I had my old mother to care for, and, thank God, I have been able to place her in a good home and provide for her a happy old age. I had my young sisters to educate and my brother to establish in life, and there were other poor relatives—a pair of aged aunts and an old decrepit uncle. I could not let them go to the almshouse. It was my first duty to take care of those dependent on me."

"Very commendable no doubt, very commendable," said the old man from the surface of his false teeth and laying together his chilly finger tips. But he had gone into his shell and did not emerge again that day.

Judith flitted out of the room after placing the glass of autumn leaves and red berries in the middle of the table. She had folded under the frayed edges of the tablecloth and placed a napkin over a hole too much in evidence. Mrs. Sparkler had now brought the basket of dinner, smoking hot, to the back door, and swiftly Judith conveyed it to the board. Old Renwick took the place at the head of the table, waving Mildmay to a seat at his right hand. Judith sat down behind the tray, but ate nothing. She waited on the guest and on her father with punctilious care.

"Boiled beef," said the old man loftily, sticking his knife into the tender pulp on the platter before him. "I told you, sir, it was pot luck, only pot luck today. In my father's time, sir, the cellar of this house was well stocked with wine—good, sound brands of port and Madeira—but I was forced to give up the use of wine from my gouty tendencies some years ago, and I hope, sir, you will pardon the omission."

Mildmay saw Judith flush a little as the old gentleman proceeded to draw the long bow, and he made haste to acquit himself in a suitable manner as he raised a cracked glass to his lips containing nothing more potent than water from the old Renwick well. He looked about without seeming to notice anything. At the meager table service, the makeshifts of the frayed tablecloth, the old caster propped on three legs, the battered spoons, thin as shaved horn, and the ragged napkins—all told a pitiful story to a man of quick perceptions, but Judith sat opposite. He saw her face framed in golden hair over Mrs. Sparkler's tin coffeepot, and the feast of a king wreathed with rainbows could not have been more beautiful in his eyes.

Renwick was cased in frigid civility as in a coat of mail. Secretly he regretted having asked Mildmay to dinner, now that he had discovered that he was a mere nobody, not worth wasting his notice upon. He pressed his thin lips, lifted his arched eyebrows and looked discontented and unhappy.

But a current of sympathy had established itself between Judith's blue eyes and Mildmay's hazel orbs. It seemed to Mildmay like fine crossing lines of light with electric vibrations. He understood all the difficulties and humiliations of her life without an explanatory word. He never knew what he put into his mouth at that dinner, but strangely enough, even while Judith tripped around the table changing the old cracked plates and Renwick remained sunk in himself, a stream of merry talk seemed to flow between them. Mildmay was to her girlish apprehension the most unassuming and natural of men, and she had lived so long with pretension and unreality that naturalness was of all things delightful to her.

When this meal—as miraculously provided as if brought by ravens or angels—was finished, Mildmay, strangely enough, displayed no disposition to take himself away. Old Renwick, as usual after dinner, had betaken himself to his place by the fire in his great shabby easy chair and had lighted his long stemmed pipe. Judith and the stranger sat in another part of the large room, where the low afternoon sun came in through the window and touched his blond head and her golden one. She was sewing fast and deftly on a piece of needlework she had taken from the Ladies' Aid society in the hope of earning a few shillings for her pressing needs. Mildmay sat and watched her for awhile, saying a word or two now and again in a low voice. When the old man's regular breathing came to his ear, interrupted occasionally by short, brusque snores, Mildmay leaned over toward Judith and said confidentially:

"I am afraid I have fallen out of favor with your father. He seems to be less cordial than at first."

Judith without raising her head gave him a reproachful little glance out of the corner of her eye.

"Why could you not pretend to be descended from Sir Bruce Mildmay? You might have belonged to a remote branch, but still distinctly of that house, with the Plantagenet quarterings in your coat of arms."

"By heavens, Miss Renwick, if I had only known," exclaimed Milmay, "I would have sworn on the good book that Sir Bruce was my revered great ancestor; that I have his rusty coat of arms, his shield and battleax at this moment hung up in the baronial hall, and I would have forged yards of parchment to prove my claims."

"For an inventive man," said Judith, with a shy smile, "who had cleared an abandoned mine of water by improved machinery, you did appear to me singularly wanting."

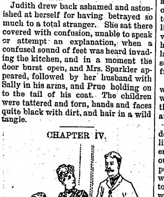
"What can I do to win your forgiveness for my stupidity," he asked, still gazing in her face.

"I don't know," she answered, with a suppressed sigh, "it may prove a more serious matter to us than you think. Father has old time notions deeply ingrained, and I fear he is growing somewhat childish. If he thought you belonged to an ancient race he would trust you, because he so firmly believes that noblesse oblige. He was not brought up with business habits and has been sadly taken in by speculators, and now if he thought you belonged to that class he would refuse to sell the western land, and we do so need the money. I can't make him understand how poor we are." The last words were given in a thrilling whisper.

Mildmay felt that this young girl had made a direct appeal to him for help in her trouble. He colored and looked embarrassed, and for a moment remained silent.

Judith drew back ashamed and astonished at herself for having betrayed so much to a total stranger. She sat there covered with confusion, unable to speak or attempt an explanation, when a confused sound of feet was heard invading the kitchen, and in a moment the door burst open, and Mrs. Sparkler appeared, followed by her husband with Sally in his arms, and Prue holding on to the tail of his coat. The children were tattered and torn, hands and faces quite black with dirt, and hair in a wild tangle.

CHAPTER IV.



"I have convinced father."

"We've got 'em back at last!" cried Mrs. Sparkler excitedly, not caring for the presence of the stranger or even old Renwick himself, while Sparkler, who on all occasions allowed his wife to be spokesman, hung back by the door. "They'd started to seek their fortunes, just like Tommy Sawyer in the story book. They had five cents atween 'em, and they went to the bakery and bought six cookies to provide for the journey. Then they footed it down the railroad track, and the wonder is they wasn't run down by a train. Prue got over into Beecham woods and Sally went tagging after. They got into a swamp, and Sally lost one of her shoes, and her hat flew up in a tree. Prue shinned up the tree and got the hat, but it was all torn to shoestrings.

"At last they worked their way out of the woods at a place called Ford's Corners, about seven miles from here. I guess they was pretty faint and hungry and beat out by the time they got there, for they stopped at Dr. Cookman's house and asked for a drink, and if they could lay down and rest in the barn, just as Tommy Sawyer did on his travels. And the doctor happened to be at home, and he kind of smelt a mouse, so he wormed it out of them who they was and where they lived; and then he hitched up his horse and brought 'em home."

Mrs. Sparkler had given her narrative in a breathless way, without semicolons or even commas, and old Renwick was now fully awake, eying her with cold disapprobation.

"What is it all about, my good woman?" he said sharply when he could stem the torrent of her speech.

"Good woman indeed, sir," cried Mrs. Sparkler, spunking up. "It's about them children. I would have Sparkler bring 'em over to show Miss Renwick what a mess they are in, and to ask her if they shouldn't be soundly spanked."

"Spank them, by all means, Mrs. Sparkler, but don't perform the operation here on my premises."

"Sparkler is that tender hearted he won't let me, but I thought Miss Renwick would tell me what ought to be done short of spankin or switchin, for she's been teachin the children these few months past and they've learned real well."

"My daughter teaching your children, Mrs. Sparkler?"

"Yes, sir, she has, and they think a sight of her, too, if they are naughty sometimes; and that reminds me that I'm owing for a quarter's tuition," and she pulled a little roll of bills out of her pocket.

Old Renwick stood up and haughtily waved her away. "My good woman, my daughter cannot take money for any instruction she may have given your children. If she has done it at all she has done it out of kindness to a poor neighbor. Keep your money, madam."

"We ain't poor neighbors," cried Mrs. Sparkler, raising her voice to the point of shrillness; "we're respectable, honest and well to do, and we pay our ways, which is more than some folks do that are dirty proud. If you knew where your dinner come from this very day I guess you wouldn't talk about poor neighbors."

Judith, with an agitated, beseeching face, now came forward and laid her hand on the woman's arm. "Remember," she whispered, "he is a helpless old man." Sparkler, on the other side, was twitching his wife's skirt and saying: "Come home, Marier. We ain't wanted here," and suddenly the little procession turned about, Mrs. Sparkler convulsed with angry sobs, and filed out of the house.

Mildmay saw that Judith was pale and agitated, her eyes full of tears, and he made haste to take his leave. "You will let me come again," he whispered as he pressed her hand at the door. "I shall be detained here a few days until I have come to terms with your father about the land."

The events of the day had not disturbed old Renwick. He was too closely wrapped in his tattered pride and self importance to feel their full force. It was his plan to avoid scenes and explanations with Judith as far as possible. In the first place, he looked upon her as a child, and in the second place, he had nothing to oppose to her logic but sheer obstinacy. When things went too far he was always conveniently deaf. For three or four days now the old hidalgo was terribly hard of hearing and misinterpreted everything his daughter said. He went as usual to the library, and ate his potatoes and oatmeal without remark. But as Mildmay continued to linger on in the town there grew up in the old man's mind the suspicion that he was a sharper trying to get the best of the bargain. He conceived an exaggerated notion of the value of these acres of sand and scrub oak, which happened to be near a railway station or a branch line, and were wanted for the company's workshops. Though Mildmay offered him ten times the actual value of the land, the old man stubbornly refused to sell and curtly dismissed the young man from his presence.

Meantime he was as regular as clockwork in his appearance in the alcove, where he sat day after day poring over the histories of great and noble families and making notes in his little diary.

In spite of the hopelessness of his undertaking, Mr. Harry Mildmay still lingered at the hotel, and strangely enough soon after the old man was well out of the house in the morning he appeared regularly at the door of the Renwick homestead. The neighbors began to notice the phenomenon, and questions were asked about the young man that no one seemed able to answer.

Judith had no teaching now, nothing but dull and unremunerative needlework to fill the vacant hours, and her days would have been sad and lonely but for the visits of this new friend. They seemed to have a thousand things to say to each other, as people always have who are bound by a secret sympathy. He was never tired of telling her stories of his early life, his poor chances, how much he had loved his eccentric and unlucky father, with that strain of genius in him. All the trials and hardships of his boyhood were sweetened by family affection. He wished her to know his old mother and his sisters and talked endlessly of them. But strange to say, of his later experience he had but little to relate; over these he seemed to draw a veil and Judith did not seek to raise it. She was deeply interested in all he had to tell. It was a joy to Judith to make acquaintance with Mildmay as a boy and to perceive that he was still what he had been then—loving, unostentatious, genuine to the core. It never occurred to her to ask who he was. She thought she knew him better than others could know him, and why should she ask?

The Indian summer came on more golden and tranquil than usual, and then the neighbors saw Judith and the young stranger walking out together toward country places, rustling the fallen leaves under their feet, and returning with hands full of the late autumn blossoms and colored leaves.

It was after an excursion of this kind, when Judith had returned home filled with strange, sweet, agitating emotions, for something very wonderful had happened that day, that Mrs. Sparkler came running to the kitchen door with an apron over her head. Miss Renwick was kindling a fire in the stove to prepare the evening meal and was somewhat surprised to see her neighbor who had fought very shy of the place ever since that painful interview with the old man.

"Miss Renwick," she exclaimed, all out of breath, and seeing Judith there on her knees by the stove, "Do you know who your Mr. Mildmay is?"

Judith turned her head and just shook it gently without venturing upon a word.

"Well, I can tell you," she went on, panting. "It's all over town now. He's the millionaire of Arizony. Owns lots of mines and two or three railroads. They say he could buy up the whole of this little town and put it in his pocket. And to think, Miss Renwick, that you've been keepin company with him and never knew he was the biggest man in all his part of the country!"

Judith blushed prettily as she rose to her feet and faced her visitor. She said she was very much obliged to Mrs. Sparkler. It was really neighborly and kind of her to take so much pains to let her know about the young man, and Mrs. Sparkler went home more mystified than ever.

It was the very next morning that old Renwick happened to meet Mildmay in the street not far from his house. As he had given him his final refusal of the land nearly a week before, the old hidalgo was rather surprised to see the young man on his path.

"Mr. Renwick," said he, looking at him frankly with his brown eyes full of cheery light, "I am here to ask you for the hand of your daughter Judith."

"Of my what?" said the old man, pretending deafness, and putting up his hand in the form of an ear trumpet.

"The hand of your daughter Judith," repeated Mildmay.

"No, sir; no, sir," said the old man, straightening. "That is too presumptuous in a person of your birth and breeding. I suspected you were an adventurer, and now I see you have laid a deep plot to secure my property through the hand of my daughter. But were it otherwise I would never consent to her marrying out of her sphere. You have my answer, sir; good day."

Mildmay stood on the walk while the old man walked stiffly away with head held high. His face was crimson and his hands were clinched in wrath. He began to stride rapidly up and down the pavement, muttering under his breath; "The proud old beggar. As if I had intended designs on his property," and then he broke into a hearty laugh.

Judith must have been on the watch for her father, for the moment he opened the door she flew to him weeping, clasped her arms around his neck and cried: "Oh, father, you cannot know the miserable state of poverty, misery and destitution to which we are reduced! I have tried not to trouble you with these things, tried to earn a little money secretly for our needs, but you refused to let me rent part of the house; you refused to let me take pupils and receive pay for them. You mortally offended those good Sparklers when they offered me my pay, and there was nothing I could do to earn money but to secretly take in sewing from the Ladies' Aid society, and now they have no more to give me. Come with me, father, and let me show you to what we are reduced."

She led him into the kitchen and opened one by one the cupboards, the pantry, the safe, the flour barrel and the bread box—all empty, not an ounce of meal or a pound of potatoes. Then she led him to the coalbin and the place where the wood was kept. That, too, was empty.

"You see, father," she said sobbing, "we must go to the almshouse or live on the charity of the town—the silent poor fund. Which shall it be?"

The old man turned without a word, wandered back into the living room and fell prostrate into his chair. He seemed dazed and lost for a time, and looked about him with a wandering eye. When he tried to speak his tongue was thick, as if he had received a slight stroke of palsy. Judith in fright knelt down beside him and began to chafe his cold, tremulous hands. She heard him murmuring the name of Mildmay. "That young man, you know, Judith"—he made an effort to clear his voice—"offered me ready money for the western land, and I refused it because I thought him a speculator—but the money would keep us from—from starving. Do you think, Judith, he has left town? Do you think he would reconsider?"

"He would not take the land now, father, unless you consent to his taking me."

"And you would marry him, Judith—a mere nobody, not of our class?" said the old man fretfully.

"You don't know him, father—what he has done for himself and others—because he is too modest and unpretending to boast of his success. He is the great man in his part of the country and the richest, a millionaire, they say, and it is he who condescends to take a penniless girl like me. He has done it all by his own energy and genius. It is not for his money I care, father. He showed me what he was in heart and mind before I suspected his wealth?"

"You love him, Judith?"

"With all my heart."

"If he had only been of the family of old Sir Bruce, the right Mildmays," murmured Renwick; "but perhaps he is, after all, without knowing it," the old man went on, brightening, "a collateral branch, you know, Judith. Do you think you could call him back? Could you write or telegraph?"

"I will try," said she. "Perhaps I may succeed." She ran to the door, flung it wide open and called "Harry!" with her clear silvery voice.

The young man must have been ambushed in the near neighborhood, for suddenly he appeared, darting up the steep path toward the house. Judith's face was radiant as he came toward her in answer to her summons.

"Come in," cried she, beckoning with her hand. "I have convinced father that you are at least an indirect offshoot of the race of old Sir Bruce Mildmay and twice as good and noble as any other Mildmay that ever lived, though he bore a hundred Plantagenet quarterings in his escutcheon."

THE END.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."
A box of
BEECHAM'S PILLS
constitutes a family medicine chest.
Sick Headache, Weak Stomach, Loss of Appetite, Wind and Pain in the Stomach, Giddiness, Fullness, Swelling after meals, Dizziness, Drowsiness, Cold Chills, Flushings of Heat, Shortness of Breath, Costiveness, Blotches on the Skin, Disturbed Sleep, and all nervous and trembling sensations are relieved by using these Pills
Covered with a Tasteless and Soluble Coating
Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box.
New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

JOHN CROMB
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

MARTIN O'BRIEN,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
{I. O. O. F. BUILDING.} Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block } CROOKSTON, MINN.

MILLER & FOOTE,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block. - Crookston, Minn.

FITS STOPPED FREE
Marvelous success.
Insane Persons Restored
DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER
for all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure cure for Nerve Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No Fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send names, P. O. and express address of afflicted to DR. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. See Druggists. BEWARE OF IMITATING FRAUDS.

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the
Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

THE PRESS
(NEW YORK)
For 1893
Has a larger Daily Circulation than any other Republican newspaper in America.
DAILY. SUNDAY WEEKLY.
The Aggressive Republican Journal of the Metropolis.
A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES.
Founded Dec. 1st, 1887.
Circulation over 125,000 copies daily. The most remarkable Newspaper Success in New York. The PRESS is a National Newspaper. Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of the the PRESS.
The PRESS has the brightest Editorial page in New York. It sparkles with points. The PRESS Sunday Edition is a splendid paper, covering every current topic of interest. The PRESS Weekly Edition contains all the good things of the Daily and Sunday editions.
AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM
The Press has no superior in New York.
THE PRESS
Within the reach of all. The best and cheapest Newspaper in America.

Daily and Sunday, one year	$5 00
" " 6 months	2 50
" " 1 "	45
Daily only, one year	3 00
" " 4 months	1 00
Sunday, one year	2 00
Weekly Press, one year	1 00

Send for Press circular. Samples free. Agents wanted everywhere. Liberal commissions.
Address THE PRESS,
38 Park Row, New York.

IMPORTANT WORK.

IT WILL KEEP SENATORS BUSY THIS WEEK.

Cases of Appointed Senators to Be Discussed—Majority and Minority Reports Presented in the Case of Lee Mantle, of Montana.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The indications are that this week the senate will undertake the discussion and perhaps the decision of one of the most important constitutional questions that has has arisen in that body in late years, namely, the right of a governor of a state to fill a vacancy in the United States senate which occurred while the legislature was in session. The report of two factions of the committee will be presented at once and, as the disposition is, when once these cases are before the senate, to push them to conclusion as rapidly as is consistent with the proper expression of the views of all senators who have examined the questions involved, and desire to make their sentiments known, it is probable that, instead of taking a three days' recess, the senate will sit almost daily. The unknown quantity in the calculation of the week's work is the disposition of the leaders on either side touching the matter of reorganization. It is expected that the Democrats, through Mr. Gorman, will present the caucus nominations for senatorial offices early in the week, probably in executive session, and, if a serious controversy threatens to follow, the matter may be brought before the public through proceedings in open session.

MAJORITY AND MINORITY.

Reports on the Case of Lee Mantle Placed Before the Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The reports of the majority and of the minority on the contested election case of Lee Mantle, a senator appointed by the governor of Montana, have been made to the senate, Mr. Hoar submitting the report of the majority in favor of seating Mr. Mantle, and Mr. Vance, chairman of the committee, the report against seating. There are two other cases, those of Mr. Beckwith, appointed by the governor of Wyoming, and Mr. Allen, appointed by the governor of Washington. Inasmuch as the facts are the same the test will be made in the case of the senator on whose credentials the report is made. It is not unlikely that as this is decided so will be the others. Both reports are rather lengthy and quote voluminously from the earlier decisions of the senate upon cases dealing with the same question.

Position of the Majority.

The majority state that they began their inquiry with the primal and controlling mandate of the constitution resting upon them, that the senate should be kept full and the separate representation herein of each state was the most important and unchangeable single obligation which the instrument creates. The constitution provided that no state should ever be deprived of its equal vote in the senate except by its own consent to a change in the constitution itself, and this consideration was held to be of infinitely more importance than the question whether the appointment should be made by the legislature or the executive.

PRESIDENTIAL APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. Cleveland Sends in Another Batch.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The president has sent to the senate the following nominations:

Justice—Felix A. Reeve, of Tennessee, to be solicitor of the treasury; William H. Seaman, of Wisconsin, to be United States district judge for the Eastern district of Wisconsin; Albert B. Fall, of New Mexico, to be associate justice of the supreme court of the Territory of New Mexico.

United States Attorneys—George J. Dennis, of California, for the Southern district of California; Joseph S. James, of Georgia, for the Northern district of Georgia; William T. Geary, of Georgia, for the Southern district of Georgia.

United States Marshals—Frank Leverette, of Georgia, for the Southern district of Georgia; James Blackburn, of Kentucky, for the District of Kentucky; Thomas J. Ellison, of North Carolina, for the Western district of North Carolina.

Interior—Samuel T. Fisher, of Massachusetts, to be assistant commissioner of patents; Robert E. Wilson, of Mississippi, to be register of the land office at Jackson, Miss.; Francisco Estudillo, of California, to be agent for the Indians of the Mission Tale river (consolidated) agency in California.

State—Samuel E. Morse, of Indiana, to be consul general of the United States at Paris; C. W. Chancellor, of Maryland, to be consul at Havre; Allen B. Morse, of Michigan, to be consul at Glasgow; George F. Parker, of New York, to be consul at Birmingham

THESE WERE CONFIRMED.

List of Presidential Nominations Acted Upon.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The senate was in open session only 10 minutes in the morning when it proceeded to executive business. After spending about three quarters of an hour in executive session the senate adjourned till Monday next.

The following nominations were confirmed:

Theodore Runyon, of New Jersey, to be minister of the United States to Germany.

Edward B. Whitney, of New York, to be assistant attorney general.

Walter D. Dabney, of Virginia, to be solicitor for the department of state.

James G. Jenkins, of Wisconsin, to be United States circuit judge of the Seventh judicial circuit.

A number of less important nominations were also confirmed.

A Valuable Cook.

Knowit—My cook is a treasure.

Wantoknow—You're in better luck than most people then.

Knowit—I wasn't till lately. You see, she had a row with the grocer, and to revenge herself she is very saving with the groceries. The bill is only half what it used to be.—Exchange.

Something New in Train Equipment to Chicago.

The "Limited" train on The Northwestern Line," leaving Minneapolis 7:30 p. m., St. Paul 8:10 p. m. and arriving Milwaukee 7:25 a. m., Chicago 9:30 a. m., is now equipped with Wagner Compartment Cars in addition to Standard Sleepers, and also with Buffet Smoking and Library Cars.

This is the finest equipped train in America, is the only train of its kind west of Chicago, and no extra fare is charged on this "Northwestern Limited."

By "The Northwestern Line" you also have advantage of fast day train, leaving Minneapolis 7:20 a. m. and St. Paul 8:30 a. m., arriving Milwaukee 7:55 p. m., Chicago, 9:35 p. m., also an afternoon train, leaving Minneapolis 5:00 p. m., St. Paul 5:35 p. m., arriving at Chicago 7:45a. m

"The Nortwestern Line" is also the only Pullman Car Line from St. Paul and Minneapolis, Sioux City, Omaha, Kansas City, Duluth and Ashland.

For luxury and comfort, best equipment and road bed, secure ticket via "The Northwestern Line," they are on sale at all stations. Illustrated Map Folder free on application to

T. W. TEASDALE
Gen. Pass. Agent,
[32tf] St. Paul, Minn.

Cheap Fuel.

From a limited amount of wood, I will deliver to any part of the city four foot dry soft wood at $4.00, four foot dry hard wood at $5.50, sawed as you want it for 50 cents extra.

W. H. NORRIE,
Successor to Priester & Co.
Corner Main and Third streets.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of three hundred and four dollars ($304) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Jedire Draper and Alice Mariah Draper, his wife, to The Security Trust Company, a corporation bearing date the 4th day of September, A. D. 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 22d day of October, A. D. 1890, at 8:40 o'clock a. m., in book 52 of mortgages, on page 447, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots fifteen and sixteen (15 and 16) of block eighty two (82) of Kretzschmar's Addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county, in Polk county and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 29th day of April. A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and $6.65 taxes paid by the mortgagee on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 1st, A. D. 1893.

SECURITY TRUST COMPANY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN, Attys. [48-2]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss.
District Court, 14th Judicial District.

In the matter of the assignment of Soltest A. Sylvester and Martin Finseth, copartners as Sylvester & Finseth.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of Sylvester & Finseth in the above entitled matter, of the city of Crookston, in said county and state, have by deed in writing, dated 4th day of March, 1893, made a general assignment to the undersigned, of all copartnership and individual property not exempt by law from levy and sale on execution, for the benefit of all their creditors, without preferences.

All claims must be verified and presented to the undersigned for allowance.

Dated March 11th, 1893.

JEROME W. WHEELER, Assignee,
(48-2) Polk County, Minn.

The St. Paul Globe And Cleveland.

Now that the Democratic party, by the vote of a large majority of the American people, has been placed in possession of all branches of the national government,

YOU WILL WANT
THE ST. PAUL GLOBE

As a regular visitor in your home.
It will give you the news of the world.
It will give you the markets of the world.
It will give you the doings of congress.
It will give you the doings of your own state legislature.

It will keep you informed upon the acts of the administration of President Cleveland, as well as the acts of the Republican state administration.

It will discuss, intelligently and impartially, questions of legislation and administration in both state and nation—giving especial attention to questions of taxation, finance, free wheat markets and those things in which you are most deeply interested.

You also want the GLOBE's great Geographical and Political Map, to hang up in your house or office. No intelligent family will want to be without the GLOBE or its Map.

Price of either the WEEKLY GLOBE one year or the Map, $1. Both taken together, $1.50.

RATES OF GLOBE BY MAIL.

	1 YR.	6 MO.	3 MO.	1 MO.
Daily	$8.00	$4.00	$2.00	70 cts
Daily and Sunday	10.00	5.00	2.50	85 cts
Sunday	2.00	1.00	.50	......
Weekly	1.00	.50	.25	......

Club of three Weeklies..................$2.70
Club of .. Weeklies, and 1 to agent free, 1yr. $5.00
☞ All subscriptions payable in advance.

Address, ST. PAUL GLOBE,
St. Paul, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9th, 1893.]
[Last publication April 20th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing power of sale, dated June 10th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on June 21st, 1887, at ten o'clock a. m., in book 33 of mortgages, on page 17, whereby Knud Johnsen and Guri Johnsen, his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, all that tract of land situate in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, described as follows: The southwest quarter of section nine, in township one hundred and forty nine north, of range forty west, containing 160 acres more or less, excepting therefrom two acres in the southwest corner of said section, which excepted part is used for a church and cemetery, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $442, being the amount of the principal secured by said mortgage, with interest thereon and the taxes for the years 1888, 1889, 1890, 1891 and 1892, paid by the mortgagee, with interest thereon from the date of such payment. Said mortgage and the debt secured thereby were duly assigned by an instrument in writing bearing date September 8th, 1887, by said mortgagee to George Parker, and said assignment was on September 13th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said county, in book 33 of mortgages, on page 241.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m., at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, and $25 Attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

GEORGE PARKER,
Assignee of Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Assignee,
[47-1] Crookston, Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9, 1893]
[Last publication April 20, 1893]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale, dated November 21st, 1890, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk County, Minnesota, on November 24th 1890, in book 49 of mortgages on page 268, whereby Bertha Rundhaug, formerly Bertha Iverson, and Torgrim O Rundhaug her husband, mortgagors, mortgaged to Martin Lally, mortgagee, all that tract, piece or parcel of land, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The north-east quarter of the south-west quarter and lot six, all in section six in Township one hundred and forty-nine of range forty-two, containing 78 and 72-100 acres, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $158.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a.m., at the front door of the Court House in the City of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, and $25 attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

MARTIN LALLY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Mortgagee. [47-1]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9th, 1893.]
[Last publication April 20th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale dated February 5th, 1890, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on February 15th, 1890, in book 51 of mortgages, on page 539, whereby Ephraim Audette and Philanise Audette his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to The Security Trust Company, mortgagee, all that tract, piece or parcel of land situate in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of section ten, in township one hundred and fifty north, of range forty-five west, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $547.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m., at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, and $25 Attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

SECURITY TRUST COMPANY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Mortgagee. [47-1]

The Farmers' Tribune

THE Best Newspaper.
THE Best Agricultural Paper
THE Best Editorials.

THE BEST MISCELLANEOUS READING.
THE BEST SKETCHE OF TRAVEL.
THE BEST ESSAYS AND SERMONS.

Should be read in every home in the Northwest.

LIBERAL PREMIUMS.

Each subscriber who pays arrearges and one year in advance, or each new subscriber who sends one dollar for one year's subscription between Feb. 15th and May 1st, 1893, will receive as a premium their choice of either

No. 1—12 Packages Vegetable Seed.
No. 2—12 Packages Flower Seeds
No. 3—25 Strawberry Plants,
No. 4—1 Lb. Farmers' Tribune Pedigreed Seed corn.

Remember, $1.00 for the Farmers' Tribune one year, with choice of either of above premiums. Or the

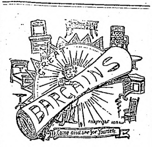
POLK COUNTY JOURNAL
ONE YEAR
AND EITHER OF THE ABOVE PREMIUMS.
For $2.00.

Address
THE JOURNAL,
Crookston, Minn.

E. D. SCHREADER
Veterinary Surgeon.

Horse Dentistry a Specialty.

All Calls receive Prompt Attention. Satisfaction guaranteed in all cases. Office: 319 North Main Street, in connection with Livery house.
CROOKSTON, MINN.



GREAT
BARGAINS
Come and see for Yourself.

A Neatly Furnished House

Is a joy and comfort to its possessor. In this glorious northwest none are too poor to have good furniture and comfortable fixtures for their home. We carry not only the most expensive furniture and house furnishings, but also a line of good, substantial, nice-looking goods, which we can sell at prices within the reach of all. We carry everything to be in a first-class furniture store, and we guarantee to undersell our competitors.

Scandia Furniture Co.
OPERA BLOCK.
Crookston, - - - Minn.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

Is the only line running
THROUGH PULLMAN CARS
—BETWEEN—
Chicago, St. Paul,
Minneapolis
—AND—
NORTH PACIFIC COAST POINTS.

THE DINING CAR LINE
Dining Cars on all through Trains.

THE YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
This marvellous Wonderland reached only by this line.

THE PEOPLE'S LINE
The people's highway from Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and West Superior to Winnipeg, Helena, Butte, Missoula, Spokane, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and Puget Sound.

THE TOURISTS' LINE
The popular line to reach Lakes Pend d' Orielle Cœur d' Alene, Kootenai, Chelan, the Hot Springs and Mountain Resorts of the Northwest and to Alaska.

DAILY EXPRESS TRAINS
Have Pullman Palace Cars, Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Free Colonist Sleeping Cars.

THROUGH TICKETS
Are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and West, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave Crookston Daily	For St. Paul, Minneapolis Chicago, Duluth and West Superior,	7:12 p.m.
	For Grand Forks, Grafton, Brandon and Winnipeg,	8:19 a.m.

For rates, maps, time tables, or special information, apply to
CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.,
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn

Ripans Tabules cure dyspepsia.

Ripans Tabules cure constipation.

SAAKE

Is still doing business at the old stand and selling

WATCHES,
CLOCKS
JEWELRY
CHEAPER
THAN EVER.

☞ WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. ☜

ROBERT STREET,
CROOKSTON, MINN,
C. H. SAAKE.

Schmidt, the Painter,

—CARRIES A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF—PAINTS,
OILS AND VARNISHES.
—ALSO A FULL AND COMPLETE LINE OF—
☞ WALL PAPER. ☜
Painting in all its branches, and Paper Hanging artistically done.
Call at the Shop on Broadway.

If you want a
STOVE OR RANGE
FOR WOOD OR Coal, see the

BRAND'S
FAMOUS
Stoves AND Ranges
BEST ON EARTH

FAMOUS BRAND
STOVE
AT ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER'S.
They are the finest line of stoves ever brought to Crookston, and are sold at
REASONABLE PRICES.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPENS MAY 1ST.

Are You Going? If so be sure and take out a Membership Certificate in "The Chicago Entertainment Bureau." It will save you Worry, Time and Money. Respectable and well located rooms at moderate prices guaranteed. Send for descriptive circulars to the

Minnesota and Dakota Headquarters, 618 AND 619 PIONEER PRESS BLDG., ST. PAUL,
N. T. HALL, Manager.

Partial List of References: HON. KNUTE NELSON, Gov. of Minnesota; HON. A. R. McGILL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; HON. W. R. MARSHALL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; RT. REV. W. N. GILBERT, Ass't Bishop, Diocese, Minn., and many other equally well known names.

SEE THAT LUMP?
That's Lorillard's CLIMAX PLUG.
It's Much the Best.
Sold everywhere. Made only by the
P. LORILLARD COMPANY.
The oldest tobacco manufacturers in America, and the largest in the World.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leaves Crookston Daily
For St. Paul, Minneapolis, Superior, Ashland, Duluth, Chicago, and for all points South, East and West.........at 7:12 p. m.
For Grand Forks, Grafton, Pembina, Brandon, Winnipeg, and points north, ...at 8:19 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN

Railway

TIME CARD.

MONTANA EXPRESS—Daily.

West				East
7:40 p m	De.	St Paul	Ar.	6:55 a m
2:50 a m	"	Fergus Falls	"	11:25 p m
4:47 a m	"	Glyndon	"	9:36 p m
7:20 a m	"	CROOKSTON	"	7:25 p m
8:40 a m	"	Grand Forks	"	6:20 p m
9:45 a m	"	Larimore	"	5:06 p m
2:1 p m	"	Devils Lake	"	2:55 a m
7:00 p m	Ar.	Butte	De.	7:30 a m

ST. VINCENT BRANCH—Daily except Sunday
Depart 7:30 a m Arrive 6:30 p m

FOSSTON BRANCH—Daily, except Sunday.
Depart 8:00 a m Arrive 5:30 p m

ST. HILAIRE, Thief River and Red Lake Falls Branch—
Monday, Wednesday and Friday,
Depart 9:00 a m Arrive 6:50 p m

GRAND FORKS' ACCOMMODATION.
Arrive 9:50 a m Depart 7:55 p m

The scenic route to Spokane, Helena, and Butte on the west, and St. Paul, Minneapolis-Duluth and West Superior on the east. Dining and sleeping cars on all through trains. Tickets on sale to all principal places. Baggage checked through to destination.

W. W. FEGAN, Agent.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 53.
1 Northern 51.

J. F. Creamer went to Fertile on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. C. M. Benson is visiting friends at Woodrich.

Miss Abbie Hill has returned to her home in Minneapolis.

Judge Ives is holding court in Kittson County this week.

Dave Miller and Al. Shaw arrived from the woods on Saturday.

The registration of votes commenced on Tuesday morning.

Rev. Smith went over to Grand Forks to preach on Sunday last.

Bishop's genial traveling man, M. B. McClellan, was in the city on Tuesday.

Pat Cox and Pat Lealos two prominent west side farmers, were in the city on Saturday.

Mrs. Smith, who has been visiting in the city during the past winter with her sister Mrs. Frank Bivins, has returned to her home in Wabasha county.

Street commissioner Dan McDonald is busy getting the drains in shape for a thaw and digging out such catch-basins as have been covered with snow and ice.

O. R. Williams, formerly of the firm of Williams & Roberts, is now running a general store at Irondale, Minn. His family will join him shortly.

Mrs. Geo. A. Hunter, of St. Paul, who has been attending her sister, Mrs. R. P. Roberts for about six weeks, left for home last Friday. Mrs. Roberts being now almost fully recovered.

Paul Nordby has brought the Ackerman restaurant fixtures and rented the restaurant of Earnest Rolsch for a year. He is thoroughly refitting the place and will have a neat and tasty restaurant.

Landlord Stoeser has had plans drawn for enlarging the Commercial hotel in order to meet the demands upon that popular hostelry. The Commercial always was in the front ranks.

Larsen, Carpenter & Co., report that farmers are beginning to get ready for the coming seed-time. On Monday that enterprising firm sold eight drills.

C. D. Smith, director of experimental station at St. Anthony Park, called at this office on Saturday. He came up to see about the smut in wheat said to exist on the Fosston line. He intends to thoroughly investigate the matter.

Mrs. D. McLennan died at her residence on Sunday night, of consumption. A few years since her husband died and she has had the care of their farm near Angus since and it is said that she made a success of it showing what woman can accomplish when she sets about it. She leaves two girls and a boy to mourn the loss, a brother at Angus, and two sisters. The funeral took place on Wednesday at the Congregational church and she was laid to rest in Oakdale cemetery.

David Huggard returned on Saturday from a three months' visit in Canada. He says that everybody there complains of hard times and many are looking with longing eyes to the Red River Valley for relief. He would not be surprised to see some of them out here later on. His sister remains in Ontario for a visit until June.

Ole Olson was severely injured by being knocked down and run over near the coal shed by a box car that was being switched on to a side track on Friday. He was standing on the side-track near the coal shed when struck and was knocked down and the car passed over him dragging him along till the car stopped. His right arm was cut entirely off and he received sundry cuts and bruises. He was taken to Dr. Dampier's office and upon the first examination it was thought that his back was broken also. Later he was taken to the hospital and on Sunday was able to take some nourishment. He had been employed as a section man at Carman and is a single man 35 or 40 years old. At last accounts he was doing nicely with a prospect of ultimate recovery.

There has been quite a stir about the JOURNAL rooms the past two weeks doing extra work for the next issue of the Message which will be finished and sent out through the mails this week. The issue of a 16 page paper of 3500 copies a month, means a nice little job of extra printing. It means that the Message will count this month of 56000 pages of printed matter, which our force has handled with promptness and perfect satisfaction to the Message editor (we think.) The April issue will have the following among its beautiful illustrated pages: "Ladies of President Cleveland's Cabinet," illustrated; "The Mills' Revival at Minneapolis," by the editor; "A Common Sin," a ringing article by Rev. G. M. Morrison; "Liquor Selling," an editorial of two columns proposing a law to sell liquor by the county; "The Model Sunday School Convention," by Rev. R. P. Herrick, Sunday School Superintendent for Minnesota.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. have engaged the celebrated temperance lecturer Rev. E. O. Taylor, M. A., to give a series of lectures in the city. He will lecture in the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening, April 2nd and in the Methodist church on Monday and Tuesday evenings, April 2nd, 3rd and 4th. Among his subjects are "That Boy of Yours," "Popular Fallacies," "A Glass of Beer Analyzed;" "The Gold Cure," etc. His lectures are on special subjects, which are new to the majority of people they are not old fashioned temperance talks, nor the "same old story." "That Boy of Yours" treats of the present national peril to childhood and youth in a manner wholly unique. Facts given are surprising. Its practical value to young people and parents cannot be overestimated. The lecture has won for itself a national reputation having been delivered over one hundred times within a year in different parts of the nation. The press of the country speaks highly of him wherever he has lectured.

A call at the breeding stables of Peterson Bros. & Warninger on Monday showed our reporter as fine an outfit as can be found anywhere in the Northwest. This institution contains representatives of the best trotting families in existence—and this fact is one that Polk county may well be proud of. Their own stock has wintered in elegant shape and they have also in their care a number of horses owned by breeders, notable among these is the celebrated trotter, "Jessie Green," owned by J. H. Brennan, of Milbank, N. D., Mr. Brennan is himself an experienced breeder and the fact that he patronizes this institution speaks volumes for Ham Nut, the leader. Mr. Brennan thoroughly understands trotting horses and will have none but the very best blood no matter what it costs. Our breeders would do well to call at the stable where Dr. Warninger, the manager will always be found ready to show them around and make them perfectly at home.

DR. PRICE'S
Cream Baking Powder.
The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

M. W. Jenson was down from McIntosh on Tuesday.

Frank Hertz returned last week from a visit east.

Bi Chapin was down from Warren on Tuesday.

S. L. Collins has a few good farm teams to sell cheap.

Chas. Teal, Robert Teal and E. C. Murney were in from Euclid on Tuesday.

Rev. R. H. Battey moves this week into the Finlayson house, on Houston avenue.

The county board met at the auditor's office on Wednesday morning in extra session.

Fritz Eichoff came down from St. Hilaire on Saturday returning on Monday morning.

Rev. McDonald went over to Crystal N. D., last week, returning in time for services on Sunday.

Farmers are getting ready for spring's work which they are thinking will begin pretty soon.

Bloom, the drayman, went to M. R. Brown and bought one of those fine Iowa horses on Monday.

Henry Peterson has ordered a new pop-machine in order to be ready for the prospective demand.

H. G. Mitchell returned from Devils Lake last week and will move his family to the city in a few days.

The sale of stock from the Darling farm on Tuesday was well attended, but the horses sold went at extremely low prices.

Mr. and Mrs. Bivins move out to the farm this week and Mr. and Mrs. Bugg will occupy their house in town for the summer.

A harness maker has the refusal of the room H. F. Brown occupied and will probably take it when the building is completed.

Little Fanny Copeland has been quite ill from bronchitis for the past week. It is thought that she is somewhat better at the present writing.

H. B. Budd was up from Edna this week to buy one of M. R. Brown's Iowa horses. Budd knows a good thing when he sees it.

The office now occupied by Christianson Bros. and Judge Benson has been rented for a saloon, and the boys will have to vacate soon.

The weather so far this week has been very warm and spring-like. At this rate the snow will soon disappear and the land be ready for seeding.

A carload of Washington fir flooring arrived for T. G. Thompson on Monday and T. G. will now sport a new floor of material not very frequently used in this city.

A. M. Silver has accepted a situation as express agent in Grand Forks and Herb Newland has been appointed to succeed him in the Great Northern express office in this city.

Of one of our Crookston society ladies the Wabasha Herald says: "Mrs. P. J. McGuire left for her home in Two Harbors, Minn., on Tuesday morning after a short visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Reusch."

S. L. Collins has sent some samples of oats, wheat and barley for exhibition at the World's fair. The oats weighed 42 pounds and the wheat 63 pounds per bushel. The wheat was furnished by Will Himmelsback and Ole Hoven.

Rev. R. H. Battey extended his Barnesville trip to Fargo last week in the interest of the Message, and from there he went to Minneapolis where he had the pleasure of listening to the great revivalist, Rev. Mills, whom he pronounces a great preacher.

The work of repairing H. F. Brown's building is going on rapidly, and the room that Brown vacated will soon be all in readiness for occupancy and we are told that Mr. Brown intends to remain where he is and rent his building.

Knute Tedmanson came down from Maple Bay on Tuesday morning. Drove down in four hours. He intends to do more in dairying this summer than in raising grain, and will manufacture cheese on a large scale. Says he thinks diversified farming is the only kind that will pay here.

Easter Day will be observed at the Methodist Episcopal Church by unique services. At 11 a. m., the pastor will speak on his visit to the place of the Resurrection, and will close the service by a new ceremony entitled "Unveiling the Cross." At 7:30 p. m., the Sunday school will give an "Easter Concert," which promises to be a fine entertainment.

Little Katie Putnam delighted a Crookston audience at the opera house on Tuesday evening. She does not seem a whit older than when she appeared in this city several years ago. She is supported by an excellent company and has a play, "An Unclaimed Express Package," that calls into play all of her versatile powers. Katie is a favorite in Crookston.

Dr. A. A. Just is off for a short visit east.

Will Peterson and M. E. Kirsch went up to St. Hilaire on Monday.

Miss Della McDonnell, of Grand Forks, is in the city visiting friends.

Conductor Corser, of the Great Northern, was run over Wednesday evening by a train at Glyndon and had one of his legs taken off.

Will Walker put men at work on Wednesday laying the flooring for T. G. Thompson.

Remember the "Spider and Fly" spectacular at the Grand next Saturday evening, April 1st.

The "Spider and Fly" spectacular combination appears at the Grand next Saturday evening. It's rich.

C. O. Felland, the horse importer of Fisher, returned from Madison, Wis., where he has been for a few weeks.

Max Ericsson and his little son, Lloyd, came up from St. Paul on Tuesday for a few days visit with friends in the city.

The thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. LePage died this morning after a short illness, of brain fever.

Christian Bros. have rented rooms up stairs in the Anderson-Olson block on Robert street. Judge Benson will occupy adjoining rooms.

"Spider and Fly."—This popular and remarkably successful spectacular production will be presented at the Grand opera house Saturday, April 1st.

"Is Marriage a Failure?" is the title of a play that will be presented at the opera house on Tuesday evening, April 4th, in which "Little Irene," the child actress appears in her inimitable role. It is a piece full of sparkling comedy and presented by an excellent troope. Don't miss it.

Levi S. Myers was in the city last week from the west side. Says he is waiting with what patience he can command for a chance to go to seeding.

Wynkoop Leman, of Angus, the gentleman who has the distinction of belonging to Geo. Washington's masonic lodge, is sojourning in the city this week.

Plenty of money to loan. No delay. We sell farms and city property. List your lands with us. Red River Valley Loan and Investment Co., Opera block, Crookston, Minn.

The following are some of the articles you can get at cost at I. U. Jennings' furniture store: Parlor suites, chamber suites, lounges, couches, chairs, rockers, bureaus, center tables, cupboards, safes, tables, bookcases, mirrors, etc.

The state of Minnesota vs. Wm. Wolf was a case before Judge Christianson Tuesday. Mr. Wolf claimed that Louis Berthiaume, of Red Lake Falls, had obtained $200 from him under false pretenses. But as no evidence was forthcoming to prove the charge the case was dismissed.

The "Spider and Fly" can certainly be classed as a distinct novelty, containing as it does the brightest features of spectacle, pantomine, comedy, opera and high class vaudeville.

The costumes have been lavishly supplied. The scenery, electric and mechanical effects are all new, and said to be magnificent. The company numbers sixty people, and the chorus will be unusually attractive numerous novelties have been added, and the music, songs and specialties are all new.

The Independent Ticket.

Since our last issue another ticket has been placed in the field—an independent ticket. The gentlemen named are:

For Mayor, J. W. Wheeler; for alderman-at-large, A. K. Austin; for treasurer, L. C. Couverette; for clerk, E. M. Stanton; for assessor, Eli Steenerson. The justices and constables in the citizens ticket are endorsed.

These will be Teachers

Prof. Lommen has kindly furnished the JOURNAL with the following list of applicants who passed a successful examination and secured certificates at the recent examination:

SECOND GRADE.

Nellie McGuire, Belle F. Kyle, Maud Sargeant, Ellen E. Bullan, O. K. Berget, F. Tousley, James Crookshanks, George Wold, Peter S. Finseth, Crookston; Mamie Welsh, Severina Thompson, Mary Thompson, Sophia Grundesen, Sigri Grundesen, Fisher; Mamie A. Dwyer, Ellen E. Brady, Lydia E. B. Fletcher, Red Lake Falls; Della Hancock, Euclid; Helen E. Stoddard, Carrie Moen, Maple Bay; Katie McAnulty, Etta McRoberts, Lambert; Flora Haley, Fosston; Annie Peterson, Valley.

THIRD GRADE.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.
Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

Julia Bloom, Sarah Crookshanks, Miriam Dobson, Agnes Godbout, Clara Magean, Isabella Reed, Olive W. Snedeker, Josephene Kirsch, Julia Anderson, Lena Bakken, Winfred Sampson, Andrew Finseth, H. T. McAnulty, John Kennedy, Crookston; May Swan, Emma Grundesen, Sigri Aanenson, Fisher; Anna S. Johnson, Thomas Rude, Grand Forks; Lillie Losey, Euclid; Louis Swansen, St. Hilaire; Axel Swanson Wylie; Eugene La Freniere, Jennie Bottineau, Red Lake Falls; Carrie Hunter, Lillie Horton, Azile Horton, Maple Bay; Fronie Eaton, Mae Reed, Fosston; Florida Brule, Gentilly; Emma Thompson, McIntosh; W. D. McMillan, Edna.

City Central Committee.

The chairman of the citizens' convention appointed the following gentlemen as the city central committee for the ensuing year, the first two named being at large and one in each ward, as follows:

Hugh Robertson, chairman; Oston Larson.

First ward—H. E. Cooke.
Second ward—J. H. Peterson.
Third ward—M. E. Kirsch.
Fourth ward—Felix Fournet.
Fifth ward—E. D. Childs.

WARD COMMITTEES.

First ward—I. U. Jennings, chairman; B. F. Zarracher, Joe Gervais.

Second ward—T. G. Thompson, chairman; Wm. Marin, Chas. Walters.

Third ward—P. J. Russell, chairman; R. J. Montague, John Kyle.

Fourth ward—In the absence of the chairman, A. C. Wilkinson, who is attending court at Hallock, we are unable to obtain this ward. If possible we shall have it for next week.

Fifth ward—E. D. Childs, W. F. Hitchcock, Geo. C. Wilde.

Special sale boots, shoes and rubbers.

New York Store.

Wanted.

A girl to learn millinery. Apply at Miss Veronneau's store on Second street.

Dreaming of Crows.

To dream you see a crow signifies expedition of business; if you hear them croaking unpleasantly while they are flying it is a sign of ill luck. If you see in your dream the crow flying on to the head of a child it will be in danger of some misfortune.—All the Year Round.

CHOICE ✣ ✣ STORIES

like the one published in this issue are a feature with this Home Newspaper. You should see to it at once that you son of Blackwood, Jr., 2:22½, the great show horse; he by Blackwood 74, the handsomest stallion in the world in his day, sold for $30,000. Rose Valley Chief's dam is by Administrator, 2:29½, and Administrator is regarded by all intelligent breeders as one of Hambletonian's ten best sons, and ranks among the best of great brood mare sires. It is only a matter of a little time when our patrons will be fully convinced of the fact that we have made no mistake in the selection of the above named animals, and they will be cheerfully shown to any one by Dr. J. Warninger, veterinary surgeon, manager of the Red River Valley Trotting Association.

Do Not Miss a Number.

People wonder how I can sell goods so cheap. I can't and make any profit. But I must; my stock is too large.

A. CHABOT,
New York Store.

The sale at the New York Store will not last forever so don't put off your shopping too long—you might get left—and that would make you feel bad.

Life is short and time is fleeting, but Hood's Sarsaparilla will bless humanity as the ages roll on. Try it this season.

Trusts and Combinations

Are unpopular. But there is one form of trust against which no one has anything to say. That is the trust which the public reposes in Hood's Sarsaparilla, and the best of it is the trust is fully justified by the merit of the medicine. For, remember, Hood's Sarsaparilla CURES.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, and do not purge, pain or gripe. Sold by all druggists.

If you want to sell your farm, list it with the Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company. Office in Opera block, Crookston.

The Crookston Belle—Kœppe's new cigar, is as fine as silk. Try it.

Lane's Medicine Moves the Bowels Each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary.

RED RIVER VALLEY
LOAN AND INVESTMENT COMPANY.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON REAL ESTATE.

FARMS AND LANDS
For Sale in nearly all the Towns of Polk County.

CITY LOTS
In Crookston and Thief River Falls.
List your Lands and Lots with us and effect quick sales.
OFFICE IN OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.

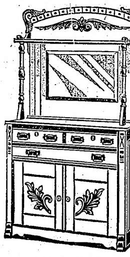
A. G. GALLASCH. Pres.
J. W. WHEELER, Vice Pres.
W. H. MATHEWS, 1st Vice Pres.
A. F. GEORGE, Sec.
O. H. LUCKEN, Treasurer.

6 MONTHS
Accumulation of Remnants and short lengths will be put on sale at Unparalleled Wholesale Reduction Prices,
Wednesday, December 28th,
The people know that at these sales no regard is paid to values, only one thing, the
REMNANTS MUST GO!
Fontaine & Anglim.

Historical Society
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Polk County Journal.

VOL. XVI. CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, APRIL 6, 1893. NO. 51



$19.50.

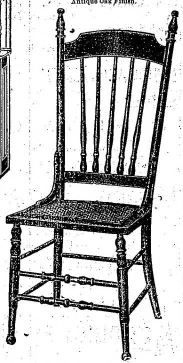
Solid Oak,
Large Glass,
Plush-lined Drawers.

8-ft. Oak Table,
42x42, only
$7.90.

Crookston Furniture Co.

FURNITURE, CARPETS,
BURIAL SUPPLIES.

$1.35.
Antique Oak Finish.



OFFICIAL DIRECTORY.

State.
Governor	Knute Nelson.
Lieutenant Governor	David M. Clough.
Secretary of State	F. P. Brown.
Attorney General	H. W. Childs.
Congressional.
Member of Congress, 7th Dist.	Haldor E. Boen.
Legislative.
Senator, 51st Sen. Dist.	E. E. Lommen.
Representatives, 51st Sen. Dist.	John D. Knuteson, B. M. Chesley and Hans Juelson.
Judicial.
Associate Justices Supreme Court	Thomas Canty, Daniel Buck, Wm. Mitchell and Loren W. Collins.
Judge 14th Jud. District	Frank Ives.
Clerk of Court	Nils Muus.
County.
Auditor	C. U. Webster
Treasurer	J. T. Beaudry
Register of Deeds	John Amundson
Attorney	A. R. Holston
Sheriff	Arny Grundysen
Judge of Probate	C. M. Benson
Supt. of Schools	A. A. Lommen
Surveyor	O. L. Hamery
Court Com'r	W. H. Averill
Coroner	Henry Shepard
County Commissioners.
First District	John E. Oppegaard
Second District	Anton Linden
Third District	M. E. Kirsch
Fourth District	C. P. Demers
Fifth District	A. C. Rhinehart

Special sale boots, shoes and rubbers.

New York Store.

Wanted.

A girl to learn millinery. Apply at Miss Veronneau's store on Second street.

People wonder how I can sell goods so cheap. I can't and make any profit. But I must; my stock is too large.

A. Chabot,
New York Store.

The sale at the New York Store will not last forever so don't put off your shopping too long—you might get left—and that would make you feel bad.

The Crookston Belle—Kœppe's new cigar, is as fine as silk. Try it.

Now is the time to list your farms and city property with the Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company. Opera block, Crookston.

Lane's Medicine Moves the Bowels Each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary.

Fits.

All fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St. Phila., Pa. For sale by all druggists; call on yours.

Do you want some dress goods, flannels, skirtings, sheeting, yarns, linens or notions, carpets and draperies, go to the New York Store. Never before was there such a large stock of goods sold so cheap.

Don't forget my feed mill—feed ground every week day during February either for cash or trade at rate of one sack for seven or ⅛ bushel per bushel ground. Special contract for large quantities. Call on me.

W. H. Norrie,
Successor to Priester & Co.,
Corner Main and Third streets.

COUGHING LEADS TO CONSUMPTION
Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

For Sale at a Discount.

A scholarship in the Crookston Business College. Apply at the Journal office. [10 t.f.]

Come quick and get some of my A No. 1 dry maple before it is all gone. I have green ash, also that cannot be beat. Prices of dry oak, birch, tamarac and poplar still very low. All kinds of wood sawed as you want it at very cheap rate. My feed mill runs every day until April 1st and longer if necessary. Feed ground for cash or toll. Low rates for large quantities. Call and see me.

W. H. Norrie,
Corner Main and Third Streets.

To the Ladies of Crookston.

Easter opening of millinery at Mrs. I. U. Jennings', Friday afternoon the 31st of March.

Farmers,

I am now making arrangements to buy wood from you. Call on me and we can agree.

W. H. Norrie,
Wood yard corner Main and Third streets, Crookston. [48-3]

The Poetry That Pays.

A poet, to have a successful sale for a book of verse, should bear in mind one potent fact—that the poetry for which there is the greatest general demand today is that which appeals to the heart, rather than to the mind. That is the secret of the greater sale of Longfellow's books over those of Walt Whitman; that is why Whittier outsells Browning, why a thousand copies of Dr. Holmes' poetical works are sold to one of Swinburne; why Will Carleton outsells Thomas Bailey Aldrich; why James Whitcomb Riley's poems sell as fast as they are put on the shelves, while those of Andrew Lang and Austin Dobson stand year after year looking at each other from the same relative position on the same shelves.

The cynical literary critic may sneer at Will Carleton, he may pick flaws in James Whitcomb Riley's verse, he may tell you that Eugene Field is only a newspaper poet, but does the public listen to the all knowing critic and buy the works of the long ago buried poets whom he chooses to call immortal? Ask the booksellers; ask the publishers. To defy the reader's easy conception of a thought in a poem may be to have your name included in the intense literary set, but it will not sell your poems.—Edward W. Bok in Ladies' Home Journal.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

L. J. COLUMBUS. - - MANAGER.

ONE NIGHT ONLY.

America's Greatest Actres,

Miss Jane Coombs,

—WILL APAEAR ON—

Wednesday Ev'g, April 12th.

In her celebrated character of Lady Deadlock and Hortense.

See Charles Dickens'
Bleak House

Supported by her superb company.

Prices $1.00, 75c and 50c.
No extra charge for reserved seats now on sale at Tom Morris'.

CITIZENS WIN.

The City Election Results in the Election of the Entire Citizens Ticket.

The Vote was the Largest ever Polled in the City of Crookston.

The Principal Fight Made on the Head of the Ticket—The Vote by Wards.

Last Tuesday occurred the annual city election, and a new set of officers have been elected for the ensuing year. The day was pleasant, the workers were active, and it is safe to say that there were but few votes in the city that were not recorded. The following is the vote in detail:

	1st ward	2d ward	3d ward	4th ward	5th ward	Totals
Mayor—
A. D. Stephens	130	147	69	133	8	492
J. W. Wheeler	121	81	89	168	29	488
Alderman-at-Large
I. Simmons	147	151	79	155	8	546
A. K. Austin	97	57	27	131	25	337
Clerk—
E. C. Carruth	120	152	87	160	13	532
E. M. Stanton	114	61	21	135	22	356
Treasurer—
J. Matthews	120	189	77	180	8	474
L. C. Couvrette	114	75	27	162	28	406
Assessor—
A. C. Schmidt	113	138	72	144	9	476
Eli Steenerson	122	73	34	144	25	398

For Justices of the Peace, C. S. Spendley and L. E. Gossman, no opposition.

For Constables, Geo. H. Holt and O. Ducharme, no opposition.

For Alderman from the First Ward, I. U. Jennings 118, Geo. O. Buhn 110.

Alderman Second Ward, W. H. Norrie 123, John Monroe 92.

Alderman Third Ward, Wm. Watts, no opposition.

Alderman Fourth Ward, John Cromb 153, Martin Lally 141.

Alderman Fifth Ward, R. G. Marlette, no opposition.

NOTES.

Isaac Simmons is the most popular man in the city—according to the election returns. He ran against a strong candidate and was elected alderman-at-large by a majority of 209—the largest majority of any candidate in the field.

John Cromb had a close call for alderman in the Fourth ward. Mr. Lally ran neck and neck with him, but Mr. Cromb went under the wire just 12 votes ahead.

Alderman Jennings of the First ward was re-elected by a majority of eight over Mr. Buhn—the closest vote recorded in the city.

Everything worked smoothly and rapidly at the polling places. There were no challenges, no disturbances, and the Australian system worked to perfection.

There were more soreheads the morning after election than the morning before.

The vote shows that the principal fight was made on the head of the ticket, Mr. Stephens having but 54 majority.

E. C. Carruth will take care of the city records for another year. Mr. Stanton made a good fight, but he is comparatively unknown as compared to Mr. Carruth, the latter having grown up from boyhood in the city.

The amount of personal history, biography, reminiscence and record that has been poured into the ears of the voters during the week previous to election is past computing.

The total number of votes cast was 945, the largest vote ever polled in the city.

The Taylor Lectures.

The temperance lectures given by the Rev. E. O. Taylor in the city this week were well attended and very unique in many particulars. On Monday evening the M. E. church building was filled to the doors and the speaker spent the evening in the endeavor to locate alcohol and to show why, with a majority of the people really in favor of total abstinence so little progress has been made in that line. The best medical authorities, the speaker said, now unite in proclaiming alcohol among the most deadly poisons, classing it with arsenic, strychnine and such-like, and aiming to show its insiduous and baneful effects upon the human system. He showed up the fallacy of the popular theory that alcohol exists in many articles of food and how the idea originated. He showed that while under certain conditions alcohol can be extracted from sugar certain chemical conditions must exist to change the nature of the sugar before this result can be obtained. Mr. T. is a very entertaining speaker and his lectures were highly enjoyed.

THE LEGISLATURE

TWENTY-EIGHTH SESSION.

Tuesday, March 28.

St. Paul, March 28.—Senator Donnelly, to whom was referred his bill relating to pensions of inmates of soldiers' homes, reported a substitute bill. The bill gives the board authority to withhold all above $1 of these pensions or to turn them over to the families of the pensioners in their discretion. The bill was passed under suspension of the rules.

Senator Lineau's resolution, endorsing Judge Lochren's candidacy for the commissioner of pensions was unanimously adopted.

In committee of the whole Leavitt's constitutional amendment, taxing output of mines, sleeping car and telegraph lines was recommended to pass: also requiring railroad companies to provide sufficient warehouse accommodations for handling of grain at all stations.

In the house a long discussion took place on Senator Dean's anti-pool room bill. The recommendation of the judiciary committee for indefinite postponement was not adopted and the bill was placed on general orders. A resolution endorsing Judge Lochren for commissioner of pensions was unanimously adopted.

The coal committee's bill amending the anti-trust law by adding imprisonment from one to ten years to the penalty for violating the law was passed under suspension of the rules.

The afternoon session was spent on the reapportionment bill. About 50 districts were agreed upon before adjournment.

Wednesday, March 29.

St. Paul, March 29.—The event of the day in the legislature was the introduction and passage in the house under suspension of the rules of a substitute for the anti-scalper bill, which has been lost or stolen.

The reapportionment bill was a special order for 3 o'clock and was discussed for some time. It will again come up as a special order Saturday.

The house concurred in the senate amendment to Mr. Walsh's bill appropriating $50,000 for the defense of the coal committee. The amendment provides that money not used in the defense of the committee may be used in prosecuting Rhodes and other members of the combine in and out of the state.

A bill was passed fixing pawnbrokers interest at not to exceed 10 per cent.

In the senate the bill reorganizing the national guard of the state was passed, as were also bills deducting part of the road tax from farmers who use wagons with a tire three inches or more wide, compelling passenger trains to stop at county seats, and prohibiting persons acting as locomotive engineers who have not served three years as firemen.

Thursday, March 30.

St. Paul, March 30.—In the senate several important bills were passed under suspesion of rules.

The Red River drainage bill was was taken up and passed, 41 to 3. It calls for an appropriation of $100,000 in all, $25,000 a year for four years, for the purpose of opening the closed water courses emptying into the Red River.

The anti-scalpers bill was placed on general orders.

Senator Eaton's bill providing that no paper which had not been published one year shall publish state laws, was amended, by making the time six months, and the bill passed. The capitol bill was made special order for Tuesday.

The bill for the erection of an elevator at Duluth of 1,500,000 bushels capacity and appropriating $200,000 out of the inspection fund for the purpose was passed.

Senator Donnelly introduced a bill naming a commission of ladies to select a state flag. The bill was passed by a vote of 49 to 0.

In the house the judiciary committee reported back an amendment to the senate bill taxing the gross earnings of sleeping car, telegraph and express companies and the output of mines, fixing the gross earnings tax at 5 per cent and the tax on ore mined at 3 cents per ton. An attempt to suspend the rules and pass the governor's elevator bill resulted in failure.

Friday, March 31.

St. Paul, March 31.—S. F. 4, Senator Leavitt's bill proposing an amendment to the constitution, under which the gross earnings system of taxation can be applied to sleeping car, drawingroom car, parlor car, telegraph, express and insurance companies, which has been on general orders of the calendar since the beginning of the session, came up for final action at the afternoon session. There was considerable excitement manifested during the roll call on its passage, as friends and opponents were about equally divided. The bill was defeated, receiving 25 votes, 8 less than the required number.

A motion to suspend the rules and pass the university bill was lost.

A resolution of Senator Donnelly, calling upon the finance committee to report the amount of appropriations now called for by bills before that committee, was passed.

The house spent nearly all day in committee of the whole. Mr. Abbott's bill making express companies common carriers, subject to the regulation of the railroad and warehouse commission, was taken up, and after much debate the motion to indefinitely postpone the bill was lost by a vote of 71 to 27 and it was recommended to pass.

The bills relating to dirtribution of Minnesota war records, protection of electric cars, were also recommended to pass.

Saturday, April 1.

St. Paul, April 1.—The senate has passed the bill providing for a state elevator at Duluth by the very decisive vote of 81 to 18. The bill as it passed calls for an elevator with a capacity of 1,500,000 bushels to be built at Duluth prior to Oct. 1, 1894, to be under the control of the state baard of railroad and warehouse commissioners, who are to fix all charges and employ all necessary help. The appropriation called for is $200,000, to come from the grain and warehouse fund, in which there is now a surplus of about $85,000. The inspection fee is to be raised from 15 cents to not more than 50 cents to provide for the rest of the cost.

In committee of the whole the bill proposing an amendment to the constitution providing for annual sessions of the legislature with an annual salary of $1,000 for members was amended to make the salary $500 and recommended to pass.

The house has decided to meet hereafter at 9 o'clock in the morning on motion of Mr. Furlong. The evening sessions may be abandoned.

Mr. Winston's bill for a general election law was again taken up in committee of the whole. After adopting a number of amendments the bill was recommended to pass; also Kelly's bill to prohibit the manufacture or sale of adulterated cigars or cigarettes, and the sale of tobacco to minors.

Monday, April 3.

St. Paul, April 3.—The house tried the early meeting scheme, but there were only 18 members present. After trying for an hour to get a quorum the house went into committee of the whole and considered quite a number of measures.

The house bill relating to punishment for forming pools and trusts was returned from the governor for correction and repassed.

At the afternoon session the bill for the inspection of steam vessels and boilers, was indefinitely postponed. H. F. 595, to provide for a board of county adjusters of losses in fire insurance created considerable discussion and was also defeated. Dr. Williams' bill to prevent the pollution of waters of the state met the same fate as did also the Onstad bill providing that public officials who receive a free pass from the railroads shall forfeit their office and be punished by a term in the state prison.

The senate held no day session, but met at 7:30 p. m. and at once took up the calendar and passed several measures, among them the following:

Prohibiting trap shooting at live birds; providing for farmers institutes; to increase the salary of supreme court reporter from $1,500 to $3,500; providing for publication of legislative manuals.

CHOLERA AGAIN.

The Much Dreaded Scourge Breaks Out Afresh at St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg March 31.—Cholera has made its appearance again in this city and it is known that fatal cases are of daily occurrence, although the authorities have not resumed their policy of last year of making a regular daily announcement of the new cases and deaths. At present the authorities are pursuing a policy of suppression and withhold from the public all information as to the spread of the disease.

Very Disquieting Rumors have been received from the interior of Russia and the ministry of the interior is taking action which indicates that the government must possess special information of the gravest character.

The government is causing to be formed sanitary commissions which will look after the health of the people at the points to be reached through the railway system of Russia.

Cholera Spreading Rapidly.

Vienna, April 1.—A Vienna physician sent to Southeastern Hungary to report on the progress of the cholera says that the epidemic is spreading in that region. In the Peterwardin district it is especially virulent. The villages of Saulezre and Anundrien in Galicia have been isolated.

THE CHOCTAW FEUD.

Both Parties Actively Preparing for a Battle.

Antlers, I. T., April 1.—The situation as far as can be ascertained is neither peace nor war. Both parties have been recruiting their forces and making active preparations for battle all day. Locke has built a fort in a strong natural position and is awaiting the attack. The militia is trying to get in communication with Governor Jones, whose whereabouts are unknown. Indian Agent Bennett telegraphed during the afternoon that both factions must disband or he would send troops and compel them to do so. Both parties were notified of his intentions. Locke refuses to disband until the militia do. Many think Locke will be attacked during the night. Neither party wants peace now.

WANT THE TWINE.

Farmers' Alliance Proposes to Take the Minnesota Penitentiary Output.

St. Paul, March 30.—The state Farmers' Alliance proposes to take the entire binding twine output of the state prison and supply the farmers of Minnesota.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the alliance held at the Metropolitan hotel a committee consisting of President Donnelly, R. J. Hall, H. P. Bjorge and Robert Eckford was appointed to meet with the board of state prison inspectors at their next meeting in April, and to present a plan for supplying the Minnesota farmers with the output of their plant.

New Alliance Organ.

St. Paul, March 30.—The new Alliance organ will be called The Representative and will be published at St. Paul. The initial number will be out within the next three weeks. This was determined upon by the Alliance executive committee.

LATEST MARKET REPORT.

St. Paul Union Stock Yards.

South St. Paul, April 3, 1893.

HOGS—5@10c lower. Range of prices, $6.00@6.45.

CATTLE—Best butcher cattle steady. Stockers and feeders firm and active. Prime steers, $4.00@4.75; good steers, $3.50@4.00; prime cows, $3.50@3.75; good cows, $2.50@3.00; common to fair cows, $1.25@2.25; light veal calves, $3.00@4.50; heavy calves, $2.00@3.50; stockers, $1.75@2.75; feeders, $2.50@3.50; bulls, $1.50@2.50.

SHEEP—No receipts and no trading. Muttons, $3.75@4.85; lambs, $4.00@4.90; stockers and feeders, $3.00@4.50.

Receipts—Cattle, 200; hogs, 100; calves, 15, no sheep.

Minneapolis Grain.

Minneapolis, April 3, 1893.

WHEAT—May opened, 62⅝c; highest, 63⅛c; lowest, 62⅝c; closed, 63c. July opened 65⅝c; highest, 66c; lowest, 65⅛c; closed, 65⅝c. On Track—No. 1 hard, 64c; No. 1 Northern, 62⅛c; No. 2 Northern, 59@60c.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago Union Stock Yards, April 3, 1893.

CATTLE—Steady.

HOGS—Weak, 5@10c lower. Heavy, $6.20@6.85; mixed and medium, $6.15@6.75; light, $6.10@6.60.

SHEEP—Steady, except for lambs, which closed weaker.

Receipts: Cattle, 16,000; hogs, 14,000; sheep, 12,000.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

Chicago, April 3, 1893.

OPENING PRICES.

WHEAT—May, 76⅝c; July, 73⅛c; September, 73⅛c.

CORN—April, 40⅛c; May, 40⅝c; July, 41⅛c.

OATS—May, 29⅝c; July, 29⅛c; September, 26⅝c.

PORK—May, $16.15; July, $16.25; September, $16.20.

LARD—May, $9.40; July, $9.45; September, $9.50.

SHORT RIBS—May, $9.50; July, $8 97½.

THE WEEK'S NEWS.

Wednesday, March 29.

Louisville banks have been swindled out of $100,000 by forged whisky receipts.

Gilbert A. Pierce of Minnesota is reported to have resigned as minister to Portugal.

The proposed national encampment of militia at Chicago during the world's fair has been abandoned.

By a decision of the United States supreme court Edison's quadruplex telegraph patent and also his three microphone patents are made void.

Clarence Sherman, accused of complicity in the murder of Banker Mead of Waupaca, Wis., eight years ago, has been arrested in a mining camp near Barnum, Minn.

The engagement of Commander Whitney of the United States man-of-war Alliance to Miss Etta Ah Fung, daughter of a wealthy Chinese merchants of Honolulu, is announced.

Thursday, March 30.

A conflict between Brazil and Paraguay is said to be almost unavoidable.

English capitalists have secured options on all the important iron mines in Mexico.

The inheritance tax on the Gould estate will bring the treasury of New York state three-quarters of a million dollars.

Fire in the Auburn (N. Y.) prison Wednesday caused a loss of $15,000, divided between the manufacturers and the state.

The Lancaster strike lasted 20 weeks, involved directly and indirectly 125,000 employes, and cost in lost wages alone $10,000,000.

The Burlington will put on a fast train between St. Paul and Chicago, making the run in 12 hours. It will probably cause a rate war.

Rev. Thomas Spurgeon has been chosen to succeed his father, the late Charles Spurgeon, as pastor of the Tabernacle church, London.

Friday, March 31.

Cleveland will review the Decoration Day parade at Brooklyn.

The Columbus caravel Santa Maria reached Porto Rico Thursday.

Swift & Co., the Chicago packers, have decided to increase their capital stock from $7,500,000 to $15,000,000.

A driver in Toronto was fined $2 or 10 days in jail for driving with a lady along the public streets on Sunday last.

Preacher Sam Jones denounces as a "great big lie" the statement that he and a brother minister were carrying guns for each other.

It is said that ex-Congressman Watson has been fined in the city court at Thomson, Ga., his home, for striking and drawing a pistol on Railroad Agent Palmer in a dispute.

Saturday, April 1.

A reciprocity convention will be held in St. Paul, June 5 and 6.

Mrs. McKenzie, widow of the late Alex McKenzie, ex-premier of Canada, died at Toronto Friday.

An old man, arrested for begging in St. Paul, was searched and $20,000 in money and certificates of deposit found on his person.

Three more bodies from the dories of the fishing schooner Ada K. Danon, which went adrift, have been picked up on the beech at Nauset, Mass.

Govenor Altgeld of Illinois is accused of attempting to turn the national guard into a political machine, and there is a rumpus in that organization in consequence.

Monday, April 3.

Prince Bismarck was 78 years of age Saturday.

Mayor Wright has appointed ex-Governor McGill to fill one of the vacancies on the St. Paul school board.

An application is on file by a Kansas girl to sell stamps at the world's fair. She is 24 years old and weighs 472 pounds.

Burglars carted away nearly $1,000 worth of furniture belonging to Mrs. Conrad Gotzian, St. Paul. It was stored in a barn at the time.

Joe Jefferson's house at Buzzard's Bay was destroyed by fire Saturday. His cook perished in the flames. The total loss is about $250,000, including $150,000 worth of valuable paintings.

Mrs. James J. Corbett, wife of the champion pugilist, is to become an actress. She is to appear with her husband in "Gentleman Jack," taking the place of Miss Belle La Verde, the soubrette of the company as Polly Graham, the college widow.

Tuesday, April 4.

The St. Paul city council has been asked to issue $50,000 bonds for a public library site.

Two men were drowned in Laurel Hill mine at Hazleton, Pa., by water breaking in and imprisoning them.

R. W. Crawford's wholesale drug and liquor house at Fort Dodge, Ia., was destroyed by fire early Monday

Redwood Falls, April 4.—The warm weather of the last few days has left the ground in splendid shape for seeding. Farmers commenced Monday. The average will be greater this year than last.

CROSS TO HIS MOTHER.

He Wouldn't Make a Good Husband, She Concluded.

When I was 18 years of age, I must confess I was very fond of a nice young man who had come to see me for over a year, and we both looked forward to a happy wedding in the near future. He was a German; I an American. I understood German very well, though I had never told him so. I had never seen his mother, and I wanted to, but he would say, "Some time I shall take you and show my mother her new daughter." He seemed a long time doing it, and one day I said, "Come, Gus, we will surprise your mother." He said, rather crossly, "Oh, not today." I said: "Yes, today. I want to go." He had sent me a lovely bouquet that morning, and I took out some pinks and wore them. When we got to —— street, I said, "In this street?" "Yes," he answered. "Mother is queer."

He stopped at an alley; then in we went to a very poor but respectable rear house. He opened the door, and a very lovely poor little woman stood in the room. Gus introduced us, but I shall never forget the look he gave her. She seemed in dread of him. Then she said: "Oh, Gus, where have you been since Saturday? I have cried myself sick worrying about you." He ground his teeth, and in German he said, "Shut your mouth." She sighed as she walked into the other room. A mirror hung between the two front windows, and where I sat I could see all that was going on in the rear rooms. His mother beckoned him to come in, and he did so. In German she softly asked for a little money. He took out some change and gave her part of it, saying in German: "You old fool, you are always asking for money. I had a debt to pay this morning of $3, and I am short, so you can take that or nothing."

Then out he stepped as pleasant as ever to where I was sitting. "I guess we will start," said I. "Your time is your own," he said, not thinking that I had understood and seen. His mother bade me goodby. I invited her to my home, but Gus spoke up, "Oh, mother never goes out." On the way home he said. "Don't you think mother is odd?" "No, I think she is lovely, and that is more than I can say about you." "What do you mean, dear?" "Well, if you want to know, I understood your German to your mother. I saw your looks in the glass, and a man that will use his mother like that I despise." He tried to smooth things over, but I was determined, so that settled that wedding, but I am married now to a man that loves both mother and wife.—Cor. New York Recorder.

The Danger In Cheap Guns.

Things made to look like guns are sold for as low a figure as $25, but I want no such "gas pipes" at my shoulder. As the cheap watch keeps time in a fashion, so does the cheap gun perform. It will kill birds fairly well for a time if held straight, but it will not stand continuous use, and it may contain a flaw or flaws in the barrels, which the owners of it may not detect until too late. When the cheap watch wears out and breaks, no great harm can result, but when a sham gun concludes to spread itself—well, that is another story!

If I had a fair young son, full of promise and with a few ounces of gray matter scattered through his intellect—if I took pride in the boy and dreamed of future presidential candidature or high position in church or state for him—just about the last place on the Lord's earth where I'd want to see him stand would be before, behind or alongside of one of those infernal machines known as a cheap gun. He might load and fire it many times with no other result than a crack, a smoke and perhaps a dead bird or animal, and he might also only fire a few times, but once too often, and go single sculling across the river Styx, in consequence of his supposed to be sane parent's criminal folly in giving him a weapon to use which was liable to blow a head or an arm or a few sections of hands off him at a most unexpected and unfavorable time.—Outing.

Keeping Him In Sight.

The most amusing spot in town during inauguration week is the great reception room of the Arlington. You may look around and see more celebrities than you have fingers to count them on, but the sight of the great and mighty is not nearly so amusing as that of the large number of lesser people who want to keep them in sight. The office seeker and the news gatherer are equally afraid that something will escape them.

"Where is X—— Y——?" asked one of the former class of a very great man's friend.

"He's up stairs. Do you want to see him?" amiably replied the other.

"Oh, no, I had better not just yet," replied the aspirant, "but I feel easier in my mind when I know just where he is."—Kate Field's Washington.

How One Girl Was Remembered.

One of the older teachers at Mount Holyoke college remembers Miss Mary Wilkins, who was among the pupils for a year when she first came.

"I can't recall very much about her," she said in answer to eager questioning from some of the undergraduates. "She sat at my table, and it was her work as a freshman to remove the platters before dessert. She was very handy about that."

"Think," says the girl who tells this story, "of the wonderful Miss Wilkins borne in mind for nearly 20 years only for her handy way of taking a platter off the table."—New York Times.

Two Explanations of Dimples.

According to an old legend the baby's dimples mark the spots where angels' fingers touched the child in bearing it from heaven to earth, but unromantic doctors have a different explanation. They say that dimples probably result from defective development of a muscle. When the muscle is called into use, the defective portion fails to respond, and a hollow is left into which the flesh and skin, of the cheek, for example, fall, and thus the dimple is formed.—New York Sun.

A Man Who Could Keep His Temper.

"A man may be pretty smart in a great many things, but it isn't everybody that knows how to hold his temper," remarked Clarke Warren of New Orleans at the Lindell yesterday. "I saw a very odd case down in Mississippi last week. It was in a railroad restaurant. A young lawyer, a mammoth fellow physically, had some words with a colored waiter. The negro was very abusive, and at one stage of the quarrel pulled a gun. We all thought that that meant death for one or the other of them, but no; the lawyer did not seem a bit worried, and some bystanders took the gun from the waiter. The latter then followed the young fellow out to the platform and renewed his abuse and demands for satisfaction. The rest of us were dumfounded at the action of the lawyer. He was evidently no coward, and it was just as evident that he was more than a match for the waiter.

"Finally the negro struck at him, merely knocking his hat off. Then some one hustled him away. After he was gone somebody spoke to the young fellow about it, and he said it would be poor policy for him to disgrace his family by becoming a murderer, and that it would be just as disgraceful for him to engage in a fist fight. Another thing, it would do that waiter good to be taught a lesson, and on his return he would have him arrested and sent to prison for a year or so. That man knew how to keep his temper, and I guess, after all, he took the right view of the matter."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Monkeys That Enjoy a Joke.

In a large cage in the Philadelphia zoo were kept at one time about 20 monkeys. Among them were two big, wise looking apes with gray beards and hair, and with the mien of stoics. They had very long, straight tails, and a habit of sitting high up from the ground and allowing their tails to hang at full length. In the same cage were three or four brown cebus monkeys, who were much devoted to exercise and fun.

While the big monkeys would cling to the side of the cage or sit on a perch some 10 or 12 feet from the ground one of the little brown monkeys would stealthily creep up to one of them and suddenly grasp the end of the long tail and swing with all its might. Of course the "big un" could not lift his tail because of the weight of the little monkey clinging to it. He could only climb down the side of the cage with his burden until he could reach the floor.

During this operation the brown monkey kept swinging until his own tail touched the floor, at which instant he would release his hold and spring to the top of the cage, followed by the outraged monkey amid the screams of the others.

By the time he had reached a point where he could attack his little tormentor, who would show some signs of resistance and cause him to pause for a moment, another brown monkey would seize his long tail and take a swing.—R. S. Garner in New Review.

The Lawyer Has the Deed.

A young lawyer in the city had as a client some time ago a negro charged with assault and battery, and the accused now owes his liberty to the fine work done in his behalf by his counsel, who put up the plea of insanity as his defense and was sustained by the jury. It was a hard fight. The fee was a good one, but the negro had no cash. In lieu thereof he deeded a building lot in the suburbs to his lawyer, who accepted the deed, duly signed and delivered, and locked it away in his safe.

A short time ago he bethought him that with the help of a building and loan association he might put a house on that lot and increase its value, so he offered the property for a loan to one of the home building and loan associations. His application was duly received, but when he went around to hear the result the secretary told him that the committee had rejected the application.

The astonished lawyer asked the reason; the lot was good, the loan small and title good, for he had examined into that part of it. The secretary said that the committee differed with the lawyer as to the title, because while they themselves were not lawyers they failed to see how a negro who had been released by a jury on a plea of insanity could give a good title to property. The young lawyer still has the deed.—Macon Telegraph.

A Superstitious Actress.

Eleanora Duse is absurdly superstitious and in the most unexpected ways. A stage carpenter at the Fifth Avenue theater relates this incident. Just before an evening performance he completed some bit of work and threw himself down to rest for a moment upon one of the stage properties, a couch made of soap boxes and covered with a buffalo robe.

Immediately all of Duse's support flew at him, chattering in wild excitement and unintelligible Italian. Finally the stage manager spied him and pounced upon him.

"You must get off from that," he said. "If Signora Duse saw you, she wouldn't let the curtain go up. She thinks it's a bad omen to have any one except herself rest upon that seat."—New York Times.

An Epitaph.

A tombstone in a country churchyard bears the inscription, "She was so pleasant." After all, could it have been more fully or better said? The stranger as well as the intimate knows that the dead woman was one who brought cheer with her wherever she came and brightened the joyless day with her sunny presence. One may not sigh if fame, riches, attainments are missed if "so pleasant" is said of us by and by.—New York Times.

Like Light Tapers.

A servant girl was once given some macaroni by her mistress to prepare for the table. Noticing the girl's surprise the lady asked:

"Didn't you cook macaroni at your last place?"

"Cook it? We used them things to light the fire with!"—Exchange.

A Quaint Old Austrian Custom.

The quaint old Austrian custom of a bride being cast off, as it were, by her countrymen when she takes to herself a foreign husband, was an interesting feature at the recent marriage of the Archduchess Louise of Tuscany. The archduchess entered the church followed by a long train of royal and noble Austrian ladies. They stood in a semicircle around her until the moment the bridegroom placed the ring upon her finger; then they turned and left her, for she was no longer a countrywoman of theirs. For a moment the princess stood alone—unattended; then a number of Saxon ladies ranged themselves behind her—she had become a Saxon.

At the marriage of Marie Antoinette, this custom, which in her case was observed only on the French frontier, had a pathetic denouement. When the Austrian ladies attempted to leave the new Dauphiness of France she refused to be left, and as if foreseeing what her fate would be in her adopted country clung to them and entreated them to take her back to Austria again. Actual force had to be used to separate her from her attendants.—Paris Letter.

Homes at the World's Fair.

There is no reason why anyone should be deterred from visiting the World's Fair by reason of possible inconvenience and uncertainty attending the securing of satisfactory hotel accommodations.

The Nothern Pacific railroad will in due time publish low excursion rates to Chicago and return for this occasion, while its double daily passenger train service, including through sleeping cars of both classes (standard and tourist) to Chicago, will as usual be at the head of the list in every particular.

To help you in fixing in advance upon your place of residence while attending the World's Fair, we have placed in the hands of C. A. Sharkey, our agent at your station, a book compiled by perfectly trustworthy parties called "Homes for Visitors to the World's Fair." This little book, which you can purchace for fifty cents, contains a list of about 9,000 private families who will accomodate visitors in Chicago during the time of the Fair, viz: May 1st to Oct. 30th; gives their names and addresses, and number of rooms each will have to spare. The book also gives a list of the hotels and their locations; has twelve full page large scale maps, each representing a section of the city, so that with this information before him the intending visitor himself can, at leisure, select the quarter of the city in which he would prefer to stop, by corresponding in advance with one or more families in that locality with reguard to rates and the accommodations desired..,

CHAS. S. FEE, N. P. R. R.

[3teow]

Just as Sure
as Preaching

is it that the best of current fiction appears

IN THESE COLUMNS.

We leave no stone unturned to make this a

HOME PAPER

in every sense of the word.
Are you a subscriber?

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist,
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank.

LOUIS D. VANDERVERE,
One of the best known business men in Chicago, representative of the great Bradstreet Co.

HEADACHE, SLEEPLESSNESS, NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Gentlemen: I take pleasure in informing you of the very beneficial results which have followed the use of DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE in the case of myself and wife. For a year I was subject to a distressing pain at the base of the brain and upper portion of the spinal cord. I lost flesh and was greatly troubled with sleeplessness. Your Nervine was highly recommended to me. My case had been so obstinate that I had no confidence in the efficacy of any medicine. Yet as a last resort I consented to give it a trial. Much to my surprise, I experienced marked benefit; my sleeplessness disappeared; my headache was removed; my spirits and general health greatly improved. I soon gained twenty pounds. All this occurred after learned and well known physicians had failed. My wife is taking the Nervine with the best of results. LOUIS D. VANDERVERE.

CURED THOUSANDS

SOLD ON A POSITIVE GUARANTEE

TRY DR. MILES' PILLS, 50 DOSES 25 CTS.

John Wyatt
THE UNDERTAKER,
EMBALMER AND
FUNERAL DIRECTOR.

Besides carrying a full and complete line of
COFFINS,
CASKETS
AND BURIAL SUPPLIES.
has the largest and most complete stock of Pictures, Picture Frames,
—AND—
Picture Framing Material
—In the city.—

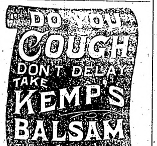
Special discount During the Holidays.

Office 105½ Broadway.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINNESOTA.

W. A. ROBERTSON
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK



It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

AT BEDTIME I TAKE A PLEASANT HERB DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.
My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called
LANE'S MEDICINE
All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1.00 a package. If you cannot get it, send your address for free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary. Address, ORATOR F. WOODWARD, LeROY, N. Y.

A. H. DUNLAP, M. D.
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS, QUEBEC.
Office in McKinnon Block.

WE SELL

Dowagiac shoe drills, Rushford wagons,
Advance threshers and engines, Columbus buggies,
John Deere plows; Grand Detour plows
Steel lever harrows, 2, 3 and 4 horse, Boss Harrows, all sizes
Diamond feed mills and powers,
Buggies, road wagons and carts,
Light harness, single and double,
Farm harness, cheaper than anybody,
Cork-faced collars, the clear thing,
Victory fanning mills, world beaters,
Road Scrapers,

In fact there is nothing in the
IMPLEMENT
LINE
BUT WHAT WE CAN FURNISH,
And we have the best line of goods made.
"MERIT WINS."
Larsen, Carpenter & Co.,
Broadway and Robert street, - Crookston, Minn.

McKINNON BROS.,
—DEALERS IN—
ALL OF THE LEADING
Agricultural Implements
MAIN STREET. McKINNON BLOCK.
Before Purehasing, Give Us a Call.

CHRISTIANSON BROS.,
Abstracters of Title, Loans,
Real Estate and Insurance

N. B. FARM LOANS a specialty. Terms, three to five years. Lowest rate of interest, payable annually at our office.
Choice FARM LANDS for sale cheap, on terms to suit purchasers.
Office on Robert Street, - - - - CROOKSTON, MINN

Crookston
Business College
and INSTITUTE OF SHORTHAND.

DEPARTMENTS:—Commercial Shorthand, Typewriting and English.
TEACHERS:—R. C. Holaday, Nellie B. Perry and L. E. Gossman.
Winter Term begins Monday, January 2d, 1893. Send for new catalogue.
CROOKSTON BUSINESS COLLEGE, Crookston, Minn.
BENJ. A. STRAWBRIDGE, Prop.

ASTHMA CURED BY DR. TAFT'S ASTHMALENE

Instead of flying to the door gasping for breath, seeming as if each one would be your last, you have only to take a few doses Asthmalene when the spasm is broken, the breathing becomes easy and you feel as if an angel of mercy had unloosed the iron grasp of the fingers of death. The happiest moment of your life will be when you have used a few bottles of Dr. Taft's ASTHMALENE and it has cured you of Asthma. We mail to any Asthma sufferer a trial bottle FREE and prove that it does Cure Asthma.
Sold by druggists. Dr. Taft Bros. M. Co., Rochester, N. Y.

IF YOU ARE GOING EAST OR SOUTH ASK YOUR NEAREST AGENT FOR TICKETS VIA THE BURLINGTON AND TAKE NO OTHER LINE.

NEW BARBER SHOP.
On Main St. C. E. MISNER, Prop
Invites your patronage. Everything in the very latest style of the art.

RAZORS HONED.
If you desire your Razor Honed and cannot bring it, send it to me with 30 cents and your name and address and I will hone and return it.
Yours Respectfully,
C. E. MISNER.

THE DUAL
MEAT MARKET,
CHARLEY VINE
Is Headquarters for all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats.

Highest cash price paid for cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry and hides.

SHOPS
Corner Broadway and Robert street,
and on Second street, in Reckitt block,
Crookston, - - Minn.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON
PAID IN CAPITAL. - $100,000
SURPLUS. - - - $14,200

Interest on time deposits. Faithful attention to Collections and prompt remittance.
GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine. J. R. McKinnon. A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh. Chas. E. Sawyer W. H. Crosby

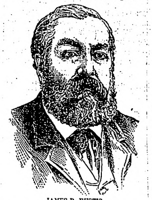
H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, - MINNESOTA

OUR DIPLOMATISTS.

MANY MEN OF LETTERS HAVE REPRESENTED US ABROAD.

Brilliant Record of American Ministers at Paris—The German Mission Considered a Perquisite of Eminent Scholars—Qualifications of the New Ministers.

The position of the United States among the nations is so peculiar that for many years together it has practically no diplomacy. Foreign diplomats at Washington have therefore come to look upon their stay there as a period of honorable retirement and dignified repose. Therefore, also, it was most natural that from the beginning the practice should prevail of choosing chiefly scholars and gentlemen of elegant leisure to represent us at foreign courts, and the truly honorable list is embellished by such names as Franklin, Bancroft and Motley, Edward Everett, Bayard Taylor and Andrew Dickson White, John Quincy Adams, Albert Gallatin and James Russell Lowell.



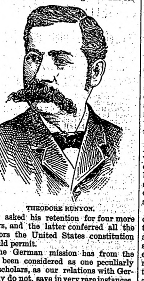
JAMES B. EUSTIS.

Even the minor consular service has been thought worthy of acceptance by such men as Robert Dale Owen, Wirt Sykes, Bret Harte and scores of equal rank, including the talented but unfortunate author of "Home, Sweet Home." Hence appointments in the diplomatic line by President Cleveland have been scrutinized with unusual interest, for it is conceded by men of all parties that such places are outside of so called civil service rules and that a Democratic administration ought to be represented abroad by Democrats.

The successor of Franklin and Washburne (the two bright particular stars of our mission to France) excites special interest, as he is the first full fledged minister to any European court from Lousiana since the famous Pierre Soule in 1853-5. There would seem a special fitness in sending a Louisiana man to France, and Hon. James Biddle Eustis, the new appointee, is a native of New Orleans, born Aug. 27, 1834, and familiar with the French language and literature. The family, however, is of Puritan origin. William Eustis was governor of Massachusetts in 1823-5. His nephew and private secretary, George Eustis, born in Boston in 1796, went to New Orleans in 1817 and obtained high rank as a jurist, and the present ex-senator and diplomat is his son. He served with honor in the Confederate army and in the legislature, practiced law, was attorney general of the state, filled an unexpired term in the United States senate in 1877-9 and was elected for the full term of 1885-91, which he served with distinction.

It will be no light task for him to sustain the traditional glory of the place, for while it is true that our chief complications have been with Great Britain, yet, taking our history as a whole, the French mission has been the one of greatest brilliancy. It has been held by such men as Thomas Jefferson, Gouverneur Morris, James Monroe, Charles C. Pinckney, Albert Gallatin and others of almost equal note, but certainly no man held it with greater dignity and success than Elihu Benjamin Washburne. As the retiring diplomats in 1870-1 one by one turned over their archives to him it resulted that he was for nearly a year not only minister from the United States, but for five German and other powers and several minor principalities and was at the same time confidential adviser of the French government.

All these apparently irreconcilable functions he performed with such skill that France and Germany, differing in all else, agreed in honoring him. The former asked his retention for four more years, and the latter conferred all the honors the United States constitution would permit.



THEODORE RUNYON.

The German mission has from the first been considered as one peculiarly for scholars, as our relations with Germany do not, save in very rare instances, involve any necessity for diplomatic tactics. Theodore Runyon, the new appointee, was born in Somerville, N. J., Oct. 25, 1822, of an old French Huguenot family, the name originally Rognion. He was graduated from Yale in 1842 and has held various state offices, the most important being that of chancellor. The new minister to Denmark, John Ewing Risley, is comparatively a new man in politics. He was born near Vincennes, Ind., about 49 years ago, studied law at Terre Haute, and while still a minor married a sister of Senator D. W. Voorhees, removed to New York city soon after and has practiced law with great success. His home is at the beautiful suburb of New Rochelle.

The German mission, as aforesaid, has been regarded from the first as peculiarly the perquisite of great scholars, though the record has been broken in a way that borders on the ludicrous. Of course we had ministers to Prussia from the first, and of one the story is told that when the British minister proposed to introduce him to the French minister he felt called on to say:

"I must warn you that though the gentleman is an eminent American—lately governor of his state—yet he cannot speak a word of French."

"Ah, well," said the other, "I will remember to speak English."

"But he does not really speak English."

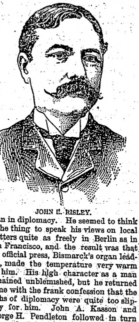
"Ah, then, what does he speak?"

"He speaks Hoosier."

This, however, was probably a "campaign lie." At any rate it was in the old condition when Prussia had really no important relations with us. As soon, however, as the real Germany was organized in 1871, George Bancroft, the historian, was accredited thereto and was received with enthusiasm. "In you," said Bismarck, "we honor at once Washington and Washburne; we honor freedom and learning." He had just before been minister to Prussia and the North German confederation and received the highest honors from the universities and various learned bodies. He was followed by John Chandler Bancroft Davis and he by Bayard Taylor, whose reception was the spontaneous ovation of the German people. They had honored Bancroft and Davis; they really loved Bayard Taylor.

By common consent he was taken not so much as representative of the great republic of the west as of the great republic of letters. The news of his illness and death followed, all too soon, the news of his cordial reception, and no German scholar ever received a more general and heartfelt tribute of sorrowful respect from men of all ranks than was accorded to Bayard Taylor. The state department was embarrassed by the task of selecting a worthy successor, but found him in the person of Professor Andrew Dickson White of Cornell university. He fully sustained the dynasty of scholarship, aided not a little by his refined and accomplished wife, of whom the Berlinese said that she "looked like a fascinating picture from the canvas of Watteau."

His successor, Aaron Sargent of California, had never before been abroad and was better versed in popular politics than in diplomacy. He seemed to think it the thing to speak his views on local matters quite as freely in Berlin as in San Francisco, and the result was that the official press, Bismarck's organ leading, made the temperature very warm for him. His high character as a man remained unblemished, but he returned home with the frank confession that the paths of diplomacy were quite too slippery for him. John A. Kasson and George H. Pendleton followed in turn and made the residence of the American minister a place of delight for scholars and travelers of American and other nationalities. Lastly came William Walter Phelps, whose success is the pride of Americans of all parties. His successor has indeed many worthy examples from Bancroft to Phelps.



JOHN E. RISLEY.

Life is very, very pleasant at a foreign court to any American minister who is a man of culture, with a moderate degree of diplomatic training or even of tact and native capacity for it without the training, and with wealth enough to enable him to entertain without embarrassment. The position is one of just sufficient dignity to make it agreeable to the natural man, yet not enough to cause an embarrassment of attentions. In all the walks and drives, at all the receptions and court balls, the American minister has a place of honor. His wife is one of the first ladies of the land. Their associations are with the learned and polite, the wealthy, the noble and the witty.

True, there have been complications. First was the question of court dress, which called forth so many cheap witticisms some 40 years ago as "the great breeches question." Secretary Marcy settled it once for all by a peremptory order that American representatives abroad should wear no livery whatever.

The question of rank still rankles, as one diplomat has put it. It is still a trifle annoying that the representative of a monarchy like Spain, for instance, should take precedence because called an embassador, and that the American minister should bring up the tail end of the procession. But such formal affairs are very rare, indeed, and for the most part one's social standing depends on himself. As a rule, there is very little indeed for an American minister to do. He simply has to dress well, live cleanly, talk to delightful people and keep himself well informed on the condition of the country to which he is accredited. It certainly is pleasant. At any rate, "the job" is very much sought after.

J. H. BEADLE.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."

BEECHAM'S PILLS

COVERED WITH A TASTELESS AND SOLUBLE COATING.

For SICK HEADACHE,

Dizziness, or Swimming in the Head, Wind Pain, and Spasms at the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Gravel, and flying Pains in the Body, Rheumatism, etc.

Take four, five or even six of Beecham's Pills, and in nine cases out of ten, they will give relief in twenty minutes; for the pill will go direct to and remove the cause, the cause being no more nor less than wind, together with poisonous and noxious vapours, and sometimes unwholesome food.

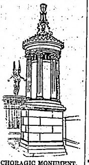
Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box.
New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

FOR OLD COLLEGE BOYS.

The Greek Letter Fraternities Will Have an Interesting Show at the Fair.

The Greek letter college societies have had space allotted to them and will make an interesting and instructive exhibit at the World's fair. This will include a collection of books, charts and documents relating to the fraternities, bound volumes of their songs, magazines, annuals, etc., and a complete display of all their badges and paraphernalia. But the chief feature of the exhibit will be a reproduction of the choragic monument of Lysicrates, which is said to be the most famous specimen of Corinthian architecture in existence, and which will be restored in every particular and put in the center of the space devoted to the exhibit. The monument is 40 feet high, and the walls are black, the woodwork being all ebonized and ornamented in gilt.



CHORAGIC MONUMENT.

It may be well to explain for the benefit of those who do not know that a choragic monument was a building erected by a victorious chorus leader for the exhibition of the tripod received as a prize in the musical contests in Athens. Besides that of Lysicrates to be reproduced for the fraternities there is another still to be seen in Athens, that of Thrasyllus.

From the safety of their operation in blood letting the leech has been used for more than 2,000 years, and in many cases doctors could hardly dispense with their use

MILLER & FOOTE,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW.
McKinnon Block, - Crookston, Minn.

FITS STOPPED FREE
Marvelous success.
Insane Persons Restored
Dr. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER
for all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure cure for Nerve Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No Fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send names, P. O. and express address of afflicted to DR. KLINE, [illegible] Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. See Druggists. BEWARE OF IMITATING FRAUDS.

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the
Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUEHLR, Proprietor.
A full supply of everything kept by the trade.
Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON. MINN

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE
The Great English Remedy.
Before and After.
Promptly and permanently cures all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses. Been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, leave his dishonest store, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlet in plain sealed envelope, 2 stamps. Address THE WOOD CHEMICAL CO., 131 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.
Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

Cook's Cotton Root COMPOUND.
A recent discovery by an old physician. Successfully used monthly by thousands of Ladies. Is the only perfectly safe and reliable medicine discovered. Beware of unprincipled druggists who offer inferior medicines in place of this. Ask for COOK'S COTTON ROOT COMPOUND, take no substitute, or inclose $1 and 6 cents in postage in letter, and we will send, sealed, by return mail. Full sealed particulars in plain envelope, to ladies only, 2 stamps.
Address Pond Lily Company,
No. 3 Fisher Block, Detroit, Mich.
Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, S. A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

C. HENDRICKSON, President.
L. ELLINGTON, Vice President.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier.
H. STEENERSON, 2d Vice President.
A. P. Hanson, Assistant Cashier.

Scandia-American Bank,

Of Crookston, Minn. Organized 1877 under the State law. Capital $50,000. Surplus, $5,000. Undivided profits, $15,000. Special attention given to collections.

DIRECTORS—C. Hendrickson, Grafton, N. D.; C. O. Christianson, Halvor Steenerson, Max Ericsson, J. W. Wheeler, E. P. Pierce, L. K. Aaker, D. H. Turner, A. G. Gallasch, Lewis Ellington, J. H. Locken, O. H. Locken.

S. L. COLLINS,
Proprietor of Main Street
Livery and Feed Stables.
Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., west side,
CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA.

Horses bought and sold on commission. Everything neat and nobby. Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection, which I will attend to in person.

Valley Roller Mills.
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Manufacturers of
FINE FLOURS
MADE FROM SELECTED RED RIVER HARD WHEAT.

BRANDS:
Patent: Lee & Herrick's Best.
Straight: North Star
Bakers': Fife.
Low Grade: Skip Jack.

BRAN, SHORTS AND SCREENINGS,
Always on hand at reasonable prices.

SUMMONS.

STATE OF MINNESOTA county of Polk—ss. District Court, 14th Judicial District.

State Bank of Warren, plaintiff, vs. Joseph S. David, defendant.

The State of Minnesota to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which complaint is now on file in the office of the clerk of the above named court, and to serve a copy of your answer to said complaint on the subscriber at his office in the city of Crookston, in said county of Polk, and state of Minnesota, within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer said complaint within the time aforesaid, the plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of six hundred and eighty-eight dollars, and interest theacon at the rate of ten per cent. per annum since the 26th day of December, 1892, besides the costs and disbursements of this action.

Dated February 22d, 1893.

H. STEENERSON,
Attorney for Plaintiff,
Crookston, Minn.

(49-55)

THE NEW NORTHWEST

FARM LANDS Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana

NEW TOWNS 100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.

LOW RATES Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.

Horses, Cattle. Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.

Health, Wealth. In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.

Sheep, Hogs. Sweetes Grass Hills, Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raizers' paradise.

Herds, Mines These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.

"In no way can Americans so effectively inform themselves on the subjects that claim public attention from one month to another as by reading the North American Review."

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

THE TOPICS are always those which are uppermost in the public mind—in morals, politics, science, literature, business, finance, industrial economy, social and municipal affairs, etc.—in short all subjects on which Americans require and desire to be informed. No magazine follows so closely from month to month the course of public interest. All subjects are treated of impartially on both sides.

THE CONTRIBUTORS to the Review are the men and women to whom the world looks for the most authoritative statements on the subjects of the day. No other periodical can point to such a succession of distinguished writers. The list is a roll of the people who are making the history, controlling the affairs, and leading the opinion of the age, such as Mr. Gladstone, the Prime Minister of England, Mr. Blaine, Signor Crispi, Ex-Prime Minister of Italy, Baron Hirsch, H. R. H. the Count of Paris, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishops Potter, Doane, Mallelieu, Foss, etc., etc.

THE TIME when these subjects are treated of by these contributors is the very time when the subjects are in the public mind—not a month or two after people had ceased to think of them. The promptness with which the Review furnishes its readers with the most authoritative information upon the topics of the day is one of its most valuable features.

Subscription Price, $5.00 a year.
THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW,
3 East 14th Street, New York.

A Dollar Saved IS A Dollar Earned.

DO YOU WANT TO EARN A FEW DOLLARS?

IN THE SPRING OF THE YEAR everyone requires some Garden or Flower Seeds, and we have made arrangements with the Weekly Pioneer Press of St. Paul, whereby we are enabled to distribute

SEEDS FREE OF COST.

And we can also furnish THE WEEKLY PIONEER PRESS cheaper than it can be got any other way.

HERE IS THE OFFER we are prepared to make.

For $2.00 we will send

	Regular price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
20 packages Garden Vegetable Seeds, retail price	1 25
	$3 75

THIS offer is good to New Subscribers, or to Old Ones paying all arrearages and one year in advance. Cash must accompany the order in every case.

Another Offer.

For $1.85 we will send you

	Regula price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
The Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
An "up to date" Pocket Map of any State in the Union	1 00
	$3 50

These maps are reliable and "up to date," and the map of Illinois includes a map of Chicago, which is valuable to any one contemplating a visit to the World's Fair.

Address

Polk County Journal,
Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

BY COOKE & HAMMOND.

Devoted to the Welfare of Polk County.

OFFICIAL PAPER, CITY OF CROOKSTON.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

THE drainage bill has passed the senate and the prospects are good that it will pass the house. This legislature will not have lived in vain if this bill becomes a law.

ALTHOUGH the surface indications were quiet on election day, a strong and deep undercurrent was observable and the large number of votes cast by noon showed a deeper interest than ever before taken in a municipal election, nearly if not quite two-thirds of the vote being in by that hour.

MAJ. T. W. NEWSON, United States Consul at Malaga died of small pox last week. Major Newson was one of the pioneer newspaper men of Minnesota, coming to Minnesota, in 1849. He was one of the best known and most highly respected man in the profession in the state and his loss will be keenly felt. He was endorsed for re-appointment by the press unanimousiy without regard to politics.

IN the sad death of Maj. Newson, the Minnesota Editorial Association loses one of its brightest, one of its most honored members, a loss that will be long felt and sincerely mourned not only by the association but also by the state. Probably no man was more widely known nor more universally liked. He had not amassed riches of gold and silver, but never man died richer in the love of his fellow-men then did Maj. T. M. Newson. Dying far from home and friends as he did lends a peculiar pathos and many a true heart beats to-day in hearty sympathy with the afflicted family. The remains have been interred in Spain where they must remain for a time at least, but but it hoped that they may be removed in time to find a last resting place in the city that he loved so well—St. Paul.

THE JOURNAL's prediction in regard to the election of the citizens ticket—the regularly nominated ticket—was fulfilled, and every candidate on it—from mayor to constable—was elected. If this indicates anything, it means that the people are in favor of nominating candidates by the regular methods of open caucuses and conventions. There were good men on both sides, and the battle was stubbornly fought. A good deal of unnecessary bitterness has been stirred up among erstwhile friends and neighbors, and it would be better for the welfare of the city if this kind of politics was dropped forever. The JOURNAL much mistakes the temper of the people if there is not a general demand—at the next election—for party instead of personal politics.

The following interesting little item appeared in the Kittson county Enterprise of last week:

"Court adjourned on Wednesday from 8:30 a. m. till 2 o'clock p. m. in order to give H. Steenerson the opportunity of getting his breakfast. With a grand and petit jury drawing pay by the day, it made a very expensive breakfast for Kittson county tax payers to put up for. Evidently the courts of justice are becoming more and more a mockery."

Which little pleasantry will be liable to cause Editor Love some anxiety, even if it does not eventually deprive Kittson county of his society for a time as Mr. Steenerson has brought an action for criminal libel and the penalty for false and malicious reports of court proceedings is imprisonment for a time. The facts, as the JOURNAL learns them, are that Mr. Steenerson, who was retained in the Schneider case and others that the grand jury had under consideration, appeared in the court room about 20 minutes after eight ready for business. By law he was entitled to four days in which to prepare for defense, but in order to expedite the business of the court he told the Judge that he would be ready to proceed with the trial in the Schneider case the next morning. He then asked the Judge if there would be any more business for him right away saying that if there was not he would go and get his breakfast. The Judge said there would be no more business for Mr. Steenerson until the grand jury brought in their report in some other case in which he was interested so he went to breakfast. The Judge then dismissed the petit jurors until 2 o'clock and proceeded with a court case, the grand jury being all the time in session. When the article above appeared in the Enterprise, Mr. Steenerson read it in court and asked that Mr. Love should appear before the grand jury to explain it which request the Judge granted and gave the county attorney instructions accordingly. It seems that Mr. Steenerson so far from wasting the time of the taxpayers was doing all that he could to expedite matters even to appearing in court before he had got his breakfast, and it now seems that that breakfast is liable to cost Mr. Love more than any other taxpayer in Kittson county.

If an object lesson was needed to show the wisdom of conducting a campaign on the basis of political party lines the late city campaign has furnished that lesson in a marked degree. Never in the history of the city has a more bitter personal contest been waged, a contest that has set neighbor against neighbor, friend against friend and brother against brother. Never in the hottest political fight has there been more bitter accusations pro and con than in the past campaign and for what? Is there any sensible man in the city who for one moment believes that A. D. Stephens is a pirate and that Jerome W. Wheeler is worse? If this sort of thing continues what man, with an atom of self-respect will ever allow his name to come up for the office of mayor which is, in itself considered, a thankless task at best? We all know how difficult it was in the start to get any man to consent to the use of his name and we know what happened just as soon as these two men did consent. And then the bad practice of kicking and pounding the life out of a man who has been elected on a non-partisan ticket and served a term to the best of his ability is reprehensible but it is the legitimate result of a non-partisan basis. If the results of this campaign prove any one thing clearly it proves the wisdom of partisan nominations and patry rule. Let the nominations and elections be made on a party basis and hold the successful party responsible for the kind of an administration it furnishes and all of this personal animosity will be done away with and a cleaner campaign will result and this course will also tend to better government. We fully believe that a majority of our citizens are fully convinced that this is the best course to pursue and we are confident that this policy will be adopted sooner or later—and the sooner the better.

WHO SHALL PAY THOSE TAXES?

Minneapolis Tribune.—The effect of the exemption of 5,000,000 acres of unused railroad lands in northern Minnesota from taxation is, that those counties are compelled to levy nearly twice as high taxes as the agricultural counties of southern and central Minnesota where there are no tax exempt lands. The average rate of taxation in ten northern counties largely composed of tax exempt domain is as follows: Aitkin, 33.8 mills; Becker, 33.6; Clay, 29.8; Crow Wing, 30.3; Kanabec, 35; Marshall, 28.1; Mille Lacs, 27.3; Otter Tail, 27.9; Polk, 29.6; Wilkin, 29 mills—the average being over 30 mills. The average rate of taxation in ten south central agricultural counties, which have no tax exempt lands, is as follows: Carver, 13.7 mills; Dakota, 14.9; Dodge, 14.1; Filmore, 14.9; Houston, 15; Nicollet, 14, Olmstead, 14.1; Scott, 16.2; Sibley, 16.3; Steele, 16.5—the average being a fraction over 15 mills. The average rate in ten counties located within the limits of the 5,000,000 acre tax exempt domain is very nearly double the rate in the ten counties freed from such exemptions. In 25 northern and western counties the average rate is more than 10 mills in excess of the rate in 25 south central counties. And yet the former, in spite of the high rate, are barely able to support schools and local and county government of the simplest, poorest and cheapest kind, and are yearly sinking more deeply into bonded debt.

The taxes on the exempt domain would amount to two or three hundred thousand dollars. It is apparent that the counties must have these taxes or their equivalent, if they maintain schools and roads and local government. The senate has declared that the companies shall not pay the taxes on these lands. To raise the requisite two or three hundred thousand dollars from which the companies have been exempted, two plans are proposed. One is that the state shall pay the taxes to the counties; and the other is that the gross earnings tax on all the companies shall be increased. There are four favored companies who own exempt lands, and 18 other companies who pay gross earnings taxes, but have no exempt lands. The two propositions therefore amount to this: either that the people shall pay the taxes from which the four companies are exempted, or that the 18 companies shall help the four companies to pay their taxes. If the state pays the tax for the exempt companies, Hennepin county will bear 25 per cent. of the whole, or upwards of $50.000. If the 22 companies pay it in the shape of an increased gross earnings tax, the 18 companies which receive no exemptions will bear the major portion of the burden. Hennepin's six senators voted that the four companies shall not pay taxes on their speculative lands. It will be interesting to note by whom these solons decide the taxes shall be paid.

A WORTHY APPOINTMENT.

Gov. Shortridge, of North Dakota, has appointed Col. W. H. Topping, of Grand Forks, adjutant general. Col. Topping is a G. A. R. man and was commander of Col. Cobham Post of this city at one time. He is also a true blue republican, but the governor, who is a people's party man, did not consider politics in this case—caring more for the man than party. He made no mistake in this case.

THE drainage bill has passed the senate with such a large majority that its friends are very hopeful for a successful issue in the house. It was amended in the senate to take in Wilkin and Grant counties. The benefits that would be conferred by this bill are too obvious to need further comment here and we hope, as we confidently expect, that the bill will receive favorable consideration in the house. Everyone of our members there are in favor of it and there is no good reason why it should not pass with as great a majority as it had in the senate.

THE senate emphatically sat down upon the scheme to provide for annual sessions with a stipend of $1000 per session for each member. Senators Lommen, Hompe, Donnelly and other people's party senators favored the scheme, but the republican senators said no, and the taxpayers were saved another burden. The biennial sessions are expensive enough, but this scheme would have been a terror. The republicans believe in economy.

THE bill providing for a new capitol building is likely to pass but when it gets into the governor's room it is liable to meet a little veto. The bill has been railroaded through both branches and the voice of the people has had very little to do in the matter. We are very much mistaken if the governor does not refer the matter to the common people for their verdict.

SOME dissatisfaction is manifest because the county board declined to act under the new bill to furnish seed grain in certain cases. The reason the board gives for its action is that the law holds the county responsible for all losses incurred which under the previous act amounted to a considerable sum and is liable to under this one.

UNDER Bob Dunn's re-districting bill, Polk county would be entitled to one sentor and four representatives, but it is not thought probable that a re-destricting bill will pass at this session.

CARTER HARRISON was elected mayor of Chicago by a large majority. The council, however, is republican by a safe majority.

THE BILL making all country elevtors public warehouses has passed both branches of the legislature and now awaits the signature of the governor, which it will get.

FROM the present outlook the the prospects for much good to the people resulting from the present legislature are brilliant. This is a republican legislature.

The managers of the Chicago theatres intend to provide plenty of attractions for the hordes of visitors that will pour into the city for the next six months to view wonders of the earth at Jackson Park.

The unfortunate experiences of the Philadelphia and Paris managers during the terms of the World's Fairs in those cities seem to have had a stimulating rather than a deterrant effect on the men who guide the fortunes of Chicago's houses, and there is unshaken confidence that the approaching season will be phenomenal.

Every class of amusement, from the cheap and nasty exhibit of the dime museum to the dazzling splendor of the spectacle, will find its patrons in the cosmopolitan throng that is coming to the World's Fair city.

McVicker, the "dean" of the managerial corps, will divide the season between the "Black Crook" and the "Old Homestead." Dave Henderson has arranged to revive his burlesques from the "Arabian Nights" down to "Ali Baba."

Lillian Russell and troupe are to sing in light opera at Hayman & Davis' Columbia. Uncle Dick Hooley will stick faithfully to legitimate comedy and drama. There will be an abundance of farce comedy at the "Grand," and the manager of the Schiller has the latest "adaptations" by Mr. Frohman.

Abbey, Scheoffel & Grau, the renowned triumvirate of Grand Opera impressarios, are preparing to put a spectacle on the vast stage of the Auditorium that will attract and astonish theater-goers from one end of the country to the other. Only a few details are as yet known about the piece, but these are sufficient to stamp it as the most colossal, unique and magnificent work of the kind known to the modern stage.

Plans for its construction were laid a year and a half ago under the guidance of Imre Kiralfy, whose successful management of spectacular productions has gained him international fame.

It comprises a prologue and thirty tableaux, bears the title "America," and has for his subject the rise and progress of this country from the time of Columbus' landing to the present.

This historic theme will be illustrated by scenery, music, ballet and memetic action.

Dialogue will be used to some extent, but will be subordinate to the other features. The scenes, which are described as enchantingly beautiful, were painted in Paris by the corps of famous artists connected with the Grand Opera house.

Antonio Venanza, a celebrated Italian composer, wrote the entire musical score, and is at present in Chicago directing the preliminary rehearsals of this particular department.

The costumes, exquisite in design and texture, were made in London, Paris and New York, and cost a fortune alone; cost, in fact, does not seem to have been a consideration in the creation of this gigantic scheme. One hundred and twenty thousand dollars will have been the outlay before the curtain rises on the opening night, and heaven only knows what the expense will be thereafter. Seven hundred persons have already signed contracts to appear in the piece. The ballet, numbering two hundred, is to be a vision of loveliness—a ballet worthy the name—fresh from Vienna, Milan and Paris, where the delightful thing was born, and where it now exists in its prime. Luigia Cerale, of the Hof Theatre, Vienna, will be the premiere dancer. Others of no less celebrity, from the other side of the Atlantic, will assist her. The "Coryphees," who arrived with the chorus from Europe the other day, are a lot of beauties, representing nearly every nation in Europe, principally Italy and France. The principal dramatic and vocal parts will be assumed by Louise Beaudet, Lottie Gilman, Miss Russell, Miss Malcolm, Herr Barnemann and Signors Brighenti, Otavi, Biagirelli and Campana.

The first performance is announced for April 17th, and the season will continue for six months following that date.

Hood's Cures.

In saying that Hood's Sarsaparilla cures, its proprietors make no idle or extravagant claim. Statements from thousands of reliable people of what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for them, conclusively prove the fact—Hood's Sarsaparilla cures.

Advertised Letters.

List of letters remaining unclaimd at the Crookston postoffice for the week ending April 2d, 1893.

Anderson, Julia J.
Haldon, Eva
Olmstad, Wm.
St. John, H. H.
Erickson, Ben
McKenzie Kimrith
Peterson, Larints
Wilmas, Philipp

Persons calling for the above letters please say advertised.

WM. B. DAWLEY, P. M.

Curing an Insane Patient.

A patient entered the consulting room walking backward, under the delusion that his head had got a twist round and that his face was turned the wrong way Instead of laughing at him as I expected, the doctor entered into the case with the greatest gravity, tapping his patient's head all over, looking into his throat and ears and sympathizing with him. The patient was at once won over and placed the utmost confidence in the doctor's assurance that a complete cure would be effected in a few days, voluntarily exercising the greatest care in carrying out the medical directions, which consisted in elaborate nothings to keep the patient occupied.

A day or two afterward the doctor met him with feigned surprise and congratulated him. "On what?" asked the patient. "Judge for yourself," replied the doctor, handing him a mirror. The man surveyed his corrugated countenance intently for a few seconds, when with the dawn of conviction there stole a grin into his stern features. Thanking the doctor, he skipped out of the room in a frenzy of delight.—London Tit-Bits.

An Ingenious Reason.

The excuses which are resorted to by European tradesmen to make American tourists pay higher prices than any one else pays are often more curious than ingenious. An American who had a fine pair of boots made by a London cobbler was astonished at the price which was demanded.

"Three guineas for a pair of calf boots! It is preposterous," said the American.

"Indeed, sir," said the cobbler, "if you'd a-knowed the calf that was in that leather! It was a blooded hanimal, I assure you, sir, and bred on the hestate of the Duke of Bucking'am."

The customer paid the charge at once.—Youth's Companion.

AN AMBASSADOR.

THE FIRST APPOINTMENT OF THAT RANK MADE.

Ex-Secretary Bayard Will Represent This Country at the Court of St. James—Editor Lewis Baker Gets a Central American Mission—Other Presidential Appointments.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The president has sent to the senate the following nominations:

Thomas F. Bayard, of Delaware, to be ambassador extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Great Britain.

To be envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary of the United States: J. D. Porter, of Tennessee, to Chili; James A. McKenzie, of Kentucky, to Peru; Lewis Baker, of Minnesota to Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Salvador; Pierce D. Young, of Georgia, to Guatemala and Honduras; Edwin Dun, of Ohio, (now secretary of legation at Japan) to Japan.

To be consul of the United States: L. M. Shaffer, of West Virginia, to Stratford, Ont.; Harrison B. Williams, of Missouri, to Vera Cruz.; M. Hendleton, of Maine, to Pictou; Theodore Stephen, of Illinois, to Annaberg; William T. Towns, of Virginia, to Rio de Janerio; Claude Meeker, of Ohio, to Bradford; Newton B. Eustis, of Louisiana, to be second secretary of the legation of the United States at Paris.

John M. Reynolds, of Pennsylvania, to be assistant secretary of the interior, vice Cyrus Bussey, resigned.

Lawrence J. Maxwell, of Ohio, to be solicitor general, vice Charles H. Aldrich, resigned.

John I. Hall, of Georgia, to be assistant attorney general, vice H. Shields, resigned.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The president has sent the following nominations to the senate:

Edmund Curtis, of New York, assistant secretary of the treasury, vice Genio M. Lambertson, resigned. Charles S. Hamlin, of Massachusetts, assistant secretary of the treasury, vice John H. Gear, resigned. James H. Eckels, of Illinois, comptroller of the currency. James F. Meline, of the District of Columbia, assistant treasurer of the United States. F. Strobe Farrow, of South Carolina, second auditor of the treasury. John B. Brawley, of Pennsylvania, auditor of the treasury of the postoffice department. James J. Willie, of Florida, deputy fifth auditor of the treasury. Henry W. Egnor, of New Jersey, collector of customs for the district of Newark, N. J. Dudley O. Watson, of Michigan, collector of customs of the district of Michigan.

Bayard Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The senate has confirmed the following nominations: Thomas F. Bayard, to be ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to Great Britain; George J. Denis of California, to be attorney of the United States for the Southern district of California.

Herding.

The undersigned will have about 800 acres pasture on sections 36, 1 and 26, town 150, range 45, at Gentilly. 70 acres of which stock return from to barnyard at night. Two flowing wells on pasture ground. Terms: cattle $1.25, sheep 25 cents and lambs 12½ cents for the season.

JOSEPH BACON.

At the residence of Joseph Laframboise, Gentilly, Minn. 51-53

Oak Lumber.

60,000 feet of solid oak plank from 8 to 18 feet, and inch boards.

For full information address

GORDON & ANDERSON.

(51-2) Pelican Rapids, Otter Tail Co., Minn.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

First publication April 6th, 1893.
Last publication May 18th, 1893.

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly made and delivered by Pierre Lemieux and Philomine Lemieux, his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 22d day of December, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 23d day of February, A. D. 1888, at 10.40 o'clock a. m., in book 34 of mortgages, on page 598, etc. Whereas default consists of the failure to pay the following installments of interest to-wit: $35.00 that became due June 22, 1889; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1889; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1890; $25.00 that became due December 22, 1890; $35 00 that became due June 22, 1891; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1891; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1892 and $35 00 that became due December 22, 1892, and whereas the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, holder of said mortgage, has elected to declare, and hereby does declare, the whole principal sum in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum to-wit: Thirteen hundred forty-two and seventeen hundredths ($1342.17) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The northwest quarter (nw¼) of section thirteen (13) township one hundred fifty (150) range forty-five (45) containing 160 acres more or less according to the government survey thereof, all of said premises situated and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances will be sold at public aution, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State on the 22d day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'cock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law,

Dated March 30th, A. D. 1893.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

S. H. HOUGHTON,
Attorney For Mortgagee.

[51-5] N. G. 136.

Women Will Vote

as usual at the next school election—but for many candidates. They give a unanimous vote—every day in the week—in favor of

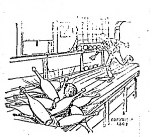
KIRK'S WHITE RUSSIAN SOAP

because they know it has no equal as a labor and temper saver on wash-day. The "White Russian" is a great soap to use in hard or alkali water. Does not roughen or injure the hands—is perfectly safe to use on the finest fabrics.

JAS. S. KIRK & CO., Chicago.

Dusky Diamond Tar Soap, Makes the Skin Soft and Smooth.

You will Make a Strike



If You Buy YOUR CLOTHING of Us!

You need them; we don't. They were bought for you!

Our peculiarity is three sights

CLEAR SIGHT,
LONG SIGHT
and FORESIGHT.

We don't have to wait until the first of the month before knowing what you will want at that time.

WE ARE ALWAYS PREPARED

to supply your wants beforehand at moderate prices, and are never caught napping.

The stock is full of what you want and you want to see it immediately, or you may not see something that'll cost you money to to miss. Don't by any means miss this striking opportunity that we are now offering.

GREAT BARGAINS
ALL OVER
THE HOUSE.

BOSTON
ONE PRICE
Clothing House
Mossefin & Lindell, Proprietors.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON CLAIMS.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, March 27th, 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Ranold D. Camson deceased:

Letters testimentiary on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Donald McKinnon of said county.

It is ordered, that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court, for examination and allowance, at the probate court office in the City of Crookston on Monday, the 11th day of September, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock, a. m.

It is further ordered, that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown, further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said County.

Dated at Crookston the 27th day of March, A. D. 1893.

By the Court,
C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.

[50-52]

M. LeGUEE.

Veterinary Surgeon.

Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

Euclid Items.

From our regular correspondent.

EUCLID, April 3, 1893.

Mrs. N. Platt went up to Warren Tuesday to visit her son.

Nels Freeburgh and family took the train Tuesday for Northfield, where they will visit with Mr. Freeburgh's parents.

B. S. Chapin was down from Warren Monday.

The manager of the Killarney farm shipped a carload of grain to Argyle Wednesday. It will be used for seed on some ground they are interested in there.

Mrs. M. M. Davis, who has spent most of the winter with her daughter Mrs. Duntley, returned home Wednesday.

Charlie Bush started for Drayton, N. D., Wednesday where he will make his future home.

J. Erchinger has rented the northwest one quarter of section, thirty-two, Euclid township.

Quite a number of the young folks gathered at the home of C. Teal, Sr., and took full possession until the wee hours of the morn, Wednesday evening. From all reports there was a grand good time.

Louie Hancock who has been attending the business college at Crookston, returned home Thursday.

Mrs. Snelling, of Angus, came in to attend to some business Friday.

E. B. Ballou has rented the Kirsch house on the east side of the town and will take immediate possession.

Pat Kelly left Wednesday for Tacoma, Washington.

Charlie Parson took the train Thursday for Minneapolis.

The Misses Anna and Ida Hancock came home Saturday to spend vacation.

Miss Minnie Crookshanks came home Saturday.

Mrs T. E. Biever went up to Argyle, Saturday to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Tiedt.

Trade seems to be picking up as all hands at Taylor & Co.'s, are kept on the go these days. They are doing a large business.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Misner has been thoroughly fumigated throughout, and now they feel perfectly safe in having their friends call on them.

Fred Goosen is breaking their large black stallion to the harness; they expect to show him what fun there is in drawing a plow this spring.

D. F. McLaughlin, superintendent of the M. and N. Elevator company for this division, spent part of Saturday with us.

Peter Stuhr has gone into farming in earnest. He has rented about a thousand acres from his father this year and if push and good management will secure success, Pete's future is assured. There is only one thing lacking in Pete's equipment and that is the other or better half. But all things come to those who persevere.

For Sale.

Eight choice young cows, two-thirds Jersey and one-third Holstein, from three to five years old; will be new milch cows in April. Will sell for cash or bankable paper due November 1st. Address.

E. LANCTOT,
[49-52] Crookston, Minn.

Viava remedies for sale by Mrs. John Wyatt, sole agent for Polk county, Sano, sure cure for piles. Room 46, Reckitt Block. [39-tf]

For Sale.

One pair of good farm mares and two or three extra good, new milch cows. For further particulars address.

F. BIVINS & SON,
[49-2] Crookston, Minn.

Sells for Cash.

Charles Vine has adopted the cash system at his meat markets and also adopted cash prices. He sells the choicest cuts at lowest rates—and sells for cash only. Markets on Broadway and Second street. [48-tf]

Womans' Board of Missions.

Nothern Pacific railroad makes reduced rates to Owatonna for the annual meeting of the Womans' Board of Missions of the interior to be held at Owatonna, Minn., April 12th and 14th, 1893, we will make rate of fare and one-third on certificate plan to St. Paul and return subject to usual attendance.

C. A. SHARKEY,
Agent.

Swedish Lutheran Jubilee.

Northern Pacific make reduced rates to Minneapolis, for the Swedish Lutheran Jubilee Festival, to be held at Minneapolis, May 22nd and 23rd, we make rate of fare and one-third on certificate plan, provided there are one hundred or more in attendance, who have paid full fare on the going trip.

C. A. SHARKEY,
Agent.

ANN ARBOR CASES.

IMPORTANT DECISIONS RENDERED AT TOLEDO.

Engineer Lennon Found Guilty of Contempt of Court for Refusing to Handle Ann Arbor Cars — The Brotherhood of Engineers Held to Be a Conspiracy.

TOLEDO, O., April 3.—Judge Ricks, in the United States circuit court, rendered his decision in the case of the Lake Shore engineers, who, obeying the laws of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, refused to handle Ann Arbor freight, as there was a strike on that road. The court held that Engineer James Lennon, inasmuch as he has been twice ordered to move the cars by the officials of the company, and did not do so until ordered to do so by the Brotherhood officers, after the boycott was raised, was guilty of contempt of court. The seven other men were discharged.

Must Complete His Run.

The decision is in line with the informal talk he gave these men on the afternoon of their arrest, but which was misconstrued widely into a declaration that a man can be compelled, to work though he desires to quit his employers' service. The decision, briefly, is that a man may quit work when he shall choose, if he quits in good faith, but an engineer out on a run must complete his run before quitting.

Judge Ricks read Judge Taft's decision in the Ann Arbor injunction case, in which Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, is made a party. He decided that the whole Brotherhood was a conspiracy against the laws of the country and that inasmuch as Arthur gave the orders that precipitated the boycott, an order for a temporary injunction against Arthur as prayed for was allowed.

Will Have No Effect.

TERRE HAUTE, April 4.—Grand Master Frank P. Sargent of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, states that the decisions rendered by Judges Ricks and Taft in the cases of the engineers at Toledo is time wasted so far as affecting a strike or boycott and Judge Ricks' decision that the men had a right to resign will be carried out to the letter, and the courts will not get a chance to summon employes for contempt.

ROILROAD WAR.

Iowa Farmers and Employes of the Milwaudee Fight.

WEST UNION, Ia., April 4.—A terrific battle took place at Jackson junction, 20 miles from here, between employes of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road and mechanics and farmers. Miles McGovern and Peter Meyers determined to build a warehouse in spite of orders from the railroad company to the contrary. The company sent 75 men there to lay rails on the building spot to prevent building operations. McGovern and Meyers and a band of farmers resisted, and a bloody battle took place, resulting in seven or eight men being terribly injured, one of whom will die. The men became wild and fought with crowbars, hammers, stones and clubs. The company did not want to make a shipping point of the junction. The raiload company is now in possession of the field.

FIVE HUNDRED KILLED.

Terrific Slaughter in a Battle in Rio Grande do Sul.

RIO JANEIRO. April 3.—Details have reached here of the battle fought on March 27, at Allegrette, in the state of Rio Grande do Sul, between the state gavernment troops and the revolutionists. According to the report that reached this city the slaughter of the state troops was frightful, while the loss of the revolutionists was heavy. It is said that there were 1,500 combatants engaged on both sides and that of this number 500 were killed and very large numbers wounded. The state troops were driven back, and the revolutionists have now undisputed sway at Allegrette, which place is used as the base of operations against the government. It is stated that the state troops will be reinforced and another attempt made to drive the insurgents from their position. The national government has as yet taken no active steps to support the state government.

WILL BE OPENED.

Cherokees Ratify the Treaty With Uncle Sam.

TALLEQUAH, I. T., April 4.—Chief Harris has signed the bill for the ratification of the amended Cherokee strip treaty. This was the last step necessary to open the strip for settlement.

Pearce Gets Seven Years.

ST. PAUL, April 3.—Judge Kelly of the district court has announced his decision in the matter of the application for a new trial in the case of Thomas J. Pearce, convicted of manslaughter for causing the death of Mrs. Helen M. Clayton. The motion for a new trial is denied and Dr. Pearce sentenced to seven years in the Stillwater penitentiary. Dr. Pearce made a long speech in his own defense.

Authorized to Call Troops.

CHICAGO, April 4.—General Miles has wired Colonel Townsend at Fort Leavenworth to proceed at once to the seat of trouble among the Choctaw Indians in the Indian Territory. Colonel Townsend has gone alone and is authorized to call troops to his aid by wire should in his judgment their be any necessity for their presence.

Electrocuted at Sing Sing.

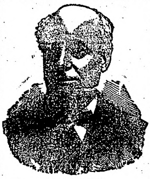
SING SING, N. Y., April 4.—James W. Hamilton, the colored ex-preacher, and convicted wife murderer, died in the electric chair at 11:12 a. m.

MAJOR NEWSON DEAD.

Minnesota's Pioneer Journalist Dies at Malaga, Spain.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 1.—Thomas M. Newson of this city, consul of the United States at Malaga, Spain, died at Malaga Friday afternoon of smallpox.

The first news was received in this city about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and before an hour had gone by it was repeated in the hotels, on the streets and placarded on many bulletin boards. There was scarcely any intimation of his illness, and with the exception of a private cablegram sent to friends Thursday that the major was down with the smallpox, no one was aware of it.



MAJOR NEWSON.

Major Newson, as he was familiarly called by every one in St. Paul, was one of the pioneer journalists of Minnesota, having come to the state in 1853. In 1854 he started the St. Paul Times, which he edited with ability for seven years.

In November, 1862, Mr. Newson was appointed commissary of substances in the United States army by President Lincoln, with the rank of captain, and was afterwards appointed commissary inspector of the district under General Thomas. He was breveted major for meritorious conduct by President Andrew Johnson in 1865.

He was appointed consul to Malaga nearly three years ago, and calculated to return home some time this summer. He leaves a wife, one son and four daughters, two of whom are teachers in the St. Paul high school.

HOTEL HOLOCAUST.

Six Persons Cremated, and Over a Score Injured.

PITTSBURG, April 1.—A special to The Leader from Bradford, Pa., says:

Fire at 4:30 a. m. destroyed the Higgins hotel, the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg depot, the Higgins cigar factory and the grocery store and building of J. Leroy. At least six persons were burned to death, and the list of the injured numbers between 20 and 30. The bodies of six persons have already been taken from the ruins and are burned beyond recognition.

The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have caught from a gas stove.

DISASTROUS MINE EXPLOSION.

Ten Corpses Taken From a Pennsylvania Shaft.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., April 3.—A miner's lamp caused an explosion in the Neilson shaft at 7 o'clock a. m. Many miners escaped, but 12 or 15 are still in the mine, with poor prospects of escape.

Ten Dead Recovered.

Ten dead men have been recovered from Neilson shaft. It is not known whether there are any more in the mine, which is burning fiercely, with momentary danger of an explosion. Despite this a force of men and officials are bravely battling the flames and the gas. The dead are all found in the Red Ash vein, to which place the smoke found its way from the vein, 200 feet below. One thousand men are thrown out of employment.

LOCOMOTIVE EXPLODED.

Four Trainmen Horribly Mangled at Red Oak, Ia.

RED OAK, Ia., April 4.—At 5:20 p. m. engine No. 20 of the Choctaw Coal and Railway company hauling an east bound way freight exploded as it was leaving the boundaries of this town, causing the death of L. P. Durnell, engineer; F. Fredericks, fireman; G. W. Martin, brakeman; Henry Landers, night hostler. The trainmen and passengers who occupied the caboose escaped with a few scratches caused by the sudden stoppage of the train.

FOUR WERE DROWNED.

A New Orleans Pleasure Party Capsized in Lake Ponchartrain.

NEW ORLEANS, April 3.—On Lake Ponchartrain a party of pleasure seekers went out for a day's sport in a fishing craft and four of them were drowned. The dead are: Agnes Flynn, Mary Flynn, Effie Kelly, Mrs. Thomas Kelly.

A HUNDRED DEAD.

Terrible Result of the Collapse of a Church at Gudria.

VIENNA, April 4.—A dispatch from Sofia states that a Russian church at Gudria, collapsed during a terrible storm and that more than 100 worshippers were killed.

Three Men Fatally Scalded.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 4.—The boiler of a shifting engine exploded near this place on the Baltimore and Ohio railway. Three brakemen were fatally scalded and otherwise injured.

Pleasure Seekers Drowned.

AMSTERDAM, April 4.—Four persons lost their lives by the capsizing of a sail boat in which a large party was on a pleasure excursion. Twelve were rescued.

Bragg for Brazil.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—General Bragg of Wisconsin will probably be named for minister to Brazil.

Money to Loan

On city property, business and dwelling—at 6½ per cent per annum. For full particulars call on P. J. Russell, 25 and 26 Reckitt block, Crookston, Minn. [47tf]

Free Trip to Chicago.

Separate W-O-R-L-D-S F-A-I-R and use the letters to spell as many words as you can by using the letters as many times as you wish, either backwards or forwards, but not use the same letter in making any one word more than it appears in "World's Fair."

It is said SEVENTY-FIVE small English words can be spelled correctly from the ten letters contained in "World's Fair." Example:—Wad, waif, soar, idol, etc. If you are good at word-making you can secure a FREE trip to the World's Fair and return, as the Scott Seed Company will pay all expenses, including R. R. fare, hotel bills, admissions to the Columbian Exposition, and $50.00 in cash for incidental express, to the first person able to make SEVENTY words from the letters contained in "World Fair," as above. They will also give a FREE TRIP to the World's Fair and return with $25.00 for incidental expenses, to the first person sending SIXTY words as above. They will also give a FREE TRIP to the World's Fair and return (without cash for incidental expenses) to the first person sending FIFTY-FIVE words.

To the first person sending FIFTY words will be given $50.00 in cash towards paying expenses to the World's Fair, to each of the first FIVE persons sending THIRTY-FIVE words will be given $10.00 in cash, and to each of the first ten sending THIRTY words will be given $5.00 in cash.

Only one prize will be awarded to the same person. Write your name on list of words (numbered) and enclose the same post-paid with fifteen U. S. two-cent stamps for a large package of our Choice English Cottage Garden Flower Seeds.

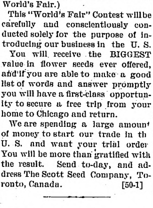
This combination includes the latest and most popular English flowers of endless varieties (same as will be contained in the elaborate exhibit of English flowers at the World's Fair.)

This "World's Fair" Contest will be carefully and conscientiously conducted solely for the purpose of introducing our business in the U. S.

You will receive the BIGGEST value in flower seeds ever offered, and if you are able to make a good list of words and answer promptly you will have a first-class opportunity to secure a free trip from your home to Chicago and return.

We are spending a large amount of money to start our trade in th U. S. and want your trial order You will be more than gratified with the result. Send to-day, and address The Scott Seed Company, Toronto, Canada. [50-1]

$3 Worth of Hood's
Cured When Others Failed
Salt Rheum or Psoriasis—Severe Case



Mr. N. J. McCoun
Kingsley, Iowa.

"In 1879 I had an eruption appear on my left leg and arm. Sometimes it would ulcerate and on account of it I was unable to work a great deal of the time. I had seven doctors examine and treat me without success. Some called it psorasis, some eczema, some salt rheum and one knowing one called it prairie itch. All the doctors in the county had a trial but none did me a particle of good. I spent all my spare money trying to get relief. Finally I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. After using one and a half bottles I saw the benefit. I have now used the third bottle and am completely cured.

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla
CURES

I received more benefit from three dollars' worth of Hood's Sarsaparilla than from the hundreds of dollars paid for advice and other medicine. Any one suffering from skin trouble will surely get relief in Hood's Sarsaparilla." N. J. McCoun, Kingsley, Iowa.

We Know This to Be True

"We know Mr. N. J. McCoun; saw his leg and arm before taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and know he was terribly afflicted; now he is cured."

"E. H. BANKS, Druggist, "D. A. OLTMANN,
"J. P. GASPAR, "R. B. ELLIS.
"C. C. BARKER, Kingsley, Iowa.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner Pills, assist digestion, cure headache. Try a box.

THE CROOKSTON

GROCERY CO.

W. E. SLOCUM, Manager.

Will be Open for Business Soon.

LOOK OUT FOR BARGAINS IN——

GROCERIES, CROCKERY AND LAMPS.

AT THE OLD STAND
——OF BARNES & SLOCUM

On Robert Street, Crookston, Minn.

THIS SPACE
BELONGS TO

L. I. BENOIT,

—THE—

Cheap Cash Grocer

Who will use it to keep Journal readers posted on the BARGAINS HE OFFERS.

Don't take our word, but call and see

L. I. BENOIT,

At the New Store on Broadway, - - Crookston, Minn.

SPRING SCHOOL TERMS.

We publish below a list of the schools which will be commenced throughout the county in April and May; also the length of the term, with the name of the Clerk of the Board and number of district. Thus any cher wishing a position can make application to the boards direct:

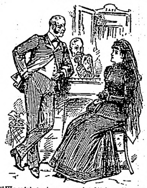
	Clerk.	Post Office.	Term Begins.	Length of Term.
4	Asselstine, A. C.	Fisher	April 15.	3 months.
5	Dale, Halvor G.	Neilsville.	April 15.	3½ months.
10	Onstad, O. P.	Melvin	May 1	4 months.
13	Erwin, Thomas	Fisher	April 10.	4 months.
16	Vraa, J G	Neilsville	April 15.	3 months.
18	Christianson, H B	Crookston	April 1	3 months.
21	Thompson, Andrew	Fellsville	April 1	3 months.
23	Iverson, Blanchard,	Neilsville	April 15.	3 months.
26	Eastman, W G	Crookston	April 15.	3 months.
27	Ducharme, Moses	Red Lake Falls	April 1	3 months.
29	Bivins, E M	Crookston	May 1	2½ months.
30	Horn, H G	Euclid	April 1	4 months.
31	Rupert, Wm L	East Grand Forks	May 1	3 months.
32	Perreault, Jos	Red Lake Falls	April 5	4 months.
33	Thorson, Peter	Neby	April 10	2 months.
34	Knappen, W F	Northland	April 15.	3½ mohs.
42	Duffy, E M	East Grand Forks	April 15	5 months.
43	Kilberg, Peter	Wylie	May 20.	3 months.
44	Nelson, A	Fertile	April 15.	2 months.
49	Demarais, J B	Red Lake Falls	April 15.	2 months.
52	Tullar, A C	Warren	April 1	3 Months.
53	McMillan, D.	Edna	May 1	3 months.
54	Aubol, Ed A	St Hilaire	April 1	3 months.
55	Danielson, W O	Crookston	April 15	4 months.
56	Hixson, A N	Crookston	April 15.	3 months.
58	Weber, A Jr	Crookston	April 15.	3 months.
59	Teal	Euclid	May 5.	2½ months.
60	Tripp, G H	Mentor	April 15.	3 months.
61	Swift, G M	Mentor	May 1	2 months.
66	Goodale, C B	Fertile	April 10	3 months.
68	Bartholemew, E M	Crookston	April 15.	3 months.
71	Lemen, W	Angus	April 3.	3 months.
73	Wassen, Andwew A	St. Hilaire	April 15.	3 months.
74	Samson, Thos	Crookston	April 15	3 months.
75	Marin, W A	Melvin	April 1	3½ months.
76	Gibeau, Samuel	Lambert	May 1	3 months.
77	Tenney, J G	Crookston	April 1	3½ months.
78	Dangerfield, G E	Grand Forks	April 1	4 months.
80	Queenell, Stephen	Dugdale	April 1	3½ months.
81	Perreault, Louis	Terrebonne	April 1	4 months.
82	Bergland T O	Crookston	April 1	4 months.
84	Stewart, T D	Mallory	April 1	4 months.
85	Sprout, Wm C	East Grand Forks	April 1.	4 months.
88	Wedehill,	Fertile	April 15.	5 months.
89	Long, W R	Tilden	April 1	6 months.
92	Ose, T D	Wig	April 12	3 months.
93	O'Brien, Ed	Mallory	April 15.	3 months.
96	Benson, Nils	Crookston	April 15.	3 months.
98	Appel, Wm.	Buffington	April 15.	4 months.
99	Hanson, Eric	Wylie	May 15	2 months.
100	Oleson, Peter	Rindal	April 3	3 months.
103	Lemay, Patrice	Lambert	May 1	2 months.
104	Gullikson, C J	Edna	April 15	2 months.
105	Fortier Remi	Gentilly	May 1	5 months.
110	Davis, F L	Crookston	April 1	3 months.
111	Hershberger, R M	Fosston	April 1	3½ months.
113	Hall, Jacob	Maple Bay	May 1	2 months.
115	Anderson, Peter	Emard	April 1	2 months.
117	Skinner, Wm	Fisher	April 1	3½ months.
108	Cernousek, F J	Tabor	April 1	3 months.
124	Shirrick, Frank	Wylie	April 1	4 months.
125	Anderson, John	St. Hilaire	April 1	3 months.
129	Gilmour, James	Mallory	April 1	4 months.
131	Luther, J E	Lindsay	April 15	3 months.
133	Erickson, A A	St. Hilaie	May 10	2 months.
135	Finke, John L	Thief River Falls	May 10	2½ months.
136	Kruger, Chas	Buffington	May 10	2½ months.
138	Brunn, Iver F	Fosston	May 1	2 months.
139	King, John S	McIntosh	May 1	3 months.
140	Regimbal, Fabien	Gentilly	May 1	3 months.
143	Richardson, C S	Warren	May 1	5 months.
145	Bergdahl, O H	Poston	May 1	2½ months.
146	Albue, Erik	Tweet	May 1	2½ months.
147	Christianson, C	St. Hilaire	May 1	3 months.
148	Hansel, C C	Crookston	May 1	3 months.
151	Brohmen, Joseph	Lombert	May 1	3 months.
152	Huot, Louis	Huot	May 1	2 months.
153	Anderson, Martin	Erskine	May 1	2½ months.
156	Anderson, James M	Hansville	May 1	3 months.
161	Ness, C	Erskine	May 1	2 months.
162	Grundesen, Halvor	Fisher	May 15	3 months.
163	Distad, John S	Fisher	May 15	3 months.
164	McCarty, C	Erskine	May 1	3 months.
165	Lof, Lars J	Lindsay	May 1	3 months.
166	Amundson, L A	Lindsay	April 1	2 months.
171	Gilbertson, Henry T	Erskine	April 3	2½ months.
172	Hilgeson, H H	[illegible]	April 1	2½ months.
174	Hopkins, James	Crookston	May 1	3 months.
179	Swanson, Swan	McIntosh	May 1	3 months.
181	Lakness, Ole K	Mentor	May 1	2 months.
184	Anderson Martin	Rindal	May 1	3 months.
191	Honkom, Hans	Fosston	April 3	3 months.
192	Amundson, B B	Fosston	May 15	3 months.
194	[illegible]	St. Hilaire	May 15	[illegible]
195	Skin, Neri A	Olga	May 1	[illegible]
196	Juvrud, John E	Fosston	May 1	2 months.
197	Eggen, E	East Grand Forks	May 1	3 months.
199	Thorkildson, Thorvald	Lindsay	April 20	3 months.
200	Rose, Robert A	Fisher	May 1	3 months.
201	Waafe, Knut	Fosston	April 3	2½ months.
202	Hince, Peter	Lambert	May 1	3 months.
203	Mortvgen, Eric O	Neby	May 1	3 months.
205	Slavig, Ole O	Snake	May 1	2 months.
209	Lindberg, B O	[illegible]	May 1	2 months.
211	Stromstad, John	Edna	May 15	3 months.

Margaret Medbury's Managers

By Mrs. H. A. STANLEY.

[Copyright, 1892, by American Press Association.]

CHAPTER I.



"We wish to have a quiet little talk with you, Miss Margaret."

It was four o'clock Saturday afternoon. Jack turned from the elevator, down which he had just sent the forms of the last edition, and gave a sigh of relief as the regular beat of the stereotyper's brush arose from below. A few of the compositors yet lingered at their cases "throwing in" such type as could be got, but the majority had gone home to supper, preferring to return later when the forms were released from the steaming table and type was more plentiful. Quoins, sidesticks, mallets, planers and other utensils lay about on the imposing stones and tables, and with a wave of his hand toward them and a word of instruction to his youthful assistant, Hazeley stepped to his desk and began measuring up "dupes."

Despite the ink stains on his brawny arms and his beard of three days' growth, he was as handsome a specimen of young manhood as one often sees, and so Margaret Medbury thought as she at that moment opened the door from the stairway into the hall, at the end of the room where Jack was. Her modest "How do you do, Mr. Hazeley?" brought the blood to Jack's face and set his heart pounding, but he mustered courage to reply politely, and as at this instant the business manager and managing editor appeared at the head of the stair and bowed her across the hall into the late Mr. Medbury's room no further chance for conversation was given.

As Margaret entered this room, into which since childhood she had so often joyously bounded, her heart was heavy. It seemed as if she was entirely alone in a great, unfeeling world—a world her kind, indulgent father had made very happy for her. Her mother's death three years before had been a hard blow, but it was as nothing in comparison with her present bereavement. The utter loneliness had not come before, but now it was upon her with oppressive weight. The honest sympathetic face of her childhood friend and schoolmate—Jack Hazeley—had seemed most welcome a moment before, but the difference in their respective stations forbade his offering sympathy unless she made the first advances, and her woman's modesty forbade that.

All this and much more passed through the young woman's mind as she entered the editorial apartments. The polite invitations of the Messrs. Blite to be seated seemed hollow and grated harshly on her ears. Something told her the unusual cordiality of the brothers was assumed, and she was alarmed to find herself wishing she had the same confidence in these two polished gentlemen now in her company that she had always involuntarily felt for Hazeley—reticent and bashful as he might appear in her presence. Sturdy, blunt, sometimes almost surly, there was always an undercurrent of kindness that told her and all who came in contact with him, that while he was not a politic or polished man, he was still one who thoroughly understood himself—a man of uncommon moral and physical courage, and one of such broad mind and kind heart as to win the respect of all honest people.

Why she distrusted the brothers she did not know. Surely she must needs trust them, for now that her father was gone she must depend on them as the respective heads of the editorial and business departments of this property left to her. However, as Charles, the elder, removed his hat and cleared his throat preparatory to opening conversation, the other brother meanwhile carefully closing the door after them, it seemed as if that old saw—

> "'Will you walk into my parlor?'
> Said the spider to the fly, was a most appropriate beginning.

"We wish to have a quiet little talk with you, Miss Margaret," said Blite, senior, as he sat stiffly down on the edge of his chair, "and for that purpose invited you into this little sanctum of mine." Margaret noticed the inflection on the word "mine," and repressed anger made her eyes glow a trifle. It seemed to her as if this man had shown undue haste in removing his desk, books, etc., into her father's room so soon after the funeral, and that, too, without consulting her, the present sole owner of The Herald plant. However, she could hardly find practical reason for resentment, and almost immediately controlled herself and looked expectant, as if anxious for the procedure of Blite's "quiet talk."

"You see," began the managing editor again, "Mr. Arthur here, my brother, and I have for some time had an interest—a financial interest, I may say—in this plant, and while it is not such an interest as in any sense renders us proprietors, it is such as will probably necessitate the office giving us stock. That, however, is all we ask. We do not want our money. We have never said anything to any one outside about this matter, and there is no need now of saying anything about it. Your father in his will named me as executor and administrator, and I now proceed in this quiet manner to inform you, the sole heir, of the only claim I know of against the estate, real or personal—namely, $12,000 held by myself in the shape of three notes of $4,000 each, given me by your father for money lent."

Surprise, mixed with indignation, betrayed itself in Margaret's voice. "Indeed! Why, if this be true, did not my father tell me of it? If you hold such paper, why did he say to me over and over again, 'My daughter, I leave you a fine property, free and clear from debt of any kind.' You will remember that after the first stroke he rallied, and we all thought he would recover, but he looked for the second stroke that finally came, and while able to converse with me he told me again and again what I have just told you; also of his trust in you two gentlemen, and while he was aware that I would probably not be able for years, if ever, to control and run such a property as this, there was little danger of disaster with two such men in control. Why, gentlemen, I can hardly believe what you say."

"We do not ask you to take our word for it, Miss Medbury," was the quick reply. "You shall see the notes, and when you do you will admit that not only the body of each but the signature are in your father's hand. Did he not suppose you knew of these notes?"

"No, certainly not. Had he supposed I knew of them would he again and again have used the words free and clear? Do you think a father on his dying bed would for any reason whatever thus deceive his daughter? Is it reasonable to so suppose? No, gentlemen. There is a mistake here somewhere."

A meaning glance here passed between the brothers, and as Margaret suddenly raised her eyes to their faces she saw it, and her suspicions were aroused. "Let me see these notes? Where are they?" she asked.

At a nod from his brother the business manager arose, descended to the lower office and soon returned with an envelope. As he went out he did not see Hazeley, who had stood at his desk near the partition the past fifteen minutes in a listening attitude. When he returned Jack was apparently very busy measuring dupes, but had Mr. Blite looked closely he would have seen that the string of slug fourteen was crushed together in the foreman's hard hand, and that an ugly light gleamed in his eyes. As the door closed on Blite, Jack resumed his listening attitude again. "I don't fancy eavesdropping," he muttered; "but all's fair in war with rascals like these. The Blites have twelve thousand dollars indeed! They never had twelve hundred dollars ahead, and never will unless they steal it."

Margaret surveyed the notes spread out before her in a dazed way, for an instant turning pale and breathing very hard. Not only was the signature of each that of her father, but the body of the note was in his hand. She would have sworn to it, and notwithstanding her suspicions of a moment before would have accepted the prima facie evidence here displayed without further remonstrance but for one little sign. As she again suddenly raised her eyes a small mirror hanging in the partition just before her came within range of her vision. In it she could see the faces of the brothers, who stood just behind her, and whereas these faces had hitherto worn an expression of solicitation—if not commiseration—each now wore a sardonic grin, while the beady little right eye of the business manager was at that instant veiled by its lid in something very like a wink. Her anger was at this instant beyond control, and all her former suspicions were magnified. Her eyes fairly blazed with wrath, and Jack had now no trouble in distinguishing her words.

"Charles and Arthur Blite, you have concocted a scheme to rob me, the only daughter of your patron and friend. While I cannot in truth brand these notes as forgeries, I say to you now and shall always believe there is something wrong about them. Why in the name of heaven did you not make them larger, so as to cripple this concern or gain control of its stock? You could then have rendered me and it subservient to you. As it is, I may be robbed, but only this once by you. I hold control as yet, and I will show you that I am my father's daughter. I can raise money by mortgage, and with the help of trusted men about me, for there are those here I can trust, even if I cannot believe the heads of this concern, I can and will pay off these claims of yours."

"But what is the use?" interposed Charles, his voice as soothing as a father's, his face expressing all conceivable concern. "Pay us our claim in stock. We can run this business for you as we have for your father heretofore. The books will be open at all times for your inspection, and we being interested"——

"Would own the entire plant in five years. Where did you ever get this twelve thousand dollars that you claim to have lent my father? What did he do with it when he borrowed it? He did not owe a dollar in the world five years ago, when this building was completed, for he told poor mother and me so the day the plant was moved in."

"Very true, very true, my dear madam, and he owed nothing up to the time he borrowed this money. At that time he put in a large quantity of new material, a news press among the rest, and we are quite sure he used this money for that. How was that, Brother Arthur?" and the bland editor bent his inquiring gaze on the business manager.

"That was it exactly, and if we had the books covering that period I could show Miss Margaret the entries proving it. As it is, I am sorry to say they are destroyed," and here another telegraphic signal passed between the cunning eyes of each. "It was just after we came in here," resumed Arthur, "and as I had the money and knew Mr. Medbury was good financially for sixty thousand dollars I lent it on notes, not asking even a chattel mortgage."

"If my father wrote and signed those notes he certainly did not know what he was about. I know there must be something wrong about them, for the profits of the business always have and always should have paid for all machinery needed. How you have managed to secure them I do not know, but if they are legal claims, which they appear to be, I must see them paid. I see they are payable October first, eighteen hundred and eighty-eight, January first and April first, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine. They will be paid when due—when due, I say—but not one dollar of stock in this concern do you get. Furthermore, as economy is in order, I must dispense with your valuable services. You will please give up your keys and vacate your quarters here as soon as possible. I am thankful this is Saturday afternoon, as it gives me Sunday to turn about."

"But, Miss Medbury, consider!"

"I have considered," was the quick reply, "and I want you to go, and that at once."

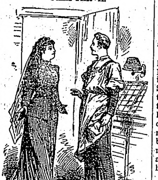
Gathering up their alleged notes the brothers stood looking at each other blankly, but as Margaret stepped to the door and opened it both took the hint and started out.

"This is the eighth day of September. I shall be prepared to pay the first note when due," said she as the two started to go down the stairs.

Mr. Charles turned about at the landing and began again in his suave way: "My dear young madam, we did not expect such an outburst as this. It is hard enough to accommodate a parent by lending him money and then to be turned upon by the offspring of that friend. Were it not that my duties as executor compel me"——

"Your duties as executor will not be required of you. You will leave matters just as they are—selling off nothing, handling nothing. I have seen the will, and it is entirely optional with me, the sole heir, to sell or keep and run this business. Rather than trust you or your brother I will keep it and run it as best I can. Like your editorial services, your services as executor I can and will dispense with." Here, slamming the door in his face, the excited girl ran across the hall, and sinking into her father's chair found relief in a flow of tears. She had kept up, she knew not how, until now, but here her woman's nature asserted itself.

CHAPTER II.



"Oh, Jack! I am in trouble."

Margaret had wept for some time when her will finally came back, and with a determined wiping of eyes, but with quivering lips, she arose and arranged her hair, and picking up her gloves prepared to go. She was undecided as to whether she should go down stairs and notify Mr. Simmons, the bookkeeper, of the discharge of the Blites, but after debating the matter a moment or two decided to go home, think matters over and come fresh to the work Monday morning. She threw open the door to go, but started back, for there on the threshold, immovable as a sphinx, stood Jack. His apron was wound about his big bare arms, his face was as solemn as a martyr's, and he looked so utterly lugubrious that Margaret could hardly refrain from laughing even in her present trouble. His face looked the pity he evidently felt, and in her impulsive way the girl appreciated and expressed that appreciation. Extending both her hands she exclaimed: "Oh, Jack! I am in trouble—serious trouble, too, I fear—and I need friends. We used to be friends. Aren't we yet?"

Jack made no reply, but in an awkward way grasped both her hands in his, and looking straight down into the tearful eyes stood as immovable as before. Finally his eyes twinkled, and dropping her hands he said, "I beg your pardon, Miss Medbury. I forgot myself. It seemed again as if you were the little Maggie I used to tease at school. Well! Well! Little one, you've a big job on hand."

"What do you mean, Jack—Mr. Hazeley, I mean? Do you know all, or do you refer to my difficulty in making you my friend?"

"I knew all, Miss Medbury. I could not well help hearing all, and you do need friends. You have acted very hastily, however, in discharging these two men. Who can fill their places?"

"That is true," said Margaret, with a laugh that had a sound of hysterics in it, "but what was I to do? I see now that I am not a diplomat. Oh, what shall I do?"

"Keep cool, little woman. That's the first thing to do. Your father was as nonchalant in times of the greatest excitement as any ordinary man would be on his way to dinner. If you propose running this paper you must get the mastery of your nerves first of all. Do you know anything of the business?"

"About as much as I do of anything else I never took an interest in," was the despairing reply. "Dear me! I fear I was hasty with those two men, but their attempt to swindle was so apparent that I lost all control of myself. You see I was looking at their faces. You only heard their voices. I should have dissembled, and if I had it to do over again would give them a soft answer and seek advice. As it is, the fight is opened, and we must go through with it to the end. What that end will be God only knows."

"Yes, God does know," said Jack, "and according to my mother's doctrine he'll see you through. I'm going to stand by the new management anyway, and whichever way I go the union goes. There's God and the union on your side anyway, and even a woman ought to run a paper with such backing as that. You mustn't look back and mourn over any mistakes you may have made, but look ahead. What shall you do in the future? That is the question. You asked me if I knew all. Yes, I do—or nearly all. What I don't know I've suspected for some time. The Messrs. Charles and Arthur Blite want this property. Just how they are going to get it I don't know, but suppose they've got the plan of campaign all ready for press. What we're to do is to pi their form. I'm not prepared to give advice just at this instant, but with your permission I'll see you later. I'd like to do something for you, and if we can have an understanding I may be able to run things inside the building more to your advantage. It won't do, however, for us to be seen talking here, and with your permission I'll now call a cab for you and call at your—your home for a later talk."

"Certainly, Mr. Hazeley. You are very kind and are the very person I want advice from. Come as early as possible this evening, and we'll have a long talk."

Jack sent the office boy out for a cab and went over to the sink to wash the ink from his hands and arms. Just as Miss Medbery went down the front way Mr. Arthur Blite came up the back stairway and out through the composing room. As he neared the sink he stopped short, as if there was something he wished to say, but remaining silent went on again, when Jack, who was as cool as ever and perfectly natural, remarked, "By the way, Mr. Blite, will you be here Monday?"

Blite's eyes glittered, and he turned sharply, looking suspiciously at the unconcerned foreman, who, as he wiped first one finger and then another on the grimy towel, selecting the cleanest spot with great care and deliberation, continued, "'Cos if you are, sir, I want to talk with you about some position contracts."

The apparent innocence of the question demanded a straight reply, and although Jack had mischievously inflected the word "position," giving the business manager quite a turn, the latter had no reason for equivocation and said: "Certainly, Hazeley; I shall be in the office right along. You can see me any time all next week."

"So! ho! Mr. Man, and so you don't propose to accept the discharge of the proprietress? I think when she authorizes Simmons to manage things, and Simmons authorizes me to fire you out the first door, you'll go," soliloquized the imperturbable Jack as he dried the last finger on the towel. He put on his coat, and as he went through the business office stepped up to Simmons, the bookkeeper, and said in a low voice, "I may call on you tonight between eleven and twelve, and if I do you'll be at home?"

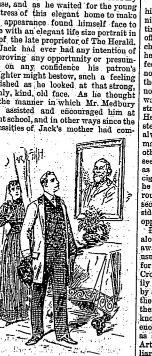
"What's that you said?" demanded the business manager from his desk.

"I was speaking to Mr. Simmons," was Jack's prompt reply, "and I'd also like to say to you that if you let that pill firm work any more wood backed cuts on us you'll hear of our missing some mails. They won't dry in the steam table, and we don't get out that first edition with a minute to spare. If we do miss all the eastern mail some afternoon"——

"Yes, yes. I'll attend to that at once," said the hoodwinked business manager. He had heard the same long winded complaint only fifteen minutes before from the pressman and again from the stereotyper, and he did not want a repetition. As he looked down again to his writing Simmons nodded intelligently, and Jack went out the office door.

CHAPTER III.

That evening Jack was ushered into the cozy reception room of the Medbury house, and as he waited for the young mistress of this elegant home to make her appearance found himself face to face with an elegant life size portrait in oil of the late proprietor of The Herald. If Jack had ever had any intention of improving any opportunity or presuming on any confidence his patron's daughter might bestow, such a feeling vanished as he looked at that strong, manly, kind, old face. As he thought of the manner in which Mr. Medbury had assisted and encouraged him at night school, and in other ways since the necessities of Jack's mother had compelled her to take him from day school, where he was a classmate of Margaret's, and apprentice him to The Herald office, the young man inwardly vowed to disinterestedly advise the friendless young woman.



"I am what I am by the grace of God."

The words, "I am what I am by the grace of God, and you were one of the main instruments of God's providence in making me a useful citizen, Samuel Medbury," came almost unconsciously from his lips. He supposed he was alone, and when he ceased speaking and turned to find Margaret in the doorway behind him his confusion was for a moment quite embarrassing to both. Finally the young man managed to say: "I supposed I was alone, Miss Medbury, and unconsciously spoke aloud. I meant what I said, however, and am here this evening to offer you my services in any way you may deem most efficient. I find you need some information concerning the details of the office. I can impart that, and can then bear any message you may wish to send to Simmons, who is naturally the successor of the business manager you have discharged. Mr. Simmons is an honest man, and you will doubtless by his aid become a successful journalist. There is no reason why a woman cannot run a newspaper successfully. I wish to report to you that one of the brothers at least—Mr. Arthur Blite—decides to remain with you, whether or no," and Jack proceeded to relate his experience in "pumping" the business manager, to the great amusement of the young lady. Finally, however, she became thoughtful again, and bending toward Jack said:

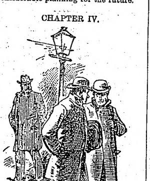
"You speak of Mr. Simmons? He is not my choice. You will pardon me, but I have chosen a man to succeed Mr. Blite whom you will probably advise me against. Your advice, however, in this respect will be unavailing, for I am determined. You are the man, John Hazeley, and I will take no refusal."

Jack drew a long breath and looked as if he had received an offer to go as missionary to the South Sea islands. Finally his mouth flew open, and he began, "But, Miss Mar"——

"No buts at all. Not a word of objection. I won't hear it. There's something tells me you are the man. It told me so an hour ago, and I went to McCollum, papa's lawyer, but he is in politics up to his ears and didn't want to say a word against the Blites or mix up in any quarrel among newspaper men. I think he will know his mistake before he's a year older. He did say, however, that you were practical and a bright young man. I want you to take charge at once. I can trust you fully. Will you do me this favor?" and the honest blue eyes were looking earnestly into his face.

The poor fellow weakened. It was so unexpected and he had not the proper confidence in himself, but every objection he offered was answered by arguments that he could not controvert. "You know that when Mr. Blite failed to hold an advertiser they always sent you around to talk with him, and I heard father declare not three months ago that your blunt arguments and businesslike talk did more with the average man than all of Mr. Blite's soft solder. You know they depended on you to settle the strike last spring. In short you must not refuse me," and before he left his young employer at ten o'clock that evening he had consented, and they had done considerable planning for the future.

CHAPTER IV.



He saw that Arthur carried a bundle.

As Jack reached the public square on his way home and gazed across it the night was so dark he could hardly distinguish the outlines of The Herald office, which stood over opposite the church, in the deeper shadow of which he paused to light a cigar. As he was feeling in his pocket for a match he noticed that the three lamps along down the street next The Herald office were not burning—a thing very unusual—and was at the same instant somewhat startled to see a flash of light in The Herald's business office instead of the steady gleam of the gas jet Simmons always left burning. As he stood—match in one hand and cigar in the other—he was still further startled to see the peculiar wink of a bullseye lamp as the slide was shot. Dropping the cigar and match into his pocket together he bent down, and securing a smooth round cobble tiptoed across the street, secreting himself behind a tobacconist's sidewalk sign out on the curb nearly opposite the office.

He could see the police officer pacing along up the street a block or more away where the lamps were lighted as usual and would have called to him but for fear of giving a needless alarm. Crouching still lower and gazing steadily into the office, he was soon rewarded by another flash of light as the slide of the bullseye was slowly opened, and then beheld a hand on the combination knob of the safe door. One glance was enough. One hand in all the world was as slim and peculiar between joints as Arthur Blite's, and if that was not peculiarity enough a seal ring of peculiar pattern clinched the proof. At this instant Jack heard the bolts shot, the door was swung open, and out of the safe came a cashbook and journal. That was enough, and drawing back his powerful arm the watcher prepared to deliver a "curve" toward that safe door that would have cracked it, but for a soft voice within fifteen feet of him and apparently in the open office door.

"There's no one coming. Use your lamp, Arthur, and don't fail to get the right books."

The bullseye was at this instant flashed toward the office door, and he caught a glimpse of Mr. Charles on guard with drawn revolver. The foreman set his teeth together and was about to change his aim to the watcher when the door was shut to, and from over the transom he heard low voices and the shooting of the safe door bolts. Then he heard the precious pair come forth and go down the street. As they passed under the first street lamp he saw that Arthur carried a bundle which he had no doubt contained the records they had stolen—for what purpose he did not clearly understand. Following as closely as he dared, he saw them halt before the house they and their maiden sister occupied. A large piano lamp threw its light out the full length window, and by its aid he saw them place the package beneath the steps leading up to the side door. Then they entered, and Jack drew near.

He was thinking faster than he had ever thought before, and while he wanted to secure the books was fearful lest they might become a white elephant on his own hands before he could place them in the hands of their owner. Through the window he could see Miss Blite sitting before the fireplace in which a hickory fire was blazing. "I want a witness when I take those books," he thought, and his mind reverted to Simmons, with whom he had made his appointment. He was hesitating as to what he should do when he saw Arthur, who sat behind the sister, crook his thumb toward the fireplace and grin triumphantly. "They'll burn those books as soon as she goes to bed," he thought, and they don't dare bring them in till she retires. "I guess I've time to call Simmons," and he started on a run down the middle of the street toward Simmons' residence.

He arrived breathless, and found the old gentleman expecting him. His story told, Simmons nodded gravely and said: "Boy, this is about what I've been expecting. I haven't time to explain now, but will later. Wait till I secure some less valuable fuel," and snatching a scrapbook and an atlas from the center table he started toward the door. "Come on. We've no time to lose. We must get those books. They may save a fortune—that is, if twelve thousand dollars is one, and it is to me."

Jack caught the old man's idea, and snatching the books from him ran up street at a pace the bookkeeper could hardly equal. As the old man arrived he found Jack on his knees beside the steps hastily unwrapping the precious volumes, and haste was necessary, for Miss Blite had gone to her room, leaving the brothers alone. The bookkeeper saw Mr. Arthur arise and throw some more light wood on the fire, and whispering to Jack to make haste retreated across the street. Jack joined him just as the business manager came out the door, and they saw him soon reappear in the room, bearing the bundle in his arms.

"Now if they undo that package our cake may be all dough," whispered the old man, who shivered with excitement. "They won't do it, though. See? In she goes. My, but won't Molly kick, though! That scrapbook was her pride, and she'll miss it within twenty-four hours."

"Hang the scrapbook!" whispered Jack, exultantly.

"Or rather burn it," rejoined the old man. "See those two fools stand there and watch it burn. I suppose they think they are safe now."

As Jack and Simmons prepared to depart they could see the brothers lighting up their cigars and sitting down before the fire for a smoke, happy in their supposed triumph.

(To be Continued.)

JOHN CROMB.
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

MARTIN O'BRIEN,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
{I. O. O. F. BUILDING.} Crookston. Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block } CROOKSTON, MINN.

THE PRESS
(NEW YORK)
For 1893
Has a larger Daily Circulation than any other Republican newspaper n America.
DAILY. SUNDAY. WEEKLY.
The Aggressive Republican Journal of the Metropolis.
A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES.
Founded Dec. 1st, 1887.

Circulation over 125,000 copies daily. The most remarkable Newspaper Success in New York. The PRESS is a National Newspaper. Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of the the PRESS.

The PRESS has the brightest Editorial page in New York. It sparkles with points. The PRESS Sunday Edition is a splendid paper, covering every current topic of interest. The PRESS Weekly Edition contains all the good things of the Daily and Sunday editions.

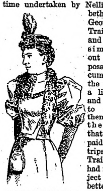
AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM
The Press has no superior in New York.

THE PRESS
Within the reach of all. The best and cheapest Newspaper in America.
Daily and Sunday, one year.......................$5 00
" " 6 months.......................2 50
" " 1 " 45
Daily only, one year.......................3 00
" " 4 months.......................1 00
Sunday, one year.......................2 00
Weekly Press, one year.......................1 00
Send for Press circular. Samples free. Agents wanted everywhere. Liberal commissions.
Address THE PRESS,
38 Park Row, New York.

NOT AFRAID OF THE CARS.

A Chicago Girl Who Is Making a Unique Railroad Journey.

The novel journey around the United States now being made by Miss Bessie Mitchell Doolittle is in some respects of greater interest than the trips against time undertaken by Nellie Bly, Elizabeth Bisland and George Francis Train. Miss Bly and Miss Bisland simply started out to show the possibility of circumnavigating the earth within a limited time, and incidentally to advertise themselves and the newspapers that planned and paid for their trips, while Mr. Train apparently had no other object than to make better time than Miss Bly, though there was some sort of an advertising dodge connected with his scheme too.



BESSIE M. DOOLITTLE.

Miss Doolittle's journey has quite a different and more practical purpose. It was undertaken to show the possibility of traveling all around the United States, across the border to the City of Mexico and back again on one continuous trip, without the necessity of once putting foot on the ground. Incidentally it is expected to show the perfection the through passenger car service of American railroads has reached. In fact it was arranged by the general passenger agent of one of the railroads in Chicago with that object in view. The element of time enters into consideration only so far as it concerns making the necessary railroad connections, though of course if that is accomplished the journey will necessarily be made in the shortest time possible over the roads traversed.

Miss Doolittle left Chicago on March 22 and the itinerary of the trip as arranged before her departure included Portland, Or.; San Francisco and Los Angeles, Cal.; Deming, N. M.; El Paso, Tex.; Chihuahua, Zacatecas and the City of Mexico, in Mexico, on the southern trip, and San Luis Potosi, Mexico, Laredo and San Antonio, Tex., on the return. From Laredo the way lies through San Antonio again and thence north to Texarkana, St. Louis, Detroit, Buffalo, New York and Boston. From Boston a trip will be made back to New York by one of the railroads connecting with a line of steamers on Long Island sound and thence back to Chicago through Pennsylvania.

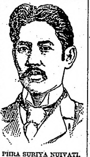
The entire journey is scheduled to occupy 19 days, and Miss Doolittle is expected to arrive in Chicago in the afternoon of April 10. She will not travel in a special car, but in an ordinary section of a sleeping car, and expects to show how comfortable, convenient and safe travel on the ordinary coach is for everyday travelers.

Miss Doolittle is a tall, slender young lady of attractive personal appearance, with brown hair, brown eyes and glistening white teeth. She is a thorough American girl, bright, alert, entertaining to talk to, good to look at and thoroughly able to take care of herself under any circumstances. She has lived in Chicago since she was 2 years old and is considered a good traveler. She expects to enjoy her trip, though she thinks it may prove a bit tiresome.

ENTERPRISING SIAMESE.

They Expect Great Things to Follow Their Exhibition at the World's Fair.

The avidity with which foreigners take advantage of the World's fair to extend their commerce with the United States is well illustrated in the case of Siam. The commercial relations between the two countries at present do not amount to much, but if the hopes of Phra Suriya Nuivati, World's fair commissioner from Siam, are realized, the exhibits that country will make at the fair will have the effect of promoting direct trade relations between the two nations. Besides the curious ivory carvings in which the Siamese are so pre-eminently proficient, and the pretty brass work, they will show specimens of all their woods, agricultural productions and manufactures, and examples of the work of their women, mostly fancy needlework and crocheting. The king has already appropriated $35,000 for the arrangement of the exhibits of his country and will set aside more as it is needed.



PHRA SURIYA NUIVATI.

Phra Suriya Nuivati is a quick, active, nervous little man, with a dark complexion and straight, stiff, black hair. He has a straggling mustache, which he twists as he talks. He needs no interpreter as he speaks excellent English. He is accompanied by his wife, who is in charge of the women's department of the Siamese exhibit, and by an assistant. One of the curious bits of information he imparted was that in Siam most of the buying and selling was done by women, few men ever being seen about the shops. He says the women are very shrewd traders and hard to beat. The men do all the heavier mechanical work and the farming.

A Railway Across Guatemala.

The first section of the Oceanic railway, to connect the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the republic of Guatemala, from Port Barrios eastward, is approaching completion. The second section is now under survey, and the government intends to shortly commence constructing a section starting from the capital.

How to Make Matches Waterproof.

Dip in a solution formed by adding two parts of glycerin to 100 of collodion.

Something New in Train Equipment to Chicago.

The "Limited" train on The Northwestern Line," leaving Minneapolis 7:30 p. m., St. Paul 8:10 p. m. and arriving Milwaukee 7:25 a. m., Chicago 9:30 a. m., is now equipped with Wagner Compartment Cars in addition to Standard Sleepers, and also with Buffet Smoking and Library Cars.

This is the finest equipped train in America, is the only train of its kind west of Chicago, and no extra fare is charged on this "Northwestern Limited."

By "The Northwestern Line" you also have advantage of fast day train, leaving Minneapolis 7:20 a. m. and St. Paul 8:30 a. m., arriving Milwaukee 7:55 p. m., Chicago, 9:35 p. m., also an afternoon train, leaving Minneapolis 5:00 p. m., St. Paul 5:35 p. m., arriving at Chicago 7:45a. m

"The Nortwestern Line" is also the only Pullman Car Line from St. Paul and Minneapolis, Sioux City, Omaha, Kansas City, Duluth and Ashland.

For luxury and comfort, best equipment and road bed, secure ticket via "The Northwestern Line," they are on sale at all stations. Illustrated Map Folder free on application to

T. W. TEASDALE
Gen. Pass. Agent,
[32tf] St. Paul, Minn.

Cheap Fuel.

From a limited amount of wood, I will deliver to any part of the city four foot dry soft wood at $4.00, four foot dry hard wood at $5.50, sawed as you want it for 50 cents extra.

W. H. NORRIE,
Successor to Priester & Co.
Corner Main and Third streets.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of three hundred and four dollars ($304) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Jedire Draper and Alice Mariah Draper, his wife, to The Security Trust Company, a corporation bearing date the 4th day of September, A. D. 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 22d day of October, A. D. 1890, at 8:40 o'clock a. m., in book 52 of mortgages, on page 447, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots fifteen and sixteen (15 and 16) of block eighty-two (82) of Kretzschmar's Addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county, in Polk county and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 29th day of April, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and $6.65 taxes paid by the mortgagee on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 1st, A. D. 1893.

SECURITY TRUST COMPANY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN, Attys. [48-2]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss.
District Court, 14th Judicial District.

In the matter of the assignment of Soliest A. Sylvester and Martin Finseth, copartners as Sylvester & Finseth.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of Sylvester & Finseth in the above entitled matter, of the city of Crookston, in said county and state, have by deed in writing, dated 4th day of March, 1893, made a general assignment to the undersigned, of all copartnership and individual property not exempt by law from levy and sale on execution, for the benefit of all their creditors, without preferences.

All claims must be verified and presented to the undersigned for allowance.

Dated March 11th, 1893.

JEROME W. WHEELER, Assignee.
(48-2) Polk County, Minn.

The St. Paul Globe And Cleveland.

Now that the Democratic party, by the vote of a large majority of the American people, has been placed in possession of all branches of the national government,

YOU WILL WANT
THE ST. PAUL GLOBE

As a regular visitor in your home.

It will give you the news of the world.

It will give you the markets of the world.

It will give you the doings of congress.

It will give you the doings of your own state legislature.

It will keep you informed upon the acts of the administration of President Cleveland, as well as the acts of the Republican state administration.

It will discuss, intelligently and impartially, questions of legislation and administration in both state and nation—giving especial attention to questions of taxation, finance, free wheat markets and those things in which you are most deeply interested.

You also want the GLOBE's great Geographical and Political Map, to hang up in your house or office. No intelligent family will want to be without the GLOBE or its Map.

Price of either the WEEKLY GLOBE one year or the Map, $1. Both taken together, $1.50.

RATES OF GLOBE BY MAIL.

	1 YR.	6 MO.	3 MO.	1 MO.
Daily	$8.00	$4.00	$2.00	70 cts
Daily and Sunday	10.00	5.00	2.50	85 cts
Sunday	2.00	1.00	.50	.....
Weekly	1.00	.50	.25	.....

Club of three Weeklies.......... $2.70
Club of 5 Weeklies, and 1 to agent free, 1 yr, $5.00

☞ All subscriptions payable in advance.

Address, ST. PAUL GLOBE,
St. Paul, Minn.

NEW CIGAR STORE

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.

H. F. BROWN, Proprietor,
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerchaum.

CALL IN.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9th, 1893.]
[Last publication April 20th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing power of sale, dated June 10th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on June 21st, 1887, at ten o'clock a. m. in book 33 of mortgages, on page 17, whereby Knud Johnsen and Guri Johnsen, his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, all that tract of land situate in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, described as follows: the southwest quarter of section nine, in township one hundred and forty-nine north, of range forty west containing 160 acres more or less, excepting therefrom two acres in the southwest corner of said section, which excepted part is used for a church and cemetery, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $442, being the amount of the principal secured by said mortgage, with interest thereon and the taxes for the years 1888, 1889, 1890, 1891 and 1892, paid by the mortgagee, with interest thereon from the date of such payment. Said mortgage and the debt secured thereby were duly assigned by an instrument in writing bearing date September 8th, 1887, by said mortgagee to George Parker, and said assignment was on September 13th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said county, in book 33 of mortgages, on page 241.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m., at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, and $25 Attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

GEORGE PARKER,
Assignee of Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Assignee.
[47-1] Crookston Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9, 1893]
[Last publication April 20, 1893]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale, dated November 21st, 1890, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk County, Minnesota, on November 24th 1890, in book 49 of mortgages on page 208, whereby Bertha Rundhaug, formerly Bertha Iverson, and Torgrim O. Rundhaug her husband, mortgagors, mortgaged to Martin Lally, mortgagee, all that tract, piece or parcel of land, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The north-east quarter of the south-west quarter and lot six, all in section six in Township one hundred and forty-nine of range forty-two, containing 78 and 72-100 acres, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $158.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a.m., at the front door of the Court House in the City of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, and $25 attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

MARTIN LALLY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Mortgagee. [47-1]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9th, 1893.]
[Last publication April 20th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale dated February 5th, 1890, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on February 15th, 1890, in book 51 of mortgages, on page 530, whereby Ephraim Audette and Philanise Audette his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to The Security Trust Company, mortgagee, all that tract, piece or parcel of land situate in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of section ten, in township one hundred and fifty north, of range forty-five west, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $547.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m., at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, and $25 Attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

SECURITY TRUST COMPANY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Mortgagee. [47-1]

The Farmers' Tribune

THE Best Newspaper.
THE Best Agricultural Paper
THE Best Editorials.

THE BEST MISCELLANEOUS READING.
THE BEST SKETCHE OF TRAVEL.
THE BEST ESSAYS AND SERMONS.

Should be read in every home in the Northwest.

LIBERAL PREMIUMS.

Each subscriber who pays arrearges and one year in advance, or each new subscriber who sends one dollar for one year's subscription between Feb. 15th and May 1st, 1893, will receive as a premium their choice of either

No. 1—12 Packages Vegetable Seed.
No. 2—12 Packages Flower Seeds.
No. 3—25 Strawberry Plants.
No. 4—1 Lb. Farmers' Tribune Pedigreed Seed corn.

Remember, $1.00 for the Farmers' Tribune one year, with choice of either of above premiums. Or the

POLK COUNTY JOURNAL
ONE YEAR
AND EITHER OF THE ABOVE PREMIUMS,
For $2.00.

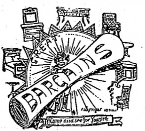
Address
THE JOURNAL,
Crookston, Minn.

A ◎ GOOD ◎ STORY

is as much the part of a Home Newspaper as the news. Therefore the choice fiction from leading writers constantly appearing in these columns.

If you are not a regular subscriber enter your subscription at once for

THE HOME PAPER



GREAT
BARGAINS
Come and see for Yourself.

A Neatly Furnished House

Is a joy and comfort to its possessor. In this glorious northwest none are too poor to have good furniture and comfortable fixtures for their home. We carry not only the most expensive furniture and house furnishings, but also a line of good, substantial, nice-looking goods, which we can sell at prices within the reach of all. We carry everything to be in a first-class furniture store, and we guarantee to undersell our competitors.

Scandia Furniture Co.
OPERA BLOCK,
Crookston, - - - Minn.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

Is the only line running

THROUGH PULLMAN CARS

—BETWEEN—

Chicago, St. Paul,
Minneapolis

—AND—

NORTH PACIFIC COAST POINTS.

THE DINING CAR LINE
Dining Cars on all through Trains.

THE YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
This marvellous Wonderland reached only by this line.

THE PEOPLE'S LINE
The people's highway from Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and West Superior to Winnipeg, Helena, Butte, Missoula, Spokane, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and Puget Sound.

THE TOURISTS' LINE
The popular line to reach Lakes Pend d' Orielle Cœur d' Alene, Kootenai, Chelan, the Hot Springs and Mountain Resorts of the Northwest and to Alaska.

DAILY EXPRESS TRAINS
Have Pullman Palace Cars, Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Free Colonist Sleeping Cars.

THROUGH TICKETS
Are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and West, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave Crookston	For St. Paul, Minneapolis Chicago, Duluth and West Superior. 7:12 p.m.
Daily	For Grand Forks, Grafton, Brandon and Winnipeg, 8:10 a.m.

For rates, maps, time tables, or special information, apply to

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.,
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn

SAAKE

Is still doing business at the old stand and selling

WATCHES,
CLOCKS
JEWELRY

CHEAPER
THAN EVER.

☞ WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. ☜

ROBERT STREET,
CROOKSTON, MINN,
C. H. SAAKE.

Schmidt, the Painter,

—CARRIES A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF—

PAINTS,
OILS AND VARNISHES

—ALSO A FULL AND COMPLETE LINE OF—

☞ WALL PAPER. ☜

Painting in all its branches, and Paper Hanging artistically done.

Call at the Shop on Broadway.

If you want a

STOVE OR RANGE

—FOR WOOD OR Coal, see the—

BRAND'S
FAMOUS
Stoves AND Ranges

FAMOUS
BRAND
STOVE

AT ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER'S.

They are the finest line of stoves ever brought to Crookston, and are sold at

REASONABLE PRICES.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPENS MAY 1ST.

Are You Going? If so be sure and take out a Membership Certificate in "The Chicago Entertainment Bureau."

It will save you Worry, Time and Money. Respectable and well located rooms at moderate prices guaranteed. Send for descriptive circulars to the

Minnesota and Dakota Headquarters, 618 AND 619 PIONEER PRESS BLDG., ST. PAUL,
N. T. HALL, Manager.

Partial List of References; HON. KNUTE NELSON, Gov. of Minnesota; HON. A. R. McGILL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; HON. W. R. MARSHALL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; RT. REV. W. N. GILBERT, Ass't Bishop, Diocese, Minn., and many other equally well known names.

Every Body Who Chews, Should Chew Climax Plug For it is so Much the Best

Sold everywhere. Made only by The P. Lorillard Co., The oldest tobacco manufacturers in America and the largest in the World.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leaves Crookston Daily	For St. Paul, Minneapolis, Superior, Ashland, Duluth, Chicago, and for all points South, East and West	at 7:12 p. m.
	For Grand Forks, Grafton, Pembina, Brandon, Winnipeg, and points north,	at 8:19 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN

Railway

TIME CARD.

MONTANA EXPRESS—Daily.

West				East
7:40 p m	De.	St Paul	Ar.	6:55 a m
2:50 a m	"	Fergus Falls	"	11:25 p m
4:47 a m	"	Glyndon	"	9:36 p m
7:20 a m	"	CROOKSTON	"	7:25 p m
8:40 a m	"	Grand Forks	"	6:20 p m
9:45 a m	"	Larimore	"	5:06 p m
2: 1 p m	"	Devils Lake	"	2:55 a m
7:00 p m	Ar.	Butte	De.	7:30 a m

ST. VINCENT BRANCH—Daily except Sunday

Depart 7:30 a m Arrive 6:30 p m

FOSSTON BRANCH—Daily, except Sunday.

Depart 8:00 a m Arrive 5:30 p m

ST. HILAIRE, Thief River and Red Lake Falls Branch—

Monday, Wednesday and Friday,

Depart 9:00 a m Arrive 6:50 p m

GRAND FORKS' ACCOMMODATION.

Arrive 9:50 a m Depart 7:55 p m

The scenic route to Spokane, Helena, and Butte on the west, and St. Paul, Minneapolis-Duluth and West Superior on the east. Dining and sleeping cars on all through trains. Tickets on sale to all principal places. Baggage checked through to destination.

W. W. FEGAN, Agent.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 53.
1 Northern 51.

Mrs. P. J. Russell is visiting friends in Dakota.

A shower—the first of the season, occurred on Sunday evening.

Mrs. P. J. McGuire has returned from a visit with friends below.

J. S. LaDue, of Fertile gave the JOURNAL a pleasant call last week.

Ripans Tabules cure dyspepsia.

Prof. Casey came in from Red Lake Falls on Tuesday night in time to rejoice with those who do rejoice.

Carl Reidesel has commenced the work of building upon the site of his burned building on Second street.

A. C. Schmidt was busy papering T. G. Thompson's place last week and now T. G. feels just too nice for anything.

The city treasury is richer in the sum of $8,000 which amount the county treasurer turned in last week on settlement with the city.

Ripans Tabules cure constipation.

Money to loan. Farm and city lots for sale. Please call at R. R. V. Loan and Investment Co., Opera Block, Crookston, Minn.

Charlie Sture has gone to Duluth to accept a situation in a large store there. Charlie is accompanied with the best wishes of many friends.

Engineer Fred Chapin was in the city last week looking for a house to rent. His run will be between Crookston and Devils Lake hereafter.

J. A. Goodrich arrived on Wednesday morning from Pelican Rapids on a visit to his uncle, Robert Cochrane whom he had not seen before in 16 years.

A meeting will be held in the city hall, Crookston, April 15th, for the purpose of discussing the question of building a normal school and business college in the city.

The Spider and Fly company failed to show up on Saturday evening as per advertisement. Delayed by a washout on the railroad. Manager Columbus thinks they may appear here some night this week.

If all the buildings projected for the coming summer are built, Crookston will see the liveliest building season she has ever seen. It is a little early yet to prophesy but the indications are good for a busy season.

This kind of weather will bring the seeding along shortly. If there is no change in the weather program seeding will be commenced about the usual time. Hick's predictions, however are against a favorable seed time.

And now for a few days oceans of mud will reign supreme no doubt, but in view of the past three months the change will be a most welcome one. Monday morning opened rainy and disagreeable but the afternoon was bright and pleasant as a poet's dream.

Did you know that Geo. Vine is in the business again? That's what and you will find him on deck at his old stand on Robert street ready to greet all his old customers and as many more as choose to come. Call and see George when you want a choice steak or roast or anything else in his line.

Judge Ives goes to Moorhead the last of next week for a short term of court on the week following.

Supt. Lommen: I wish you would announce that school directors wanting teachers should notify me as soon as possible. Those applying early will have the best choice.

The genial Fred Stauff was in the city last week calling on old friends. Fred is a resident of Superior in these days—that is when he is at home, but he is on the road mostly.

Ed. Martin who purchased the barber shop fixtures of Mr. Ralston, has a neat shop on Second street near Main. Ed. is an artist in his line and "Ed's Barbershop" is becoming popular.

C. A. Munson:—That little local of mine in your paper brought a couple of farmers twenty miles to see me. If you had given the advertisement a good position it might have brought them forty miles.

In speaking of our old-time friend, H. H. Phelps, formerly of Ada, Fred Reynolds said that Mr. Phelps is considered one of the brightest attorneys in Duluth and great things are expected of him all of which the JOURNAL is pleased to record.

C. K. Ingeberg left for Grand Forks on Sunday. He has been a resident of Crookston for seven years during all of which time he has been a member of the Congregational church choir. He goes to the Forks to accept a position with Luke & Barnes.

Ex-mayor Alex. Mc Kinnon went to St. Paul last week. They do say that his mission was political. The JOURNAL is informed that he tried on one of Marcus Johnson's shoes—while Marcus was in the city last week, just to see how they would fit.

Joe Winfield has engaged to work with Charlie Vine at the Second street market. Joe is a thoroughbred in his profession and will draw lots of trade. He understands how to give everybody the choicest cut and is never happy unless everything about him is as neat and clean as wax.

Warren Sheaf.—Tom Harris, the boss house mover of the Red River Valley, is moving the J. H. McArthur & Co., store building to the lot across the street just opposite to where it formerly stood. Lewis Westman has bought it and will use it for a drug store and dwelling, we understand.

A stranger upon our streets on Monday might not be blamed if he received the idea that a presidential election had struck the town. Men were standing about in little groups eagerly discussing the merits of their respective candidates all the same as though they were about to elect a president on the morrow.

P. S. Ware, of the Thief River Falls Press, was in the city over Sunday and of course did not forget to drop into our den to swap stories. By the way Paul has just been duly elected Justice of the Peace in his village and they do say that the number of young ladies who would like him to marry them is wonderful to behold.

Hon. H. Steenerson was in attendance at court in Hallock last week. One of the cases he was called upon to defend was that of the Schneider brothers, charged with stealing a large amount of money from a saloon man. They were to be tried separately, but as the jury in the first case found a verdict for defendant, the county attorney moved for dismissal in the remaining case, which was done.

Messrs. A. A. Olds and J. L. Lusian the artistic painters, returned Tuesday morning from Fertile, where they have finished some painting contracts. They did a handsome job of painting and papering on Peterson & Duckstad's saloon, and these gentlemen now have the finest resort in the village. Fertile has three saloons, with a license of $1000 each.

Warren Sheaf.—A flock of prairie chickens, a hundred or more, can be seen daily picking up grain about the Inter-state elevator in this city. They have become quite tame in the presence of the regular attendants at the elevator, but whenever a stranger comes near them, they at once take wing. Mr. W. W. Wood says that at first only a few came, and they were very shy, but the number has gradually increased. The deep snows, no doubt, forced them to leave their usual feeding places in search of food elsewhere.

W. H. Douglas who is just starting a bank at Hallock, Minn., was in the city Monday. Mr. Douglas has for the past four years been deputy state treasurer of North Dakota, is a good business man—popular wherever he goes—and as Hallock is a good point he is sure to make a success of the "Kittson County Bank." When Mr. Douglas landed in Hallock another banking institution was about to open up—had all their stationery bought and a building rented—but with the usual get-there quality of North Dakotans Mr. Douglas bought out the other fellow.

G. H. Fargo was down from Euclid Tuesday.

Miss Tillie E. Rauch has been on the sick list for a week past.

B. Tiedeman and H. Osterloh were in from Euclid on Wednesday.

J. F. Montgomery of Angus attended the theatre Tuesday night.

O. L. Larson of Fosston was in the city on Tuesday getting pointers on how we conduct elections.

There will be serious trouble if you don't overcome those dyspeptic symptoms. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine you need.

Miss Flora J. McDonald arrived from Bismarck on Tuesday on a visit to the family of her brother Dan, for a fortnight or so.

Tobias Valear arrived in the city on Wednesday morning. The JOURNAL is informed that he will try to re-open the land contest case that was decided against him recently.

C. A. Munson, the Manitoba & Northwestern Land Co's agent, who is trying to induce settlers to go to the British Northwest, claims to be meeting with some success here among people who cannot afford to buy the high-priced land of the Red River valley.

Elder S. S. Beaver, of McAllisterville, Juniatta Co., Pa., says his wife is subject to cramp in the stomach. Last Summer she tried Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhœa remedy for it, and was much pleased with the speedy relief it afforded. She has since used it whenever necessary and found that it never fails. For sale by S. A. Wallace, druggist, Crookston, Minn.

The many cases of rheumatism cured by Chamberlain's Pain Balm during the past few months have given the people great confidence in its curative properties, and have shown that there is one preparation that can be depended upon for that painful and aggravating disease. Honaker Bros., Lorain, Ohio, say: "Mr. Moses Price, of this place, was troubled with rheumatism for a long time. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has cured him. He says that the Balm has no equal." For sale by S. A. Wallace, druggist, Crookston, Minn.

P. M. Dauser who sold his photograph gallery recently, has had a gallery constructed on wheels, and has started on a trip to the neighboring towns and villages. Last Tuesday he loaded it on a car and started for Fertile. The gallery is nicely fitted up, has a little dressing room, dark room, good skylight, good instruments and an abundance of material for photographs. Mr. Dauser is noted for his good work and will be able to turn out first-class photographs from the "Queen photograph gallery."

Hood's pills act especially upon the liver, rousing it from torpidity to its natural duties, cure constipation and assist digestion.

My wife was confined to her bed for over two months with a severe attack of rheumatism. We could get nothing that would afford her any relief, and as a last resort gave Chamberlain's Pain Balm a trial. To our great surprise she began to improve after the first application, and by using it regularly she was soon able to get up and attend to her house work. E. H. Johnson, of C. J. Knutson & Co., Kensington, Minn. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, druggist, Crookston, Minn.

Grand Forks Plaindealer.—Yesterday afternoon Chief Hennessy returned from Crookston, having in charge William Mudget, accused of stealing a threshing machine. From Judge DeVoy he took a change of venue to Judge McLaughlin, and the case is on this afternoon. The defendant was remotely connected with the recent Ferris hay-stealing case and is said to have been a pupil of the Ferris gang. It is stated upon authority that if the threshing machine charge fails to stick, one which will hold is sure to be forthcoming. At two o'clock this afternoon a crowd of witnesses, attorneys and spectators invaded Judge McLaughlin's court. Before proceeding with the case, Attorney Bangs asked for an hour's continuance, as he had discovered a defect in the warrant for Mudget's arrest. It was granted and the case set for 3:45.

The more Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used the better it is liked. We know of no other remedy that always gives satisfaction. It is good when you first catch cold. It is good when your cough is seated and your lungs are sore. It is good in any kind of a cough. We have sold twenty-five dozen of it and every bottle has given satisfaction. Stedman & Friedman, druggists, Minnesota Lake, Minn. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist, Crookston, Minn.

A Card of Thanks.

We desire to express our heartfelt appreciation of the friends who came to us with loving hearts and hands, through the long winter of sickness and at the death of our dear mother and sister. Aside from those whose nearness to us in this bereavement has made them our own, we, especially desire to thank the W. R. C. the G. A. R. and the choir that so tenderly sung the sweet messages into our aching hearts. That you may all have the same tender sympathy in your hour of affliction, is the prayer of the children, sisters and brothers of Mrs. D. McLennan.

The sale of the Barnes & Slocum stock was the event of the day on Friday. The stock was bid off by W. S. Stockdale, of Grand Forks, for $3475. The JOURNAL is informed that W. E. Slocum will have charge until the goods are disposed of.

Charlie Misner went up the line to visit relatives on Tuesdaay.

A. A. Miller went down to Ada on Monday as referee in a case.

Look out for bargains at the Crookston Grocery Co's store on Robert street. See big ad elsewhere.

The Crookston Grocery Co., will be ready to offer unheard of bargains in a few days; at the old stand of Barnes & Slocum on Robert street.

Fred Reynolds arrived from Duluth on Monday morning for a few days visit with old friends in the city. Fred looks as natural as in the days when he was a resident of Crookston.

Geo. Vine has purchased the Barnes & Slocum meat market has refitted and refurnished it throughout and opens out in first-class style. Everybody knows that George is a thoroughbred in his line and his many friends will be glad to see him on deck again.

The LeBrandt entertainment at the opera house on Tuesday evening was well attended and highly enjoyed. The little Irene captured the audience by her inimitable songs and dances. Should the company return at no distant day they will probably be greeted with a crowded house.

It is rumored that J. B. Holmes has secured sufficient backing in New York to push his road from Duluth to the Red River Valley to completion at the earliest practicable moment and that work will begin at once. If this be true it means three roads giving Polk county direct communication with the head of the great lakes before another winter sets in.

A Rare Treat in the Near Future.

Miss Theo. U. Irvine, an elocutionist of high order, will give an entertainment at the M. E. Church on Monday evening, April 10th. She comes highly recommended and no one should fail to hear her. Admission, adults 25 cents, children 15 cents.

The Northern Pacific railroad, makes reduction in rates to Mankato for the annual meeting of the Minnesota Sunday School Association to be held at Mankato, Minn., April 4th to 6th inclusive. We will a make rate of fare and one-third on certificate plan from points in Minnesota, subject to an attendance of one hundred.

C. A. SHARKEY,
Agent.

Of Interest to Horse Breeders.

It is evident that the breeders of this vicinity are taking advantage of the low service fee charged for Ham Nut this season and are booking their mares ahead of the usual time. Among the mares already booked ahead is Jessie Green, record 2:26, owned by J. H. Brannon, of Millbank, S. D. Jessie is a great mare, as she obtained her record last fall at Brainerd, Minn., in the fourth heat of a race, and won the next two heats and race. Mr. Brannan thought so well of Ham Nut when he saw him perform, last fall, that he left Jessie here to be bred to him. On October 9th, 1892, Mr. Brannon drove Ham Nut the first time hitched to a sulky a quarter in 44 seconds, a 2:56 gait, and October 10th, the next day, the second time hitched to a sulky, Mr. L. I. Martin, of Farmington, Minn., drove him a quarter in 42¾ seconds, a 2:51 gate with a six ounce shoe forward and 3 ounce behind, and not a strap or a sign of a boot or toe weight anywhere. This shows that it is not so much training that colts want, but more trotting blood of the right kind and natural speed.

It is not only that Ham Nut is very handsome in form and color, or that he can show a great flight of natural speed at the trot, but a single glance at his pedigree will show that he is bred in the most desirable blood lines of the present day. Being sired by Some Day, a son of the great Nutwood 2:18¾, the greatest living sire, the sire of 103 with records of 2:30 or better. No other horse living has so many 2:30 performances as Nutwood, and Ham Nut's dam comes from the same blood lines that produced Nut-Wood. As a tabulation of his pedigree will show, he has five crosses to Hambletonian 10, and three to Abdalah 15, the sire of Belmont 64, and he the sire of Nutwood. Breeders should take notice of this important fact that like begets like, or the likeness of some ancestor. It is for this reason that we have great confidence in Ham Nut's future. First, that he is one of the handsomest of his great family, with a kind disposition and a level head; second, he shows great natural speed and stamina; third, a pedigree which could not possibly be any better. So, take it all in all, why should we not expect him to develop into a great race horse and a great sire of race horses. This is the first opportunity that our breeders in this section have had to get the services of such a promising young stallion as Ham Nut at a service fee as low as $35 the season, with a return privilege in 1894. He is entered in the 3-year-old colt stake-race at our coming fair. We will also do everything in our power to develop him and keep him sound, and breed him to the best mares we can possibly get. We will also give $500 to the owner of the first colt that trots in 2:30 or paces in 2:25 by either of our stallions. We also have Rose Valley Chief, 15,481, a son of Blackwood, Jr., 2:22½, the great show horse; he by Blackwood 74, the handsomest stallion in the world in his day, sold for $30,000. Rose Valley Chief's dam is by Administrator 2:29½, and Administrator is regarded by all intelligent breeders as one of Hambletonian 10, best sons, and ranks among the best of great brood mare sires. It is only a matter of a little time when our patrons will be fully convinced of the fact that we have made no mistake in the selection of the above named animals, and they will be cheerfully shown to any one by Dr. J. Warninger, veterinary surgeon, manager of the Red River Valley Trotting Horse Breeding Stables, Crookston, Minn.

TERMS OF SERVICE.

Ham Nut, 16,797, $35 for the season with return priviledge in 1894 if mare does not prove in foal money due at the time of first service or before removal of mare. Rose Valley Chief, 15,481, $25 to insure mares with foal. Money due when mare proves to be in foal.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Dreaming of Crows.

To dream you see a crow signifies expedition of business; if you hear them croaking unpleasantly while they are flying it is a sign of ill luck. If you see in your dream the crow flying on to the head of a child it will be in danger of some misfortune.—All the Year Round.

CHOICE ✣ ✣ STORIES

like the one published in this issue are a feature with this Home Newspaper. You should see to it at once that you

Do Not Miss a Number.

The World's Fair.

Three weeks from next Monday the World's Columbian Exposition will be formally opened at Chicago. The ceremonies will be graced by the presence of the most distinguished people in America, and as for the exhibition itself, it will be the greatest the world has ever seen. There may seen the greatest triumphs of art and science, and all nations will bring of their choicest and best for the millions to wonder at. To have seen—and that means to give your daily attendance for at least two weeks—such an exhibition will be equal to years of travel and the reading of thousands of books. The visit will be an education of itself—to people who have eyes and use them. Of course you are going—but have you planned the how and when? As to the time, your own convenience must determine that, but as to the how, you will never regret it if you select the Burlington Route as your line in going to and from Chicago. The smoothest track, the fastest time, the best accommodations, the most careful management, assure the perfect safety and comfort of the passenger. Ask your home ticket agent for tickets to Chicago by this route, or write to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

FREE HOMESTEADS

In the Saskatchewan Valley.

160 acres free to all males over 18 years of age in the beautiful Saskatchewan valley, where wheat goes 40 bushels to the acre and potatoes 600 bushels, and hay cuts from three to four tons an acre. Plenty of timber for buildings, fencing and fuel. First-class soil and water. Good railroad facilities. Fine climate and good markets and where taxes are only for school purposes. For full information apply to

C. A. MUNSON,
Colonization Agent,
Commercial Hotel. Crookston.

RED RIVER VALLEY

LOAN AND INVESTMENT COMPANY.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON REAL ESTATE.

FARMS AND LANDS
For Sale in nearly all
the Towns of Polk
County.

CITY LOTS

In Crookston and Thief River Falls.

List your Lands and Lots with us and effect quick sales.

OFFICE IN OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.

A. G. GALLASCH, Pres.
J. W. WHEELER, Vice Pres.
W. H. MATHEWS, 1st Vice Pres.
A. F. GEORGE, Sec.
O. H. LUCKEN, Treasurer.

WE ARE NOT DOING

Much Blowing

At this time of the year, and it is not bragging to say that

OUR MAMMOTH STOCK

was never more complete than this spring, and that you can find no greater bargains in the city than we are giving. There is an old saying to the effect that

"THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING IS IN CHEWING THE STRING."

This applied to the old-fashioned steamed Indian Pudding that was put in a bag and tied with a string, which string no doubt retained enough of the pudding to furnish a sufficient sample.

We don't claim to have a "string" on the public, but it is a fact that when a man once comes into our store and taades he always comes again. As the pudding was supposed to speak for itself, so our goods speak for themselves every time.

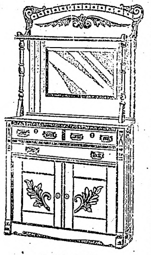
☞ YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED.

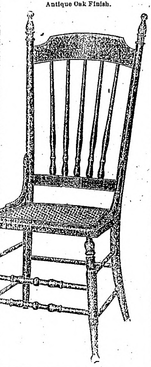
FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

Polk County Journal.

VOL. XVI. CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, APRIL 13, 1893. NO. 52

Historical Society





Crookston Furniture Co.

FURNITURE, CARPETS, BURIAL SUPPLIES.

$1.35.
Antique Oak Finish.

$19.50.
Solid Oak,
Large Glass,
Plush-lined Drawers.

8-ft. Oak Table,
42x42, only
$7.90.

OFFICIAL DIRECTORY.

State.
Governor	Knute Nelson.
Lieutenant Governor	David M. Clough.
Secretary of State	F. P. Brown.
Attorney General	H. W. Childs.
Congressional.
Member of Congress, 7th Dist.	Haldor E. Boen,
Legislative.
Senator, 51st Sen. Dist.	E. E. Lommen.
Representatives, 51st Sen. Dist.	John D. Knuteson, B. M. Chesley and Hans Juelson.
Judicial.
Associate Justices Supreme Court	Thomas Canty, Daniel Buck, Wm. Mitchell and Loren W. Collins.
Judge 14th Jud. District	Frank Ives.
Clerk of Court	Nils Muus.
County.
Auditor	C. U. Webster
Treasurer	J. T. Beaudry
Register of Deeds	John Amundson
Attorney	A. R. Holston
Sheriff	Arny Grundysen
Judge of Probate	C. M. Benson
Supt. of Schools	A. A. Lommen
Surveyor	O. L. Hamery
Court Com'r	W. H. Averill
Coroner	Henry Shepard
County Commissioners.
First District	John E. Oppegaard
Second District	Anton Linden
Third District	M. E. Kirsch
Fourth District	C. P. Demers
Fifth District	A. C. Rhinehart

Wanted.

A girl to learn millinery. Apply at Miss Veronneau's store on Second street.

The Crookston Belle—Kœppe's new cigar, is as fine as silk. Try it.

Viava remedies for sale by Mrs. John Wyatt, sole agent for Polk county, Sano, sure cure for piles. I. O. O, F. block. [39-tf]

For Sale.

One pair of good farm mares and two or three extra good, new milch cows. For further particulars address.

[49-2] F. BIVINS & SON,
Crookston, Minn.

For Sale.

Eight choice young cows, two-thirds Jersey and one-third Holstein, from three to five years old; will be new milch cows in April. Will sell for cash or bankable paper due November 1st. Address.

E. LANCTOT,
[49-52] Crookston, Minn.

Sells for Cash.

Charles Vine has adopted the cash system at his meat markets and also adopted cash prices. He sells the choicest cuts at lowest rates—and sells for cash only. Markets on Broadway and Second street. [48-tf]

Fits.

All fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St. Phila., Pa. For sale by all druggists; call on yours.

Don't forget my feed mill—feed ground every week day during February either for cash or trade at rate of one sack for seven or ⅛ bushel per bushel ground. Special contract for large quantities. Call on me. W. H. NORRIE,
Successor to Priester & Co.,
Corner Main and Third streets.

COUGHING LEADS TO CONSUMPTION
Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

For Sale at a Discount.

A scholarship in the Crookston Business College. Apply at the JOURNAL office. [10 t.f.]

The Great Northern road has set a good example by putting a carload of gravel on the crosswalk from the depot platform to the Fair Department store. It is said that they intend to fill in the street with gravel as soon as they can get to it.

W. E. Slocum is now ready for business at the Crookston grocery store. Everything looks as slick as a new whistle.

Eight leading nationalities will be represented at the World's Supper. Artistic decorations, rich costumes and elaborate menus are being provided.

The Mediterranean Flower display at the World's Supper will add beauty and fragrance to what promises to be a brilliant affair.

W. D. Wilson: "You might say that business at the Fair is booming this spring. Never better at this time of the year."

A. C. Schmidt will put "California Winehouse" in gold letters upon T. G. Thompson's front windows.

Having completed the work of painting, papering and oiling his floor T. G. Thompson now has his place fixed up in elegant shape and now daily expects the arrival of a large oil painting from the California Winehouse, St. Paul, which will remain for a time then be substituted for another one until he has had the entire set owned by that house upon exhibition. These pictures are gems of art some of them 6x12 feet and have long been a feature at the California Winehouse in St. Paul. He has received notice that the first one has been shipped and is now daily expecting its arrival. He extends a hearty invitation to all of his friends to call and examine the painting.

Will Lycan, C. C. McGowran, I. E. Watson, E. T. Dunn, Miss Jessie Lycan and Miss Gertie Griffin, of Grand Forks, spent the Sabbath in the city returning home on Monday morning.

Weak stomach strengthened by Beecham's Pills.

Business Opening.

For sale on easy terms a well established and paying business in the city of Crookston. Good reasons given for retiring. Address No. 8 care of "JOURNAL" office Crookston. (52-5)

Farmers,

I am now making arrangements to buy wood from you. Call on me and we can agree. W. H. NORRIE,
Wood yard corner Main and Third streets, Crookston. [48-3]

Swedish Lutheran Jubilee.

Northern Pacific make reduced rates to Minneapolis, for the Swedish Lutheran Jubilee Festival, to be held at Minneapolis, May 22nd and 23rd, we make rate of fare and one-third on certificate plan, provided there are one hundred or more in attendance, who have paid full fare on the going trip.

C. A. SHARLEY,
Agent.

Commissioners Proceedings.

The Minutes of the last Meeting of the County Board.

The Board Resolves not to take Advantage of the Seed-grain bill.

All members present. A. C. Rhinehart took his seat as Commissioner of the Fifth district.

Reading of minutes of the regular and first meeting of the board was dispensed with.

The seed-grain lien entered against the sw¼, sec. 17, tp. 151, r. 43, on the tax roll for 1891, was ordered transferred to the tax book of 1892, and the same assessed against Moses Allard of Gervais township.

A. C. Rhinehart was named on the county committees in place of Mr. Anderson.

The motion of Oppegaard to refund such portion of the taxes paid for 1892 on account of assessments for wheat in Knute township by Lillemoe and others received no second.

The amounts due on account of seed grain loans of 1889, by A. D. Berry of Louisville, John Beland, Geo. Charest of Lambert, Phileas Delaire of fourth district, O. P. Stubson of Winger, C. C. Carlson of Bray, John Quisnell of Grove Park, Moses Allard of Gervais, was extended till the parties agreeing to waive any possible rights of protest for its future collection.

Sections 4, 5, 8, 9, 16 and 17, township 149, range 48, was organized into a new school district and given number 39.

The amount of $35 was appropriated out of the road and bridge fund to Hammond township for the building of a bridge over a coolie in the nw¼, section 17.

The petition of D. D. Hawes and others for the organization of a new school district was laid over.

The assessment of $100 to Rev. Battey in City of Crookston, was ordered stricken from the assessment roll.

The assessment of Paul Jones in Bygland township was ordered cancelled, as he appears to have been assessed and taxes paid thereon in Huntsville township.

The amount of $15 was appropriated to Louisville township to repair the ferry at Huot in said township.

Section 36, township 154, range 50, and section 1, township 153, range 50 was attached to school district No. 196, the same being located in unorganized territory.

Hearing granted and set for next meeting of the board in the matter of the following undivided school petitions:

From Austin Welte, asking to detach e½ nw¼ sw¼, section 21, township 148, range 39, from district number 155, and attached to district number 8.

From Carl T. Molstad, asking to detach se¼, section 21, township 147, range 39, from district number 155 and attached to district number 8.

From John Stad, asking to detach the ne¼ section 21, township 147, range 39, from district number 155 and attached to district number 8.

From M. Enje, asking to detach the nw¼ of the ne¼ and the n½ of nw¼, section 28, township 147, range 39 from district number 155 and attached to district number 8.

Said notices of hearing to be posted by or at the expense of the petitioners above named.

The bond of A. Kaiser as surveyor of logs and lumber in the seventh district was accepted and ordered filed.

Petition of Eustache Rayment and others for an appropriation to build a bridge across Black river in Louisville township was laid over.

The taxes levied against lot 5, block 2, Clements' addition to City of Crookston, for years 1890, 1891 and 1892 was ordered cancelled.

The appropriation of $325 made at a previous meeting for repairing the bridge in section 2, Grand Forks township was on motion of Rhinehart reconsidered and the appropriation cancelled.

The Judge of probate was allowed to continue his office in the business portion of the city, and authorized to select his own quarters at an expense not to exceed $14 per month.

On motion of Commissioner Rhinehart $100 was appropriated to repair the bridge in sections 1 and 2, township 152, range 50, the money to be expended under the supervision of the commissioner of the fifth district.

The petition of H. P. Johnson and others of Hill River, Nere A. Skele and others of Eden, Nels H. Lofthus and others of Sletten township, and the petition of the supervisors of Winger township for road and bridge appropriations were referred to commissioner Oppegaard for him to report at next meeting.

On motion of commissioner Lindem $200 was appropriated to aid Bygland township in building two bridges across a coolie in section 16 said township.

The board accepted the offer of T. B. Walker to pay over to the treasurer of Polk county $800 as settlement in full for damages sustained by the county bridges at East Grand Forks and Mallory, caused by Mr. Walker's logs.

Commissioner Kirsch reported having collected $428.27 from the state, being the amount expended by Polk county in 1891 to exterminate grasshoppers. He also reported having collected $35 from the state as the amount advanced by the commissioners in defraying funeral expenses of Louis Zange, a member of Col. Cobham Post.

The correspondence from secretary Hart of the board of correction and charities was laid on the table.

The taxes paid by the Clearwater lodge of Red Lake Falls for 1892 was ordered refunded.

The committee, (Messrs Kirsch and Lindem,) to examine the Mallory bridge reported that the water had nearly washed out the north pier of the bridge, and the committee deemed it necessary to build a wing pier, and had awarded the contract for the erection of the same to James McStraith for $350.

The report was adopted.

Messrs. Kirsch, Demers and Oppegaard, the committee appointed to examine the bridge over the Red Lake river at Red Lake Falls, reported that the piling under said bridge was in a rotten condition, and that they had decided to put in new piling.

The cost of the work was as follows:

C. P. DeMers, 39 piles	$ 300 00
W. M. Cyr, 18 days work	27 00
Moses Belair, 20 days work	30 00
Peter Beautron, 23½ days work	47 00
Jas. Smith & Co., 2 barrels salt and 53 days work	83 00
James Lee, 16¼ days work	24 88
Theodore Schmite 14¼ days work, fuse and powder	22 93
W. Findleson, blacksmithing	50 11
P. & J. Meehan, lumber	259 11
Alex Daoust, 10¼ days work	25 02
T. G. Geer, 17¼ days work	13 12
Baptist Rosial, 10¾ days work	5 75
Hunt & Wyer, hardware	59 00
I. Marchildon, 14¼ days work with team and 4 days without	55 87
W. Marin, 82 days work and other disbursements	161 00
Desire Houlle, 5½ days work	8 25
Total	$1212.14

On motion the report was adopted.

The assessment of the vacated portion of St. Hilaire townsite for 1892, and the assessment of the unpaid portion of said addition for the years 1887 and 1889 was reduced to 50 per cent, and the interest due on the 1887 taxes abated.

The county auditor was requested to issue notices of hearing on the petition of H. Gilbertson and others, asking for the laying out of a county road from Poplar river township to Erskine.

The assessment of Thos. Crampe of Red Lake Falls was ordered stricken from the assessment book.

A correction in the assessment of George Useldinger of Belgium township was ordered to be made as prayed for.

The assessment on account of a mortgage to Geo. Labissionere in the village of Red Lake Falls was ordered to be corrected as prayed for.

The application of W. Wood for a correction of his assessment in village of Fisher was rejected.

The board declined to take any action of the communication of J. A. Duffy, of Red Lake Falls.

The deputy county auditor presented a report of his investigation as to the status of school books in the hands of the different agencies of the county, which report was read and accepted.

The board refused to grant the request of A. McEachran to authorize the county auditor to issue a duplicate of a warrant which was claimed to be lost.

The bills of W. E. McKenzie, F. J. Duffy and C. T. Lanman, were allowed conditioned that they shall prove to be correct in so far as they relate to the number of folios charged for the financial statement, to be referred to and computed by the state printer, and also as to the number of descriptions charged for in the delinquent tax list, which task of counting same was referred to Commissioner Oppegaard.

The board determined by a vote of 3 to 2 (ayes; Kirsch, Linden and Rhinehart; nays, Oppegaard and DeMers) not to avail themselves of the privileges contained in a recent bill passed by the legislature for the purpose of aiding certain counties that were visited by hail during the season of 1892, the majority of the board stating their reasons for so voting as follows:

First, The bill is considered unconstitutional in that it declares the seed grain loan to take precedence over any and all incumbrances.

Second, That the bill does not attempt to secure the county for the liability which the county assumes to the state.

Third, That the applications on file are not in proper form, nor in compliance with the bill, and fail in in particular to state whether or not the land is encumbered.

Fourth. That the county is at present indebted to the state of Minnesota in the amount of between four and five thousand dollars for seed grain furnished under the seed-grain law of 1889, which the taxpayers of this county will eventually have to pay.

The board further directed that the clerk of each township having applications on file be informed of the action taken by the board in this matter.

The petition of residents in Fisher, Lowell, Nesbit and Fanny townships suggesting the establishing of a ditch in said townships was referred back, the petitioners having failed to state what action is desired of the board.

On motion of Commissioner Kirsch the board resolved to meet as a committee after the adjournment of the session to go over the tax books in the hands of the county treasurer, and to cancel such delinquent personal taxes as they shall deem uncollectible, or in cases where the expense of collecting the same will be largely in excess of the amount to be collected.

The following bills were audited and allowed:

Louis Huot, receiving ballots for Louisville township	$ 3 40
Knute Balli, election returns from Liberty township	4 00
Adolph Plante, constable fees	15 90
O. Vaule, three days witness fees	8 52
A. Grunderson, cleaning jail vault	28 00
Swan Swanson, witness fees	8 52
Caroline Marcill, witness fees	2 65
David Johnson, witness fees	9 76
J. W. Galloway, witness fees	9 76
Joel Togelberg, witness fees	8 52
P. H. Peterson, witness fees	8 53
M. E. Randkler, witness fees	8 52
John Hillestad, witness fees	9 76
John A. Lusty, witness fees	8 52
Peter Bugge, witness fees	8 28
Levi S. Meyers, witness fees	10 20
Halvor Larson, witness fees	2 56
Rosa Jalicoure, witness fees	1 12
E. B. West, constable fees	1 60
Geo. Bratt, constable fees	5 80
James F. Holmes, justice fees	11 45
Gust Holt, 4 days witness fees	9 79
Knute Rieveson, 4 days witness fees	9 76
R. Martinson, witness fees	6 12
A. Brouillette, witness fees	1 12
O. H. Rystad, witness fees	3 36
O J. Vaule, witness fees	6 40
Mrs. A. Brouillette, witness fees	1 10
Christ. Bugge, witness fees	2 63
Medard Marcille, witness fees	2 65
Mary Louise Marcille, witness fees	2 65
Joel Togelberg, witness fees	1 12
J. W. Kelly, witness fees	1 65
Geo. I. Holt, constable fess	3 95
E. B. West, constable fees	11 68
J. W. Kelly, constable fees	5 60
Knute H. Rollag, constable fees	1 50
Hugh Dingley, constable fees	15 08
John Vig, justice fees	2 35
C. Widenhoefer, justice fees	1 80
A. A. Lommen, express and postage	5 95
Wm. Watts, attorney's fees	50 00
Alex Thompson, jailor's fees	2 12
W. S. Russell, map of East Grand Forks	5 00
A. McEachran, medical service bill for $78 allowed at	50 00
J. L. Lusiau, interpreter fees	1 12
A. Sture, clothing for prisoners	6 55
Paul King, nursing diphtheria cases	17 00
Barnes & Slocum, merchandise	4 20
Hertz & Roberts, laundry for hospital	18 17
Oliver Mercil, groceries for hospital	34 47
Amanda Grover, work at hospital	20 50
Barnes & Slocum, lamp for hospital	1 55
W. Cunningham, milk for hospital	9 00
A. Chabot, dry goods for hospital	8 12
Mrs. A. J. Streeter, 50 pounds of tea for hospital	12 50
R. G. Woodham, burial supplies	5 00
P. McPhee, 340 pounds pork	29 75
Mrs. A. M. Freeman, services at hospital	40 00
John Hillestad, unloading one car jail material, for account Diebold safe Co.	11 00
A. Halverson, board and lodging for Fretz Klay	2 50
C. O. Christianson, 1 day drawing jurors	3 12
Nils Muus, stamps and express	9 36
Dr. Nils Nilson, services in diphtheria cases	15 00
Job Dougherty, hauling wood	50
John Amundson, postage and recording	46 65
W. H. Norrie, wood for county jail	72 50
Brown, Treacy & Co., rubber stamps, blanks and judgement books	50 20
C. H. Denniston, amputing toes of Aug. Gustafson	120 00
C. H. Denniston, attendance on Jarrett	5 00
Fontaine & Anglim, dry goods	17 79
C. S. Spendley, justice fees	14 50
J. S. Dyer, justice fees	7 49
John Vig, justice fees	2 55
Arny Grundysen, boarding prisoners	289 68
Arny Grundysen, sheriff's fees	219 28
M Cornelius, witness fees in justice court	1 12
M. Cornelius, expenses visiting text book agents	24 78
C. P. DeMers, commissioners fees and mileage	137 54
Anton Lindem, commissioners fees and mileage	63 80
M. E. Kirsch, commissioners fees and mileage	77 60
J. E. Oppegaard, commissioners fees and mileage	39 30
A. C. Rhinehart, commissioners fees and mileage	17 60
C. U. Webster, postage and express	28 05
Pioneer Press Company, seal	8 00
Brown, Treacy & Co., books, bills of $201.85 allowed at	181 85

Bills from Eugene Blackburn, K. O. Rategard, J. H. Dalen, John Tinke and J. S. Dyer were returned for correction.

The board then passed the following resolution:

Resolved, that whereas Polk county has by its commissioners this day decided not to accept any aid from the state in the matter of furnishing money by the state for the purchase of seed wheat, we, the board of county commissioners, of said county, do therefore request that the members of the legislature of this district use their best efforts to secure the passage of the bill now pending before the legislature to cancel the debt due from said county to the state of Minnesota on account of money advanced under the seed-grain law of 1889 and;

Be it further resolved, that whereas the said county has been visited by hail for the past three years causing great damage to our crops and loss to our people, we believe that justice demands that the bill to cancel said debt should become a law.

Board then adjourned to meet May 15th.

They Should Start a Museum.

East Grand Forks Courier: The county commissioners of Grand Forks county, N. D., have a white elephant on their hands. A few days ago an unmarried woman in Grand Forks gave birth to a male child, which in appearance resembles a monkey. The head is that of a monkey, and a growth of fine hair covers its body. The mother refused to nurse the child, and threatened to kill it if brought within her reach. The mother declined to disclose the name of the child's father, and while still under the doctor's care secretly made her escape to an east-bound train for St. Paul. The county commissioners have the child, and are quite anxious to learn who the father is.

Sailed the Seas 38 Years.

Capt. A. P. Loud is a prominent resident of Hampden, Me. For 38 he sailed the seas, and upon retiring from that calling was appointed by the U. S. government to superintend its interests in the Alaska seal fisheries, a position he held five years. In speaking of his experience he says: "For several years I was greatly troubled with nervousness and pain in the region of the heart. It was almost impossible for me to get rest and sleep. Physicians from New York to San Francisco did me no good, but Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Heart Cure speedily and completely cured me. I owe my present excellent health to them.

East Grand Forks Election.

The following are the officers elected in East Grand Forks for the ensuing year:

Mayor—T. A. Sullivan.
Treasurer—C. Madson.
Justice—Alex. Robinson.
Constable—J. P. Ripple.
Aldermen—John O'Leary, John A. Mundigel, J. H. Hiler, Paul Hogen.

What For?

The Daily News of Grand Forks says:

"At the Clarendon, Representative Johnson, of Polk county, is quartered and by the way, Johnson is one of the most conscientious workers in the legislature. He is a credit to Polk county."

What has representative Johnson got to do with Polk county anyhow?

A Memorable Week.

The week of April 15th, 1861, and the same week in 1865, will be ever memorable to us on account of as important events as any in the history. At 4:30 in the morning of April 12th, 1861, the secessionists of South Carolina, by command of Gen. Beauregard, fired on Fort Sumter, in Charleston harbor. The first shot woke the people of the North to a gignatic and deadly struggle four years long. That shot was the death knell of legalized human slavery in the United States. April 9th, 1865, Gen. Lee surrendered the army of Virginia to Gen. Grant, and that was the virtual end of the great war for the Union. The surrender at Appomattox is one of the great mile-stones in the world's history. A few days after this event came the assassination of the great Lincoln. Were not these truly memorable weeks? A memorable time to you, too, was when you took your first railroad ride—especially if it was on the Burlington Route, one of the most extensive and best equipped railroad systems in the United States, reaching all principal cities in ten of the greatest Western states. For tickets, maps and rates, call on any agent of the Burlington Route or address, W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

FREE HOMESTEADS

In the Saskatchewan Valley.

160 acres free to all males over 18 years of age in the beautiful Saskatchewan valley, where wheat goes 40 bushels to the acre and potatoes 600 bushels, and hay cuts from three to four tons an acre. Plenty of timber for buildings, fencing and fuel. First-class soil and water. Good railroad facilities. Fine climate and good markets and where taxes are only for school purposes. For full information apply to

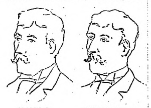
C. A. MUNSON,
Colonization Agent,
Commercial Hotel. Crookston.

PICTURES BY TELEGRAPH.

Professor Gray's Invention That Will Send Facsimiles by Wire.

Though most people have become accustomed to say that they would not be surprised at any new electrical invention, however marvelous, it is doubtful if the world was any better prepared for the advent of the telautograph than it was for the phonograph when it came, and when everybody and his big brother considered it a hoax. That a man would ever be able to sit down in his private office and draw a diagram or a picture with an ordinary lead lencil or write a message which should be reproduced in facsimile hundreds of miles away by electricity seemed quite as improbable as it once did that the sound of a voice talking in New York could be heard in Boston or Chicago. Yet the telautograph will enable him to do that very thing.

The new instrument is the invention of Professor Elisha Gray, who claims that he invented the telephone, though Professor Alexander Graham Bell was granted the patent, for which both men applied on the same day. His experience with the telephone has led him to be very careful with the telautograph, and he has guarded his new invention by filing nearly 400 claims in the patent office. He invented the musical telephone and the harmonic telegraph, by which eight different messages can be sent over one wire at the same time, but he considers the telautograph the crowning achievement of a life largely devoted to electrical inventions.



ORIGINAL. REPRODUCTION.

The construction of the telautograph is very simple. It consists of a transmitter and receiver at each end of the wire, whatever is written at one end of the circuit being reproduced in facsimile at the other, and the sender and receiver each having a copy of every message and reply. The transmitter is an ordinary lead pencil, with two silk cords fastened at right angles to each other near its point. These cords connect with the instrument, follow the motions of the pencil and regulate the motions of the pen on the distant receiving instrument as well as on that beside the operator who sends the message. The receiving pen is a capillary glass tube placed at the junction of two aluminium arms and is supplied with ink through a small rubber tube. A roll of ordinary paper five inches wide is attached to the machine and is shifted mechanically at the transmitter and electrically at the receiver.

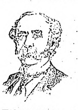
The electricity coming over the wire moves the pen of the receiver simultaneously with the movements of the pencil in the hand of the operator, and an ink tracing is left as the pen passes over the paper which is always a facsimile of the sender's motions.

TWO NEW COMMISSIONERS.

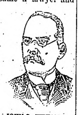
Wade Hampton and John S. Seymour Receive Important Federal Offices.

President Cleveland continues to scatter his favors in office, giving among all sections of his party and country, appointing one and disappointing ten, as presidents have had to do from the start. Wade Hampton, soldier and senator in turn, is made commissioner of railroads, and John S. Seymour of Connecticut commissioner of patents, while other equally good offices go to the far west and far south in turn.

The appointment of Wade Hampton probably excites most comment and gives much satisfaction in his section, for, though 75 years old, he is still in the full vigor of intellect, enjoying excellent health and genial to an unusual degree, looking upon life without asperity and expressing his views with all the optimism of youth. To give his biography and military career would be superfluous. Suffice it that he was born in Columbia, S. C., in 1818, was graduated from the state university, became a lawyer and served with distinction in the state legislature before the war. His subsequent career as general, governor and senator is well known.



WADE HAMPTON.



JOHN S. SEYMOUR.

In the national senate General Hampton had an experience probably without precedent. As chairman of the committee on military affairs he made 500 reports, and not one of them was acted upon adversely by the senate. He entered that body in 1877 under peculiar circumstances, which excited much bitterness, yet left it in 1891 with the warm personal regard of every one of his political opponents. Indeed no senator of either party maintained more pleasant personal relations. In appearance he combines the venerable and the genial. His snow white hair and whiskers, with his broad brimmed hat, give him quite a patriarchal appearance.

At the other end of the country, as well as of the list, so far as being noted goes, is John S. Seymour, the newly named commissioner of patents. He is a lawyer some 40 years of age and a resident of Norwalk, Conn. Two years ago he was elected to the state senate, which was his first public service. Recently he was appointed insurance commissioner for the state. In national affairs he is an absolutely new man.

The Egypt of Today.

Imagine a people the most docile and good tempered in the world in the grip of a religion the most intolerant and fanatical. Imagine this people and this faith, congenial in nothing but their conservatism, flung into the maelstrom of European restlessness and innovation. Imagine a country full of turbulent foreigners, whom its police cannot arrest except flagrante delicto, whom its courts cannot try except for the most insignificant offenses.

Imagine the government of this country unable to legislate for these foreigners without the consent of a dozen distant powers, most of them indifferent and some ill disposed. Imagine it carrying on its principal business in a foreign tongue which yet is not the tongue of the predominant foreign race. Imagine it struggling to meet the clamorous growing needs of today with a budget rigorously fixed according to the minimum requirements of the day before yesterday.

Imagine the decrees of this government liable to be set at naught by courts of its own creation. Imagine its policy really inspired and directed by the envoy of a foreign state, who in theory is only one—and not even the doyen—of a large number of such envoys and the chief administrative power wielded by a man who in theory is a mere "adviser without executive functions." Yes, imagine all these things and then realize that they are no "Mikado" like invention of comic opera, no nightmare of some constitutional theorist with a disordered brain, but prosaic, solid fact—an unvarnished picture of the political Egypt of to-day.—"England in Egypt."

Slept Fifty-seven Years.

Irving's "Rip Van Winkle" is believed to have its foundation in the wonderful story which Pliny relates concerning the extraordinary experience of a shepherd named Epimenides. The scene is laid in Crete, the time summer, and Epimenides a boy of some 15 years. During the very warmest part of the day he found that some of the sheep were missing and at about the same time heard prolonged bleatings from the almost inaccessible portions of a neighboring mountain. He grasped his crook and started off in the direction of the sounds. The path was a very difficult one to travel over, the day hot, so that long before he reached the stray sheep he was so overcome with fatigue that he lay down in a dry place in a cool cavern to sleep. He slept, so Pliny gravely informs us, 57 years.

At last when he had finally managed to shake off the terrible lethargy that had held him spellbound for more than half a century, he returned to the herd only to find a brother younger than himself a tottering, gray haired grandfather. That "ill wind" proverb is very appropriate in this case, for we find the Epimenides' enforced slumbers had endowed him with miraculous powers. He became a great epic poet and Gnostic philosopher and even defied death itself for nearly three centuries, not dying until after he had celebrated his two hundred and eighty-fifth birthday.—St. Louis Republic.

Thackeray's Influence Over Sala.

G. A. Sala recalls a meeting in his youth with the white haired Thackeray and the strong impression made upon him by the novelist's kindness. "I have not forgotten, I hope," he says, "one word of the wise and gentle counsel which Thackeray give me that night, and how he bade me 'buckle my belt tight,' 'hang out my sign' and ask him to come and take a chop with me. Some of his forecasts of what I might do if I tried proved to be almost of the nature of prophecy, and if I may borrow an image from one of the crafts which I practiced in my youth I may say that my heart and mind were to me as he talked even of the nature of a plate of copper, and that, with the acutest of needles and the strongest of aquafortis, he etched and bit in on that plate a rule of work and study and conduct from which I have been enabled these many years past very rarely to deviate."

A Dog That Stopped a Runaway.

I had a dog named Chris. One day papa and mamma went out riding, and the dog went with them. As they went around a corner three miles from home, the carriage tipped over and threw them out, and then the carriage righted itself, the lines dragging under the carriage. The dog, who was under the carriage, pulled the lines with his teeth and tried to stop the horse from running and could not. Then he ran to the horse's head and kept jumping, nipping him in the nose, so he stopped running and walked. Every time he tried to run the dog kept on in that way for two miles until a policeman stopped him. Ever after, so long as he lived, whenever the horse would start up suddenly, Chris would go right to the horse's head.—Cor. New York Recorder.

The Death of Mark Antony.

Mark Antony gave the world for a woman's love, but found himself so poorly compensated by the exchange that in desperation at the approach of Octavius, and being informed that Cleopatra was endeavoring to make terms for herself by surrendering him, he stabbed himself with his dagger. Being revived, he received the message sent by Cleopatra that she desired to see him. He was carried to her place of refuge. Cleopatra and her maids raised him by ropes to the window of the tower where the fallen queen found her last home. He was lifted in and died in her arms.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Indicative.

"That's a very lovely baby of yours, Lawson. I wonder what he will develop into?"

"Well, if we can judge of the future by the present, I think he will be a town crier when he grows up."—Harper's Bazar.

What Did He Mean.

Skaggs—Does your wife ever lose her temper?

Raggs—Not that I ever knew of.—Detroit Free Press.

A SONG OF FRIENDSHIP.

One friend have I—who love have none—one friend of loyal heart—
A girl whose faith compels my soul to act its noblest part,
Who lives unspoiled by idle praise, unvexed
by selfish care,
And who is sweet as she is true, and good as she is fair,
Oh, love's a flow'r that climbeth high and aims to reach a star,
But friendship's plant creeps close and clings with scent that's sweeter far!

She sings to me, and I grow glad; she talks,
and I grow wise;
Her ways are frank and sisterly; there's sunshine in her eyes;
Her loving heart holds balm for ev'ry ill that fate can send;
And earth is fairer, heav'n more near, because she is my friend!
Oh, love's a song that rings and swells with passion's rapture strong,
But friendship is a lullaby that soothes a whole lifelong!

A Sad Memory.

They talked of home and family matters, baby's new clothes, papa's trip on the road and mamma's visit to her mother, while every one listened in a most interesting manner. The trend of the conversation showed that the wife and baby were not going to the depot with the happy father, as he declared it would be nonsense. But as the car neared Jefferson street, where he was to leave them, every one wondered all to himself how they would part and whether he would kiss her in front of the crowd. They were not long in doubt.

When Desplaines street was reached the drummer arose, caught up his baby and kissing it goodby placed it beside its mother. He stooped down to kiss his wife, and the loving woman placed an arm about his neck as she said, "Now you'll write often, won't you?" Just then a morose individual on the opposite side of the car, who had evidently been absorbed in his paper, glanced over the top of it and remarked in the driest of tones, "I lost a watch doin that."—Chicago News.

French and German Politeness.

In England, as the titles of nobility are limited and cannot be usurped by fictitious characters without detection, they confer a degree of consideration upon the possessor far superior to what is observed in foreign countries, where they are abundant to an extreme and where every needy adventurer can assume them. A German baron, in derision, on a race course a few days since observed to a French marquis that the title of marquis was very common in France, "I," added he, "have a marquis in my kitchen." "And I," retorted the Frenchman, who felt insulted, "have a German baron in my stable." This repartee was particularly happy, it being well known that German grooms are as common out of their country as are French cooks. It affords a just lesson, too, against the folly as well as rudeness of all national reflections.—Magazine Journal.

Fire at Florence, S. C., Monday caused a loss of nearly $260,000. Twenty buildings and contents were destroyed.

In a fire in the office of the Arbeiter Zeitung, a small German daily of Bello-

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure at Druggists.

Just as Sure
as Preaching
is it that the best of current fiction appears
IN THESE COLUMNS.
We leave no stone unturned to make this a
HOME PAPER
in every sense of the word.
Are you a subscriber?

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist,
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN.
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank.

MRS. ELMIRA HATCH.
HEART DISEASE 20 YEARS.
Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.
DEAR SIRS: For 20 years I was troubled with heart disease. Would frequently have falling spells and smothering at night. Had to sit up or get out of bed to breathe. Had pain in my left side and back most of the time; at last I became dropsical. I was very nervous and nearly worn out. The least excitement would cause me to faint. I was also much troubled with fluttering. For the last fifteen years I could not sleep on my left side or back until began taking your New Heart Cure. I had not taken it very long until I felt much better, and I can now sleep on either side or back without the least discomfort. I have no pain, smothering, dropsy, no wind on stomach or other disagreeable symptoms. I am able to do all my own housework without any trouble and consider myself cured.
Elkhart, Ind., 1888. MRS. ELMIRA HATCH.
It is now four years since I have taken any medicine. Am in better health than I have been in 40 years. I honestly believe that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure saved my life and made me a well woman. I am now 62 years of age, and am able to do a good day's work.
May 29th, 1892. MRS. ELMIRA HATCH.
THOUSANDS CURED
SOLD ON A POSITIVE GUARANTEE.
TRY DR. MILES' PILLS, 50 DOSES 25 CTS.

John Wyatt
THE UNDERTAKER,
EMBALMER AND
FUNERAL DIRECTOR.
Besides carrying a full and complete line of
COFFINS,
CASKETS
AND BURIAL SUPPLIES,
has the largest and most complete stock of Pictures, Picture Frames,
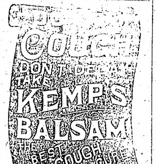
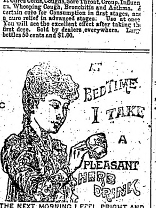
—AND—
Picture Framing Material
—In the city.—
Special discount During the Holidays.
Office 105½ Broadway,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINNESOTA.

W. A. ROBERTSON
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.
N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.
OFFICE. IN McKINNON BLOCK.



It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.



THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.
My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called
LANE'S MEDICINE
All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1.00 a package. If you cannot get it, send your address for free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary. Address, ORATOR F. WOODWARD, LEROY, N. Y.

A. H. DUNLAP, M. D.
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS. QUEBEC.
Office in McKinnon Block.

"Sure will the Harvest Be!"
And it depends to a great extent upon the machine you use to do your seeding with; whether it will be a full harvest or not. To insure this buy a
Dowagiac Shoe Drill
—THE MOST—
SIMPLE,
PRACTICAL,
DURABLE,
EFFECTIVE.
TWENTY-TWO YEARS of uninterrupted success has placed this KING OF DRILLS at the head. Investigate its style of spring pressure, and the independent, solid bottom steel shoe before buying.
We also sell a complete line of FARM IMPLEMENTS, Boss and Steel Lever Harrows, Rushford Wagons, and a complete line of all styles of Harness. We are also agents for the VICTOR BICYCLE, the best wheel made, and invite you to call and see them.
MERIT WINS.
Larsen Carpenter & Co.
Broadway and Robert street, - Crookston, Minn.

McKINNON BROS.,
—DEALERS IN—
ALL OF THE LEADING
Agricultural Implements
MAIN STREET. McKINNON BLOCK.
Before Purehasing, Give Us a Call.

CHRISTIANSON BROS.,
Abstracters of Title, Loans,
Real Estate and Insurance
N. B. FARM LOANS a specialty. Terms, three to five years. Lowest rate of interest, payable annually at our office.
Choice FARM LANDS for sale cheap, on terms to suit purchasers.
Office on Robert Street, - - - - CROOKSTON, MINN

Crookston
Business College
and INSTITUTE OF SHORTHAND.
DEPARTMENTS:—Commercial Shorthand, Typewriting and English.
TEACHERS:—R. C. Holaday, Nellie B. Perry and L. E. Gossman.
Winter Term begins Monday, January 2d, 1893. Send for new catalogue.
CROOKSTON BUSINESS COLLEGE, Crookston, Minn.
BENJ. A. STRAWBRIDGE, Prop.

ASTHMA CURED BY DR. TAFT'S ASTHMALENE
Instead of flying to the door gasping for breath, seeming as if each one would be your last, you have only to take a few doses Asthmalene when the spasm is broken, the breathing becomes easy and you feel as if an angel of mercy had unloosed the iron grasp of the fingers of death. The happiest moment of your life will be when you have used a few bottles of Dr. Taft's ASTHMALENE and it has cured you of Asthma. We mail to any Asthma sufferer a trial bottle FREE and prove that it does Cure Asthma.
Sold by druggists. Dr. Taft Bros. M. Co., Rochester, N. Y.

IF YOU ARE GOING EAST OR SOUTH ASK YOUR NEAREST AGENT FOR TICKETS VIA THE BURLINGTON AND TAKE NO OTHER LINE.

NEW BARBER SHOP.
On Main St. C. E. MISNER, Prop
Invites your patronage. Everything in the very latest style of the art.
RAZORS HONED.
If you desire your Razor Honed and cannot bring it, send it to me with 30 cents and your name and address and I will hone and return it.
Yours Respectfully,
C. E. MISNER.

THE DUAL
MEAT MARKET.
oOo
CHARLEY VINE
Is Headquarters for all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats.
Highest cash price paid for cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry and hides.
SHOPS
Corner Broadway and Robert street,
and on Second street, in Reckitt block,
Crookston, - - Minn.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON.
Commenced Business October, 1881.
PAID IN CAPITAL........$100,000
SURPLUS.................... 15,500
Interest on certificates of deposit. Accounts of farmers and business men solicited.
GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.
DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine. J. R. McKinnon. A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh. Chas. E. Sawyer W. H. Crosby

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, - MINNESOTA

DEFECTIVE PAGE

AN ENGLISH BILLION.

FEW APPRECIATE THE REAL SIGNIFICANCE OF THE WORD.

An English Writer Endeavors to Give a Few Illustrations In Order to Convey to the Reader a Comprehension of the Enormity of an Expression.

It would be curious to know how many of your readers have brought fully home to their inner consciousness the real significance of that little word "billion." which we have so often seen used in your columns. There are indeed few intellects that can fairly grasp it and digest it as a whole, and there are doubtless many thousands who cannot appreciate its true worth, even when reduced to fragments for more easy assimilation. Its arithmetical symbol is simple and without much pretention. There are no large figures—just a modest 1 followed by a dozen ciphers, and that is all.

Let us briefly take a glance at it as a measure of time, distance and weight. As a measure of time I would take one second as the unit and carry myself in thought through the lapse of ages back to the first day of the year 1 of our era, remembering that in all those years we have 365 days and in every day just 86,400 seconds of time. Hence, in returning in thought back again to this year of grace, one might have supposed that 1,000,000,000,000 of seconds had long since elapsed, but this is not so. We have not even passed one-sixteenth of that number in all these long eventful years, for it takes just 31,687 years 17 days 22 hours 45 minutes and 5 seconds to constitute 1,000,000,000,000 seconds of time.

It is no easy matter to bring under the cognizance of the human eye a billion objects of any kind. Let us try in imagination to arrange this number for inspection, and for this purpose I would select a sovereign as a familiar object. Let us put one on the ground and pile upon it as many as will reach 20 feet in height. Then let us place numbers of similar columns in close contact, forming a straight line and making a sort of wall 20 feet high, showing only the thin edges of the coin.

Imagine two such walls running parallel to each other and forming, as it were, a long street. We must then keep on extending these walls for miles, nay. hundreds of miles, and still we shall be far short of the required number. And it is not until we have extended our imaginary street to a distance of 2,386¼ miles that we shall have presented for inspection our 1,000,000,000,000 of coins.

Or in lieu of this arrangement we may place them flat upon the ground, forming one continuous line like a long golden chain with every link in close contact. But to do this we must pass over land and sea, mountain and valley, desert and plain, crossing the equator and returning around the southern hemisphere, through the trackless ocean, retrace our way again across the equator, then still on and on until we again arrive at our starting point, and when we have thus passed a golden chain around the huge bulk of the earth we shall be but at the beginning of our task. We must drag this imaginary chain no less 763 times around the globe.

If we can further imagine all those rows of links laid closely side by side and every one in contact with its neighbor, we shall have formed a golden band around the globe just 52 feet 6 inches wide and this will represent our 1,000,000,000,000 of coins. Such a chain, if laid in a straight line, would reach a fraction over 18,328,445 miles, the weight of which, if estimated at one-fourth ounce each sovereign, would be 6,975,447 tons and would require for their transport no less than 2,325 ships, each with a full cargo of 3,000 tons. Even then there would be a residue of 447 tons, representing 64,081,920 sovereigns.

For a measure of height let us take a much smaller unit as our measuring rod. The sheets of paper on which The Times is printed, if laid out flat and firmly pressed together as in a well bound book, would represent a measure of about one-three hundred and thirty-third of an inch in thickness. Let us see how high a dense pile formed by a billion of these thin paper leaves would reach. We must in imagination pile them vertically upward, by degrees reaching to the height of our tallest spires, and passing these the pile must still grow higher, topping the Alps and Andes and the highest peaks of the Himalayas, and shooting up from thence through the fleecy clouds pass beyond the confines of our attenuated atmosphere and leap up into the blue ether with which the universe is filled, standing proudly up far beyond the reach of all terrestrial things—still pile on your thousands and millions of thin leaves, for we are only beginning to rear the mighty mass. Add millions on millions of sheets and thousands of miles on these, and still the number will lack its due amount.

Let us pause to look at the neat plowed edges of the book before us. See how closely lie those thin flakes of paper; how many there are in the mere width of a span, and then turn our eyes in imagination upward to our mighty column of accumulated sheets. It now contains its appointed number, and our 1,000,000,000,000 of sheets of The Times superimposed upon each other and pressed into a compact mass has reached an altitude of 47,348 miles!

Those who have taken the trouble to follow me thus far will, I think, agree with me that 1,000,000,000,000 is a fearful thing, and that few can appreciate its real value. As for quadrillions and trillions, they are simply words, mere words, wholly incapable of adequately impressing themselves on the human intellect.—Sir Henry Bessemer in London Times.

Like Father, Like Son.

"This is my youngest boy, Mr. Cynicus," said the distinguished novelist. "They say he is very like me."

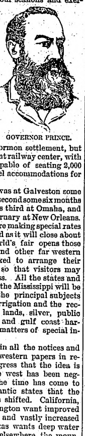
"Does he go to school?"

"Yes. He can read quite well, but as yet he can't write."

"He's very much like you," said Mr. Cynicus.—Harper's Bazar.

TRANSMISSISSIPPI CONGRESS.

Twenty-two States and Territories to Be Represented at Ogden.



GOVERNOR PRINCE.

The transmississippi congress, so called, has already held four sessions and exercised great influence on legislation, and its approaching session will be of unusual importance. No one fact could emphasize the westward course of empire more forcibly than the fact that this congress is to be held in Ogden, Utah, a place which but a few years ago was an obscure Mormon settlement, but is now an important railway center, with an opera house capable of seating 2,000 delegates and hotel accommodations for them.

Its first session was at Galveston some three years ago, its second some six months later at Denver, its third at Omaha, and its fourth last February at New Orleans. All the railroads are making special rates to the congress, and as it will close about the time the World's fair opens those from the Pacific and other far western states will be asked to arrange their tickets to the fair so that visitors may take in the congress. All the states and territories west of the Mississippi will be represented, and the principal subjects discussed will be irrigation and the reclamation of arid lands, silver, public lands, the Pacific and gulf coast harbors and all other matters of special interest to the west.

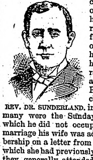
It is easy to see in all the notices and appeals of the far western papers in relation to this congress that the idea is prevalent that the west has been neglected and that the time has come to convince the Atlantic states that the seat of empire has shifted. California, Oregon and Washington want improved rivers and harbors and vastly increased coast defenses, Texas wants deep water at Galveston and elsewhere, the mountain commonwealths want a comprehensive system of irrigation, and all want silver restored to its old place in the coinage.

They have undertaken a big contract, and have therefore broadened the basis of representation to secure a big congress. Each state or territory is entitled to 10 delegates, each county to one, each city to one for each 5,000 people or fractional part thereof, all commercial bodies in all towns to as many each as the town in which each is situated, and in addition all governors, mayors, county judges and presidents of boards of county supervisors are ex-officio members.

Governor Bradford Prince of New Mexico is president of the congress, elected at its last session at New Orleans, and will hold over till his successor is elected at Ogden. O. W. Crawford of Velasco, Tex., is the present secretary. The congress has 10 vice presidents, all men of influence.

THE PRESIDENT'S PASTOR.

Rev. Dr. Sunderland of the First Presbyterian Church at Washington.



REV. DR. SUNDERLAND.

The presidents of the United States have generally been attendants at divine worship during their terms of office, and Mr. Cleveland during his first term was no exception to the rule. Few of the chief magistrates of the nation have been more regular in this form of Sabbath observance than he. Soon after his first inauguration he selected a pew in the First Presbyterian church of Washington, and not many were the Sunday mornings on which he did not occupy it. After his marriage his wife was admitted to membership on a letter from the church with which she had previously worshiped, and they generally attended the services together. Upon his second inauguration the president and Mrs. Cleveland chose the same church and the same pew occupied by them during the first administration.

The old First is historic and was one of the very first churches organized in the Capital City. It was established nearly a hundred years ago and for a long period was one of the most fashionable churches in the city, its site on Four and a Half street being in the heart of what was considered the best residence district. The conditions have changed now, and the tide of fashion has swept away to the northwestward, while the vicinage of the church has become very thickly populated with people who are not leaders in society. It still retains many of the leading residents of Washington among it membership, however, and is alert, active and aggressive in its religious work.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. Sunderland, who has occupied the pulpit for 40 years, is more than 70 years of age, but still retains much of the vigor and enthusiasm of his younger days. His discourses are eloquent and forceful as of old, when they gained him a reputation as a pulpit orator that reached far beyond the confines of his congregation. The burden of his years, however, has made it impossible for him to perform much of the work which such a pastorate demands, and a year or so ago the congregation decided to engage an assistant to relieve him. Rev. Samuel Van Vranken Holmes of Richfield Springs, N. Y., was the man engaged, and his labors have been attended with marked success.

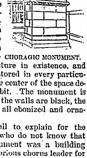
The Book of Books.

What is said to be the costliest illustrated book ever made is the property of a man in Oswego, N. Y. It is a Bible and cost $10,000. It was originally in seven volumes, but has been enlarged to 60 volumes by the insertion of drawings, etchings, engravings, lithographs, mezzo tints and paintings, of which there are 3,000.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."
BEECHAM'S PILLS
COVERED WITH A TASTELESS AND SOLUBLE COATING.
For SICK HEADACHE,
Dizziness, or Swimming in the Head, Wind, Pain, and Spasms at the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Gravel, and flying Pains in the Body, Rheumatism, etc.
Take four, five or even six of Beecham's Pills, and in nine cases out of ten, they will give relief in twenty minutes; for the pill will go direct to and remove the cause, the cause being no more nor less than wind, together with poisonous and noxious vapours, and sometimes unwholesome food.
Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box.
New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

FOR OLD COLLEGE BOYS.

The Greek Letter Fraternities Will Have an Interesting Show at the Fair.



CHORAGIC MONUMENT.

The Greek letter college societies have had space allotted to them and will make an interesting and instructive exhibit at the World's fair. This will include a collection of books, charts and documents relating to the fraternities, bound volumes of their songs, magazines, annuals, etc., and a complete display of all their badges and paraphernalia. But the chief feature of the exhibit will be a reproduction of the choragic monument of Lysicrates, which is said to be the most famous specimen of Corinthian architecture in existence, and which will be restored in every particular and put in the center of the space devoted to the exhibit. The monument is 40 feet high, and the walls are black, the woodwork being all ebonized and ornamented in gilt.

It may be well to explain for the benefit of those who do not know that a choragic monument was a building erected by a victorious chorus leader for the exhibition of the tripod received as a prize in the musical contests in Athens. Besides that of Lysicrates to be reproduced for the fraternities there is another still to be seen in Athens, that of Thrasyllus.

From the safety of their operation in blood letting the leech has been used for more than 2,000 years, and in many cases doctors could hardly dispense with their use.

MILLER & FOOTE,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW.
McKinnon Block. - Crookston, Minn.

FITS STOPPED FREE
Marvelous success.
Insane Persons Restored
Dr. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER
for all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure cure for Nerve Affections. Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No Fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send names, P. O. and express address of afflicted to DR. KLINE, [illegible] St., Philadelphia, Pa. See Druggists. BEWARE [illegible] FRAUDS.

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America.
Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

HE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUEHLR, Proprietor.
A full supply of everything kept by the trade.
Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON. MINN

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE
The Great English Remedy.
Before and After.
Promptly and permanently cures all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses. Been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for Wood's Phosphodine; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, leave his dishonest store, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlet in plain sealed envelope, 2 stamps.
Address THE WOOD CHEMICAL CO.
131 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.
Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

Cook's Cotton Root
COMPOUND.
A recent discovery by an old physician. Successfully used monthly by thousands of Ladies. Is the only perfectly safe and reliable medicine discovered. Beware of unprincipled druggists who offer inferior medicines in place of this. Ask for Cook's Cotton Root Compound, take no substitute, or inclose $1 and 6 cents in postage in letter, and we will send, sealed, by return mail. Full sealed particulars in plain envelope, to ladies only, 2 stamps.
Address Pond Lily Company,
No. 3 Fisher Block, Detroit, Mich.
Sold at Crookston by A. C. Anderson, S. A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

C. HENDRICKSON, President.
L. ELLINGTON, Vice President.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier.
H. STEENERSON, 2d Vice President.
A. P. Hanson, Assistant Cashier.
Scandia-American Bank,
Of Crookston, Minn. Organized 1877 under the State law. Capital $50,000. Surplus, $5,000. Undivided profits, $15,000. Special attention given to collections.
DIRECTORS—C. Hendrickson, Grafton, N. D.; C. O. Christianson, Halvor Steenerson, Max Ericsson, J. W. Wheeler, E. P. Pierce, L. K. Aaker, D. H. Turner, A. G. Gallasch, Lewis Ellington, J. H. Locken, O. H. Lucken.

S. L. COLLINS,
Proprietor of Main Street
Livery and Feed Stables.
Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., west side,
CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA.
Horses bought and sold on commission. Everything neat and nobby. Feeding a specialty.
FINE HEARSE
in connection, which I will attend to in person.

Valley Roller Mills.
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Manufacturers of
FINE FLOURS
MADE FROM SELECTED RED RIVER HARD WHEAT.
BRANDS:
Patent: Lee & Herrick's Best.
Straight: North Star
Bakers': Fife.
Low Grade: Skip Jack.
BRAN, SHORTS
AND SCREENINGS,
Always on hand at reasonable prices.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON CLAIMS.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk.—ss.
In Probate Court, Special Term, March 27th, 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Rauold D. Camson deceased:

Letters testimentary on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Donald McKinnon of said county.

It is ordered, that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court, for examination and allowance, at the probate court office in the City of Crookston on Monday, the 11th day of September, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock, a. m.

It is further ordered, that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless for cause shown, further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said County.

Dated at Crookston the 27th day of March, A. D. 1893.

By the Court.
C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.

[50-52]

THE NEW NORTHWEST
FARM LANDS — Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana.
NEW TOWNS — 100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
LOW RATES — Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.
Horses, Cattle. — Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.
Health, Wealth. — In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sheep, Hogs. — Sweetes Grass Hills, Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raizers' paradise.
Herds, Mines — These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.

"In no way can Americans so effectively inform themselves on the subjects that claim public attention from one month to another as by reading the North American Review."
IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.
THE TOPICS are always those which are uppermost in the public mind—in morals, politics, science, literature, business, finance, industrial economy, social and municipal affairs, etc.—in short all subjects on which Americans require and desire to be informed. No magazine follows so closely from month to month the course of public interest. All subjects are treated of impartially on both sides.
THE CONTRIBUTORS to the Review are the men and women to whom the world looks for the most authoritative statements on the subjects of the day. No other periodical can point to such a succession of distinguished writers. The list is a roll of the people who are making the history, controlling the affairs, and leading the opinion of the age, such as Mr. Gladstone, the Prime Minister of England, Mr. Blaine, Signor Crispi, Ex-Prime Minister of Italy, Baron Hirsch, H. R. H. the Count of Paris, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishops Potter, Doane, Mallelieu, Foss, etc., etc
THE TIME when these subjects are treated of by these contributors is the very time when the subjects are in the public mind—not a month or two after people had ceased to think of them. The promptness with which the Review furnishes its readers with the most authoritative information upon the topics of the day is one of its most valuable features.
Subscription Price, $5.00 a year,
THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW,
3 East 14th Street, New York.

A Dollar Saved
IS
A Dollar Earned.
DO YOU WANT TO EARN A FEW DOLLARS?
IN THE SPRING OF THE YEAR everyone requires some Garden or Flower Seeds, and we have made arrangements with the Weekly Pioneer Press of St. Paul, whereby we are enabled to distribute
SEEDS
FREE OF COST.
And we can also furnish THE WEEKLY PIONEER PRESS cheaper than it can be got any other way.
HERE IS THE OFFER we are prepared to make.
For $2.00 we will send. — Regular price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year..... $1 00
Polk County Journal 1 year.......... 1 50
20 packages Garden Vegetable Seeds, retail price.......... 1 25
$3 75
THIS offer is good to New Subscribers, or to Old Ones paying all arrearages and one year in advance. Cash must accompany the order in every case.
Another Offer.
For $1.85 we will send you — Regula price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year... $1 00
The Polk County Journal 1 year....... 1 50
An "up to date" Pocket Map of any State in the Union.......... 1 00
$3 50
These maps are reliable and "up to date," and the map of Illinois includes a map of Chicago, which is valuable to any one contemplating a visit to the World's Fair.
Address
Polk County Journal,
Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

BY COOKE & HAMMOND.

Devoted to the Welfare of Polk County.

OFFICIAL PAPER, CITY OF CROOKSTON.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

IT is thought that the apportionment bill now before the legislative bodies will pass, notwithstanding bitter opposition from southern members.

FERGUS FALLS voted no-license by a majority of 91 votes. This result was unexpected, but was caused by a revulsion of feeling against the lax manner in which the saloons have been run.

JUDGE IRA B. MILLS will be a valuable acquisition on the board of Railroad and Warehouse commissioners. He is fully alive to the interests of the people and if the legislature gives the board sufficient authority to act, his presence there will be felt for good to the people.

"FOUR more years of Grover" sings the average democrat now-a-days, but there does not seem to be the gladsome ring to their voices that there would be if Grover would shake the patronage tree more freely and drop more official plums into the hungry maws of the faithful. Governor is too slow for any use they think.

THE St. Vincent New Era, says that Van Horne, of the Canadian Pacific is anxious to build the Duluth & Winnipeg road to Hallock and St. Vincent and also to build a branch from Hallock to the Rainy Lake country. Where's the Rainy Lake railroad company? What's the matter with waking up and putting that road through? What did you say, president Steenerson?

THE St. Paul Globe says that Captain T. A. Dunlava is in Washington looking after L. K. Aaker's official shoes and seems to intimate that his chances for wearing them are very good. The Captain has lots of Grand Army friends in Polk county who would be glad to see him get the receivership in this land office. It is said to stand between Captain Dunlava and Wm. Anglim.

A DISPATCH to St. Paul papers from Fargo states that 20 men in Fargo have pledged $200 apiece to a Crookston law firm on condition that they prove the prohibitory law of North Dakota to be unconstitutional The sum of $40,000 is to be pledged not a dollar of which the firm will get unless they win the case. So confident is the firm of their ability to win that they have offered to conduct the case at their own expense and unless they win they do not get a dollar.

REPRESENTATIVES Chesley, Juelson and Knudson opposed the Peterson grain bill with voice and vote to the end—and every one of them are farmers! How any farmer could oppose any measure calculated to benefit the farmers in the degree that this bill is, is certainly beyond our comprehension—the only reason that we can see is not tenable—that the bill is a republican measure and these men are populists. This may not be the case with them, but we can see no other motive for their unaccountable action in the matter.

DURING the debate on the Peterson bill on Friday one of the populist opponents of the bill said that he was opposed to it because it gave the board of railroad and warehouse commissioners too much power. And yet this genius claimed to be a farmer! Had he been a Red River Valley farmer he would have known that one great trouble in the wheat business has been that the board has never had power enough—where that power was needed, and our farmers, who thoroughly understand the matter, have ridiculed the idea of creating a board and then depriving them of the power to act, and they have time and again loudly demanded just the very things that are provided for in this bill. Well, the bill has become a law and we shall now have a chance to see something done.

GOVERNOR NELSON has justified the faith reposed in him by the farmers of Minnesota by faithfully standing by them on every measure affecting their interests, notably in his efforts in behalf of the Peterson grain and warehouse bill, senate file No. 371, which, largely through the governor's efforts passed the house on Friday. In time, when the effects of this bill become better known through operation our farmers will begin to realize how much they own to our governor for his action in this matter. The JOURNAL is in a position to know that but for Governor Nelson that bill would never have passed the house. He has been indefatigable in his efforts since it was first drawn and his efforts has secured such a victory for the farmer as he never won before.

A BILL annexing Becker and Clay counties to the Fergus Falls district for judicial purposes, and creating a new judicial district composed of Norman, Polk, Marshall and Kittson has passed both houses. This is done in lieu of granting the additional judge that was asked for and will lighten Judge Ives' labors very materially and enable him to keep up with the calendar. The governor was opposed to the idea of an additional judge on the ground of economy claiming that there were already plenty of judges to do the business and in that he was right.

THE appropriation bill now before the legislature provides a fund to reimburse certain counties wherein are railroad lands that don't pay taxes in order to equalize the burden of taxation more equitably. This idea was suggested by the discussions on the Markham bill and some of those who honestly thought that bill would invalidate the gross earnings plan originated this idea. If the bill passes Polk county will get $2000 each year until the next session. This is as it should be as every county wherein those lands are located now has to pay on unjust proportion of taxes. The bill is liable to pass it is said.

IN view of the fact of the anticipated visit of cholera to our shores during the coming summer, it behooves our citizens to be more careful than ever to adopt thorough sanitary measures and to see that no dirt of any kind is allowed about their premises. Prevention in this case is the only remedy—it's no use trying to cure a case of it, but it may be prevented by cleanliness. Just as soon as the weather will permit the board of health will no doubt take the proper steps to see that the city is placed in condition to resist an invasion of the dread disease should it get thus far north, which might occur at any time, as some emigrant might arrive from the infected districts of Europe. Every citizen should however, make this a personal matter this season and not await peremptory orders.

MAYOR STEPHENS' inaugural address to the new council, besides being a scholarly effort, showed that he is fully alive to the needs of the city. He reviewed the condition of the city, its streets, lights, waterworks and sewerage. He showed that while the street lighting was comparatively cheap—only 94 cents per capita of population—it was more than is paid by any city in the country except Boston. A public building for the city was recommended as soon as the condition of the city's finances would warrant. The mayor also spoke of our efficient fire department, and paid a handsome compliment to our schools. He advised extra sanitary precautions this year, as there was a possibility of cholera being brought into the country during the summer. He spoke of the proposed opening of the Red Lake Indian reservation and the amount of pine which was tributary to Crookston, and which, with a little effort on the part of the city, could be brought here and manufactured. Altogether Mr. Stephens' address was an exhaustive, comprehensive and carefully prepared document.

THE popular and scholarly gentleman who runs the Times seems to be afraid that the nominees and supporters of the citizens ticket in the late election may forget his valiant and herculean efforts in behalf of that ticket, and lest some of them might allow some of their business to go to the JOURNAL, he is trying to prejudice the people against this paper. Because the JOURNAL is controlled by no clique or faction, and had independence enough to take an impartial stand on a purely personal fight, this dapper little gent shouts "the JOURNAL is on the fence." In addition to this. "the JOURNAL's position was nauseating." This is really too bad. We had no intention of upsetting his weak little stomach in this manner, and he should see a physician and procure something to alleviate this nauseating feeling which has crept into his dear little system. Lastly the "JOURNAL is trying to climb on the band wagon" and he prints a lot of silly slush to try to prove it—to himself. The JOURNAL remarked previous to election that "as the caucuses and convention went, so would go the election—in most cases." In other words, that the majority of the citizens ticket would be elected. Last week the JOURNAL referred to this. And because of this we are trying to "climb on the band wagon." The animus of all these little thrusts by the Times is so apparent that it seems incredible that any republican should be influenced by them. And yet the JOURNAL is being knifed by men whom it has always upheld, and who have no excuse for their actions except the fact that the JOURNAL did not play the part of a catspaw to the Times in the late election.

THE re-apportionment bill is killed and the JOURNAL is informed that our representatives in the house were opposed to it. Although Mr. Chesley is credited with one vote in favor of it this is said to have been the result of a trade between Waggoner and himself. Knudson voted against it and Juelson was absent. Any representative from this upper country who would vote against that bill is a traitor to the best interests of his constituents and deserves to be sat-down upon hard. How any sane man, living in this country so destitute of representation, could oppose a bill that comes so near giving us proper representation is a mystery to us, providing the aforesaid individual has sense enough to pound sand.

IT IS NOW A LAW.

The Peterson Grain Bill Passed the House on Friday Afternoon, and Promptly Signed by Governor Nelson.

THE Peterson grain bill, senate file No. 371, a bill to regulate country elevators making them public, giving the commissioners control over them and regulating receipts, passed the house late on Friday afternoon by just exactly votes enough to pass it after having once been voted down, resurrected, laid on the table and then called up for final action. The opponents of re-apportionment had been trying to use the bill to defeat re-apportionment and would probably have succeeded in their attempt but for a fatal blunder made by Mr. Maguire, one of the southern populist members and a strong opponent of the bill. After the vote was had the bill had 57 in favor of and needed 58 to pass. Mr. Maguire, who had voted nay under the impression that the bill had received 62 votes changed his vote to aye in order to have a chance to reconsider but failed to get his motion in before the speaker announced the result of the vote and declared that the bill had passed. Mr. Maguire, when he saw what he had done was completely paralyzed and moved to reconsider which motion was lost. The bill was at once engrossed sent to the governor was signed and on Saturday morning when the house re-assembled it was safe beyond the reach of its enemies. It begins to look as though the farmers would get some beneficial legislation this term after all.

How to Settle Re-apportionment.

Commenting upon the prospects for a re-apportionment at this session the Minneapolis Evening Journal has the following excellent suggestion to offer:

"It is strongly intimated by the tone of the legislature that no re-apportionment measure will be passed this session. Left as this important matter is to the caprice of legislators who do not look beyond the horizon of their own districts, it is not surprising that the capitol should have been filled with the echoes of noisy personalities, minatory declamation, bad grammar and profanity. It was folly in the first place to leave re-apportionment a prey to such whimsies. Take the whole business of re-apportionment out of such conditions. Call a constitutional convention and revise the constitution so that it shall be mandatory upon every legislature succeeding the United States census of population and upon every legislature succeeding the state census to re-apportion the state strictly on the basis of population. Thus, under positive statutory and constitutional obligation we would have a fair re-apportionment after each United States census, and another after the state census. The legislature would have no chance to wrangle over the business, for its duty would be distinctly defined. There could be no kicking and no obstruction to other public business. It is a great mistake that the matter was not so arranged years ago."

Making a Tariff for the Dems.

Warren Register:—An association of Anglo-maniacs, dudes and importers, called the New York Tariff Reform club, is claiming the right to formulate the new tariff bill which is to be passed by the democratic congress next fall. No doubt the bill they draft will be formed after the English model.

Money for White Earth Indians.

Editor Lanman, of the McIntosh Times, passed through the city last Friday on his way home from White Earth. While he was at the reservation the Indians were being paid their share of what is known as the reservoir damage money, which has been withheld for several years. It was awarded to them for damages to their crops caused by the overflow of water from the dams constructed on the upper Mississippi by the government. These dams it will be remembered, were constructed for the ostensible purpose of improving navigation on the Mississippi, but were practically for the benefit of the lumbermen. The government appropriated $150,000 to pay the the damages to Indians but there was only $116,000 of this amount left when it reached the reservation. It amounted to $11.50 per head for each member of the Mississippi band, and $41.50 per head for the Pillagers. There was one instance where it was profitable to have a large family.

CITY COUNCIL.

Official Proceedings of two Meetings of the City Council.

Last Meeting of the Old and First Meeting of the New Council.

Officers Appointed and Confirmed—and the new Council get down to business.

Proceedings of a special meeting of the City Council of the City of Crookston, held in the City Hall on Saturday evening April 8th, 1893.

Meeting called to order by President Cromb.

Roll call.

Aldermen present:—Cromb, Jennings, Morrisey, Marlette, Monroe, Watts, Jerome, Anderson.

Aldermen absent:—Walker. Austin, Childs.

The purpose of the meeting was to canvass the votes cast at election held on Tuesday, April 4th, 1893.

The undersigned members of the City Council of the City of Crookston, do hereby certify that at a special meeting of said City Council held in the City Hall on Saturday evening, April 8th, 1893, we duly canvassed the vote cast at annual charter election of said City held on Tuesday the 4th day of April, 1893 and find that the following named persons, for the offices named to-wit:

FOR MAYOR
A. D. Stephens	494
J. W. Wheeler	438
FOR ALDERMAN AT LARGE
I. N. Simmons	547
A. K. Austin	337
FOR CITY CLERK
E. C. Carruth	532
E. M. Stanton	356
FOR CITY TREASURER
J. O. Matthews	474
L. C. Couvrette	406
FOR ASSESSOR
A. C. Schmidt	476
Elias Steenerson	398
FOR CONSTABLE
Geo. H. Holt	764
O. Ducharme	514
FOR JUSTICE
L. E. Gossman	629
C. S. Spendley	677
FOR ALDERMAN FIRST WARD
I. U. Jennings	118
Geo. O. Buhn	110
FOR ALDERMAN SECOND WARD
W. H. Norrie	122
John Monroe	92
FOR ALDERMAN THIRD WARD
Wm. Watts	93
Carl Ziebeck	1
FOR ALDERMAN FOURTH WARD
John Cromb	153
Martin Lally	141
FOR ALDERMAN FIFTH WARD
R. G. Marlette	31

We hereby declare that A. D. Stephens is elected mayor; I. N. Simmons, alderman at large; E. C. Carruth, city clerk; J. O. Matthews, city treasurer; A. C. Schmidt, assessor; Geo. H. Holt and O. Ducharme, constables; L. E. Gossman and C. S. Spendley, justices of the peace. That I. U. Jennings is elected as alderman of the First Ward; W. H. Norrie, alderman of Second Ward; Wm. Watts, alderman of Third Ward: John Cromb, alderman of Fourth Ward and R. G. Marlette of the Fifth Ward of the City of Crookston for the ensuing year or term as case may be, and we do hereby certify that we have duly canvassed the vote cast in said city on said day and find the number of votes cast as heretofore stated.

Dated Crookston, Minnesota, this 4th day of April, 1893.

JOHN CROMB,
I. U. JENNINGS,
FRED ANDERSON,
JAS. MORRISEY,
R. G. MARLETTE,
JOHN MONROE,
WILLIAM WATTS,
FRANK JEROME,
Board of Canvassers.

On motion council adjourned.

E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk.

Proceedings of a regular meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston held in the city hall on Tuesday evening, April 11th, 1893.

Meeting called to order by President Cromb.

Roll call.

Aldermen present: Anderson, Childs, Jennings, Jerome, Morrisey, Marlette, Norrie, Simmons, Walker, Watts and Cromb.

Aldermen absent, none.

The election of a new president was the first in order, and on motion the clerk was instructed to cast the ballot in favor of John Cromb, who was duly declared elected to fill the position for the ensuing year.

Alderman Morrisey was nominated vice-president, and on motion the clerk was instructed to cast the ballot in favor of him, and he was duly declared elected the vice-president of the council.

The city attorney who was appointed as a committee to look into the matter of securing a right of way for drainage through property on Polk street and into the river, reported that he had done so, and that the contract was on file in the comptroller's office. Report accepted.

The finance committee stated that they were not ready to make a regular report and would do so at the next meeting.

Moved by Alderman Childs, seconded by Alderman Morrisey that the rules be suspended and that the out going mayor be heard and also any message the mayor-elect might have, be received. Carried.

Mayor Anglim then arose, and after thanking the council for the harmonious way in which their affairs had been conducted during the past year, he introduced to them the Mayor-elect A. D. Stephens. He then presented to the council his message which was read and referred to the committees mentioned therein. He also presented for confirmation the following names for officers of the city.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
CROOKSTON, Minn., April 11, 1893.

To the honorable city council of Crookston, Minn.—I hereby appoint and recommend for confirmation, the following city officers, viz: DeForrest Bucklen as City Attorney, Edwin M. Walsh as City Comptroller, Louis Gonyea as Chief of Police, Halvor N. Tweeten as Patrolman No. 1, John A. Kyle as Patrolman No. 2, W. F. Arnold as City Engineer.

A. D. STEPHENS,
Mayor.

On motion the clerk was instructed to cast the ballot in favor of E. M. Walsh for comptroller. The clerk did so and E. M. Walsh, declared duly elected and confirmed as comptroller.

On motion the clerk was instructed to cast the ballots for DeForrest Bucklen as city attorney. Same being done he was duly declared confirmed as city attorney.

Louis Gonyea being appointed as chief of police, on motion the clerk cast the ballot for him and was declared duly as chief of police.

Halvor N. Tweeten was duly declared confirmed as patrolman number one.

On motion the clerk was instructed to cast the ballot for John Kyle and he was duly declared confirmed as patrolman number two.

On motion the clerk was instructed to cast the ballot for W. F. Arnold was duly declared confirmed as city engineer.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey seconded by Alderman Norrie that D. F. McDonald be appointed as street commissioner for the ensuing year.

On motion the clerk was instructed to so cast the ballot which he did and D. F. McDonald duly declared appointed as street commissioner for the ensuing year.

The minutes of the previous meetings were read and approved.

Report of Justice Spendley received and ordered placed on file.

Three applications for license to sell liquor were received and the clerk instructed to have the necessary publications made. They were from T. J. Orvik, L. M. Bergquist and Dahle & Bergstrom.

The clerk presented the names of Miss. Dora Munch and W. E. McKenzie as deputy city clerks.

The official bonds of L. E. Gossman, C. S. Spendley, O. Ducharme, E. C. Carruth, Geo. H. Holt and J. O. Mathews, were received and referred to the city attorney for investigation.

Moved by Alderman Childs seconded by Alderman Watts that A. A. Miller be elected to serve a term of three years on the board of health. Carried unanimously.

Moved by Alderman Childs seconded by Alderman Jennings that C. E. Sawyer be elected as one of the board of sinking fund commissioners to serve for a term of five years.

Carried unanimously.

Alderman Childs spoke on the matter of the citizens celebration at St. Paul in June, which is to be held in honor of the completion of the Great Northern Railroad to the coast an invitation to attend having been extended to the city.

Moved by Alderman Watts seconded by Alderman Anderson that a committee of five, consisting of the mayor and four others, to be appointed by the chair, who shall consider the matter of the invitation of the citizens of St. Paul to attend the celebration to be given by them in celebrating the completion of the Great Northern railroad as a transcontinental line. The committee to report at the next meeting. Carried.

The president appointed as the committee:—W. Watts, Wm. Anglim, J. E. Morrisey and Hugh Thompson.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey seconded by Alderman Marlette that when we adjourn it be to meet on Tuesday, April 18th. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey seconded by Alderman Norrie that a committee of three be appointed by the chair to investigate the sewer assessments for the different sewers of the city and to report at the adjourned meeting. Carried.

Chair appointed as the committee: Alderman Morrisey, Norrie, Watts.

On motion the president appointed Alderman Walker, Anderson and Marlette as a committee of three to look into the matter of seating the council room in a better manner.

City clerk instructed to advertise for bids for the city printing, on a basis of being measured as solid nonpareil.

The following resolution was offered by Alderman Jennings seconded by Alderman Marlette.

Resolved, That this council extend to Martin O'Brien the ex-city attorney of Crookston, Minn., a vote of thanks for the efficient and courteous manner in which he has performed the duties of his office and the earnest and prompt attention he has given to all matters pertaining to his duties as city attorney.

Carried unanimously.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey seconded by Alderman Watts that the mayor be appointed as purchasing agent at a salary of ten dollars per month. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Anderson seconded by Alderman Jennings that Louis Gonyea be appointed a commissioner on poor. Carried.

At the regular meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston, held the 11th day of April, 1893, Alderman Watts offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Morrisey.

Resolved, That the salaries of the city offices hereinafter named be for the ensuing year.

City Attorney, three hundred dollars, City Comptroller three hundred dollars, City Engineer three hundred dollars, for the full term and Chief of Police seventy dollars per month, Patrolman No. 1 sixty dollars per month, Patrolman No. 2 sixty dollars per month, Street Commissioner five hundred dollars per annum, City Clerk four hundred dollars per annum, Commissioner of the Poor ten dollars per month, City Assessor three hundred dollars per annum and City Treasurer three hundred dollars per annum.

Upon the call of ays and nays the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative: Anderson, Childs; Jennings. Jerome, Morrisey, Marlette, Norrie, Watts, Walker, Simmons, Cromb.

Aldermen voting in the negative: none.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the President of the Council.

Passed this 11th day of April 1893.

JOHN CROMB,
President of the Council.

Approved this 11th day of April, 1893.

Attest: A. D. STEPHENS,
Mayor.
E. C. CARRUTH, Clerk.

On motion of Alderman Norrie and seconded by Alderman Marlette the fines of the aldermen were remitted and the bill allowed for the aldermen's salaries.

The president appointed the following aldermen for the standing committees.

Ways and Means: Jennings, Norrie, Walker.

Finance: Watts, Morrisey, Marlette.

Poor: Norrie, Simmons, Jerome.

Fire: Childs, Jennings, Anderson.

Electric Light Committee: Morrisey, Anderson, Norrie.

On motion council adjourned.

E. C. CARRUTH,
Clerk.

My Sweetheart's Face

—that's my wife's you know—wears a cheerful, life-is-worth-living expression, ever since I presented her a box of

KIRK'S
WHITE RUSSIAN
SOAP

She is always recommending Kirk's soaps to her friends—says she is through with experiments—has just what she needed to make labor easy, and ensure perfectly clean clothes. She knows what she's talking about—don't forget it.

JAS. S. KIRK & CO., Chicago.

Dusky Diamond Tar Soap The Soap for Cuts Wounds and Bruises

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, April 7th, 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Oline Severe, deceased

On receiving and filing the petition of Edward Severe, of the county of Polk, representing, among other things, that Oline Severe, late of the county of Polk in the state of Minnesota, in February A. D. 1889, at the county of Polk died intestate, and being an inhabitant of this county at the time of her death, leaving goods, chattels and estate within this county, and that the said petitioner is the surviving husband of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be to Edward Severe granted.

It is ordered that said petition be heard before said court on Tuesday the second day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the probate office in the city of Crookston, in said county.

Ordered further, that notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased and to all persons interested by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the Polk County Journal, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 7th day of April, A. D. 1893.

By the Court,
C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.
[52-3]

AROUND THE COUNTY.

McIntosh.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

McINTOSH, April 9, 1893.

Spring has come at last and we are now beginning to enjoy the pleasant, sunshiny weather.

Our village is undergoing some wonderful changes this spring. Our merchants are busy refitting and decorating their places of business, and our seven saloons are being fixed up in elegant style.

H. S. Quam and Ole O. Narveson will have the finest saloon in town if not in the county.

The two Misses Scotland who have been visiting in St. Paul for some time, returned home last week.

Ole Narveson and family who have been living in Fertile for the past year, are back to McIntosh again and will hereafter make this their home.

A number of dwelling houses are being built this spring, as several families who rented rooms were notified to vacate and had to resort to building.

Mine host Solberg of hotel Duluth has sold out his hotel to N. Matson & Son of Lessor, who have already taken charge of the premises.

E. D. West has rented his hotel to Rodegard Bros. of Grand Forks, and retired to private life.

At the county division meeting held Tuesday evening it was agreed to name the new county "Columbia county," and five acres of ground was donated by Mr. Pratt for court house purposes.

M. W. Jenson made a flying trip to Crookston and Grand Forks Tuesday, returning Saturday.

Guy E. Pratt took Friday's train for the county seat, returning Saturday.

A few of the democratic magnates, including A. Thompson, A. Gilmour and E. King, were in Crookston last week looking after the McIntosh post office, but as yet no one is the wiser as to who will get it, although several thnik that they are to be the successful candidate.

Gust Langerak and family left for Setersdalen, Norway, last Saturday, where Mr. Langerak goes to take charge of and dispose of a farm left him by his father. They will remain till next fall.

Quite a number of the Fosston sports came down on the hand car last Sunday to take in the town, but as McIntosh is a moral place, especially on the Sabbath, they could not get as much as a glass of cider. Come some week day, boys.

Harry Norrie paid us another visit on Wednesday last, remaining until Thursday, and another jolly and enjoyable time was had. Come again, Harry.

We understand that the Citizens' bank is going to erect a brick block on the corner of Cleveland avenue and First street. Work will be commenced as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

Our jail, which has stood empty and vacated for over a year, opened its doors to an unfortunate lodger last Saturday evening, who remained until Monday, but when he came to pay his board bill he discovered that he was strdpped and he was given ten minutes to get out of town and was soon on the road to Erskine, his home. When you come again, Bob, don't pretend to be so smart. That game don't work, especially in McIntosh.

Euclid Items.

From our regular correspondent.

EUCLID, April 11, 1893.

C. E. Misner—the disabled—(but still in the ring) tonsoral artist, spent several days among relatives and friends last week.

E. R. Blanchard and family started last week for Kansas where they will reside in the future.

Mrs. R. A. Warden—a book vendor—canvassed our village pretty thoroughly last week and now several parties are mourning that they ever met her.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Douglas are happy over the arrival of a girl baby.

John McLennan was in from Angus this week. He thinks that seeding will be pretty universal next week.

Miss Hattie Davidson returned to Crookston Saturday, where she goes to resume her studies in the High School.

H. C. Misner and M. P. Losey were among the Euclidites, who were in the Queen City last week.

Fred Kruger was over from Red Lake Falls last week and purchased several head of horses from Carsten Stuhr.

Sarah, Lizzie and Martha Cruikshanks, who have been visiting with their parents, returned to Crookston Saturday.

The new town board met and transacted some important business Friday.

Casper Tiedemann, who has been visiting at Red Wing for the past two months returned home Saturday.

Peter Keeley, who left here two weeks ago to seek employment as telegraph operator, in the State of Washington returned Friday. He says that is no country for a white man to live in.

There is a number of parties from different sections of the country, principally, Michigan, Iowa and Wisconsin, who have been here looking for farms to rent, or purchase, that should be positive proof that it does do good to advertise.

John Chandler has accepted a position at Barnesville.

Horse-men can see cuts for horse posters by calling at the post office.

L. Halverson is busy hauling out seed grain for the Kelso farm.

E. D. Childs sent up a car of seed grain to Robert Teal to be used on Mr. Childs' farm here.

Angus and Euclid have concluded to have Rev. W. T. McAltioner as their pastor for the ensuing year.

Capt. L. L. C. Brooks is up on business in connection with the Keystone farm.

Mr. Watson representing the Deering Binder Co. was doing business with some of our machine-men Monday.

D. Fasseth of Argyle came down to give his many friends a call Monday.

Joseph Heard of the C. W. Hackett hardware Co. called on Taylor & Co. Monday.

To the Ladies of Crookston.

Easter opening of millinery at Mrs. I. U. Jennings', Friday afternoon the 31st of March.

Herding.

The undersigned will have about 800 acres pasture on sections 36, 1 and 26, town 150, range 45, at Gentilly, 70 acres of which stock return from to barnyard at night. Two flowing wells on pasture ground. Terms: cattle $1.25, sheep 25 cents and lambs 12½ cents for the season.

JOSEPH BACON.

At the residence of Joseph Laframboise, Gentilly, Minn. 51-53

Free Trip to Chicago.

Separate W-O-R-L-D-S F-A-I-R and use the letters to spell as many words as you can by using the letters as many times as you wish, either backwards or forwards, but not use the same letter in making any one word more than it appears in "World's Fair."

It is said SEVENTY-FIVE small English words can be spelled correctly from the ten letters contained in "World's Fair." Example:—Wad, waif, soar, idol, etc. If you are good at word-making you can secure a FREE trip to the World's Fair and return, as the Scott Seed Company will pay all expenses, including R. R. fare, hotel bills, admissions to the Columbian Exposition, and $50.00 in cash for incidental express, to the first person able to make SEVENTY words from the letters contained in "World Fair," as above. They will also give a FREE TRIP to the World's Fair and return with $25.00 for incidental expenses, to the first person sending SIXTY words as above. They will also give a FREE TRIP to the World's Fair and return (without cash for incidental expenses) to the first person sending FIFTY-FIVE words.

To the first person sending FIFTY words will be given $50.00 in cash towards paying expenses to the World's Fair, to each of the first FIVE persons sending THIRTY-FIVE words will be given $10.00 in cash, and to each of the first ten sending THIRTY words will be given $5.00 in cash.

Only one prize will be awarded to the same person. Write your name on list of words (numbered) and enclose the same post-paid with fifteen U. S. two-cent stamps for a large package of our Choice English Cottage Garden Flower Seeds.

This combination includes the latest and most popular English flowers of endless varieties (same as will be contained in the elaborate exhibit of English flowers at the World's Fair.)

This "World's Fair" Contest will be carefully and conscientiously conducted solely for the purpose of introducing our business in the U. S. You will receive the BIGGEST value in flower seeds ever offered, and if you are able to make a good list of words and answer promptly you will have a first-class opportunity to secure a free trip from your home to Chicago and return.

We are spending a large amount of money to start our trade in the U. S. and want your trial order. You will be more than gratified with the result. Send to-day, and address The Scott Seed Company, Toronto, Canada. [50-1]

From Winneshelk Co. Iowa.

P. H. Wermager arrived on Saturday evening with a carload of horses for sale. On Tuesday D. McMillan bought a pair of colts coming two years old, high grade Normans, very evenly matched which in time will be a daisy team. Mac knows a good thing when he sees it and when he found that he could get those colts for $350 spot cash he snapped 'em up so quick that it made the dealer dizzy.

Warren Sheaf:—Mr. A. P. Frank, one of our early settlers and enterprising farmers living just across the line in Polk county, is a firm believer in the sheep industry, and regards it far more promising and profitable than raising wheat. About four years ago he started in with a few sheep, and now he has a herd of about a hundred. Sheep can be raised with very little expense, and, though requiring a great deal of attention, yet they are gentle animals to handle. A hundred sheep well attended to, will yield more profit than does the average wheat farm.

How to Pay License at Stephen.

Warren Sheaf:—The village council of Stephen has hit upon a new plan for licensing saloons. The council proposed to tax the liquor interests of the place $2,500 and fixed the license on a graduated scale as follows: For one saloon $2,500, for two saloons $1,250, for three saloons $835, for four or more saloons $625 each. Afterward the council passed a resolution fixing the license at $1,250, and restricting the number of saloons to two, expecting, of course, to have two applications for license. Thus far but one saloon has taken out a license, hence, the good Stephen people can slake their thirst at but one fountain.

Did You Buy Any Koal-Spar?

Minneapolis Journal: A concern has been selling and extensively advertising yellow packages labelled "Koal-Spar," at 25 cents for three pounds, representing that the wonderful compound would make a ton of coal do the work of a ton and a half. The New York World hired a prominent chemist to analyze the wonderful compound and it was found to be common salt. A trial of common salt showed that it did the work at a quarter of a cent just as well as the "Koal-Spar" did at 25 cents. There was 900 per cent profit in the business. The 24¾ cents was the contribution of a grateful but very badly bitten public to Yankee "shrewdness." Perhaps the wooden nutmeg story was not a myth after all.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal. They are the best family cathartic.

Lane's Medicine Moves the Bowels Each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary.

Come quick and get some of my A No. 1 dry maple before it is all gone. I have green ash, also that cannot be beat. Prices of dry oak, birch, tamarac and poplar still very low. All kinds of wood sawed as you want it at very cheap rate. My feed mill runs every day until April 1st and longer if necessary Feed ground for cash or toll. Low rates for large quantities. Call and see me.

W. H. NORRIE,
Corner Main and Third Streets.

To Get at the Facts.

Regarding Hood's Sarsaparilla, ask the people who take this medicine, or read the testimonials often published in this paper. They will certainly convince you that Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses unequalled merit, and that Hood,s cures.

Money to Loan

On city property, business and dwelling—at 6½ per cent per annum. For full particulars call on P. J. Russell, 25 and 26 Reckitt block, Crookston, Minn. [47tf]

To Get the Money.

TAHLEQUAH, I. T., April 10.—The Cherokee senate has passed a bill designating the chief and treasurer and two other delegates to go to Washington to get the money, amounting to $8,300,000 due on the sale of the strip. The bill will pass the lower house. Quite a sensation is being caused here by the recent offer of the Mexican government to sell the Cherokees a portion of old Mexico in case the United States takes the country away from them.

Radical Anti-Pinkerton Bill.

MADISON, Wis., April 10.—The assembly has passed the anti-Pinkerton bill, which is so radical as to make it illegal for an employer to call out his employes in case of necessity to protect his property, and some lawyers say would even forbid a trainman to call upon his crew to protect the train in case of assault.

Impeached a Populist.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 10.—The state senate without a dissenting vote, adopted a resolution impeaching ex-Attorney General Leese for misdemeanor in office. Leese held the office of attorney general for four years and retired to private life two years ago. He is now a leader of the Populists.

Confirmed Nominations.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The senate has confirmed the nominations of James B. Eustis, of Louisiana, to be ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to France, and Bartlett Tripp, of South Dakota, to be minister to Austro-Hungary. Also a number of less important appointments.

Hood's Cures
Almost Miraculous
Absolutely Helpless and Hopeless
The Grip, Rheumatism, Debility.

Mrs. Mary Andress
Of Crawfordsville, Ind.

"It is with much gratitude that I tell of the wonderful help received from Hood's Sarsaparilla. For several years I have been a very great sufferer with rheumatism. In the winter of '90 and '91, when I had been obliged to use crutches for a long while, in my unfortunate condition I had a severe attack of the grip, which put me down bedfast, for nearly a year. As I had a severe cough, the doctor thought my lungs affected, and that there was little or

No Hope of My Recovery

In the fall I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and, to my utmost delight found that I had at last obtained a medicine which was doing me good. When I began to take it I was unable to rise from my bed without help. There was severe pain and swelling in my hands, feet, knee-joints, and left ankle. I had become so hopeless of ever being any better that

I Desired to Die

And be out of my great pain. But as I continued with Hood's Sarsaparilla I continued to mend. From an utterly helpless condition I have now reached a good state of health. I do all my work and walk around without crutches. The pain and swelling, caused by the rheumatism, are gone. I have no pain in my hands and wrists, and they are not swollen or drawn any more. The cough and lung trouble and soreness in the chest, which followed the grip, have all gone, and I can sleep comfortably. I am greatly improved in flesh, strength and color. My bowels, hitherto inactive without physic, are, since taking quite regular, and other bodily functions healthful. My relatives and friends are delighted at my remarkable improvement, and join in giving the highest praise to Hood's Sarsaparilla," MRS. MARY ANDRESS, Crawfordsville, Ind.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills, Biliousness, Jaundice, Indigestion, Sick Headache.

Oak Lumber.

60,000 feet of solid oak plank from 8 to 18 feet, and inch boards. For full information address
GORDON & ANDERSON.
(51-2) Pelican Rapids, Otter Tail Co., Minn.

M. LeGUEE.
Veterinary Surgeon
Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

MORTGAGE SALE.

(First publication April 13th, 1893.)
(Last publication May 25th, 1893.)

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage, containing power of sale, dated November 30th, 1885, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on December 4th, 1885, in book 23 of mortgages, on pages 99, 100, 101, whereby Jean B. Lelande and Cleophie Lelande, his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to Mary E. Towle, mortgagee, all those tracts of land described as follows, to-wit: The southeast quarter of the northeast quarter, and lot one; all in section four, in township one hundred and fifty-one, of range forty-five, in Polk county, Minnesota, containing eighty acres more or less, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice $351.65.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be fore closed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county or his deputy, on May 27th, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m. at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any and $25 attorney's fees, and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated April 4th, 1893.

MARY E. TOWLE,
Mortgagee.

MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
[52-8] Attorneys for Mortgagee.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

First publication April 6th, 1893.
Last publication May 18th, 1893.

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly made and delivered by Pierre Lemieux and Philomine Lemieux, his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 22d day of December, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 23d day of February, A D. 1888, at 10.40 o'clock a. m., in book 34 of mortgages, on page 598, etc . Whereas default consists of the failure to pay the following installments of interest to-wit: $35.00 that became due June 22, 1889; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1889; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1890; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1890; $35 00 that became due June 22, 1891; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1891; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1892 and $35 00 that became due December 22, 1892, and whereas the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, holder of said mortgage, has elected to declare, and hereby does declare, the whole principal sum in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum to-wit: Thirteen hundred forty-two and seventeen hundredths ($1342.17) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The northwest quarter (nw¼ of section thirteen (13) township one hundred fifty (150) range forty-five (45) containing 160 acres more or less according to the government survey thereof, all of said premises situated and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public aution, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State on the 22d day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'cock a m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law,

Dated March 30th, A. D. 1893.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON,
Attorney For Mortgagee.
[51-7] N. G. 186.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, city of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 1st, 1893, and terminating on April 30th, 1894, by the following person and at the following place, as stated in said application, to-wit: L. M. Bergquist, on the ground floor of the two-story frame building situated on lot 16, block 6, Fletcher & Houston's addition to Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council in the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, Minn., on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and the seal of said city this 12th day of April, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, City of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 10th, 1893, and terminating on May 10th, 1894, by the following person and at the following place as stated in said application, to-wit: T. J. Orvik, on the first floor of the Opera Block, on lot 5, block 6, Fletcher & Houston's addition.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the city of Crookston, in the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893 at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 12th day of April, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, City of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 11th, 1893, and terminating on May 10th, 1894, by the following persons and at the following place, as stated in said application, to-wit: Dahle & Bergstrom, in the one-story frame building on lot 1, block 16, original townsite of Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the city of Crookston, in the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 12th day of April, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK. District Court.

In the matter of the assignment of Solfest A. Sylvester and Martin Finseth, partners as Sylvester & Finseth, insolvents.

At Chambers, April 11th, 1893, it appearing to the court by satisfactory proof and the files in the above entitled matter that Jerome W. Wheeler has duly qualified and entered upon the discharge of his trust as the assignee of said Sylvester & Finseth, and has filed the bond herein required by law.

Now, on motion of E. M. Stanton, Esq., attorney for said assignee, it is ordered, that all persons whomsoever having claims against the said Sylvester & Finseth existing on the 4th day of March, 1893, present the same duly verified, with the proof thereof, to said Jerome W. Wheeler at the Scandia-American Bank of Crookston, in the City of Crookston, Polk county, Minnesota, on or before the 10th day of July, A. D. 1893, for allowance.

Dated April 11th, 1893.

FRANK IVES,
(52-1) District Judge.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK, District Court.

In the matter of the assignment of Solfest A. Sylvester and Martin Finseth, partners as Sylvester & Finseth, insolvents.

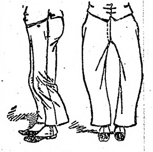
On reading the petition of Jerome W. Wheeler the assignee of the above named insolvents praying for license to sell certain of the personal property of said insolvents, in bulk, or by the piece, and for other directions,

It is ordered that said petition be heard at Chambers, on the 22d day of April, A. D. 1893, at the city of Crookston, in the county of Polk, state of Minnesota, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, and let all persons interested in said insolvent estate then and there show cause why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

Let a copy of this order be mailed forthwith to each of the creditors of said insolvent estate whose names appear upon the schedule thereof on file with the Clerk of this Court.

Dated April 11th, 1893.

By the Court, FRANK IVES,
(52-1) Judge.



IT'S THE

Fault of the Merchant

IF YOUR

CLOTHING

DOESN'T FIT.

There's nothing extraordinary about your figure. It's an easy enough matter to take your measure, and it's just as easy to cut cloth according to the measure when taken. We can take your measure and cut the cloth without the possibility of a mistake.

YOU MUST SELECT THE MATERIAL however, and much depends upon the good taste you display in making a choice. It's no case of Hobson's choice in our store either, because our stock embraces all the materials SANCTIONED BY FASHION, and if there is not something in it perfectly appropriate to you, then the appropriate fabric has not been made yet. We are showing the LATEST NOVELTIES FOR SPRING WEAR.

BOSTON
ONE PRICE
Clothing House,
Mossefin & Lindell, Proprietors.

THE CROOKSTON

GROCERY CO.

W. E. SLOCUM, Manager.

Will be Open for Business Soon.

LOOK OUT FOR BARGAINS IN—

GROCERIES, CROCKERY AND LAMPS.

AT THE OLD STAND
—OF BARNES & SLOCUM

On Robert Street, Crookston, Minn.

THIS SPACE
BELONGS TO

L. I. BENOIT,
THE
Cheap Cash Grocer

Who will use it to keep Journal readers posted on the BARGAINS HE OFFERS.

Don't take our word, but call and see

L. I. BENOIT,

At the New Store on Broadway, - - Crookston, Minn.

Margaret Medbury's Managers

By Mrs. H. A. STANLEY.

[Copyright, 1892, by American Press Association.]

CHAPTER V.

Arrived at Simmons' home a comparison of notes followed, and at Jack's recital of the afternoon's interview and Margaret's spirited denial of the brothers' claim the old gentleman kept exclaiming, "I knew it! I thought as much!" and seemed also to have a story to tell. As he proceeded Jack understood the motive of the theft from the safe.

"You see," began Simmons, "while I have worked for Mr. Medbury many years, even before you came, I have only run the books about—let me think."

"Eighteen months," suggested Jack.

"Yes; that's just about the time, I guess. You were then at the case, I think. I wasn't sure whether I took them while you were devil or not. At any rate, if Mr. Arthur hadn't been so ambitious to be a business manager and disliked bookkeeping so much, he would probably have succeeded Mr. Perkins, and I would have been still out on the road collecting and canvassing.

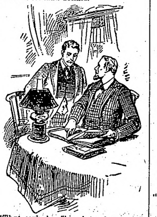
"I used to envy Mr. Arthur at first, for I could see or thought I could that he was bound to secure Perkins' place sooner or later, leaving me just where I was. He aimed higher than I thought, however, and his ambition was just what gave me the place. Coming from the local staff but a year or two before, he displayed more of an aptitude for securing advertising and for general management than he did for the position of helper to Perkins, and as a result I was worked in. Perkins liked it best that way, too, and declared to Mr. Medbury that he had rather have me and also praised Mr. Blite's capabilities as an advertising manager. It therefore happened that I was bookkeeper through Perkins' last sickness, being called in off the road, and my son was given my place. Meanwhile Mr. Blite kept gaining in favor and the balances showed that a business manager paid. He was therefore finally given almost entire control and had arrived at his present position about six months before Mr. Medbury's death. I relate all this that you may know how it all came about, for you were in the business office very little and may have wondered why Blite was placed over all of us. The fact is I would rather today do clerical work and only hope some man will be found to take Mr. Blite's place at once. I don't want the responsibility."

"That's all settled, I suppose," said Jack, blushing, and the old man went on.

"Mr. Arthur was always very respectful to me, but to the others, as you know, was at times very overbearing and disagreeable. I was somewhat surprised, therefore, when he came to me one day last week and informed me that, while his brother would have full charge of the editorial force as heretofore, he (Mr. Arthur) would manage the business end, and warned me not to have so much to say to the men. I knew that this charge was so unfounded it must be for a purpose, and suspecting that he was seeking some pretense to discharge me kept perfectly quiet. I only wanted to hold my position long enough to see him go, and I guess I shall—maybe to state's prison. Only day before yesterday he came in and found me looking over the cashbook he stole tonight. I was looking up an old account claimed to have been paid, but he gave me no chance to explain, for he walked up, banged the book together, and in his overbearing way said I was not to 'study ancient history, but to go on with my work.' I could see by his manner that he was suspicious of me, and as a result I became at once suspicious of him. What he was afraid of I don't know for certain, but I have a theory."

"So have I," said Jack, "and I've had it since I heard that interview this afternoon. If I'd been Miss Margaret I shouldn't have lost my temper so easy, but would have seen those books before I went home."

"That's the very thing," agreed Simmons. "Those notes are forgeries, and he knows the cashbook, which shows the receipt and expenditure of every cent, would give him away. You see, I knew nothing about the note dodge, and while I was suspicious of theft should have been on the wrong track till too late. You say, then, he produces notes for twelve thousand dollars?"



"That corks 'em!" exclaimed Simmons.

"Yes, Miss Margaret says there are three of them. They are for four thousand dollars each, and bear date of October first, eighteen hundred and eighty-five, January first and April first, eighteen hundred and eighty-six. The Blites called on her at the house Thursday and told her they had some papers they wanted her to come to the office and look over, but did not explain anything, and as she was busied about some other matters she did not come down till this afternoon. They claim now that the notes were given the time the new dress and big stereotype press were purchased, but I recollect, now it's brought to my mind, of Mr. Medbury telling Major Benton near my case one afternoon that he paid cash down for both."

"Well, he might have done that and still borrowed the money, but I don't believe he borrowed a cent. If he had, why should he have borrowed of the Blites? They never had the reputation of capitalists, so far as I know. What's the use of conjecturing, however? We have the cashbook. Let's look it over."

Drawing the curtains they brought the cashbook out and proceeded to examine it. A volume of five hundred pages, it was a continuous record from January first, eighteen hundred and eighty-five, to December thirty-first, eighteen hundred and eighty-six. The balance brought from a former book was three thousand dollars, and this had increased as the months rolled by about fifteen hundred dollars per month till September twelfth, eighteen hundred and eighty-five, when a balance of fifteen thousand eight hundred dollars was reduced to five thousand three hundred dollars by the payment of ten thousand five hundred dollars for a stereotype press and outfit. About thirty days later (October fifteenth) the balance, which had again increased to six thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars, was again reduced to four thousand eight hundred dollars and forty cents by the payment of one thousand nine hundred and forty-nine dollars and sixty cents for a new news dress and a large quantity of job type. The journal agreed with the cashbook.

"That corks 'em!" exclaimed Simmons triumphantly. "There's a record of every cent the office received and of all it paid out. I tell you a man's cashbook, if it's kept right, is a key to his business, no matter whether he lives or dies. I don't wonder the Blites wanted to destroy this one. It's lucky we saved it from the fire."

"But," interposed Jack, "Miss Margaret says these notes are in her father's own handwriting—body, signatures and all. They are not on a regular printed blank."

"The d-d-deuce you say!" gasped Simmons. "Why, I never knew Medbury to draw up any paper himself. He always referred such jobs as that to the bookkeeper and attached his own signature afterward. He was not an easy penman, but did all his writing with a big soft lead pencil."

"Yes, his copy used to look like lampblack put on with a brush."

"Well, do you know I never saw him sit down and write with a pen but once, and that was—let me think. Why it was in the office the day he gave me my fountain pen. Say, do you know what kind of paper those notes are on?"

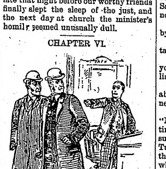
"Yes. That's the thing that struck Miss Margaret as 'funny,' as she expressed it. Those notes are written on a ruled, cheap yellow paper, such as they used to send up 'ads.' on, as near as I can understand from her description."

"Jack," cried Simmons excitedly, "I've got the key to the whole business. I saw those notes written, and it was my fountain pen that did it. Those notes were written in blank, so far as the figures were concerned, by Mr. Medbury himself, and on my desk. It was while Perkins was alive. I lent Medbury my fountain pen one day, so that he could purchase one like it for Miss Margaret or her mother, I don't know which. I went out on the road, and when I came back he'd lost it. He was somewhat plagued about it, and went out and bought me another. He came over to my desk, and throwing it down on the pad said, 'Here's a better pen than you had, Simmons,' and he dashed off those three notes on that pad.

"I remember how he tore off the sheet and laid it aside while I tried the pen on the pad. I remember he used Mr. Charles' name, but used no figures. The dollar sign was made, but only a dash where the face of the note should have been, and I've found out since that there was a peculiarity about the ink in that pen. This peculiarity will give those rascally Blites away, even if the cashbook did not. I tell ye, the hand of God is in it, and those men will never be allowed to rob Medbury's estate. In the daytime that ink is a bluish black, but in the nighttime, under any ordinary light, it's green as grass."

"Simmons, old man, we'll make the teeth of those two rascals chatter yet," and Jack fairly danced for joy. It was late that night before our worthy friends finally slept the sleep of the just, and the next day at church the minister's homily seemed unusually dull.

CHAPTER VI.



"I'll give you just ten seconds to get outside that door."

"Good morning, Mr. Hazeley," was Mr. Charles Blite's polite greeting on the following Monday as at eight o'clock he found Jack seated in the business manager's chair in the business office looking over the morning's mail, which Simmons was busily opening up for his inspection.

"What does this mean?" Mr. Charles demanded as he took in the situation, and he strode over to the desk, his suavity gone, his frown fearful to behold.

Jack coolly glanced over an advertising contract and remarked: "Keep your coat on, Mr. B. Don't get excited. Here comes your brother, and I want him to hear what I have to say." As Mr. Arthur came in Jack arose from his chair, buttoned his coat tightly around him, and, raising his voice a trifle announced, "It means, gentlemen, that by the authority vested in me by Miss Margaret Medbury I am in possession of this office in the capacity of business manager, and that you two gentlemen are not wanted here in any capacity whatever."

Brother Charles' heavy face became actually gray with passion, and as he shook his clinched fist toward Jack he snarled like a wounded wolf in impotent fury. Finally getting his voice he began: "It does, eh? We'll see. I'm named as executor of the will of Mr. Medbury. That will comes up for probate today, and we'll see who has charge of this office and property. Besides all this, my brother and I have certain claims that may make the property or a portion of it ours."

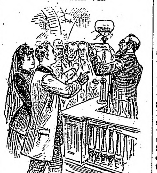
"Until you get before the surrogate and substantiate your claims, however," said Jack, "I am in possession here. I'll give you just ten seconds to get outside that door and stay out. If you don't go peaceably I'll throw you both clear over that curb." As he advanced the brothers retreated, and waiting not on the order of their going went.

"You forgot to tell me how they secured possession of those notes, Simmons," he remarked as he settled down to work again.

"So I did, and to tell the truth I don't know. The last I saw of them they were in Mr. Medbury's hand as he stepped on the elevator to go up to his office. I presume he laid them carelessly down with his exchanges, where they were found later by Mr. Charles. Maybe he didn't find them till he moved in after Mr. Medbury's death."

"Very likely. Let's see. We appear before the surrogate today at nine, do we? I believe I'll send a carriage for Miss Margaret."

CHAPTER VII.



"Hold one of these notes up where the light will not fall directly on it."

"The provisions of this will command me to issue letters testamentary to Mr. Charles Blite, who is here present, I suppose?" announced Judge Baxter at the surrogate's office an hour later, "and I suppose this to be the only document and the latest under the hand of the late Samuel Medbury." As he paused in a professional way he gazed over his spectacles at a group of a dozen, among whom were Margaret, Jack, Simmons, the Blites and several court loungers, including the sheriff. There was a momentary pause, and the surrogate had already motioned for his clerk to come forward when Jack's steady tones broke the silence:

"There are some papers which bear on the issue of letters, your honor, and as a representative of the sole heir at law I demand that the court see them before their holder is appointed executor and auditor of his own claims against Samuel Medbury's estate. I refer to three notes aggregating $12,000." Mr. Charles, who looked somewhat uneasy, stepped forward.

"I suppose," he ventured, "I am not obliged to show these at present, but inasmuch as Miss Margaret has seen fit to question their validity, and to discharge, or rather attempt to discharge, my brother and myself for daring to announce our possession of them, I herewith present them for your honor's inspection. Are not both of these signatures those of the decedent in this case?"

The surrogate looked at them critically and announced, "Not only are the signatures in the handwriting of the late Samuel Medbury, but the body of the notes as well."

"Has your honor a dark room near by?" was Jack's next question.

The surrogate looked surprised. "Certainly, Mr. Hazeley. Why do you ask?"

"For the reason that I wish to call your honor's attention to a certain peculiarity about these alleged notes."

"How do you know of any peculiarity about them, you presuming puppy? You never saw them in"——

"Silence!" thundered the surrogate. "Mr. Arthur Blite, I want you to distinctly understand that I never allow such language in these chambers." Turning, he ordered his clerk to lead the way to the great vaults below, in which were filed all the county records of the surrogate's office. Jack and Simmons brought up the procession. In Simmons' arms were the cashbook and journal, which, as they turned about to survey the crowd, the brothers recognized as the volumes they supposed they had burned the Saturday evening previous. The gas had been lighted, and by the glare of it the faces of the two guilty wretches looked ghastly indeed. Were ever two knaves in closer quarters? The proof of one attempted crime before their eyes, and the proof of another, greater, and the primary crime of the lot, promised, and they in the presence of their accusers in an iron vault and with a stalwart sheriff at the door!

"Your honor will please hold one of these notes up where the light will not fall directly on it—so," said Jack. The judge did as requested, and an exclamation of wonder escaped every person present except Jack and Simmons and the brothers. The former were smiling triumphantly. The latter, with looks of terror on their faces, were slinking toward the door, leaving their notes in the hands of their accusers.

"Sheriff, stop those two men," commanded Jack, and that official made a significant motion which brought the Blites to a stand. "You will notice," continued Jack, "that while the body and signatures of those notes are here green the sums or faces and the dates are a decided blue. Mr. Simmons, please tell the court your story." Simmons did so, and the sheriff as he listened got out his bracelets.

The surrogate listened attentively, and at the conclusion of Simmons' tale, which Jack had supplemented from time to time, said, "I must say that I have never known of a case similar to this, and my duty is hardly clear to me at this moment."

"You will pardon the suggestion, your honor," interposed Jack, "but in behalf of my employer, Miss Medbury, allow me to say she has no desire to punish these wretched servants further than by the discharge they received Saturday. If they will leave the city she will decline to prosecute."

"I do not know that I have a right to allow them to go. Technically they are not guilty of forgery, but they are of fraud, and of an attempt to utter fraudulent paper. They have raised these otherwise harmless blanks, however, and the law can and will handle them severely for it if I do my duty."

"I most earnestly request that they be allowed to go," said Margaret, here breaking in. "No one can lose by their freedom but myself, and I have not the least desire for vengeance."

"Granted," exclaimed the judge, "and if all employers were as lenient as you rascality would be more plentiful and lawyers would have less business." He nodded to the sheriff, who stepped to one side and allowed the precious pair to hurry out and down the street. They were not heard of for more than a year afterward, and then only by a brief news dispatch announcing the death of Charles and the serious wounding of Arthur by a western farmer whose name they had secured to an innocent looking order for a patent right. The order proved a note, and the farmer went gunning for them. He refused payment, saving his money to defend himself with. He was acquitted by a jury of his neighbors.

It was a merry and thankful company that assembled at the Medbury house that evening after the hearing before the surrogate, and when Mr. and Mrs. Simmons and John Hazeley left at a late hour the office problem had been settled satisfactorily to all concerned. Jack was to be business manager and dictate the editorial policy of the paper, for Simmons and Margaret seemed confident he could make no mistake. During the afternoon an arrangement had been made by wire whereby a talented editorial writer from a neighboring city had been secured and placed in the position made vacant by Ruggles, the associate editor, who was promoted to the position made vacant by Mr. Blite's dismissal. As for Mr. Simmons, all he wanted was "the books," and he got them.

It remains but to be said that Jack's policy was vigorous and wise, and that The Herald took an active part in the last political campaign, doing much for its party candidates. Always an observer and a student, Jack has improved vastly, rising equal to every emergency. The year eighteen hundred and ninety-one was the most prosperous The Herald had ever known. In fact both the paper and its manager are so popular as to have influence even among opponents. Jack is mentioned for congress, and will without doubt go there in three years. It was recently announced that he was to marry the lady by whom he is employed, which proves conclusively how she appreciates his management.

THE END.

A Luxurious Shanty.

If the intelligent foreigner who comes to New York includes Shantytown in his round of observation, it must surprise him to see what a difference exists between the rude huts of that district and the cabins of the very poor in Great Britain and France. The latter are built to last, while the New York shanty is only expected to tide over a period of four or five years; but, rude as it is without, the shanty is often the superior of the European cottage in its furnishing. Well made furniture, carpets, stoves and wall paper are common to the shanty, while the peasant across the sea may have to content himself with an earthen floor and a bed built into the framework of the house. On a recent evening a reporter saw a shanty that could not have cost $100. It had lace curtains at the windows, portieres worth about $10, framed pictures on the walls, and was lighted by a piano lamp with a silk shade.—New York Sun.

A Popular Myth.

The time worn "million stamps" lie still survives and is likely to prove immortal. People all over the country are trying to accumulate 1,000,000 canceled postage stamps, in the belief that a standing offer is made by the government or by somebody of a big prize for such a collection. Some think that $10,000 is the sum guaranteed, while others imagine that the reward is the endowment of a permanent bed in a hospital. The popular notion on this subject being somewhat undefined, letters asking about it are constantly received at the postoffice department. But no denials serve to destroy the widespread faith in this strange chimera.—Washington Letter.

The Crucifix of Louis XVI.

It has often been wondered what had become of the crucifix used by the Abbe Edgeworth at the execution of Louis XVI. Our Paris correspondent says it is now in the possession of the parish priest of St. Medard de Guisiere, to whom it was given by one of his flock, a Mme. d'Espilat, when she was dying. She enjoined him never to part with it because it was a sacred relic, and she expected that Louis, the martyr, would one day figure in the calendar of the church along with his ancestor, St. Louis. The crucifix, with the Christ on it, is in old carved ivory and was probably made at Dieppe.—London News.

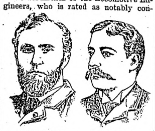
RIGHT TO QUIT WORK

THE ISSUE INVOLVED IN THE ANN ARBOR CASE.

Judges Ricks and Taft Have Put a New Phase on the Labor Question—Labor Leaders Sargent and Arthur Have Had Interesting Careers.

Put in the fewest possible words, the various orders and rulings of United States District Judge Ricks and the restraining order of United States Circuit Judge Taft in the Ann Arbor railway cases at Toledo mean just this: Railroad and telegraph employees and some others form a class which is a marked exception to the general rule as to laborers' rights. Those corporations are the public's agents; they are under obligations to government, and the men in their employ are quasi public agents. They cannot drop work at will or without giving due notice, as by so doing they may work great injury to the public.

Similarly condensed, the reply of the men is: If the railroads can, as they do, combine to regulate labor and wages, and the employees cannot, or if the railroads can, as they do, discharge employees at will, and the men have no corresponding right, then it is, in effect, despotism. To this Chief Arthur of the Locomotive Engineers, who is rated as notably conservative among laboring men, adds that the men would not object to a law equally binding on both parties and requiring notice with sufficient time. It is evident that a new and very grave question is raised, and probable that it must go to the United States supreme court for final settlement.



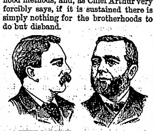
JUDGE RICKS. JUDGE TAFT.

Of the solutions offered, that of the socialists, semisocialists and paternalists generally is this: Let the government take charge of the railroads and run them as it did in wartime. Let the employees be taken as enlisted men, and then they can be punished for desertion. And this idea so far commends itself to the vice president and manager of the road in controversy, James N. Ashley, that he has embodied the principle in his new set of rules. Hereafter employees are to be taken for a definite time and sign a contract accordingly. They are to be examined under civil service rules and give some guarantees for strict performance of contract and are to be discharged or promoted by rule. It is unnecessary to add that the world will watch his experiment with intense interest.

All the parties to the controversy are in dead earnest and realize that it is organized labor's big fight. His honor Augustus J. Ricks, scarcely heard of outside of his district before March 11, is now a man of national, possibly international, note. His official residence is at Cleveland; he is United States district judge for the northern district of Ohio, and his salary is $5,000.

United States Circuit Judge William H. Taft is a man of far more note, and his career has been phenomenal. A son of Judge Alphonso Taft, who was in turn secretary of war, attorney-general and minister to Austria and Russia, the young judge was born in Cincinnati Sept. 15, 1857. He was graduated from Yale in 1878 and admitted to the bar in 1880, and his progress in his profession was so rapid that after holding minor offices he was in 1887 made judge of the Cincinnati superior court. Not quite three years later President Harrison appointed him solicitor general at Washington, and two years later, at the early age of 34, he was named for the high dignity of United States circuit judge in the new circuit court of appeals then created as an aid to the supreme court. Rare indeed are the instances in judicial history of such rapid advancement.

His restraining order, denounced by the strikers as arbitrary, peremptorily forbids P. M. Arthur and F. P. Sargent from issuing or continuing any rule or order directing any railroad man to refuse to handle any goods in transit from one state to another, or doing anything else to hinder transportation. It names them and their brotherhoods specifically and flatly forbids men or orders to do as they have been doing. In short, it brings the whole force of the federal government squarely down on brotherhood methods, and, as Chief Arthur very forcibly says, if it is sustained there is simply nothing for the brotherhoods to do but disband.



CHIEF SARGENT. CHIEF ARTHUR.

Peter M. Arthur, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, is a native of Scotland, but came to this country very young, began life as a helper in the blacksmith shops of the New York Central, worked up to the position of engineer and was elected chief in 1874. During his 19 years as its head the order has attained a membership of 80,000, and he, by judicious investments in real estate and otherwise, has acquired $300,000. He lives in a handsome brick house on Euclid avenue, Cleveland, is a member of the Methodist church and has a wife and three grown and married children. Frank P. Sargent, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, is a native of Vermont, 41 years old and lives in Terre Haute, Ind.

WHY HE HATED THE BEAST."

An Extraordinary Request Which Excited the Curiosity of a Country Boarder.

"I never look at that old clock on the mantelpiece," observed my friend Mrs. W. as we sat in her parlor one evening last week, "that it does not call to my mind an amusing incident connected with my trip to the northern part of this state last summer.

"I was stopping," she went on, "in a quaint little village at the only hotel in the place. Every evening upon retiring I heard voices in an adjoining room. My curiosity naturally prompted me to listen. The conversation was usually of a commonplace order, but what really attracted my attention was this strange request nightly repeated:

"'Now, Jovilla, put that infernal beast out of the way and cover him up.' It was a man's voice, gruff, though, I fancied, kindly. This peculiar request was invariably met with some such response as this:

"'Oh, Tom, shame upon you! What would dear mother say if she knew how you treated her present?'

"The voice this time was distinctly feminine and rather shrill and complaining. Of course I was fairly consumed with curiosity. What manner of beast was this which the poor woman was thus obliged to 'put out of the way and cover up?' And why did they keep a 'beast' in their bedroom anyway?

"In vain I pondered over this seeming mystery. In vain I fretted and guessed. Tom appeared to be so kind and even tempered too. Well, I could stand it no longer, so I finally resolved to ask him frankly for an explanation.

"'Mr. Tom,' I said to him one morning, 'pray excuse my apparent rudeness and curiosity, but won't you tell me about that beast you keep in your room and why you wish to have it covered up every evening before you retire?'

"A gleam of mirth lighted up his countenance. 'So you've heard us a-talkin, neighbor,' he said. 'Well, it's just this a-way:

"'Jovilla, she's my wife, an she sets great store by her ma, which, between you an me an that theregatepost, I don't. So 'long 'bout last Christmas the old woman give us a clock. It wasn't much to look at, but it had the awfulest tick you ever heerd. Loud and solemnlike it was, an it made me that nervous I couldn't get no sleep o' nights.

"'"Now, Jovilla," says I, "you'll have to put that tickin beast—I always calls it a beast—out of the way or muzzle it or su'thin, or I'll smash it with a hammer, I will." So Jovilla she took it and wrapped it up in her flannel petticoat.

"'But may I never touch another drop of cider ef the cussed thing didn't tick louder than ever. That kinder made me mad, an I told her that if I heerd that tickin ag'in I'd stop it for good.

"'So, you see, neighbor, Jovilla fixes it every night before she goes to bed so's it kain't make no noise. She just puts it in the washtub, throws a big fur robe over it, shoves it in the closet an shuts the door.

"'An that, neighbor,' observed my rural acquaintance, 'is what I mean by coverin up the beast.'"—New York Herald.

An action may be so clothed as to change its proper effect on people. With most of us a sugar coated vice seems preferable to a pepper coated virtue.

St. Vitus' Dance cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

JOHN CROMB.
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

MARTIN O'BRIEN,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
{I. O. O. F. BUILDING.} Crookston. Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block } CROOKSTON, MINN.

THE PRESS
(NEW YORK)
For 1893

Has a larger Daily Circulation than any other Republican newspaper n America.
DAILY. SUNDAY WEEKLY.

The Aggressive Republican Journal of the Metropolis.
A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES.
Founded Dec. 1st, 1887.

Circulation over 125,000 copies daily. The most remarkable Newspaper Success in New York. The PRESS is a National Newspaper. Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of the the PRESS.

The PRESS has the brightest Editorial page in New York. It sparkles with points. The PRESS Sunday Edition is a splendid paper, covering every current topic of interest. The PRESS Weekly Edition contains all the good things of the Daily and Sunday editions.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM
The Press has no superior in New York.

THE PRESS
Within the reach of all. The best and cheapest Newspaper in America.
Daily and Sunday, one year........$5 00
" " 6 months........2 50
" " 1 " 45
Daily only, one year........3 00
" " 4 months........1 00
Sunday, one year........2 00
Weekly Press, one year........1 00

Send for Press circular. Samples free. Agents wanted everywhere. Liberal commissions.
Address THE PRESS,
38 Park Row, New York.

PRAIRIES ON FIRE.

GREAT DEVASTATION THROUGHOUT NEBRASKA.

A Violent Gale Drives the Flames Over Many Counties—One Town Believed to Have Been Wiped Out. Meagre Details of Great Losses.

OMAHA, Neb., April 10—A violent gale prevailed throughout Nebraska all day. Reports from many portions of the state indicate that prairie fires have done much damage. Banner, Keith, Dawson, Blaine and adjoining counties are completely devastated by the flames. In Banner county the village of Ashmore is supposed to have been completely destroyed. Word was brought to Harrisburg by the driver of the stage that that town was directly in the path of the fire at 4 o'clock, and that the entire population of the village was engaged in a battle to save their homes. Meager details received during the night from Ogallala, Dunnington, Inverton, Kearney, Grand Island and Hastings give accounts of great losses to property. A Burlington bridge at Dunning, and another at Hastings, on the Elkhorn were destroyed, delaying the trains somewhat. At Kearney, the fire burned near enough to town to destroy a brewery located just at the edge.

At Dunning an old lady named Bartlett was burned so badly that she may die. The region burned over is the chief grazing section of the state.

WIND AND HAIL.

Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois Visited by a Severe Storm.

CHICAGO, April 8.—A furious wind and hail storm swept over the southern portion of the city during the evening, causing considerable damage. Trees were blown down, bill boards were levelled and hundreds of window lights were shattered.

John Ordway of Englewood, while riding in a street car, was struck in the back of the neck by a piece of glass from the car window which had been broken by hailstones and one of the veins of his neck was cut. Before medical aid could be given him he lost so much blood that his recovery is doubtful.

Panics occurred in several of the tall apartment buildings but no serious accidents from this cause have been reported. The Chicago Floral company had 10,000 panes of glass broken in their greenhouse. Several other greenhouses suffered from broken glass. Severe wind storms accompanied by electrical disturbances prevailed throughout Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois. At Racine, Wis., shipping was somewhat damaged by a tidal wave and a number of buildings were struck by lighting. At Bloomington, Ills., Miss Kate Viney was struck by a flying board and fatally injured.

BURNED MANY HOUSES.

Carelessness of a South Dakota Settler Causes a Fierce Prairie Fire.

SIOUX FALLS, April 10.—A special from Chamberlain states that a frightful prairie fire swept over Presho county, burning up many ranch houses and laying waste the country far and wide. This is one of the newly settled counties on the late Sioux reservation and is not protected by fire guards. The flames, many feet in height, were swept along at a fearful rate by a gale, and it was impossible for those in their track to escape. A woman named Bessie Morgan and child were caught on their claim and burned to death. Hundreds of cattle and horses were also destroyed. The blaze was accidentally set by a settler throwing a lighted match into the grass, which kindled into a roaring flame almost instantly. So great is the public indignation at the man's carelessness that a mob has formed and threatens to lynch him. The sheriff has gone with a posse to protect him.

Much Damage at Hot Springs.

HOT SPRINGS, S. D., April 10.—The forest fire of Friday and Friday night burned over the ranch of Hon. John L. Burke, three miles south of town, doing damage to the extent of $2,500. A number of other ranches were also burned. The loss by this fire cannot be estimated, as thousands of acres of fine timber has been destroyed, besides the loss sustained by settlers.

WORKMEN MEET DEATH.

An Engine House Crushed by a Huge Cantilever at Joliet, Ills.

JOLIET, Ills., April 8.—Nine men employed on the drainage canal were killed outright and ten others received injuries more or less serious by the falling of a cantilever machine on the engine house in which the men were gathered for protection from the storm which visited this section of the state during the day. The heavy hail and wind storm passed through Joliet at 6 p. m. doing damage to buildings. At Romeo, four miles north of Lockport on the drainage canal, occurred the worst damage in this county. Danbridge & Hanger, sub-contractors under Mason, Hage & King on the drainage canal channel, will suffer a heavy loss. The high cantilever on wheels, weighing 28 tons, was on the track when the storm set in. Before it could be changed the wind swept it down the track and it fell on top of the engine house where the men had got out of the storm.

Stock for a State Saloon.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 10.—Governor B. R. Tillman and State Commissioner D. H. Troxler are in Pittsburg looking after a stock of liquors and bottles. They will call on the leading glass and liquor men, who are to quote prices for the "stocking" of a big state saloon.

Carter Issues a Call.

HELENA, April 11.—Chairman T. H. Carter has issued a call for a meeting of the Republican national committee at Louisville, May 10.

Something New in Train Equipment to Chicago.

The "Limited" train on The Northwestern Line," leaving Minneapolis 7:30 p. m., St. Paul 8:10 p. m. and arriving Milwaukee 7:25 a. m., Chicago 9:30 a. m., is now equipped with Wagner Compartment Cars in addition to Standard Sleepers, and also with Buffet Smoking and Library Cars.

This is the finest equipped train in America, is the only train of its kind west of Chicago, and no extra fare is charged on this "Northwestern Limited."

By "The Northwestern Line" you also have advantage of fast day train, leaving Minneapolis 7:20 a. m. and St. Paul 8:30 a. m., arriving Milwaukee 7:55 p. m., Chicago, 9:35 p. m., also an afternoon train, leaving Minneapolis 5:00 p. m., St. Paul 5:35 p. m., arriving at Chicago 7:45a. m

"The Nortwestern Line" is also the only Pullman Car Line from St. Paul and Minneapolis, Sioux City, Omaha, Kansas City, Duluth and Ashland.

For luxury and comfort, best equipment and road bed, secure ticket via "The Northwestern Line," they are on sale at all stations. Illustrated Map Folder free on application to

T. W. TEASDALE
Gen. Pass. Agent,
[32tf] St. Paul, Minn.

Cheap Fuel.

From a limited amount of wood, I will deliver to any part of the city four foot dry soft wood at $4.00, four foot dry hard wood at $5.50, sawed as you want it for 50 cents extra.

W. H. NORRIE,
Successor to Priester & Co.
Corner Main and Third streets.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of three hundred and four dollars ($304) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Jedire Draper and Alice Mariah Draper, his wife, to The Security Trust Company, a corporation bearing date the 4th day of September, A. D. 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 22d day of October, A. D. 1890, at 8:40 o'clock a. m., in book 52 of mortgages, on page 447, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots fifteen and sixteen (15 and 16) of block eighty-two (82) of Kretzschmar's Addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county, in Polk county and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 29th day of April, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and $6.65 taxes paid by the mortgagee on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 1st, A. D. 1893.

SECURITY TRUST COMPANY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN, Attys. [48-2]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss.
District Court, 14th Judicial District.

In the matter of the assignment of Sollest A. Sylvester and Martin Finseth, copartners as Sylvester & Finseth.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of Sylvester & Finseth in the above entitled matter of the city of Crookston, in said county and state, have by deed in writing, dated 4th day of March, 1893, made a general assignment to the undersigned, of all copartnership and individual property not exempt by law from levy and sale on execution, for the benefit of all their creditors, without preferences.

All claims must be verified and presented to the undersigned for allowance.

Dated March 11th, 1893.

JEROME W. WHEELER, Assignee.
(48-2) Polk County, Minn.

The St. Paul Globe And Cleveland.

Now that the Democratic party, by the vote of a large majority of the American people, has been placed in possession of all branches of the national government,

YOU WILL WANT
THE ST. PAUL GLOBE

As a regular visitor in your home.

It will give you the news of the world.

It will give you the markets of the world.

It will give you the doings of congress.

It will give you the doings of your own state legislature.

It will keep you informed upon the acts of the administration of President Cleveland, as well as the acts of the Republican state administration.

It will discuss, intelligently and impartially, questions of legislation and administration in both state and nation—giving especial attention to questions of taxation, finance, free wheat markets and those things in which you are most deeply interested.

You also want the GLOBE'S great Geographical and Political Map, to hang up in your house or office. No intelligent family will want to be without the GLOBE or its Map.

Price of either the WEEKLY GLOBE one year or the Map, $1. Both taken together, $1.50.

RATES OF GLOBE BY MAIL.

	1 YR.	6 MO.	3 MO.	1 MO.
Daily	$8.00	$4.00	$2.00	70 cts
Daily and Sunday	10.00	5.00	2.50	85 cts
Sunday	2.00	1.00	.50	.....
Weekly	1.00	.50	.25	.....
Club of three Weeklies				$2.70
Club of 5 Weeklies, and 1 to agent free, 1 yr.				$5.00

☞ All subscriptions payable in advance.

Address, ST. PAUL GLOBE,
St. Paul, Minn.

NEW CIGAR STORE

SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor,
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds; Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerschaum.

CALL IN.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9th, 1893.]
[Last publication April 20th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing power of sale, dated June 10th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on June 21st, 1887, at ten o'clock a. m., in book 33 of mortgages, on page 17, whereby Knud Johnsen and Guri Johnsen, his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, all that tract of land situate in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, described as follows: the southwest quarter of section nine, in township one hundred and forty nine north, of range forty west containing 160 acres more or less, excepting therefrom two acres in the southwest corner of said section, which excepted part is used for a church and cemetery, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $442, being the amount of the principal secured by said mortgage, with interest thereon and the taxes for the years 1888, 1889, 1890, 1891 and 1892, paid by the mortgagee, with interest thereon from the date of such payment. Said mortgage and the debt secured thereby were duly assigned by an instrument in writing bearing date September 8th, 1887, by said mortgagee to George Parker, and said assignment was, on September 13th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said county, in book 33 of mortgages, on page 241.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m., at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, and $25 Attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

GEORGE PARKER,
Assignee of Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorney for Assignee.
[47-1] Crookston Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9, 1893]
[Last publication April 20, 1893]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale, dated November 21st, 1890, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk County, Minnesota, on November 24th 1890, in book 49 of mortgages on page 208, whereby Bertha Rundhaug, formerly Bertha Iverson, and Torgrim O Rundhaug her husband, mortgagors, mortgaged to Martin Lally, mortgagee, all that tract, piece or parcel of land, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The north-east quarter of the south-west quarter and lot six, all in section six in Township one hundred and forty-nine of range forty-two, containing 78 and 72-100 acres, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $158.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a.m., at the front door of the Court House in the City of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, and $25 attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

MARTIN LALLY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Mortgagee. [47-1]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9th, 1893.]
[Last publication April 20th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale dated February 5th, 1890, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on February 15th, 1890, in book 51 of mortgages, on page 539, whereby Ephraim Audette and Philanise Audette his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to The Security Trust Company, mortgagee, all that tract, piece or parcel of land situate in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of section ten, in township one hundred and fifty north, of range forty-five west, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $547.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m., at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, and $25 Attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

SECURITY TRUST COMPANY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Mortgagee. [47-1]

The Farmers' Tribune

THE Best Newspaper.
THE Best Agricultural Paper
THE Best Editorials.
THE BEST MISCELLANEOUS READING.
THE BEST SKETCHES OF TRAVEL.
THE BEST ESSAYS AND SERMONS.

Should be read in every home in the Northwest.

LIBERAL PREMIUMS.

Each subscriber who pays arrearges and one year in advance, or each new subscriber who sends one dollar for one year's subscription between Feb. 15th and May 1st, 1893, will receive as a premium their choice of either

No. 1—12 Packages Vegetable Seed.

No. 2—12 Packages Flower Seeds.

No. 3—25 Strawberry Plants.

No. 4—1 Lb. Farmers' Tribune Pedigreed Seed corn.

Remember, $1.00 for the Farmers' Tribune one year, with choice of either of above premiums. Or the

POLK COUNTY JOURNAL
ONE YEAR
AND EITHER OF THE ABOVE PREMIUMS,
For $2.00.

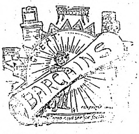
Address
THE JOURNAL,
Crookston, Minn.

A GOOD STORY

is as much the part of a Home Newspaper as the news. Therefore the choice fiction from leading writers constantly appearing in these columns.

If you are not a regular subscriber enter your subscription at once for

THE HOME PAPER



A Neatly Furnished House

Is a joy and comfort to its possessor. In this glorious northwest none are too poor to have good furniture and comfortable fixtures for their home. We carry not only the most expensive furniture and house furnishings, but also a line of good, substantial, nice-looking goods, which we can sell at prices within the reach of all. We carry everything to be in a first-class furniture store, and we guarantee to undersell our competitors.

Scandia Furniture Co.

OPERA BLOCK,
Crookston, - - - Minn.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

Is the only line running
THROUGH PULLMAN CARS
BETWEEN
Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis
AND
NORTH PACIFIC COAST POINTS.

THE DINING CAR LINE
Dining Cars on all through Trains.

THE YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
This marvellous Wonderland reached only by this line.

THE PEOPLE'S LINE
The people's highway from Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and West Superior to Winnipeg, Helena, Butte, Missoula, Spokane, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and Puget Sound.

THE TOURISTS' LINE
The popular line to reach Lakes Pend d' Orielle Cœur d' Alene, Kootenai, Chelan, the Hot Springs and Mountain Resorts of the Northwest and to Alaska.

DAILY EXPRESS TRAINS
Have Pullman Palace Cars, Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Free Colonist Sleeping Cars.

THROUGH TICKETS
Are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and West, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave Crookston	For St. Paul, Minneapolis Chicago, Duluth and West Superior.	7:12 p.m.
Daily	For Grand Forks, Grafton, Brandon and Winnipeg.	8:19 a.m.

For rates, maps, time tables, or special information, apply to

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R R.,
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn

SAAKE

Is still doing business at the old stand and selling

WATCHES, CLOCKS JEWELRY

CHEAPER THAN EVER.

WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

ROBERT STREET,
CROOKSTON, MINN. C. H. SAAKE.

Schmidt, the Painter,

CARRIES A FULL AND COMPLETE STOCK OF PAINTS,
OILS AND VARNISHES
—ALSO A FULL AND COMPLETE LINE OF—
WALL PAPER.

Painting in all its branches, and Paper Hanging artistically done.

Call at the Shop on Broadway.

If you want a
STOVE OR RANGE
—FOR WOOD OR Coal, see the—

BRAND'S
FAMOUS
STOVES AND RANGES

FAMOUS BRAND STOVE

AT ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER'S.

They are the finest line of stoves ever brought to Crookston, and are sold at

REASONABLE PRICES.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPENS [illegible]

Are You Going? If so be sure and take out a Membership Certificate in "The Chicago Entertainment Bureau." It will save you Worry, Time and Money. Respectable and well located rooms at moderate prices guaranteed. Send for descriptive circulars to the

Minnesota and Dakota Headquarters, 618 AND 619 PIONEER PRESS BLDG., ST. PAUL,
N. T. HALL, Manager.

Partial List of References: HON. KNUTE NELSON, Gov. of Minnesota; HON. A. R. McGILL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; HON. W. R. MARSHALL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; RT. REV. W. N. GILBERT, Ass't Bishop, Diocese, Minn., and many other equally well known names.

The P. Lorillard Company has been for many years the largest manufacturer of tobacco in the World—why?

Chew
Climax
Plug
Chew
Climax
Plug
Chew
Climax
Plug
Chew
Climax
Plug
Chew
Climax
Plug

CHEW CLIMAX PLUG and the reason why will be as clear to you as the noonday sun.

IT'S MUCH THE BEST.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leaves Crookston Daily
For St. Paul, Minneapolis, Superior, Ashland, Duluth, Chicago, and for all points South, East and West.........at 7:12 p. m.
For Grand Forks, Grafton, Pembina, Brandon, Winnipeg, and points north, ...at 8:19 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN
Railway
TIME CARD.

MONTANA EXPRESS—Daily.

West				East
7:40 p m	De.	St Paul	Ar.	6:55 a m
2:50 a m	"	Fergus Falls	"	11:25 p m
4:47 a m	"	Glyndon	"	9:36 p m
7:20 a m	"	CROOKSTON	"	7:25 p m
8:40 a m	"	Grand Forks	"	6:20 p m
9:45 a m	"	Larimore	"	5:06 p m
2: 1 p m	"	Devils Lake	"	2:55 a m
7:00 p m	Ar.	Butte	De.	7:30 a m

ST. VINCENT BRANCH—Daily except Sunday
Depart 7:30 a m Arrive 6:30 p m

FOSSTON BRANCH—Daily, except Sunday.
Depart 8:00 a m Arrive 5:30 p m

ST. HILAIRE, Thief River and Red Lake Falls Branch—
Monday, Wednesday and Friday,
Depart 9:00 a m Arrive 6:59 p m

GRAND FORKS' ACCOMMODATION.
Arrive 9:50 a m Depart 7:55 p m

The scenic route to Spokane, Helena, and Butte on the west, and St. Paul, Minneapolis-Duluth and West Superior on the east. Dining and sleeping cars on all through trains. Tickets on sale to all principal places. Baggage checked through to destination.

W. W. FEGAN, Agent.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 53.
1 Northern 51.

Fine showers on Tuesday.

The snow is going very slowly and the prospects for late seeding are very good.

Ripans Tabules cure constipation.

John Wyatt, who has been laid up for about 10 days with a sort of fever, is able to be around again.

Money to loan. Farm and city lots for sale. Please call at R. R. V. Loan and Investment Co., Opera Block, Crookston, Minn.

Ripans Tabules cure dyspepsia.

Geo. L. Henderson representing the Railway Building and Loan Association of Minneapolis, was in the city Monday, and appointed E. M. Walsh agent for Crookston.

Nic Suprenault died at his residence in the Fifth ward of paralysis, at 2 a. m. on Sunday, and was buried on Monday. He was about 35 years old and had been working in the Walker mill.

C. H. Baldwin returned Monday from a trip to St. Louis. He reports the grass growing green there and the temperature about 80 above, men wearing linen dusters and spring merging into summer.

Dr. A. Nelson was in the city from Fertile on Monday, calling on his many friends here. The doctor reports everybody distressingly healthy this spring which is tough on the profession.

The Glyndon News says that the great sale of horses on the Barnes farm on the 4th and 5th was poorly attended and only about one-third of the horses were sold, at very low figures. Poor roads and inclement weather interfered with the sale,

Will Peterson returned from a trip to Red Lake Falls on Monday evening, rustled around the city on Tuesday and lit out again early on Wednesday morning by the first train he could catch. He don't let any grass grow under his feet these days.

Olson & Anderson are building a vault in their new block for the special use of Christianson Bros. who will take possession of their new quarters in that block just as soon as the vault is ready for them. They were obliged to take a five years lease in order to induce the proprietors of the block to build the vault.

Alphonse Paradis started this week for Minot, N. D., near which place he has located a coal mine. From samples he showed our reporter of the coal he has we should udge that he has secured a bananza, and we hope he has. He informed us that several Crookston gentlemen are interested with him and will furnish the capital necessary to work the mines.

We live in hopes of a seed-time—bye and bye.

Charlie Westler showed up in fine form on Tuesday morning. He makes Crookston every 40 days.

Alderman Norrie says the wood business took a boom last week. Everybody wanted wood and wanted it right away quick.

L. Larson: This is our fourth carload of drills we've got this spring. They are all Dowagiacs and were sending them out every day.

Present appearances indicate that not much seeding will be done before the latter part of the month. The snow is going very slowly.

And now we are all waiting anxiously to see the drainge bill passed. The prospects seem to be favorable—but you can't tell till it is done.

Aldermen I. U. Jennings:—"In the contest for alderman in the First ward I may not have "taken the whole bakery" but I eight the Buhn, anyhow."

Miss Jennie Newland has accepted a position in the express office with her brother Herb. Miss N. is well qualified for the position being a competent book-keeper and thoroughly posted on the routine of office work.

W. E. McKenzie was setting up the cigars on Monday all on account of the arrival of a fine bouncing young printer's devil at his house. The Daily Times had an extra ring that afternoon, and Mac has loomed up portentiously all the week.

Tom Harris, the expert house mover, moved Judge Benson's large safe last Saturday from his quarters in Christianson's, Bros. office to his new office upstairs in the Anderson-Olson block. The safe weighs about three tons but Tom is "onto his job" and handled it with ease.

M. Lefebvre has purchased the stock and tools of Louis Godbout, rented his building on Broadway and moved in. Mr. Lefebvre is one of the best in his line and will no doubt do well in his new location. Mr. Godbout will go to Detroit, Mich., to look after his new patent.

The JOURNAL family is enjoying a sample of flour from Kretzschmar's mill at Thief River Falls and if all his flour is like that we should not blame everybody for using only Kretzschmar's flour. The writer can say that he never saw a finer sample in his life and he has eaten flour in almost every state in the Union.

Aldermen W. E. Walker welcomed a young Maud S. on Tuesday morning. The filly will be a world-beater when it reaches the proper age as its sire is Rose Valley Chief, a descendant of a noted line of trotters. Already Alderman Walker is challenging Alderman Marlette and other noted horse-men in the council and offering all sorts of odds.

Larsen, Carpenter & Co. have the agency for the Overman Wheel Co. of Boston, the makers of the celebrated Victor wheel—said to be the best on earth. For a medium grade wheel they sell the Duke, Duchess and Crescent, all good serviceable wheels, but they haven't got as many frills as the Victor. If you want to see the slickest bicycle made, just step into their office, corner Broadway and Robert street.

My wife was confined to her bed for over two months with a severe attack of rheumatism. We could get nothing that would afford her any relief, and as a last resort gave Chamberlain's Pain Balm a trial. To our great surprise she began to improve after the first application; and by using it regularly she was soon able to get up and attend to her house work. E. H. Johnson, of C. J. Knutson & Co., Kensington, Minn. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, druggist, Crookston, Minn.

During the rain-storm on Friday the residence of Frank Williams in Lowell was struck by lightning and the bolt wrecked the kitchen stove caromed about the floor making more kindling wood than desirable also played havoc with a setting room stove and disappeared down cellar. The family were all in the house but no one was injured beyond a good lively scare. One of the legs to the kitchen stove had a neat little hole cut through it the size of a minie rifle ball. While the loss is considerable, Mr. Williams feels grateful that no loss of life resulted.

DR. PRICE'S
Cream Baking Powder.
The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

Numerous bicycles are beginning to appear upon the sidewalks.

P. M. Mark, the Fosston merchant was doing business in the city Monday.

J. P. Lunden and Geo. R. Roberts, of Stephens, are in St. Paul working for the passage of the drainage bill.

Dr. W. Robertson went to Fargo Tuesday evening to attend the meeting of the North Dakota Dental Association.

Mrs. A. D. Stephens and her sister, Miss Cameron, and Mrs. Scott spent a few days last week visiting friends in Grand Forks.

A. C. Schmidt is getting his goods into his new store on Second street—the place that was last year occupied by Mrs. E. E. Bangs.

Editor Stevens of the Warren Register, accompanied his daughter, Nellie, as far as Crookston, Friday. She was on her way to attend a seminary at Mount Carrol, Ill.

Alderman, Sylvester & Elseth are handling the celebrated Monarch bicycle, made by the Monarch Bicycle Co., of Chicago, They also sell pneumatic-tire bicycles for $50 and upwards.

P. W. Carpenter of Lake City, Minn., has taken a position in the office of Larsen, Carpenter & Co. He is a younger brother of the second member of the firm.

Deputy United States Marshal Bealieu brought a White Earth Indian named Chas. Murray before Commissioner Christianson Wednesday, charged with giving away liquor to Indians. He was bound over to the June term of the United States District court which meets in St. Paul.

J. S. Nichols, the wide-awake Liberty farmer was in the city on Monday. In conversation with a JOURNAL reporter he said that the board made a very wise move when they decided not to issue seed wheat under the present law as it is and he says this action is generally endorsed by the farmers everywhere in the county.

Otto Kankel was up from Fertile on Monday. Speaking of his recent trip west, he said he saw lots of places there that he thought would be pleasant places to live in if a man was wealthy but he saw no place where a poor man could do better than here if as well. He was not so carried away with what he saw as to be anxious to dispose of his property here at a sacrifice and move out there. While the climate there is certainly delightful at certain seasons of the year the opportunities for a poor man are fewer than here.

The north-bound trains are beginning to come loaded down with the festive immigrant. On Saturday morning the Great Norhhern train arrived one hour late with several extra coaches loaded to their utmost capacity with people who were seeking new homes. Some of these were going as far west as Montana, while others had their eye on obtaining a home in the famous Red River valley. The Northern Pacific train was equally crowded and not a day passes that some immigrants do not arrive bound for different points in the Northwest.

The more Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used the better it is liked. We know of no other remedy that always gives satisfaction. It is good when you first catch cold. It is good when your cough is seated and your lungs are sore. It is good in any kind of a cough. We have sold twenty-five dozen of it and every bottle has given satisfaction. Stedman & Friedman, druggists, Minnesota Lake, Minn. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist-Crookston, Minn.

Chief Gonyea received a telegram on Thursday last from the East Grand Forks chief of police just before the arrival of the N. P. train south, which telegram requested him to go to the depot on arrival of said train and arrest one Jim Sullivan, who would be on the train. As he did not know Jim Sullivan from a side of sole-leather and as the telegram did not describe the aforesaid Jim, he was in a quandary; nevertheless he went to the depot and managed to locate his man, who with his brother John and wife was en route south somewhere. Upon explaining the situation to Jim, that individual arose and followed him meekly and his brother and wife came also. The East Grand Forks chief came over later on the delayed Great Northern train and took the whole outfit back next morning. Sullivan was charged with stealing an overcoat.

The many cases of rheumatism cured by Chamberlain's Pain Balm during the past few months have given the people great confidence in its curative properties, and have shown that there is one preparation that can be depended upon for that painful and aggravating disease. Honaker Bros., Lorain, Ohio, say: "Mr. Moses Price, of this place, was troubled with rheumatism for a long time. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has cured him. He says that the Balm has no equal." For sale by S. A. Wallace, druggist, Crookston, Minn.

The JOURNAL was in error when it said that Fred Chapin will run west to Devil's Lake. Tom Hunt informs us that Fred's run will be to St. Vincent.

S. J. Chafin, who is running Dauser's photograph gallery for C. Schjerden, of Grand Forks, seems to be away up in his art, and is adding some improvements to the gallery which will be of valuable assistance to him in his work.

Will Hoch mourns the loss of a valuable bird dog from poison, and he has reason to think the poison was administered to the dog purposely. It seems a singular reflection upon human nature that some are so constituted as to be capable of committing such little petty acts of meanness, but so it seems to be. Will would give the worth of the dog to find out who poisoned him.

The Columbia club has received two elegant pictures of scenes at Great Falls, Montana, sent by Supt. Jenks as an expression of his good-will for the elegant reception given him just before he left here. These elegant pictures will grace the walls of the club-room and prove a vivid reminder of the interest the giver ever felt in our city. The club justly feels proud of this acquisition.

On Wednesday at about 3 p. m. Mrs. H. F. Brown died at her residence in this city after an illness of only a few days duration. On Saturday last she suffered an apoplectic shock and never fully rallied. Her left side was entirely paralyzed, and she was for the greater part of the time lightheaded, and from the first her condition has been critical, although on Tuesday she seemed very much better and her friends began to have some hopes for her ultimate recovery. The hearty sympathy of our citizens will go out to the bereaved husband and two little ones to whom this sad event comes with such crushing force.

Eight national tables, each seating twelve persons at a time, will make the World's Supper in McKinnon hall very attractive to the cosmopolitan people of Crookston. Supper will be served from 5:30 to 10 o'clock Friday night.

The World's Supper to be given under the auspices of the First M. E. church, in McKinnon hall Friday night, will be something new for Crookston. A great interest has been awakened in it, and the attendance will be very large.

Do not miss the bargains at the
NEW YORK STORE.

A number of our society people go to Grand Forks to attend the grand ball given at the hotel Dacotah tomorrow evening by the society of Elks at that place. This will be a grand dress affair—the event of the season.

Miss Irvine goes to Thief River Falls to read for the church society there this week.

Martin Grunderson arrived from Ashby last week with a complete farming outfit and took possession of a farm near Nels Woodstrom's place in Lowell. Mr. G. is an experienced breeder as well as farmer and brings along some fine trotting stock, having some animals in his possession that have a record on the turf. Mr. Grunderson is a half brother to T. G. Thompson.

Tuesday's rain made lots of mud.

A number of our city nimrods went out on Wednesday evening in pursuit of the festive wild goose. At the hour of going to press they had not showed up, so we are unable to say how many tons they captured.

Wednesday was one of those days what you read about—but seldom like to see—snow, blow and all that sort o' thing.

On Thursday evening of last week Mrs. Gravel and Mrs. Creamer assisted by Miss Nellie Mullen gave a party to their many friends at the residence of the former at the Fournet block. A very enjoyable time is reported.

Miss Inez McGrew proved up on her timber claim on Tuesday, and is now the owner of a fine tract of pine-land not far from Fosston.

Geo. W. Strawbridge, of Baltimore Md., arrived on Saturday to grow up with the country. He is a music teacher and will deal in musical instruments. He is a cousin of our Ben, the genial court stenographer whom he resembles not a great deal.

Jack McGlogan arrived from Kalispel, Montana after his family with whom he returns this week. Jack talks large about the prospects of that new town.

On Saturday last Henry Funk was arrested at the instance of the Minneapolis Brewing Company charged with embezzlement, or misappropriation of the company's funds whose agent he is at this point. On Monday his trial was fixed for April 20th. None of Henry's many friends here will readily believe that there is anything wilfully wrong about him and many are the predictions that he will be able to explain matters to the entire satisfaction of all concerned.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.
Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

I need money and will sell you goods at greatly reduced prices.
A. CHABOT.

Miss Emma Veronneau has been suffering with a severe cold which has delayed the regular annual display of spring millinery somewhat. She hopes to be ready for next Tuesday and Wednesday however.

Rudy Burkhardt was on the sick list last week but is about his usual avocations again.

Remember Ole Olson to-night at the Grand Opera House.

S. A. Clark, who for the past three years has been foreman in the Sauk Rapids Sentinel office, has accepted the position in the JOURNAL office recently so ably filled by A. W. Foss. Mr. C. seems to be a sober industrious man and a thoroughly competent printer.

Bert Wells has rented the Occidental Hotel at Casselton, N. D., and takes possession at once. Bert's many friends in Crookston will wish him success in the venture.

At and below cost, my big and well assorted line of Dry Goods, Clothing and Boots and Shoes.
NEW YORK STORE,
A. CHABOT, Proprietor.

John O'Brien reports that business at the Crookston Plumbing establishment is excellent this spring.

A. W. Foss and Prof. A. McCrillis have bought the Thirteen Towns, published at Fosston. Mr. Foss has been a valued employe of the JOURNAL for eighteen months, nearly one year of which time he was foreman. He is a bright young man of steady habits well versed in his profession and is deserving of success which he will no doubt attain. The JOURNAL commends him heartily to the good graces of Fosston people. If Prof. McCrillis is equally good the boys will no doubt make a great success of their new venture.

Dramatic Reading.

The appearance of Miss Theo Irvine at the M. E. church Monday evening was a marked success. Miss Irvine showed herself to be an accomplished elocutionist. She can convulse her audience at one moment, and the next she can intensify some bit of pathos so that the eyes of her hearers grow moist and they forget that a moment before they could not contain their laughter. Her pleasing manner at once won the appreciation of her hearers, and it is to be hoped that the Young People's society, under whose auspices she appeared, may succeed in securing a return engagement of this popular reader.

Miss Laner delighted the audience by singing several selections in her inimitable style.

A Joke on the Dog.

Attorney E. M. Stanton has a fine Newfoundland pup, nine months old and as large as a mule, and the attorney thinks a great deal of the dog—there is a great deal of him to think of but there came near being less of him on Monday night. Being troubled with mice, Stanton procured some rat-poison and spread it on some cheese vowing to make sausage meat of those mice. In some way, however, the dog got the dose which came very near finishing him. Stanton thinks if the dog had been of ordinary size it would have fixed him all right enough—but there was too much of him to kill all at once.

Free Delivery.

The following item was set up last week but somehow got lost in the shuffle and failed to appear:

Postmaster Dawley informs the JOURNAL that the business of the Crookston Post Office for the year ending March 31st, 1893, amounted to over $10,000, and in consequence Crookston will be entitled to free delivery. The statute says that any city of 10000 people or a city doing $10,000 worth of business, shall be entitled to free delivery. Since Mr. Dawley has had charge of the office it has been raised from a third to a second class office, and now it is to have an additional elevation in the way of free delivery.

Grand Opening Event.

Miss Emma Veronneau desires to announce to the ladies of Crookston and vicinity that her annual opening of millinery will occur on Tuesday and Wednesday next, when she will be prepared to exhibit one of the finest lines of millinery ever brought to our city. No pains have been spared in her selections to please her lady friends, who will be delighted to know that they can each one find just what she needs, and Miss V. is prepared to trim in all of the latest styles. Lovely Columbia hats, French patterns, New York patterns and everything desirable can be obtained of Miss Veronneau just as cheaply as the same goods could be had in Chicago or New York. The ladies are all invited to call at Miss Veronneau's Parisian millinery store on Second Street.

RED RIVER VALLEY
LOAN AND INVESTMENT
COMPANY.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON REAL ESTATE.

FARMS AND LANDS
For Sale in nearly all
the Towns of Polk
County.

CITY LOTS
In Crookston and Thief River Falls.
List your Lands and Lots with us and effect quick sales.
OFFICE IN OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.

A. G. GALLASCH, Pres.
J. W. WHEELER, Vice Pres.
W. H. MATHEWS, 1st Vice Pres.
A. F. GEORGE, Sec.
O. H. LUCKEN, Treasurer.

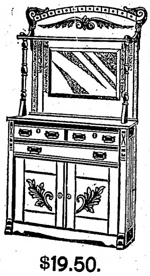
WE ARE NOT DOING
Much Blowing
At this time of the year, and it is not bragging to say that
OUR MAMMOTH STOCK
was never more complete than this spring, and that you can find no greater bargains in the city than we are giving. There is an old saying to the effect that
"THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING IS IN CHEWING THE STRING."
This applied to the old-fashioned steamed Indian Pudding that was put in a bag and tied with a string, which string no doubt retained enough of the pudding to furnish a sufficient sample.
We don't claim to have a "string" on the public, but it is a fact that when a man once comes into our store and taades he always comes again. As the pudding was supposed to speak for itself, so our goods speak for themselves every time.
☞YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED.
FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

Historical Society

Polk County Journal.

VOL. XVII. CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, APRIL 20, 1893. NO. 1

Crookston Furniture Co.
FURNITURE, CARPETS, BURIAL SUPPLIES.



$1.35.
Antique Oak Finish.

$19.50.
Solid Oak,
Large Glass,
Plush-lined Drawers.

8-ft. Oak Table,
42x42, only
$7.90.

SCHMIDT THE PAINTER
IS NOW ON DECK
AT THE OLD STAND ON SECOND STREET,
WITH A FULL LINE OF
PAINTS, OILS, GLASS
AND
WALL PAPER.

Ready for anything in the line of Painting or Papering. Be sure and get an estimate from me before you contract your work.

A. C. SCHMIDT.

WE ARE NOT DOING
Much Blowing

At this time of the year, and it is not bragging to say that

OUR MAMMOTH STOCK

was never more complete than this spring, and that you can find no greater bargains in the city than we are giving. There is an old saying to the effect that

"THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING IS IN CHEWING THE STRING."

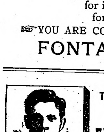
This applied to the old-fashioned steamed Indian Pudding that was put in a bag and tied with a string, which string no doubt retained enough of the pudding to furnish a sufficient sample.

We don't claim to have a "string" on the public, but it is a fact that when a man once comes into our store and trades he always comes again. As the pudding was supposed to speak for itself, so our goods speak for themselves every time.

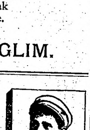
☞YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

THE VERSATILE COMEDIAN
ALBA HEYWOOD,
......SUPPORTED BY A......
Capable Company
OF PLAYERS,



ALBA HEYWOOD.



AS TOM DILLOWAY.

Will Present By Permission of SOL. SMITH RUSSELL The Best and Funniest of all His Successes,
New Edgewood Folks.
Under the Management of O. W. HEYWOOD.
Grand Opera House, Tuesday Evening, Apr. 25.

OFFICIAL DIRECTORY.

State.
Governor	Knute Nelson.
Lieutenant Governor	David M. Clough.
Secretary of State	F. P. Brown.
Attorney General	H. W. Childs.
Congressional.
Member of Congress, 7th Dist.	Haldor E. Boen,
Legislative.
Senator, 51st Sen. Dist.	E. E. Lommen.
Representatives, 51st Sen. Dist.	John D. Knuteson, B. M. Chesley and Hans Juelson.
Judicial.
Associate Justices Supreme Court	Thomas Canty, Daniel Buck, Wm. Mitchell and Loren W. Collins.
Judge 14th Jud. District	Frank Ives.
Clerk of Court	Nils Muus.
County.
Auditor	C. U. Webster
Treasurer	J. T. Beaudry
Register of Deeds	John Amundson
Attorney	A. R. Holston
Sheriff	Arny Grundysen
Judge of Probate	C. M. Benson
Supt. of Schools	A. A. Lommen
Surveyor	O. L. Hamery
Court Com'r	W. H. Averill
Coroner	Henry Shepard
County Commissioners.
First District	John E. Oppegaard
Second District	Anton Linden
Third District	M. E. Kirsch
Fourth District	C. P. Demers
Fifth District	A. C. Rhinehart

A Public Market Place.

Mr. E. Lanctot suggests one step forward that the city should take, and right away, and that is the location of a market place where farmers could come, say two days each week to offer for sale their butter, eggs, poultry, vegetables and such things. The advantages of such an arrangement are many and obvious, among which would be the stimulus that it would be to each farmer to see to it that his butter was not the poorest in the market. Such an institution would have a tendency to draw trade from a large scope of country—an area much larger than is reached at present, and we believe that the experiment is worthy of a trial which need not be so very expensive as there are several places available right now that could be used to try the experiment and, should it prove mutually profitable to the city and to the farmers, a permanent site could be bought and a building erected specially adapted to the business. The JOURNAL knows of several persons who could try it on a small scale, to demonstrate the plan, charging a small percentage for the trouble, and we believe its practicability could thus be fully demonstrated.

Bids for City Printing.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
County of Polk, } ss.
City of Crookston.

The city council of the city of Crookston will receive sealed proposals to do the printing and publishing of all ordinances, resolutions, proceedings and other matter required to be published by the city council of the city of Crookston for the ensuing year, all matter to be measured on a basis of solid nonpareil. Said bids to be opened at a regular meeting of the city council on Tuesday evening May 9th, 1893. Bids to be accompanied by bonds in the sum of $500.00. The council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

[Seal]

E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk

[1-2]

Bids for Job Work of the City of Crookston.

STATE OF MINNESOTA
County of Polk, } ss.
City of Crookston

The City Council of the City of Crookston, will receive sealed proposals for doing the job printing required by the City Council during the ensuing year as specified by the charter of be opened at a regular meeting on Tuesday evening May 9th, 1893, bids to be accompanied by a bond in the sum of $500.

The Council resumes the right to reject any or all bids.

[SEAL] E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk.
[1-2]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, city of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given, that application have been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 10th, 1893, and terminating on May 10th, 1894, by the following person, and at the following place, as stated in said application respectively, to-wit: A. J. Johnson in lower floor of the frame building on Lot 21 Block 16, Fletcher & Houston's addition to city of Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the City of Crookston, in city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk County, on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock P. M., of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 18th day of April, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, City of Crookston—ss

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 20th, 1893, and terminating on May 20th, 1894, by the following person and at the following place as stated in said application, to-wit: Hans E. Erickson in the two story frame building on lots 23 and 24, block 16, original townsite of Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the city of Crookston, at the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 18th day of April, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Proceedings of an adjourned meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston held in the city hall on Tuesday evening, April 18th, 1893.

Meeting called to order by President Cromb.

Roll call.

Aldermen present:—Anderson, Jennings, Jerome, Morrisey, Marlette, Norrie, Simmons, Watts, Walker, Cromb.

Alderman absent:—Childs.

The bonds of the city officers, which were referred to the city attorney were handed in, and reported upon favorably by him.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey seconded by Alderman Norrie that the bond of J. O. Mathews as treasurer be approved and placed on file. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Jennings seconded by Alderman Marlette that the bonds of E. C. Carruth, L. E. Gossman, O. Ducharme, C. S. Spendley and Geo. H. Holt be approved and accepted. Carried.

Liquor applications from Hans E. Erickson and A. J. Johnson were read and ordered published.

The liquor bond of T. J. Orvick with E. K. and A. K. Austin as sureties was presented. Moved by Alderman Morrisey seconded by Alderman Marlette that the bond be approved and the license issued at the proper time. Carried.

A sidewalk application was received from property owners and residents living on lower Ash street near lot 3, block 5, Clements first addition, asking that a sidewalk be ordered along the west side of the street. Same referred to the alderman of the Fourth ward. Aldermen of the Fourth ward reported that they recommend that one be ordered.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey seconded by Alderman Anderson that the City Engineer be and is hereby instructed to establish the grade along and in front of the property along which the walk is to be built, in conformity with the grade of the street as established by the council.

The finance committee reported favorably upon the following bills:

Geo. O. Buhn. sharpening axes	$ 3 00
M. E. Kirsch, clerk of election	3 00
G. C. Wilde. " "	3 00
Louis Fontaine, registration and election	9 00
J. F. Creamer, " " "	6 00
C. H. Mix, judge of election	9 00
M. R. Brown, judge of election	3 00
Wm. F. Arnold, clerk of election	3 00
O. H. Mortenson, judge of election	9 00
J. E. Harris, " "	9 00
B. F. Zarracher, " "	8 00
E. M. Walsh, " "	9 00
Louis Rivard, " "	6 00
John Carter, constable fees	6 00
Jas. Creighton, drayage	2 00
Jas. Muir labor	8 00
E. Allard, boarding paupers	36 00
Robinson & Cary Co., pipe and pulleys used in sewer under railroad track	15 50
A. J. & A. McKinnon, mdse	138 92
" " mdse for fire dept	79 44
A. J. McKinnon, judge of election	21 75
O. J. Barnes, clerk of election	6 00
Jas. McKenzie, rent of room for election purposes	3 00
T. C. Stewart, judge of election	5 00
G. H. Palmer, clerk of election	9 00
C. S. Spendley' justice fees	3 00
Crookston Fire Dept., attendance at fire	3 80
Stewart Lumber Co., lumber	42 00
D. F. McDonald, labor	7 14
" " "	45 00
" " "	45 00
" " "	56 25
	117 50
E. D. Childs, lumber	66 70
Jas. Morier, labor	3 50
F. Jerome, judge of election	11 00
E. D. Childs, lumber	214 20
D. F. McDonald, labor	33 50
O. S. Wing, "	1 00
John Amundson "	1 00
E. P. Bancroft, clerk of election	3 00
W. F. Hitchcock, judge of election	9 00
Jas. E. Morrisey, " "	9 00
Louis Theaur " "	9 00
Olaf Paulsrude, clerk of election	9 00
Henry Funk, " "	3 00
Jas. E. Morrisey, labor	9 80
Cooke & Hammond, printing	22 15
E. D. Childs Co., rent of room, election	5 00
" " judge of election	9 00
W. H. Norrie, wood	6 00

The finance committee reported that they would recommend that bill number 1256 be allowed at $3.00; number 1257, at $9.00; 1260 at $9.00, and 1263 at $2.00.

Moved by alderman Jennings, and seconded by alderman Morrisey that the report be accepted and the bills reported upon be paid. Carried.

On motion the following bills were allowed after being read to the council. C. E. Sargent, hack hire, $9.00; D. F. McDonald, clearing ice from pump, $3.00; McKinnon Bros., coal for Carman engine house, $10.00; McKinnon Bros., coal for city engine house, $10.00; D. F. McDonald, labor in Third ward, $9.50; E. C. Carruth, election labor, $10.00; D. F. McDonald, labor in Second ward, $47.25; two bills of M. Watts for medical services, total $18.00; V. E. Liebeg, election clerk, $9.00; J. E. Greenhalgh, for engineer at sewer, $36.00.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey seconded by Alderman Marlette that the bill of Fontaine & Anglim's be laid on the table for a time. Carried.

The committee on sewer matters asked for further time, which was granted.

The committee on poor reported that they had the following persons on their hands: Mrs. [illegible], Ole Olson, B. Supernault, Mr. Knox and A. Tolleckson, and also Mrs. Sepernault at Carman. On motion the report was accepted and the commissioner on poor requested to furnish Mrs. Supernault with ten dollars a month for a time at least.

A communication was read from property owners along Second and Ash streets relating to the projected line of sewers on those streets.

Remarks from persons present were listened too and M. R. Brown arose and objected to the line being built, while A. Braley spoke in favor of them.

Moved by Alderman Watts seconded by Alderman Marlette that the further consideration of the matter be deferred until the next meeting. Carried.

The treasurer and comptroller's annual reports were handed in.

Moved by Alderman Anderson seconded by Alderman Jennings that the reports be referred to the Finance committee with instruction to examine the same and to make the transfer of the funds of the city, between the old and the new treasurers, and to report at the next meeting. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Jennings seconded by Alderman Norrie that $120 be taken from the general fund, (when it will permit) and that then it be used to purchase new uniforms for the police. Aldermen voting in the affimative: Anderson, Jennings, Jerome, Morrisey, Marlette, Norrie. Simmons, Watts, Walker and Cromb. Nays: None. Declared carried.

At an adjourned meeting of the City Council of the city of Crookston, held the 18th day of April, 1893, Alderman Watts offered the following resolution which was seconded by Alderman Morrisey:

RESOLNED, That the sum of eleven hundred dollars, of moneys in the sinking fund, five hundred dollars in the poor fund and two hundred and fifty dollars of the money in the improvement fund be transferred temporarily to the general fund of the City of Crookston.

Upon the call for the ays and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Alderman voting in the affirmative: Anderson, Jennings, Jerome, Morissey, Marlette, Norrie, Simmons, Watts, Walker, Cromb.

Alderman voting in the negative: none.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 18th day of April, 1893.

JOHN CROMB,
President of the Council.

Approved this 18th day of April, 1893.

JOHN CROMB,
Acting Mayor.

Attest:

E. C. CARRUTH,
Clerk.

The committee on the celebration at St. Paul asked for further time in which to report, same was granted.

On motion council adjourned.

E. C. CARRUTH, Clerk.

"Thrift, Horatio."

M'n'p'ls Evening Journal: Among Chicago's enterprising citizens who are getting a quiet little rake off on the side out of the popular interest in the world's fair is a firm of smooth people who are sending modest circulars to Western and Northwestern farmers asking them to forward a bushel of their best wheat with charges prepaid. They agree to sort each bushel taking out all defective grains, and to put a sample of the grain in a glass case, labeling it with the name of the farmer who raised it and where his farm is located. These philanthropists have bought thousands of glass bottles holding less than a pint; these they label, just as they promised. They have already secured thousands of bushels of wheat which they are storing in and selling to elevators. The way the bushels of wheat, charges prepaid, are rolling in requires them to use a half-dozen teams daily to haul the contributions.

What's the next smooth scheme?

The Crookston Belle—Kœppe's new cigar, is as fine as silk. Try it.

Viava remedies for sale by Mrs. John Wyatt, sole agent for Polk county, Sano, sure cure for piles. I. O. O. F. block. [39-tf]

For Sale at a Discount.

A scholarship in the Crookston Business College. Apply at the JOURNAL office. [10 t.f.]

Lane's Medicine Moves the Bowels Each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal. They are the [illegible]

Good Horses.

It is a pleasure to see good teams upon our streets and when we see farmers driving them it is a great pleasure to record that fact. It shows a very healthy condition of things for it proves that our farmers are up in their business. There are many—very much more than was the case formerly and among the many none drive better teams into this city than the Himmelsback brothers, and these horses they have mostly raised themselves. Several years ago they brought from Wisconsin an imported Norman Percheron horse, Voltiguer, one the best ever brought to the county, as the price they paid. for him, $2500, indicates. This horse, even at that long figure has proved to be a very provitable investment and has helped the boys out many a season when the wheat crop was a failure or nearly so. Emil says that if any man says that good stock don't pay in this country he just don't know what he is talking about.

For Rent.

A nine room brick house newly papered and painted and centrally located. Inquire of Stewart Lumber Company.

A Snap.

The Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company has for sale a half section of land situated two miles from the city limits, good buildings, artesian well, 80 acres fenced, land all broken except about 10 acres in grove. Been used as a stock farm and admirably adapted for that purpose, as being close to the city it is available as a milk and dairy farm. Improvements upon the farm alone cost over $4,000 and it can be had for $6,400. A cash payment of $2,000 will secure the place and purchaser can have a reasonable time on the balance, or for cash a liberal discount will be made. Owner desires to invest his means in other business. Inquire of August George, opera house block. [1-tf]

Burlington Route Trains.

For about seven years past our readers have seen in our paper the bright "locals" of the Burlington Route, setting forth the many advantages offered by that railroad as a route from the northwest to Chicago, St. Louis and other prominent cities. Much attention has been given to these notices and many of our patrons have asked us when these trains leave St. Paul and Minneapolis, when they arrive at destination, and what are the accommodations. Here is a brief answer. The morning train leaves the Twin Cities every day, except Sunday, and its equipment consists of baggage cars, coaches and reclining chairs cars—seats free. By this train a view can be had of 350 miles of the finest river scenery in America. Dinner can be had at La Crosse, supper at Savanna and the train reaches Chicago in the evening in time to connect with several trains for the east. Passengers by this train reach Galesburg at 9:45 in the evening, where connection is made with fast Burlington trains for Kansas City, St. Joseph, Omaha, Lincoln and Denver, and also arrive without change at St. Louis next morning in time to make all connections. The evening train leaves every day in the year, and with its reclining chair cars (seats free), Pullman regular sleepers and Pullman compartment sleepers, all lighted by compressed gas, is one of the most luxurious and splendid trains in the United States. Passengers for Chicago arrive there at 9:00 a. m., connecting with all lines to the east, after a sumptuous breakfast in the Burlington peerless dining cars, which are attached to the train at an early hour. Passengers for Peoria arrive there at 11:40 a. m.; for St. Louis arrive in that city about 6:00 p. m., (meals being provided for in a Pullman buffet car) in ample time for supper and to connect with trains leaving for the south, southwest and southeast. If you want the finest train accommodations, the smoothest track, the most beautiful scenery, and the most courteous attention, insist that your home ticket agent sell you tickets via the Burlington Route. For any information, write to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

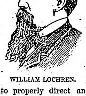
For Sale.

Eight choice young cows, two-thirds Jersey and one-third Holstein, from three to five years old; will be new milch cows in April. Will sell for cash or bankable paper due November 1st. Address.

[39-2] [illegible] Crookston, Minn.

SOLDIER AND JURIST.

Judge Lochren of Minnesota the Commissioner of Pensions.



WILLIAM LOCHREN.

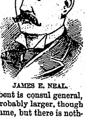
While he was looking for a pension commissioner President Cleveland announced what he considered to be the proper kind of man for that important office. He should have seen military service, so that there might be no question as to his sympathy with the veterans; he should be a good lawyer. so that the pension laws might be properly interpreted, and he should be a man of executive ability and strong character, so as to properly direct and insure the efficiency of the small army of employees of the pension office. When the president thought he had found the man he was looking for, he offered him the position without reference to the fact that the man was not seeking the office nor indeed any office. He just selected Judge William Lochren of Minnesota as the proper man and sent his name to the senate.

That Judge Lochren is just the kind of man the president was looking for there seems no room to doubt. The Republican legislature of Minnesota unanimously indorsed him as soon as his name was first mentioned, and whatever dissatisfaction may arise later on his assumption of the office was certainly happy in its auspices. He is a jurist of long experience, having been appointed to the Minnesota circuit bench by a Republican governor in 1882 and twice re-elected to the position as a Democrat. His war record is all right, for he was one of the 300 men of the First Minnesota regiment who made the famous charge that stopped Pickett's onslaught at Gettysburg. Of those 300 men only 40 came out alive and unwounded, and First Lieutenant Lochren was in command, every officer above his rank having been killed or disabled.

Judge Lochren went to Minnesota from Vermont in 1857, when he had just attained his majority and been admitted to practice at the bar. He has never been an office seeker, but his popularity with his own party is attested by the fact that on two occasions he was the Democratic caucus nominee for United States senator.

THE LIVERPOOL CONSULATE.

The Second Best Consular Position and the Man Who Got It.



JAMES E. NEAL.

James E. Neal of Ohio, who was appointed by the president to the consulate at Liverpool, secured one of the best posts in the consular service of the United States. The salary is $6,000 a year, and the fees the consul retains amount to about $15,000 more, making the position worth between $20,000 and $21,000 yearly. The post at London, to which Pat Collins of Massachusetts was appointed, outranks that at Liverpool in that the incumbent is consul general, and the fees are probably larger, though the salary is the same, but there is nothing else in the consular service that is near as profitable.

Mr. Neal has long been prominent in Ohio politics. He was speaker of the state house of representatives in 1878 and before that had been the leader of the Democratic party on the floor when it was in the minority. He has always been active and aggressive in the service of his party and has several times held the chairmanship of the state executive committee during critical campaigns. He held that position during the campaign of 1889, which resulted in the defeat of Governor Foraker and the election of Governor Campbell, a result quite generally accredited to his management. He and Mr. Campbell are fast personal and political friends. Mr. Neal is a resident of Hamilton, the ex-governor's home town, and is very influential among his fellow townsmen. He has never before held any federal office.

New Form of Danger From Germs.

The germ theory seems to have broken out in a new phase. It is now suggested from a continental source that danger of disease may be incurred by bathing in polluted water. It seems that typhoid fever associated with jaundice broke out in the garrison stationed at Altona, and the epidemic was attributed to the practice of bathing in the Elbe.

At the period in question (1888) the Elbe was in a high state of pollution. Recently a similar study has been undertaken at Ulm among the soldiers. The military bathing place is situated below the point where the Danube is contaminated with sewage matters; a village called Soflingen sending its waste into the stream. Fowls dying of a mysterious disease at Soflingen were thrown into the river, and on examining the dead bodies of these birds a germ was constantly found which resembled in all essential particulars the microbe found in the jaundiced and typhoid stricken soldiery of Ulm.

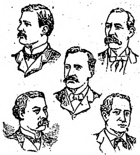
In a special experiment some of the water of the Blau mixed with sterilized broth was used to inoculate mice. The mice died in 16 hours, and in their bodies was found the microbe which had been discovered in the cases of jaundice and in the diseased fowls which had been disposed of in the river.

Foreman Belliveau of a railway construction gang in northern Michigan was devoured by wolves there recently. He and a friend were out hunting when the wolves attacked and overpowered them. His companion escaped by climbing a tree and saw Belliveau torn to pieces and devoured at the foot of the tree in which he was perched.

FIVE FOREIGN MINISTERS.

Our Envoys to Austria, Spain, Belgium, Switzerland and Japan.

Hannis Taylor, the new minister to Spain, is a Mobile lawyer of high repute and a scholar of great attainments, but is a comparative stranger in politics. His contributions to historical literature have given him reputation among literary men, and his book on "The Origin and Growth of the English Constitution," of which but one volume has yet been published, has been adopted as a textbook by seven universities. It is his intention to complete the work during his stay in Spain. Mr. Taylor was born in North Carolina and is about 40 years of age. He has lived in Alabama since his boyhood.



HANNIS TAYLOR. JAMES S. EWING.
EDWIN DUN.
BARTLETT TRIPP. JAMES O. BROADHEAD.

During the early days of his first administration President Cleveland appointed Edwin Dun of Ohio secretary of legation in Japan. President Harrison permitted him to retain the office, and now he has been appointed minister at the court of the mikado in recognition of his efficient and valuable services. Mr. Dun is very popular with the Japanese, and the friendly relations between their government and our own are said to be in a great measure due to his efforts. He is a native of London, O., and is about 45 years of age.

James S. Ewing, who goes to Belgium, hails from Illinois, but was born in Kentucky about 50 years ago. He is a cousin of Vice President Stevenson, and the two men have been lifelong friends and business partners for 25 years. Mr. Ewing is regarded in Illinois as one of the best lawyers in the state. He has been prominent in politics, but has never before held public office. His home is in Bloomington, Ills.

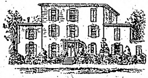
Bartlett Tripp of South Dakota, who has secured the Austro-Hungarian mission, was prominent in Dakota politics before the division of the territory. He was appointed chief justice of the territorial supreme court during President Cleveland's previous term and was mentioned for the United States senate as the Democratic opponent of Senator Kyle. He is about 48 years old and lives at Yankton, S. D.

Minister to Switzerland James O. Broadhead is an ex-congressman from St. Louis and has long been prominent in politics there. He has had some experience in diplomatic matters, having visited Paris for this government in connection with the French spoliation claims. He was a member of the constitutional convention which deposed the legislature of Missouri during the war and governed the state for two years.

"THE LITTLE WHITE HOUSE."

Where the President Will Live During the Hot Summer Days.

President Cleveland is going to follow the precedent he set during his previous term and have a summer residence in the suburbs of Washington. Eight years ago, it will be remembered, he purchased Red Top, or Oak View, as it was rechristened, for his summer house and is said to have made a snug profit on his investment when he sold the property at the end of his term of office. This time, instead of purchasing, he has leased a fine property on the Woodley lane road known to Washingtonians as the Middleton house. It is nearer the city than Red Top, and from the windows there are charming views of the town and the country to the north, the most picturesque section of the Rock creek region.



THE PRESIDENT'S SUMMER HOME.

The house is old fashioned, roomy, comfortable and large, having a frontage of fully 100 feet and containing a spacious music room and a dining room large enough for 50 people. It is picturesquely located on a knoll in the midst of a grove of fine old oak trees on the south side of the Woodley road and some distance back from it. It has the appearance of being the work of better artisans than are now engaged in the building business in the vicinity of the nation's capital, the solid old brick walls resting on substantial foundations of stone still looking as if they would outlast for many years some of the gimcrackery of more pretentious modern structures. A carriage way leads up to the house from the road, winding under the great oaks, with stretches of lawn on both sides.

There are about 80 acres of land included in the president's lease, and there is nothing to prevent his indulging any bucolic fancy that may enter his mind in the intervals of official business. He will be even more comfortably situated than he was at Red Top and probably much better off than if he occupied the "president's cottage" at the Soldiers' Home, as all the presidents have done since Buchanan's time.

Daniel McKeil, a young colored man of Helena, Ark., is growing a new skull to replace one he lost by accident a year ago. He had a fit and fell into an open fire, roasting his head and entirely destroying half his skull. Now the bone is being reconstructed by some mysterious natural process.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK. District Court.

In the matter of the assignment of Solfest A. Sylvester and Martin Finseth, partners as Sylvester & Finseth, insolvents.

At Chambers, April 11th, 1893, it appearing to the court by satisfactory proof and the files in the above entitled matter that Jerome W. Wheeler has duly qualified and entered upon the discharge of his trust as the assignee of said Sylvester & Finseth, and has filed the bond herein required by law.

Now, on motion of E. M. Stanton, Esq., attorney for said assignee, it is ordered, that all persons whomsoever having claims against the said Sylvester & Finseth existing on the 4th day of March, 1893, present the same duly verified, with the proof thereof, to said Jerome W. Wheeler at the Scandia-American Bank of Crookston, in the City of Crookston, Polk county, Minnesota, on or before the 10th day of July. A. D. 1893, for allowance.

Dated April 11th, 1893.

FRANK IVES.
District Judge.

(52-1)

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

First publication April 6th, 1893.
Last publication May 18th, 1893.

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly made and delivered by Pierre Lemieux and Philomine Lemieux, his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 22d day of December, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 23d day of February, A. D. 1888, at 10.40 o'clock a. m., in book 34 of mortgages, on page 598, etc. Whereas default consists of the failure to pay the following installments of interest to-wit: $35.00 that became due June 22, 1889; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1889; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1890; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1890; $35 00 that became due June 22, 1891; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1891; $25.00 that became due June 22, 1892 and $35 00 that became due December 22, 1892, and whereas the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, holder of said mortgage, has elected to declare, and hereby does declare, the whole principal sum in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum to-wit: Thirteen hundred forty-two and seventeen hundredths ($1342.17) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The northwest quarter (nw¼) of section thirteen (13) township one hundred fifty (150) range forty-five (45) containing 160 acres more or less according to the government survey thereof, all of said premises situated and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public aution, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State on the 22d day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 30th, A. D. 1893.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON,
Attorney For Mortgagee.
[51-7] N. G. 136.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure at Druggists.

Just as Sure as Preaching

is it that the best of current fiction appears

IN THESE COLUMNS.

We leave no stone unturned to make this a

HOME PAPER

in every sense of the word. Are you a subscriber?

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist,
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,

☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.

G. G. HENAULT.

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank.

St. Vitus' Dance cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

Oak Lumber.

60,000 feet of solid oak plank from 8 to 18 feet, and inch boards. For full information address
GORDON & ANDERSON.
(51-2) Pelican Rapids, Otter Tail Co., Minn.

SIX SPASMS A DAY.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

GENTLEMEN: I never lose an opportunity to recommend Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine to any one afflicted with nervous complaints with the assurance that it will not disappoint them. When our boy was eighteen months old he was attacked with violent spasms. Sometimes he would have five or six spasms in a single day. WE TRIED MANY PHYSICIANS WITHOUT BENEFIT; finally our druggist recommended Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. We tried a bottle, and could see that he WAS BENEFITED FROM THE FIRST DOSE. We used three bottles, and I am happy to say the child was ENTIRELY CURED. We used no other remedy, and his cure is complete. He is now three years old and perfectly healthy. You are at liberty to use my name in SOUNDING THE PRAISE OF THIS WONDERFUL REMEDY.

HAS CURED THOUSANDS

S. C. HEACOX,
Agent Pacific Express Co.
Hastings, Nebraska, April 6th, 1892.

DR. MILES' NERVINE,

MOST CERTAIN CURE FOR

HEADACHE, NEURALGIA, NERVOUS PROSTRATION, DIZZINESS, SPASMS, SLEEPLESSNESS, DULLNESS, BLUES, and OPIUM HABIT,

SOLD ON A POSITIVE GUARANTEE.

TRY DR. MILES' PILLS, 50 DOSES 25 CTS.

John Wyatt
THE UNDERTAKER,
EMBALMER AND
FUNERAL DIRECTOR.

Besides carrying a full and complete line of
COFFINS,
CASKETS
AND BURIAL SUPPLIES,
has the largest and most complete stock of

Pictures, Picture Frames,
—AND—
Picture Framing Material
—In the city.—

Special discount During the Holidays.

Office 105½ Broadway,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINNESOTA.

W A. ROBERTSON
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE. IN McKINNON BLOCK

COUGH
DON'T DELAY
TAKE KEMP'S
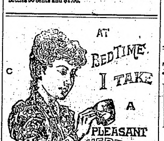
BALSAM
THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.



AT BEDTIME I TAKE A PLEASANT HERB DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1.00 a package. If you cannot get it, send your address for free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Address, ORATOR F. WOODWARD, LeROY, N. Y.

A. H. DUNLAP, M. D.
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS, QUEBEC.
Office in McKinnon Block.

"Sure will the Harvest Be!"

And it depends to a great extent upon the machine you use to do your seeding with, whether it will be a full harvest or not. To insure this buy a

Dowagiac Shoe Drill

—THE MOST—

SIMPLE,
PRACTICAL,
DURABLE,
EFFECTIVE.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS of uninterrupted success has placed this KING OF DRILLS at the head. Investigate its style of spring pressure and the independent, solid bottom steel shoe before buying.

We also sell a complete line of FARM IMPLEMENTS, Boss and Steel Lever Harrows, Rushford Wagons, and a complete line of all styles of Harness. We are also agents for the VICTOR BICYCLE, the best wheel made, and invite you to call and see them.

MERIT WINS.

Larsen, Carpenter & Co.
Broadway and Robert street, - Crookston, Minn.

McKINNON BROS.,
—DEALERS IN—
ALL OF THE LEADING
Agricultural Implements
MAIN STREET. McKINNON BLOCK.
☞ Before Purchasing, Give Us a Call. ☜

CHRISTIANSON BROS.,
Abstracters of Title, Loans,
Real Estate and Insurance

N. B. FARM LOANS a specialty. Terms, three to five years. Lowest rate of interest, payable annually at our office.

☞ Choice FARM LANDS for sale cheap, on terms to suit purchasers. ☜

Office on Robert Street, - - - CROOKSTON, MINN

Crookston Business College
and INSTITUTE OF SHORTHAND.

DEPARTMENTS:—Commercial Shorthand, Typewriting and English.
TEACHERS:—R. C. Holaday, Nellie B. Perry and L. E. Gossman.

Winter Term begins Monday, January 2d, 1893. Send for new catalogue.

CROOKSTON BUSINESS COLLEGE, Crookston, Minn.
BENJ. A. STRAWBRIDGE, Prop.

ASTHMA CURED BY DR. TAFT'S ASTHMALENE

Instead of flying to the door gasping for breath, seeming as if each one would be your last, you have only to take a few doses Asthmalene when the spasm is broken, the breathing becomes easy and you feel as if an angel of mercy had unloosed the iron grasp of the fingers of death. The happiest moment of your life will be when you have used a few bottles of Dr. Taft's ASTHMALENE and it has cured you of Asthma. We mail to any Asthma sufferer a trial bottle FREE and prove that it does Cure Asthma. Sold by druggists. Dr. Taft Bros. M. Co., Rochester, N.Y

IF YOU ARE GOING EAST OR SOUTH ASK YOUR NEAREST AGENT FOR TICKETS VIA THE BURLINGTON AND TAKE NO OTHER LINE.

NEW BARBER SHOP.
On Main St. C. E. MISNER, Prop

Invites your patronage. Everything in the very latest style of the art.

RAZORS HONED.

If you desire your Razor Honed and cannot bring it, send it to me with 30 cents and your name and address and I will hone and return it.

Yours Respectfully,
C. E. MISNER.

THE DUAL
MEAT MARKET.
oOo
CHARLEY VINE

Is Headquarters for all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats.

Highest cash price paid for cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry and hides.

SHOPS
Corner Broadway and Robert street,
and on Second street, in Reckitt block,
Crookston, - - - Minn.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON.

Commenced Business October, 1881.

PAID IN CAPITAL.......$100,000
SURPLUS....................15,500

Interest on certificates of deposit. Accounts of farmers and business men solicited.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, J. H. McKinnon, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, Chas. E. Sawyer, W. H. Crosby

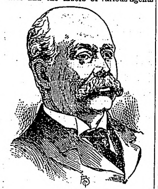
H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, - MINNESOTA

AN IMPENDING CRISIS

HE AUTHORITIES PREPARING FOR A CONFLICT WITH CHOLERA.

Our Entire Quarantine Service Strengthened and Improved—The New Immigration Law to Be Rigidly Enforced—How Imported Citizens Run the Gantlet.

The question of the hour is cholera. The question for the year is the Chicago World's fair. And the great question not only for this year, but for ten years past and many to come, is the enormous immigration pouring in upon us, due greatly to peculiar conditions in Europe, but much more to the cheapening of rates and the labors of various agents among laboring foreigners. And these three questions are connected in a most intimate manner just now, for immigration has already set in heavily for 1893, the cholera is certainly reviving in eastern Europe, and if it gets here it will, as Sam Wilkinson said of the Beecher scandal and a certain religious book, "knock the World's fair higher than Gilderoy's kite."

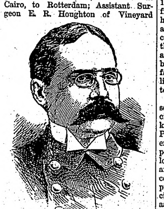


HERMAN STUMP.

There is a touch of the comical in the way public opinion suddenly shifted on this question. Since 1844 the immigrants have never been less than 100,000 a year, and only in the "hard times" of 1876-9 did they fall below 200,000 a year. Then the number suddenly went up beyond precedent since Israel left Egypt, reaching 788,992 in 1882. The labor organizations cried aloud and were laughed at. In the decade of 1880-90 the newcomers were far more than twice as many as in any previous decade and almost doubled the number of foreign born in the country. "Cheap laborers" by the hundred thousand came from Italy, Russia, Poland and elsewhere. Still the labor organizations were scarcely listened to. All at once the cholera threatened. An elegant steamer loaded with the elite of the "Four Hundred" had to suffer a miserable quarantine, and, lo, as Samuel Gompers said, "A shriek from swelldom to shut out every demd immigrant, don't yer know!"

The net result has been a law which on its face is ironclad, trick proof and perjury tight. Previous laws secured by the labor organizations were rather stringent, but this one, which went into effect at the close of the last congress, is simply a "corker." By it the intruding immigrant must under oath tell all about his race, name, age, sex and condition; where he came from, whither he is going and what he is going to do when he gets there; whether he has money, and, if so, how much; whether he has ever been in a prison, hospital or quarantine; whether he is a polygamist or thinks of becoming one; whether he is vaccinated or pockmarked, skilled or unskilled or under contract; whether he is a thief, a pauper, a fugitive, a cripple, an idiot or a habitual drunkard or is conscious of inclinations to become either of such.

Of course this is only a summary, but it is really no exaggeration. In addition to all this, nine experienced surgeons of the marine hospital service, appointed by the president, have gone to the principal foreign ports with almost despotic powers of inspection of immigrant vessels. These are: Surgeon George Purviance of Philadelphia, assigned to Liverpool; Passed Assistant Surgeon W. J. Pettis of Buffalo to Southampton; Assistant Surgeon M. J. Rosenan to Antwerp; Passed Assistant Surgeon J. H. White of Savannah to Hamburg; Passed Assistant Surgeon R. M. Woodward, now located at Cairo, to Rotterdam; Assistant Surgeon E. R. Houghton of Vineyard Haven, Mass., to Havre; Surgeon Fairfax Irwin of Boston to Marseilles; Assistant Surgeon R. W. Brown of San Francisco to Genoa; Assistant Surgeon G. B. Young of Pittsburg to Naples.



SURGEON GENERAL WYMAN.

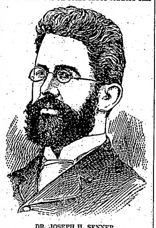
When all this is got over, the burden is next laid on the immigrant vessels. They must not sail from any infected port or any that has been infected for some time. If cholera appears on board a few days after they sail, they must turn back; but if they arrive on this side with cases or suspected cases on board, then their real trouble begins. To the eight quarantine stations previously in use three have been added, the larger ones with disinfecting apparatus, elaborate baths and quarters for "suspects" capable of accommodating from 400 to 1,000 each. And they are very comfortable places too. The government does not intend to make the "suspect" miserable, but it does intend to make him mighty clean and safe.

In addition to all this, 13 vessels have been designated to serve, if there is need, as floating quarantine stations, and all the officials have been granted extraordinary powers. Of course the men intrusted with such powers—powers in their very nature arbitrary to the verge of despotism—should be above suspicion, and the new appointments have therefore been most vigilantly scanned. Supervising Surgeon General Wyman's record and experience are too well known to need detail. He has recently prepared an elaborate code of instructions for all quarantine officials on our own and foreign coasts, and in consultation with physicians from various cities is preparing another for inland application, for there is to be also an inland quarantine, mixed state and federal.

Ex-Congressman Herman Stump, recently appointed superintendent of immigration, vice William D. Owen, resigned, was chairman of the house committee on immigration in the last congress and is the author of the bill he is to administer. He lives at Bel Air, Md., and was born in 1837 on Oakington farm, the ancestral estate on Chesapeake bay. He was admitted to the bar in 1856, has been president of the state senate and represented the Second Maryland district in the Fifty-first and Fifty-second congresses.

Dr. Joseph H. Senner, appointed commissioner of immigration at New York in place of John R. Weber, resigned, was born in Moravia, Austria, in 1846, was graduated from the University of Vienna as a LL. B., practiced law in Austria seven years, came to the United States in 1880 and has attained high standing as a German editor, orator and lawyer. When appointed, he was on the editorial force of the New York Staats-Zeitung and was recommended for his present place by Oswald Ottendorfer.

The immigrants landing at New York average about 1,000 a day for the year, though much the greater numbers come in summer and autumn. In 1879, as aforesaid, there was a sudden and tremendous increase. The number coming in through registry ports was 669,431 in 1881 and 788,992 in 1892—the maximum. For the rest of that decade it only twice fell below 400,000, so the total registered for the decade exceeded 5,000,000. How many came in from Canada is not definitely known, but there are now very nearly 1,000,000 native Canadians in this country, and the French from the province of Quebec are pouring into New England at a rate which some labor leaders call "appalling." When the English acquired Canada, they estimated the French there at less than 65,000. There and in the United States they now number about 2,400,000. No other race in modern times has been so prolific.



DR. JOSEPH H. SENNER.

It is not, however, the increase but the character of the immigration which has excited the labor leaders and alarmed the health authorities. England, Ireland and Germany seemed for a time to have gotten rid of their surplus population and ceased to send us any, and just at this time Italy, Hungary and Russia began to pour forth their swarms. In 1870 there were in this country but 4,644 persons of Russian birth; in 1890 there were 182,644. In the same time Hungarians increased from 3,737 to 62,435, Poles from 14,436 to 147,440, Italians from 17,157 to 182,580 and Canadians (chiefly French) from 493,464 to 980,938. On the other hand, the Irish scarcely increased at all, and the Welsh and English increased comparatively little. From 1870 to 1880 there was an actual decrease of Irish, and from 1880 to 1890 their increase was but 16,938, or less than 1 per cent. In fact, the vastly improved conditions of life in Ireland have reduced emigration to a minimum.

Of all the recent immigrants the Poles seem the least amenable to sanitary discipline or indeed to regulations of any kind. Reared under a despotism, the Polish laborer habitually looks upon government as the natural enemy of the poor man, and his whole life has been a long schooling in evasion and various artifices to beat the officials. Even the census enumerators had to have police protection in some quarters of New York city, for when one entered and began to ask for names, etc., the Pole, sometimes the man of other race, at once concluded it was for a draft or a tax. From a sanitary standpoint the greatest improvement has been among the Irish. Forty years ago, it is said, every third Irishman landing at New York was pockmarked. Now a pitted face is rare among them. Sullivan, in his "New Ireland," says that, of the great emigration of 1849-50, 15 per cent died on the ocean or soon after landing. The cholera of 1832 was brought to Quebec by Irish immigrants, that of 1849 to New Orleans by Germans and that of 1866 to New York by Frenchmen.

It may surprise some readers to learn that despite the immense immigration the original Americans (meaning those whose ancestors on both sides were here July 4, 1776) are still in a large majority. For this we are much indebted to the south, in which over 90 per cent of the people are original Americans.

[illegible]

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."

BEECHAM'S PILLS

COVERED WITH A TASTELESS AND SOLUBLE COATING.

For SICK HEADACHE,

Dizziness, or Swimming in the Head, Wind, Pain, and Spasms at the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Gravel, and flying Pains in the Body, Rheumatism, etc.

Take four, five or even six of Beecham's Pills, and in nine cases out of ten, they will give relief in twenty minutes; for the pill will go direct to and remove the cause, the cause being no more nor less than wind, together with poisonous and noxious vapours, and sometimes unwholesome food.

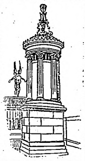
Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box. New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

FOR OLD COLLEGE BOYS.

The Greek Letter Fraternities Will Have an Interesting Show at the Fair.

The Greek letter college societies have had space allotted to them and will make an interesting and instructive exhibit at the World's fair. This will include a collection of books, charts and documents relating to the fraternities, bound volumes of their songs, magazines, annuals, etc., and a complete display of all their badges and paraphernalia. But the chief feature of the exhibit will be a reproduction of the choragic monument of Lysicrates, which is said to be the most famous specimen of Corinthian architecture in existence, and which will be restored in every particular and put in the center of the space devoted to the exhibit. The monument is 40 feet high, and the walls are black, the woodwork being all ebonized and ornamented in gilt.



CHORAGIC MONUMENT.

It may be well to explain for the benefit of those who do not know that a choragic monument was a building erected by a victorious chorus leader for the exhibition of the tripod received as a prize in the musical contests in Athens. Besides that of Lysicrates to be reproduced for the fraternities there is another still to be seen in Athens, that of Thrasyllus.

From the safety of their operation in blood letting the leech has been used for more than 2,000 years, and in many cases doctors could hardly dispense with their use.

MILLER & FOOTE,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW.
McKinnon Block. Crookston, Minn.

FITS STOPPED FREE

Marvelous success.
Insane Persons Restored
Dr. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER

for all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure cure for Nerve Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No Fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send names, P. O. and express address of afflicted to Dr. KLINE, [illegible] Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. See Druggists. BEWARE OF IMITATING FRAUDS.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

HE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUEHLR, Proprietor.
A full supply of everything kept by the trade.
Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, MINN

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE

The Great English Remedy.

Before and After.

Promptly and permanently cures all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses. Been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, leave his dishonest store, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlet in plain sealed envelope, 2 stamps. Address THE WOOD CHEMICAL CO., 131 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.

Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

Cook's Cotton Root COMPOUND.

A recent discovery by an old physician. Successfully used monthly by thousands of Ladies. Is the only perfectly safe and reliable medicine discovered. Beware of unprincipled druggists who offer inferior medicines in place of this. Ask for COOK'S COTTON ROOT COMPOUND, take no substitute, or inclose $1 and 6 cents in postage in letter, and we will send, sealed, by return mail. Full sealed particulars in plain envelope, to ladies only, 2 stamps. Address Pond Lily Company, No. 3 Fisher Block, Detroit, Mich.

Sold at Crookston by [illegible] and druggists everywhere.

C. HENDRICKSON, President. L. ELLINGTON, Vice President
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier. H. STEENERSON, 2d Vice President.
A. P. Hanson, Assistant Cashier.

Scandia-American Bank,

Of Crookston, Minn. Organized 1877 under the State law. Capital $50,000. Surplus, $5,000. Undivided profits, $15,000. Special attention given to collections.

DIRECTORS—C. Hendrickson, Grafton, N. D.; C. O. Christianson, Halvor Steenerson, Max Ericsson, J. W. Wheeler, E. P. Pierce, L. K. Aaker, D. H. Turner, A. G. Gallasch, Lewis Ellington, J. H. Locken, O. H. Lucken.

S. L. COLLINS,
Proprietor of Main Street
Livery and Feed Stables.
Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., west side,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINNESOTA.

Horses bought and sold on commission. Everything neat and nobby. Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection, which I will attend to in person.

Valley Roller Mills.
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Manufacturers of

FINE FLOURS

MADE FROM SELECTED RED RIVER HARD WHEAT.

BRANDS:
Patent: Lee & Herrick's Best.
Straight: North Star.
Bakers': Fife.
Low Grade: Skip Jack.

BRAN, SHORTS AND SCREENINGS,
Always on hand at reasonable prices.

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, April 7th, 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Oline Severe, deceased.

On receiving and filing the petition of Edward Severe, of the county of Polk, representing, among other things, that Oline Severe, late of the county of Polk in the state of Minnesota, in February, A. D. 1889, at the county of Polk died intestate, and being an inhabitant of this county at the time of her death, leaving goods, chattels and estate within this county, and that the said petitioner is the surviving husband of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be to Edward Severe granted.

It is ordered that said petition be heard before said court on Tuesday, the second day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the probate office in the city of Crookston, in said county.

Ordered further, that notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased and to all persons interested, by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the Polk County Journal, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 7th day of April, A. D. 1893.

By the Court, C. M. BENSON, Judge of Probate.
[52-2]

THE NEW NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana — FARM LANDS

NEW TOWNS — 100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.

Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products. — LOW RATES

Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills. — Horses, Cattle.

Health, Wealth. — In the Northwest. Free Lands, New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.

Sweetes Grass Hills, Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raizers' paradise. — Sheep, Hogs.

Herds, Mines — These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.

"In no way can Americans so effectively inform themselves on the subjects that claim public attention from one month to another as by reading the North American Review."

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

THE TOPICS are always those which are uppermost in the public mind—in morals, politics, science, literature, business, finance, industrial economy, social and municipal affairs, etc.—in short all subjects on which Americans require and desire to be informed. No magazine follows so closely from month to month the course of public interest. All subjects are treated of impartially on both sides.

THE CONTRIBUTORS to the Review are the men and women to whom the world looks for the most authoritative statements on the subjects of the day. No other periodical can point to such a succession of distinguished writers. The list is a roll of the people who are making the history, controlling the affairs, and leading the opinion of the age, such as Mr. Gladstone, the Prime Minister of England, Mr. Blaine, Signor Crispi, Ex-Prime Minister of Italy, Baron Hirsch, H. R. H. the Count of Paris, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishops Potter, Doane, Mallelieu, Foss, etc., etc.

THE TIME when these subjects are treated of by these contributors is the very time when the subjects are in the public mind—not a month or two after people had ceased to think of them. The promptness with which the Review furnishes its readers with the most authoritative information upon the topics of the day is one of its most valuable features.

Subscription Price, $5.00 a year,
THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW,
3 East 14th Street, New York.

A Dollar Saved
IS A Dollar Earned.

DO YOU
WANT
TO EARN A
FEW DOLLARS?

IN THE SPRING OF THE YEAR everyone requires some Garden or Flower Seeds, and we have made arrangements with the Weekly Pioneer Press of St. Paul, whereby we are enabled to distribute

SEEDS
FREE
OF
COST.

And we can also furnish THE WEEKLY PIONEER PRESS cheaper than it can be got any other way.

HERE IS THE OFFER we are prepared to make.

For $2.00 we will send	Regular
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
20 packages Garden Vegetable Seeds, retail price	1 25
	$3 75

THIS offer is good to New Subscribers, or to Old Ones paying all arrearages and one year in advance. Cash must accompany the order in every case.

Another Offer.

For $1.85 we will send you	Regular price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
The Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
An "up to date" Pocket Map of any State in the Union	1 00
	$3 50

These maps are reliable and "up to date," and the map of Illinois includes a map of Chicago, which is valuable to any one contemplating a visit to the World's Fair.

Address

Polk County Journal,
Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

BY COOKE & HAMMOND.

Devoted to the Welfare of Polk County.

OFFICIAL PAPER, CITY OF CROOKSTON.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

GREAT is Boss Doran and Grover is his profit.

THE Drayton Echo gives evidence of prosperity by putting in a new cylinder press. The Echo is a good local paper.

THE report that cholera was prevalent in Winnipeg that was circulated by the Times of this city proves a fake (of course.) The Times will now try to palm it off on the editor of the JOURNAL by saying that "the bad man of the JOURNAL informed our fresh reporter," etc., etc. There is no cholera at Winnipeg.

MAJ. MIX has been mentioned to succeed Postmaster Dawley when that official's time is out, and if the dems are bound and determined to fire the republican incumbent, we know of no one we should prefer to see the mantle fall upon than Maj. Mix. He is worthy and well qualified, duly and truly prepared, of lawful age and well recommended, and Grover might hunt four years and not find a better. Here's hoping, Major.

THE legislature adjourned without date on Tuesday noon. Everything considered it has been the most economical body that we have had for years and much of good has been wrought for this upper country. One bad feature is in the fact that no re-apportionment was had. This matter should not be left to the caprice of legislators but should be mandatory. They should be obliged to re-apportion whether they wish to or not.

THE Norman County Index says that Chesley really meant it when he voted for the re-apportionment bill. We are glad if that is so for we had heard that his vote was the result of a trade. We were sorry to hear that for we have always estimated Mr. Chesley very highly and gave him credit for knowing enough to come in when it rains and we did not like to hear this evidence that he was as big a lunatic as some others we could name, (Johnny get your gun) and so we will gladly accept the statement of the Index that it was all right. We had rather believe that way.

"JOHNNY get your gun" and come home. You will probably need it to defend yourself against the just indignation of your constituents whose interests you disregarded when you sat there in your seat like a bump on a log and voted no on the re-apportionment bill. You are truly a handsome specimen of the genus homo, with that record and should at once be elected president of the owl club. You are the most intelligent specimen of humanity we have seen in a long time—but come home, Johnny, and explain yourself —if you can.

A NEW city hall is one of the improvements that Mayor Stephens recommends, and it is a very good one, too, and now, while property can be had reasonably, is the time to move in the matter. A site should be secured sufficiently large to answer all demands for many years to come and a building erected that would be a credit to our city and its enterprising people. The present site would be all right, providing additional land could be bought adjoining, to provide a sufficiently large edifice, but the best way would be to sell the old rattle-trap and get a new site.

VIEWED politically the result of the labors of the late legislature are satisfactory. The republican party promised a reduction of the tax levy —and have reduced from two cents and two mills to one cent and seven mills. They promised in so far as possible to provide a free and open wheat market and two bills calculated to attain that result have become laws. Not only that but they have also passed the state elevator at bill providing for a state elevator at Duluth. If these laws fail to accomplish the intended purpose they at least show that the republicans redeem their pledges to the people and are worthy of continued codfidence and trust. There are also many other bills that are intended for the relief of the burdens complained of. The expenses of the legislature have also been in the line of economy and prove that the republican party believes in retrenchment and reform and is still every way worthy of the confidence and trust of the people.

WITH this issue the JOURNAL enters upon its 17th volume. During the past year we have added a new Potter job and newscylinder press of the very latest design, upon which we can turn out copies of the JOURNAL at the rate of 2.000 per hour, when we have our little gasoline engine hitched up; we have also added very largely to our type department, besides other facilities for doing all kinds of work promptly and well, and we feel in better shape than ever before to issue a paper that shall be worthy of the generous patronage we have been receiving. It shall be our earnest endeavor to merit and achieve still greater success in the future. Thanking JOURNAL readers one and all for many kind words and deeds we start in Vol. XVII with renewed confidence.

THE APPROPRIATION BILL.

The appropriation bill came from the senate shorn of that section that provided for certain amounts for counties wherein is located the exempt railroad lands that the Markham bill was intended to reach for purposes of taxation. The house would not have it so and appointed a committee of conference but without avail, and so the bill was passed without the clause, thus leaving the burden of taxation, as before, resting unevenly upon the citizens of the state—an unjust discrimination against the northern tier of counties. We shall probably never get exact justice from that body until by reapportionment we get our full representation in the legislature. That simple act of justice was a small thing to do and it was an outrage that the senate refused to do it.

The Anti-Option Bill.

Had Washburn's anti-option bill become a law, the scenes that took place in Chicago last week could never have happened. It is for the interest of the producer that wheat should be as high as possible, but what farmer was benefitted a cent's worth when wheat reached 90 cents in Chicago? Not one. In fact it was a damage to him for the reaction that is sure to follow such spurts always affects his market and depresses it abnormally. The wheat gambling is just as much a game of chance as any that the government is trying so hard to stamp out, and yet it is allowed to exist. See what herculean efforts were put forth to stamp out the Louisiana lottery and yet here is as great an evil—nay greater, for a man need not be affected by the lottery unless he wants too, but here is an evil that robs the producer of wheat of all his legitimate profits while he is powerless to prevent it. If it is paternalism to stop such robberies let us have a little more paternalism in our form of government. For Pardridge and the bears who were so unmercifully gored we have no sympathy, they made their money by gambling, and they lost it in the same way, and if the evil stopped there it would be all right, but it does not stop until it wrings the life-blood out of hundreds of innocent producers. If it is right to stop gambling in cards and other devices by law, it is doubly right to stop this nefarious practice in the same way.

The Drainage Bill Passed by the House.

ON Saturday morning of last week the JOURNAL received a telegram from Hon. John D. Knudson which announced the glad tidings that the drainage bill had passed the house on Friday evening. The situation in that body had become so complicated that its passage at this session had become a matter of doubt and great was the relief when it was learned that the bill had actually passed and was in the hands of the governor. That he will sign the bill there is no doubt and the question comes up "will the appropriation be economically used?" As a guaranty for this let it be remembered that the Great Northern road is mutually interested in the matter and Mr. Hill is not liable to invest any money unless he sees value received. He will undoubtedly see that competent engineers are secured for the work and that is one of the most important features, and he will undoubtedly see that competent men have a chance to bid on the work. His experience as a railroad builder will come in handy in this important matter and we think it is beyond a matter of doubt but that the appropriation will be wisely expended and in a manner to insure the greatest possible results. The benefits that will be derived from this measure are inestimable to this country far out-weighing anything else we have ever had at the hands of the legislature and as the years roll on the wisdom of it will be seen more and more.

For Sale.

One pair of good farm mares and two or three extra good, new milch cows. For further particulars address.

F. BIVINS & SON,
[49-2] Crookston, Minn.

COUGHING LEADS TO CONSUMPTION
Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

THE LEGISLATURE

TWENTY-EIGHTH SESSION.

Tuesday, April 11.

ST. PAUL, April 11.—In the senate another decisive step was made by the Keller investigating committee to inspect all state lands to ascertain their real value, and to learn how much timber has been pilfered, and by whom, culminated, and Senators Keller, Donnelly, Leavitt, Dedon and Eaton were designated as the senate complement to the committee. For the purpose of the investigation an appropriation of $10,000 is made, and this money is placed in the governor's contingent fund, and can only be used for actual expenses. The Leavitt bill, providing for a reassessment of taxable lands in the state that have been fraudulently omitted from the tax rolls and that have been grossly underestimated for assessment purposes, also passed the senate under suspension of the rules.

The university tax levy bill passed. The amended capitol bill was taken up, and one or two minor provisions made.

The house passed a number of bills on the calendar. In committee of the whole the general appropriation bill was considered and progress reported.

Wednesday, April 12.

ST. PAUL, April 12.—A large part of the morning session of the senate was spent in "roasting" Loren Fletcher for an interview in a Minneapolis paper in which he referred to the pine land investigating committee in anything but complimentary terms. Donnelly, Keller, J. D. Smith and Leavitt, all took a turn at him.

The bill revising laws governing insane hospitals was later taken up and passed, as also was Guderain's drainage bill.

The entire afternoon was spent in considering the anti-scalpers' bill in committee of the whole. Its mysterious disappearance, however, seems to have made it friends, and it was recommended to pass by a vote of 27 to 10.

In the house considerable time was spent in getting a committee for investigating alleged boodling schemes. It was finally settled, however, and the house then went into the committee of the whole with Mr. Cotton in the chair and resumed consideration of the general appropriation bill. A number of amendments were offered to section 11 and it was adopted. The entire bill as amended was then adopted and recommended to pass.

The charter bill was given its first and second readings and ordered printed and placed on general orders.

Thursday, April 13.

ST. PAUL, April 13.—The house oil inspection bill was taken from general orders and placed on its final passage in the senate. It occasioned a lively discussion and numerous unsuccessful attempts at amendment. The vote on final passage was 43 to 7.

At the afternoon session the senate resumed discussion of the general appropriation bill. The first four sections were adopted without objection. Senator Leavitt attacked the fifth section, relating to normal schools. He moved to strike out all appropriations for additional buildings. After an hour's discussion the motion to strike out was lost. Senator Leavitt then moved an amendment to reduce the appropriation to $175,000 for a university, labratory and assembly hall to $150,000. This was lost by a vote of 11 to 36, and the section of the bill was adopted. Other attempts to amend the bill proved futile, and it was finally laid over.

Immediately after roll call the special committee on Dr. Williams' bill to establish parks on the banks of the Mississippi within the limits of cities of more than 75,000 inhabitants, reported the same back with the recommendation that the bill pass. The intent of the bill is to establish a beautiful park between St. Paul and Minneapolis, extendigg on both sides of the river above Fort Snelling. The report of the committee was adopted.

The general appropriation bill was passed, also to prevent sale of adulterated lard. A large number of bills were acted on in committee of the whole.

Friday, April 14.

ST. PAUL, April 14.—The senate spent nearly the entire day on the general appropriation bill. It was amended in minor particulars and was passed.

Senator Donnelly offered a resolution directing Sergeant-at-Arms Smout to turn over Mr. Rhodes' letter book to the attorney general, to be used as evidence in the prosecution of the coal combine.

Mr. Turrell introduced a bill in the house, H. F. 907, providing for the tax levy for the fiscal years of 1894 and 1895. The bill provides for levying a tax of $1,100,000 for each of the two years, the rate not to exceed 1 7-10 mills, a reduction of 5-10 mill from the rate of two years ago. The bill was given its third reading, and passed the house under suspension of the rules.

Nearly the whole day was spent in committee of the whole and a large number of bills were recommended to pass.

At the evening session bills were passed appropriating $25,000 a year for four years to drain land and open streams in the Red River valley; amending laws relating to management of state refoamatory and abolishing corporal punishment; defining what constitutes a legal newspaper; to prevent mixing of grain.

Saturday, April 15.

ST. PAUL, April 15.—Senator Donnelly's terminal rate bill was defeated in the senate, lacking one vote of enough.

H. F. 907, the tax levy bill, was then taken up and passed.

The appropriation bill then came up on report of the conference committee. The committee reported that they recommended the reinstatement of section 11, with an additional $1,000 for Otter Tail county, and that the $12,500 for the Itaska park be cut down to $5,000. The other amendments were agreed to, and the senate was informed that the house had passed the bill in this shape. Senator Donnelly moved that the conference report be non-concurred in. The motion prevailed and a new conference committee was appointed.

The road and bridge bill; appropriating $16,500, was then passed.

The calendar was then taken up and a number of bills passed, including the anti-scalper bill and a bill reorganizing the labor bureau.

An agreement on the general appropriation bill was reported from the conference comcommittee and the bill passed.

A large portion of the day's session in the house was spent in discussing the amendments to the capitol bill and the general appropriation bill. Both measures were finally disposed of.

Bjorge's interest reduction bill, Langum's earnings bill and O'Niel's bill for a state elevator at Duluth failed of passage. The inheritance tax bill and several minor measures passed.

Monday, April 17.

ST. PAUL, April 17.—The last working day of the legislature was no exception to the general rule. There was little important business transacted, though many bills were passed. Senator Donnelly accused Chairman Comstock of the public land committee with having run away with the pine land investigation resolution. A duplicate was passed.

At 2:15 Senator J. D. Smith moved to permit senators to call up one bill each for passage. The motion prevailed both at the afternoon and evening sessions and nearly 100 bills were passed in this manner. Most of the measures were unimportant from a general point of view. Whenever a really important measure was called up objection was made and the bill would have to be dropped. Considerable confusion was created by certain members who claimed they were being slighted and many attempts were made to adjourn. It was nearly 2 a. m. when the motion prevailed.

In the house the bill to appropriate money for a state elevator at Duluth passed. Scores of bills were passed during the day, mostly of a purely local character. Among the important measures taken up and defeated were the woman suffrage bill, the Fort Snelling park bill, the bill providing for incorporation and regulation of life and casualty insurance companies, the anti-pool room bill, the bill to limit the national guard to 27 companies, and Mott's railroad fencing bill.

IT RAISES THE PRICE.

Minnesota's Legislative Coal Investigating Committee Reports.

ST. PAUL, April 14.—The joint legislative committee which has for more than a month past been investigating workings of the coal combine, made its report just before the adjournment of the legislature during the evening. It rehearses the findings of the committee that a combine, known as the Minnesota Bureau of Coal Statistics, exists in this state; that it has been able in all the leading cities of the state to force all dealers not subscribers to the bureau out of the coal business, and that this combine has gradually raised the price of anthracite coal until it now sells at but a few cents less than $9 per ton. The committee also recites the fact that it has secured an indictment against the for perjury, and is preparing cases with the aid of the attorney general against several members of the combine for criminal conspiracy. The report continues:

Central Figure of the Combine

"The retail price of coal in the three large cities of the state and their suburban districts is determined monthly at a conference held between the managers of the shippers or wholesalers held at the city of St. Paul at the office of the Minnesota Bureau of Coal Statistics, a spying institution, maintained by an arbitrary assessment of $25 on each retailer, and the remainder of the price of maintaining, which, with its paraphernalia of detectives and bulldozers, is borne equally by the shippers and wholesalers. John J. Rhodes, who is now under arrest for perjury in connection with this investigation, is the manager of this bureau, and is paid a salary of $5,000 a year. Such combinations are contrary to sound public policy, and are extremely dangerous

To the Interests of the State and the welfare of the people thereof, and has placed in the hands and within the power of a selfish unpublic-spirited and cruel aggregation one of the absolute necessaries of life in this climate. It would be a very lamentable state of affairs if our courts cannot remedy this evil that is rapidly reducing our people to beggary and blighting and bankrupting our infant industries.

"The question of fuel, in view of the attitude of those who control the supply thereof, is one that requires the best thoughts of our greatest thinkers, and a combination of the character herein shown to exist must be dealt with by those charged with the duty of enforcing the law with fearless and persistent energy and tireless activity."

The Recommendations.

The committee recommends to the two houses in conclusion that the attention of the governor be directed to the evils the people are now suffering under from this and other like combinations, and respectfully urges that the power of the state be exerted to the utmost, to the end that they may be relieved from the great dangers that threaten them, and, if no adequate remedy can be had in our own courts, that these vicious and demoralizing combinations be prosecuted under the federal law in the courts of the United States.

Minnesota Pine.

ST. PAUL, April 14.—A special to The Globe from Washington says:

Secretary Hoke Smith has announced that he will take up the Minnesota pine land scandal in the course of the next few days and cause a thorough investigation of the various charges.

LAST WEEK'S STORM.

The Death List Grows—Nearly Fifty Victims.

ST. LOUIS, April 18.—Though nearly three days have passed since the cyclone tore its way through Missouri from southeast to northwest the reports of damage and loss of life are still coming in. The towns which suffered most are comparatively small, and nearly all located in the northwestern part of the state, on a strip lying to the southeast of Kansas City. A summary of the casualties shows the following result, the list of dead and injured being corrected and verified to the best possible extent:

Some of the Casualties.

At Hawkins Bank, Mo., William Asher was found dead with a baby in his arms. Andrew Lay, Mrs. James Wilson, Mrs. William Asher, John D. Lay, John Dill, and an unknown 8-months-old child, were also killed. Four others were fatally and over thirty seriously injured.

At Lexington, Mo., Anna Walker, Mrs. John Luke, her brother, Ferris Walker and a negro boy were killed, and William Fountaine, Mrs. Joseph Hutchinson and a Walker boy were fatally injured.

At Stanberry, Mo., three women were killed and two men fatally injured.

At Steeleville, Mo., seven were killed.

At Page City, Mo., one was killed and three or four others will die from injuries.

Seventeen Dead.

ROBINSONVILLE, Miss., April 14.—So far as known 17 people were killed and at least 60 injured by the cyclone at this place Wednesday night. Several of those killed were burned to a crisp in the fire which followed. The dead are:

Mrs. Emma Lusk, Rev. R. R. Shipp of Olive Branch, Miss.; Isaac Chapman, Ben Ray and mother, Annie Spight, three children of Manuel Gray, Joseph Taylor's infant, William Warren, Mary Smith and four unknown.

Demolished Many Buildings.

YPSILANTI, Mich., April 18.—A tornado struck this city during the night, coming from the southwest and sweeping everything in its path through the principal part of the city. It was a quarter of a mile wide. Houses were moved from their foundations. Probably $100,000 damage was done. Every store in the city was damaged.

FLAG COMES DOWN.

NO STARS AND STRIPES WAVE OVER HAWAII.

They Are Pulled Down Upon Orders From Commissioner Blount and the Hawaiian Flag Hoisted in Their Place.

HONOLULU, April 14.—Commissioner Blount's arrival was a wet blanket for the provisional government, but his procedure has paralyzed the leaders as well as Minister Stevens. By Blount's orders the American flag was hauled down and the protectorate dissolved. This event took place April 1, and was marked by brief and simple ceremony. On his arrival here the United States commissioner held two audiences with the provisional government, at the first of which Blount presented a letter from President Cleveland introducing the envoy and defining his duties. At the second audience, held alone with President Dole, Blount said that the following day he should break up Camp Bouton, send the American seamen back to the vessels and declare the protectorate ended. His reason was that he wanted to put the provisional government on a plane of independence so that in his dealings with it there should be no imputation of coercion. The provisional leaders were badly surprised but they spent the night in drilling their troops and preparing for any uprising that might follow the withdrawal of the marines. The streets were full of rumors that Blount proposed to restore the queen and these wild tales created intense excitement among the natives. The morning of April 1, a great crowd assembled in front of the government buildings. The full force of the provisional army was gathered. At the command of Blount a bugler gave the signal and the American Colors Came Down.

Lower the American Flag,

The descent of the flag was watched in deep silence. Then the Hawaiian flag was hoisted. It received no cheers, for every one knew it was not the new government desired. Blount on April 3 had a conference with the provisional leaders at which he assured them that neither Japan or any other power would be permitted to land troops to menace the government. Since then there has been considerable excitement, but nothing has occurred to disturb the peace. The provisional troops are amply sufficient to guard against any attempts of the Hawaiians to upset the government. It was remarked by many with surprise that no demonstration of any kind had been made when the Hawaiian flag was raised. It was afterwards ascertained that the queen had requested some of her people to instruct the natives to make no outbursts on the occasion.

WORLD'S FAIR RATES.

The Committee Agrees on a 20 Per Cent Reduction.

CHICAGO, April 15.—The committee of the Western Passenger association considering the question of world's fair rates has reached an agreement and will report in favor of a fare for the round trip of the regular rate less 20 per cent, and nothing to be sold at less than 2 cents per mile. This is the same fare as has been adopted by the Central Traffic and other associations. This rate, however, will have no bearing upon the tariff from points west of the Missouri

What It Will Cost.

The actual rates from the principal Northwestern points are as follows: Round trip. Sioux City, $20; St. Paul and Minneapolis, $18.50; Duluth and Superior, 21.70; Ashland, 19.60. One fare to Chicago for continuous passage, Sioux City, St. Paul and Minneapolis, $10; Duluth and Superior, $12; Ashland, $10.75. Tickets will be on sale April 25 to Oct. 31, good for continuous passage, and final limit Nov. 15.

THE SENATE ADJOURNS.

No Action Taken on the Charges Against Senator Roach.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The extraordinary session of the senate, after running exactly six weeks, closed Saturday night. The proposed investigation of the charges against Senator Roach of North Dakota formed the chief topic of the day's discussion. Three speeches were made upon it—two of them by the Republican senators from Connecticut, Messrs. Platt and Hawley, in affirmation of the right and duty of the senate to make investigation, and the other by Mr. Mills in distinct denial of either the right or duty. Allied to the same subject, though figuring under the guise of a question of personal privilege, were remarks by Mr. Chandler, Mr. Voorhees and Mr. Hansbrough. No disposition was made either of the matter or of the question as to the admission of the three appointed senators from Montana, Washington and Wyoming.

MR. ROACH IS WILLING.

The Senator from North Dakota Asks an Investigation.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The senate was occupied during the greatest part of the day's session with the resolution for the investigation of the charges against Senator Roach of North Dakota. Senator Chandler (Rep., N. H.) had obtained unanimous consent that he should address the senate in support of that resolution and he did so at much length. Much of the interest was taken out of his speech by Mr. Roach rising as soon as the journal was read and expressing his entire willingness and desire to have the investigation made.

The 20-Foot Channel.

DETROIT, April 17.—Work on the great 20-foot channel which will ultimately connect Chicago, Duluth and Buffalo, will commence in a few days. The starting place will be Gross Point.

If Your Cistern
Is Out of Order

or Soft Water is scarce, don't worry yourself for a moment—go right ahead and use hard water with

KIRK'S
WHITE RUSSIAN
SOAP

and you'll never know the difference. The clothes will be just as white, clean and sweet-smelling, because the "White Russian" is specially adapted for use in hard water.

JAS. S. KIRK & CO., Chicago.

Dusky Diamond Tar Soap. Best Soap for the Hands.

BELGIAN STRIKES.

THE MOVEMENT FOR SUFFRAGE SPREADING.

Disturbances in Many Parts of the Country—Four Persons Killed and Many Injured in a Fight With Militia at Mons—A Riot at Antwerp.

BRUSSELS, April 17.—The industrial revolution against the chamber of deputies is in full progress, and every day fresh accessions to the ranks are reported. A thousand of the dock laborers in Antwerp have joined the movement and much excitement prevails at that port. The strikers at Mons have resorted to the use of dynamite to enforce their demand for universal suffrage. A bomb which had been placed close to the Petit Assines church, exploded with great violence, shattering the stained glass windows of the church and doing other damage. The explosion seems to have acted as an incentive to the strikers to commit further outrages. The strikers filled the drinking places and indulged in all manner of

Threats Against the Government and as the day wore on became emboldened to take possession of the town for a labor procession. The intentions were known to the authorities, who have many spies among the workmen, and when the mob, singing the "Carmagnole" and the "Marseillaise," attempted to march through the streets they were met by a strong detachment of the civic guards. The usual order was given for the strikers to disperse but no attention was paid to it by the strikers. Hooting and yelling, they attempted to march on, when an order was given for the civic guard

To Prepare to Fire.

The mob defied the guards to fire upon them and threw heavy stones, bottles and other missiles at them. The guard fired upon the crowd, but this did not effect their dispersal. On the contrary it only infuriated them and a charge en masse was made upon the guard. A desperate hand to hand conflict ensued. The main body of the strikers was broken up, but groups of struggling men could be seen in the side streets leading from the main thoroughfare. The battle was long and bitterly contested, but finally the civic guards were victorious. It is known that

Four of the Miners Were Killed, and several soldiers fatally injured. Many of the rioters were wounded and a number were taken to the hospital. It is thought that the exact number of the wounded will never be known as some of them were carried away by their friends to prevent their falling into the hands of the authorities. The killing of the four strikers has added greatly to the excitement in the town and there is danger of a more serious outbreak. Men and women from the adjacent mining villages are flocking to Mons and the authorities are anxiously awaiting the events of the night. Mons is the center of the great Borinage coal mining district. Three-fourths of the miners in Belgium are employed in this district.

Fighting at Antwerp.

A dispatch from Antwerp says that large crowds have been in the streets since noon. The strikers gathered repeatedly in large crowds in the southern district. As often as the police dispersed them they summoned hundreds more to their aid and reassembled. Shortly after 3 o'clock a squadron of police, riding with drawn swords against the workingmen, were overwhelmed with showers of stones and timbers. The police retired in confusion. When another squadron of police, supported by a detachment of the civic guard, tried half an hour later to drive back the mob they were met with volleys from revolvers and rifles. Many of the soldiers were wounded and were removed to the hospitals. The military were summoned and after two charges repulsed the strikers. Crowds are still gathering in the northern district and more fighting is expected.

Mrs. Maybrick Attempts Suicide.

LONDON, April 17.—A report has been circulated and generally credited in Woking that Mrs. Florence Maybrick tried to kill herself in the Woking prison Saturday. She is said to have stabbed herself severely in the throat and chest with a table knife which was taken from her in time to prevent her from inflicting mortal wounds.

Ex-Consul Dudley Dropped Dead.

CAMDEN, N. J., April 16.—Hon. Thomas H. Dudley, ex-consul to Liverpool, dropped dead at the Broad street station, Philadelphia.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

Euclid Items.

From our regular correspondent.

EUCLID, April 15, 1893.

Joseph Allen went over to the Forks on business Thursday.

Miss Emma Casmey returned from Crookston Friday.

Deputy Sheriff Losey came up to spend Sunday with the old folks.

Laura Larson, a young lady who had been employed as domestic on the Keystone farm, died Tuesday. The body was taken to St. Hilaire, the home of her parents for burial.

Theodore Myer, H. C. Stuhr and C. Michler, were among the Euclidites who were at the county seat last week.

Samuel Crookshanks, of Buffington came in on business Friday.

Mr. McArty, A. C. Schmidt's genial knight of the brush, came up and did some papering for several of our people last week.

Rev. W. F. McAltioner has concluded to return to Euclid to reside.

J. O. McWaters and Will Kennon, of Buffington, came in to do some trading Saturday.

A. Dreeland who has had charge of the section on the N. P. at South Euclid has been promoted. He will go to Twin Valley to reside. Mr. Dreeland has made numerous friends here and they will be sorry to have him leave.

There is a good opening here for a lumber yard.

C. E. Harrington purchased of Joseph Allen, the southwest quarter of section two, Euclid township.

A party of young folks went up to Argyle on a hand car Sunday. They say that they "painted the town red."

Henry Nelson who has been attending the Lutheran school at Red Wing, returned home last week.

E. Taylor & Co., have had their office thoroughly renovated and papered and painted.

There has been considerable barley shipped from this market in the last week.

Nels. Overas left for Minneapolis this week to accept a position in a tailoring establishment there.

John Ghoosen was a caller at the county seat Monday.

Wm. Davidson went down to the Queen City, Monday. He took I. W. C. Misner along to see that he wasn't run in.

S. Currie is getting a reputation as a building mover.

NO CHOLERA AT WINNIPEG

How an Absurd Report of a "Scare" Originated.

Special to the Minneapolis Journal.

WINNIPEG. April 17.—There is no cholera here. Circumstances which led to the report are as follows: On the train from the East yesterday was a woman who was ill. Some one suggested she might have cholera and the medical, civic and Canadian Pacific authorities held a hurried consultation, the result of which was that the train was stopped before crossing the Red river and entering the city. The doctors examined the woman carefully and found her to be suffering with an ordinary fever. What makes the story more absurd is the fact that the woman belongs to Ontario and only left her home three days ago to settle with her family in Manitoba. This is the complete story of the cholera "scare"

Fits.

All fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St. Phila., Pa. For sale by all druggists; call on yours.

Don't forget my feed mill—feed ground every week day during February either for cash or trade at rate of one sack for seven or ⅛ bushel per bushel ground. Special contract for large quantities. Call on me. W. H. NORRIE,
Successor to Priester & Co.,
Corner Main and Third streets.

Business Opening.

For sale on easy terms a well established and paying business in the city of Crookston. Good reasons given for retiring. Address No. 8 care of "JOURNAL" office Crookston.
(52-2)

Farmers,

I am now making arrangements to buy wood from you. Call on me and we can agree. W. H. NORRIE,
Wood yard corner Main and Third streets, Crookston. [48-3]

Swedish Lutheran Jubilee.

Northern Pacific make reduced rates to Minneapolis, for the Swedish Lutheran Jubilee Festival, to be held at Minneapolis, May 22nd and 23rd, we make rate of fare and one-third on certificate plan, provided there are one hundred or more in attendance, who have paid full fare on the going trip.

C. A. SHARLEY,
Agent.

THE WEEK'S NEWS.

Wednesday, April 12.

The convention of United Mine Workers of America is in session at Columbus, O.

Great Falls, Mon., has elected a Democratic mayor for the first time in the city's history.

Affairs in Peru appear to be drifting toward a revolution. Riots are of frequent occurence.

William Dunkel, living alone near Appleton, Wis., was burned to death in his own home. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The Eagle Woolen mills in Hubbardstown, Mass., were totally destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock a. m. Cause unknown. Loss, $75,000 to $100,000.

An abstract of the report of the comptroller of the currency on North Dakota banks shows, Resources, $10,518.247.57; loans and discounts, $6,983,649.77; capital stock, $2,565,000; surplus and profits, 808,957.88; deposits, $5,745,559.71; reserves held, 20 1-5 per cent.

More than $16,000,000 has been paid out thus far by the Exposition company alone in preparation of the world's fair. An expenditure of six or seven millions more will be made.

Thursday, April 13.

Judge R. R. Nelson of the United States district court of Minnesota is the only man on the district bench appointed before the civil war.

William Waldorf Astor has bought the splendid estate of Cliveden, on the banks of the Thames, from the Duke of Westminster. The sum paid is stated to be $1,250,000.

Tjeldie, the Norwegian sculptor of Minneapolis, will represent Hiawatha bearing Minnehaha in his arms across wild and rushing rivers. This is to be in the form of a statue for the Minnesota building at the world's fair. The women of the state pay for it.

George Jacob Schweinfurth, Rockford's amber-haired claimant to divinity, has decided to establish a branch "heaven" at Aspen, Colo. Mrs. Tuttle, his choicest angel, will be placed in charge of the new branch.

Friday, April 14.

Charles Longfellow, son of the poet, died in Boston Thursday.

The Tennessee Derby, run Thursday at Memphis, was won by Calhoun.

King Humbert of Italy is paying a visit to Queen Victoria at Florence.

A four-page daily paper will be issued at Northfield during the Mills revival meetings in June.

London papers assert that Charley Mitchell intends abandoning the prize ring and entering the pulpit.

William J. Little of Hot Springs, Ark., has been appointed superintendent of the Hot Springs reservation.

Mr. A. J. Balfour, the leader of the opposition in the house of commons, has decided not to speak in the debate on the home rule bill until April 21.

Saturday, April 15.

The New York assembly has passed a bill to abolish capital punishment.

Fire at Veszprim, Hungary, has destroyed 141 houses. A thousand people are homeless.

A new railroad is to be built from Iron Mountain to Menominee, Mich., for ore traffic.

Washburn, Wis., will have a new $25,000 school house and a $20,000 jail. Contracts have been let.

The casket and coffin manufacturers of New York, Brooklyn and other large manufacturing places have organized a trust.

The postoffice department has received information of the death of Postmaster Collins of Brooklyn at his home in that city.

The story recently published in some Eastern papers regarding the secession of the mainland of British Columbia is denied at Vancover.

Monday, April 17.

Hiram W. Sibley of Rochester has given $60,000 to Cornell university.

The old Parker House, New York, which has been a Broadway landmark for 40 years, will be closed.

The Minnesota state conference of charities and reforms closed a two days session at St. Paul, Friday.

Henry Matison, a carpenter at work in New York, fell nine stories down an elevator shaft and was instantly killed.

An ex-priest and anti-Catholic lecturer at Denver has unaccountably disappeared, and is thought to have been foully dealt with.

Secretary Gresham has wired Governor Peck that Peter Dyrnde, wanted for theft of funds while treasurer of Rock county, Wis., is under arrest at Stockholm, Sweden.

Mrs. Robert T. Lincoln, the wife of the former minister to England, and Miss Lincoln have returned from Europe on the steamer New York. The ex-minister will leave England on the 22nd inst.

Tuesday, April 18.

Umpire Gaffney has signed a contract with the National league.

The municipal elections in Vienna have resulted in a victory for the anti-Semites.

Paddy Slavin and Jim Hall have signed articles to box 20 rounds for a purse of £1,000 at the National Sporting club in Derby

The world's fair music hall must be rebuilt if concerts are to be given in it this summer. The hall echoes so badly that it is practically useless.

The Carlisle, Pa., presbytery adopted a resolution directing all candidates for the ministry to go to some other school than Union seminary, New York.

Jeannie and Harry McArthur, children of a St. Paul fire laddie, will represent Minnesota in the department of terpsichore at the world's fair. They are experts in the Scottish dances.

A BIG SCHEME.

Canal to Connect Duluth, Twin Cities and Wheat Fields.

DULUTH, April 17.—The Minnesota Canal company, which filed articles of incorporation in St. Paul Saturday, and in Duluth Monday, have surprised the people of this city by introducing an ordinance in the council asking permission to lay water pipe through the different streets of Duluth. It is not the present intention of the company to dig a canal between Duluth and the Twin Cities, but rather to build a canal from the St. Louis river, near Cloquet, in a northeasterly direction until it reaches the hills back of Duluth, the length of the canal to be 25 miles. The company will also

Dredge the St. Louis River and make it navigable far above Cloquet. Of course the object of building a canal to the hill above Duluth and establishing reservoirs there is to furnish water to the city, not only for fire protection, but also for manufacturing purposes. It is a gigantic scheme, and one that appears to be feasible. Henry Curtis Spaulding, president of the company, said that he was obliged to assume reticence in the matter for the present, but admitted that the ultimate plan of the company was to extend its canal system throughout the state, connecting Duluth with several important points, including St. Paul and Minneapolis and the Wheat Fields of the Northwest.

He claims to have unlimited capital at his disposal. The estimated cost of power for Duluth manufacturers is $15 per horse power per annum. Steam power costs $25 to $40. There will be a dam 500 feet long built in the St. Louis river just below where the canal begins. The reservoirs at the top of the hill will be over 600 feet above the city. The cost of improving in this way the waters of St. Louis county is estimated at $6,000,000. Large manufacturing establishments will be established along the shores of the canal, which will be 120 feet wide and 20 feet deep.

A NEW COURT.

Three Judges for the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The president has sent the following nominations to the senate: Richard H. Alvey, of Maryland, to be chief justice of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia. Martin F. Morris, of the District of Columbia, associate justice of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia. Seth Shepard, of Texas, associate justice of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia. Levi H. Manning, of Arizona, surveyor general of Arizona. John Lafabe, of South Dakota, receiver of public moneys at Rapid City, S. D. William Aughin, of Minnesota, receiver of public moneys at Crookston, Minn. Lucius Q. C. Lamar, of Mississippi, recorder of the general land office. Robert Gillespie, of Tennessee, principal clerk of the public lands in the general land office. John C. Geraghty, of Minnesota, collector of customs for the District of Minnesota. Charles H. Miller, of Illinois, surveyor of customs for the port of Galena, Ills. Emil Prockazka, of Wisconsin, assistant surgeon in the marine hospital service of the United States.

A Rare Bibical Find.

BERLIN, April 14.—Professor Harris of Cambridge has reported to Professor Nestic of Ubingen that a palimpset containing the complete Syrian text of the four gospels was discovered in the convent of Mount Sinai. Hitherto only fragments of the Syrian text have been known. The discovery is regarded as a very important one, inasmuch as this text is the oldest authenticated text of the gospels in existence.

The Report Confirmed.

ZANZIBAR, April 15.—A letter from Tippu Tib's son confirms the report of the death of Emin Pasha and all his people.

LATEST MARKET REPORT.

St. Paul Union Stock Yards.

SOUTH ST. PAUL, April 18, 1893.

HOGS—15c lower; market active. Range of prices, $6.80@6 85.

CATTLE—Market steady and active. Fair demand for all grades and stockers and feeders. Prime steers, $4.00@4.50; good steers, $3.50@4.50; prime cows, $3.00@3.60; good cows, $2.50@3.00; common to fair cows, $1.50@2.50; light veal calves, $3.50@4.50; heavy calves, $2.00@3.00; stockers, $2.25@3.20; feeders, $2.85@3.50; bulls, $1.25@2.75.

SHEEP—No receipts. Demand for muttons. Muttons, $3.75@4.85; lambs, $4.00@4.90; stockers and feeders, $3.00@4.50.

Receipts—Cattle, 100; hogs, 150; calves, 5.

Minneapolis Grain.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 18, 1893.

WHEAT—May opened, 64⅜c; highest, 64⅜c lowest, 63⅞@64c; closed 64⅛c. July opened 68c; highest, 68c; lowest, 66⅞c; closed at 67⅛c. On Track—No. 1 hard, 67c; No. 1 Northern, 65½c; No. 2 Northern, 63c.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO UNION STOCK YARDS, April 18, 1893.

CATTLE—Strong, 10@15c higher.

HOGS—Weak, 15@25c lower. Heavy, $7.00@7.25; mixed and medium, $6.90@7.20; light, $6.70@7.10.

SHEEP—Strong, 10c higher.

Receipts: Cattle, 13,000; hogs, 28,000; sheep, 7,000.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, April 18, 1893.

OPENING PRICES.

WHEAT—May, 77c; July, 73⅝c; September, 74⅝c.

CORN—May, 40⅝c; July, 42¼@42⅜c

OATS—May, 22¼c; July, 28⅛c; September, 26⅜c.

PORK—May, $16.67½; September, $17.10.

LARD—May, $9.67½.

SHORT RIBS—July, $9.40.

CLOSING PRICES.

WHEAT—April, 76c; May, 77c; July, 73¼; September, 74⅝c.

CORN—April, 40⅜c; May, 41c; July, 42⅝c; September, 43⅝c.

OATS—April, 27¼c; May, 28⅛c; July, 28⅜@28¼c; September, 26⅛c.

PORK—April, $16.75; May, $16.85; July, $16.82½ September, $17.02½.

LARD—April, $9.75; May, $9.80; July, $9.87½; September, $10.00.

SHORT RIBS—April, $9.35; May, $9.37½; July, $9.42½; September, $9.45.

FREE HOMESTEADS

In the Saskatchewan Valley.

160 acres free to all males over 18 years of age in the beautiful Saskatchewan valley, where wheat goes 40 bushels to the acre and potatoes 600 bushels, and hay cuts from three to four tons an acre. Plenty of timber for buildings, fencing and fuel. First-class soil and water. Good railroad facilities. Fine climate and good markets and where taxes are only for school purposes. For full information apply to

C. A. MUNSON,
Colonization Agent,
Commercial Hotel. Crookston.

Herding.

The undersigned will have about 800 acres pasture on sections 36, 1 and 26, town 150, range 45, at Gentilly, 70 acres of which stock return from to barnyard at night. Two flowing wells on pasture ground. Terms: cattle $1.25, sheep 25 cents and lambs 12½ cents for the season.

JOSEPH BACON.

At the residence of Joseph Laframboise, Gentilly, Minn. 51-53

Come quick and get some of my A No. 1 dry maple before it is all gone. I have green ash, also that cannot be beat. Prices of dry oak, birch, tamarac and poplar still very low. All kinds of wood sawed as you want it at very cheap rate. My feed mill runs every day until April 1st and longer if necessary Feed ground for cash or toll. Low rates for large quantities. Call and see me.

W. H. NORRIE,
Corner Main and Third Streets.

Money to Loan

On city property, business and dwelling—at 6½ per cent per annum. For full particulars call on P. J. Russell, 25 and 26 Reckitt block, Crookston, Minn. [47tf]

Rev. W. R. Puffer
Of Richford, Vt.

"I Vote for Hood's

Forty Years in the Ministry

Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Insomnia—Great Benefit From Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I have been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for four or five months, and am satisfied that it is a very excellent remedy. I have been troubled with rheumatism more or less for a number of years. My back and hips, and indeed my whole body at times, have been afflicted. The rheumatism has been especially severe in my right arm between the elbow and shoulder, which has been so lame that I sometimes feared

I Should Lose the Use of it entirely. I was in this condition when I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, but I had not taken more than a bottle or two when I began to feel better, and when I had taken four bottles, my rheumatism had entirely left me. I have been more free from rheumatism this season than for years. Besides the rheumatism, I, like many others of sedentary habits—for I have been a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church forty years—have been troubled with dyspepsia, but while taking the medicine my

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Appetite has Been Good, food digested well and I have gained several pounds. I have also been troubled with insomnia, but since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, sleep much better." REV. W. R. PUFFER, Richford, Vt.

N. B. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HOOD'S PILLS cure liver ills, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, sick headache, indigestion.

King David.

This celebrated Clyde Stallion will stand for the season of 1893 as follows: Monday, J. B. Roome's; Tuesday, L. H. Judson's; Wednesday, Helmick Bros.; Thursday, John Sylvesterson's; Friday and Saturday at S. L. Collins' Stable, Crookston.

This full blooded Clyde Stallion was purchased of an old reliable firm who make a specialty of importing the best stock and blood that can be found in the old country. This horse was bought by the Andover Stock Company two years ago at a large expense and can show more A No. 1 colts than any other horse ever brought to Polk county. He is a sound bodied, heavy limbed, horse of dark bay color and weighs over 1,700 pounds.

TERMS—Insure, $15; Season, $10.

For further particulars enquire of

A. E. HELMICK,
(1-8) Manager.

Free Trip to Chicago.

Separate W-O-R-L-D-S F-A-I-R and use the letters to spell as many words as you can by using the letters as many times as you wish, either backwards or forwards, but not use the same letter in making any one word more than it appears in "World's Fair."

It is said SEVENTY-FIVE small English words can be spelled correctly from the ten letters contained in "World's Fair." Example:—Wad, waif, soar, idol, etc. If you are good at word-making you can secure a FREE trip to the World's Fair and return, as the Scott Seed Company will pay all expenses, including R. R. fare, hotel bills, admissions to the Columbian Exposition, and $50.00 in cash for incidental express, to the first person able to make SEVENTY words from the letters contained in "World Fair," as above. They will also give a FREE TRIP to the World's Fair and return with $25.00 for incidental expenses, to the first person sending SIXTY words as above. They will also give a FREE TRIP to the World's Fair and return (without cash for incidental expenses) to the first person sending FIFTY-FIVE words.

To the first person sending FIFTY words will be given $50.00 in cash towards paying expenses to the World's Fair, to each of the first FIVE persons sending THIRTY-FIVE words will be given $10.00 in cash, and to each of the first ten sending THIRTY words will be given $5.00 in cash.

Only one prize will be awarded to the same person. Write your name on list of words (numbered) and enclose the same post-paid with fifteen U. S. two-cent stamps for a large package of our Choice English Cottage Garden Flower Seeds.

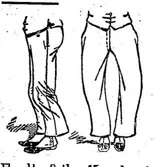
This combination includes the latest and most popular English flowers of endless varieties (same as will be contained in the elaborate exhibit of English flowers at the World's Fair.)

This "World's Fair" Contest will be carefully and conscientiously conducted solely for the purpose of introducing our business in the U. S.

You will receive the BIGGEST value in flower seeds ever offered, and if you are able to make a good list of words and answer promptly you will have a first-class opportunity to secure a free trip from your home to Chicago and return.

We are spending a large amount of money to start our trade in the U. S. and want your trial order. You will be more than gratified with the result. Send to-day, and address The Scott Seed Company, Toronto, Canada. [50-1]

IT'S THE



Fault of the Merchant

IF YOUR

CLOTHING

DOESN'T FIT.

There's nothing extraordinary about your figure. It's an easy enough matter to take your measure, and it's just as easy to cut cloth according to the measure when taken. We can take your measure and cut the cloth without the possibility of a mistake.

YOU MUST SELECT THE MATERIAL however, and much depends upon the good taste you display in making a choice. It's no case of Hobson's choice in our store either, because our stock embraces all the materials

SANCTIONED BY FASHION.

and if there is not something in it perfectly appropriate to you, then the appropriate fabric has not been made yet. We are showing the

LATEST NOVELTIES FOR SPRING WEAR.

BOSTON

ONE PRICE

Clothing House,

Mossefin & Lindell, Proprietors.

THE CROOKSTON

GROCERY CO.

W. E. SLOCUM, Manager.

IS NOW

OPEN FOR BUSINESS.

BIG
BARGAINS IN

GROCERIES, CROCKERY AND LAMPS.

AT THE OLD STAND
OF BARNES & SLOCUM

On Robert Street, Crookston, Minn.

THIS SPACE
BELONGS TO

L. I. BENOIT,

THE

Cheap Cash Grocer

Who will use it to keep Journal readers posted on the BARGAINS HE OFFERS.

Don't take our word, but call and see

L. I. BENOIT,

At the New Store on Broadway, - - Crookston, Minn.

LIGHT MINUS HEAT.

THE DISCOVERIES NIKOLA TESLA IS GIVING THE WORLD.

Electric Currents That Produce Variegated Streams of Mysterious Light and Fail to Heat the Wires That Carry These Wonderful Currents.

Almost from the time that the vibratory theory of light was accepted scientific men have looked forward to the day when it would be possible to produce light without heat. For it is an unfortunate fact that so far every effort to produce light has been accompanied by an enormous waste of energy due to the production of useless heat. The simplest way of producing light is by means of the combustion of some compound of carbon. It does not matter whether the carbon is solid, as in a candle, or a fluid, as in a lamp, or in a gas, as in ordinary illuminating gas, the process is the same.

The union of the carbon of the substance with the oxygen of the air produces the rapid vibration that the eye recognizes as light. Carbon, though the element usually employed, is not a necessary factor, for magnesium, potassium, iron—indeed almost any of the elements—will take its place. Neither is oxygen a necessary part in the production of light. Chlorine will produce an even more brilliant light with certain substances. It is evident, therefore, that the rate of vibration and not the element employed is the principal factor in producing light.

Unfortunately all methods of producing light by means of chemical combinations (such as the union of the carbon of the candle with the oxygen of the air) are accompanied by a very large production of heat waves, which in the majority of cases are utterly useless, if not absolutely troublesome. The old simile of a musician desiring to produce a certain high note being compelled to press down all the keys of his instrument is an apt one. The lower notes are not merely useless, but they are positively annoying.

Singularly enough, the first solution of the problem that was attempted successfully was by the aid of heat. A very small amount of light waves are required for recognition by the wonderfully developed special sense which man possesses. It is intensity, not quantity, that is wanted, to use a technical term. Consequently if a very small particle is heated to incandescence the light which it throws out bears a far greater ratio to the amount of heat required than it does if a large mass is similarly heated.

This is one of the radical bases of the utility of the incandescent electric light. An extremely small filament is heated to incandescence through the resistance which it offers to the flow of an electric current. It generates heat, it is true, but the amount of heat thus produced is directly proportional to the mass of the carbon, which is very small. The light produced, however, is amply sufficient for all ordinary purposes.

This solution, however, is highly unsatisfactory to scientists, however useful it is to the public at large. Light apart from heat altogether was wanted. The firefly, the phosphorescent sea animalcules and even the exhausted tubes of Geissler furnished the hope that there was yet some method of reaching the high note without pressing down the whole keyboard.

Recently an extraordinary genius has appeared in this country who seems upon the verge of discovering, if not to have actually discovered, a method by which this might be done. Nikola Tesla, a man of independent fortune and most brilliant mind, who was for a time connected with Edison, has dared to experiment with rapidly alternating electric currents. The result has surprised the wildest dreams of the theorizers. He has succeeded in producing light of comparatively high intensity without the production of heat and apparently directly by the use of electricity. The halls of the Royal society of London and of the Franklin institute of Philadelphia have been illuminated by means of the light radiated from bare copper wires in the open air carrying these so called Tesla currents.

The wires were not hot, but they radiated from their surface light and sent from one to another bands and streamers of the mysterious light which we see in the aurora borealis. The effect must be seen to be thoroughly appreciated, but when it is stated that the experimenter without difficulty succeeded in radiating light not only from an exhausted glass tube held in his hand, but also from his thumb, his nose and other features, the enthusiasm which swept over his audiences in London and in Philadelphia may be appreciated.

As yet no useful application has been found for these wonderful new developments in electrical science, but they should be welcomed as a harbinger of further progress.—Baltimore Sun.

A Singular Invention.

A new thing in the surgical world is a curious brass button designed by a surgeon for the purpose of joining together two ends of an intestine that has been cut. The button consists of two parts into which an end of the intestine is fastened. When the two parts are pressed together between the thumb and forefinger, they are caught by a spring and held in place. Then the intestine grows together, an opening remaining through the button all the time. When it is completely enveloped by the new tissue, nature repairs the ravages of disease so thoroughly that the button becomes detached by the decomposition of the tissue holding it, and it passes off.—Cor. St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Brute.

"I made an angel cake that was elegant, and one that was awful," said Maud. "This is the third, and it will decide as to whether or not I can be considered an expert."

"I could tell this was the rubber," said Harry as he tried the cake; "it tastes like it."—Harper's Bazar.

The Ruling Passion.

"The most remarkable instance I ever heard of, and which illustrates so forcibly the 'ruling passion,'" said Judge Jeff Pollard to The Man About Town, "was a case in which I figured last week. I was called to write a will for a gentleman in this city, then on his deathbed. He was always a cautious, economical man, and had accumulated some property and money. After the death of the owner there were several heirs to the property, all of whom were anxious to have the sick man make a will dividing it as he saw proper.

"I called at the house and the will was duly written and signed by the old man, who was held in the arms of his friends while the trembling hand traced his name upon the paper. After he was laid upon the bed he motioned me to hold my head so I could understand him, and in a piping, tremulous voice he asked, 'What do you charge?'

"A voice at my elbow said softly, 'Tell him a dollar or two.'

"'A dollar or two,' I shouted in his ear. (He was very deaf.) 'All right,' said he, 'if it had cost any more I wouldn't a-had it done,' he gasped. The death rattle had already begun in his throat. His fingers were purple and the shades of death were already settling upon his face; yet with all this, his greed was as manifest as when most busy in the accumulation of the property.

"I got my $10, though," said the judge, "but he never would have paid me more than $1."—St. Louis Republic.

The English Language.

Professor Vambery has been lecturing on the "Fashion of Languages" before the Buda-Pesth English club. English, he said, may now be called the most fashionable language in all the five parts of the world. It began to spread in the first decades of the century through English literature, and in Asia by means of accelerated communication. Steamers were the wings of the English language in the far east, and its spreading from India and the straits settlements to China and Japan is simply miraculous.

There is no exaggeration in saying that the number of English speaking Asiatics amounts today to 3,000,000; that of Europeans to more than 1,000,000, and these, added to the 126,000,000 Anglo-Saxons, give a total of English speaking men and women of 130,000,000. Should the increase continue in the same proportion, the middle of next century will have 200,000,000 English speaking persons, and the English will have no rival in the world besides the Chinese.

Phonetically English is unsuitable for the foreigner, and the lecturer declares he always suffered acute pain in the jaws when speaking publicly in England and trying to imitate genuine English. The phonetic difficulties are, however, amply rewarded through the expressiveness, the rare precision, vigor and exactness in which English surpasses all other European tongues.—London News.

Making Diamonds.

The microscopic diamonds made by M. Henri Moissan are not the first real diamonds made by the chemist. Some years ago Mr. Hannay of Glasgow succeeded in making a few small gems, and another Glasgow chemist not long ago announced that he was making experiments in this direction and had obtained promising results.

Moissan, however, was the first to form a gem by means of the high temperature of the electric furnace, though the idea of doing so is not exactly novel. Moissan obtains a temperature of from 3,000 to 4,000 degrees centigrade in his electric crucible and fuses iron or silver, which absorbs the carbon of sugar. When the fused metal cools, part of the carbon separates from it again in the form of crystals, black or white—that is to say, black diamond or carbonado and ordinary, clear diamond.

The crystallization seems to be facilitated by pressure, which is produced by the expansion of the sugar carbon as it cools. The diamond crystals were exceedingly minute and quite unfit for jewelry. Moreover, the process is very expensive.—Manchester Times.

Getting Measured For a Gun.

A fact which is not generally known outside of sporting circles is that a gunner who seeks to do the best work he is capable of requires to be measured for his gun in the same way as he would be for his suit of clothes. To facilitate this operation, a new adjusting gun has been devised. The bend and castoff of the gun are adjusted by means of screws, and the points of each are placed in grooves running parallel to the line of the butt. The length of the butt is also adjusted by screws in the heel. The length and bend of the stock can in this way be regulated to the length of neck and arm of the shooter, as well as to the various special requirements to which his style of shooting may give rise.—Boston Journal.

Family Parties.

A shrewd Cape Cod farmer descanting lately on family quarrels said: "I'm of the opinion of my wife. 'Go to a family party?' she says. 'Yes, I always go, provided it isn't in my own family.' The reason of them family rows is that they live too clost and rub agin each other too much. There was the Wings down our way. They fought continually as long as they lived under one roof, but when John Wing went to ranchin in Colorado and Jim Wing to makin nails in Pennsylvania they grew amazin fond of each other."

This homely philosophy could be applied with equal force to nations.—Youth's Companion.

Wheezy Hand Organs.

It is usually supposed that the faint and squeaky hand organs played by woeful old women, seated on curbstones and wrapped in shawls, are decrepit from long service in the cause of art. That is not the case. Their builders intentionally leave out notes, so that they shall sound more mournful and touch more quickly the sensibilities of some people. Organs of this kind are known as "wheezers."—New York Sun.

PATIENCE.

Be patient! Easy words to speak
While plenty fills the cup of li
While health brings roses to the cheek,
And far removed are care and strife.

Falling so glibly from the tongue
Of those—I often think of this—
Whom suffering has never wrung,
Who scarcely know what patience is.

Be patient when the suff'rer lies
Prostrate beneath some fell disease,
And longs, through torturing agonies,
Only for one short hour of ease.

Be patient when the weary brain
Is racked with thought and anxious care,
And troubles in an endless train
Seem almost more than it can bear.

To feel the torture of delay,
The agony of hope deferred,
To labor still from day to day,
The prize unwon, the prayer unheard,

And still to hope and strive and wait
The due reward of fortune's kiss,
This is to almost conquer fate,
This is to learn what patience is.

Despair not, though the clouds are dark,
And storm and danger veil the sky,
Let fate and courage guide thy bark.
The storm will pass; the port is nigh.

Be patient, and the tide will turn,
Shadows will flee before the sun,
These are the hopes that live and burn
To light us till our work is done.
—All the Year Round.

When the Buffalo Disappeared.

In 1876 Fort Benton alone sent 80,000 buffalo hides to market. In 1883 two carloads were shipped from Dickinson, North Dakota. In 1884 Fort Benton sent none at all. In 1879 a little band of the animals were known to be grazing near Fort Totten, on Devil Lake, North Dakota, and it is believed that these animals furnished the two carloads of robes which came eastward to St. Paul from Dickinson in 1883. This was the last year of the buffalo—1883. A herd, numbering perhaps 80,000, crossed the Yellowstone river in that year and went north toward the British line. "They never came back," is the pitiful refrain which one hears from the Indians along the border from Winnipeg in Manitoba to St. Mary's Lakes in Alberta.

No, they never came back while riding with the officers of the Nanadian mounted police through Alberta, they told me the story of this last year of the buffalo, but it was never told twice alike by any two men, for a strange mystery seems to hang over the closing scene of the great crime which annihilated the mighty herds.—Hamlin Russell in Harper's.

The Right and Left.

The buttons on coats, etc., are placed on the right side and the shed of the hair in boys to the left, evidently to suit manipulation by the right hand. The great philosopher Newton records that at first he confined his astronomical observations to his right eye, but afterward he managed to train his left. But there are persons who could not do this, owing to the unequal strength of their eyes. Strange to say, the Chinese assign the place of honor to the left.

At Kunyenye, in Africa, Cameron relates being introduced to the heir presumptive to the throne, the nails of whose left hand had been allowed to grow to an enormous length as a sign of high rank, proving that he was never required to perform manual labor, and also providing him with the means of tearing the meat which formed his usual diet.—Chambers' Journal.

New York Oculists Receive Large Fees.

Oculists in New York perform the most delicate surgical operations. There are two or three in the city whose incomes from their profession range above $200,000 a year and who treat thousands of patients every year. They conduct their work with the most absolute disregard of the worldly position of their patients. From many of their patients they receive no fee for their services. Should any man in this profession refuse advice on the ground that a patient was unable to pay a fee, he would be ruined if the fact were to become known.—Cor. St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Hypnotism In a New Light.

Hypnotism is apparently a distinct Portland fad. A nervous young lady in that city, who was to read a paper before a literary society, got a doctor to hypnotize her so that she shouldn't become rattled, and the result was perfect composure during the ordeal. The literary essay quite often succeeds in hypnotizing the audience into a deliciously devitalized condition, but the idea of putting the reader to sleep is brand new.—Bangor Commercial.

The Waiter's Mistake.

He had made a hearty meal at a restaurant, and getting up he said to the waiter, "I declare if I haven't forgotten my purse!" The waiter fired up and hurled big words at him for fully three minutes before pausing for breath. When a chance came the stranger continued, "But I have a £5 note here in my waistcoat pocket!" The waiter could not smile to save his life.—London Tit-Bits.

Instances reciting the actions of people while under the somnambulistic control are numerous in early writings on the subject, while the more modern reports are deductions rather than relations of actual occurrences.

To abstain from superfluous apologies is also the habit of discretion. There should seldom be the occasion for apology in the household, where all would do well and wisely to be constantly gentle and courteous.

An old provincial French expression runs thus, "The tears of woman are like the waves of the sea." But another declares that "the tears of woman are soon checked."

According to the report of the auditor of Virginia, the negroes of that state pay taxes on real estate valued at $9,425,685, and on personal property valued at $3,842,950.

One wonders sometimes had there been women stenographers in the old days if the reports would not have shown that Adam asked to taste the apple himself.

A YELLOW DOG'S LUCK.

How a Vagabond Canine Succeeded In Getting a Square Meal.

Alfred de Musset, the famous French poet, was at one time conducting a canvass for election to the French academy. Members of this distinguished body are elected to it by those who are already members, and custom requires that an aspirant shall go about soliciting the votes of members. Musset had gone from one academician to another and was on his way, on foot, to the house of the Count de Sainte-Aulaire, just outside of Paris, whose vote he hoped to gain. When he had almost arrived at the place, a large yellow dog began to follow him, but the dog sneaked behind, and as the poet was too much wrapped in his thoughts to look around he did not know that what was perhaps the most hideous dog in Paris was at his heels.

When the poet rang at M. de Sainte-Aulaire's door, the dog watched his chance, and as the door was opened slipped into the house. The servant supposed the dog was the newcomer's, and the poet supposed that it belonged to the house.

The host and his family were warm admirers of Musset and gave him a hearty welcome, though they gazed askance at the horrible yellow dog, which had curled its long legs down on a beautiful rug woven by the young lady of the family as a present to her grandmother.

"Extraordinary taste in pets," said the host to himself. "But to a great poet anything may be pardoned.'"

"Strange," said Musset to himself, "that an elegant family like this should keep such a hideous cur!"

When presently the poet had been invited to remain to dinner and the dog had promptly accompanied the family and their guest to the dining room, the master of the house was in grave doubt whether "anything could be pardoned to a poet." The animal rushed around the table, grabbing a piece of food, frightening the venerable grandmother almost to death, and acting like the miserable, hungry vagabond that he was.

The hostess, by way of delicate compliment to her guest, caused a large plate of food to be placed for the dog. The animal ate it in a minute's time and galloped around the table for more. He barked ferociously when one of the family declined to give him a piece of meat that he saw on a plate.

The dog's actions prevented any conversation or any enjoyment of the meal. The host looked at his guest and wondered. The guest looked at his host and wondered.

As the party was rising from the table the dog rushed against a servant and caused him to upset the greater portion of a set of rare and precious china, an heirloom in the family. The ladies gathered about, weeping, and began to pick up the priceless fragments.

Something in the hostess' face inspired the poet with a sudden and fearful thought. He rushed up to the count.

"Can it be possible, sir," he exclaimed, "that you supposed that this dog belonged to me?"

"Why, of course we supposed he was yours," said the count. "He came with you, did he not?"

"I never saw the hideous beast before!" said Musset. "I supposed all the time that the dog belonged to the house."

Then the animal, which had shown signs of uneasiness during this little conversation, sneaked toward the door. He was kicked out, yelping, but once well outside he shook himself and trotted off with a complacent air, which seemed to say:

"Well, that's all right—so long as you didn't turn me out before dinner!"

M. de Sainte-Aulaire voted for Musset. "But," he said, "I shouldn't have done so if that dog had really been his. Upon such little things do great things depend!"—Youth's Companion.

A Ship That Was Once a Flier.

It is a fact and one that may not be generally known that the United States government label placed on every box of imported cigars sold in the United States bears a fine steel plate engraving of the steamer City of Washington, a sister ship of the ill fated City of Boston. In the year 1861 the City of Washington, then plying between New York and Liverpool, covered the passage to the westward in January in 14 days 15 hours; April, 12 days 21 hours; May, 13 days 21 hours; July, 13 days; August, 13 days; September, 13 days 20 hours, and December, 15 days 10 hours.

In December, 1862, she made the trip from Sandy Hook to Queenstown in what was then the remarkably fast time of 9 days 19 hours and 30 seconds. The City of London made several passages to the eastward in 1863 and 1864 in less than 11 days.—New York World.

A High Priced Hotel.

One of the elevator boys in the Waldorf hotel is credited with a smart saying. An old New Yorker was showing a party of friends from out of town through the hotel a day or two ago. One of the strangers was deeply impressed with the elegance and costliness of the decorations and furniture, and he exclaimed, "Well, well, this must be a very high priced hotel." The aforesaid elevator boy, who overheard the remark, retorted: "I should say it was. If you only change your mind here, they charge you $10."—New York Times.

A Diplomat's Distinction.

A member of the diplomatic corps apparently holds an opinion of Americans which will hardly be indorsed by the most insignificant of this great nation. When asked by a newly arrived foreigner, anxious to gauge the social status of some one to whom he had been introduced, if there was any difference in Americans, the diplomat replied, "Oh, yes—some are rich and some are not."—Chicago Herald.

The Fastest Swimmer.

The fastest swimmer among fishes is the dolphin. Its speed varies from 30 to 40 miles an hour, and it can swim around and around a vessel sailing at a high rate of speed.—Our Animal Friends.

A Singular Coincidence.

"I am not a fatalist," said T. Davitt Henning, "but occasionally I run across things that puzzle a great deal. Not long ago Dr. Tom Hewitt of Leadville, Colo., died. Hewitt was somewhat of a fatalist and believed in a great many things that I didn't. Omens and harbingers of evil he was much given to believe in. You have undoubtedly heard stories of people dying and the clock stopping at the same time, or some numerical of its face popping out. Hewitt had a sign in his office window in his residence which read, 'Dr. Tom Hewitt.' It was composed of 11 white letters glued to the pane. Hewitt took sick about 16 months since. A few days after his illness I noticed that one of the white letters had dropped off and was gone. The illness of the doctor caused the family to forget most everything else, and so the letter was not replaced.

"A month later Hewitt was still sick, and I noticed a second letter was gone. He lingered along, up and around now, and then sick again, for a period. Meantime the white letters were not replaced. Month after month went by, and every succeeding month saw a letter disappear. Hewitt noticed it, and then he would not allow them to be replaced. After over 10 months of sickness, and when 10 of the letters had disappeared Dr. Tom got an extra severe spell of illness and died. The morning after his death I visited the house and noticed as I passed in that the last letter was gone."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Noise From a Toad.

It is a matter of common observation that the loudest sounds are not always made by the largest animals. The roar of the lion exceeds in sonorousness the cry of the elephant. Any one who had only heard without seeing a bullfrog might well suppose that its fearful voice breaking the silence of the night must certainly come from the throat of an animal of formidable dimensions.

But perhaps the most remarkable case of vocal power in an animal is that related by a recent traveler in the highlands of Borneo. He was informed by natives that they had heard a tiger roaring in the neighborhood. Such news is always startling to a stranger in the jungles of the east and hardly less so to the natives.

An investigation was accordingly set on foot, which resulted in the discovery that the alarming roars had been emitted by a toad! This toad of Borneo, however, was by no means an ordinary member of the family. It measured no less than 14¼ inches around the body.

That the natives should not have recognized the true source of the sound shows that the existence of such toads was either unknown to them, or that, at any rate, they had never discovered the remarkable vocal capabilities of the animals.—Youth's Companion.

Three Curious Words.

Filibuster, freebooter and buccaneer are words curiously interrelated. The French and the English sea adventurers once made common cause against Spanish settlements in the new world, and all three of these words came in time to describe the rude sea soldiers who despoiled the Spanish main and the towns upon the coasts of the Spanish possessions. Filibuster is said to be the result of an attempt to make a French word of freebooter, and the English borrowed it back from the French because it sounded less frankly brutal than the English word.

Buccaneer was originally French in form, and it meant at first one who hunted the boucan or wild cattle and hogs of the West Indies; then one who made jerked meat of their flesh, and finally, because this meat was used to provision the ships of the sea rovers, a filibuster or freebooter.—New York Sun.

A Hint For Rainy Weather.

During a recent stormy day a gentleman who had no umbrella, and who had just come into town by a local train, perceived before him as he stepped into the street a person whom he took to be an acquaintance, and who had a fine new umbrella hoisted over his head. Running up to him, therefore, he clapped him on the shoulder, saying as he did so by way of a joke, "I'll take that umbrella, if you please." The individual thus addressed looked round and disclosed a perfect stranger, but before the other could apologize he said hurriedly: "Oh, it's yours, is it? Well, I didn't know that. Here, you can have it," and broke away, leaving the article in the hands of the first party to the conversation. This narrative, which is strictly true, affords a valuable hint to persons who may be caught out without protection from the rain.—London Tit-Bits.

A Clever Parrot.

F. X. Zeigler of Columbus, Pa., has a parrot named Dick that is considered one of the family and is perhaps one of the most intelligent birds of its species in the world. Dick always takes a hand in household matters. If Mr. Zeigler's son does not get up in the morning at the usual hour to go to the office, the parrot will say to the girl, "Call Clem," and he will insist on his command being obeyed. I recalled on one occasion when the family was earnestly discussing some local event Dick broke in as follows: "Papa, do you love mamma?" "Yes, of course I do," replied Mr. Zeigler, when the parrot blurted out, "Oh, you old fraud!"—New York Telegram.

The Nervous System.

The average weight of the brain of an adult male is 3 pounds and 8 ounces; of a female, 2 pounds and 4 ounces. The nerves are all connected with it directly or by the spinal marrow. These nerves, together with their branches and minute ramifications, probably exceed 10,000,000 in number, forming a "bodyguard" outnumbering by far the greatest army ever marshaled.—Popular Science Monthly.

Ready For the Worst.

"What! Smoking, Fred? Thought your doctor told you it would kill you?"

"So he did, and I quit. But at the end of a week I wanted to die, so I'm smoking again."—Life.

Dreaming of Crows.

To dream you see a crow signifies expedition of business; if you hear them croaking unpleasantly while they are flying it is a sign of ill luck. If you see in your dream the crow flying on to the head of a child it will be in danger of some misfortune.—All the Year Round.

The Carnation Is an Old Flower.

Pliny refers to the carnation as having been used in the days of Augustus Cæsar to give a spicy flavor to wine. While greatly loved and admired by the ancients, its improvement was not much advanced until it found a home in England. The date of this event is not quite clear, but is believed to be about the year 1200. Chaucer wrote of its cultivation in 1386, from which date it has been considered a florist's flower. It was first called "carnation" by Henry Lyte in 1578 and designated as a "pink" in 1600. Edmund Spenser called it "coronation," which found little favor. Shakespeare, in "Winter's Tale," act 4, says, "The fairest flowers o' the season are our carnations." He also alludes to it in "Henry V."—R. T. Lombard.

Expert Revolver Shots In the Army.

W. R. Prior claims that all the best revolver shots are in New York. There are some very good shots in the army. There are men in the army who can hit the size of a man at 10 yards, riding a horse at a gallop, every time, with 20 yards interval between figures, and men that can hit a 25-cent piece at 10 yards with a revolver that pulls eight pounds four shots out of five. All the best shots have the arm slightly bent. If Mr. Prior will take the trouble to look around, he will find men in the United States cavalry that will throw his New York experts in the shade.—Cor. Kansas City Times.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, city of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 1st, 1893, and terminating on April 30th, 1894, by the following person and at the following place, as stated in said application, to-wit: L. M. Bergquist, on the ground floor of the two-story frame building situated on lot 16, block 6, Fletcher & Houston's addition to Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council in the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, Minn., on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and the seal of said city this 12th day of April, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, City of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 10th, 1893, and terminating on May 10th, 1894, by the following person and at the following place, as stated in said application, to-wit: T. J. Orvik, on the first floor of the Opera Block, on lot 5, block 6, Fletcher & Houston's addition.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the city of Crookston, in the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893 at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 12th day of April, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, City of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 11th, 1893, and terminating on May 10th, 1894, by the following persons and at the following place, as stated in said application, to-wit: Dahle & Bergstrom, in the one-story frame building on lot 1, block 16, original townsite of Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the city of Crookston, in the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 12th day of April. A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk.

JOHN CROMB.
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

MARTIN O'BRIEN,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
{I. O. O. F. BUILDING.} Crookston. Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block } CROOKSTON, MINN.

THE PRESS
(NEW YORK)
For 1893

Has a larger Daily Circulation than any other Republican newspaper in America.
DAILY. SUNDAY. WEEKLY.

The Aggressive Republican Journal of the Metropolis.
A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES.
Founded Dec. 1st, 1887.

Circulation over 125,000 copies daily. The most remarkable Newspaper Success in New York. The PRESS is a National Newspaper. Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of the the PRESS.

The PRESS has the brightest Editorial page in New York. It sparkles with points. The PRESS Sunday Edition is a splendid paper, covering every current topic of interest. The PRESS Weekly Edition contains all the good things of the Daily and Sunday editions.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM
The Press has no superior in New York.

THE PRESS
Within the reach of all. The best and cheapest Newspaper in America.
Daily and Sunday, one year....$5 00
" " 6 months....2 50
" " 1 45
Daily only, one year....3 00
" " 4 months....1 00
Sunday, one year....2 00
Weekly Press, one year....1 00

Send for Press circular. Samples free. Agents wanted everywhere. Liberal commissions.
Address THE PRESS,
38 Park Row, New York.

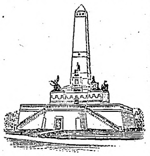
A NEGLECTED TOMB.

THE LINCOLN MONUMENT AT SPRINGFIELD FALLING INTO DECAY.

It Was Badly Built and Is Becoming a Picturesque Ruin—The Prevailing Discontent May Induce the State to Take Charge of the Monument.

To say that the great state of Illinois has made a "cheap John" show of Abraham Lincoln's tomb, and a rather poor show at that, and that the management is discouraging, would be perhaps an exaggeration. It is certain, however—for many witnesses declare it, and the Illinois legislature recently admitted it—that the monument is in a wretched condition and that a high board fence has been put around it to hide it from view, while visitors are compelled to pay 25 cents each for a view and a lecture by the custodian.

The trustees say it is absolutely necessary to charge an admission fee, as it costs at least $2,500 per year to keep the grounds in order and afford a bare living for the aged John Carroll Power, the custodian. Recent examination has shown that the east side of the monument has no foundation to speak of, and the west side barely enough to hold it in place for the present. While the monument when finished seemed to be of granite, it is really nothing but a brick structure veneered with granite blocks 6 inches in thickness. And yet it cost $250,000.



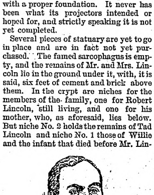
THE LINCOLN MONUMENT.

The result is that all the east side is out of line. The granite blocks have so far separated that the brick interior can be seen to be cracked and split. The pointing between the granite blocks on that side has come out, and water, filtering in and freezing in winter, is helping on the destruction. Experts declare that the monument will not fall down, but that the granite will come off here and there and leave the structure a picturesque ruin. The stone balustrade leading to the platform is also falling to pieces, and the stone steps are separated by an inch in places. And to see this hastening ruin the patriotic pilgrim pays 25 cents.

So much ill feeling has been excited that some skeptical people in Springfield now give it as their opinion that there never was any attempt to steal the body of the great liberator; that the whole affair detailed by the aged custodian, his own remarkable vigilance included, was a phantasm of his brain, and that two men were railroaded to the penitentiary for a year simply on their bad character and to get up a sensation. This, however, is going quite too far, and their talk is only mentioned here as a symptom of the prevalent discontent. Some men will say anything when angry.

Several bills have been brought into the legislature recently, and the general proposition of the discontented is that the state shall expend $25,000 in repairing the monument and $2,500 a year to have it cared for; that the fence be removed, and that the monument be like that of Washington and other heroes, free to all pilgrims. There are experts, however, who declare that the whole monument will have to be taken down and reconstructed on a better plan and with a proper foundation. It never has been what its projectors intended or hoped for, and strictly speaking it is not yet completed.

Several pieces of statuary are yet to go in place and are in fact not yet purchased. The famed sarcophagus is empty, and the remains of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln lie in the ground under it, with, it is said, six feet of cement and brick above them. In the crypt are niches for the members of the family, one for Robert Lincoln, still living, and one for his mother, who, as aforesaid, lies below. But niche No. 2 holds the remains of Tad Lincoln and niche No. 1 those of Willie and the infant that died before Mr. Lincoln was elected president. An additional and very painful interest is added by the fact that the only son of Minister Robert Lincoln died three years ago, and so the time must come in all probability when the great liberator, like Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe and Jackson, will have no descendant bearing his name.



CUSTODIAN POWER.

Mr. McMillan, authority in such matters, does not think much of ash and beech trees for street planting, except the white and European species.

Something New in Train Equipment to Chicago.

The "Limited" train on The Northwestern Line," leaving Minneapolis 7:30 p. m., St. Paul 8:10 p. m. and arriving Milwaukee 7:25 a. m., Chicago 9:30 a. m., is now equipped with Wagner Compartment Cars in addition to Standard Sleepers, and also with Buffet Smoking and Library Cars.

This is the finest equipped train in America, is the only train of its kind west of Chicago, and no extra fare is charged on this "Northwestern Limited."

By "The Northwestern Line" you also have advantage of fast day train, leaving Minneapolis 7:20 a. m. and St. Paul 8:30 a. m., arriving Milwaukee 7:55 p. m., Chicago, 9:35 p. m., also an afternoon train, leaving Minneapolis 5:00 p. m., St. Paul 5:35 p. m., arriving at Chicago 7:45a. m

"The Nortwestern Line" is also the only Pullman Car Line from St. Paul and Minneapolis, Sioux City, Omaha, Kansas City, Duluth and Ashland.

For luxury and comfort, best equipment and road bed, secure ticket via "The Northwestern Line," they are on sale at all stations. Illustrated Map Folder free on application to

T. W. TEASDALE
Gen. Pass. Agent,
[32tf] St. Paul, Minn.

Cheap Fuel.

From a limited amount of wood, I will deliver to any part of the city four foot dry soft wood at $4.00, four foot dry hard wood at $5.50, sawed as you want it for 50 cents extra. W. H. NORRIE,
Successor to Priester & Co.
Corner Main and Third streets.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of three hundred and four dollars ($304) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Jedire Draper and Alice Mariah Draper. his wife, to The Security Trust Company, a corporation bearing date the 4th day of September, A. D. 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 22d day of October, A. D. 1890; at 8:40 o'clock a. m., in book 52 of mortgages, on page 447, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots fifteen and sixteen (15 and 16) of block eighty-two (82) of Kretzschmar's Addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county, in Polk county and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 29th day of April. A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and $6.65 taxes paid by the mortgagee on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 1st. A. D. 1893.

SECURITY TRUST COMPANY.
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN, Attys. [48-2]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. District Court, 14th Judicial District.

In the matter of the assignment of Solfest A. Sylvester and Martin Finseth, copartners as Sylvester & Finseth.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of Sylvester & Finseth in the above entitled matter. of the city of Crookston, in said county and state, have by deed in writing, dated 4th day of March, 1893, made a general assignment to the undersigned, of all copartnership and individual property not exempt by law from levy and sale on execution, for the benefit of all their creditors, without preferences.

All claims must be verified and presented to the undersigned for allowance.

Dated March 11th; 1893.

JEROME W. WHEELER, Assignee.
(48-2) Polk County, Minn.

The St. Paul Globe
And Cleveland.

Now that the Democratic party, by the vote of a large majority of the American people, has been placed in possession of all branches of the national government,

YOU WILL WANT
THE ST. PAUL GLOBE

As a regular visitor in your home.

It will give you the news of the world.
It will give you the markets of the world.
It will give you the doings of congress.
It will give you the doings of your own state legislature.

It will keep you informed upon the acts of the administration of President Cleveland, as well as the acts of the Republican state administration.

It will discuss, intelligently and impartially, questions of legislation and administration in both state and nation—giving especial attention to questions of taxation, finance, free wheat markets and those things in which you are most deeply interested.

You also want the GLOBE's great Geographical and Political Map, to hang up in your house or office. No intelligent family will want to be without the GLOBE or its Map.

Price of either the WEEKLY GLOBE one year or the Map, $1. Both taken together, $1.50.

RATES OF GLOBE BY MAIL.

	1 YR.	6 MO.	3 MO.	1 MO.
Daily	$8.00	$4.00	$2.00	70 cts
Daily and Sunday	10.00	5.00	2.50	85 cts
Sunday	2.00	1.00	.50	......
Weekly	1.00	.50	.25	......
Club of three Weeklies				$2.70
Club of 5 Weeklies, and 1 to agent free, 1 yr.				$5.00

☞ All subscriptions payable in advance.

Address, ST. PAUL GLOBE,
St. Paul, Minn.

NEW CIGAR STORE
SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor,
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff. Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerchaum.

CALL IN

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9th, 1893.]
[Last publication April 20th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing power of sale, dated June 10th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on June 21st, 1887. at ten o'clock a. m.. in book 33 of mortgages. on page 17, whereby Knud Johnsen and Guri Johnsen. his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to T. E. Penney, mortgagee, all that tract of land situate in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, described as follows: the southwest quarter of section nine, in township one hundred and forty nine north, of range forty west containing 160 acres more or less, excepting therefrom two acres in the southwest corner of said section, which excepted part is used for a church and cemetery, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $442, being the amount of the principal secured by said mortgage, with interest thereon and the taxes for the years 1888, 1889, 1890, 1891 and 1892, paid by the mortgagee, with interest thereon from the date of such payment. Said mortgage and the debt secured thereby were duly assigned by an instrument in writing bearing date September 8th, 1887, by said mortgagee to George Parker, and said assignment was on September 13th, 1887, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of said county, in book 33 of mortgages, on page 241.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m., at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, and $25 Attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

GEORGE PARKER.
Assignee of Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Assignee.
[47-1] Crookston Minn.

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9, 1893]
[Last publication April 20, 1893]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale, dated November 21st, 1890, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk County, Minnesota, on November 24th 1890, in book 49 of mortgages on page 208, whereby Bertha Rundhaug, formerly Bertha Iverson, and Torgrim O Rundhaug her husband, mortgagors, mortgaged to Martin Lally, mortgagee, all that tract, piece or parcel of land, situate in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The north-east quarter of the south-west quarter and lot six, all in section six in Township one hundred and forty-nine of range forty-two, containing 78 and 72-100 acres, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $158.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction, by the sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a.m., at the front door of the Court House in the City of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, and $25 attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

MARTIN LALLY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Mortgagee. [47-1]

MORTGAGE SALE.

[First publication March 9th, 1893.]
[Last publication April 20th, 1893.]

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale dated February 5th, 1890, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on February 15th, 1890, in book 51 of mortgages, on page 539, whereby Ephraim Audette and Philanise Audette his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to The Security Trust Company, mortgagee, all that tract, piece or parcel of land situate in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of section ten, in township one hundred and fifty north, of range forty-five west, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof. and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of $547.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county, or his deputy, on the 22d day of April, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m., at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, and $25 Attorney's fees and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated March 1st, 1893.

SECURITY TRUST COMPANY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
Attorneys for Mortgagee. [47-1]

The Farmers' Tribune

THE Best Newspaper.
THE Best Agricultural Paper
THE Best Editorials.

THE BEST MISCELLANEOUS READING.
THE BEST SKETCHE OF TRAVEL.
THE BEST ESSAYS AND SERMONS.

Should be read in every home in the Northwest.

LIBERAL PREMIUMS.

Each subscriber who pays arrearges and one year in advance, or each new subscriber who sends one dollar for one year's subscription between Feb. 15th and May 1st, 1893, will receive as a premium their choice of either

No. 1—12 Packages Vegetable Seed.
No. 2—12 Packages Flower Seeds.
No. 3—25 Strawberry Plants.
No. 4—1 Lb. Farmers' Tribune Pedigreed Seed corn.

Remember, $1.00 for the Farmers' Tribune one year, with choice of either of above premiums. Or the

POLK COUNTY JOURNAL
ONE YEAR
AND EITHER OF THE ABOVE PREMIUMS,
For $2.00.

Address
THE JOURNAL,
Crookston, Minn.

A
◎ GOOD ◎
STORY

is as much the part of a Home Newspaper as the news. Therefore the choice fiction from leading writers constantly appearing in these columns.

If you are not a regular subscriber enter your subscription at once for

THE HOME PAPER

GREAT
BARGAINS
Come and see for Yourself.

A Neatly Furnished House

Is a joy and comfort to its possessor. In this glorious northwest none are too poor to have good furniture and comfortable fixtures for their home. We carry not only the most expensive furniture and house furnishings, but also a line of good, substantial, nice-looking goods, which we can sell at prices within the reach of all. We carry everything to be in a first-class furniture store, and we guarantee to undersell our competitors.

Scandia Furniture Co.
OPERA BLOCK,
Crookston, - - - - Minn.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

Is the only line running
THROUGH PULLMAN CARS
BETWEEN
Chicago, St. Paul,
Minneapolis
AND
NORTH PACIFIC COAST POINTS.

THE DINING CAR LINE
Dining Cars on all through Trains.

THE YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
This marvellous Wonderland reached only by this line.

THE PEOPLE'S LINE
The people's highway from Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and West Superior to Winnipeg, Helena, Butte, Missoula, Spokane, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and Puget Sound.

THE TOURISTS' LINE
The popular line to reach Lakes Pend d' Orielle Cœur d' Alene, Kootenai, Chelan, the Hot Springs and Mountain Resorts of the Northwest and to Alaska.

DAILY EXPRESS TRAINS
Have Pullman Palace Cars, Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Free Colonist Sleeping Cars.

THROUGH TICKETS
Are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and West, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave Crookston	For St. Paul, Minneapolis Chicago. Duluth and West Superior, 7:12 p.m.
Daily	For Grand Forks, Grafton, Brandon and Winnipeg, 8:19 a.m.

For rates, maps, time tables, or special information, apply to

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.,
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn

SAAKE

Is still doing business at the old stand and selling

WATCHES,
CLOCKS
JEWELRY

CHEAPER
THAN EVER.

☞ WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. ☜

ROBERT STREET,
CROOKSTON, MINN,
C. H. SAAKE.

If you want a
STOVE OR RANGE
——FOR WOOD OR Coal, see the——

BRAND'S
FAMOUS
Stoves AND Ranges
BEST ON EARTH

FAMOUS
BRAND
STOVE

AT ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER'S.

They are the finest line of stoves ever brought to Crookston, and are sold at

REASONABLE PRICES.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPENS MAY 1ST.

Are You Going? If so be sure and take out a Membership Certificate in "The Chicago Entertainment Bureau."

It will save you Worry, Time and Money. Respectable and well located rooms at moderate prices guaranteed. Send for descriptive circulars to the

Minnesota and Dakota Headquarters, 618 AND 619 PIONEER PRESS BLDG., ST. PAUL,
N. T. HALL, Manager.

Partial List of References: HON. KNUTE NELSON, Gov. of Minnesota; HON. A. R. McGILL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; HON. W. R. MARSHALL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; RT. REV. W. N. GILBERT, Ass't Bishop, Diocese, Minn., and many other equally well known names.

MORTGAGE SALE.

(First publication April 13th, 1893.)
(Last publication May 25th, 1893.)

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage, containing power of sale, dated November 20th, 1885, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on December 4th, 1885, in book 23 of mortgages, on pages 99, 100, 101, whereby Jean B. Lelande and Cleophie Lelaide, his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to Mary E. Towle, mortgagee, all those tracts of land described as follows, to-wit: The southeast quarter of the northeast quarter, and lot one; all in section four, in township one hundred and fifty-one, of range forty-five, in Polk county, Minnesota, containing eighty acres more or less, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice $251.65.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county or his deputy, on May 27th, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m. at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any and $25 attorney's fees, and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated April 4th, 1893.

MARY E. TOWLE,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
[52-6] Attorneys for Mortgagee.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK, District Court.

In the matter of the assignment of Solfest A. Sylvester and Martin Finseth, partners as Sylvester & Finseth, insolvents.

On reading the petition of Jerome W. Wheeler the assignee of the above named insolvents praying for license to sell certain of the personal property of said insolvents, in bulk, or by the piece, and for other directions,

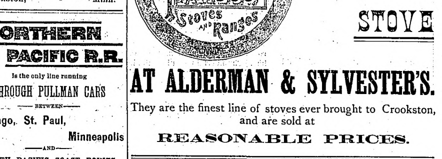
It is ordered that said petition be heard at Chambers, on the 22d day of April, A. D. 1893, at the city of Crookston, in the county of Polk, state of Minnesota, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, and let all persons interested in said insolvent estate then and there show cause why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

Let a copy of this order be mailed forthwith to each of the creditors of said insolvent estate whose names appear upon the schedule thereof on file with the Clerk of this Court.

Dated April 11th, 1893.

By the Court, FRANK IVES,
(52-1) Judge.

M. LeGUEE.
Veterinary Surgeon
Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON. - - - MINN



Every Plug of it has a round red tin tag like this.

make the best of all Chewing Tobaccos—The famous put only the best and purest ingredients in their—have won a world-wide reputation by making their-make the plug that millions use daily. Do you use have pleased the most fastidious tobacco lovers with-have attained the acme of Plug Tobacco perfection in-

Sold everywhere. Made only by the
P. LORILLARD COMPANY.
The oldest tobacco manufacturers in America, and the largest in the World.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leaves Crookston Daily For St. Paul, Minneapolis, Superior, Ashland, Duluth, Chicago, and for all points South, East and West.........at 7:12 p. m.

For Grand Forks, Grafton, Pembina, Brandon, Winnipeg, and points north, ...at 8:19 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN

Railway

TIME CARD.

MONTANA EXPRESS—Daily.

West				East
7:40 p m	De.	St Paul	Ar.	6:55 a m
2:50 a m	"	Fergus Falls	"	11:25 p m
4:47 a m	"	Glyndon	"	9:36 p m
7:20 a m	"	CROOKSTON	"	7:25 p m
8:40 a m	"	Grand Forks	"	6:20 p m
9:45 a m	"	Larimore	"	5:06 p m
2: 1 p m	"	Devils Lake	"	2:55 a m
7:00 p m	Ar.	Butte	De.	7:30 a m

ST. VINCENT BRANCH—Daily except Sunday
Depart 7:30 a m Arrive 6:30 p m

FOSSTON BRANCH—Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Depart 8:00 a m Arrive 5:30 p m

ST. HILAIRE, Thief River and Red Lake Falls Branch—
Monday, Wednesday and Friday,
Depart 9:00 a m Arrive 6:50 p m

GRAND FORKS' ACCOMMODATION.
Arrive 9:50 a m Depart 7:55 p m

The scenic route to Spokane, Helena, and Butte on the west, and St. Paul, Minneapolis-Duluth and West Superior on the east. Dining and sleeping cars on all through trains. Tickets on sale to all principal places. Baggage checked through to destination.

W. W. FEGAN, Agent.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 53.
1 Northern 51.

The Scandia Furniture company will move into new quarters soon.

A. C. Schmidt has finished some fine lettering for T. G. Thompson.

Ripans Tabules cure constipation.

W. O. Wilson is painting and papering his place up in elegant style.

A. D. Stephens was called to Benson last week by the illness of his father.

Don't forget that the inimitable Bill Nye will be at the opera house on the evening of April 24th.

Money to loan. Farm and city lots for sale. Please call at R. R. V. Loan and Investment Co., Opera Block, Crookston Minn.

Ripans Tabules cure dyspepsia.

Those of our citizens who attended the Elks' ball in Grand Forks on Friday night of last week report a fine time.

I need money and will sell you goods at greatly reduced prices.

A. CHABOT.

Carl Riedesel's building, on the site formerly occupied by Schmidt's paint shop, begins to assume proportions and will soon be completed.

Fargo is said to be enjoying a great inundation in these days. The Red river is over its banks and causing no end of trouble and anxiety.

The funeral of Mrs. H. F. Brown took place at the Episcopal church at 2 o'clock p. m. on Sunday. A large number of the friends of the family paid the last sad tribute of respect for the departed by attending.

At and below cost, my big and well assorted line of Dry Goods, Clothing and Boots and Shoes.

NEW YORK STORE,
A. CHABOT, Proprietor.

The small boy is getting great fun fishing below the dam in these days. By that same token the rest of mankind seems to enjoy it as well, but the fish—well, we have not heard them express their opinion on the subject.

"Ole Olson" appeared at the Grand on Thursday evening of last week playing to a full house. The company is a good one and the audience was very well pleased. The manager announces a better play for next season.

The running of trains on the Fosston and St. Hilaire branches came back to the old tri-weekly basis on Monday and the usual amount of kicking is observable. It certainly is unfortunate that this state of things has to be as it is a great detriment to business along these lines.

Wild geese were flying over in great numbers on Tuesday.

Do not miss the bargains at the
NEW YORK STORE.

Chief Gonyea is talking about purchasing a lot and building a residence.

August George has been entertaining several Wisconsin farmers who came up to purchase farms.

George Howenstein came up from Red Wing last week to attend the funeral of Mrs. H. F. Brown.

Mrs. A. Webber came up from Winnebago City last week to attend the funeral of her sister, Mrs. H. F. Brown.

Miss Amanda Brown, sister of H. F. Brown came up from Red Wing last week to attend the funeral of her brother's wife.

There will be serious trouble if you don't overcome those dyspeptic symptoms. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine you need.

Potatoes are coming in from Dakota by the carload. We note a drop of five cents per bushel this week—from 85 to 80 cents.

Remember the social of the Y. P. S. C. E. at the Congregational parsonage on Friday evening. Ice cream and cake 15 cents.

A. C. Schmidt, the painter, made a business trip to St. Paul last week to look up stock for his Second street store. Look out for a big invoice later.

Geo. Vine went to Fisher on Monday after some fat stock for his market. George is a hustler from way back and always leads the procession.

Almost every farmer is talking of planting a large tract of potatoes. If half the area is planted that is talked of, potatoes will be a drug in the market next fall.

The ice in the river below the dam disappeared on Monday. Above the dam the ice still remains but the river is raising and will no doubt very soon take it out.

Bill Nye will positively appear at the opera house on the evening of April 24th. The only and original Bill Nye and you will certainly miss it if you miss it. Don't miss it.

"Mr. Moses Price, of this place, was troubled with rheumatism for a long time. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has cured him. He says that the Balm has no equal." For sale by S. A. Wallace, druggist, Crookston, Minn.

The only chance you will have to listen to the only original Bill Nye will be afforded on the evening of April 24th. The best entertainment of the season. Be on deck with your buttons sewed on tight. This entertainment is given by the ladies of the Congregational church and deserve a full house.

Frank Bivins informs the JOURNAL that he intends to go into sheep this summer more extensively than ever, as his experience shows him that there is more money in that than in any other line a farmer in this country can engage in. He has recently added a bunch of Southdown sheep—thoroughbreds, and is in the market for more. Mr. Bivins is one of those far-sighted farmers who has made a success of their business and his opinion is of value from that fact.

The more Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used the better it is liked. We know of no other remedy that always gives satisfaction. It is good when you first catch cold. It is good when your cough is seated and your lungs are sore. It is good in any kind of a cough. We have sold twenty-five dozen of it and every bottle has given satisfaction. Stedlman & Friedman, druggists, Minnesota Lake, Minn. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist-Crookston, Minn.

Ex-mayor Wm. Anglin has been appointed receiver of the U. S. Land Office in this city in place of L. K. Aaker whose term expires soon. This is the first time that a citizen of Crookston has been appointed to a position in this Land Office and in this case the appointment is a most worthy one as Mr. A. is in every way worthy and well qualified. Many of the Grand Army boys desired to see comrade T. A. Dunlava, of Fisher, appointed but it seems that Grover thought otherwise and the Grand army boys who voted for Grover now see that they are not in it to a remarkable extent with the present administration. Grover was not that kind of a soldier himself.

After this,

No Baking Powder but Royal.

Laboratory of
Charles W. Drew, Ph.B., M.D.,
Formerly Prof. of Chemistry Minnesota Hospital College and Chemist of the State Dairy and Food Department.

Minneapolis, Minnesota, Feb. 17th 1893.

I have made a large number of analyses of the ROYAL Baking Powder as at present sold in Minnesota, and have found it to be an absolutely pure cream of tartar powder, entirely free from ammonia and all adulterations and impurities. In leavening power it is of the very highest grade.

Charles W. Drew, Ph.B., M.D.,

DR PRICE'S
Cream Baking Powder.

The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

Call at the JOURNAL job rooms for plain or fancy job printing..

L. K. Aaker celebrates the arrival of a little Miss. at his residence.

Chas. Brown and wife came up last week to attend the funeral of Mrs. H. F. Brown.

Snow 15 inches deep is reported—at Rochester, New York. Who would live in such a country?

W. J. Murphy was in the city on Saturday enroute home to Minneapolis from a visit to Grand Forks.

A carload of regular troops passed through the city on Tuesday on the Great Northern road, bound for some point west.

Charlie Misner is getting so that he can handle that razor again and now he wears a smile a mile long or so.

Horace Lucken, after a pleasent visit with the old folks at home returned to his home on Monday evening.

S. M. McKee sold the last of his sheep to Frank Bivins this week—13 head of thoroughbred southdowns.

Miss Maud Leguee went north on Saturday morning to enter upon her duties as teacher in a district school near there.

Street commissioner Dan McDonald is giving the crossings a great deal of attention in these days. This is as it should be.

O. A. Noble was in the city last week looking after collections which he says are some-what dull this spring. After a week's stay he returned to his home in Mankato.

T. H. Bjoin has rented the store formerly occupied by A. Sture in the opera block. It will be used as a restaurant. He has also rented the room adjoining it on the south for a saloon.

F. E. Hertz started for a trip below on Tuesday evening. Frank said—but we are not going to tell what he said for there may not be anything in it and then the Times would say it is one of that horrid JOURNAL man's jokes again.

J. G. McGrew left for the scene of his new duties at Duluth on Monday evening. Comrade McGrew has been a resident of Crookston since 1879 and leaves many friends in this city who will unite in the wish for his future welfare.

The roads are getting to be almost impassible and as a consequence travel is exceedingly light. With the right kind of weather it would take but a short time to make good going again. The city roads are a sea of mud.

Col. Cobham post expected the Junior vice Commander in Monday evening and made arrangments to cut a big cheese. He did not come so the boys had to content themselves by opening a keg o' nails and enjoying their own camp-fire to the best of their ability.

Gunder Krostue is singing: "They're after me," since the burglars burglariously burgled his store last week. They got away with about $65 but missed $40 in cash in the post-office drawer. Gunder would give the amount taken for a glimpse of the color of their hair.

E. D. Childs went to Fargo on Tuesday evening.

Appearances indicate that we shall not have very high water in the Red Lake river this spring—unless we have very heavy rains soon.

The closing section of Bill Nye's on the programme for next Monday evening, is appropriately entitled "Here, Dear Friends, our Pathways Fork."

W. A. Hammond left on Monday evening's train for Bismarck, where he was on Wednesday happily united for life to Miss. Blanche Jennings, of that city. The bride and groom are expected to arrive home on Friday morning and will go to house-keeping in Mr. Hammond's recent purchase on Jerome's addition.

Monday opened out as bright and fine as you ever saw but uncle John Ross, (our weather prophet,) shook his head and "allowed" it was only a weather breeder and sure enough, for at about six o'clock P. M. it began to rain and rained "cats and dogs" as it were. The oldest inhabitant had not seen the like of it—since the last time.

If you are looking for a snap in farms call and look over that bargain that the Red River Land and Investment Company offers in another column. A good improved farm all ready for business at about the bare cost of improvements is a snap not to picked up every day. For full particulars call on or address August George, Opera house block.

C. P. Hathaway received a telegram on Friday morning announcing the death of his wife's father, John Cottier, which occurred at Owatonna after a brief illness of about 24 hours. The full particulars have not as yet been received. Mr. Cottier was an old and highly respected resident of Owatonna and was 69 years old.

"Edgewood Folks" is a very pleasing, simple story, prettily told. It is an easy, natural and singularly faithful picture of home life in a quiet out-of-the-way New England village. Tom Dilloway (Alba Heywood) is the central figure, but the other characters are very truthful life pictures (some of them very quaint) and they are, without exception, well taken by the company. At the Grand opera house Tuesday evening, April 25th 1893.

Bro. Stevens, of the Warren Register accuses the JOURNAL of taking an item from that excellent paper and crediting it to the Sheaf. We were not aware that we had been guilty of that offense, Bro. S., and if we did, the compositor, or the proof reader or somebody besides "we" was surely to blame but we are willing to accept the cigars from you and forgive all 'round. Shake.

Mrs. Rose Coe, wife of W. L. Coe., died at her residence in Carman on Monday at 5 o'clock at the age of 44. She has been suffering from consumption for the past two years and yet her death came very suddenly at the last. She seemed to be very much better on Monday afternoon and sometime after 4 asked for something to eat. While it was being prepared she began to sink and very shortly breathed her last. The remains were taken to Lake Crystal, Minn., starting Tuesday evening via. the Great Northern road.

You are not wise if you buy any furniture before looking at the stock still on hand at I. U. Jenning's furniture store. You can probably find just what you want and at cost. 1-tf

"Too much of our hotel food tastes like the second day of January, or the fifth day of July. That's the whole thing in a few words, and unless the good hotels are nearer together, we will have to multiply our cemetery facilities."—Bill Nye.

Among the new spring styles at Miss Veronneau's the butterfly catches our eye. It is a dainty little beauty and no mistake. By the way all of the spring styles are very graceful and pretty so much so that it is difficult for her lady patrons to select the nicest style.

Rev. R. H. Battey went up to Stephen on Saturday to hold services on Sunday. He lectured at Stephen on Saturday evening and again at Hallock on Monday evening, and if there was any time allowed to go to waste we have not heard of it. He is a hustler.

Millinery direct from Hillsboro, N. Y.: Fish & Co., Chicago; Robinson & Straus, St. Paul, on exhibition and for sale at Mrs. I. U. Jenning's millinery store. The very latest, the most stylish and the cheapest. Watch out for spring opening the 25th and 26th. 1-tf

That floral wheelbarrow in Miss Veronneau's show window attracted the universal attention of the passersby during the opening event. We would almost be tempted to seek a job on the construction force of the Great Northern extension from Fosston to Duluth if we could use that buggy to wheel the fertile soil in.

Bill Nye wrote a comedy last spring called "The Cadi." It is now running in New York, and the lines of the piece are so funny that the progress of the play is seriously impeded by the hilarious laughter of the audience. The character of Nye's writings are grotesquely funny, but to see and hear Nye himself is fun enough for an ordinary lifetime. You will have an opportunity to do this on Monday evening April 24th, when the famous "Bill" is to appear in this city, in conjunction with A. P. Burbank, who has won fame on both sides of the Atlantic as a monologue entertainer.

Ladies.

Did you observe Miss Veronneau's show window on Tuesday and Wednesday? Such a veritable bower of beauty is seldom seen and they do say that her new spring styles are just too lovely for anything. The little lady informed us that she was never so busy before, waiting on customers, as on those two days and the amount of goods she sold was a pleasant surprise to her. She invites lady readers of the JOURNAL to call and examine her stock when in need of a stylish hat or bonnet. She is prepared to suit any style or taste. Don't forget to call at Miss Veronneau's Parisian parlors on Second street.

A Unique Supper.

The World's Supper given under the auspices of the First M. E. church last Friday evening in McKinnon hall, was a great social success. It was a novelty in Crookston and was thoroughly enjoyed by every one present. Eight tables with different bills of fare, were presided over by young ladies and gentlemen dressed in the costume of the country they represented. The nationalities represented were American, Irish, Scotch, German, Scandinavian, Turkish, Swiss and Spanish. The differently costumed waiters made a picturesque appearance as they flitted about the hall attending to the wants of the large crowd of diners. The good spirit which exists between the Crookston churches was strikingly exhibited at this supper, as representatives of most of the other churches were found amongst the workers. People who came early in the evening expecting to take supper and go home, found the scene so interesting and the social enjoyment so pleasant that they remained through the evening. The gross receipts were about $95.00.

Strongly Endorsed.

The advertising of Hood's Sarsaparilla appeals to the sober, common sense of thinking people, because it is true; and it is always fully substantiated by endorsements which in the financial world would be accepted without a moment's hesitation. They tell the story—Hood's Cures.

Advertised Letters.

List of letters remaining unclaimd at the Crookston postoffice for the week ending April 15th, 1893.

Amli, Clara
Donovan, D. D
McVear, Ed.
Chausrud, Kristoffer
Ellis, James C.
Swanson, Swan

Persons calling for the above letters please say advertised.

Wm. B. DAWLEY, P. M.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, jaundice, billiousness, sick headaches, constipation.

RED RIVER VALLEY
LOAN AND INVESTMENT COMPANY.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON REAL ESTATE.

FARMS AND LANDS
For Sale in nearly all
the Towns of Polk
County.

CITY LOTS
In Crookston and Thief River Falls.
List your Lands and Lots with us and effect quick sales.
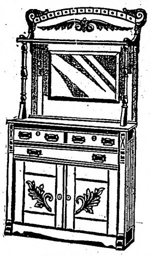
OFFICE IN OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.

A. G. GALLASCH, Pres.
J W. WHEELER, Vice Pres.
W. H. MATHEWS, 1st Vice Pres.
A. F. GEORGE, Sec.
O. H. LUCKEN, Treasurer.

Historical Society

Polk County Journal.

VOL. XVII. CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, APRIL 27, 1893. NO. 2



Crookston Furniture Co.
FURNITURE, CARPETS,
BURIAL SUPPLIES.

$1.35.
Antique Oak Finish.

$19.50.
Solid Oak,
Large Glass,
Plush-lined Drawers.

8-ft. Oak Table,
42x42, only
$7.90.

SCHMIDT THE PAINTER
IS NOW ON DECK
AT THE OLD STAND ON SECOND STREET,
WITH A FULL LINE OF
PAINTS, OILS, GLASS
AND
WALL PAPER.
Ready for anything in the line of Painting or Papering. Be sure and get an estimate from me before you contract your work.
A. C. SCHMIDT.

WE ARE NOT DOING
Much Blowing

At this time of the year, and it is not bragging to say that
OUR MAMMOTH STOCK
was never more complete than this spring, and that you can find no greater bargains in the city than we are giving. There is an old saying to the effect that

"THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING IS IN CHEWING THE STRING."

This applied to the old-fashioned steamed Indian Pudding that was put in a bag and tied with a string, which string no doubt retained enough of the pudding to furnish a sufficient sample.
We don't claim to have a "string" on the public, but it is a fact that when a man once comes into our store and taades he always comes again. s the pudding was supposed to speak for itself, so our goods speak for themselves every time.
☞YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED.
FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

Hallock News—Capt. Donaldson informs us that he will call a meeting of farmers for the purpose of arranging plans for the drainage to be done in this county this year. He proposes that the drainage to be done in Kittson county be let by contract and that the contractor give each farmer a portion of the ditching to be done, say a half mile or so. This we think a very good idea as it will enable the farmer to receive a share of the money to be spent in this work. This matter will be fully discussed at the meeting which will be called next week for some future date, and we hope to see every farmer present. After the meeting the captain will go to St. Paul where he will make arrangements so that Kittson county will receive its share of the money appropriated f r drainage.

Fits.

All fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St. Phila., Pa. For sale by all druggists; call on yours.

Farmers,

I am now making arrangements to buy wood from you. Call on me and we can agree. W. H. NORRIE.
Wood yard corner Main and Third streets, Crookston. [48-3]

Swedish Lutheran Jubilee.

Northern Pacific make reduced rates to Minneapolis, for the Swedish Lutheran Jubilee Festival, to be held at Minneapolis, May 22nd and 23rd, we make rate of fare and one-third on certificate plan, provided there are one hundred or more in attendance, who have paid full fare on the going trip.

C. A. SHARLEY,
Agent.

OFFICIAL DIRECTORY.

State.

Governor.......................Knute Nelson.
Lieutenant Governor..........David M. Clough.
Secretary of State..................F. P. Brown.
Attorney General......................H. W. Childs.

Congressional.

Member of Congress, 7th Dist....Haldor E. Boen,

Legislative.

Senator, 51st Sen. Dist...............E. E. Lommen.
Representatives, 51st Sen. Dist.....John D. Knuteson, B. M. Chesley and Hans Juelson.

Judicial.

Associate Justices Supreme Court.....Thomas Canty, Daniel Buck, Wm. Mitchell and Loren W. Collins.
Judge 14th Jud. District ....Frank Ives.
Clerk of Court...........................Nils Muus.

County.

Auditor.................................C. U. Webster
Treasurer...............................J. T. Beaudry
Register of Deeds.....................John Amundson
Attorney.................................A. R. Holston
Sheriff...................................Arny Grundysen
Judge of Probate........................C. M. Benson
Supt. of Schools.........................A. A. Lommen
Surveyor.................................O. L. Hamery
Court Com'r.............................W. H. Averill
Coroner..................................Henry Shepard

County Commissioners.

First District.......................John E. Oppegaard
Second District.........................Anton Linden
Third District..........................M. E. Kirsch
Fourth District.........................C. P. Demers
Fifth District..........................A. C. Rhinehart

For Rent.

A nine room brick house newly papered and painted and centrally located. Inquire of Stewart Lumber Company.

A Snap.

The Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company has for sale a half section of land situated two miles from the city limits, good buildings, artesian well, 80 acres fenced, land all broken except about 10 acres in grove. Been used as a stock farm and admirably adapted for that purpose, as being close to the city it is available as a milk and dairy farm. Improvements upon the farm alone cost over $4,000 and it can be had for $6,400. A cash payment of $2,000 will secure the place and purchaser can have a reasonable time on the balance, or for cash a liberal discount will be made. Owner desires to invest his means in other business. Inquire of August George, opera house block. [1-tf]

For Sale at a Discount.

A scholarship in the Crookston Business College. Apply at the JOURNAL office. [10 t.f.]

Bids for City Printing.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
County of Polk, } ss.
City of Crookston. }

The city council of the city of Crookston will receive sealed proposals to do the printing and publishing of all ordinances, resolutions, proceedings and other matter required to be published by the city council of the city of Crookston for the ensuing year, all matter to be measured on a basis of solid nonpareil. Said bids to be opened at a regular meeting of the city council on Tuesday evening May 9th, 1893. Bids to be accompanied by bonds in the sum of $500.00. The council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

[Seal]

E. C. CARRUTH,
[1-2] City Clerk

Bids for Job Work of the City of Crookston.

STATE OF MINNESOTA }
County of Polk, } ss.
City of Crookston }

The City Council of the City of Crookston, will receive sealed proposals for doing the job printing required by the City Council during the ensuing year as specified by the charter of be opened at a regular meeting on Tuesday evening, May 9th, 1893, bids to be accompanied by a bond in the sum of $500.

The Council resumes the right to reject any or all bids.

[SEAL] E. C. CARRUTH,
[1-2] City Clerk.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, city of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given, that application have been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 10th, 1893, and terminating on May 10th, 1894, by the following person, and at the following place, as stated in said application respectively, to-wit: A. J. Johnson, in lower floor of the frame building on Lot 21 Block 16, Fletcher & Houston's addition to city of Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the City of Crookston, in city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk County, on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock P. M., of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 18th day of April, A. D. 1893

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, City of Crookston—ss

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 20th, 1893, and terminating on May 20th, 1894, by the following person and at the following place as stated in said application, to-wit: Hans E. Erickson in the two story frame building on lots 23 and 24, block 16, original townsite of Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the city of Crookston, at the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 18th day of April, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH
City Clerk.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL.

The Valparaiso Institution to be Taken as a Model.

Mr. E. M. Stanton who was a student at the Valparaiso Normal school having been requested by a committee of citizens to give his views regarding the establishing of a Normal school here, submits the following for consideration;

As the matter of establishing a Normal school in this city after the plan of the Valparaiso Normal school, is being agitated, it may be of interest to our citizens to know just what the Northern Indiana Normal school is, its methods and advantages.

The Valparaiso Normal school was established some eighteen years ago by President H. B. Brown as a private enterprise and to meet a long felt want in the educational needs of the country. To aid in the establishment of this school the citizens of Valparaiso loaned Mr, Brown the sum of ten thousand dollars. The school was opened with thirty-five students and four instructors. Unber the personal management of Mr. Brown the enrollment of students has increased from thirty-five to a registration of nearly four thousand students annually, and the merit of that institution is manifest from the fact that it is to-day the largest Normal school in the United States. It employs to-day forty instructors who are among the ablest that money can hire. The college buildings erected by Mr. Brown are estimated to be worth three hundred thousand dollars. Its chapel is the largest and most commodious auditorum in the state of Indiana outside of Indianapolis. The public library contains the choicest collection in that state and is considered one of the most valuable. What has been the secret of the wonderful success and financial prosperity of that institution? The fact that Mr. Brown supplied a demand that had never before been met by any other educational institution in the land, namely, by providing cheap accommodations and methods whereby the young men and women could obtain a practical education, by bringing education within the reach of every one who would avail themselves of the opportunity. If you are familiar with the methods and workings of our state and sectarian institutions, the secret of the success of the Valparaiso Normal school is more apparent. There are thousands who are unable to meet the enormous expense common to many of our state and sectarian institutions. In many of them a certain standard of scholarship is required before the student can enter, and when he does enter he must adapt himself to a certain course of study outlined for him. The time to acquire an education is too long; they must pursue studies which are not practical and in many cases distasteful. The student has but little opportunity to follow his natural inclinations. Observing all this Mr. Brown conceived the idea that a thorough, practical education could be obtained by the average student in less time and with one-third the expense usually required, and every student who has attended the Valparaiso Normal is ready to testify that Mr. Brown has successfully demonstrated that it can be done.

The Valparaiso school is established upon a broad and liberal basis. No sectarian doctrines are inculcated but the moral and religious interests of every student are carefully guarded.

The school is in session nearly the year round; four regular terms of ten weeks each, and a summer term of ten weeks. The summer term is of incalculable benefit to hundred, especially to teachers in the public schools for the purpose of reviewing their studies and advancing their grades. Students may enter at any time and continue their studies without taking any backward steps. They select their own studies and advance as rapidly as they desire. Backward students receive the same and even more attention and have the same privileges as the most forward. Large boarding halls are run under the management of the school, as well as furnished rooms for the students. Room and board are furnished at an expense that to some would seem incredible. Good board and furnished rooms can be had for two dollars per week and often less. This with the tuition fee of ten dollars per term brings the school within the reach of thousands who otherwise would be deprived of the benefits of a normal school or college education. The school was never endowed; it is self-governing; nonsectarian in its character; the moral tone of the institution and its scholarship will favorably compare with some of the best in the United States. The plan and methods of the school make an education accessible to all, the poor as well as the rich. It would take columns to review the many features of that school, its various departments of learning, fifteen in number; its literary societies; the debating clubs under the supervision of the faculty; the general parlimentary drills and oratorical contests, all of which recommend the school to the public.

Messrs. Christianson and Tuve the young men who propose with the help of the citizens to establish at this place a Normal school after the same plan, are well recommended in character, learning and ability. They are familiar with the workings of the Valparaiso school and have studied its methods in all its departments, and we believe them thoroughly qualified with the assistance of the people of this community, to establish and build up a similar institution which will be a credit to our city and a lasting benefit to thousands. The Valparaiso school is not the only school of the kind in the United States although it was the first. Other institutions have adopted the same methods and are meeting with the same success. This country is new, but with its great opportunities, the present is the most seasonable time for us to take hold of this matter and assist a worthy cause.

City Council.

Proceedings of a special meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston, held in the city hall on Thursday forenoon April 20th, 1893.

Meeting called to order by President Cromb.

Roll call.

Aldermen present:—Cromb, Jennings, Watts, Simmons, Morrisey, Norrie, Jerome, Anderson.

Aldermen absent:—Walker, Childs, Marlette.

Meeting was called to make arrangements to protect the bridge crossing the river to Jerome's addition.

Moved by Alderman Morrisey, seconded by Alderman Anderson, that the council appoint a committee of two to act in conjunction with the county commissioners to protect county property and the city to protect city property.

Motion carried.

The chair appointed Aldermen Morrisey and Anderson as such committee with power to act.

Moved and seconded that the council adjourn. Carried.

E. C. Carruth,
City Clerk.

Somewhat Boisterous.

Despite our prediction in last issue, that the Red Lake River would be quiet-like this spring that stream took occasion to get on a bit of a high and on Tuesday morning was giving people who live on the lowlands a good deal of unrest, and and some were obliged to seek a higher level in society. While the river rose to a respectable height, and made some side-walks on Jerome's addition uneasy, so much so that it was necessary to anchor some of them to trees, and even threatened to take away the bridge leading thereto, the flood did not reach the highest stage ever known by several feet and began to recede about dark falling away about one foot by Friday noon. At Red Lake Falls the flood was more serious owing to the ice gorging and thus impeding the flow. A large amount of wood was reported carried away and the Great Northern railroad bridge also, and many valuable buildings were said to be endangered. Taken all in all it was exciting enough but not so bad as it might have been, had the ice gorged at other points along the river.

Advertised Letters.

List of letters remaining unclaimd at the Crookston postoffice for the week ending April 22nd, 1893.

Arnoldy, W. U.	Dubuc, Toussant
Jondro, Joseph	La Grave, Will
Torsey, Mrs. M. A.	Pearson, Betty 2

Persons calling for the above letters please say advertised.

Wm. B. DAWLEY, P. M.

Of Interest to Breeders.

Dr. J. Warninger, V. S., has just received a set of the latest improved parturition instruments. With the aid of these instruments he can deliver the foetus in short order without injury to the animal. The instruments are the most serviceable where the colt or calf is dead and so located that it becomes necessary to remove it in sections. This is not often the case and for this reason very few practitioners are prepared with the proper instruments to meet a case of this kind. [2-5]

The Drainage Appropriation.

And now that the drainage bill has become a law the question comes up, "how shall the money be used to secure the best results?" This question will be for the committee of three yet to be appointed to determine and it is a very important one to the country that is to receive the benefit. It strikes us that it would be the part of wisdom to begin at one point and complete the system as fast as the circumstances would permit. The point of beginning should be determined by the number of people to be benefitted thereby. Taking the engineer's map as a guide and that point seems to be ditch No. 7, which begins at a point in or near the south line of the town of Fanny and runs southwest into the Red Lake River, a distance of 5¾ miles. This ditch will drain 328,320 acres and the cost is estimated at $10,800. The country to be benefitted by this ditch is very thickly settled and almost every acre under cultivation, conditions that do not exist in so large a degree with any other ditch in the entire system. Probably the sum of $50,000 will be available for the first year and if this is judiciously expended very much good can be accomplished, which, if judiciously followed up each year as each sum of $25,000 will become available will go very far toward the completion of the system. The various towns interested could advantageously take a hand in the good work and help along very materially.

A HUMAN NIGHTMARE.

Experience of a Drummer With a Woman Who Was Mistaken For a Freak.

"Have you ever had a nightmare in which some fearful danger threatened you and you couldn't move or get out of the way?" asked Hermann Solomon of a crowd of peripatetic story tellers at the Richelieu hotel.

"Several years ago I had several of the nocturnal visitors every night for a week and grew very weary of them, for in spite of my determination not to let them bully me out of my equanimity I would nearly expire every night and awake with cold perspiration breaking out all over me. Toward the last of that interesting week I stopped with a landlord in northern Arkansas and resolved as I went to sleep that come what would I would positively refuse to give in in the least to my imagination.

"Some time past midnight the usual scare came. This time it was a tall and angular woman in white, with a long butcherknife. Mentally, I was congratulating myself that at last I was learning to overcome the foolish fears of nightmares and wondering how it would pass off. I saw the demoniac grin as she flourished the knife in front of my face almost without a tremor, and when she laughed a wild, unearthly laugh I gave a start and found it all real and that I was actually awake.

"Scared? That word can't express it. I dropped on the other side of the bed as she made a slash at me, and as she ran around the bed I crawled under, reached the door and went down the steps about three at a time ahead of her. By the time we reached 'the big road' I think I had gained several feet, as she had more clothing to interfere with her progress than I had just then. I had imagined that a man really scared couldn't move. Well, I will give any odds desired on the proposition that I moved down that road, and I don't think I would need any corroborative testimony to convince any one who saw me that I was scared.

"About a mile down the road I ran into the arms of her husband and sons, who were out looking for her. She was a little 'outen her head' at times, they said, and she had evidently entered the open door at my landlord's and reached my room without any one knowing it. As her relatives took her home I sadly retraced my steps and found the whole family aroused. The explanation was satisfactory, and the adventure cured me of nightmares."—Syracuse Herald.

A Chance to Prove His Love.

Suitor (to her father)—Sir, I love the very ground your daughter treads on.

Father (grimly)—Well, young man, you ain't the first party that's had an attachment for it. Howsomever, if you love it well enough to come and help pay up the mortgage on it, like Jacob did, you can marry Sarah.—Exchange.

Now that the French have distinguished themselves in building canals, some Parisian engineers propose to span the English channel with a bridge 84 miles long.

The Suicide of a King.

The late King Louis of Bavaria saved himself from deposition by a timely death, being found drowned in the fishpond of one of his palaces. He had no doubt been insane for many years, and his crazy expenditure cost his subjects so much money that, finding the state nearly bankrupt, they resolved to displace him, and the knowledge of this no doubt drove him to self destruction.—

A BETTER FEELING

CLEVELAND'S STATEMENT HAS A GOOD EFFECT.

And the Financial Atmosphere Is Partially Cleared—Said That New York Bankers Have Offered the Treasury $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 Gold.

NEW YORK, April 25.—The explicit statement of President Cleveland that the government would continue to pay out gold for treasury notes as well as for greenbacks, and that it never had any other intention, has succeeded in partially clearing the financial atmosphere. That the balance of trade, however, is still against this country was shown by the fact that $850,000 more gold was taken from the subtreasury during the morning for export. Half of it was paid in for treasury notes.

"It is expected," said one bank president, "that we shall continue to ship about $5,000,000 of gold a week until the demand is over—that is until the balance of trade is reversed or until some of our unmarketed products are sent forward and can be drawn against."

Gold From New York Banks.

Conrad N. Jordan took charge of the sub-treasury during the morning as assistant treasurer. J. Edward Simmons, president of the Fourth National bank; Henry W. Cannon, president of the Chase National bank; Brayton Ives, president of the Western National bank; Charles J. Canada, ex-assistant treasurer, and ex-Secretary Fairchild were in Mr. Jordan's private room. They were in consultation with Mr. Jordan for some hours. During that time George H. Coe, president of the American Exchange National bank, called and saw Mr. Jordan twice. Mr. Coe declined to be quoted in relation to Mr. Cleveland's statement on the situation. Mr. Jordan and the bank officials mentioned were in conference until 2 o'clock. It is rumored that the New York banks, as the result of the conference, would turn $15,000,000 or $20,000,000 of gold into the treasury. The conferees uniformly decline, in a most emphatic manner, to anticipate any action of the government.

Six Million From Boston.

BOSTON, April 25.—At a meeting of the Clearings association, which includes all the national banks in this city, it was voted that each should give half its reserve gold in exchange for legal tender notes. This sum, it is said, will amount to between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000.

MONETARY CONFERENCE.

President Cleveland Summons American Delegates to Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The president has requested the American delegates to the international monetary conference to visit him in Washington before they return to Brussels to be present at the next session of the conference. The call is for the purpose of receiving an expression of opinion relative to the silver coinage question and the preparation of some definite proposition on the coinage of silver which the American delegate can submit to the conference.

POLICEMEN STRIKE.

Columbian Guards Send in Resignations.

CHICAGO, April 24.—Columbian guards to the number of 761 have sent in their resignations, and Colonel Rice realizes that he has a full sized strike on his hands. The men who have resigned comprise 10 first sergeants; 26 second sergeants, and over 50 duty sergeants. Nearly two months ago the men applied for a raise in salary. They were paid $60 a month; they demanded $70 but did not get it.

Disobeyed the Order to Strike.

CHICAGO, April 24.—The carpenters on the world's fair grounds who were ordered to quit work by President Russell of the Building Trades council, refused to go out. President Russell went to the world's fair grounds to find out the reason. He disregarded his promise not to interfere with the men, and was roughly handled by exposition police.

STRIKERS RESUME WORK.

The Trouble in Belgium Is at an End.

BRUSSELS, April 20.—The vote in the chamber of deputies reversing the former action of that body and granting universal suffrage practically as demanded by the workingmen has completely allayed the agitation among industrial population. The strikers here, at Antwerp and at other places generally resumed work during the morning and no further trouble is apprehended.

RUINED BY WHEAT.

An Idaho Mercantile Company Makes an Assignment.

MOSCOW, Ida., April 24.—The well known corporation, McConnell and Maguire company, the largest mercantile house in Idaho, of which Governor McConnell is the head, has been closed by the sheriff. Attachments aggregating $100,000 have been served and more are expected. Depression in the wheat market is assigned as the cause.

Suspend Its Sittings.

CHRISTIANA, April 24.—The Norwegian storthing, by a vote of 63 to 51, has decided to suspend its sittings sine die owing to King Oscar's attitude of opposition to the storthing on the consular question.

Sheep Killed by Wild Oats.

JAMESTOWN, N. D., April 24.—It is reported here that a stockman west of the Missouri river lost 750 sheep this winter from sword grass or wild oats.

HON. Z. AVERY,
ONE OF THE LARGEST CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS IN NEBRASKA.

HEART DISEASE 30 YEARS.

GRAND ISLAND, NEB., April 8th, 1892.
Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

GENTLEMEN: I had been troubled with HEART DISEASE FOR THE LAST 30 YEARS, and although I was treated by able physicians and tried many remedies, I grew steadily worse until I WAS COMPLETELY PROSTRATED AND CONFINED TO MY BED WITHOUT ANY HOPE OF RECOVERY. I would have very bad sinking spells, when my pulse would stop beating altogether, and it was with the greatest difficulty that my circulation could be started, which would bring me back to consciousness again. While in this condition I tried your NEW HEART CURE, and began to improve from the first, and now I am able to do a good day's work for a man 68 years of age. I give DR. MILES' NEW HEART CURE all the credit for my recovery. It is over six months since I have taken any, although I keep a bottle in the house in case I should need it. I have also used your NERVE AND LIVER PILLS, and think a great deal of them. Z. AVERY.

CURED THOUSANDS

SOLD ON A POSITIVE GUARANTEE.

TRY DR. MILES' PILLS, 50 DOSES 25 CTS

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure at Druggists.

Just as Sure
as Preaching

is it that the best of current fiction appears

IN THESE COLUMNS.

We leave no stone unturned to make this a

HOME PAPER

in every sense of the word.
Are you a subscriber?

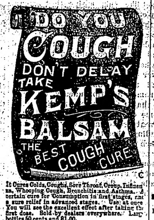
St. Vitus' Dance cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine.



It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

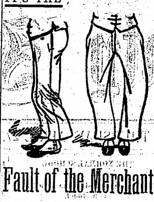
AT BEDTIME I TAKE A PLEASANT HERB DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1.00 a package. If you cannot get it, send your address for free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary. Address ORATOR F. WOODWARD, LeROY, N. Y.



IT'S THE

Fault of the Merchant

IF YOUR

CLOTHING

DOESN'T FIT.

There's nothing extraordinary about your figure. It's an easy enough matter to take your measure, and it's just as easy to cut cloth according to the measure when taken. We can take your measure and cut the cloth without the possibility of a mistake.

YOU MUST SELECT THE MATERIAL

however, and much depends upon the good taste you display in making a choice. It's no case of Hobson's choice in our store either, because our stock embraces all the materials

SANCTIONED BY FASHION.

and if there is not something in it perfectly appropriate to you, then the appropriate fabric has not been made yet. We are showing the

LATEST NOVELTIES FOR SPRING WEAR.

BOSTON

ONE PRICE

Clothing House,

Mossefin & Lindell, Proprietors.

RED RIVER VALLEY

LOAN AND INVESTMENT COMPANY.

MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE.

FARMS AND LANDS For Sale in nearly all the Towns of Polk County.

CITY LOTS

In Crookston and Thief River Falls.

List your Lands and Lots with us and effect quick sales.

OFFICE IN OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.

A. G. GALLASCH, Pres.
J. W. WHEELER, Vice Pres.
W. H. MATHEWS, 1st Vice Pres.
A. E. GEORGE, Sec.
O. H. LUCKEN, Treasurer.

THE PRESS
(NEW YORK)
For 1893

Has a larger Daily Circulation than any other Republican newspaper in America.

DAILY. SUNDAY. WEEKLY.

The Aggressive Republican Journal of the Metropolis.

A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES.

Founded Dec. 1st, 1887.

Circulation over 125,000 copies daily. The most remarkable Newspaper Success in New York. The PRESS is a National Newspaper. Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of the the PRESS.

The PRESS has the brightest Editorial page in New York. It sparkles with points. The PRESS Sunday Edition is a splendid paper, covering every current topic of interest. The PRESS Weekly Edition contains all the good things of the Daily and Sunday editions.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM

The Press has no superior in New York.

THE PRESS

Within the reach of all. The best and cheapest Newspaper in America.

Daily and Sunday, one year.......$5.00
" " 6 months.......2.50
" " 1 " 45
Daily only, one year.......3.00
" 4 months.......1.00
Sunday, one year.......2.00
Weekly Press, one year.......1.00

Send for Press circular. Samples free. Agents wanted everywhere. Liberal commissions.

Address THE PRESS,
38 Park Row, New York.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

First publication April 6th, 1893.
Last publication May 18th, 1893.

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly made and delivered by Pierre Lemieux and Philomine Lemieux, his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 22d day of December, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 23d day of February, A. D. 1888, at 10.40 o'clock a. m., in book 84 of mortgages, on page 598, etc. Whereas default consists of the failure to pay the following installments of interest to-wit: $35.00 that became due June 22, 1889; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1889; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1890; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1890; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1891; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1891; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1892 and $35.00 that became due December 22, 1892, and whereas the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, holder of said mortgage, has elected to declare, and hereby does declare, the whole principal sum in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum to-wit: Thirteen hundred forty-two and seventeen hundredths ($1342.17) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The northwest quarter (nw¼) of section thirteen (13) township one hundred fifty (150) range forty-five (45) containing 160 acres more or less according to the government survey thereof, all of said premises situated and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public aution, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State on the 22d day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law,

Dated March 30th, A. D. 1893.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY, Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON,
Attorney For Mortgagee.
[51-7] N. G. 136.

John Wyatt
THE UNDERTAKER,
EMBALMER AND
FUNERAL DIRECTOR.

Besides carrying a full and complete line of
COFFINS,
CASKETS
AND BURIAL SUPPLIES,
has the largest and most complete stock of

Pictures, Picture Frames,
—AND—
Picture Framing Material
—In the city.—

Special discount During the Holidays.

Office 105½ Broadway,
CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.

W. A. ROBERTSON
D. D. S.,
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.
N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.
OFFICE IN McKINNON BLOCK.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist,
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank.

Oak Lumber.
60,000 feet of solid oak plank from 8 to 18 feet, and inch boards.
For full information address
GORDON & ANDERSON.
(51-2) Pelican Rapids, Otter Tail Co., Minn.

A. H. DUNLAP, M. D.
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS, QUEBEC.
Office in McKinnon Block.

NEW CIGAR STORE
SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor,
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerchaum.

CALL IN.

"Sure will the Harvest Be!"

And it depends to a great extent upon the machine you use to do your seeding with, whether it will be a full harvest or not. To insure this buy a

Dowagiac Shoe Drill

—THE MOST—

SIMPLE,
PRACTICAL,
DURABLE,
EFFECTIVE.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS of uninterrupted success has placed this KING OF DRILLS at the head. Investigate its style of spring pressure and the independent, solid bottom steel shoe before buying.

We also sell a complete line of FARM IMPLEMENTS, Boss and Steel Lever Harrows, Rushford Wagons, and a complete line of all styles of Harness. We are also agents for the VICTOR BICYCLE, the best wheel made, and invite you to call and see them.

MERIT WINS.

Larsen, Carpenter & Co.
Broadway and Robert street, - Crookston, Minn.

McKINNON BROS.,
—DEALERS IN—
ALL OF THE LEADING
Agricultural Implements.
MAIN STREET. McKINNON BLOCK.
☞ Before Purchasing, Give Us a Call. ☜

CHRISTIANSON BROS.,
Abstracters of Title, Loans,
Real Estate and Insurance

N. B. FARM LOANS a specialty. Terms, three to five years. Lowest rate of interest, payable annually at our office.
☞ Choice FARM LANDS for sale cheap, on terms to suit purchasers. ☜
Office on Robert Street, CROOKSTON, MINN

Crookston Business College.
and INSTITUTE OF SHORTHAND.

DEPARTMENTS:—Commercial Shorthand, Typewriting and English.
TEACHERS:—R. C. Holaday, Nellie B. Perry and L. E. Gossman.
Winter Term begins Monday, January 2d, 1893. Send for new catalogue.
CROOKSTON BUSINESS COLLEGE, Crookston, Minn.
BENJ. A. STRAWBRIDGE, Prop.

ASTHMA CURED BY DR. TAFT'S ASTHMALENE

Instead of flying to the door gasping for breath, seeming as if each one would be your last, you have only to take a few doses Asthmalene when the spasm is broken, the breathing becomes easy and you feel as if an angel of mercy had unloosed the iron grasp of the fingers of death. The happiest moment of your life will be when you have used a few bottles of Dr. Taft's ASTHMALENE and it has cured you of Asthma. We mail to any Asthma sufferer a trial bottle FREE and prove that it does Cure Asthma. Sold by druggists. Dr. Taft Bros. M. Co., Rochester, N.Y

IF YOU ARE GOING EAST OR SOUTH ASK YOUR NEAREST AGENT FOR TICKETS VIA THE BURLINGTON AND TAKE NO OTHER LINE.

THE DUAL
MEAT MARKET.
oOo
CHARLEY VINE
Is Headquarters for all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats.

Highest cash price paid for cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry and hides.

SHOPS

Corner Broadway and Robert street,
and on Second street, in Reckitt block,
Crookston, - - Minn.

NEW BARBER SHOP.
On Main St. C. E. MISNER, Prop
Invites your patronage. Everything in the very latest style of the art.

RAZORS HONED. If you desire your Razor Honed and cannot bring it, send it to me with 30 cents and your name and address and I will hone and return it.
Yours Respectfully,
C. E. MISNER.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON.
Commenced Business October, 1881.

PAID IN CAPITAL.......$100,000
SURPLUS.......15,500

Interest on certificates of deposit. Accounts of farmers and business men solicited.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, E. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, J. E. McKinnon, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, Chas. E. Sawyer, W. H. Crosby

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA

ESCAPED FROM SING SING

Two Condemned Murderers Overpower Their Guards.

SING SING, N. Y., April 23.—Rohle and Pallister, two murderers under sentence of death, have escaped from the prison here.

It was not until 5:40 o'clock a. m. that it was discovered that the murderers had escaped. When Guard Glynn entered the condemned cell building as usual at that hour he was astonished at discovering the two night watchmen locked in the murderers' cells. When the guards were released, they told a remarkable story.

Story of the Guard.

Guard Hulse said that at 6 o'clock p. m. he passed supper into Pallister. The condemned man threw a handful of pepper into the guard's eyes. Hulse was blinded and Pallister rushed on him, took his revolver away from him and under threats of death forced Hulse into his (Pallister's) cell, first taking the keys away from him. He then locked Hulse in the cell and unlocked the cell of Murderer Frank Rohle. The two murderers then unlocked the cells of Carlyle W. Harris and Murderer Osmond. They invited these two to escape with them.

Both Harris and Osmond Refused

the offer to escape. Pallister and Rohle waited until 9 o'clock, when Guard Murphy came on duty. As Murphy entered the corridor, Pallister presented his pistol at Murphy's head, and, taking his keys away from him, locked him in Rohle's cell. Pallister took Guard Hulse's shoes and cap away from him and put them on himself. Threatening to kill the guards if they made any outcry, the two murderers climbed down into the yard, and made their escape.

Still at Large.

SING SING, N. Y., April 25.—Pallister and Rohle, the two condemned murderers who escaped from the death house late Thursday night, are still at large.

THRUN PLEADS GUILTY

And Promises to Testify Against Other Defendants.

WAUSAU, Wis., April 19.—The case of S. J. Hansen, special agent of the Wisconsin Central line, N. L. Kaudy and G. I. Follett, charged with conspiracy to defraud numerous insurance companies, is again before Commissioner Charles H. Mueller. F. J. Thrun, the chief conspirator and upon whose life the insurance was placed, has pleaded guilty and agreed to appear in court against the other defendants. All the latter, however, protest their entire innocence of any guilty knowledge.

Cabinet Meeting.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The cabinet was in session two hours and a half at which, it is understood, the financial situation was discussed. Secretary Carlisle returned to the treasury at 2:30 and in response to an inquiry declined to say anything regarding the financial situation.

Egan to Resign.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The Herald's Valparaiso correspondent telegraphs: El Mercurio says that Minister Egan has decided to resign and will not await Mr. Porter's arrival to relieve him.

Not Giving Out Blount's Report.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Secretary Gresham has received a report from Commissioner Blount of his action in Honolulu, but states that he has nothing to give out about it.

Badger Lawmakers Adjourn.

MADISON, Wis., April 22.—The Wisconsin legislature adjourned sine die at noon. Governor Peck sent to the senate just before adjournment vetoes of two minor bills.

LIABILITIES OF A MILLION.

The Yates Failure Carries Down Several Columbus (O.) Concerns.

COLUMBUS, O., April 24.—The big Yates failure at Rochester, N. Y., has precipitated failures here with liabilities aggregating $1,000,000. The concerns that are involved are the Ohio Coal Exchange, the Crescent Coal company and the Jacksonville Storing company of Jacksonville, Athens county. At the request of those interested in the two first named companies receivers were appointed by Judge Pugh. The Coal Exchange company owns no mines but buys the output of many Ohio mines and sells it to the trade. It has been selling a great deal of coal to Yates to supply the Northwestern trade.

Asa P. Potter Sentenced.

BOSTON, April 24.—In the United States circuit court Asa P. Potter, convicted by a jury some weeks ago of false certification of checks drawn upon the failed Maverick bank of which he was president, was sentenced before Judge Putnam to 60 days' imprisonment in Cambridge jail and to pay a fine of $1,000.

Snow for Sixty Hours.

ISHPEMING, Mich., April 24.—Light snow is still falling and has been coming steadily for 60 hours. It is from one foot to 18 inches deep in the city limits and three feet in many places in the woods.

To Test Missouri's Slave Law.

ST. LOUIS, April 22.—A test will be made of the constitutionality of the slave law, by which vagrants are sold for a certain number of months at public auction instead of being put in jail.

Smallpox in Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, April 22.—A case of smallpox has been discovered in a house in the center of the city. The victim is a young Irish woman who arrived from the old country three weeks ago.

Bismarck Ill Again.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The Herald's Berlin cable says Prince Bismarck is seriously ill at Friedrichsruhe.

PALACE OF STEEL.

Unique Architectural Plans for a California Millionaire's Home.

California has acquired another multi-millionaire. Like most of the others, he will put up a big house costing a pile of money and intended to surpass anything of the kind in the state, and his heirs will one day find themselves with a white elephant on their hands which they cannot afford to keep and cannot dispose of for anything like its intrinsic value. However, if his plans are carried out as he has conceived them, the present millionaire's palace will be a decided innovation and will afford architects and builders some new and valuable hints for future reference. The house, according to the unique plans of Colonel Nosmendo, is to be erected in the foothills back of Temescal, across the bay from San Francisco. It will cost about $1,000,000 and be built of iron, steel, copper, bronze, brass, aluminium, nickel, platinum and silver, stone, cement and glass. There will not be a bit of wood used in its construction, and the only stone used will be sculptured frieze on the exterior and various marbles and onyxes for stairs, balustrades, bathrooms and the like. The foundations will be of concrete, the walls of steel, the roof of steel, glass and copper, and the floors of cement laid with brass and other metals. The building will be 200 feet long and have two towers, the main one 115 feet in height. In the smaller tower over the main entrance will be a chime of 14 bells, fitted with electric ringing devices and a keyboard as delicate as a piano's.

THE METAL PALACE.

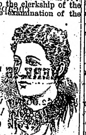
The house is to be encircled by a broad moat or artificial lake, which will be crossed opposite the main entrance by a drawbridge in the ancient style. The moat will be put to practical as well as ornamental use, for its waters will be used to furnish power for the electric plant which will light the house and furnish heat for the cooking as well as for warming the rooms.

The grand stairway will be of white marble and onyx and will lead to a corridor running the entire length of the building, from which will open eight suites of rooms, each suit containing a sleeping chamber, a bathroom, a dressing room and a study. The corridor will lead to a gallery on the second floor of the main tower, which will be devoted to an art gallery, the ground floor forming a circular ballroom 120 feet in diameter. The flooring of the ballroom is to be of hammered aluminium, which is said to furnish the best possible surface for dancing. The furniture throughout the house will be of the most artistic description, and the entire place will be a museum of costly curios.

PEFFER MAKES A PRECEDENT.

His Daughter Is the First Female Clerk of a Senate Committee.

Miss Nellie M. Peffer, daughter of Senator Peffer of Kansas, who was appointed by her father to the clerkship of the committee for the examination of the different branches of the civil service, is entitled to the distinction of being the first female clerk of a congressional committee ever appointed. Miss Nellie should be admirably equipped for the duties of her position, and may in fact be said to have performed them for a long time before she received the appointment, for it is a well known fact that the clerk of any of the minor senate committees is virtually but the secretary of the chairman of the committee, and Miss Peffer has assisted her father in that capacity ever since the beginning of the last session of congress. Previous to that she was a stenographer and bookkeeper in the business office of the Kansas Farmer, with which paper her father has been connected for many years.



MISS NELLIE M. PEFFER.

Miss Peffer is extremely businesslike in her treatment of her father's correspondence, opening and reading all his letters and making brief notes of their contents on the outside, together with the writer's name and address and the date. Her briefing is said to be so well and accurately done that the senator never has to read any of his letters except from choice. In addition to taking care of her father's correspondence with his constituents and others she writes from dictation letters to the heads of departments and bureaus of the government, looks after requests for seeds, directs and franks public documents and keeps a record of books sent and classifies and files letters requiring to be preserved for future reference.

Miss Peffer is a native of Fredonia, Wilson county, Kan., and was educated in the public schools of that state. She graduated from the Topeka high school and subsequently took a course in a business college. She is of a very sympathetic disposition and thoroughly enjoys her life at the national capital.

Through a Pipe to Europe.

General F. M. Clarke of Fort Worth, Tex., thinks he can shoot people across to Europe through a pneumatic tube under the ocean at the rate of 1,000 miles an hour. He says he has discovered that rubber can be made so as to retain its elasticity in the air and become harder when immersed in sea water. He proposes to sink tubes of this rubber and when they get good and hard to use them for all sorts of transportation. He has the usual hazy notions about the possibility and prevention of accident.

WORTH A GUINEA A BOX.

STILL ROLLING

St. Helens, England, is the seat of a great business.

BEECHAM'S PILLS are made there. They are a specific for all Nervous and Bilious Disorders arising from Weak Stomach, Impaired Digestion, Disordered Liver and all Female Ailments.

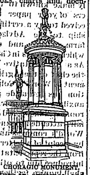
THEY ARE COVERED WITH A TASTELESS AND SOLUBLE COATING.

Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box. New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

FOR OLD COLLEGE BOYS.

The Greek Letter Fraternities Will Have an Interesting Show at the Fair.

The Greek letter college societies have had space allotted to them and will make an interesting and instructive exhibit at the World's fair. This will include a collection of books, charts and documents relating to the fraternities, bound volumes of their songs, magazines, annuals, etc., and a complete display of all their badges and paraphernalia. But the chief feature of the exhibit will be a reproduction of the choragic monument of Lysicrates, which is said to be the most famous specimen of Corinthian architecture in existence, and which will be restored in every particular and put in the center of the space devoted to the exhibit. The monument is 40 feet high, and the walls are black, the woodwork being all ebonized and ornamented in gilt.



CHORAGIC MONUMENT.

It may be well to explain for the benefit of those who do not know that a choragic monument was a building erected by a victorious chorus leader for the exhibition of the tripod received as a prize in the musical contests in Athens. Besides that of Lysicrates to be reproduced for the fraternities there is another still to be seen in Athens, that of Thrasyllus.

From the safety of their operation in blood letting the leech has been used for more than 2,000 years, and in many cases doctors could hardly dispense with their use.

MILLER & FOOTE,
ATTY'S AT LAW
McKinnon Block, Crookston, Minn.

FITS STOPPED FREE
Insane Persons Restored
DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER
for all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure cure for Nerve Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No Fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send names, P. O. and express address of afflicted to DR. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. See Druggists. BEWARE OF IMITATING FRAUDS.

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the
Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,
N. HAUENBUEHLER, Proprietor.
A full supply of everything kept by the trade.
Cor of Broadway and Third sts.
CROOKSTON, MINN

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE.
The Great English Remedy.
Promptly and permanently cures all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses. Been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for Wood's Phosphodine; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, leave his dishonest store, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlet in plain sealed envelope, 2 stamps. Address THE WOOD CHEMICAL CO., 131 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.
Before and After.
Sold at Crookston by A. C. Anderson, S. A. Wallace, F. E. Durand and druggists everywhere.

Cook's Cotton Root COMPOUND.
A recent discovery by an old physician. Successfully used monthly by thousands of Ladies. Is the only perfectly safe and reliable medicine discovered. Beware of unprincipled druggists who offer inferior medicines in place of this. Ask for Cook's Cotton Root Compound, take no substitute, or inclose $1 and 6 cents in postage in letter, and we will send, sealed, by return mail. Full sealed particulars in plain envelope, to ladies only, 2 stamps. Address Pond Lily Company, No. 3 Fisher Block, Detroit, Mich.
Sold at Crookston by A. C. Anderson, S. A. Wallace, F. E. Durand and druggists everywhere.

C. HENDRICKSON, President. L. ELLINGSON, Vice President
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier. H. STEENERSON, 2d Vice President.
P. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.
Scandia-American Bank
Of Crookston, Minn. Organized 1877 under the State law. Capital $50,000. Surplus, $5,000. Undivided profits, $15,000. Special attention given to collections.
Directors—C. Hendrickson, Grafton, N. D.; C. O. Christianson, Halvor Steenerson, Mat Ericsson, J. W. Wheeler, E. R. Pierce, L. K. Aaker, D. H. Turner, A. G. Gallasch, Lewis Ellington, J. H. Locken, O. H. Locken.

S. L. COLLINS
Proprietor of Main Street
Livery and Feed Stables.
Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., west side,
CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.
Horses bought and sold on commission. Everything neat and nobby. "Feeding a specialty."
FINE HEARSE
in connection, which I will attend to in person.

Valley Roller Mills.
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Manufacturers of
FINE FLOURS
MADE FROM SELECTED RED RIVER HARD WHEAT.
BRANDS:
Patent: Lee & Herrick's Best.
Straight: North Star.
Bakers': Elite.
Low Grade: Skip Jack.
BRAN, SHORTS AND SCREENINGS,
Always on hand at reasonable prices.

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, April 7th, 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Oline Severe, deceased.

On receiving and filing the petition of Edward Severe, of the county of Polk, representing, among other things, that Oline Severe, late of the county of Polk, in the state of Minnesota, in February, A. D. 1889, at the county of Polk died intestate, and being an inhabitant of this county at the time of her death, leaving goods, chattels and estate within this county, and that the said petitioner is the surviving husband of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be to Edward Severe granted;

It is ordered that said petition be heard before said court on Tuesday, the second day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the probate office in the city of Crookston, in said county.

Ordered further, that notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased and to all persons interested, by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the Polk County Journal, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 7th day of April, A. D. 1893.

By the Court. WM. BENSON, Judge of Probate.

THE NEW NORTHWEST
Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana.
FARM LANDS
NEW TOWNS
100 or more along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. Whitney, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.
LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.
Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth.
In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines. Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest Grass Hills, Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise.
Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines.
These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.

"In no way can Americans so effectively inform themselves on the subjects that claim public attention from one month to another as by reading the North American Review."
THE North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.
THE TOPICS are always those which are uppermost in the public mind—in morals, politics, science, literature, business, finance, industrial economy, social and municipal affairs, etc.—in short all subjects on which Americans require and desire to be informed. No magazine follows so closely, from month to month the course of public interest. All subjects are treated of impartially on both sides.
THE CONTRIBUTORS to the Review are the men and women to whom the world looks for the most authoritative statements on the subjects of the day. No other periodical can point to such a succession of distinguished writers. The list is a roll of the people who are making the history, controlling the affairs, and leading the opinion of the age, such as Mr. Gladstone, the Prime Minister of England; Mr. Blaine, Signor Crispi, Ex-Prime Minister of Italy; Baron Hirsch, H. R. H. the Count of Paris, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishops Potter, Doane, Mallalieu, Foss, etc., etc.
THE TIME when these subjects are treated of by these contributors is the very time when the subjects are in the public mind—not a month or two after people had ceased to think of them. The promptitude with which the Review furnishes its readers with the most authoritative information upon the topics of the day is one of its most valuable features.
Subscription Price, $5.00 a year.
THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW,
3 East 14th Street, New York.

A Dollar Saved is A Dollar Earned.

DO YOU WANT TO EARN A FEW DOLLARS?

IN THE SPRING OF THE YEAR everyone requires some Garden or Flower Seeds, and we have made arrangements with the Weekly Pioneer Press of St. Paul, whereby we are enabled to distribute

SEEDS FREE OF COST.

And we can also furnish THE WEEKLY PIONEER PRESS cheaper than it can be got any other way.

HERE IS THE OFFER we are prepared to make.

For $2.00 we will send

	Regular price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
20 packages Garden Vegetable Seeds, retail price	1 25
	$3 75

THIS offer is good to New Subscribers, or to Old Ones paying all arrearages and one year in advance. Cash must accompany the order in every case.

Another Offer.

For $1.85 we will send you

	Regular price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
The Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
An up to date Pocket Map of any State in the Union.	1 00
	$3 50

These maps are reliable and up to date, and the map of Illinois includes a map of Chicago, which is valuable to any one contemplating a visit to the World's Fair.

Address

Polk County Journal,

Crookston, Minn.

ESCAPED FROM SING SING.

Two Condemned Murderers Overpower Their Guards.

SING SING, N. Y., April 22.—Rohle and Pallister, two murderers under sentence of death, have escaped from the prison here.

It was not until 5:40 o'clock a. m. that it was discovered that the murderers had escaped. When Guard Glynn entered the condemned cell building as usual at that hour he was astonished at discovering the two night watchmen locked in the murderers' cells. When the guards were released, they told a remarkable story.

Story of the Guard.

Guard Hulse said that at 6 o'clock p. m. he passed supper into Pallister. The condemned man threw a handful of pepper into the guard's eyes. Hulse was blinded and Pallister rushed on him, took his revolver away from him and under threats of death forced Hulse into his (Pallister's) cell, first taking the keys away from him. He then locked Hulse in the cell and unlocked the cell of Murderer Frank Rohle. The two murderers then unlocked the cells of Carlyle W. Harris and Murderer Osmond. They invited these two to escape with them.

Both Harris and Osmond Refused

the offer to escape. Pallister and Rohle waited until 9 o'clock, when Guard Murphy came on duty. As Murphy entered the corridor, Pallister presented his pistol at Murphy's head, and, taking his keys away from him, locked him in Rohle's cell. Pallister took Guard Hulse's shoes and cap away from him and put them on himself. Threatening to kill the guards if they made any outcry, the two murderers climbed down into the yard and made their escape.

Still at Large.

SING SING, N. Y., April 25.—Pallister and Rohle, the two condemned murderers who escaped from the death house late Thursday night, are still at large.

THRUN PLEADS GUILTY

And Promises to Testify Against Other Defendants.

WAUSAU, Wis., April 19.—The case of S. J. Hansen, special agent of the Wisconsin Central line, N. L. Kandy and G. I. Follett, charged with conspiracy to defraud numerous insurance companies, is again before Commissioner Charles H. Mueller. F. J. Thrun, the chief conspirator and upon whose life the insurance was placed, has pleaded guilty and agreed to appear in court against the other defendants. All the latter, however, protest their entire innocence of any guilty knowledge.

Cabinet Meeting.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The cabinet was in session two hours and a half at which, it is understood, the financial situation was discussed. Secretary Carlisle returned to the treasury at 2:30 and in response to an inquiry declined to say anything regarding the financial situation.

Egan to Resign.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The Herald's Valparaiso correspondent telegraphs: El Mercurio says that Minister Egan has decided to resign and will not await Mr. Porter's arrival to relieve him.

Not Giving Out Blount's Report.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Secretary Gresham has received a report from Commissioner Blount of his action in Honolulu, but states that he has nothing to give out about it.

Badger Lawmakers Adjourn.

MADISON, Wis., April 22.—The Wisconsin legislature adjourned sine die at noon. Governor Peck sent to the senate just before adjournment vetoes of two minor bills.

LIABILITIES OF A MILLION.

The Yates Failure Carries Down Several Columbus (O.) Concerns.

COLUMBUS, O., April 24.—The big Yates failure at Rochester, N. Y., has precipitated failures here with liabilities aggregating $1,000,000. The concerns that are involved are the Ohio Coal Exchange, the Crescent Coal company and the Jacksonville Storing company of Jacksonville, Athens county. At the request of those interested in the two first named companies receivers were appointed by Judge Pugh. The Coal Exchange company owns no mines but buys the output of many Ohio mines and sells it to the trade. It has been selling a great deal of coal to Yates to supply the Northwestern trade.

Asa P. Potter Sentenced.

BOSTON, April 24.—In the United States circuit court Asa P. Potter, convicted by a jury some weeks ago of false certification of checks drawn upon the failed Maverick bank of which he was president, was sentenced before Judge Putnam to 60 days' imprisonment in Cambridge jail and to pay a fine of $1,000.

Snow for Sixty Hours.

ISHPEMING, Mich., April 24.—Light snow is still falling and has been coming steadily for 60 hours. It is from one foot to 18 inches deep in the city limits and three feet in many places in the woods.

To Test Missouri's Slave Law.

ST. LOUIS, April 22.—A test will be made of the constitutionality of the slave law, by which vagrants are sold for a certain number of months at public auction instead of being put in jail.

Smallpox in Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, April 22.—A case of smallpox has been discovered in a house in the center of the city. The victim is a young Irish woman who arrived from the old country three weeks ago.

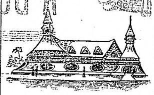
Bismarck Ill Again.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The Herald's Berlin cable says Prince Bismarck is seriously ill at Friedrichsruhe.

A PALACE OF STEEL.

Unique Architectural Plans for a California Millionaire's Home.

California has acquired another multimillionaire. Like most of the others, he will put up a big house costing a pile of money and intended to surpass anything of the kind in the state, and his heirs will one day find themselves with a white elephant on their hands which they cannot afford to keep and cannot dispose of for anything like its intrinsic value. However, if his plans are carried out as he has conceived them, the present millionaire's palace will be a decided innovation and will afford architects and builders some new and valuable hints for future reference. The house, according to the unique plans of Colonel Nonesuch, is to be erected in the foothills back of Temescal, across the bay from San Francisco. It will cost about $1,000,000 and be built of iron, steel, copper, bronze, brass, aluminium, nickel, platinum and silver, stone, cement and glass. There will not be a bit of wood used in its construction, and the only stone used will be sculptured frieze on the exterior and various marbles and onyxes for stairs, balustrades, bathrooms and the like. The foundations will be of concrete, the walls of steel, the roof of steel, glass and copper, and the floors of cement laid with brass and other metals. The building will be 280 feet long and have two towers, the main one 115 feet in height. In the smaller tower over the main entrance will be a chime of 14 bells, fitted with electric ringing devices and a keyboard as delicate as a piano's.



THE METAL PALACE.

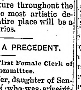
The house is to be encircled by a broad moat or artificial lake, which will be crossed opposite the main entrance by a drawbridge in the ancient style. The moat will be put to practical as well as ornamental use, for its waters will be used to furnish power for the electric plant which will light the house and furnish heat for the cooking as well as for warming the rooms.

The grand stairway will be of white marble and onyx and will lead to a corridor running the entire length of the building, from which will open eight suites of rooms, each suit containing a sleeping chamber, a bathroom, a dressing room and a study. The corridor will lead to a gallery on the second floor of the main tower, which will be devoted to an art gallery, the ground floor forming a circular ballroom 120 feet in diameter. The flooring of the ballroom is to be of hammered aluminium, which is said to furnish the best possible surface for dancing. The furniture throughout the house will be of the most artistic description, and the entire place will be a museum of costly curios.

PEFFER MAKES A PRECEDENT.

His Daughter Is the First Female Clerk of a Senate Committee.

Miss Nellie M. Peffer, daughter of Senator Peffer of Kansas, who was appointed by her father to the clerkship of the committee for the examination of the different branches of the civil service, is entitled to the distinction of being the first female clerk to a congressional committee ever appointed. Miss Nellie should be admirably equipped for the duties of her position, and may in fact be said to have performed them for a long time before she received the appointment, for it is a well known fact that the clerk of any of the minor senate committees is virtually but the secretary of the chairman of the committee, and Miss Peffer has assisted her father in that capacity ever since the beginning of the last session of congress. Previous to that she was a stenographer and bookkeeper in the business office of the Kansas Farmer, with which paper her father has been connected for many years.



MISS NELLIE M. PEFFER.

Miss Peffer is extremely businesslike in her treatment of her father's correspondence, opening and reading all his letters and making brief notes of their contents on the outer fold, with the writer's name and address and the date. Her briefing is said to be so well and accurately done that the senator never has to read any of his letters except from choice. In addition to taking care of her father's correspondence with his constituents and others she writes from dictation letters to the heads of departments and bureaus of the government, looks after requests for seeds, directs and franks public documents and keeps a record of books sent and classifies and files letters requiring to be preserved for future reference.

Miss Peffer is a native of Fredonia, Wilson county, Kan., and was educated in the public schools of that state. She graduated from the Topeka high school and subsequently took a course in a business college. She is of a very sympathetic disposition and thoroughly enjoys her life at the national capital.

Through a Pipe to Europe.

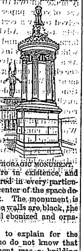
General F. M. Clarke of Fort Worth, Tex., thinks he can shoot people across to Europe through a pneumatic tube under the ocean at the rate of 1,000 miles an hour. He says he has discovered that rubber can be made so as to retain its elasticity in the air and become harder when immersed in sea water. He proposes to sink tubes of this rubber and when they get good and hard to use them for all sorts of transportation. He has the usual hazy notions about the possibility and prevention of accident.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."
STILL ROLLING
St. Helens, England, is the seat of a great business.
BEECHAM'S PILLS are made there. They are a specific for all Nervous and Bilious Disorders arising from Weak Stomach, Impaired Digestion, Disordered Liver and all Female Ailments.
THEY ARE COVERED WITH A TASTELESS AND SOLUBLE COATING.
Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box.
New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

FOR OLD COLLEGE BOYS.

The Greek Letter Fraternities Will Have an Interesting Show at the Fair.

The Greek letter college societies have had space allotted to them and will make an interesting and instructive exhibit at the World's fair. This will include a collection of books, charts and documents relating to the fraternities, bound volumes of their songs, magazines, annuals, etc., and a complete display of all their badges and paraphernalia. But the chief feature of the exhibit will be a reproduction of the choragic monument of Lysicrates, which is said to be the most famous specimen of Corinthian architecture in existence, and which will be restored in every particular and put in the center of the space devoted to the exhibit. The monument is 40 feet high, and the walls are black, the woodwork being all ebonized and ornamented in gilt.



CHORAGIC MONUMENT.

It may be well to explain for the benefit of those who do not know that a choragic monument was a building erected by a victorious chorus leader for the exhibition of the tripod received as a prize in the musical contests in Athens. Besides that of Lysicrates to be reproduced for the fraternities there is another still to be seen in Athens, that of Thrasyllus.

From the safety of their operation in blood letting the leech has been used for more than 2,000 years, and in many cases doctors could hardly dispense with their use.

MILLER & FOOTE,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block. - Crookston, Minn.

FITS STOPPED FREE
Marvelous success.
Insane Persons Restored
DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER
for all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure cure for Nerve Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No Fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send names, P. O. and express address of afflicted to DR. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. See Druggists. BEWARE OF IMITATING FRAUDS.

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the
Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

THE PIONEER HARNESS SHOP,
N. RAUENBUEHLR, Proprietor.
A full supply of everything kept by the trade.
Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, MINN

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE
The Great English Remedy.
Promptly and permanently cures all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses. Been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for Wood's Phosphodine; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, leave his dishonest store, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlet in plain sealed envelope, 2 stamps.
Before and After.
Address, THE WOOD CHEMICAL CO.
131 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.
Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, S. A. Wallace, F. E. Durand and druggists everywhere.

Cook's Cotton Root COMPOUND.
A recent discovery by an old physician. Successfully used monthly by thousands of Ladies. Is the only perfectly safe and reliable medicine discovered. Beware of unprincipled druggists who offer inferior medicines in place of this. Ask for COOK'S COTTON ROOT COMPOUND, take no substitute, or inclose $1 and 6 cents in postage in letter, and we will send, sealed, by return mail. Full sealed particulars in plain envelope, to ladies only, 2 stamps.
Address Pond Lily Company,
No. 3 Fisher Block, Detroit, Mich.
Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, S. A. Wallace, F. E. Durand and druggists everywhere.

C. HENDRICKSON, President. L. ELIASSON, Vice President.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier. H. STEENERSON, 2d Vice President.
F. HANSON, Assistant Cashier.

Scandia-American Bank,
Of Crookston, Minn. Organized 1887 under the State law. Capital $50,000. Surplus, $5,000. Undivided profits, $15,000. Special attention given to collections.
Directors—C. Hendrickson, Grafton, N. D.; C. O. Christianson, [illegible] Steenerson, Nels Ericsson, J. W. Wheeler, E. F. Pierce, [illegible] Aaker, D. H. Turner, A. G. Gallasch, Lewis Ellington, J. H. Locken, O. H. Locken.

S. L. COLLINS,
Proprietor of Main Street
Livery and Feed Stables.
Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., west side,
CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA.
Horses bought and sold on commission. Everything neat and nobby. Feeding a specialty.
FINE HEARSE
in connection, which I will attend to in person.

Valley Roller Mills.
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Manufacturers of
FINE FLOURS
MADE FROM SELECTED RED RIVER HARD WHEAT.
BRANDS:
Patent: Lee & Herrick's Best.
Straight: North Star.
Bakers: Fife.
Low Grade: Skip Jack.
BRAN, SHORTS AND SCREENINGS,
Always on hand at reasonable prices.

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF POLK—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, April 12th, 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Olive Severe, deceased.

On receiving and filing the petition of Edward Severe, of the county of Polk, representing among other things, that Olive Severe, late of the county of Polk, in the state of Minnesota, in February, A. D. 1893, at the county of Polk died intestate, and being an inhabitant of this county at the time of her death, leaving goods, chattels and estate within this county, and that the said petitioner is the surviving husband of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be granted to Edward Severe.

It is ordered that said petition be heard before said court, on [illegible] the [illegible] day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the probate office in the city of Crookston, in said county.

Ordered further, that notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased and to all persons interested, by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in the Polk County Journal, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston, in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 12th day of April, A. D. 1893.

By the Court, F. M. BENSON, Judge of Probate.

[52-3]

THE NEW NORTHWEST
Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana.
FARM LANDS
NEW TOWNS along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. Whitney, St. Paul, Minn., for books, maps, etc. Write now.
Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.
LOW RATES
Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.
Horses, Cattle.
Health, Wealth. In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sweetest [illegible] River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock [illegible]
Sheep, Hogs.
Herds, Mines. These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.

"In no way can Americans so effectually inform themselves on the subjects that claim public attention from month to month as by reading the North American Review."
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
by the Right Men,
At the Right Time.
THE TOPICS are always those which are uppermost in the public mind,—in morals, politics, science, literature, business, finance, industrial economy, social and municipal affairs, etc.,—in short all subjects on which Americans require and desire to be informed. No magazine follows so closely, from month to month, the course of public interest. All subjects are treated of impartially on both sides.
THE CONTRIBUTORS to the Review are the men and women to whom the world looks for the most authoritative statements on the subjects of the day. No other periodical can point to such a succession of distinguished writers. The list is a roll of the people who are making the history, controlling the affairs and leading the opinion of the age, such as Mr. Gladstone, the Prime Minister of England; Mr. Blaine, Signor Crispi, Ex-Prime Minister of Italy; Baron Hirsch, H. R. H. the Count of Paris, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishop Potter, Mme. Adam, [illegible], etc., etc.
THE TIME when these subjects are treated of by these contributors is the very time when the subjects are in the public mind—not a month or two after people have ceased to think of them. The promptitude with which the Review furnishes its readers with the most authoritative information upon the topics of the day is one of its most valuable features.
Subscription Price, $5.00 a year.
THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW,
3 East 14th Street, New York.

A Dollar Saved

is

A Dollar Earned.

DO YOU WANT TO EARN A FEW DOLLARS?

IN THE SPRING OF THE YEAR everyone requires some Garden or Flower Seeds, and we have made arrangements with the Weekly Pioneer Press of St. Paul, whereby we are enabled to distribute

SEEDS FREE OF COST.

And we can also furnish THE WEEKLY PIONEER PRESS cheaper than it can be got any other way.

HERE IS THE OFFER

we are prepared to make.

For $2.00 we will send

	Regul price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
20 packages Garden Vegetable Seeds, retail price	1 25
	$3 75

THIS offer is good to New Subscribers, or to Old Ones paying all arrearages and one year in advance. Cash must accompany the order in every case.

Another Offer.

For $1.85 we will send you

	Regula price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
The Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
An up to date Pocket Map of any State in the Union	1 00
	$3 50

These maps are reliable and up to date, and the map of Illinois includes a map of Chicago, which is valuable to any one contemplating a visit to the World's Fair.

Address:

Polk County Journal

Crookston, Minn.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE
DEFECTIVE PAGE

Polk County Journal.

BY COOKE & HAMMOND.

Devoted to the Welfare of Polk County.

OFFICIAL PAPER, CITY OF CROOKSTON.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

THE underground railroad to Canada is again being worked to its full capacity. This time the Chinese are its patrons.

FEAR of the result probably had much more to do with the attitude of the democratic senators toward investigating Roach than did the constitution.

THE socialists in Brussells appear to be a tough lot of citizens differing only in one respect from our socialists—they are as ready to fight as to talk.

IT is said that her majesty, Queen Victoria, is disposed to recognize the authority of the deposed queen of the Hawaiian Islands as ruler over that country.

IF Emporer William succeeds in forcing his army bill through the Reichstag he will be in a position to give somebody on this side some "pointers" for next winter.

THE president was an easy winner in the first round of his four-year contest with the senatorial wing of his party. With a few exceptions every nomination he made was confirmed, although there were several of them that should not have been.

THE rumor that James J. Hill had been called to Washington to confer with Grover upon the financial condition of the country, seems to have been without foundation. Grover might have done a worse thing however, as there are few if any better financiers in the country.

THE memorial services held in the Peoples' church in St. Paul on Sunday last in honor of Maj. T. M. Newson were largely attended and very impressive. Addresses appropriate to the occasion were made by H. P. Hall, B. B. Herbert, J. A. Johnson and others, and the event was made one long to be remembered by the fraternity.

THE members of the South Carolina congregation which voted to expel the daughter of a widow from the church because she was compelled to work at the telephone exchange several hours on Sunday, must feel proud of their brand of religion. The southern governors who were only the other day trying to devise ways and means to attract people to their states might study this case.

THE president may be called upon when congress meets again to designate the clause in the constitution, or the United States statute, which confers upon the president authority to transfer the authority vested in a legally accredited minister to a foreign country to a man who has no legal status whatever, and this may prove the most difficult task be ever undertook.

GROVER I is the only president who ever sent a man abroad commissioned as "my personal representative" and the result will probably show that the idea is entirely too kingly for plain American stomachs. Blount should be exhibited at the World's fair as the only man who ever tore down the American flag and lived to tell it; but the man who hauls down the American flag is not shot under this administration. He does it by order of the king, Grover I.

GOVERNOR NELSON'S veto of the appropriation for summer training schools may lead some to infer that there will be no training schools this coming summer. This would be entirely erroneous however as the schools are amply provided for by special bills and the money needed was also included in the general appropriation bill in order to be available in case the special bills should fail. The governor's economy does not operate against the educational interests of the state.

THE money sharks on Wall street are very liable to overdo the matter in their manipulations of the gold market as it may lead to the ultimate free coinage of silver if the state of things for which they are largely responsible continues until Congress meets. There is a point beyond which it is not safe to go even with the average congressman, and many of those individuals begin to make all sorts of threats. The Wall street speculator may find, when too late, that he has killed the goose that laid the golden egg.

THE action of Governor Nelson in vetoing items of the appropriation bill to the amount of $237,000 will meet the unqualified approval of every man and every paper in Minnesota that believes in a proper administration of the affairs of state in the interest of the common people. That it required a good deal of back-bone to do this no one knows better than a politician, but then Governor Nelson never lacked for that essential quality.

PROMISES REDEEMED.

The republican party of the state of Minnesota went before the people last fall with certain promises, among them that in case that party was again placed in power, certain reforms, demanded by the farmers and laboring men of the state, should be granted. The chairman of the state central committee, Robert Jamison and the secretary, Tams Bixby have been unremitting during the last session of the legislature, in their endeavors to see that these pledges were carried out and in an interview with the Minneapolis Journal the chairman sums up the results as follows:

"Of the three political parties in Minnesota in 1892 the republican was the only one that in its platform paid any attention to the claims or interests of organized labor in the cities. That party pledged itself to use its influence with the national congress to secure the enactment of some laws national in their character. In addition, it in its platform made the following reference to the laws that should be passed in this state: 'We believe in protecting the laboring man by all necessary and judicious legislation, and to that end we favor the enactment of suitable laws to protect the health, life and limb of all employes of transportation, mining and manufacturing companies while engaged in the service of such companies.' Now the legislature elected on this platform has adjourned it is worth while to note how fully this pledge has been kept.

One of the first measures of general interest to be enacted was the Wyman factory act, H. F. 95, an act for the protection of employes. This is one of the most comprehensive factory acts on the statute books of any state or nation. It embodies in one act the substance of all the past legislation of Massachusetts and New York upon the subject of protection to the lives, limbs and health of workmen in manufacturing establishments. It further provides for the report of all the accidents in the mines of the state, as well as in the factories and kindred places.

The next act, in relative importance, to be passed this session was the one introduced by Mr. Howard, house file 426, giving additional powers to the bureau of labor. This act makes it the duty of the bureau to enforce all the existing laws or laws hereafter enacted for the protection of the working people. This will change a number of laws passed in years ago from dead letters into active measures. It is the guarantee that the party in power means to do something in fact as well as in word for the working people of Minnesota. This act goes farther and shows the intent of the republican party to put into law all wise measures for the good of the toilers. It provides for the inspection of the mines of the state with a view of gaining by such investigation the data for the protection of the miners as is now afforded by the Wyman factory act. The present Wyman act is the conclusions reached by the bureau of labor from its investigations of the factories the past two years. Under this amended bureau act that department will now be able to gather the data for a thorough and equitable mining act two years hence.

A third act passed by the legislature this session in accordance with the last party pledge is found in the amendment to the penal code, senate file 86. This is an act to prevent cruelty to children and is in some respects one of the best child labor acts, as well as child protective acts in the Union. It provides, among other things, that no child under 16 years shall work in any one day more than 10 hours in any factory, workshop or mercantile establishment, or work at any labor of any kind outside of the family before 7 o'clock in the morning or after 6 o'clock at night. This act also so defines cruelty to children as practically prohibit the employment of children in operating any dangerous machinery in factories.

A fourth law of the same general nature was senate file 266, compelling street railway companies to protect their employes in the winter by vestibuling their cars. These four acts practically cover the party pledge of 1892. No instance can be found where legislation in any session has so fully carried out the pre-election pledges.

In addition to the foregoing, covered by those election pledges, this legislature became the first in the nation to formally recognize the right of men to form labor organizations and to protect them in that right. This was done by house file 36, the so-called anti-iron clad laws. Other states have this winter passed similar laws, but Minnesota leads them in the date of the passage of the same.

The legislature, by house file 262, provides for the protection of organized labor in the use of its labels. This, like the preceding act, shows the aim of the body to place organized labor upon the same legal footing as organized capital. The foregoing, with the house file 465 making Labor Day a legal holiday, and house file 448, a lien law for the protection of labor and material men, make up a body of labor legislation equal in value to all previous so-called labor laws passed in Minnesota and of greater value than the body of labors on the statute books of the average state in the union. Surely the working people of the state of Minnesota cannot say that the republican party has not kept it pledges to them or been inconsiderate to their interests."

In a more general way, Mr. Jamison refers to the farmer legislation, for the reason that considerable attention has already been given to it by the republican press over the state and the people are pretty familiar with the bills that were passed, by reason of the agitation attending their passage. He says:

"The elevator bill, which has become a law, received the support of the people and without doubt its practical operation will prove the wisdom of the mases in urging its passage.

The Duluth elevator bill was emphatically endorsed by the farming communities. The republican party, in hopes that the passage of the same would in a measure relieve the farmers of the state, lent its aid to the bill and made it a law.

Many other bills of less importance were passed, showing that the interests of our wheat growers were not lost sight of.

Many bills of vast importance to the people in general passed the house, which was republican, but unfortunately were killed in the senate, where the republicans were in the minority.

The Markham bill, providing for the taxation of unused railroad lands, and the bill providing for the taxation of sleeping car companies, shared this fate. They were republican measures and will eventually become laws through the efforts of the republican party.

The tax levy was reduced very materially, which is an item of signal importance, legislative expenses decreased and withal the interest of the people guarded."

JUST now the St. Paul daily Globe is jumping on to the Governor's neck because he had the manly independence to veto certain items of the omnibus appropriation bill, and trying to make out that the governor had made enemies by the wholesale by trying to use a healthful economy in expending the people's money. The burden of the Globe's song just now is that the people of Minneapolis are all mad at him because he vetoed a $2,500 appropriation for the Minneapolis Exposition. What earthly interest have the people of Minnesota in a purely local matter like the Minneapolis exposition, and why should the tax-payers of the state be taxed to support it? We imagine that for one enemy Governor Nelson makes in Minneapolis by vetoing that bill, he will make ten friends in the state at large. Again, the Globe is distressed in its mind because the governor vetoed the soldiers cemetery bill and says that "all old soldiers will now be down on Governor Nelson for that reason." Just as though all the old boys in blue didn't know full well that Corporal Nelson was with them in the fierce storms of shot and shell during the sixties, when the present head of the Globe, Lewis Baker, was a bushwhacker, or what was worse a traitorous copperhead. Just as if the old Grand Army boys didn't know full well that just as sure as Corporal Nelson was with them in the time that tried men's souls just so sure is Governor Nelson with them now and will take no steps against their best interests now. Governor Nelson understands far better than such a man as Lewis Baker can tell him what is for the interests of the old soldiers, and right well they know it. The trouble with the Globe is that it predicted during the campaign that the "ignorant Norwegian, if elected, would make a wretched botch of it," and is now consumed with jealousy because Governor Nelson has given the lie direct to all of the Globe's slanders by making one of the best governor's Minnesota ever had. All honor to Knute Nelson for standing up for the rights of the common people.

Governor Nelson signed the appropriation bill after cutting it down $237,000. The following items were vetoed:

Reward for taking horse thieves. $5,000.

For the payment of referees in the district court, $2,000.

For the purchase of additional land for the Rochester insane asylum, $4,000.

For the purchase of a soldiers' burial lot in Lakewood cemetery, $2,000.

For the reimbursement of Kilroe Bros., $2,000.

For additional land, Minnesota institute for defectives, $12,000.

For the new custodian building, school for the feeble minded, $3,500.

For the St. Cloud Normal, new buildings, $12,000.

Rochester insane asylum, new floors in the old buildings, and for an ice house and cold storage plant, $26,000.

Gymnasium at the Fergus Falls asylum, $10,000.

Barn and electric light plant at the blind asylum, $3,000.

Electric light plant at the school for the feeble minded, $7,000.

Heat and light plant at the reform school at Owatonna, $4,000

State prison, running expenses, $12,100.

State prison, running expenses, $12,360.

The nation guard, a rifle range at Lake City, $4,000.

Wolf bounties, for the year ending July 31, 1895, $25,000.

For premiums at the Minneapolis exposition, $2,500.

For the state board of health, additional expenses, $1,000.

For reimbursing of Dr. Losius, for a suit brought by him against the state board of medical examiners, $59.

For summer training schools for teachers, $20,000, and annually hereafter.

For the additional support of the state high school, $10,000. and annually hereafter.

For the state university, for current expenses 1893, $25,000.

For the state university, current expenses, 1894, $25,000.

For the state university, beautifying the campus, by building sidewalk, etc., $10,800.

The following letter from friend Nichols will explain itself to all who are interested:

FERTILE, Minn., April 20th, 1893.

EDITORS JOURNAL:—Will you kindly make known to the farmer readers of your paper that I have received today a certificate of membership to the Advisory Council on farm culture and cereal industry which convenes in Chicago, Oct. 16th. As a representative of this county, the chief of the Agricultural department of World's Columbian Exposition has set aside a room for the auxilary headquarters, and the room will be opened each day of the fair, attended by an employe of the World's congress auxilary who will by receipt of a letter of introduction from the representative of his county introduce him to other farmers, or I shall inquire farther into the workings and benefits of this congress and report same in future issue of your paper. Farmers visiting World's fair should write at an early date as possible to me for such letter.

Yours,
J. S. NICHOLS.

Windom's Way the Best.

Minneapolis Evening Journal

The heavy drain of gold has renewed the rumors of bond issues, especially as Secretary Carlisle has suspended the issue of gold certificates because the amount of gold coin and bullion in the greenback redemption fund has fallen below $100,000,000 by the operations of last week. This redemption fund of $100,000,000 was, by a proviso, adopted as an amendment to the national banking law in 1882, reserved specially for the redeption of greenbacks. The secretary respects the law.

But it is to be hoped that the talk of issuing bonds and increasing the public debt will not be actualized. There are other ways of meeting the difficulty. The depletion of the treasury free gold is due to the policy of paying out gold in exchange for notes which are payable in either gold or silver, and such notes are issued against the purchase of silver bullion at the rate of about $5,000,000 amount while the silver on which the notes are based instead of supporting them keeps dropping to a lower price.

It is obvious that people who like this policy and insist upon its perpetuity are one day going to get their fill of it and to their own discomfiture, as well as that of the nation. It would have been infinitely better for the country if the demand for a larger use of silver halted at the proposition of the late Sectary Windom and adopted it. That plan provided for the use of notes representing silver bullion at the market value of the day, and they were to be made receivable for customs, taxes and all public debts, and be used as reserves for national banks. This was a simple and practical way of using silver as stable money. Under it, silver would be paid out at its commercial value. If the present silver purchases are to be kept up it is evident that the government cannot continue always to redeem the notes issued against the silver bullion with gold. Secretary Windom's plan commends itself for practicality over all others.

Literary Blunders.

We all make and we all meet with many amusing literary blunders. The worst of it is that we readily forget them. Every one should keep a book of these delightful things, which please us with a sudden sense of superiority. Among misprints is knises. "Some swing on hooks, some run knises through their hands," said an article in The Edinburgh Review. Here every one would emend by knives or krisses—knives was the real reading. In "The Monastery" Scott wrote about "nursing evil passions." This was printed "morsing," and the verb "to morse" was defended by writers in Notes and Queries.

It has lately been pointed out that in the "Surgeon's Daughter" Scott is made to say that the "nautch girls perfume their voluptuous eastern domes," whereas the real reading must be "perform their voluptuous eastern dances." But we are not aware that the coquille has been corrected. In "Pendennis" a boy is said to excel in "running and pumping." This must mean "jumping," though the actual competition would have its merits. There are no ridings in Yorkshire, triding is the right word, but there is a "World Riding" in Mr. Morris' "Heimskringla."

A Dollar Saved

IS

A Dollar Earned.

DO YOU
WANT
TO EARN A
FEW DOLLARS?

IN THE SPRING OF THE YEAR everyone requires some Garden or Flower Seeds, and we have made arrangements with the Weekly Pioneer Press of St. Paul, whereby we are enabled to distribute

SEEDS
FREE
OF
COST.

And we can also furnish THE WEEKLY PIONEER PRESS cheaper than it can be got any other way.

HERE IS THE OFFER we are prepared to make.

For $2.00 we will send	Regul
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
20 packages Garden Vegetable Seeds, retail price	1 25
	$3 75

THIS offer is good to New Subscribers, or to Old Ones paying all arrearages and one year in advance. Cash must accompany the order in every case.

Another Offer.

For $1.85 we will send you	Regular price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year	$1 00
The Polk County Journal 1 year	1 50
An "up to date" Pocket Map of any State in the Union	1 00
	$3 50

These maps are reliable and "up to date," and the map of Illinois includes a map of Chicago, which is valuable to any one contemplating a visit to the World's Fair.

Address

Polk County Journal,

Crookston, Minn.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

Euclid Items.

From our regular correspondent.

EUCLID, April, 26 1893.

H. H. Howard came down from Warren to visit with friends last week.

Miss Maud Kennon spent several days last week visiting her brother Will.

P. Fairweather made a business trip to Argyle Saturday.

Peter Stuhr had the misfortune to loose a valuable mare Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson are happy over the arrival of a bouncing baby boy. Now George has a prefix to his name, papa George. Mother and son are doing nicely.

John Gilstaff has rented the west half of section six, town of Euclid of Peter Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrington came over from Grand Forks Saturday to make their many friends a visit.

E. D. Childs came up Monday to look after his farming interests here.

Miss Hattie Davidson who has been attending school in Crookston was summoned home by a telegram Saturday. Her mother being threatened with typhoid fever.

Miss Gertie Mellott who has been living with Mr. and Mrs. I. W. C. Misner, left Monday night for Duluth where she has gone to live with her sister, Mrs. Merrill.

Owing to the absence of the school teacher, Mr. J. R. Regan, the scholars had a holiday Tuesday.

Mrs. C. E. Misner and daughter. Pearl, came up Tuesday morning to visit with friends here.

Parties who attended the Nye-Burbank entertainment Tuesday night, speak very favorable of Mr. Burbank but they were very much disappointed in the so-called Bill Nye.

Miss Chick Fairweather went up to Warren Tuesday.

It is reported that seeding commenced on the Pembina ridge east of Euclid.

F. R. Stephens, of Angus, came down on business Tuesday.

Julius Berg wishes to notify the public that he will not be responsible for any bills that his wife may contract, as she has left his bed and board.

Captain L. S. Hancock and daughter Ruth, went down to Crookston to see Bill Nye.

Herding.

The undersigned will have about 800 acres pasture on sections 36, 1 and 26, town 150, range 45, at Gentilly, 70 acres of which stock return from to barnyard at night. Two flowing wells on pasture ground. Terms: cattle $1.25, sheep 25 cents and lambs 12½ cents for the season.

JOSEPH BACON,
At the residence of Joseph Laframboise, Gentilly, Minn. 51-53

Viava remedies for sale by Mrs. John Wyatt, sole agent for Polk county, Sano, sure cure for piles. I. O. O, F. block. [39-tf]

Lane's Medicine Moves the Bowels Each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal. They are the best family cathartic.

A Superb Offer to Young Men and Women.

To every young man and woman sending us thirty (30) subscribers to "The Literary Northwest" at $2.00 per annum, accompanied by the cash therefor, we will present a certificate entitling the recipient to a six (6) months daily course in Shorthand and Typewriting, or Telegraphy, in a high-class Business School in St. Paul, Minnesota.

To every young man and woman sending us fifteen (15) subscribers to "The Literary Northwest" accompanied by the cash therefor, at $2.00 each per annum, we will give the choice of taking either a six (6) months course of Shorthand and Typewriting, or a three (3) months course of daily instruction in Telegraphy. These offers are open until further printed notice.

The cost of the six months daily instruction in Shorthand at all good schools is $50.00 a term and $25.00 by mail.

The cost of six months is $25.00. This shows the value of our offer, and it will show the future business value of the enterprising persons who take advantage of it.

Address all communications to the Literary Northwest,
Merrill Building.,
St. Paul, Minn.

Boston English.

George—Why so gloomy?

John—I am desperately in love with a Boston girl, and she said something last night that fills me with alternate hope and despair, because I don't know what she meant. She never sounds the "r," and she always gives "a" the broad sound.

George—Well?

John—Well, I don't know whether she was talking about her heart or her hat.

THE WEEK'S NEWS.

Wednesday, April 19.

The Earl of Craven and Miss Cornelia Martin were married at New York Tuesday.

The immense Ljusna Voxna sawing works at Soederhamn, on an inlet of the Gulf of Bothnia, have been destroyed by fire. Loss $600,000.

The Mississippi Valley Rowing association will hold its annual regatta at Minnetonka this summer under the auspices of the Minneapolis Carnival association.

Surveyors are at work on the proposed electric line between Stillwater and St. Paul, and it will probably be constructed this season. The road will go around by way of Wildwood.

The Canadian Pacific has announced that it will make a one-fare rate from all its Western points to points in Eastern Canada, good for the return by way of Chicago. This is the lowest rate yet granted to the exposition.

The surveyor general of the marine hospital service has directed an investigation of the report that cholera has broken out at Winnipeg. Reports from Halifax confirmed the story of sickness on board and the baggage fumigated.

Thursday, April 20.

It is officially stated that the German emperor will visit the pope April 28.

Theresa Bouden, aged 104, died at the Home for the Aged in St. Paul Wednesday.

Western passenger agents have been unable to agree on world's fair rates, and a war is likely.

The Thingvalla line has officially announced the purchase of the White Star line's steamship Celtic.

Forty houses at Sliveno, a village of Bohemia, have been destroyed by fire. Four persons were killed and several injured.

Herr Krupp will present his big gun to Chicago after the world's fair is over. It will be placed in a fort on the lake front.

Attorney General Olney has appointed Edwin Corr of Bloomington, Ind., assistant United States district attorney for the State of Indiana.

Friday, April 31.

The Australian Joint Stock bank has failed for $65,000,000.

Edwin Booth is improving. Physicians deny that he was stricken with paralysis.

The remains of Charles Longfellow, eldest son of the deceased poet, were cremated at Germantown, Pa.

The mother of Carlyle Harris claims to have discovered important evidence in her son's case in Massachusetts.

Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria and Princess Marie Louise, daughter of the Duke of Panma, were married Thursday.

Mme. Romero, wife of the Mexican minister, has been appointed to represent the republic of Mexico upon the Columbian liberty bell committee.

Saturday, April 22.

Champion Corbett is reported to be going into consumption.

Receivers have been appointed for the Pennsylvania Steel company. Liabilities, $4,000,000.

The czar has signed the new treaty with the United States and the ratifications have been exchanged.

The home rule bill passed its second reading in the house of commons, the vote being 347 to 304.

All the free gold of the United States treasury is gone and $5,000,000 has been taken from the $100,000,000 reserve.

A man who is thought to have started some of the extensive fires in Milwaukee during the past six months has been arrested.

The Austrian government announces that it will not grant an exequatur to Max Judd as United States consul general at Vienna because of his former Austrian allegiance.

Monday, April 24.

Navigation on the Welland canal has opened.

There are 678 applications on file in the war department for one appointment.

Secretary of Agriculture Morton has received a letter of congratlation from Minister Egan.

Clara Shepherdson, wife of J. H. Shepherdson, proprietor of the Windsor hotel, Des Moines, has sued for divorce and $20,000 alimony.

The emperor and empress of Germany visited the Vatican Sunday and paid their respects to the pope. The interview lasted half an hour.

The fortieth anniversary of the installation of Rev. Dr. Sunderland as pastor ot the First Presbyterian church of Washington has just been celebrated.

The anniversary of Shakespeare's birthday was celebrated Sunday at Stratford on Avon. A procession marched to Shakespeare's tomb and covered it with lilies.

Tuesday, April 25.

The English budget shows a deficit of $7,870,000.

Henry Villard will send an exploring expedition to South America at his own expense.

It is reported President Cleveland will have an office outside the White House, using that building only as a residence.

A man, wife and two sons were murdered in Italy because one of the sons had informed the police of the haunts of brigands.

Colonel Clarke K. Royce, treasurer of the California Veterans' Home association, is short in his accounts from $20,000 to $40,000.

Secretary Morton has appointed Major K. H. C. Dunwoody as assistant chief of the weather bureau, vice Major S. S. Rockwood, resigned. Major Dunwoody has been connected with the weather bureau for many years.

STARTED FOR NEW YORK.

The Naval Rendezvous at Hampton Roads Broken Up.

FORT-MONROE, Va., April 24.—The naval rendezvous at Hampton Roads is now a thing of the past and will go down into history as one of the most brilliant marine pageants of modern times. The officers and men on the fleet were up and stirring at an early hour, getting things in readiness for start which was fixed for 9 o'clock. It was 9:30, however, before the Philadelphia got under way and started up the Roads to the west end of the fleet. She was quickly followed by the Newark, Atlanta, San Francisco, Bancroft, Bennington and Baltimore, of Admiral Benham's squadron, and the Chicago, Yorktown; Charleston, Vesuvius and Concord of the second squadron under Admiral Walker. Upon arriving at a point about five miles away the White squadron wheeled into line and came down past the fort and stood out to sea.

Watched the Maneuvers.

In the meantime the Dolphin, with Secretary Herbert and party, got under way and steamed up the Roads with one fleet until they turned, where she remained to observe the movements of the other vessels. The White Squadron came down the Roads and was joined by the Holland ship Van Speyk and the two German vessels Kaiserin Augusta and Zeidler, which completed the first or port column. At the head of the starboard column came the British fleet, with Vice Admiral Hopkins as commander-in-chief, and consisting of the Blake as the flagship, the Australia, the Magicienne and Tartar. Russia came next, with Vice Admiral Kosenkoff, commander-in-chief, on the flagship Dimitri Donoski, followed by the General Admiral and the Rynda. Italy came next under Rear Admiral Magnaghi, with the Aetna and Giovanna Bauhn. Brazil brought up the rear of the column with Admiral Julio Cæsar D'Nornenta as commander-in-chief, on the Aquidaban, accompanied by the Tiraxentes and the Republica.

COLUMBUS CARAVELS

Arrive at Hampton Roads and Are Given a Great Reception.

FORTRESS MONROE, Va., April 22.—The three Columbus caravels arrived here at 10:30 a. m. in tow of the three Spanish war ships, and were received with great thunders of salutes and display of flags of the countries represented by the fleets and dropped anchor at the end of the American line.

Spanish Fleet at New York.

NEW YORK, April 24.—The Spanish fleet anchored in Gravesend bay at 12:10 a. m.

Souvenir Quarter Dollars.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The director of the mint, with the approval of Secretary Carlisle, has determined on the designs for the souvenir quarter dollars, and has forwarded to the board of lady managers for their opinion two models of the head of Isabella, which will appear on the face of the coin.

Booth Improving.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Edwin Booth's condition is improved. Dr. Smith called at the Players' club at 10:30 p. m., and after remaining with his patient an hour said: "Mr. Booth is doing well. I think the danger of death is passed, but of course there is still grave fears."

Mrs. Hancock's Funeral.

ST. LOUIS, April 24.—In a terrific downpour of rain the body of Mrs. Hancock, widow of General W. S. Hancock, was laid to rest in the family vault at Bellefontain cemetery, at noon. No services were held and only the relatives and two or three friends were present.

Harrison Surprises the Gamblers.

CHICAGO, April 24.—Mayor Harrison paralyzed the gamblers by issuing an order calling upon all keepers of gambling houses to close their places within 24 hours.

LATEST MARKET REPORT.

St. Paul Union Stock Yards.

SOUTH ST. PAUL, April 25, 1893.

HOGS—10c higher; market active. Range of prices, $7.30@7.40.

CATTLE—Market steady. Fair demand for butcher cattle; stockers and feeders wanted. Prime steers, $4.25@4.50; good steers, $3.75@4.25; prime cows, $3.25@3.75; good cows, $2.75@3.15; common to fair cows, $1.50@2.50; light veal calves, $3.50@4.50; heavy calves, $2.00@3.00; stockers, $2.25@3.25; feeders, $2.75@3.25; bulls, $1.50@2.75.

SHEEP—Steady. Muttons, $3.75@5.00; lambs, $4.00@5.00; stockers and feeders, $3.00@4.50.

Receipts—Cattle, 100; hogs, 100; calves, 5.

Minneapolis Grain.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 25, 1893.

WHEAT—May opened, 64¼c; highest, 64¾c; lowest, 64c; closed, 64c. July opened at 65⅝c; highest, 68¾c; lowest, 67⅝c; closed 67¾c. On Track—No. 1 hard, 68c; No. 1 Northern, 66c; No. 2 Northern, 64c.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO UNION STOCK YARDS, April 25, 1893.

CATTLE—Firm.

HOGS—Strong and 5c higher. Heavy, $7.55@7.75; mixed and medium, $7.50@7.75; light, $7.25@7.65.

SHEEP—Strong.

Receipts:—Cattle, 15,000; hogs, 22,000; sheep, 12,000.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, April 25, 1893.

OPENING PRICES.

WHEAT—May, 72⅝c; July, 74¾c; September, 75⅝c.

CORN—May, 41⅝c; July, 43¾c; September, 44¼c.

OATS—May, 27c; July, 28¾c; September, 28⅛@26⅝c.

PORK—May, $17.20, July, $17.50; September, $17.75.

LARD—July, $10.07½; September, $10.22½.

SHORT RIBS—May, $9.82½; July, $9.70; September, $9.75.

CLOSING PRICES.

WHEAT—April, 72c; May, 72⅜c; July, 74¾c; September, 76c.

CORN—April, 41¼c; May, 41⅜c; July, 43⅝@43¾c; September, 44⅝c.

OATS—April, 28⅞c; May, 28⅜@28¾c; July, 28⅝@28¾c; September, 27c.

PORK—April, $17.40; May, $17.45; July, $17.80; September, $18.07½.

LARD—April, $9.92½; May, $9.95; July, $10.10; September, $10.27½.

SHORT RIBS—April, $9.75; May, $9.75; July July, $9.65; September, $9.75.

THE LEGISLATURE

TWENTY-EIGHTH SESSION.

Tuesday, April 18.

ST. PAUL, April 18.—The last session of the legislature began in the senate at 10 a. m. and in in the house at 11, and all the statutory life of both branches was consumed in the usual biennial batch of resolutions.

Among recognitions unanimously regarded as meritorious that went through the house was the equalizing of the pay of the floor employes of the house with those of the senate, and the recognition of Reading Clerk Deakin by making his pay $7.50 per day for the whole time he served. Majority report of the lumber committee exonerating Markham was adopted.

At 1:30 the fusilade of speeches ended, and after the presentation of a group picture to the speaker by the members, and the presentation of a gold headed cane by Chief Clerk Johnson on behalf of the employes—the house at 2 o'clock adjourned sine die.

In the senate the resolutions increasing the pay of the pages to $3 per day and the file clerks to $3.50 was called up and adopted. The secretary, enrolling clerk and engrossing clerk were also made happy by an additional $150 apiece and the clerk of the coal combine committee got an extra $100.

Senator Donnelly then came forward and in a pleasing speech presented President Clough a framed group picture of the members of the senate. Senator Sanborn was then elected president pro tem of the senate by a strictly party vote. McHale receiving the Democratic vote and Lommen the Populist. The senate then adjourned.

MINNESOTA NEWS ITEMS.

The ice has gone out of Lake Pepin.

A state association Sons of the Revolution has been formed in St. Paul.

The St. Paul presbytery began its annual session at Hastings Tuesday evening.

The Eastern Minnesota Baptist association will hold its annual meeting with the Baptist church at Hastings May 3 and 4.

Hans A. Cleath, a clever forger, has been run in by St. Paul police. He has swindled many firms with bogus checks for small amounts.

H. E. Hoard, chief of division in the customs office in the treasury department, has been asked to resign. Hoard is proprietor of the Montevideo, Minn., Leader.

Dover is to have a newspaper.

The first night of the Charity Kirmess at St. Paul netted $800 for the day nursery.

The earnings of the state grain inspection department for March were $6,126.73.

Edward James Luther of Duluth has been commissioned captain of Company H, Third regiment, M. N. G.

Thomas Truman and John Martin, accused of robbing the Alexandria postoffice, are in the Ramsey county jail.

The unknown man who was killed by a Burlington motor Monday has been identified as Nels Nelson of Langdon.

Therese Borden, who was probably the oldest person in the state, died of pneumonia Tuesday at the home of the Little Sisters of the Poor, St. Paul, aged 104 years.

Seth Clear Eyes, a young Indian who has been attending the government school at Carlisle, Pa., made a desperate attempt at suicide in the Union depot barber shop, St. Paul. He slashed his throat.

Representative Sikorski of Winona, is seriously ill at St. Paul.

Yuk Humm is the second Chinaman registered in Minnesota. He lives at Hastings.

Editor Shaw of the Fargo Argus has bought a half interest in the St. Paul Daily News.

Governor Nelson has vetoed 12 bills and scaled the general appropriation bill $237,000.

A new bank, the Metropolitan National, will begin business in St. Paul about June 1.

L. B. Friske, one of Stearns county's prominent citizens, was killed by a snowplow at Sauk Center.

The postoffice has been re-established at Lyndale, Hennepin county, Minn., John C. Johnson, postmaster.

The insurance commissioner of Indiana has blacklisted the Fergus Falls Live Stock insurance company.

Fergus Falls saloons have closed, last year's licenses having expired. Prohibitionists won the last election.

The flour milling firm of Gill & Wright, of Duluth, operating two small mills of combined capacity of 900 barrels daily, has suspended payment.

Seven carloads of cattle were snowed in on the Great Northern road between Granite Falls and Hanley Falls during the recent storm. When they were unloaded at Granite Falls it was found that 75 out of 186 in the cars were dead.

The articles of incorporation of the Duluth, Rice Lake and Western Railway company have been filed with the secretary of state. The company is incorporated to build a railroad from Duluth to some point on the Canadian boundary line.

Austin is to have a new bank, the Citizens' National, with a capital of $50,000.

Memorial services were held Sunday under the auspices of the St. Paul Press club, in honor of the late Major Newson.

Robert Knox, a former citizen of Minneapolis, has been sentenced to four years and four months at the City of Mexico for forgery.

Frank W. Farnham of Duluth has been appointed by the governor chief deputy game warden under the new game and fish law.

The Second regiment, M. N. G., will be inspected as follows: Company A. May 5; B, April 25; C, April 29; D, April 28; E, May 1; F, May 6; G, April 26; H, May 18; K, May 8.

The discovery has been made that the legislature failed to authorize the issue of school bonds by any city in the state. The omission may prove a serious matter in some of the larger cities.

Money to Loan

On city property, business and dwelling—at 6½ per cent per annum. For full particulars call on P. J. Russell, 25 and 26 Reckitt block, Crookston, Minn. [47tf]

For Sale.

One pair of good farm mares and two or three extra good, new milch cows. For further particulars address.

[49-2] F. BIVINS & SON, Crookston, Minn.

COUGHING LEADS TO CONSUMPTION Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

Hood's Cures

Saved From the Grave

Scrofula in Face and Neck—Blind at Times

Hood's Sarsaparilla Restored Health—Gained 33 Pounds in Weight.

Mr. Wm. Erick
West Duluth, Minn.

"I have been a very great sufferer from a serious case of scrofula. First, a large bunch came in my neck growing as big as a good sized apple. It was as hard as bone, and after drawing it to a head the doctor lanced it, and for two years

It Was a Running Sore.

Then we succeeded in healing it up, but the disease began to appear in my face, which would swell up and affect my eyes so that every morning they were so inflamed and swollen that I was blind. The swelling would subside in the middle of the afternoon so that I could see a little. Well, I was in this condition for about a year. I went to every physician in my town, all of whom failed to help me and said nothing could be done to cure me. But I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had used a bottle and a half, the swelling in my face had entirely gone down. I kept on taking the medicine, and gained 33 pounds in weight.

I Have Been Perfectly Cured

am now in good health, and confidently say Hood's Sarsaparilla saved me from the grave. Today I am looking as stout and hearty as ever

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

in my life, and I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to anyone suffering from blood diseases." WILLIAM ERICK, West Duluth, Minn.

Hood's Pills do not purge, pain or gripe, but act promptly, easily and efficiently. 25c.

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, county of Polk,—ss. In Probate Court, special term, April 21st, 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Charles W. Wright, deceased:

On reading and filing the petition of A. M. Childs administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Charles W. Wright, deceased representing among other things, that he has fully administered said estate and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

It is ordered, that said account be examined, and petition heard by this court on Monday the 22nd day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate office in the city of Crookston in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 21st day of April A. D. 1893.

By the Court,
C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.

(2-5)

Come quick and get some of my A No. 1 dry maple before it is all gone. I have green ash, also that cannot be beat. Prices of dry oak, birch, tamarac and poplar still very low. All kinds of wood sawed as you want it at very cheap rate. My feed mill runs every day until April 1st and longer if necessary Feed ground for cash or toll. Low rates for large quantities. Call and see me.

W. H. NORRIE,
Corner Main and Third Streets.

The Crookston Belle—Kœppe's new cigar, is as fine as silk. Try it.

I need money and will sell you goods at greatly reduced prices.

A. CHABOT.

King David.

This celebrated Clyde Stallion will stand for the season of 1893 as follows: Monday, J. B. Roome's; Tuesday, L. H. Judson's; Wednesday, Helmick Bros.; Thursday, John Sylvesterson's; Friday and Saturday at S. L. Collins' Stable, Crookston.

This full blooded Clyde Stallion was purchased of an old reliable firm who make a specialty of importing the best stock and blood that can be found in the old country. This horse was bought by the Andover Stock Company two years ago at a large expense and can show more A No. 1 colts than any other horse ever brought to Polk county. He is a sound bodied, heavy limbed, horse of dark bay color and weighs over 1,700 pounds.

TERMS—Insure, $15; Season, $10.

For further particulars enquire of

A. E. HELMICK,
(1-8) Manager.

THE CROOKSTON

GROCERY CO.

W. E. SLOCUM, Manager.

IS NOW

OPEN FOR BUSINESS.

BIG BARGAINS IN

GROCERIES, CROCKERY AND LAMPS.

AT THE OLD STAND
OF BARNES & SLOCUM

On Robert Street, Crookston, Minn.

THIS SPACE
BELONGS TO

L. I. BENOIT,

THE

Cheap Cash Grocer

Who will use it to keep Journal readers posted on the BARGAINS HE OFFERS.

Don't take our word, but call and see

L. I. BENOIT,

At the New Store on Broadway, - - Crookston, Minn.

A DAY AT JACKSON PARK.

Trip by the Water Route to the White City.

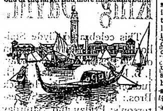
AN ITINERARY FOR VISITORS.

How to Get a Fleeting Glimpse of the Great Show and Lay the Foundation For a More Thorough Inspection of Its Marvels—An Evening Visit.

Can one see the World's fair in one day? Well, he can see a great deal of it, much more than one would think. In truth, a very good general view can be taken in a day, including the evening, though of course there are many buildings the details of each of which would occupy many days. Here is the itinerary for one day.

First, it is to be a bright and pleasantly warm May day, and so the first visit should by all means be made by water. We will start at the Van Buren street dock. The World's Fair Steamship company, which owns the dock, has four big boats running between Van Buren street and the World's fair grounds—vessels amply able to carry 15,000 passengers every hour, and if a crush comes the company operates enough smaller craft to double this capacity, not to mention the number of people the independent lines will carry.

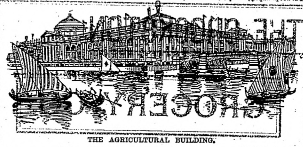
We are taking the best possible method of seeing the buildings of the "White City." Not only can the very best view of the fair in its entirety be had from the water—that is, from out here on the lake—but every one of the most important buildings is to be seen to best advantage either from the lake or from the canals and ponds inside the grounds. From the water, too, every one of the larger and more important buildings is immediately accessible. The whole fair was built with these ends in view, and the plans have been magnificently carried out. That's why we are going by water to get our first view of the exposition.



GAY GONDOLIERS.

Many will debark at the North pier, but let us go down to the farther pier and begin at Alpha—that is, the great peristyle representing Alpha. Pleasure boats and yachts can land as well as steamers. On the south side of the pier as we land you can see the government's model battleship. Once ashore, we'll take a round on the movable sidewalk. It's nearly half a mile long, and we can get a magnificent view of the fair buildings and Lake Michigan as well from it. Now if only this plan could be worked in cities, what a lot of shoe leather we might save!

Out there is the anchorage for big vessels. Closer in the pleasure yachts and smaller craft will anchor—that is, they will tackle themselves up to those anchored buoys you see out there. At night the buoys will be illumined by electric lights. There is an anchorage also for visiting yachts and the like up at Van Buren street pier.



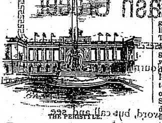
THE AGRICULTURAL BUILDING.

First to be glanced through are the Casino and Music hall. The next thing is to try a boat—a gondola, of course, for the novelty of the thing. This is the main landing for the pleasure craft on the grounds on the south side of the basin, just north of the Agricultural building. The electric and steam launches have to make regular round trips, once every hour, covering the 3-mile course. There are so many of them—40 electric and 24 steam launches—that they have to be kept moving with some regularity, excepting, of course, the steam launches in their afternoon and evening trips out into the lake. Maybe we'll go out in one before we get through. They start from this landing.

We first float by the Agricultural building. Our gondolier (he's genuine—a real Italian) must keep close into shore while we take a good look at the buildings as we pass them. Here we turn into the South canal and view the west end of the Agricultural building. You will see the annex presently. The Agricultural building is 800 feet long and 500 feet in width, and the annex is 300 by 550 feet—a matter of 13 acres covered by these two buildings.

These are the electric fountains at the lower end of South canal. They are among the great attractions at night. Over there, past the colonnade, is the stock pavilion, and beyond that are the exhibit yards.

Here on the west side of the canal is Machinery hall, next to the Manufactures building the largest structure on the grounds. It runs with its annex nearly 1,400 feet east and west. We will get a good look at it in a few moments, when we make a halt in the west end of the basin.



THE PERISTYLE.

Here we are at the MacMonnies fountain. That is the Administration building beyond. In the square to the north of it are the Electricity and the Mines and Mining buildings. You can see two sides of the Electricity building, but only the south end of the Mines and Mining. These two structures are about of a size, the former covering 5.5 acres and the latter 5.6.

You saw the south end of the Manufactures building. We'll go up through North canal now and take a good look at it broad side. Yes, it is a pretty good sized building—something very close to a third of a mile long. It is 787 by 1,687 feet and covers 30½ acres.

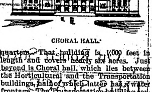
Up here, past the Manufactures, is the Government building, which occupies 3.3 acres. We are passing up the lagoon now, between the wooded island and the east shore. We must take a walk about that island before we are through—now through this inlet at the right, leading out to the lake. Here on our left is the Fisheries building. It, with its two annexes spreading out on each side of it like a pair of wings, occupies nearly 100,000 feet of ground space.

Beyond this, on the left, right and before us, are the fire and guard station, the life saving station, the clambake, the lighthouse exhibit, weather bureau station, and so on. On the left are some of the foreign buildings, among them those of Great Britain, Russia, France, Germany and Sweden.

Now we will turn round and paddle up into North pond. We repass the Fisheries building and find ourselves in the lagoon again, and out of this into the inlet leading to the pond. Skirting along the shore, we pass the buildings of some of the South American republics and find ourselves before the great art galleries. West of the pond are a number of state buildings, those of Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin in the foreground. Ample provision has been made for the fine arts exhibit, nearly six acres being devoted to the gallery and annexes.

Here we are before the Illinois building, the largest state building of them all. It is a splendid structure, with a ground area of over three acres and a height of 234 feet. After a good look at Illinois' great building we find our way back into the lagoon, hugging the north and west shores. To the west, fronting the lagoon, is the Woman's building, an affair which covers over [illegible] square feet. The ladies ought to feel proud of this building, particularly as it was designed by a woman—Miss Hayden of Boston. The Women's building is at the east end of Midway plaisance, which you will see later. Here are two or three unique small buildings—notably the offices of Puck and the White Star steamship line—and at the north end of the island are the Japanese buildings and gardens.

Now we come to the vast building devoted to horticulture, the eastern frontage of which is toward the lagoon. Horticulture is well provided for in the matter of quarters. That building is 1,000 feet in length and covers nearly six acres. Just beyond is Choral hall, which lies between the Horticultural and the Transportation buildings, half of which latter has a water frontage. The Transportation building covers about the same area as the Horticultural.

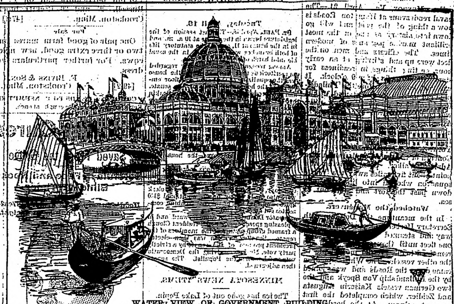


CHORAL HALL.

Here we are at the south end of the lagoon, alongside that funny little island with the hunter's camp on it, and in front of the Mines and Electricity buildings. Another trip down North canal and into the basin, and our first trip is completed so far as a superficial inspection of the buildings is concerned. Now we will walk over to the Casino, get some luncheon and then inspect that splendid peristyle I have talked so much about.

But night is the time to see city front and the "White City" at the fair grounds in all their beauty. As we glide along the city front we note in turn the Auditorium, the great clock tower, the immense and brilliantly lighted hotels and then the grounds. There are thousands of electric lights in and around the buildings and about the grounds. Every light has been placed so it will shed its light to the best advantage despite their prodigality of distribution. Hear the bands. There are a number of them, not to mention Mr. Thomas' great orchestra. Now the singers take a hand. Several parties of them are sent out in gondolas every night to furnish music. All first class talent too. Take a glance or two at the scene on the water. Isn't it cheerful? How many boats? I haven't an idea—hundreds of 'em anyway.

All right. We'll go in and paddle round awhile in a gondola, hear the bands play and so on. Then we'll come out into the lake in a launch and study this scene again. You could look at it for hours? I should think so. Tomorrow we'll go down by rail and take a jaunt around the grounds and through the buildings afoot.

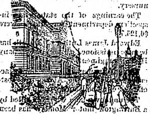


WATER VIEW OF GOVERNMENT BUILDING.

INTERNATIONAL CONGRESSES.

Imposing Array of Conventions Arranged by the World's Fair Auxiliary.

A series of more than 100 international congresses, as planned by the World's Congress auxiliary, will be held during the months of the exposition in the permanent Memorial Art palace erected on the lake front at the foot of Adams street, through the co-operation of the Art institute of this city, the World's fair directory and the city of Chicago, at a cost of more than $500,000. In this Memorial Art palace there will be two large audience rooms arranged to seat about 3,000 persons each, and more than 20 smaller rooms, which will accommodate from 300 to 700 persons each. Meetings of such a character as to draw a large popular audience will be held in the main audience rooms, while meetings of chapters and of sections of different congresses for the discussion of subjects of a more limited interest will be held in the smaller rooms. It will thus be possible to have two general congresses and 20 special congresses or conferences in session at the same time and to have three times as many meetings within a single day by arranging different programmes for morning, afternoon and evening sessions, but it is not anticipated that so many daily meetings will be required in any department of the world's congress work.



THE ART PALACE.

The world's congresses will be of twofold order. There will be a series of general congresses for the presentation in appropriate popular discourses suitable for a worldwide publication of the progress made in all the various departments of civilized life. The object of this presentation will be to promote the intelligence, culture and elevation of the people of all countries.

But a different class of congresses is also required. In addition to such general congresses there will also be special congresses for the consideration of scientific, technical or special subjects not suitable for such popular presentation. Such special congresses will be more directly in the charge of the organizations interested and represented by their respective committees of co-operation, which, acting in harmony with the auxiliary committees of arrangements, will arrange the programmes and conduct the proceedings. The special congresses of the religious denominations and the strictly scientific associations will be of peculiar interest.

Both the general congresses, planned for the people, and the special congresses, planned for the advancement of great special interests, may thus be made highly successful. As the material exposition at Jackson park is designed chiefly for the pleasure and benefit of the people of all countries and subordinately for the entertainment and advantage of the specialists in the different departments, so also is the intellectual and moral exposition to be made in the world's congresses primarily intended for the benefit of the people who will hear or read the proceedings.

The general assignment to the months of the exposition season of the world's congresses as arranged up to the present time is here given:

May—Woman's Progress, The Public Press, Medicine and Surgery.

June—Temperance, Moral and Social Reform, Commerce and Finance.

July—Music, Literature, Education.

August—Engineering, Art, Architecture, etc.; Government, Law Reform, Political Science, etc.; General Department, Science and Philosophy.

September—Labor, Religious, Missions and Church Societies, Sunday Rest.

October—Public Health, Agriculture.

The Women's Congress.

It goes without saying that at most of the world's congresses to be held at Chicago this summer women will have more or less prominence, but the big congress which will open on May 15 and continue to the 22d will give them an especial chance to shine, for it is for themselves alone. It is intended to make this a memorial congress, setting forth the intellectual, moral and material progress of the women of the world from the discovery of America in 1492 down to the present time. This congress will gather to itself women from all quarters of the globe—those most noted for their leadership in the educational world, the bright lights in the field of literature, art and industry, the noted philanthropists and those who have to do with moral and social reform, religion, science, philosophy, civil law and government. Many noted foreigners have accepted the invitation to be present, and a programme has been arranged that will show the progress of woman along all the lines indicated.

Hiawatha and Minnehaha.

The school children of Minnesota have contributed to the decorations of their state building at the fair a life size statue of Hiawatha bearing in his arms the Indian maiden Minnehaha. It may be seen on the main porch of the building.

FETE DAYS AT THE FAIR.

Dates Set Apart For the Observances of States and Organizations.

Besides the special fete days arranged by the committee on ceremonies innumerable societies and organizations will meet in Chicago during the World's fair. The names of some of these organizations do not appear in the following official list of fete days:

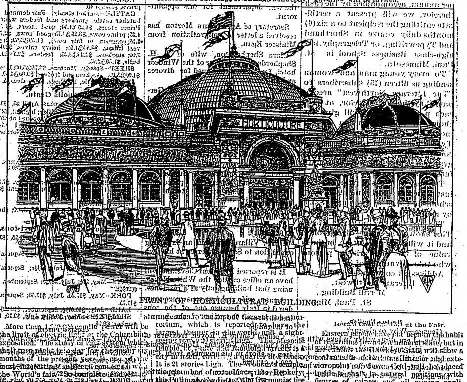
Washington	May 17
Wisconsin	May 2[illegible]
Maine	May 2[illegible]
Denmark	June 3
Commercial travelers	June 10
Germany	June 1[illegible]
Nebraska	June 1[illegible]
Massachusetts	June 17
New Hampshire	June 21
France	July 14
Utah	July 2[illegible]
Liberia	July 2[illegible]
Foresters	Aug. 1[illegible]
Hayti	Aug. 16
Colored people	Aug. 25
North Carolina	Aug. 18
Austria	Aug. 19
The Netherlands	Aug. 31
Nicaragua	Sept. 1
Catholic education	Sept. 2
New York	Sept. 4
Brazil	Sept. 7
California	Sept. 9
Maryland	Sept. 12
Michigan	Sept. 13 and 14
Kansas	Sept. 1[illegible]
Colorado	Sept. 1[illegible]
Montana	Sept. 2[illegible]
Patriotic Order Sons of America	Sept. 2[illegible]
Iowa	Sept. 2[illegible]
Rhode Island	Oct. 5
Spain	Oct. 12
Italian societies	Oct. 1[illegible]
Minnesota	Oct. 13

Charities and Correction.

Charities and correction is one of the departments of the fair to which thinking men will instinctively turn. There will not be much in it to attract the popular eye, but it will be a mine of information for the guardians of the poor and the governors of the criminal classes in this and other countries. The student of the social problems of the day will find collected and easy of access facts and figures invaluable to him, which he might otherwise have labored for years to discover. The department will occupy a space of 15,000 square feet in the southwest corner of the Ethnological building.

Colored People's Jubilee at Chicago.

Aug. 25 is set apart as the festival of the colored people, or, as they themselves seem to prefer to call it, Afro-American jubilee day. The celebration is to be given in Music hall on the fair grounds. Its object is to show the progress which the colored race has made in speech and song in America and to this end the brightest representatives of the colored people in oratory and music will be brought together. The orators of the day will endeavor to show the exact standing of the negro in this country, his advancement in some directions, and his lack of progress in others, and his disabilities as a citizen. There are to be 2,500 colored children in the choruses, and all the prominent colored singers of the country have been invited.



FRONT OF HORTICULTURAL BUILDING.

[illegible]

More than 1,000,000 candle power will be the limit of electric light at the Columbian exposition. The study of the system which shall turn night into day for the six months of the present year is one of the most interesting subjects connected with the World's fair. So complete and extensive are the arrangements that the simple view of the exposition grounds at night, regardless of every feature presented in exhibits, will be well worth a journey to see.

To Entertain Foreign Visitors.

Foreign visitors to the fair will be entertained by the business men of Chicago at the International Columbian inn, which has been built especially for that purpose.

HOW TO SEE CHICAGO.

INTERESTING INFORMATION FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR TOURIST.

Points of Interest That Are Worth Visiting—How to Reach the Fair Grounds—Hotel Accommodations and Expenses—Places of Amusement.

What to do and which way to turn first on landing in Chicago will be the puzzler to the majority of visitors.

There are four ways of reaching the exposition grounds in Jackson park from down town Chicago. The distance is seven miles from city hall, which is within a few squares of the depots of the leading railways. The elevated road gives the quickest transit, and its lines circumvent the park. The fare is 5 cents. The down town terminus is at Congress street, [illegible] 15 minutes' walk from city hall. Running time from Congress street to Jackson park, 20 minutes.

The Illinois Central railroad will carry passengers to the grounds for 25 cents the round trip. The depot is on Michigan avenue.

The Lake Michigan boats will carry passengers to the exposition pier for 25 cents the round trip. Their landing in Chicago is 10 minutes' walk from city hall, just adjoining the Illinois Central depot.

The Cottage Grove avenue cable cars run to the southern entrance to the park. Fare, 5 cents. They leave the heart of the city via Wabash avenue and turn on a loop through Lake and State streets.

Chicago is divided into three geographical divisions known in local parlance as the "West Side," "North Side" and "South Side." The South Side, with its Michigan, Calumet and Prairie avenues given up to the homes of the millionaire element, harbors Chicago's aristocracy of wealth. The exposition is in the South Side district; so are the Auditorium, the courthouse, postoffice, the principal clubs and the Art institute. The great thoroughfares of the South Side in the central section of the city are Wabash and Michigan avenues.

The West Side comprises many fine parks and avenues, and originally contained one-half of Chicago's population. Madison street is the central thoroughfare of the West Side. The North Side includes Lincoln park, the homes of many millionaires, a long stretch of the Lake Shore drive, the archiepiscopal palace, the Fannell obelisk, the monolith of "Long John" Wentworth and the Northwestern university, the highest seat of learning in the state of Illinois. The central thoroughfare is Clark street.

A system of parks and gardens engirdles the city. The parks cover 1,870 acres; the boulevards extend 30 miles. Each of the city divisions above noted has its own system of street cars. The City Railway company operates the South Side system, consisting of cable and horse roads. The North Side is controlled by the North Chicago company, which runs both cable and horse cars. The West Chicago company monopolizes the West Side with horse and cable cars.

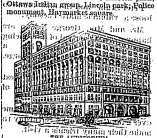
The hotel accommodations of Chicago and those suburbs easy of access include about 2,000 houses of all grades. Nearly 300 of these have been built specially for World's fair patrons and are in the vicinity of the grounds. They have cost nearly $4,000,000 for construction, and with few exceptions are of brick, stone and iron. Heretofore the regular prices in the Chicago hotels have ranged from $5 down to $2 a day. Thousands of private houses in all parts of the city are advertising lodgings and meals for exposition patronage.

People who wish to economize will doubtless prefer to save time and money by lodging in the district around Fair park. The accommodations there now foot up 5,000 rooms. The rates will fluctuate with the demand, but the competition will be great. The hotels in the district include the Hotel Endeavor, with 620 rooms for Christian Endeavor societies; the Woman's Dormitory, with 800 single rooms, and the Hotel Veteran, with 700 rooms and barrack halls for Grand Army veterans and their families.

The exhibition buildings will also each contain one or more restaurants, with tables and lunch counters, where visitors may stay their appetites while taking in the fair or sit down to hearty meals. Parties lodging at a distance from the grounds will therefore be spared anxiety about reaching home in time for dinner.

Visitors who lodge in the city proper and have time on their hands, or who make it a business to do the town, will not feel a lack of attractions peculiar to the metropolis of the west. The year 1893 opened with 30 theaters giving daily performances, and to these will be added many temporary palaces of amusement. At least a dozen of the celebrated tall buildings of Chicago will repay [illegible] the Auditorium, which is reported to have the largest theater in the world and a sightseeing tower 21 stories high. The Masonic temple, at State and Randolph streets is a city in itself, covering a quarter of a block. It is 21 stories high. The Woman's temple, the chamber of commerce, the Rookery, the Pullman building, the Owings, the Ashland, the Home Insurance, the Monadnock, the Unity, the Rialto and several other tall structures are worthy of note as specimens of Chicago's commercial architecture.

In memorial art there is the new equestrian statue of General Grant and the St. Gauden's monument to Abraham Lincoln, both in Lincoln park. The old Douglas monument on the lake shore at Thirty-fifth street stands on high ground overlooking the lake and is well worth a visit. Other memorials of minor value are as follows: Armstrong bust, Clark and Adams streets; Columbus statue, Jackson park; Drake fountain and Columbus statue, between the city hall and courthouse; Electric fountain, Lincoln park; Fort Dearborn Massacre, Pullman statue, Calumet avenue and Eighteenth street; Schiller monument, Lincoln park; Great Fire Inscription, 137 De Koven street; La Salle monument, Lincoln park; Linnæus monument, Lincoln park; Ottawa Indian group, Lincoln park; Police monument, Haymarket square.



THE AUDITORIUM.

The question of an expense budget is now the all important one for fair visitors. How much will be required for necessaries, extras and emergencies depends on the tastes and habits of the individual. Three New Yorkers who are planning a trip to Chicago recently compared their estimates of expenses. One of them has had much experience as a sightseer and was at the Centennial. His estimate is in the column below headed "Old Stager." Another has lived in Chicago, and the third is a stranger to that city. Their items and totals are as follows:

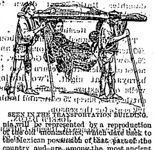
	Old Stager.	Chicagoan.	Stranger.
Lodgings, three days	$3 00	$4 50	$3 to $5
Meals, three days	6 00	6 50	4 50
Car fare, three days	1 00	1 00	1 50
Admissions, catalogues, guides, etc., three days	4 50	4 50	3 00
Totals	$14 50	$16 50	$12 to $14

The gate fee will be 50 cents, and the admission to the several departments 10 to 25 cents. Economy of time and cost of living has been taken into account in limiting the sojourn to three days.

The State Buildings.

Nearly every state and territory in the Union, as well as every foreign government, will be represented at the World's fair by special buildings, in which will be special exhibits from those states, such as soils, mineral products, grains and other products, and also clubrooms for the people from those states, which they can call their own headquarters, but all of these will be open to the public free of any charge, as will be all other exhibition buildings on the grounds, the admission at the gate being the only charge for the fair proper.

These state buildings will present a variety of architecture, which will be in a measure a history of the country. California will be represented by a reproduction of the old monasteries, which date back to the Mexican possession of that part of the country and are among the most ancient remains of early civilization on the American continent. Florida's building will be a reproduction of the old Spanish fort at St. Augustine, and other buildings will be as historic. They will contain exhibits among the most interesting to the foreign visitors, because they will show what each state is able to produce and what are its natural resources. They will in many instances represent state fairs with very complete exhibits.



SEEN IN THE TRANSPORTATION BUILDING.

Sweet Time For Candy Makers.

The Chicago confectioners will entertain their brethren from other cities, states and lands in the most hospitable manner possible during the week beginning July 10, and July 13 has been set apart as confectioners' day. There will be a banquet that evening at one of the big hotels, and the mayor and governor will be invited.

Iowa's Coal [illegible] at the Fair.

Eastern people have not been in the habit of regarding Iowa as a mineral state, but in her exhibit the Hawkeye State will show a coal mine in detail both interior and exterior. [illegible] will be placed inside a shaft in natural positions with figures of miners and all mining appliances.

The Shoe and Leather Exhibit.

One of the most interesting exhibits at the fair will be the shoe and leather display. For one thing, the leather of all nations will be shown there. Not a nation of Europe and few of the Asiatic and island countries declined to respond to the invitation for exhibits.

A DAY AT JACKSON PARK.

Trip by the Water Route to the "White City."

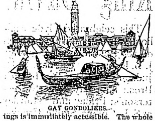
AN ITINERARY FOR VISITORS.

How to Get a Fleeting Glimpse of the Great Show and Lay the Foundation For a More Thorough Inspection of Its Marvels—An Evening Visit.

Can one see the World's fair in one day? Well, he can see a great deal of it, much more than one would think. In truth, a very good general view can be taken in a day, including the evening, though of course there are many buildings the details of each of which would occupy many days. Here is the itinerary for one day:

First, it is to be a bright and pleasantly warm May day, and so the first visit should by all means be made by water. We will start at the Van Buren street dock. The World's Fair Steamship company, which owns the dock, has four big boats running between Van Buren street and the World's fair grounds—vessels amply able to carry 15,000 passengers every hour, and if a crush comes the company operates enough smaller craft to double this capacity, not to mention the number of people the independent lines will carry.

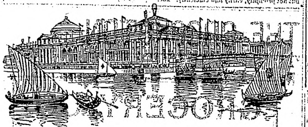
We are taking the best possible method of seeing the buildings of the "White City." Not only can the very best view of the fair in its entirety be had from the water—that is, from out here on the lake—but every one of the most important buildings is to be seen to best advantage either from the lake or from the canals and ponds inside the grounds. From the water, too, every one of the larger and more important buildings is immediately accessible. The whole fair was built with these ends in view, and the plans have been magnificently carried out. That's why we are going by water to get our first view of the exposition.



GAY GONDOLIERS.

Many will debark at the North pier, but let us go down to the farther pier and begin at Alpha—that is, the great peristyle representing Alpha. Pleasure boats and yachts can land as well as steamers. On the south side of the pier as we land you can see the government's model battleship. Once ashore, we'll take a round on the movable sidewalk. It's nearly half a mile long, and we can get a magnificent view of the fair buildings and Lake Michigan as well from it. Now, if only this plan could be worked in cities, what a lot of shoe leather we might save!

Out there is the anchorage for big vessels. Closer in the pleasure yachts and smaller craft will anchor—that is, they will tackle themselves up to those anchored buoys you see out there. At night the buoys will be illumined by electric lights. There is an anchorage also for visiting yachts and the like up at Van Buren street pier.



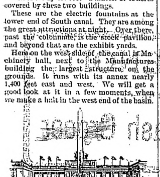
THE AGRICULTURAL BUILDING.

First to be glanced through are the Casino and Music hall. The next thing is to try a boat—a gondola, of course, for the novelty of the thing. This is the main landing for the pleasure craft in the grounds on the south side of the basin, just north of the Agricultural building. The electric and steam launches have to make regular round trips, once every hour, covering the 3-mile course. There are so many of them—40 electric and 24 steam launches—that they have to be kept moving with some regularity, excepting, of course, the steam launches in their afternoon and evening trips out into the lake. Maybe we'll go out in one before we get through. They start from this landing.

We first float by the Agricultural building. Our gondolier (he's genuine—a real Italian) must keep close into shore while we take a good look at the buildings as we pass them. Here we turn into the South canal and view the west end of the Agricultural building. You will see the annex presently. The Agricultural building is 800 feet long and 500 feet in width, and the annex is 300 by 550 feet—a matter of 13 acres covered by these two buildings.

These are the electric fountains at the lower end of South canal. They are among the great attractions at night. Over there, past the colonnade, is the stock pavilion, and beyond that are the exhibit yards.

Here on the west side of the canal is Machinery hall, next to the Manufactures building the largest structure on the grounds. It runs with its annex nearly 1,400 feet east and west. We will get a good look at it in a few moments, when we make a halt in the west end of the basin.



THE PERISTYLE.

Here we meet the MacMonnies fountain. That is the Administration building beyond. In the square to the north of it are the Electricity and the Mines and Mining buildings. You can see two sides of the Electricity building, but only the south end of the Mines and Mining. These two structures are about of a size, the former covering 5.5 acres and the latter 5.6. You saw the south end of the Manufactures building. We'll go up through North canal now and take a good look at it broad side. Yes, it is a pretty good sized building—something very close to a third of a mile long. It is 787 by 1,687 feet and covers 30½ acres.

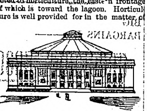
Up here past the Manufactures, is the Government building, which occupies 3.3 acres. We are passing up the lagoon now, between the wooded island and the east shore. We must take a walk about that island before we are through—now through this inlet at the right, leading out to the lake. Here on our left is the Fisheries building. It, with its two annexes spreading out on each side of it like a pair of wings, occupies nearly 100,000 feet of ground space.

Beyond this, on the left, right, and before us, are the fire and guard station, the life saving station, the clambake, the lighthouse exhibit, weather bureau station, and so on. On the left are some of the foreign buildings, among them those of Great Britain, Russia, France, Germany and Sweden.

Now we will turn round and paddle up into North pond. We repass the Fisheries building and find ourselves in the lagoon again, and out of this into the inlet leading to the pond. Skirting along the shore, we pass the buildings of some of the South American republics and find ourselves before the great Art galleries. West of the pond are a number of state buildings, those of Ohio, Indiana, and Wisconsin in the foreground. Ample provision has been made for the fine arts exhibit, nearly six acres being devoted to the gallery and annexes.

Here we are before the Illinois building, the largest state building of them all. It is a splendid structure, with a ground area of over three acres and a height of 234 feet. After a good look at Illinois' great building we find our way back into the lagoon, hugging the north and west shores. To the west, fronting the lagoon, is the Women's building, an affair which covers over [illegible] square feet. The ladies ought to feel proud of this building, particularly as it was designed by a woman—Miss Hayden of Boston. The Women's building is at the east end of Midway plaisance, which you will see later. Here are two or three unique small buildings—notably the offices of Puck and the White Star steamship line—and at the north end of the island are the Japanese buildings and gardens.

Now we come to the vast building devoted to horticulture, the eastern frontage of which is toward the lagoon. Horticulture is well provided for in the matter of quarters. That building is 1,000 feet in length and covers nearly six acres. Just beyond is Choral hall, which lies between the Horticultural and the Transportation buildings, half of which latter has a water frontage. The Transportation building covers about the same area as the Horticultural.

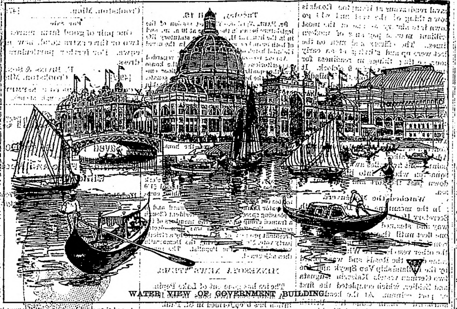


CHORAL HALL.

Here we are at the south end of the lagoon, alongside that funny little island with the hunter's camp on it, and in front of the Mines and Electricity buildings. Another trip down North canal and into the basin, and our first trip is completed so far as a superficial inspection of the buildings is concerned. Now we will walk over to the Casino, get some luncheon and then inspect that splendid peristyle I have talked so much about.

But night is the time to see city front and the "White City" at the fair grounds in all their beauty. As we glide along the city front we note in turn the Auditorium, the great clock tower, the immense and brilliantly lighted hotels and then the grounds. There are thousands of electric lights in and around the buildings and about the grounds. Every light has been placed so it will shed its light to the best advantage despite the prodigality of distribution. Hear the bands. There are a number of them, not to mention Mr. Thomas' great orchestra. Now the singers take a hand. Several parties of them are sent out in gondolas every night to furnish music. All first class talent, too. Take a glance or two at the scene on the water. Isn't it cheerful? How many boats? I haven't an idea—hundreds of 'em anyway.

All right. We'll go in and paddle round awhile in a gondola, hear the bands play and so on. Then we'll come out into the lake in a launch and study this scene again. You could look at it for hours? I should think so. Tomorrow we'll go down by rail and take a jaunt around the grounds and through the buildings afoot.

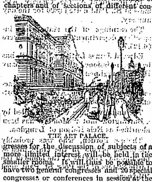


WATER VIEW OF GOVERNMENT BUILDING.

INTERNATIONAL CONGRESSES.

Imposing Array of Conventions Arranged by the World's Fair Auxiliary.

A series of more than 100 international congresses, as planned by the World's Congress auxiliary, will be held during the months of the exposition in the permanent Memorial Art palace erected on the lake front at the foot of Adams street, through the co-operation of the Art institute of this city, the World's fair directory and the city of Chicago, at a cost of more than $500,000. In this Memorial Art palace there will be two large audience rooms arranged to seat about 3,000 persons each, and more than 20 smaller rooms which will accommodate from 300 to 700 persons each. Meetings of such a character as to draw a large popular audience will be held in the main audience rooms, while meetings of chapters and of sections of different congresses for the discussion of subjects of a more limited interest will be held in the smaller rooms. It will thus be possible to have two general congresses and 20 special congresses or conferences in session at the same time and to have three times as many meetings within a single day by arranging different programmes for morning, afternoon and evening sessions, but it is not anticipated that so many daily meetings will be required in any department of the world's congress work.



THE ART PALACE.

The world's congresses will be of twofold order. There will be a series of general congresses for the presentation in appropriate popular discourses suitable for a worldwide publication of the progress made in all the various departments of civilized life. The object of this presentation will be to promote the intelligence, culture and elevation of the people of all countries.

But a different class of congresses is also required. In addition to such general congresses there will also be special congresses for the consideration of scientific, technical or special subjects not suitable for such popular presentation. Such special congresses will be more directly in the charge of the organizations interested and represented by their respective committees of co-operation, which, acting in harmony with the auxiliary committees of arrangements, will arrange the programmes and conduct the proceedings. The special congresses of the religious denominations and the strictly scientific associations will be of peculiar interest.

Both the general congresses, planned for the people, and the special congresses, planned for the advancement of great special interests, may thus be made highly successful. As the material exposition at Jackson park is designed chiefly for the pleasure and benefit of the people of all countries and subordinately for the entertainment and advantage of the specialists in the different departments, so also is the intellectual and moral exposition to be made in the world's congresses primarily intended for the benefit of the people who will hear or read the proceedings.

The general assignment to the months of the exposition season of the world's congresses as arranged up to the present time is here given:

May—Woman's Progress, The Public Press, Medicine and Surgery.

June—Temperance, Moral and Social Reform, Commerce and Finance.

July—Music, Literature, Education.

August—Engineering, Art, Architecture, etc.; Government, Law Reform, Political Science, etc.; General Department, Science and Philosophy.

September—Labor, Religious, Missions and Church Societies, Sunday Rest.

October—Public Health, Agriculture.

The Women's Congress.

It goes without saying that at most of the world's congresses to be held at Chicago this summer women will have more or less prominence, but the big congress which will open on May 15 and continue to the 22d will give them an especial chance to shine, for it is for themselves alone. It is intended to make this a memorial congress, setting forth the intellectual, moral and material progress of the women of the world from the discovery of America in 1492 down to the present time. This congress will gather to itself women from all quarters of the globe—those most noted for their leadership in the educational world; the bright lights in the field of literature, art and industry; the noted philanthropists and those who have to do with moral and social reform, religion, science, philosophy, civil law and government. Many noted foreigners have accepted the invitation to be present, and a programme has been arranged that will show the progress of woman along all the lines indicated.

Hiawatha and Minnehaha.

The school children of Minnesota have contributed to the decorations of their state building at the fair a life size statue of Hiawatha bearing in his arms the Indian maiden Minnehaha. It may be seen on the main porch of the building.

FETE DAYS AT THE FAIR.

Dates Set Apart For the Observances of States and Organizations.

Besides the special fete days arranged by the committee on ceremonies innumerable societies and organizations will meet in Chicago during the World's fair. The names of some of these organizations do not appear in the following official list of fete days:

Washington	May 17
Wisconsin	May 25
Maine	May 24
Denmark	June 5
Commercial travelers	June 10
Germany	June 15
Nebraska	June 15
Massachusetts	June 17
New Hampshire	June 21
France	July 14
Utah	July 24
Liberia	July 21
Foresters	Aug. 12
Hayti	Aug. 16
Colored people	Aug. 25
North Carolina	Aug. 18
Austria	Aug. 18
The Netherlands	Aug. 31
Nicaragua	Sept. 1
Catholic education	Sept. 2
New York	Sept. 4
Brazil	Sept. 7
California	Sept. 9
Maryland	Sept. 12
Michigan	Sept. 13 and 14
Kansas	Sept. 15
Colorado	Sept. 19
Montana	Sept. 20
Patriotic Order Sons of America	Sept. 20
Iowa	Sept. 21
Rhode Island	Oct. 5
Spain	Oct. 12
Italian societies	Oct. 12
Minnesota	Oct. 13

Charities and Correction.

Charities and correction is one of the departments of the fair to which thinking men will instinctively turn. There will not be much in it to attract the popular eye, but it will be a mine of information for the guardians of the poor and the governors of the criminal classes in this and other countries. The student of the social problems of the day will find collected and easy of access facts and figures invaluable to him, which he might otherwise have labored for years to discover. The department will occupy a space of 15,000 square feet in the southwest corner of the Ethnological building.

Colored People's Jubilee at Chicago.

Aug. 25 is set apart as the festival of the colored people, or as they themselves seem to prefer to call it, Afro-American jubilee day. The celebration is to be given in Music hall on the fair grounds. Its object is to show the progress which the colored race has made in speech and song in America, and to this end the brightest representatives of the colored people in oratory and music will be brought together. The orators of the day will endeavor to show the exact standing of the negro in this country, his advancement in some directions, and his lack of progress in others, and his disabilities as a citizen. There are to be 2,500 colored children in the choruses, and all the prominent colored singers of the country have been invited.

The Fair Grounds at Night.

More than [illegible] candle power will be the limit of electric light at the Columbian exposition. The study of the system which shall turn night into day for the space of six months of the present year is one of the most interesting subjects connected with the World's fair. So complete and extensive are the arrangements that the simple view of the exposition grounds at night, regardless of every feature presented in exhibits, will be well worth a journey to see.

To Entertain Foreign Visitors.

Foreign visitors to the fair will be entertained by the business men of Chicago at the International Columbian inn, which has been built especially for that purpose.

HOW TO SEE CHICAGO.

INTERESTING INFORMATION FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR TOURIST.

Points of Interest That Are Worth Visiting—How to Reach the Fair Grounds—Hotel Accommodations and Expenses—Places of Amusement.

What to do and which way to turn first on landing in Chicago will be the puzzler to the majority of visitors.

There are four ways of reaching the exposition grounds in Jackson park from down town Chicago. The distance is seven miles from city hall, which is within a few squares of the depots of the leading railways. The elevated road gives the quickest transit, and its lines circumvent the park. The fare is 5 cents. The down town terminus is at Congress street, 12 to 15 minutes' walk from city hall. Running time from Congress street to Jackson park, 30 minutes.

The Illinois Central railroad will carry passengers to the grounds for 25 cents the round trip. The depot is on Michigan avenue.

The Lake Michigan boats will carry passengers to the exposition pier for 25 cents the round trip. Their landing in Chicago is 10 minutes' walk from city hall, just adjoining the Illinois Central depot.

The Cottage Grove avenue cable cars run to the southern entrance to the park. Fare, 5 cents. They leave the heart of the city via Wabash avenue and turn on a loop through Lake and State streets.

Chicago is divided into three geographical divisions known in local parlance as the "West Side," "North Side" and "South Side." The South Side, with its Michigan, Calumet and Prairie avenues given up to the homes of the millionaire element, harbors Chicago's aristocracy of wealth. The exposition is in the South Side district; so are the Auditorium, the courthouse, postoffice, the principal clubs and the Art institute. The great thoroughfares of the South Side in the central section of the city are Wabash and Michigan avenues.

The West Side comprises many fine parks and avenues, and originally contained one-half of Chicago's population. Madison street is the central thoroughfare of the West Side. The North Side includes Lincoln park, the homes of many millionaires, a long stretch of the Lake Shore drive, the archiepiscopal palace, the Fannell obelisk, the monolith of "Long John" Wentworth and the Northwestern university, the highest seat of learning in the state of Illinois. The central thoroughfare is Clark street.

A system of parks and gardens engirdles the city. The parks cover 1,879 acres; the boulevards extend 30 miles. Each of the city divisions above noted has its own system of street cars. The City Railway company operates the South Side system, consisting of cable and horse roads. The North Side is controlled by the North Chicago company, which runs both cable and horse cars. The West Chicago company monopolizes the West Side with horse and cable cars.

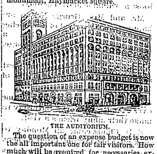
The hotel accommodations of Chicago and those suburbs easy of access include about 2,000 houses of all grades. Nearly 300 of these have been built specially for World's fair patrons and are in the vicinity of the grounds. They have cost nearly $4,000,000 for construction, and with few exceptions are of brick, stone and iron. Heretofore the regular prices in the Chicago hotels have ranged from $9 down to $2 a day. Thousands of private houses in all parts of the city are advertising lodgings and meals for exposition patronage.

People who wish to economize will doubtless prefer to save time and money by lodging in the district around Fair park. The accommodations there now foot up 5,000 rooms. The rates will fluctuate with the demand, but the competition will be great. The hotels in the district include the Hotel Endeavor, with 620 rooms for Christian Endeavor societies; the Woman's Dormitory, with 800 single rooms, and the Hotel Veteran, with 700 rooms and barrack halls for Grand Army veterans and their families.

The exhibition buildings will also each contain one or more restaurants, with tables and lunch counters, where visitors may stay their appetites while taking in the fair or sit down to hearty meals. Parties lodging at a distance from the grounds will therefore be spared anxiety about reaching home in time for dinner.

Visitors who lodge in the city proper and have time on their hands, or who make it a business to do the town, will not feel a lack of attractions peculiar to the metropolis of the west. The year 1893 opened with 30 theaters giving daily performances, and to these will be added many temporary palaces of amusement. At least a dozen of the celebrated tall buildings of Chicago will repay [illegible] Auditorium, which is reported to have the largest theater in the world, and a sightseeing tower [illegible] stories high. The Masonic temple, at State and Randolph streets is a city in itself, covering a quarter of a block. It is 21 stories high. The Woman's temple, the chamber of commerce, the Rookery, the Pullman building, the Germania, the Ashland, the Royal Insurance, the Monadnock, the [illegible] Rialto and several other tall structures are worthy of note as specimens of Chicago's commercial architecture.

In memorial art there is the new equestrian statue of General Grant and the St. Gauden's monument to Abraham Lincoln, both in Lincoln park. The old Douglas monument on the lake shore at Thirty-fifth street stands on high ground overlooking the lake, and is well worth a visit. Other memorials of minor value are as follows: Armstrong bust, Clark and Adams streets; Columbus statue, Jackson park; Drake fountain and Columbus statue, between the city hall and courthouse; Electric fountain, Lincoln park; Fort Dearborn Massacre, Pullman statue, Calumet avenue and Eighteenth street; Schiller monument, Lincoln park; Great Fire Inscription, 137 De Koven street; La Salle monument, Lincoln park; Linnæus monument, Lincoln park; Ottawa Indian group, Lincoln park; Police monument, Haymarket square.



THE AUDITORIUM.

The question of an expense budget is now the all important one for fair visitors. How much will be required for necessaries, extras and emergencies depends on the tastes and habits of the individual. Three New Yorkers who are planning a trip to Chicago recently compared their estimates of expenses. One of them has had much experience as a sightseer and was at the Centennial. His estimate is in the column below headed "Old Stager." Another has lived in Chicago, and the third is a stranger to that city. Their items and totals are as follows:

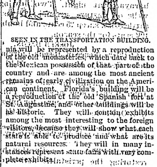
	Old Stager.	Chicagoan.	Stranger.
Lodgings, three days	$3 00	$4 50	$3 to $5
Meals, three days	6 00	6 50	4 50
Car fare, three days	1 00	1 00	1 50
Admissions, catalogues, guides, etc., three days	4 50	4 50	3 00
Totals	$14 50	$16 50	$13 to $14

The gate fee will be 50 cents, and the admission to the several departments 10 to 25 cents. Economy of time and cost of living has been taken into account in limiting the sojourn to three days.

The State Buildings.

Nearly every state and territory in the Union, as well as every foreign government, will be represented at the World's fair by special buildings, in which will be special exhibits from those states, such as soils, mineral products, grains and other products, and also clubrooms for the people from those states, which they can call their own headquarters, but all of these will be open to the public free of any charge, as will be all other exhibition buildings on the grounds, the admission at the gate being the only charge for the fair proper.

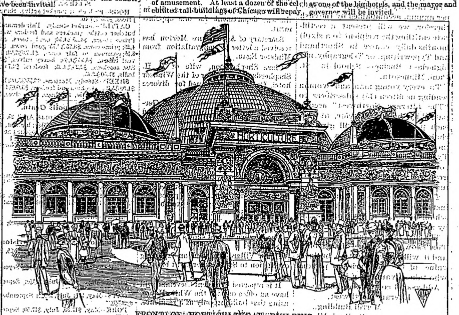
These state buildings will present a variety of architecture, which will be in a measure a history of the country. California will be represented by a reproduction of the old monasteries, which date back to the Mexican possession of that part of the country and are among the most ancient remains of early civilization on the American continent. Florida's building will be a reproduction of the old Spanish fort at St. Augustine, and other buildings will be as historic. They will contain exhibits among the most interesting to the foreign visitors, because they will show what each state is able to produce and what are its natural resources. They will in many instances represent state fairs with very complete exhibits.



SEEN IN THE TRANSPORTATION BUILDING.

Sweet Time For Candy Makers.

The Chicago confectioners will entertain their brethren from other cities, states and lands in the most hospitable manner possible during the week beginning July 10, and July 13 has been set apart as confectioners' day. There will be a banquet that evening at one of the big hotels, and the mayor and governor will be invited.



FRONT OF HORTICULTURAL BUILDING.

Iowa's Coal Palace at the Fair.

Eastern people have not been in the habit of regarding Iowa as a mineral state, but in her exhibit the Hawkeye State will show a coal mine, both its interior and exterior. [illegible] will be placed inside a shaft in natural positions, with figures of miners, and all mining appliances.

The Shoe and Leather Exhibit.

One of the most interesting exhibits at the fair will be the shoe and leather display. For one thing, the leather of all nations will be shown there. Not a nation of Europe and few of the Asiatic and island countries declined to respond to the invitation for exhibits.

DEFECTIVE PAGE | INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

TWELVE CORPSES.

TEN RECOVERED AND TWO WASHED ASHORE.

This, With the Rescued Man, Miller, Leaves Only One to Be Accounted For in the Milwaukee Disaster. Miller Improving and Will Recover. His Story of an Awful Day.

MILWAUKEE, April 21.—The steamer Burroughs went out to the wrecked crib and 10 bodies were removed from the air shaft where 14 men met death. The bodies recovered were those of William Pruessner, Michael Dwyer, Joseph Peze., Gustave Lukevitch, John Healy, Frank Brown, John Donovan, John Martin and James Murphy. They were removed to the morgue. The district attorney will impanel a jury for an inquest, after which the funerals of the men will take place.

Bodies Washed Ashore.

Two bodies were washed ashore during the morning. They were those of George Bragg and Jack MacBride. This list, with James Miller, the sole survivor, leaves but one man unaccounted for. His body is doubtless floating around in the lake. Miller is doing well and will live.

FOURTEEN DEAD.

The Rescued Man Tells the Story of the Milwaukee Disaster.

MILWAUKEE, April 21.—The man Miller who was rescued from the wreck of the waterworks crib is the only survivor left to tell the terrible experience through which the men were compelled to pass. Fourteen men lie drowned in the air-lock or have been carried away. They are:

JOHN MCBRIDE, engineer, Chicago.
MICHAEL DYER, fireman, Milwaukee.
WILLIAM PREUSENER, fireman, Chicago.
GEORGE GREGG, lock tender, Milwaukee.
JAMES MURPHY, miner, Milwaukee.
JOSEPH PEZOL, miner, Milwaukee.
GUSTAV LIEKOWICZ, miner, Milwaukee.
PETER SOENES, miner, Milwaukee.
WILLIAM MARION, miner, Chicago.
CHARLES JOHNSON, miner, Chicago.
JOHN HEALY, miner, Milwaukee.
FRANK BROWN, miner, Milwaukee.
JOHN DONOVAN, miner, Chicago.
EDWARD BAMBRIAN (colored), steward, Chicago.

Miller's Story.

Miller, the man who was rescued from the crib by the life saving crew, has recovered sufficiently to give the story of the tragedy. He said the crib house was so dangerous that all hands, 15 in number, went down into the air lock. They were quite comfortable until the house was blown away. They knew it was gone when the air pump stopped working. This was about 6 o'clock. When the pump stopped the air kept growing worse until 8:30 o'clock when it became so bad that it was proposed by some to leave the lock and take chances outside. The subject was discussed for some time and finally all agreed to it as it was found they

Could Not Live Much Longer

where they were. Accordingly the air lock was o ned and the water allowed to come in. McBride, Dwyer, Gregg, Johnson, eikowitz and Miller succeeded in ting out of the lock aud to the surface. To do this they had to climb up through 10 feet of water. The other nine, Miller says, could not find the ladder. and were drowned in the lock. When he got on the crib he wound the wire cable, which runs from a drum toward the shore, around his arm and was then able to hold on until the lifeboat arrived. He says that Dwyer, Gregg, Johnson and Leikowitz held on about a half hour and then one by one were swept away. McBride held on until within 10 minutes of the arrival of the boat and he too succumbed and was washed off before the arrival of the boat.

Found Two More Bodies.

MILWAUKEE, April 23.—The steamer Burroughs went out to the crib during the morning and the visit resulted in the recovery of the bodies of John McBride and Peder Sonns, the missing victims of the crib disaster.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

A Frightful Accident Occurs in the Minnesota Mine at Tower.

TOWER, Minn., April 19.—The most disastrous fire in the history of the Minnesota mine, near this city, occurred shortly after 10 a. m., when three men were killed outright and nine others suffered serious injuries, two of whom will probably die. Several others were slightly injured.

The accident occurred at the mine blacksmith shops, where about 20 men are employed, nearly every one of which sustained at least slight injuries. The men were engaged in breaking up a lot of worthless gas pipe before throwing it into the scrap pile. The pipe was being put under a 1,200-pound steam hammer and broken into such lengths as would permit its easy handling.

MISSISSIPPI CYCLONE.

Jasper and Clarke Counties Again Visited.

MERIDIAN, Miss., April 20.—Passengers on a train which reached here at 1 o'clock a. m. give particulars of a frightful tornado that crossed Jasper and Clarke counties. The cyclone originated in Jasper county, 35 miles south of here and travelled in a northeasterly direction. A settlement of negro cabins was destroyed and many of the unfortunate inmates perished. Colonel Berry's magnificent plantation was swept clean, but fortunately none of his family were injured. Several negroes were badly hurt. From this point to Barnett, 30 miles south of here, the storm was especially seveve.

Fatal to Five.

CINCINNATI, April 2.—A partition wall in the electric light building now being erected at the southeast corner of Hunt and Broadway streets, collapsed, precipitating 14 workmen into the cellar, a distance of 40 feet. Five were fatally and four others seriously injured.

My Sweetheart's Face
—that's my wife's you know—wears a cheerful, life-is-worth-living expression, ever since I presented her a box of
KIRK'S
WHITE RUSSIAN
SOAP

She is always recommending Kirk's soaps to her friends—says she is through with experiments—has just what she needed to make labor easy, and ensure perfectly clean clothes. She knows what she's talking about—don't forget it.

JAS. S. KIRK & CO., Chicago.

Dusky Diamond Tar Soap The Soap for Cuts Wounds and Bruises

Homes at the World's Fair.

There is no reason why anyone should be deterred from visiting the World's Fair by reason of possible inconvenience and uncertainty attending the securing of satisfactory hotel accommodations.

The Nothern Pacific railroad will in due time publish low excursion rates to Chicago and return for this occasion, while its double daily passenger train service, including through sleeping cars of both classes (standard and tourist) to Chicago, will as usual be at the head of the list in every particular.

To help you in fixing in advance upon your place of residence while attending the World's Fair, we have placed in the hands of C. A. Sharkey, our agent at your station, a book compiled by perfectly trustworthy parties called "Homes for Visitors to the World's Fair." This little book, which you can purchace for fifty cents, contains a list of about 9,000 private families who will accomodate visitors in Chicago during the time of the Fair, viz: May 1st to Oct. 30th; gives their names and addresses, and number of rooms each will have to spare. The book also gives a list of the hotels and their locations; has twelve full page large scale maps, each representing a section of the city, so that with this information before him the intending visitor himself can, at leisure, select the quarter of the city in which he would prefer to stop, by corresponding in advance with one or more families in that locality with reguard to rates and the accommodations desired.

CHAS. S. FEE, N. P. R. R.

[3teow]

Don't forget my feed mill—feed ground every week day during February either for cash or trade at rate of one sack for seven or ½ bushel per bushel ground. Special contract for large quantities. Call on me. W. H. NORRIE,
Successor to Priester & Co.,
Corner Main and Third streets.

Business Opening.

For sale on easy terms a well established and paying business in the city of Crookston. Good reasons given for retiring. Address No. 8 care of "JOURNAL" office Crookston.
(52-2)

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, city of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 1st, 1893, and terminating on April 30th, 1894, by the following person and at the following place, as stated in said application, to-wit: L. M. Bergquist, on the ground floor of the two-story frame building, situated on lot 16, block 6, Fletcher & Houston's addition to Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council in the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, Minn., on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and the seal of said city this 12th day of April, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, City of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 10th, 1893, and terminating on May 10th, 1894, by the following person and at the following place as stated in said application, to-wit: T. J. Orvik, on the first floor of the Opera Block, on lot 5, block 6, Fletcher & Houston's addition.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the city of Crookston, in the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893 at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 12th day of April, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, City of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 11th, 1893, and terminating on May 10th, 1894, by the following persons and at the following place, as stated in said application, to-wit: Dahle & Bergstrom, in the one-story frame building on lot 1, block 16, original townsite of Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the city of Crookston, in the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 12th day of April, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block. } CROOKSTON, MINN.

Something New in Train Equipment to Chicago.

The "Limited" train on The Northwestern Line," leaving Minneapolis 7:30 p. m., St. Paul 8:10 p. m. and arriving Milwaukee 7:25 a. m., Chicago 9:30 a. m., is now equipped with Wagner Compartment Cars in addition to Standard Sleepers, and also with Buffet Smoking and Library Cars.

This is the finest equipped train in America, is the only train of its kind west of Chicago, and no extra fare is charged on this "Northwestern Limited."

By "The Northwestern Line" you also have advantage of fast day train, leaving Minneapolis 7:20 a. m. and St. Paul 8:30 a. m., arriving Milwaukee 7:55 p. m., Chicago, 9:35 p. m., also an afternoon train, leaving Minneapolis 5:00 p. m., St. Paul 5:35 p. m., arriving at Chicago 7:45a. m

"The Nortwestern Line" is also the only Pullman Car Line from St. Paul and Minneapolis, Sioux City, Omaha, Kansas City, Duluth and Ashland.

For luxury and comfort, best equipment and road bed, secure ticket via "The Northwestern Line," they are on sale at all stations. Illustrated Map Folder free on application to

T. W. TEASDALE
Gen. Pass. Agent,
[32tf] St. Paul, Minn.

Cheap Fuel.

From a limited amount of wood, I will deliver to any part of the city four foot dry soft wood at $4.00, four foot dry hard wood at $5.50, sawed as you want it for 50 cents extra. W. H. NORRIE,
Successor to Priester & Co.,
Corner Main and Third streets.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE payment of the sum of three hundred and four dollars ($304) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Jedro Draper and Alice Mariah Draper, his wife, to The Security Trust Company, a corporation bearing date the 4th day of September, A. D. 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 22d day of October, A. D. 1890, at 8:40 o'clock a. m., in book 52 of mortgages, on page 447, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots fifteen and sixteen (15 and 16) of block eighty-two (82) of Kretzschmar's Addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said county, in Polk county and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 29th day of April, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and $6.65 taxes paid by the mortgagee on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 1st, A. D. 1893.

SECURITY TRUST COMPANY,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN, Attys. [48-2]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. District Court, 14th Judicial District.

In the matter of the assignment of Solfest A. Sylvester and Martin Finseth, copartners as Sylvester & Finseth.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of Sylvester & Finseth in the above entitled matter, of the city of Crookston, in said county and state, have by deed in writing, dated 4th day of March, 1893, made a general assignment to the undersigned, of all copartnership and individual property not exempt by law from levy and sale on execution, for the benefit of all their creditors, without preferences.

All claims must be verified and presented to the undersigned for allowance.

Dated March 11th, 1893.

JEROME W. WHEELER, Assignee.
(48-2) Polk County, Minn.

The Farmers' Tribune

THE Best Newspaper.
THE Best Agricultural Paper
THE Best Editorials.
THE BEST MISCELLANEOUS READING.
THE BEST SKETCHE OF TRAVEL.
THE BEST ESSAYS AND SERMONS.
Should be read in every home in the Northwest.

LIBERAL PREMIUMS.

Each subscriber who pays arrearges and one year in advance, or each new subscriber who sends one dollar for one year's subscription between Feb. 15th and May 1st, 1893, will receive as a premium their choice of either

No. 1—12 Packages Vegetable Seed.
No. 2—12 Packages Flower Seeds.
No. 3—25 Strawberry Plants.
No. 4—1 Lb. Farmers' Tribune Pedigreed Seed corn.

Remember, $1.00 for the Farmers' Tribune one year, with choice of either of above premiums. Or the

POLK COUNTY JOURNAL
ONE YEAR
AND EITHER OF THE ABOVE PREMIUMS,
For $2.00.

Address
THE JOURNAL,
Crookston, Minn.

A GOOD STORY
is as much the part of a Home Newspaper as the news. Therefore the choice fiction from leading writers constantly appearing in these columns.

If you are not a regular subscriber enter your subscription at once for
THE HOME PAPER

GREAT
BARGAINS
Come and see for Yourself.

A Neatly Furnished House

Is a joy and comfort to its possessor. In this glorious northwest none are too poor to have good furniture and comfortable fixtures for their home. We carry not only the most expensive furniture and house furnishings, but also a line of good, substantial, nice-looking goods, which we can sell at prices within the reach of all. We carry everything to be in a first-class furniture store, and we guarantee to undersell our competitors.

Scandia Furniture Co.
OPERA BLOCK,
Crookston, - - - - Minn.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.
Is the only line running
THROUGH PULLMAN CARS
—BETWEEN—
Chicago, St. Paul,
Minneapolis
—AND—
NORTH PACIFIC COAST POINTS.

THE DINING CAR LINE
Dining Cars on all through Trains.

THE YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
This marvellous Wonderland reached only by this line.

THE PEOPLE'S LINE
The people's highway from Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and West Superior to Winnipeg, Helena, Butte, Missoula, Spokane, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and Puget Sound.

THE TOURISTS' LINE
The popular line to reach Lakes Pend d' Orielle Cœur d' Alene, Kootenai, Chelan, the Hot Springs and Mountain Resorts of the Northwest and to Alaska.

DAILY EXPRESS TRAINS
Have Pullman Palace Cars, Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Free Colonist Sleeping Cars.

THROUGH TICKETS
Are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and West, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave Crookston	For St. Paul, Minneapolis Chicago, Duluth and West Superior. 7:12 p.m.
Daily	For Grand Forks, Grafton, Brandon and Winnipeg, 8:19 a.m.

For rates, maps, time tables, or special information, apply to
CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.,
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn

SAAKE
Is still doing business at the old stand and selling
WATCHES,
CLOCKS
JEWELRY
CHEAPER THAN EVER.
WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.
ROBERT STREET, CROOKSTON, MINN, C. H. SAAKE.

If you want a
STOVE OR RANGE
—FOR WOOD OR Coal, see the—
FAMOUS BRAND STOVE
AT ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER'S.
They are the finest line of stoves ever brought to Crookston, and are sold at
REASONABLE PRICES.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPENS MAY 1ST.
Are You Going? If so be sure and take out a Membership Certificate in "The Chicago Entertainment Bureau." It will save you Worry, Time and Money. Respectable and well located rooms at moderate prices guaranteed. Send for descriptive circulars to the Minnesota and Dakota Headquarters, 618 AND 619 PIONEER PRESS BLDG., ST. PAUL,
N. T. HALL, Manager.
Partial List of References: HON. KNUTE NELSON, Gov. of Minnesota; HON. A. R. McGILL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; HON. W. R. MARSHALL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; RT. REV. W. N. GILBERT, Ass't Bishop, Diocese, Minn., and many other equally well known names.

MORTGAGE SALE.

(First publication April 13th, 1893.)
(Last publication May 25th, 1893.)

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage, containing power of sale, dated November 30th, 1885, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on December 4th, 1885, in book 23 of mortgages, on pages 99, 100, 101, whereby Jean B. Lelande and Cleophie Lelande, his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to Mary E. Towle, mortgagee, all those tracts of land described as follows, to-wit: The southeast quarter of the northeast quarter, and lot one; all in section four, in township one hundred and fifty-one, of range forty-five, in Polk county, Minnesota, containing eighty acres more or less, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice $141.50, including interest and principal and taxes on said lands for the years 1885, 1886, 188 , 1888, 1890, 1891 and 1892, paid by the mortgagee.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county or his deputy, on June 10th, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m. at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any and $25 attorney's fees, and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated April 20th, 1893.

MARY E. TOWLE,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
[52-6] Attorneys for Mortgagee.

M. LeGUEE.
Veterinary Surgeon
Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET, CROOKSTON

MARTIN O'BRIEN,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
{I. O. O. F. BUILDING.} Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

Chew Climax Plug It's Much the Best. Chew Climax Plug
Its name indicates it,
Its make guarantees it,
Its use will prove it.
Chew Climax Plug Try it and see. Chew Climax Plug
Sold everywhere. Made only by
THE P. LORILLARD COMPANY,
The oldest tobacco manufacturers in America and the largest in the World.

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leaves Crookston Daily	For St. Paul, Minneapolis, Superior, Ashland, Duluth, Chicago, and for all points South, East and West	at 7:13 p. m.
	For Grand Forks, Grafton, Pembina, Brandon, Winnipeg, and points north, …	at 8:19 a. m.

GREAT NORTHERN

Railway

TIME CARD.

MONTANA EXPRESS—Daily.

West				East
7:40 p m	De.	St Paul	Ar.	6:55 a m
2:50 a m	"	Fergus Falls	"	11:25 p m
4:47 a m	"	Glyndon	"	9:36 p m
7:20 a m	"	CROOKSTON	"	7:25 p m
8:40 a m	"	Grand Forks	"	6:20 p m
9:45 a m	"	Larimore	"	5:06 p m
2: 1 p m	"	Devils Lake	"	2:55 a m
7:00 p m	Ar.	Butte	De.	7:30 a m

ST. VINCENT BRANCH—Daily except Sunday
Depart 7:30 a m Arrive 6:30 p m

FOSSTON BRANCH—Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Depart 8:00 a m Arrive 5:30 p m

ST. HILAIRE, Thief River and Red Lake Falls Branch—
Monday, Wednesday and Friday,
Depart 9:00 a m Arrive 6:50 p m

GRAND FORKS' ACCOMMODATION.
Arrive 9:50 a m Depart 7:55 p m

The scenic route to Spokane, Helena, and Butte on the west, and St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and West Superior on the east. Dining and sleeping cars on all through trains. Tickets on sale to all principal places. Baggage checked through to destination.

W. W. FEGAN, Agent.

'Round Home.

Wheat—1 Hard 53.
1 Northern 51.

Money to loan. Farm and city lots for sale. Please call at R. R. V. Loan and Investment Co., Opera Block, Crookston Minn.

Farmers say they never saw the beat of such weather at this time of the year.

Drayman Deb Lytle's new house, on Jerome's addition is nearly completed and will be a handsome cottage when ready for occupancy.

S. B. Palmer has moved up from Lockhart and is now a full-fledged citizen of Crookston.

At and below cost, my big and well assorted line of Dry Goods, Clothing and Boots and Shoes.

NEW YORK STORE,
A. CHABOT, Proprietor.

Millinery direct from Hillsboro N. Y.: Fish & Co., Chicago; Robinson & Straus, St. Paul, on exhibition and for sale at Mrs. I. U. Jenning's millinery store. The very latest, the most stylish and the cheapest. Watch out for spring opening the 25th and 26th. 1-tf

Will Peterson, Harry Norrie, Ed. Cleary, A. Permain and Chris. Felland, went down to the Beltrami swamps last week to shoot geese and managed to bring home three ducks.

The Northern Pacific folks sent a special from Grand Forks last week to look after their bridge at this point. However it was not in much danger.

Travel across the Jerome addition bridge was interfered with for two days last week, owing to preparations to raise the bridge in case it became necessary.

Do not miss the bargains at the
NEW YORK STORE.

You are not wise if you buy any furniture before looking at the stock still on hand at I. U. Jenning's furniture store. You can probably find just what you want and at cost. 1-tf

Supt. Ponsonby and a crew went to Red Lake Falls on Friday to try the effect of dynamite upon the ice gorged at that place.

The Great Northern train on Friday morning was five hours late while the train on the Northern Pacific was very much later. The N. P. train was stalled in a snowstorm near Anoka.

If you are looking for a snap in farms call and look over that bargain that the Red River Land and investment Company offers in another column. A good improved farm all ready for business at about the bare cost of improvements is a snap not to picked up every day. For full particulars call on or address August George, Opera house block.

Monday morning opened with prospects for rain that were not verified during the day.

Mrs. Cox, who with her family had rooms in the opera house block, died on Friday of last week leaving a large family of children in destitute circumstances. The funeral occurred on Sunday.

Flax seed for sale, farmers wishing to put in flax this spring can be supplied with the best seed in any quantity by the Crookston Hay & Commission Co. They will also pay you the highest cash price for your butter, eggs and Produce. [2-3]

The flouring-mill was obliged to suspend operations early on Friday morning owing to a super-abundance of water. All day Thursday they were hauling out flour and feed to a dryer latitude in case the waters should become troublesome.

Sheriff Youngren, of Kittson county was in the city on business last week.

Rev. R. H. Battey has been appointed conductor of the teacher's institute, which holds its summer sessions some time to be announced later. Mr. B. is an old experienced hand in school work and the appointment is an excellent one.

H. R. Owen, manager of that excellent farmer paper, Farm, Stock and Home, of Minneapolis, was married last week to Miss Minnie McMillan, of Sparta, Wis. The JOURNAL extends its sincere congratulations wishing the happy couple a long and prosperous journey down life's pathway.

A person reading the Times of last Thursday would think we had a second deluge precipitated upon us while the plain facts are that we have had very much higher water very many times. The Times man talked like a tender-foot who was not used to a little water.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Belle Hopkins to Roland Haven, which event will take place at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Hopkins, in Duluth on Wednesday, May 3rd. Mr. Hopkins was for many years a resident of this city where the family have yet many friends who will unite with the JOURNAL in hearty congratulations.

The more Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used the better it is liked. We know of no other remedy that always gives satisfaction. It is good when you first catch cold. It is good when your cough is seated and your lungs are sore. It is good in any kind of a cough. We have sold twenty-five dozen of it, and every bottle has given satisfaction. Stedlman & Friedman, druggists, Minnesota Lake, Minn. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist, Crookston, Minn.

"Six Thousand Miles through Wonderland" is the title to a handsome little pamphlet placed upon our table by the Northern Pacific railway company. The little pamphlet is a description of the country through which the Northern Pacific railroad passes from Duluth to the Pacific ocean and is a very interesting work, especially so to one who is desirous of obtaining information as to securing a home in the west. Should any JOURNAL readers desire a copy he can obtain it by addressing C. S. Fee, Gen. Pass. Agent, N. P. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

Louis Billardeau had a severe time one day last week by which he lost a good horse and came near losing his life. His experiences as related to us by one of his neighbors were thrilling in the extreme to say the least. It seems that he started, in a road cart hunting ducks and when he came to the stream just north of John Wyand's it was deeper than he thought and running so swiftly that his horse was taken off his feet and carried into a wire fence in which he got tangled up and was drowned before he could be extricated. Mr. B. succeeded in escaping with his life and was glad enough to do that.

Comrade C. Snyder had a bit of experience with high water one day last week. While coming to town with the bronchos and the buggy the team got down in a stream and although Snyder got out and succeeded in freeing them from the buggy, one of the horses was nearly drowned before he could be got out. Snyder did not come to town that day but after he got out of the ice-water that was up to his neck went back home to warm and dry up.

C. O. Felland, the horse importer of Fisher intends to bring in some fine sheep this summer to sell amongst the farmers Polk county.

Some farmers say that they do not intend to sow as much wheat this year as usual. Some are wondering if they will be able to sow any at all.

The Northern Pacific road is having a terrible time this spring contending with the floods but they are bravely making the fight hoping for a turn in the tide soon.

G. S. Chesterman of Bathgate, N. D. has accepted a position with the Crookston Furniture Company. He will give his attention to repairing, upholstering, undertaking and picture framing.

The storm of last week seems to have been general all over the United States. In some places it took the form of fearful cyclones but here we enjoyed (?) a beautiful snow storm. It might have been worse.

Geo. W. Willis, the noted Quaker evangelist, began a series of revival meetings in the M. E. church in this city on Sunday evening which will continue through the week at least. Everybody is cordially invited to attend these interesting evening meetings.

Mine host Peterson, of the Grand Pacific hotel, Hallock, was taking in the sights of the city on Saturday, piloted by J. W. Peterson. Peterson said that he had not yet decided whether he should sell Hallock and buy Crookston or buy Crookston and sell Hallock but he thought that he should.

Thos. R. Johnstone of Fisher, who was in the city last Tuesday, informs the JOURNAL that he is going to start for Glasgow, Scotland, about the first of next week, to visit the old folks at home. He expects to be absent about two months. Tommy is a general favorite wherever known, and his multitude of friends will wish him a pleasant trip and a quick return.

The Salvation army struck this city last week in the form of three representatives and rented a room of Mr. D. N. Taylor, opposite M. R. Brown's livery stable in which to hold meetings for awhile. This peculiar body of individuals seem to be doing a good work in large cities among certain classes, but we can see no special need for them in a city the size of Crookston; howbeit if they think there is need of their work here the JOURNAL does not object, but bids them a hearty God speed.

Joseph Simpson, who is one of the old-time Polk County farmers is not caring what wheat is worth per bushel for he is selling his oats for seed at 60 cents per bushel delivered at his granary and the only thing that bothers him is the fear that he will not have oats enough to supply the demand. The seed he brought from Canada and every year he sells his surplus at a figure away above the market price for seed as the oats are superior to any others hereabout.

Speaking of a Polk County farmer the Warren Register says:—One evening last week, while Lew Cross was on his way home from Warren, his horses broke through the ice in the coulee between his place and C. A. Tullar's as he was driving over it, thinking he was on the bridge, which was covered with snow and ice so he could not see it. The horses sank into the water and snow slush over their backs, while the sled remained on the ice. Mr. Cross got the horses unfastened from the sled and using the neck yoke for a pounder, he broke away the ice in front of them until they were able to make their way to the bank, after a hard struggle, after which Mr. Cross drove the horses home, while he followed on foot, leaving the sled and wagon box in the slough, to be recovered next day.

Comrade C. Snyder says he wonders what farmers are thinking of who say that this season is later than last. "Why," says he, "I do not know of one instance of seeding done last year before May 13th and I do know of a great many who commenced a good bit after that. I do not as yet see any occasion to believe that we shall be any later than last year if indeed we are as late as the ground is even now rapidly getting in good shape to begin. You must remember that we have had a much larger body of snow than usual to take care of.

Martin Anderson, who came up Ossian, Iowa, about three weeks ago with some horses was taken sick on Friday afternoon of last week and died at 3 a. m., on Saturday of inflamation on the brains. He had been sleeping in a room in Ole Bjoin's livery barn and it was there he died. Friday afternoon when he mentioned his symptoms to T. H. Bjoin that individual offered to go for a doctor but Anderson said it was not necessary as he could go and see one if he desired. Later in the evening Dr. Dunlap was summoned but it was then too late and death soon came to the relief of the sufferer. The remains were sent to Ossian on Saturday for interment.

Joe Gervais was visiting in St. Paul last week.

Part of the Alba Heywood company found excellent quarters at the Cleveland house.

And for once the expected happened. Wednesday morning opened out with a fine healthy snow-storm in full bloom—which event has been expected all the week.

The Grand Forks papers with one accord unite in telling what the gu-age says about the stage of water. If the gu-age reveals such an alarming condition why not try the effects of a simple gauge?

Rudy Burkhart expects his father, Senator Burkhardt, and his brother Henry, in a few days. Henry will remain for the summer and the senator will remain a few days looking after his business interests here.

The Northern Pacific passenger service, on its new time card which is expected to go into effect April 30th, makes the following changes in its running time: East bound, arrive at 6:40 p. m.; west bound, arrive at 7:45 a. m.

Reports from Michigan, Wisconsin, and other maple sugar states are to the effect that the numerous spring snows have made a great abundance of sap and the result will be a far greater yield of maple sugar than for many years.

John McKinnon has bought the pacing mare, Mabel W., record 2:56, owned by O. R. Williams, and hereafter does not intend to take any man's dust. The animal is from a noted line of pacers and trotters and John expects great things of her in the future.

While Crookston has enjoyed almost entire immunity from high water this spring, we do not remember the spring when our streets were in such a condition as they have been for a week or so, but we are pleased to note signs of a change in the program which, in case of no further storms will result in excellent roads soon.

Miss Veronneau informs the JOURNAL that her spring trade is far better than the inclemency of the weather would lead one to expect. She does business on business principles always, charging a fair living profit and depending upon the merits of her goods for sales, believing that merit always wins in the long run.

It will be a pleasure and convenience to readers of THE MESSAGE to call on E. M. Walsh, Crookston, before going to the Columbian Exposition at Chicago. He has charge of the Chicago Renting Agency's business in Polk county. The agency will secure your room, board, and every needed comfort for you, or if your family goes with you, get your rooms or a cottage during your visit at the Exposition. Mr. Walsh will be glad to see you about it.

On Tuesday Charles Vine received a telegram announcing the death of his father-in-law, Richard Carr, at Cheyenne, Wyoming, on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Carr, who was visiting with her daughter in this city, started at once for St. Catherines, Ontario, to which place the remains of Mr. C. have been shipped. Mrs. Chas. Vine accompanies her mother on the sad journey. Mr. Carr was formerly a resident of St. Catherines, but was recently engaged in mercantile pursuits at Cheyenne.

The Nye and Burbank combination drew a $180 house at the Grand on Monday evening and the audience seemed highly pleased with the entertainment, though some had a sort of a feeling of disappointment in Mr Nye of whom great things had been expected because he is "Bill Nye." The greatest fault we have to find with him is in indistinctness—one had to listen very closely to hear everything he said. His Norwegian dialect piece caught the popular fancy and he was encored to the echo. Mr. Burbank, who is a stranger to a Crookston audience, made many warm friends. As a whole the entertainment was highly enjoyed and we could wish there could have been many more to hear it.

Talk about "high water!" Why, Crookston is not in it, not even a little bit, with Grand Forks, which is enjoying an overflow surpassing the celebrated flood of 1882 by several feet. Hardly a basement in any building in the business portion of the city but has from two to six feet of water in it, which is something that Crookston never yet had, and couldn't have, until the whole surrounding country would be flooded many feet deep. The tenderfoot who howls about high water at Crookston this spring ought to be obliged to abide in Grand Forks this spring. Perhaps then he would acquire sense enough to know when there was a flood here. No, we havn't got "high water," havn't had "high water," and are not liable to have it this spring unless we have a long continued rainfall soon, which is not likely to occur.

Frank Williams lost a valuable mare on Sunday.

Miss Inez McGrew left for Duluth on Tuesday via Minneapolis.

Agent Fegan was hiring an extra lot of men on Monday for work on the gravel train.

The school committee elsewhere referred too, will commence canvassing for subscriptions this morning.

The streets commenced drying beautifully on Tuesday, and if we get no rain, will be all right in a few days.

Judge Benson has taken possession of his new quarters in the Anderson-Olson block and is as snug as a bug in a rug now.

Fred Ghoosen, of Euclid, was down on Tuesday morning and purchased a fine pair of mares of S. L. Collins.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Brown of Stephen have been visiting in the family of T. C. Shapleigh this week.

The lady readers of the JOURNAL are all invited to call at Miss Veronneau's Parisian millinery parlors on Second street.

Nels Olander, a prominent Hallock hardware man, was in the city last Saturday, accompanied by Chas. Ungarth, one of Hallock's leading merchants.

The river commenced rising on Sunday and rose slowly for a day or so. If we get no more rain the JOURNAL's prediction of not much trouble will be correct.

Christianson Bros. have moved their abstract office into the Anderson-Olson building, where they may be found in the future ready for business.

The water is reported to be going away nicely on the prairie and some farmers say that if we get no more rain, seeding will be commenced by Monday.

W. O. Wilson has his place neatly papered and painted up and is now right in style. The walls are so slick that a fly couldn't slip on them—in the winter time,

It is said that Governor Flower of New York, will pardon Carlyle W. Harris, who was under sentence of death by electrocution to be executed sometime during the week beginning May 8th. This announcement is said to be semi-official.

G. A. Van Schultz, of Minneapolis, is in the city this week endeavoring to establish a telephone system. The main objection to the system when we had it was that it was too expensive, as a result so few had a phone, that the real benefits were destroyed, and unless the rates are more reasonable this will still prove on insuperable barrier we fancy.

A call at the fashionable millinery parlors of Mrs. I. U. Jennings during the opening event revealed a display of millinery unexcelled in variety and excellence, from the leading fashion houses of the country—and even Parisian goods and styles. Flowers are very fashionable this spring and she has all of the leading varieties on display. Tuesday, being a bright, lovely day, her shop was well filled with customers and her sales were very satisfactory. She cordially invites the ladies to call and see for themselves.

Mr. N. Freeburgh of Angus passed through the city yesterday on his way home from a four weeks trip to Northfield, Minn., where his relatives live. He reports an abundance of snow and cold weather down there, and no seeding done yet, so the farmers of Polk county can have the consolation of knowing that other portions of the state are no further ahead than this. Mr. Freeburgh, who has been foreman on the Buffington farm for several years, will look after his own farm at Angus this year.

Alba Heywood aided by a strong company, appeared in one of Sol. Smith Russell's best plays, entitled "Edgewood Folks." This play was put on in this city by the great and only Sol Smith Russell himself, and while Alba Heywood is truly excellent he cannot with truth be said to be the equal of Russell. He is a very easy, pleasing actor, taking different parts with great accuracy and his powers of mimicry are truly wonderful, and another agreeable feature of Tuesday night's entertainment is in the fact that his support is exceptionally good. The house was well filled and we doubt not everybody was well satisfied that they had had their money's worth. Mr. Heywood wil always be assured of a rousing welcome in Crookston.

The train south on the Great Northern road was several hours late on Monday evening, arriving here about 2 o'clock on Tuesday. The delay was caused by the high water west.

Dr. A. A. Just returned on Tuesday morning from a four weeks visit east. While in Chicago he visited the World's fair grounds and gives it as his opinion that the grounds will hardly be ready for the opening event, May 1st.

Everybody should bear in mind the importance of taking sanitary precautions against the threatened invasion of cholera this coming summer and clean up their door yards at the earliest moment possible.

Miss Kate Heidrich was married on Saturday last to Otto Donaldson, an engineer on the Great Northern road. After a visit with friends and relatives here they will go to Spokane Falls which will be their future home.

Tom Morris has been appointed official inspector of watches for the Great Northern road at this point and left for St. Paul on Monday's delayed train for instructions in his new duties. He may decide to extend his trip to Chicago to take in the great World's Fair before he returns.

The prospects at this writing are that seeding will be commenced earlier this year than last, and will probably be completed much earlier because more plowing was done last fall than in the fall of '91. Very few have plowing to amount to much to do this spring which will make a vast difference. While we shall have a late season, if we get no more bad storms, everything will be propitious for a prosperous season's business on the farm.

The county board met on Friday to consider applications for seed wheat and again decided not to entertain such applications. Commissioner DeMers made a roar and threatened to go down and ask Governor Nelson to call out the militia to compel the recalcitrant board to play ball but the board called his bluff and held their base. C. P. (on sober second thought) did not go to St. Paul and again sweet winged peace hovers over our county matters. While the JOURNAL sympathizes deeply with all who suffered by hail last year, yet we believe the action of the board in this matter is wise. The line must be drawn somewhere or the county will become bankrupt.

The lessons of the past few years will have been given in vain unless our farmers learn to do business on business principles by insuring their crops against loss by hail. The meeting of the county board last Friday furnished an object lesson that every farmer who is wise will avail himself of. Supposing every one of those applicants had insured his crop last summer? The result would have been that to day he would not need to apply to the county for seed wheat, for his insurance would have secured him this and at a trifling cost to himself. Business men never think of doing business without all the insurance they are entitled to and why should the farmer be less careful of his interests in this important particular?

At the citizens meeting on Friday evening Wm. Anglim, Hugh Thompson, Jno. R. McKinnon, Lewis Ellington and Felix Fournet were appointed a committee to solicit subscriptions to raise a fund of $2,500 needed to start a school on what is known as the Valparaiso plan. The projectors of this institution have conditionally secured the McKinnon hall for a school-room and the Tibesar block on Sampson's Woodland addition as a boarding-house and the money to be raised is for the purpose of fitting up these places appropriately. The idea is to provide cheap schooling adequate to the demand. Our present schools have been found wholly inadequate to meet the demand upon them and something of the sort should be done and at once. The institution, aside from its educational advantages would draw a large amount of trade to our city and deserves abundant encouragement.

Storage Warehouse.

Parties wishing to store household furniture or other articles of any kind, should call on the Hay & Commission Company, Vance Block.
[2-4]

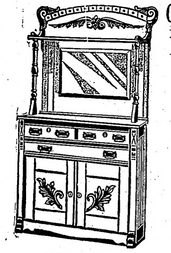
Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.
Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

DR PRICE'S
Cream Baking Powder.
The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

Historical Society

Polk County Journal.

VOL. XVII. CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, MAY 4, 1893. NO. 3



Crookston Furniture Co.
FURNITURE, CARPETS,
BURIAL SUPPLIES.

$1.35.
Antique Oak Finish.

$19.50.
Solid Oak,
Large Glass,
Plush-lined Drawers.

8-ft. Oak Table,
42x42, only
$7.90.

SCHMIDT THE PAINTER
IS NOW ON DECK
AT THE OLD STAND ON SECOND STREET,
WITH A FULL LINE OF
PAINTS, OILS, GLASS
AND
WALL PAPER.
Ready for anything in the line of Painting or Papering. Be sure and get an estimate from me before you contract your work.
A. C. SCHMIDT.

WE ARE NOT DOING
Much Blowing
At this time of the year, and it is not bragging to say that
OUR MAMMOTH STOCK
was never more complete than this spring, and that you can find no greater bargains in the city than we are giving. There is an old saying to the effect that
"THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING IS IN CHEWING THE STRING."
This applied to the old-fashioned steamed Indian Pudding that was put in a bag and tied with a string, which string no doubt retained enough of the pudding to furnish a sufficient sample.
We don't claim to have a "string" on the public, but it is a fact that when a man once comes into our store and taades he always comes again. s the pudding was supposed to speak for itself, so our goods speak for themselves every time.
☞YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED.
FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

A Snap.

The Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company has for sale a half section of land situated two miles from the city limits, good buildings, artesian well, 80 acres fenced, land all broken except about 10 acres in grove. Been used as a stock farm and admirably adapted for that purpose, as being close to the city it is available as a milk and dairy farm. Improvements upon the farm alone cost over $4,000 and it can be had for $6,400. A cash payment of $2,000 will secure the place and purchaser can have a reasonable time on the balance, or for cash a liberal discount will be made. Owner desires to invest his means in other business. Inquire of August George, opera house block. [1-tf]

For Sale at a Discount.

A scholarship in the Crookston Business College. Apply at the JOURNAL office. [10 t.f.]

Fits.

All fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St. Phila., Pa. For sale by all druggists; call on yours.

Farmers,

I am now making arrangements to buy wood from you. Call on me and we can agree. W. H. NORRIE,
Wood yard corner Main and Third streets, Crookston. [48-3]

Swedish Lutheran Jubilee.

Northern Pacific make reduced rates to Minneapolis, for the Swedish Lutheran Jubilee Festival, to be held at Minneapolis, May 22nd and 23rd, we make rate of fare and one-third on certificate plan, provided there are one hundred or more in attendance, who have paid full fare on the going trip.

C. A. SHARLEY,
Agent.

Ladies' Summer Styles are Nearly Facsimilies of Those of Our Grandmothers.

Leading designers of fashions are already discussing the revival of the styles of the Louis XIII period, and believe also that Elizabethan ruffles and stomachers will come into fashion for the summer casino toilettes. In making the new skirts, dressmakers perform a real stroke of magic. For while the amateur modiste finds herself at a loss to reproduce one of these new models, the experienced professional knows how to fit the hips in front gore or pleat and cause the skirt to suddenly expand and flare outward at the feet, where it measures many yards in circumference. And this simply because she wisely takes her knowledge from the Fashion Magazines published both in Paris and New York, by A. McDowell & Co. These illustrated magazines are an invaluable guide to any one who seeks information in the latest fashions. "La Mode de Paris" and "Paris Album of Fashion" each cost $3.50 a year, or 35 cents a copy, and contain a cyclopaedia of knowledge on this subject. "The French Dressmaker," which costs only $3.00 per annum, or 30 cents a copy, is without a peer for practical dressmaking. They also contain lessons on current styles which alone place them above competition. "La Mode" with its low subscription price of $1.50 a year, or 15 cents a copy, is the home journal "par excellence." If unable to find any of these magazines at your newsdealers do not accept any substitute, but apply directly to Messrs. A. McDowell & Co., 4 West 14th Street, New York.

For Rent.

A nine room brick house newly papered and painted and centrally located. Inquire of Stewart Lumber Company.

OPERA HOUSE.
Friday, May 5
THE COMEDIAN
Aaron H. Woodhull,
SUPPORTED BY
MISSS TROJA GRISWOLD
In his Great New York Success, the Sensational Comedy Drama, UNCLE HIRAM
SUPERB SCENIC PRODUCTION.
The Thrilling Saw Mill Scene, consisting of a complete Saw Mill outfit sawing lumber in view of the audience.
The Wonderful Railroad Effect. An Express Train consisting of Engine, Baggage Car, Coach, Sleeper, 200 feet long crossing the stage in 10 seconds.
The Brooklyn Bridge, New Harbor and Bartholdi Statute.
WE CARRY ALL OUR OWN SCENERY
And will positively produce it as advertised.
New Music. || || New Songs.
|| || New Dances. || ||
Humor and Pathos. || || ||
|| || || Laughter and Tears.
Reserved seats now on sale at Morris' jewelry store. Prices 50c, 75c and $1.00.

King David.
This celebrated Clyde Stallion will stand for the season of 1893 as follows: Monday, J. B. Roome's; Tuesday, L. H. Judson's; Wednesday, Helmich Bros.; Thursday, John Sylvesterson's; Friday and Saturday at S. L. Collins' Stable, Crookston.
This full blooded Clyde Stallion was purchased of an old reliable firm who make a specialty of importing the best stock and blood that can be found in the old country. This horse was bought by the Andover Stock Company two years ago at a large expense and can show more A No. 1 colts than any other horse ever brought to Polk county. He is a round bodied, heavy limbed, horse of dark bay color and weighs over 1,700 pounds.
TERMS—Insure, $15; Season, $10.
For further particulars enquire of
A. E. HELMICH,
(1-8) Manager.

HALVOR STEENERSON

Is the Attorney who has the Nerve to Tackle North Dakota's Prohibitory Law.

The following telegram from Fargo, N. D., under date of May 2d, gives the name of the Crookston attorney who is going to try and knock out the prohibition law of North Dakota. Halvor Steenerson is the gentleman who has the temerity to attack the constitutionality of the rock-ribbed prohibitory law, but if he is successful he will rake in a nice little pot. Mr. Steenerson has evidently discovered a weak point in the law and is taking big chances on convincing the supreme court of that fact. He receives no compensation if unsuccessful:

"Attorney Steenerson of Crookston, was in the city last night making arrangements to bring a case to test the constitutionality of the prohibition law. A number of ex-saloon keepers have signed an agreement to pay $200 apiece if the law can be broken, but if the attorney fails to carry his point no charge is to be made. An agent has been visiting towns all over the state for the last month securing signatures to this agreement and it is stated that the attorneys will get nearly $20,000 if they are successful. Ex-Senator Evarts is said to have been engaged as counsel and to be confident of success. There are nineteen blind pig cases from this county to be tried at this term of court, and one of them will be made a test case and application be made to the state supreme court, which opens at Bismarck today, for a writ of habeas corpus."

Crookston's Weather Prophet,

Uncle John Ross, handed in the following report on Thursday of last week, but too late for last issue. The report gives the opening and closing of the seasons for the past six years and will be found of interest:

In 1887, the last killing frost occurred on May 17th; first killing frost Sept. 22d.

In 1888, last killing frost May 29th; first frost Sept. 27th. May 21st the willows opened their leaves.

In 1889, the first killing frost occurred Sept. 15th.

In 1890, the last killing frost occurred May 21st; first killing frost Sept. 13th. May 21st leaves opened on the willows.

In 1891, the last frost occurred May 16th; first frost Oct. 15th. April 26th leaves opened on willows.

In 1892, last frost occurred May 21st; first frost Sept. 25th. May 15th leaves opened on willows.

In 1893, up to April 26th, there has been but one night without frost.

The Best Yet.

The new Peterson for May is ahead of its predecessors, excellent as they were. The number opens with a beautifully illustrated article by Julian Hawthorne, called "A City Within a City: Chicago To-day." Another capital paper, with profuse illustrations, is Miss Elizabeth Robinson's "Day in Marken," one of the quaintest and least-known spots in Holland. Louise Chandler Moulton contributes an appreciative criticism of Arlo Bates, the Boston novelist. "Absent Love," by Philip Bourke Marston, is one of the loveliest of the regretted poet's posthumous lyrics. The two serials, "A College Girl," by Ellen Olney Kirk, and "A Border Leander," by Howard Seely, are worthy the reputations of their popular authors. "The mortgage on the farm," by Agnes Repplier, is in that gifted writer's most brilliant vein. "School Keeps," by Minot J. Savage, gives some delightfully told reminiscences of boy-life in Maine forty-five years ago. The rest of the contents are of unusual merit, and there is a freshness and novelty about the number which is immensely attractive. The new Peterson has already proved itself the model family magazine, and its success is an established fact. Terms, two dollars a year. Address, 112-114 South Third Street, Philadelphia.

Notice.

To whom it may concern:

The undersigned has lost the following described promissory notes, to-wit: one note for $400 given November 28th, 1892, due Dec. 1st, 1893; one note for $300, same date, due Dec. 1st, 1894, and one note for $400, same date, due Dec. 1st, 1895, all given by Onizime Capistran to A. O. Danielson.

Now, therefore, all persons are hereby warned not to purchase or negotiate said notes, they being the property of the undersigned.

[3-5] A. O. DANIELSON.

There is nothing I have ever used for muscular rheumatism that gives me relief as Chamberlain's Pain Balm does. I have been using it for about two years—four bottles in all—as occasion required, and always keep a bottle of it in my home. I believe I know a good thing when I get hold of it, and Pain Balm is the best liniment I have ever met with. W. B. Denny, dairyman, New Lexington, Ohio. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

A WORLD AT HER FEET

Chicago's Hour of Triumph in Jackson Park.

THE GREAT WORLD'S FAIR OPENED

A Memorable Scene Which Calls Up Memories of the Last Three Years—Tableaux in the History of Chicago's Mighty Effort—Success at Last.

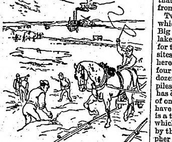
WORLD'S FAIR, May 1.—[Special.]—Nothing like it was ever seen before. Neither Solomon nor Nero ever dreamed of so much magnificence. It was precisely at noon today that President Cleveland, standing in the midst of a multitude, pushed a little button no larger than his thumb. Instantly the electric current loosened the mightiest forces of steam and electrical energy ever bottled in one spot: tore down the veil from a number of beautiful statues; started columns of water playing toward the sky from many fountains; floated in the breeze thousands of flags and streamers from as many tall staffs planted upon the roofs and towers of a score of palaces; set in motion acres on acres of the most intricate and wonderful machines man in his best century has invented and perfected; sparked into brilliancy more than a hundred thousand electric lamps, a modern defiance at noon-time of the darkness of midnight.

Thus the World's Columbian exposition of 1893 was opened this day. As I sat near the president on this occasion—a moment which will survive vividly in the memory as long as one may live—my thoughts wandered in retrospective paths. All this splendor nominally in honor of that Columbus who four centuries ago landed on the low shores of Watling Island—his San Salvador—in the Bahamas. The people of that island are to-day suffering famine and pestilence. The only good fortune that has visited them in recent years was when an enterprising Chicago newspaper sent an expedition thither to erect with much expenditure of silver coin a monument on the very spot where Columbus' feet first touched the soil of the new world, that lucky and yet luckless Columbus, shortly afterward returned to Europe in chains. As this Columbian fair is opened his descendant, now loaded with wealth and honors, sets within ten feet of me.

Seven Grecian cities praised Homer dead
In which the living Homer begged his bread.

Who first suggested this form of celebrating the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery? Probably we shall never know. Claimants for the honor appear every day or so, the caveat of each newcomer carrying him farther back than the earliest date given by his most previous rival. There can be no doubt, however—and it is a fact worth clearing in this connection in behalf of the truth of history—that the man who first made the idea of a Columbian exposition, known and talked about as a serious, practical proposition was Col. A. D. Anderson, of Washington, D. C. He interested the people of the capital, and statesmen lent a hand, too. Apparently it was determined there was to be an exposition, and it was to be held in Washington under government auspices. They had the site selected, on the shores of the Potomac. Other plans were perfected. But clouds soon appeared in the horizon. The mayor of Chicago had called a meeting of citizens to discuss the proposition to hold an international exposition in this city. New York heard of it, and called a meeting, too. St. Louis not to be outdone in enterprise, nominated herself.

Then ensued one of the most interesting, spirited contests for supremacy ever seen in this or any other country. In fact, all history may be ransacked in vain for a parallel. It was a municipal tournament which brought out the energy, the characteristics, the good nature, the wit and the public spirit of all the rivals. Early it was seen that New York and Chicago were evenly matched. Washington and St. Louis were not factors. The east was pitted against the west. What a campaign it was! Chicago won. All the reasons why have never been made public—never will be. The superior energy and stronger public spirit of Chicago were quickly manifested. While the easy-going New Yorkers were giving dinners to congressmen hustling Chicago had its men in every state in the Union, working boards of trade, legislatures, railway corporations, public sentiment—controlling the influences which controlled congressmen.



AS IT WAS IN 1891.

Then not many people appreciated the significance of that decision of congress. Now everyone appreciates it. Chicago's victory was the victory of the Mississippi valley, the interior and the farther west. It moved the actual center of the country two hundred and fifty miles to the west at one fell swoop. It pushed Chicago ahead twenty-five years at a bound. Today Chicago is the first city of the world. All this summer she will be the first city of America. After this year she will fall back beside her great and only rival, and the future race between New York and Chicago will be at hot pace.

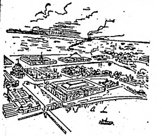
As I look over this throng, gathered for the supreme moment in the most magnificent spot of the exposition, I see scores of Chicagoans who have devoted their energies for two years or more to the cause of the fair. They are proud and happy now, as they have a right to be. Nothing in this world but love is sweeter than triumph, and love is triumph itself. But there have been times, during the past twenty months, in which many of these men, and nearly all men in Chicago, have said they were sorry New York did not beat them in congress. At the same time New York chuckled and pretended to congratulate itself upon its escape. Neither expression was sincere.

Chicago has had her troubles, and at deed. But there was never any surrender, never any cessation of effort. As the human acre in the center of this wonderful scene, this culmination of the struggle, this victory, shouts with joy after the pressing of the mighty button, my thoughts still run to the hours and days of the busy past.

It has been a series of tableaux. Only three years and two months ago it was that we had in congress the memorable scene of Chicago's victory over New York. A month later Chicago was brought face to face with the serious side of her undertaking. Bitterness erupted in her stockholders' meetings. Dissension, disruption, were threatened. One ringing voice, that of a little man no bigger than the finger of the statue of the republic which stands in the basin yonder facing Grover Cleveland—Thomas B. Bryan—quelled the storm. "The eyes of the world are upon you," he shouted; "be men!" Those words have been ringing in Chicago's ears ever since. They quelled many more storms.

Then the conflict, the inevitable conflict, about the site. This was raged long and bitter. Predictions were made that Chicago would fall in an epileptic riot, result of too much pressure between rival sections of the city, and that the fair would perish. It was the autumn of 1890 before the site was finally chosen—wisely chosen as the most zealous advocates of other locations now admit.

The Illinois legislature was not going to pass a law enabling the city of Chicago to issue bonds in aid of the fair, and the people wouldn't vote the bonds, anyway. So said the pessimists. Without municipal aid Chicago couldn't raise the money and the whole enterprise was going to the dogs. In sixty days the bonds were sold in the money market. All predictions and cavilings that Chicago could not raise the ten millions of dollars required of her by congress thus came to naught.



AS IT IS IN 1893.

Before the enterprise was fully on its feet another danger, the greatest danger of all, appeared. Congress had created a national commission and recognized a local board of directors. The inevitable conflict between them arose. More bitterness, doubt, contention, darkness. So great was the tension that one or two of the Chicago papers began to throw out hints of abandoning the enterprise. Eastern papers were not slow to act on this hint, and soon it became a mooted question not only in this country but in Europe whether there would be a fair or not. Indeed, it was at one time generally believed in Europe that the Chicago people had confessed the task to be too great for them and given up the job. They did not know Chicago!

This difficulty was finally adjusted. Then it became necessary to disabuse the world of the notion that there was to be failure in Chicago. A score of men were sent traveling through Central and Southern America to secure governmental co-operation and private exhibits. Other agents were sent to Asia and to Africa. A commission of prominent men traveled all through Europe, and turned toward the fair the tide of continental opinion that had been running strongly away from it.

Two years ago this marvelous spot on which we stand today was a mud-hole. Big dredges were at work scooping out lakes and using the earth thus acquired for the construction of islands and building sites in the swamp. A year ago I stood right here and saw one half-finished building, four or five with complete foundations, a dozen more existing only on the map or in piles of material. The transformation that has come over this scene in the short space of one year is the most sublime thing I have perceived in this whole enterprise. It is a thing which cannot be described and which must go forever unrealized except by those who saw it. If some photographer had had the wit to prepare a series of views illustrative of the rise in two years of this city of palaces on its mud-hole site, he might have made his fortune with it. The pyramids, St. Gothard, St. Petersburg, Suez, Pacific railroad, were memorable examples of the power of organized human energy. Greater, far greater than any of these, considering the time employed, is the achievement of which to-day is the climax.

Three years ago Chicago shouting in the capitol at Washington.

Two years ago dredging and scooping as if she were constructing a canal.

One year ago laying broad acres of floors and contracting for more work atop them than she had money in sight to pay with.

To-day, the world at her feet!

How will Chicago come out financially? Don't worry. Chicago will attend to that. But do not forget that she did this: When a ten million dollar fair was perceived to be too small she went ahead and made it a twenty million dollar fair, regardless of consequences. She bonded and borrowed and turned corners and even conquered in small measure a congress which all the experts thought was unconquerable. She modified none of her plans on account of expense, but rather enlarged them and spent more. This was nerve. It was courage. It deserves its reward.

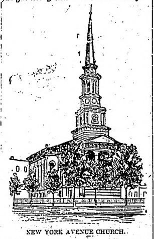
No American stands in this great presence today and views this majestic opening without feeling proud of Chicago and of his country. ROBERT GRAVES.

THE PRESBYTERIANS.

PREPARING FOR THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AT WASHINGTON.

They Will Meet In a Historic Edifice and Discuss the Case of Dr. Briggs and the Revision of the Creed—Leaders of the Church.

One hundred and four times have the Presbyterians of the United States as represented by commissioners met in general assembly, and on May 18 600 commissioners from 217 presbyteries will in the New York Avenue Presbyterian church of Washington constitute the one hundred and fifth general assembly. The place of meeting is truly historic, the men in charge are thoroughly representative of their church and nation, and there is every indication that the gathering will be noted in history.



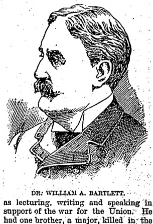
NEW YORK AVENUE CHURCH.

Not more than three assemblies at any rate have been more important, and possibly but two—the one which organized the church immediately after the United States became a nation and that of 1870, which completed the reunion of old school and new school, which had been separated about 33 years. At the coming assembly an earnest attempt will be made to give final settlement to certain questions which have troubled the church for several years; chief among them the revision of the confession of faith and the famous—one might almost say notorious—Briggs case.

The New York Avenue Presbyterian church is one of the historic places of Washington. The name was taken in 1859, when the old F Street and Second Presbyterian churches were united under the pastorate of Rev. Dr. Phineas D. Gurley, who took the lead in building the present edifice. In 1852 the old congregation welcomed the general assembly of that year. In the original congregation, Presidents Andrew Jackson, John Quincy Adams and Franklin Pierce were frequently present in their terms, and the attendance of the last named at the prayer meetings was a subject of frequent remark. James Buchanan occupied a pew there regularly, and Abraham Lincoln made it his religious home so far as he had any. Today it has a very large proportion of eminent officials among its attendants.

Nevertheless when Dr. Bartlett was called to the pastorate in 1882, the membership was but a few over 500. It rapidly increased to 2,000, and the original church has founded two others, the Church of the Covenant and the Gurley Memorial, and sustains two flourishing missions. William Alvin Bartlett was born Dec. 4, 1832, in Binghamton, N. Y., and was graduated from Hamilton college in 1852, since which time his career has been one of extraordinary activity. Among of his classmates and intimates at college were the present Justice Merwin of the supreme bench of New York, Rev. Mr. Cleveland, the president's brother, Charles Dudley Warner and Professor Fisk of Cornell, and though Bartlett was the youngest (but 19 when he graduated) all the others conceded him the honors of the class, and he has since worn the Phi Beta Kappa badge on his watch chain.

While still a minor he was made acting professor of Greek, Latin and elocution at the institution near Staunton, Va. A year later he entered Union Theological seminary, New York, and after graduating there with high honors took a course in Halle and Berlin, devoting special attention to what is now called higher criticism. He has held pastorates at Owego, N. Y., Brooklyn, Chicago and Indianapolis, and has done an immense amount of outside work, such as lecturing, writing and speaking in support of the war for the Union. He had one brother, a major, killed in the last movement of the Army of the Potomac, and another, General J. J. Bartlett, was recently buried at Arlington as an honored veteran.



DR. WILLIAM A. BARTLETT.

Rev. Dr. William C. Young of Kentucky, who will preach the opening sermon, is also a man of varied experience and with an interesting history. He was born April 23, 1842, in Danville, Ky., his father being the Rev. Dr. John C. Young, and his mother, Cornelia, a daughter of the eminent John J. Crittenden. Center college at Danville had been chartered by the legislature in 1819, and in 1830 Dr. John C. Young was elected president. He died in 1857, having been president 27 years, and 31 years later the trustees elected his son, Dr. William, as president. Though he entered on the duties late that year his formal inauguration was postponed to the seventieth anniversary of the founding of the college. Oct. 9, 1889, was indeed a proud day in the history of Danville and Center college.

After his graduation there in 1859 Dr. Young passed some years in teaching and reading, then took a complete theological course, traveled some time in Palestine, filled pastorates in various places—one being a seven years' charge at Fullerton Avenue church, Chicago—whence he returned to his native state and was for eight years pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of Louisville. Thence he went to take charge of his alma mater. When the general assembly convened at Portland, Or., last year, an unusually spirited contest ensued over the choice of a moderator. Eight candidates were placed in nomination, and on the third ballot Dr. Young received 262 of the 525 votes. Having served most acceptably as moderator there, he is the proper official to open the proceedings at Washington.

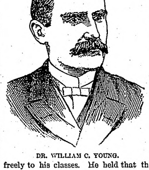
It is estimated that the assembly will sit for 12 days, with morning and afternoon sessions only, unless the business shall press toward the close. Revision of the creed must be settled this year, and the Briggs case may be. After many years' discussion various presbyteries sent in their overtures, and at Portland the assembly referred 23 of these overtures to the presbyteries for final action. First in popular interest is the proposed change in chapter 10, section 3, so that it will read thus:

> Infants dying in infancy and all other persons not guilty of actual transgression are included in the election of grace and are regenerated and saved by Christ through the Spirit, who worketh when and where and how he pleaseth. * * * So also are all other elect persons who are not outwardly called by the Word.

This is to be construed in connection with these words elsewhere:

> The rest of mankind God saw fit, according to the unsearchable counsel of his will, whereby he extendeth or withholdeth mercy as he pleaseth, not to elect unto everlasting life, and them hath he ordained to dishonor and wrath for the sin, to the praise of his glorious justice. yet hath he no pleasure in the death of the wicked nor is it his decree, but the wickedness of their own hearts, which restaineth and hindereth them from accepting the free offer of his grace made in the gospel.

All the world knows the history of the Briggs case. It is therefore only necessary to summarize it and present the issue as it will come before the assembly. Dr. Charles Augustus Briggs, professor in Union Theological seminary and as a preacher amenable directly to the New York city presbytery, adopted the views of the German school and taught them freely to his classes. He held that the Bible is not infallible, but contains many errors; that reason is the court of last resort in Biblical as in other questions; that those who reject the Bible may still have a chance, and many other so called liberal ideas. After due formalities the case went before the general assembly at Portland and was referred back to the New York presbytery. That body, 99 ministers and 82 elders voting, acquitted Dr. Briggs on every one of the six charges by majorities ranging from 6 to 21.



DR. WILLIAM C. YOUNG.

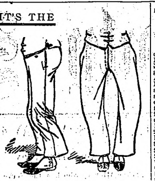
It appears, therefore, that a man may be an acceptable Presbyterian preacher in New York city while holding and preaching the following tenets:

> First—That reason is a fountain of divine authority which may and often does savingly enlighten men, even such as reject the Bible and the way of salvation through the mediation and sacrifice of the Son of God. Vote, 68 to 60.
>
> Second—That the church is a fountain of divine authority, which, apart from the holy Scripture, may and does savingly enlighten men. Vote, 71 to 55.
>
> Third—That errors existed in the original text of the holy Scripture as it came from its authors. Vote, 68 to 61.
>
> Fourth—That Moses is not the author of the Pentateuch. Vote, 72 to 53.
>
> Fifth—That Isaiah is not the author of half the book that bears his name. Vote, 70 to 49.
>
> Sixth—That sanctification is not complete at death. Vote, 60 to 57.

Bear in mind that the presbytery did not by its vote and the general assembly if it acquits will not declare these things true. They will simply declare that one may hold and teach them and still be fellowshiped as a Presbyterian. Nor will conviction carry any reflection upon the convicted as a man. It will simply mean that so long as he so teaches his home is somewhere else than in the Presbyterian church. He also set forth with great detail that he believed the Bible to contain the word of God and considerably more, and that Christ is not the Son of God in the usually accepted sense, but in—well, in a sense that the ordinary layman has never been able to understand. And yet, despite these views, certainly as broad as any held by Dr. Channing or James Freeman Clarke, views certainly condemned by every council which has considered them since that of Nice, A. D. 325, the Rev. Dr. Charles Augustus Briggs still fills the Robinson chair on Biblical theology in Union seminary. And this although when he entered the seminary as a professor he subscribed the declaration beginning, "I believe the Scriptures of the Old and New Testament to be the word of God, the only infallible rule of faith and practice," etc.

J. H. BEADLE.

IT'S THE



Fault of the Merchant

IF YOUR

CLOTHING

DOESN'T FIT.

There's nothing extraordinary about your figure. It's an easy enough matter to take your measure, and it's just as easy to cut cloth according to the measure when taken. We can take your measure and cut the cloth without the possibility of a mistake.

YOU MUST SELECT THE MATERIAL however, and much depends upon the good taste you display in making a choice. It's no case of Hobson's choice in our store either, because our stock embraces all the materials

SANCTIONED BY FASHION.

and if there is not something in it perfectly appropriate to you, then the appropriate fabric has not been made yet. We are showing the

LATEST NOVELTIES FOR SPRING WEAR.

BOSTON
ONE PRICE
Clothing House,
Mossefin & Lindell, Proprietors.

RED RIVER VALLEY
LOAN AND INVESTMENT COMPANY.

MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE.

FARMS AND LANDS For Sale in nearly all the Towns of Polk County.

CITY LOTS
In Crookston and Thief River Falls.

List your Lands and Lots with us and effect quick sales.

OFFICE IN OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.

A. G. GALLASCH, Pres.
J. W. WHEELER, Vice Pres.
W. H. MATHEWS, 1st Vice Pres.
A. F. GEORGE, Sec.
O. H. LUCKEN, Treasurer.

THE PRESS
(NEW YORK)
For 1893

Has a larger Daily Circulation than any other Republican newspaper in America.

DAILY. SUNDAY WEEKLY.

The Aggressive Republican Journal of the Metropolis.

A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES.

Founded Dec. 1st, 1887.

Circulation over 125,000 copies daily. The most remarkable Newspaper Success in New York. The PRESS is a National Newspaper. Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of the the PRESS.

The PRESS has the brightest Editorial page in New York. It sparkles with points. The PRESS Sunday Edition is a splendid paper, covering every current topic of interest. The PRESS Weekly Edition contains all the good things of the Daily and Sunday editions.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM
The Press has no superior in New York.

THE PRESS
Within the reach of all. The best and cheapest Newspaper in America.

Daily and Sunday, one year	$5 00
" " 6 months	2 50
" " 1 "	45
Daily only, one year	3 00
" 4 months	1 00
Sunday, one year	2 00
Weekly Press, one year	1 00

Send for Press circular. Samples free. Agents wanted everywhere. Liberal commissions.

Address THE PRESS,
38 Park Row, New York.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

First publication April 6th, 1893.
Last publication May 18th, 1893.

WHEREAS DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly made and delivered by Pierre Lemieux and Philomine Lemieux, his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 22d day of December, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 23d day of February, A. D. 1888, at 10.40 o'clock a. m., in book 34 of mortgages, on page 598, etc. Whereas default consists of the failure to pay the following installments of interest to-wit: $35.00 that became due June 22, 1889; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1889; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1890; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1890; $35 00 that became due June 22, 1891; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1891; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1892 and $35 00 that became due December 22, 1892, and whereas the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, holder of said mortgage, has elected to declare, and hereby does declare, the whole principal sum in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum to-wit: Thirteen hundred forty-two and seventeen hundredths ($1342.17) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof:

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The northwest quarter (nw¼) of section thirteen (13) township one hundred fifty (150) range forty-five (45) containing 160 acres more or less according to the government survey thereof, all of said premises situated and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public aution, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State on the 22d day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'cock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 30th, A. D. 1893.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON,
Attorney For Mortgagee.

(51-7) N. G. 136.

John Wyatt
THE UNDERTAKER,
EMBALMER AND
FUNERAL DIRECTOR.

Besides carrying a full and complete line of
COFFINS,
CASKETS
AND BURIAL SUPPLIES,
has the largest and most complete stock of

Pictures, Picture Frames,
—AND—
Picture Framing Material
—In the city.—

Special discount During the Holidays.

Office 105½ Broadway,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINNESOTA.

W. A. ROBERTSON
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.

N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.

OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

A. H. DUNLAP, M. D.
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS, QUEBEC.
Office in McKinnon Block.

NEW CIGAR STORE
SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor.
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerchaum.

CALL IN.

King David.

This celebrated Clyde Stallion will stand for the season of 1893 as follows: Monday, J. B. Roome's; Tuesday, L. H. Judson's; Wednesday, Helmick Bros.; Thursday, John Sylvesterson's; Friday and Saturday at S. L. Collins' Stable, Crookston.

This full blooded Clyde Stallion was purchased of an old reliable firm who make a specialty of importing the best stock and blood that can be found in the old country. This horse was bought by the Andover Stock Company two years ago at a large expense and can show more A No. 1 colts than any other horse ever brought to Polk county. He is a sound bodied, heavy limbed, horse of dark bay color and weighs over 1,700 pounds.

TERMS—Insure, $15; Season, $10.

For further particulars enquire of

A. E. HELMICK,
(1-8) Manager.

"Sure will the Harvest Be!"

And it depends to a great extent upon the machine you use to do your seeding with, whether it will be a full harvest or not. To insure this buy a

Dowagiac Shoe Drill

—THE MOST—
SIMPLE,
PRACTICAL,
DURABLE,
EFFECTIVE.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS of uninterrupted success has placed this KING OF DRILLS at the head. Investigate its style of spring pressure and the independent, solid bottom steel shoe before buying.

We also sell a complete line of FARM IMPLEMENTS, Boss and Steel Lever Harrows, Rushford Wagons, and a complete line of all styles of Harness. We are also agents for the VICTOR BICYCLE, the best wheel made, and invite you to call and see them.

MERIT WINS.

Larsen Carpenter & Co.
Broadway and Robert street, - Crookston, Minn.

McKINNON BROS.,
—DEALERS IN—
ALL OF THE LEADING
Agricultural Implements
MAIN STREET. McKINNON BLOCK.
Before Purchasing, Give Us a Call.

CHRISTIANSON BROS.,
Abstracters of Title, Loans,
Real Estate and Insurance

N. B. FARM LOANS a specialty. Terms, three to five years. Lowest rate of interest, payable annually at our office.

☞ Choice FARM LANDS for sale cheap, on terms to suit purchasers. ☜

Office on Robert Street, - - - - CROOKSTON, MINN

Crookston Business College.
and INSTITUTE OF SHORTHAND.

DEPARTMENTS:—Commercial Shorthand, Typewriting and English.
TEACHERS:—R. C. Holaday, Nellie B. Perry and L. E. Gossman.
Winter Term begins Monday, January 2d, 1893. Send for new catalogue.
CROOKSTON BUSINESS COLLEGE, Crookston, Minn.
BENJ. A. STRAWBRIDGE, Prop.

ASTHMA CURED BY DR. TAFT'S ASTHMALENE

Instead of flying to the door gasping for breath, seeming as if each one would be your last, you have only to take a few doses Asthmalene when the spasm is broken, the breathing becomes easy and you feel as if an angel of mercy had unloosed the iron grasp of the fingers of death. The happiest moment of your life will be when you have used a few bottles of Dr. Taft's ASTHMALENE and it has cured you of Asthma. We mail to any Asthma sufferer a trial bottle FREE and prove that it does Cure Asthma.

Sold by druggists. Dr. Taft Bros. M. Co., Rochester, N. Y.

IF YOU ARE GOING EAST OR SOUTH ASK YOUR NEAREST AGENT FOR TICKETS VIA THE BURLINGTON AND TAKE NO OTHER LINE.

NEW BARBER SHOP.
On Main St. C. E. MISNER, Prop

Invites your patronage. Everything in the very latest style of the art.

RAZORS HONED.

If you desire your Razor Honed and cannot bring it, send it to me with 30 cents and your name and address and I will hone and return it.

Yours Respectfully,
C. E. MISNER.

THE DUAL
MEAT MARKET.

CHARLEY VINE
Is Headquarters for all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats.

Highest cash price paid for cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry and hides.

SHOPS
Corner Broadway and Robert street,
and on Second street, in Reckitt block,
Crookston, - - Minn.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON.

Commenced Business October, 1881.

PAID IN CAPITAL........$100,000
SURPLUS........15,500

Interest on certificates of deposit. Accounts of farmers and business men solicited.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. B. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, J. B. McKinnon, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, Chas. E. Sawyer, W. H. Crosby

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA

ALCOHOL A LA SWISS.

RESULTS OF SIX YEARS' OPERATION OF THE MONOPOLY PLAN.

Statistics Which Will Interest American Readers Because of the Fact That Somewhat Similar Methods Are Proposed In Parts of This Country.

The particular method of dealing with the alcohol question which is now adopted in Switzerland is discussed by Mr. W. Milliet of Berne in a recent publication of the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

There is, it seems, no appreciable current of opinion among the Swiss in favor of total abstinence, considered either as a voluntary act or as the outcome of prohibitory legislation. It is true that by an amendment of the federal constitution passed in 1885 the cantonal legislatures acquired the power of restricting the number of places for the sale of liquor within their respective jurisdictions. The power has ostensibly been exercised in 14 cantons, but even in these, taken as a whole, the number of taverns has somewhat increased.

No substantial result, therefore, has followed the concession of restrictive power. Such is not the case with the alcohol monopoly introduced in 1887. This has accomplished two things. It has greatly improved the quality of the distilled liquors consumed in Switzerland, and has caused a marked reduction in the use of them. The primary aim of the monopoly was to bring about the substitution of fermented for distilled liquors, and short as is the period during which the experiment has lasted the results are encouraging.

Before the creation of the alcohol monopoly, Switzerland suffered from the practice of peddling distilled liquors and from the existence of a multitude of small stills in agricultural districts. The product of these stills, by reason of the primitive methods of manufacture and the absence of rectification, was excluded from the general market and was consequently consumed by the peasant distillers themselves. The effect of these small stills was to make the daily drinking of "schnapps," as the domestic raw liquor is called, almost universal among farmers and agricultural laborers. It was the alarming spread of alcoholism that ensued which brought about the change in the federal constitution whereby limited rights of interference with the liquor traffic were granted to the authorities, both federal and cantonal.

Since the creation of the alcohol monopoly, 1,400 large and small distilleries have been suppressed by expropriation. From the remaining 60 or 70 distilleries, the monopoly administration is the only purchaser. The product does not go directly from distiller to purchaser. The administration takes it under fixed conditions and brings it back to the trade only after it has been duly rectified. Of the profits of the monopoly, one-tenth, now amounting to about $140,000 a year, must be applied to the struggle with alcoholism—that is to say, to the maintenance of the poor and the insane whose misfortunes may be traced to that malady.

Now as to the effect of the monopoly on the quantity of spirits consumed. In 1885 the consumption of distilled liquors per capita was 10.26 liters; in 1891 it was only 6.32. A part of this decrease is due to the cessation of smuggling of distilled liquors from Switzerland into the adjacent countries. But after reasonable deductions on that score have been made, it is estimated that the shrinkage in the use of ardent spirits by the Swiss themselves is not less than 25 per cent. The decreased consumption is obviously due not only to the extinction of private stills, but to the fact that a higher price must be paid for the product of distilleries. The joint effect of diminished consumption and of the greatly improved quality of the liquors sold is expected soon to show itself in the statistics of alcoholism.

We have said that the purpose of the Swiss legislature was not to abolish the use of distilled liquors, but gradually to supplant it by that of wine or beer. To that end, while the price of spirits was raised, that of fermented liquors was lowered by relieving them from certain excise duties. So far as wine is concerned no marked change took place in the volume of consumption between 1885 and 1890. This is attributed, however, to the remarkable decline of the home production in the period named, a decline which had to be made good by importation.

In the case of beer, on the other hand, the effect of the liquor monopoly on the habits of the Swiss people is unmistakable. The consumption of beer in Switzerland increased between 1885 and 1890 from 36 liters per capita to 45 liters, showing an advance of some 25 per cent. So far as the Swiss experiment has gone, it seems to show the possibility of supplanting to a considerable extent the use of ardent spirits by that of those fermented liquors, such as beer, which contain relatively little alcohol.—New York Sun.

An Old Custom Seldom Followed.

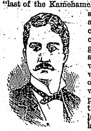
In many old families the custom has obtained from time immemorial of putting an extra plate and chair for the stranger or an unexpected guest. In those old days there was good reason for this. Hotels were few, and traveling was mostly done by private conveyance. It was the unwritten law of hospitality that the stranger could find a welcome in almost every household. Of course conditions have changed, and generosity has taken a new form.—Baltimore Herald.

Never Let Tea Remain In the Pot.

Tea should never be allowed to stand upon the "grounds." If it must unavoidably be made some time before it is to be used, the liquid should be poured from the leaves. It may then be kept ready for a delayed member of the family for a long time without serious deterioration, or at least without the addition of any harmful qualities.—Good Housekeeping.

LAST OF THE KAMEHAMEHAS.

Prince Albert of Hawaii, Who Puts In a Strong Claim to the Throne.



PRINCE ALBERT.

Prince Albert Kukailimoku Kunuiakoa, who is known in Honolulu as the "last of the Kamehamehas," has a very significant name, and in its significance may be discovered the origin of his pretensions to the Hawaiian throne as well as the cause of the neglect of which he complained during the reign of the late King Kalakaua, who completely ignored him. Translated into an understandable language, Kukailimoku means "stand and take away the throne," and Kunuiakoa is said to signify "stand before the public."

According to the Hawaiian custom of tracing rank by the mother's side, Prince Albert is a grand nephew of the old original Kamehameha, but he claims to be even more directly descended from the old king, alleging that he is a son of Kamehameha III and not of his mother's legitimate husband. He is said to exhibit with much pride a picture of himself as an infant in the arms of the queen of his putative father and claims that this showed a desire on the part of her majesty, who had no children of her own, to recognize her husband's natural son.

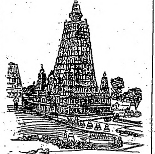
On the death of Kamehameha V without naming a successor the legislature, under the provisions of the constitution, elected Lunalilo, a chief of another house, who reigned but a year and was succeeded by Kalakaua, who was also elected by the legislature in spite of the general wish of Hawaiians to have Queen Emma for their monarch. Kamehameha V is said to have accorded Prince Albert all the consideration due his rank as a prince of the blood, and he was employed in the Hawaiian foreign office during that monarch's incumbency. Lunalilo, however, showed him no courtesy, and Kalakaua declined to favor scions of the Kamehameha blood.

The prince is one of the handsomest men in Honolulu. He is well educated and has traveled in the United States and Europe. He has lately erected a beautiful mansion for himself in the outskirts of Hawaii's capital.

A SUBLIME STRUCTURE.

The Holiest and Most Famous of the Early Buddhist Shrines.

One of the most beautiful as well as the holiest and most famous of the few surviving Buddhist shrines of long ago is the Temple of the Tree at Buddha-Gaya, near Patna, Bengal, which was once the center of the Buddhist religion and is still a place of pious pilgrimage. The temple is now occupied by a Brahmin college, but a movement is on foot among followers of Buddha all the world over to establish a Buddhist college there and restore the ancient shrine to believers of the primitive faith.



TEMPLE OF THE TREE.

The temple is square, with a projecting porch, and from its top soars skyward a pyramidical tower of nine stories, all profusely embellished with a graceful upper pinnacle and gold finial. A smaller tower stands at each corner of the roof of the lower structure, and there is a broad walk about the base of the great tower. Over the porch which fronts the east a triangular aperture is pierced whereby the glory of the morning sun may fall upon the gilded image of Buddha seated in the sanctuary within. This magnificent temple is almost the last one remaining of the 84,000 erected by King Asoka to the memory of the great teacher 218 years after Buddha's death.

Americans Should Learn This Art.

The Indians on the Missouri river tread water just as the dog treads it. Among the natives of Joanna, an island on the coast of Madagascar, young persons walk the water, carrying fruit and vegetables to ships becalmed or, it may be, lying in the offing miles away. At Madras, watching their opportunity, messengers, with letters secured in an oilskin cap, plunge into the boiling surf and make their way to the vessels outside, treading the water through a sea in which no ordinary boat could live. At the cape of Good Hope men used to proceed to the vessel in the offing through mountain billows, treading the water as they went with the utmost security.

More Fatal Than Consumption.

During the past five years the suicides in the Austrian army were equal to a fifth of the total mortality of the army during this period, and more deaths were due to this than to typhoid fever, pneumonia or consumption.

Parisian Publications.

Paris has 1,998 periodicals. Of these 171 are devoted to politics, 168 are illustrated, 163 are religious periodicals (67 Catholic, 93 Protestant and 3 Israelite), while the rest deal with science and art, finance, trade, etc.

The Queen's Uniform Degraded.

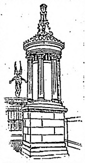
English military men are much exercised at the degradation of the queen's uniform in London as a costume for sandwich men.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."
Sleepy.
If a man is drowsy in the day time after a good night's sleep, there's indigestion and stomach disorder.
BEECHAM'S PILLS by removing the waste matter which is clogging the system, will cure all Bilious and Nervous Disorders, and will quickly relieve Sick Headache.
Covered with a Tasteless and Soluble Coating.
Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box.
New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

FOR OLD COLLEGE BOYS.

The Greek Letter Fraternities Will Have an Interesting Show at the Fair.

The Greek letter college societies have had space allotted to them and will make an interesting and instructive exhibit at the World's fair. This will include a collection of books, charts and documents relating to the fraternities, bound volumes of their songs, magazines, annuals, etc., and a complete display of all their badges and paraphernalia. But the chief feature of the exhibit will be a reproduction of the choragic monument of Lysicrates, which is said to be the most famous specimen of Corinthian architecture in existence, and which will be restored in every particular and put in the center of the space devoted to the exhibit. The monument is 40 feet high, and the walls are black, the woodwork being all ebonized and ornamented in gilt.



CHORAGIC MONUMENT.

It may be well to explain for the benefit of those who do not know that a choragic monument was a building erected by a victorious chorus leader for the exhibition of the tripod received as a prize in the musical contests in Athens. Besides that of Lysicrates to be reproduced for the fraternities there is another still to be seen in Athens, that of Thrasyllus.

From the safety of their operation in blood letting the leech has been used for more than 2,000 years, and in many cases doctors could hardly dispense with their use.

MILLER & FOOTE,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block, - Crookston, Minn.

FITS STOPPED FREE
Marvelous success.
Insane Persons Restored
Dr. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER
for all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure cure for Nerve Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No Fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send names, P. O. and express address of afflicted to Dr. KLINE, [illegible] Philadelphia, Pa. See Druggists. BEWARE [illegible] FRAUDS.

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the
Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

THE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUEHLR, Proprietor.
A full supply of everything kept by the trade.
Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE
The Great English Remedy.
Promptly and permanently cures all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses. Been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for Wood's Phosphodine; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, leave his dishonest store, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlet in plain sealed envelope, 2 stamps.
Before and After.
Address THE WOOD CHEMICAL CO., 131 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.
Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

Cook's Cotton Root
COMPOUND.
A recent discovery by an old physician. Successfully used monthly by thousands of Ladies. Is the only perfectly safe and reliable medicine discovered. Beware of unprincipled druggists who offer inferior medicines in place of this. Ask for Cook's Cotton Root Compound, take no substitute, or inclose $1 and 6 cents in postage in letter, and we will send, sealed, by return mail. Full sealed particulars in plain envelope, to ladies only, 2 stamps.
Address Pond Lily Company, No. 3 Fisher Block, Detroit, Mich.
Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, S. A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

Scandia-American Bank,
C. HENDRICKSON, President. L. ELLINGTON, Vice Pres
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier. H. STEENERSN, 2d Vice President.
A. P. Hanson Assistant Cashier.
Of Crookston, Minn. Organized 1877 under the State law. Capital $50,000. Surplus, $5,000. Undivided profits, $15,000. Special attention given to collections.
DIRECTORS—C. Hendrickson, Grafton, N. D.; C. O. Christianson, Halvor Steenerson, Max Ericsson, J. W. Wheeler, E. P. Pierce, L. K. Aaker, D. H. Turner, A. G. Gallasch, Lewis Ellington, J. H. Locken, O. H. Lucken.

S. L. COLLINS,
Proprietor of Main Street
Livery and Feed Stables,
Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., west side,
CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA,
Horses bought and sold on commission. Everything neat and nobby. Feeding a specialty.
FINE HEARSE
in connection, which I will attend to in person.

Valley Roller Mills,
CROOKSTON, MINN,
Manufacturers of
FINE FLOURS
MADE FROM SELECTED RED RIVER HARD WHEAT.
BRANDS:
Patent: Lee & Herrick's Best.
Straight: North Star
Bakers': Fife.
Low Grade: Skip Jack.
BRAN, SHORTS AND SCREENINGS,
Always on hand at reasonable prices.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist,
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank.

THE NEW NORTHWEST
FARM LANDS — Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana
NEW TOWNS — 100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.
LOW RATES — Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products.
Horses, Cattle. — Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills.
Health, Wealth. — In the Northwest. Free Lands, New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.
Sheep, Hogs. — Sweet Grass Hills, Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise.
Herds, Mines — These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.

"In no way can Americans so effectively inform themselves on the subjects that claim public attention from one month to another as by reading the North American Review."
IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.
THE TOPICS are always those which are uppermost in the public mind—in morals, politics, science, literature, business, finance, industrial economy, social and municipal affairs, etc.—in short all subjects on which Americans require and desire to be informed. No magazine follows so closely from month to month the course of public interest. All subjects are treated of impartially on both sides.
THE CONTRIBUTORS to the Review are the men and women to whom the world looks for the most authoritative statements on the subjects of the day. No other periodical can point to such a succession of distinguished writers. The list is a roll of the people who are making the history, controlling the affairs, and leading the opinion of the age, such as Mr. Gladstone, the Prime Minister of England; Mr. Blaine, Signor Crispi, Ex-Prime Minister of Italy, Baron Hirsch, H. R. H. the Count of Paris, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishops Potter, Doane, Mallelieu, Foss, etc., etc.
THE TIME when these subjects are treated of by these contributors is the very time when the subjects are in the public mind—not a month or two after people had ceased to think of them. The promptness with which the Review furnishes its readers with the most authoritative information upon the topics of the day is one of its most valuable features.
Subscription Price, $5.00 a year.
THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW,
3 East 14th Street, New York.

A Dollar Saved
IS
A Dollar Earned.
DO YOU
WANT
TO EARN A
FEW DOLLARS?
IN THE SPRING OF THE YEAR everyone requires some Garden or Flower Seeds, and we have made arrangements with the Weekly Pioneer Press of St. Paul, whereby we are enabled to distribute SEEDS
FREE
OF
COST.
And we can also furnish THE WEEKLY PIONEER PRESS cheaper than it can be got any other way.
HERE IS THE OFFER we are prepared to make.
For $2.00 we will send — Regul
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year..... $1 00
Polk County Journal 1 year............... 1 50
20 packages Garden Vegetable Seeds, retail price.......... 1 25
$3 75
THIS offer is good to New Subscribers, or to Old Ones paying all arrearages and one year in advance. Cash must accompany the order in every case.
Another Offer.
For $1.85 we will send you — Regula price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press one year... $1 00
The Polk County Journal 1 year....... 1 50
An "up to date" Pocket Map of any State in the Union.......... 1 00
$3 50
These maps are reliable and "up to date," and the map of Illinois includes a map of Chicago, which is valuable to any one contemplating a visit to the World's Fair.
Address
Polk County Journal,
Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

BY COOKE & HAMMOND.

Devoted to the Welfare of Polk County.

OFFICIAL PAPER, CITY OF CROOKSTON.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address

THE name of the insane hospital at Fergus Falls has been changed to "Fergus Falls State Hospital."

IT cost the United States $300,000 to participate in the great naval review at New York, and to entertain the foreign naval authorities. But t was money well spent, as it will give foreign nations a wholesome regard for our navy.

EDITOR RUTLEDGE, of the Fisher Bulletin has immortalized the Fisher bridge by a humorous write-up in the last issue of the Bulletin, describing the perils of the recent high water, and the saving of the bridge by the village council and the citizens.

President Cleveland was at the opening ceremonies on the World's fair ground on Monday. The great show is on at last although everything is not yet in rediness. However Chicago never stops for such a little thing as not being quite ready when she has any special business on hand.

Postmaster General Bissel sends out a card announcing the fact that all who attend the World's fair at Chicago can get their mail on the fair grounds as there will be a full grown post office on exhibition. All letters intended for World's fair visitors should be addressed to the "World's Fair Station," Chicago, Illinois.

IT is said that Grover will call an extra session of Congress for a short session in September in order to doctor up the finances. If Grover would give the Wall street speculators to understand that the integrity of the nation would be preserved at all hazards, even if he had to issue bonds it would have a most salutary effect.

THE World's fair was duly opened to the public on Monday, May 1st, amid one of the fiercest rain storms of the season. During the ceremonies at the grand stand the crowd was so dense and restless that many women and children were injured in the crush and had to be taken to the hospital. If such things occur thus early, what will it be later on when the crowd gets there?

Now that the commissioners have failed to appoint one man on the drainage committee and the governor has it to do, steps should be taken to secure a Polk county man for the position. Polk county originated the plan and has always taken a leading part in this matter and among the citizens who have worked hardest for its success are E. D. Childs and M. R. Brown, either of whom would make an excellent man for the position.

THE Representative, Donnelly's new paper is on our table. In it we find a complete descriptive list of Dr. Fish (from the Donnellian standpoint) and reading the Great West for the same week we find out what kind of a man Donnelly is—all of which goes to show that the war is on between these great reformers. They both seem to have got a long way out of the "middle of the road" in their frantic efforts to destroy each other.

THE North Dakota Independent, the organ of the people's party in North Dakota, is to be suspended in a couple of weeks for lack of support. Can it be that the people are tiring of the demo-populist administration which was elected in North Dakota last fall, and are showing their disapproval by letting the organ of the combination die? This sheet has been for sometime advocating anarchistic sentiments pure and simple under the idea, probably, that the people had read the doctrines so long the time was now ripe to come out in its true colors. It seems they were mistaken.

WHATEVER else may be thought of the Donnelly-Fish controversy the Doctor seems to have the whip-end of the controversy in that he has consistently advocated the "middle of the road" policy all the way through. The People's Party platform is so constructed that no one can stand upon it and advocate fusion with another party. Donnelly straddled and when the doctor called him to order lo, straightway Doc. must die. Forgetting all that Doc. had done for him nothing but Doc.'s death, politically, would answer. All of which, with the large sized internal broil thus engendered ought to set all honest men thinking on what must be the legitimate end of a party headed by such leaders.

WITH snow and cold weather in St. Paul, floods on the lower Mississippi, and the town and cities along the Red river of the north inundated, the people of Crookston should better appropriate the good weather we are getting lately.

Anent the drainage question, it strikes us that the grader and ditcher invented by Martin Swanson in 1889, if fully developed would be just the thing this country needs at present. His machine is intended to cut a ditch any width desired to a depth of six feet, if desirable. It could also be made to cut a tile ditch, lay the tile and cover the ditch as it goes along. In the lateral ditches this machine seems to be the very thing that is needed and we think it would pay the committee having the matter in charge, to look it up. It would require but a comparatively small outlay to fit up a machine and set it to work.

Hon. John D. Knudson takes occasion to indulge in a bitter personal attack upon H. E. Cooke, in last issue of the Tribune because the JOURNAL called him to account for his action on the re-apportionment bill and makes an exceedingly lame attempt to palliate his gross neglect of the interests of his constituents. His childish attempt at personal abuse does not mitigate his offense, only shows the weakness of his cause is not worthy a reply in kind and will not get it, for with Mr. Knudson as a private individual we are not dealing, but with the Hon. John D. Knudson, as the people's representative and as such we have and shall exercise the right to criticise his public actions in the interests of the people. The right of representation is one of the most sacred rights of an American citizen and John D. Knudson nor any other representative in the legislature has a right to exercise his opinion when that opinion conflicts with this sacred right of his constituents. He says that he was in favor of the first bill introduced, but later on substitutes No. 1 and No. 2 were brought up for action and only No. 1 was acted on and for the reason that Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth would gain a few more members than they now have his high mightiness decided that his constituents might go without representation before he would ever consent that a city should gain, even though they were entitled to it by law. It is childish folly for him to assume that he had any right to vote against the constitutional rights of the people for any reason whatever, and the fact that he don't seem to know this, shows what a brilliant genius was sent to represent Polk county. If he knew enough to legislate, no criticism of his action could be severer than he deserves; if he did not know enough then the blame falls upon those who sent him there, in any event the people have to suffer for it. It is no excuse for him that there were not enough besides his vote to pass the bill. It was his duty to vote for it just the same. He also alleges that the bill discriminated against some southern district. If true what business was that to him? Was he sent to represent every district in the state? Oh, no. if we concede that he is honest (and we have never known him to be otherwise on private deals) then we are forced upon the other horn of the dilemma which is that he did not know any better, either of which positions is equally rough on his constituents.

The Review of Reviews for May, without pretending for a moment to invade the special domain of the elegantly illustrated monthly magazines, may perhaps claim to surpass any of them in certain quality of original and timely interest in its pictures. It contains, all told, about one hundred illustrations. They pertain to the World's Fair, to the naval review, to the flag-raising on the Navesink Highlands, of April 25, and the casting of the Liberty Bell on May 1 at Troy, to the reception in New York of the Duke of Veragua, the lineal descendant of Christopher Columbus; to Mr. Cleveland's various important appointees, including perhaps a dozen of the most important new foreign ministers and the principal commissioners and chiefs of bureaus.

Advertised Letters.

List of letters remaining unclaimed at the Crookston postoffice for the week ending April 29th, 1893.

Fulton Lusy Mrs.
Hagen M.
Martin, Patrick
Supperneau, Alma
Higgen Nels
Jacobs, J. J. Mrs. 2
Paterson, Jennie Mrs.

Persons calling for the above letters please say advertised.

WM. B. DAWLEY, P. M.

World's Fair Rates.

The Northern Pacific railroad company has made a rate of $32.55 from Crookston to Chicago and return. Dates of sale, every Monday and Thursday. Tickets will be limited to continuous passage in each direction with final limit of November 15th.

[3 tf] C. A. SHARKEY, Agent.

Hard Times.

Anywhere, everywhere, go where you will you find a spirit of uneasiness prevailing at times. Even in the Red River Valley you will sometimes hear some grumbler wish he could get hold of money enough to take him to Tacoma. The Pioneer Press has the following communication from a citizen of Tacoma which shows that even there, everything is not all serene. We commend it to all who are not satisfied with life in this country:

Tacoma, Wash., April 20.—To the Editor: Noticing an article in the March issue of the Northwestern Magazine, published by E. V. Smalley, wherein he has republished a boom item from some paper from this city in reference to this section of the country as being a perpetual paradise and a good field for poor men and investment. Thinking it my duty to the suffering thousands already here, who are without work, and the many hundreds liable to be misled by such statements, that are circulated by boom papers, real estate men and railroads to entice people to leave their eastern homes and come out here to endure hardshaps and find everything at a standstill, overdone and overrun, and the country different from what it is pictured by such people; for these reasons I write you. I have been here three years and traveled all over it and know it all and better than the pioneers. The whole Puget sound country has been boomed so much by real estate men and railroads that all kinds of business are at a standstill and most everybody busted. There are 1,500 men in this city and 2,000 in Seattle, some of them skilled mechanics, who are without work or money. They have been fed all winter by charity and have slept in vacant buildings. To be sure there is an immense amount of timber here, but very few saw mills are in operation; some of the largest are shut down on account of no market for the lumber that pays to cut. Some little business is done at the canneries in the season, but mostly by Italians and Chinese. The farming land is limited to small patches in valleys; not enough of it under cultivation to produce sufficient to sustain the population here. Hops, potatoes (a very poor quantity,) oats, hay, turnips, onions, some apples and prunes, cherries and strawberries constitute about all of Western Washington's products, except berries. Poor land is held at a higher figure than in other sections of the country, where there is no clearing to be done. The climate cannot be praised much, aside from almost continuous rains the year round. Two month ago we had an eight-day snow storm that left four and one-half feet of the beautiful on the ground, to say nothing of the wind, fog and smoke. Those flower gardens that Smalley speaks of in his publication must have been on a photo, as no one here for the past seven months has seen any. Even the picture of this hotel in the upper corner is not in reality what it is. Two-thirds of the fruits, vegetables, butter (?) and eggs, etc., are shipped in here from the East, Oregon and California. And the living, such as it is, is high priced. We have people enough here until there is more developing done. J. E. PARKER.

The Spring,

Of all seasons in the year, is the one for making radical changes in regard to health. During the winter, the system becomes to a certain extent clogged with waste, and the blood loaded with impurities, owing to lack of exercise, close confinment in poorly ventilated shops and homes, and other causes. This is the cause of the dull, sluggish, tired feeling so general at this season, and which must be overcome, or the health may be entirely broken down. Hood's Sarsaparilla has attained the greatest popularity all over the country as the favorite spring medicine. It expels the accumulation of impurities through the bowels, kidneys, liver, lungs, and skin, gives to the blood the purity and quality necessary to good health and overcomes that tired feeling.

Lane's Medicine Moves the Bowels Each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal. They are the best family cathartic.

"The Burlington" Changes Time.

On Sunday, May 7th, the trains of the Burlington Route out of St. Paul and Minneapolis will begin running on a new schedule, of which we ask our readers to take special notice, as the time of the day train is very materially changed from that given in the notice "Burlington Route Trains," which we published last week. Every day except Sunday, train number fifty, carrying Pullman sleeper, will leave Minneapolis at 2:50 p. m., St. Paul at 3:30 p. m., taking supper at Alma, Wis., and, reaching Chicago at 7:00 next morning. This train will not make any connection for St. Louis. Train number forty-eight, the vestibuled limited, will leave as now, Minneapolis at 6:40 p. m., St. Paul at 7:30 p. m., breakfast on dining car (price of meals one dollar) and arrive at Chicago 9:00 a. m., and at St. Louis at 5:50 p. m., next day. The same standard of perfect and luxurious service will be maintained.

[2-3]

Wanted.

An industrious boy to work on a farm during seeding. Call at the JOURNAL office.

THE WEEK'S NEWS.

Wednesday, April 26.

Secretary Gresham denies the cable report that Mr. Patrick Egan, minister to Chili, had been recalled.

Six boys broke into a synagogue in Jersey City and caused $500 damage by acts of vandalism. They were all arrested.

Comptroller of the Currency Hepburn has left the treasury department to assume his new position as president of the Third National Bank of New York.

It is stated on semi-official authority that W. Duff Haynie of South Dakota, who has been an unsuccessful applicant for several offices, will be appointed first assistant postmaster general.

Governor Peck has appointed John G. Bachhuber, Democrat, of Juneau, county judge of Dodge county, Wis., to succeed Judge Lamoreaux, recently appointed commissioner of the general land office.

Thursday, April 27.

Queen Victoria has left Florence for England.

A Western rate war has been inaugurated by the Denver and Rio Grande.

The Esquimaux village at Chicago is to be removed outside the fair grounds.

A statue of John Ericson, the naval inventor, was unveiled at New York Wednesday.

The president has appointed A. L. Sullivan postmaster at Brooklyn, vice George J. Collins, deceased.

Rt. Rev. William Hobart Hare of South Dakota has been recommended for election as bishop of the diocese of Massachusetts.

The decomposed body of Colonel C. J. Murphy, a Washington claim agent who had been missing for a month, was found in his office.

Resolutions looking to the reopening of the question of Sunday opening have been referred to a committee of the national committee to report on their constitutionality.

Friday, April 28.

Charles De La Masade, the noted author, editor and critic, is dead.

President Cleveland says that congress will convene in special session between Sept. 1 and 15.

General Grant's birthday was celebrated at his old home, Galena, Ills. Governor McKinley made an address.

The Illinois anti-scalper law, after which Minnesota's law, recently passed, was modeled, has been declared unconstitutional.

The Bleach works at Ephinat, in the department of the Mosges, France, have been destroyed by fire, the damage amounting to 2,000,000 francs.

London is agitated over a reported attempt to assassinate Mr. Gladstone, growing out of the arrest, at the premier's door, of a crank who had a note book filled with anti-home rule ravings and assassination talk.

Saturday, April 30.

The New York Central will run a train from New York to Chicago in 20 hours.

The Hungarian minister of public worship has introduced a Jewish emancipation bill in the Hungarian reichstag.

One hundred and sixty-nine houses at Krentzberg, Bohemia, were destroyed by fire. Six perished and 500 are homeless.

The Standard bank of Australia has suspended pending the reconstruction of the institution. The authorized capital of the bank is £1,000,000.

The executive committee of the local directory of the world's fair has adopted resolutions declaring that congress has no voice in the control of the fair.

Captain Wiltse, recently commander of the United States cruiser Boston, and who raised the United States flag in Honolulu, died in New York Wednesday.

Monday, May 1.

St. Paul capitalists are investing in Black Hills mica mines.

James B. Eustis, the new French minister, has arrived at Paris.

Lizzie Borden's trial has been fixed for the term beginning June 5.

President Cleveland denies that the Russian treaty is a very bad document.

The National Bank of Australasia at Melbourne fails, owing many millions of dollars.

Erastus Wiman has made an assignment. His liabilities are estimated at $1,000,000.

Report has been received from Brazil of another bloody battle in Rio Grande do Sul in which 800 were killed.

Evans and Sontag, the California robbers, for whom the officers have been looking for some time, held up a stage near Visalia Saturday.

Tuesday, May 2.

The public debt increased $8,726,819.40 in April.

Secretary of State Brown of Minnesota has gone to Europe.

The Central Ohio Insurance company has gone into the hands of a receiver.

The rumor that Emperor William may visit the world's fair is revived at Berlin.

The Colorado railroad war is increasing in violence. The rate is now $35 to Chicago and return.

Twenty thousand men in the Hocking valley are idle on account of the miners strike ordered Saturday.

The Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern road has announced a cut of $8 in its rates to the world's fair.

Twenty-three cases of scarlet fever have broken out among pupils of the Hendricks school, St. Paul. The school will be closed for a time.

1893			MAY.			1893
Su.	Mo.	Tu.	We.	Th.	Fri.	Sat.
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31

LOOKS CROOKED.

Some Disclosures In the Sioux City Failures.

SIOUX CITY, IA., May 1.—Affairs in connection with the recent failure in this city commence to partake of very much of the color of crookedness. Rumors to this effect have been current for several days, but until now nothing has been given to the public by persons authorized to speak. When the Union Loan and Trust company assigned, its schedule showed liabilities of $745,874 and assets of $1,468,000. In a statement given to the press by Assignee Hubbard he says:

"I have not gone far enough to be able to make a statement of the exact amount of the liabilities of the company, but from various sources I learn indefinitely that there are about $6,000,000. This includes both direct and indirect liabilities the latter being on account of notes endorsed by the company."

A Sensation Was Created

when Receiver Chesley of the Union Stockyards company repudiated a large quantity of paper held against that company. It was in the shape of promissory notes made payable to the stockyards company and signed by Ed T. Hedges, president.

Receiver Chesley said: "Mr. Hedges signed the notes without authority from the directors or officers of the company, and the company's books show that the money raised by it was never turned over to the treasurer. Not a cent will be paid on it unless the courts make us liable. There is knowledge at hand that $70,000 worth of this paper is outstanding."

Receiver for the Ann Arbor.

TOLEDO, O., April 29.—Judge Ricks has appointed Wellington R. Burt of Saginaw, Mich., receiver for the Toledo, Ann Arbor and North Michigan railway. The road is in financial trouble.

CONSUL TAYLOR DEAD.

He Served the Government Twenty-three Years at Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, April 29.—United States Consul Taylor, who has been consul here for over 23 years, having first been appointed by General Grant, died during the afternoon, after a short illness. He was born in New and held many positions of trust the government before being appointed here. His name in the Canadian Northwest was a household word, and mourning at his death is universal in this country.

Sweeping Reduction.

CHICAGO, April 28.—The Atchison made a nominal rate of $1 between Denver and Pueblo and all intermediate points. It will also make a round trip rate, Kansas City to Chicago and return, of $13. This sweeping reduction is one of the results of the reduced rates made of late by the Denver and Rio Grande.

Stole Ashes of Columbus.

CHICAGO, April 29.—During the evening a thief got hold of the jar containing the ashes of Columbus. He was discovered and after a struggle the jar was recovered. The thief escaped.

The Chinese Hearing.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The supreme court at the request of counsel have postponed from the 8th to 10th of May the hearing of the case to test the constitutionality of the Chinese exclusion act.

LATEST MARKET REPORT.

St. Paul Union Stock Yards.

SOUTH ST. PAUL, May 2, 1893.

HOGS—10c higher. Range of prices, $7.40@7.55.

CATTLE—Market steady. Fair demand for butcher cattle, stockers and feeders wanted. Prime steers, $4.25@4.75; good steers, $3.75@4.15; prime cows, $3.25@3.75; good cows, $2.75@3.20; common to fair cows, $1.75@2.50; light veal calves, $3.00@4.50; heavy calves, $2.00@3.00; stockers, $2.40@3.25; feeders, $3.00@4.00; bulls, $3.00@3.00.

SHEEP—Steady. Muttons, $3.75@5.00; lambs, $4.00@5.00; stockers and feeders, $3.00@4.50.

Receipts—Cattle, 300; hogs, 800; calves, 5.

Minneapolis Grain.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 2, 1893.

WHEAT—May opened, 63⅝c; highest, 63¾c; lowest, 63¼c; closed, 63⅝c. July opened at 67⅝c; highest, 67⅞c; lowest, 67¼c; closed 67⅝c. September opened 68⅝c; highest, 69¼c, closed, 69¼c. On Track—No. 1 hard, 67c; No. 1 Northern, 65c; No. 2 Northern, 63c.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO UNION STOCK YARDS, May 2, 1893.

CATTLE—Steady.

HOGS—Market steady. Heavy, $7.30@7.56; mixed and medium, $7.25@7.55; light, $7.20@7.55.

SHEEP—Dull and weak.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, May 2, 1893.

OPENING PRICES.

WHEAT—May, 71c; July, 74⅝c; September, 76¼c.

CORN—May, 41½c; July, 43⅝c; September, 44⅝@44⅞c.

OATS—May, 29¼c; July, 29⅝c; September, 27⅜c.

PORK—July, $19.20; September, $19.45.

LARD—May, $9.92½; July, $10.20; September, $10.40.

CLOSING PRICES.

WHEAT—April, 71c; May, 71⅛c; July, 74¼@74⅜c; September, 76c.

CORN—April, 41¼c; May, 41¼c; July, 43⅝c; September, 44⅝c.

OATS—April, 28⅝c; May, 28⅞c; July, 29c; September, 27@27⅛c.

PORK—April, $18.57½; May, $18.57½; July, $19.07½; September, $19.26¼.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Glencoe is to have another school building to cost $12,000.

The Grand Lodge A. O. U. W. is in session at Duluth this week.

A project for a Presbyterian hospital at Minneapolis is being agitated.

An extensive coaling station for river steamers is to be established at Winona.

An interstate G. A. R. encampment will be held at Winona July 3, 4 and 5.

There will be a great decrease in wheat acreage in Otter Tail county this year.

Minneapolis bankers helped Secretary Carlisle out with $50,000 in gold last week.

Frank T. Maginnis of Duluth has received an appointment as cadet at West Point.

The steamer Sidney made the first trip of the season to St. Paul, arriving Monday.

Carleton college has received a pledge of $25,000 for the erection of a library building.

Goodhue county beekeepers are suffering great losses on account of the damp weather.

The contract for building the four new schoolhouses at Brainerd has been let for $39,673.

Several places of business at Zumbrota were entered by thieves and money and goods taken.

St. Paul is having a great many cases of scarlet fever this spring. There are 19 cases in the Sixth ward.

Indians on Minnesota reservations are to be taught lacemaking. It is believed they will become experts.

Egbert G. Handy, real estate dealer, St. Paul, has assigned. Liabilities $35,000. Heavy taxes and sluggish market.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Weed celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary at Winona last week. Both are hale and hearty.

Miss Josephine Batchelder of Winona has been appointed to represent Minnesota in the musical department of the world's fair.

Kretzshman's large wagon bridge across the Red Lake river at Thief River Falls has been carried away by water and ice.

Burglars entered the residence of Nick Lambert at St. Cloud and got three gold watches, a long gold chain, three revolvers and other articles.

Duluth contractors have just been awarded a contract for constructing a lock and dam on Kanawha river at Buffalo, W. Va. This contract amounts to $253,000.

A landslide occurred on the Milwaukee road near Lakeland, and all traffic on the road was suspended until the debris was removed. Many tons of dirt came down.

The next annual race between the Cornell and the University of Pennsylvania crews will be rowed over the Minnetonka course during the first week in July.

Sidney M. Owen of Minneapolis has been appointed a member of the board of regents of the state university to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of S. M. Emery.

Governor Nelson has appointed Hon. E. E. Corliss of Otter Tail county a member of the capitol committee for the Seventh district in place of General Barrett, who declined.

An attempt was made to murder Mrs. Nels Newberry at Sheldon. An unknown man caught her by the throat and struck her on the head with a sharp instrument. A heavy head of hair saved her life.

Governor Nelson has appointed the new board of insane commissioners. They are J. S. Meahger, Mankato; J. W. Mason, Fergus Falls; John Peterson, St. Peter; C. H. Titus, Rechester, and Dr. W. A. Jones, Minneapolis.

Six United States prisoners have arrived at the Stillwater penitentiary from Mississippi and Louisiana. They have from two to five years each to serve for breaking into postoffices, violating revenue laws and passing counterfeit money.

A tramp assaulted K. S. Allyn, an old citizen of Red Wing, with a hatchet. He cut several gashes in Allyn's head and buried him deep in the hayloft. Blood trickling down to the barn floor led to Allyn's discovery, and he may recover. Allyn was feeding his horses at the time.

The monthly report of the state treasurer shows that there is a balance of $1,945,862.72 to the credit of the various funds. Of this amount $763,579.42 is deposited in St. Paul banks, $586,800.13 in Minneapolis banks, and the rest in other parts of the state.

Tellesforo Robillard, of Red Lake Falls, for the past 10 years has annually taken a sleeping spell when he would sleep a week at a time, all efforts to arouse him being in vain. He fell asleep Saturday night and great fears are entertained that he may die, as he is suffering much pain.

One of the largest civil service examinations yet held in St. Paul occurred Saturday. There were 106 applicants, divided as follows: Railway mail clerks, 86; postoffice inspectors, 2, Indian teachers, 4, two males and two females; copyists, 2; metereological service, 1; departments, 2.

Winona wheelmen have become greatly interested in the crusade for good roads, and under their auspices views have been secured of the condition of many roads in this vicinity at the time of the spring breakup. These will be used in the Minnesota edition of The Good Roads. Several most excellent roads are shown, where they have been scientifically worked with gravel.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

Mentor Items.

MENTOR, MINN., April 30th, 1893.

It looks as though spring was here at last as the weather has changed for the better.

Some of our farmers have begun spring work and several more will begin at once. We have every reason to believe that an abundant crop is in store for us this year.

The tri-weekly train service seems to meet with great disapproval, especially in the passenger line.

J. C. Larson has arrived here from Hatton, N. D. He has rented rooms in town until he gets his own building completed. His lumber is also on the spot and work will begin at once. Mr. Larson will carry a full line of hardware, and also run a lumber yard in connection.

Mr. H. W. Cleveland informs us a grand dance will take place on the 17th of May, on his grounds at the lake.

T. Rustad & Co. is doing a land office business now days, having recently added a pool and billiard table to their restaurant. It seems to be the only place in town where business is conducted on a cash basis.

The water in our section of the country will not delay the spring work any. We are only waiting for the weather to settle and then the work will go on in full force.

Mrs. W. W. Attix, of this place, has sold one of her farms to Mr. Aimstead from Grand Forks, and he has already made his appearance and is getting ready for spring work.

Euclid Items.

From our regular correspondent.

EUCLID, May 3rd, 1893.

The town board held a meeting Saturday.

Mr. B. S. Chapin and family came down from Warren and spent the week with friends here.

The Ladies Aid society gave a missionary tea Friday evening. There was a good turn out. They will be given once a month. All are invited to attend.

It is reported that culverts and bridges throughout Euclid and Keystone are in bad condition. The town dads are having no end of trouble now days.

Will Theodore, of Hallock, has come down to help John Hanson in keeping "Jim Hill" straight.

Mrs. J. D. McPhee, of Lockhart, is a guest at the Keystone farm.

Albert Losey came up to spend Sunday with his parents.

Olie Mosback, an old-time Euclid boy, has taken Mr. Dreelands place on the N. P., at South Euclid.

Owing to the bad condition of the roads, quite a number of the assessors from this vicinity walked down to the assessors' meeting at Crookston, Saturday.

L. Halvorson, Frank Miller, Fred Ghoosen and Peter Quart were among the callers at the county seat last week.

E. Taylor & Co's buggy trade has been very good so far this season.

Earnest Helen took a run up to Warren, Saturday.

Church services were held Sunday for the first time for several months. Will be held regularly now at 10:30 a. m. A cordial invitation is extended to all who come within our gates.

Quite a number of guests congregated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Chapin, Friday evening, and listened to some very nice music rendered by Alton McGinnis and E. J. Heighwarden which was very much appreciated by all.

There was a party given at the Keystone House, Friday evening, and if reports are true, a right royal time was had.

Louie Olson and family, of Angus, has rented the Schantzen building on Pacific avenue, and moved in. Mr. Olson will help Charlie Lindman on the section.

Mr. Watson, of Grand Forks, came over on business Tuesday.

Mrs. Barnard Tiedman started for Germany, Tuesday. She will be gone until some time in October. It is her first trip to the fatherland for twenty-five years.

While Mr. T. J. Richey, of Altona, Mo., was traveling in Kansas he was taken violently ill with cholera morbus. He called at a drug store to get some medicine and the druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy so highly he concluded to try it. The result was immediate relief, and a few doses cured him completely. It is made for bowel complaint and nothing else. It never fails. for sale by S. A. Wallace. Druggist,

Piano Tuning.

Messrs. W. H. Avery and W. H. Norton, from Nathan Ford Music Co., St. Paul, will be in Crookston, Minn., on their regular spring trip, prepared to do piano, pipe organ and reed organ tuning and repairing. All work guaranteed by

NATHAN FORD MUSIC CO.,
(3) St. Paul, Minn.

WORLD'S FAIR OPEN

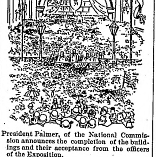
PROGRAMME CARRIED OUT WITHOUT A HITCH.

The President Presses the Button and Countless Wheels Revolve. Nearly Half a Million People Witness the Magnificent Spectacle.

CHICAGO, May 1.—It was 10 o'clock p. m. when the Columbian guards chased the last straggler out of the world's fair grounds and the White City, which all day has been the scene of busy activity haunted by myriads of people and honored by the presence of the chief executive of the nation, was left to silence and solitude. It was a great day—big with the fulfillment of many hopes and aspirations—which began under towering skies, culminated in the opening of the exposition by the president of the United States and ended in the scintillating glare of myriads of electric lights which flashed from the mighty buildings along the lagoons.

No Hitch in the Programme.

There was no hitch in the programme as finally arranged. The distinguished descendant of the great admiral, in whose honor the spectacle was inaugurated, was escorted from the Auditorium hotel to the Lexington, where President Cleveland and his suite were in waiting, and the two parties combined were taken in procession through miles of streets, lined with cheering thousands, to the grounds of the exposition. There the formal exercises were gone through with. The blind chaplain of the national congress invoked the blessing of God upon the undertaking about to be consummated, a poem celebrating the voyage of Columbus was read in a manner fitting to the time and place, Director General Davis, upon whose shoulders the Atlas-like load of the enterprise has rested for months, presented the completed buildings to the president of the United States, and that officer, representing the power and majesty of 65,000,000 of American citizens, after a brief but singularly appropriate and happy speech declared the World's Columbian exposition fully opened.



President Palmer, of the National Commission announces the completion of the buildings and their acceptance from the officers of the Exposition.

Busy Day for Grover.

After dinner the president wearily took up the of march for the Manufacturers' building, where he did the courteous to a throng of foreigners and officials. Then he was hurried over to the Woman's building where he listened to the dedication speeches by Mrs. Potter Palmer and others. The Irish village next claimed his attention and after that he loaded his 250 pounds of adipose tissue into a naptha launch and made a flying trip through the lagoons. Having thus made the grand tour of the exposition he was thoroughly tired out and the rest of the time until the departure of his special train for Washington was spent in his car, where he received his personal friends and those who could pass the colored porter at the door.

It was cloudy all afternoon but no rain fell, and the South Side walks and streets, while they were by no means models of cleanliness so far as the absence of mud was concerned, were in good condition for active pedestrians. The crowd did not mind the mud anyhow, and from noon until the last gate was closed the broad avenues were alive with throngs moving from one to another of the big buildings and sweeping through the Midway Plaissance in an unbroken current. The number of people present is placed at 430,000.

LIBERTY BELL

Reaches the Fair Grounds Where It Will Remain Through the Fair.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Beneath leaden skies in a damp and chilly atmosphere, and a strong northeast wind, which blowing off the blue breast of Lake Michigan, left the color of its waters in the nose of the thousand of spectators which lined the streets and boulevards, Pennsylvania's choicest relic, her great liberty bell, was deposited within the walls of her state building at Jackson Park. The bell during its progress to the park was the recipient of a continued ovation. It was escorted by the highest officials of Philadelphia and Chicago, surrounded by marching troops of regular and citizen soldiery, saluted by the president of the nation whose birth it announced to the world. At the exposition there were appropriate exercises.

Booth Improving.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The condition of Edwin Booth is reported very encouraging and his ultimate recovery is confidently expected by his attending physician.

Bodies Recovered.

BUTTE, Mon., May 2.—The bodies of Thomas Gray, Richard Grembath, Frank Girard and Sam Rovetta, the remaining victims of the Silver Bow mine disaster of April 20, have been recovered.

ECLIPSED THEM ALL.

The Great Naval Review at New York Described.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The international rendezvous and review in honor of Columbus, which has been in active progress for nearly two weeks, culminated in a demonstration more spectacular, more noisy and more remarkable in many other respects than anything of the kind recorded in modern history. There have been naval reviews of international character before, but none so striking as this.

It was peculiarly a manifestation of sentiment, not of force. Yet some of the fleetest and most formidable naval vessels in the world were there. The quaintest part of the day's proceedings was that the post of honor at the head of the reviewed columns, was given to apparently unseaworthy reproductions of the Columbus caravels, the Santa Maria, Pinta and Nina.

The line of vessels reviewed was over three miles in length, stretching in two columns from the foot of Twenty-third street to about Ninty-fifth street, where the reviewing ship, the Dolphin, anchored.

Gave the Signal to Start.

Between 10 and 11 o'clock was the hour assigned for the president to commence the review. It was, however, nearly 2 o'clock before the signal was given for the start, the president having postponed the review on account of the heavy downpour of rain in the morning. As soon as the president stepped on board the Dolphin the vessel shipped her anchor and fired one gun as a signal. This was responded to by a boom which seemed to shake the whole city. The double turreted monitor Miantonomah, lying at the rear of the column, fired for the first time in port one of her huge 10-inch guns, charged with nearly 250 pounds of powder. Almost before the reverbrations of this 25-ton gun had died away in the distant echoes the whole fleet was called to quarters, yards were manned and every preparation made to Receive the President of the United States with becoming respect. Seen at this moment, and before the enveloping clouds of gunpowder and smoke from the subsequent salutes had obscured the air, the scene was as pretty as well could be imagined. As the Dolphin's bow came in line with each man-of-war's "present arms" was sounded on the bugle, officers and crew saluted, the bands struck up the national air, and a national salute of 21 guns was fired by each ship. During the half hour or more that the presidential progress lasted this cannonading never ceased, until in whole more than had been fired. Towards the close of their booming, long separate identity had been merged in one titanic roar, while flashes of red flags and dense sulphurous smoke were all the spectators on the shore could distinguish.

Sixteen Hundred Guns

Receiving Naval Officers.

When the Dolphin reached the end of the line, in the neighborhood of Ninty-fifth street, she dropped anchor and made preparations to receive the commanding officers of the foreign squadrons, who were presented to the president. Duly attired in ceremonial uniform, with cocked hats and swords, the distinguished officers entered their barges and pulled off for the presidential yacht.

Fifteen minutes before the reception ended, and when the president was preparing to land, an admonitory signal was given from the Dolphin, and as he left the vessel and entered his barge at the foot of Ninety-sixth street, every vessel in the fleet manned yards and rails and once more fired a salute of 21 guns, following the Dolphin's lead, when the president's flag was lowered by the Dolphin and the public ceremonies of the day were considered over.

AN IOWA CATASTROPHE.

Tenement House at Burlington Burned and Six Persons Cremated.

BURLINGTON, Ia., May 1.—Shortly after 2 o'clock an old brick tenement house at 855 Jefferson street was destroyed by fire and six of the inmates burned to death. The lodging house was conducted by a Mrs. Judson. She and a servant girl named Maggie Bailey were the only women in the building.

The building was a veritable fire trap, consisting of winding hallways and dark landings, some of the rooms being without windows. So quickly did the fire spread that the unfortunate victims were captured like rats in a trap. The dead are:

MICHAEL JUDSON, transient lodger.
MICHAEL LEE, Chicago, stovemoulder.
JOHN MORGAN, stovemoulder, residence unknown.
A. G. SCHUMANN, carpet weaver.
JOSEPH SWINDLER, Burlington, plasterer.
CHARLIE ——, boilermaker, supposed to be from Chicago.

THE OKLAHOMA STORM.

Number of Dead Now 92 and Injured About 250.

GUTHRIE, O. T., April 28.—The total number of persons who met death in Tuesday night's storm now reaches 92, and the injured about 250, about 10 per cent. of them being fatally injured. One of the greatest scenes of desolation in the devastated district is at the home of John Mullenix in Paine county. The large house, barns and outer buildings are completely gone and the farm is stripped of every vestage of fence, crops and orchards. Ten thousand dollars has already been subscribed to aid the survivors and to bury the dead.

KILLED MANY.

Another Disastrous Cyclone Visits Indian Territory.

GUTHRIE, O. T., May 1.—Another cyclone has visited the Ponca reservation, 40 miles north of here, and did a great amount of damage on the Blevin cattle ranches. The buildings were destroyed and J. J. Keithley, his wife and two children killed and others injured.

ON THE MISSISSIPPI

REPETITION OF LAST YEAR'S FLOODS PROBABLE.

The River Rising Very Rapidly at St. Louis—Warehouse at East St. Louis Collapses and One Man Is Killed—Villages Submerged.

ST. LOUIS, May 1.—Another foot of rise in the river and more flooded villages on the East side; a collapsed warehouse, which resulted in one death, and a prospect for a repetition of a year ago. All this tells the story of the high water here. The river at 6 o'clock p. m. showed a rise of a fraction of an inch over a foot during the day and the water is still creeping up on the gauge. There is every probability that by night the danger mark, 32 feet, will be reached. Up to 6 o'clock p. m. the water had caused the abandonment of the greater portion of East Corondalet. The telegraph office of the St. Louis connecting railway was wrecked during the morning, and several small buildings were washed away. The body of a man was washed ashore near the site of the wrecked telegraph office. Many persons who have been living in the second story of their houses have been forced to move out altogether

And Several Had Narrow Escapes,

barely escaping before their residences collapsed or floated away. Another foot of water will cause the abandonment of the roundhouse at the crossing of the connecting road and the Mobile and Ohio. In East Louis and the water in Canokia creek is within three feet of last year's flood level. Last year's experience, however, has caused protecting walls to be thrown up, and the damage of that time will not be repeated unless the high water mark of 1892 is exceeded. At Belleville Richland creek has overflowed its banks and filled many basements. Several manufacturing establishments have been forced to shut down, their boiler rooms being inundated.

On this side of the river North St. Louis is so far the worst sufferer. The Knapp-Stout Lumber company's yard is in imminent danger of being washed away. The low lands are flooded and the squatters have been forced to vacate their shanties and grounded flatboats. All, or nearly all, their few possessions have been washed away.

Warehouse Collapses.

Trainmen coming in from the East say the water practically covers all of Brooklyn and that numbers of people are moving out of their houses. Venice, too, seems again to suffer, as the flood is encroaching rapidly upon that place. The East St. Louis dock warehouse, immediately south of the Eads bridge, gave way before the rush of water about noon, and fully one-fourth of the vast building, with the heavy contents, fell in a heap, the roof sinking and settling upon the wreck. Thousands of barrels of flour, sacks of grain, boxes of canned goods, bundles of shingles of both cypress and pine and a miscellaneous lot of other goods were precipitated through the ground floor and into the water. One of the laborers, Cicero Pate, a colored man, was crushed to death under the debris, and has not yet been found. Two other laborers were injured. The loss to the building and stock of goods will be quite heavy.

ON THE OHIO.

The River Rising Four Inches an Hour at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, O., May 2.—The rainy and cold weather which for three weeks has wholly stopped all plowing and planting in Ohio is culminating in a disastrous flood. Here over two inches of rain has fallen within 24 hours, and the Ohio river is leaping up at the rate of four inches an hour.

Dispatches from Wapakoneta say that the whole of the northwestern part of Ohio is flooded and wheat ruined, while other crops are so delayed that the yield must be small. Dayton reports the Miami river and tributaries at flood height and rising two inches an hour. Nearly an inch and a half of rain fell at the head waters of the Sciolo river and will add to the swollen stream. Zanesville reports the railroad tracks submerged and the Muskegon river is rising a foot an hour.

AN AWFUL POSSIBILITY.

Score of Lives In Danger From Floods at Springfield, O.

SPRINGFIELD, O., May 2.—The awful possibility of a score of lives being lost in a flood, which covers 200 houses in the southwestern part of the city, is causing great excitement here. The river rose during the evening with incredible rapidity and before people knew it they were hemmed in by the waters. The police force and citizens are rescuing the people in boats and on horses. The electric street car power house is flooded and traffic is stopped.

Streets Flooded.

PEMBINA, N. D., May 1.—The flood is spreading all over the streets of the town and the river is still rising. In South Pembina people generally have left their homes. A few families still remain living up stairs in their houses. They go about in boats, getting in and out of their houses through the windows. Two St. Paul traveling men came near being drowned Saturday while crossing over in a boat from St. Vincent.

People Leaving Their Homes.

ST. VINCENT, Minn., May 1.—The village is entirely under water and several buildings have been totally wrecked by floating ice. The flood is much higher than it was in 1882 and is much more dangerous, as the ice has only just begun moving, while in the flood of 1882 there was no high water until after the ice had all run out of the river. People in parts of the town are leaving their homes.

Of Interest to Breeders.

Dr. J. Warninger, V. S., has just received a set of the latest improved parturition instruments. With the aid of these instruments he can deliver the foetus in short order without injury to the animal. The instruments are the most serviceable where the colt or calf is dead and so located that it becomes necessary to remove it in sections. This is not often the case and for this reason very few practitioners are prepared with the proper instruments to meet a case of this kind. [2-5]

Mr. William Osborn
Gibson City, Ill.

Perfectly Marvellous

35 Years of Misery With Chronic Diarrhœa.

A Perfect Cure by HOOD'S.

"About 38 years ago I got overheated while at work in the harvest field, and was sick abed for three months. When I got on my feet again I found that I had a bad kidney trouble and chronic diarrhœa, which has drawn on me for over 35 years.

Just Think of My Misery.

I dared not eat anything more than would barely keep me alive. For years I felt that my stay on earth would be short. I have times without number been in such distressful pain and aching that I could not turn myself in bed, and I would have to ask my wife to take hold of my hands and turn me. In all these years I employed the best physicians but nothing gave me permanent relief. I had an iron constitution, or I could not have stood the drain upon me.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

"In the fall of 1887 I was so weak I could not work. I concluded I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla. To my surprise and great joy I soon found that it was doing me good and when I had used 7 bottles I was perfectly cured. It is now 4 years and the Cure was Perfect and Permanent.

"For the past four years I have enjoyed life and felt better and younger than in any of the 35 years preceding. I endured everything a human being could and live, and I will recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla long as I live." WM. OSBORN, Gibson City, Ill.

HOOD'S PILLS cure liver ills, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, sick headache, indigestion.

Viava remedies for sale by Mrs. John Wyatt, sole agent for Polk county, Sano, sure cure for piles. I. O. O. F. block, or 105½ Broadway. [39-tf]

Money to Loan

On city property, business and dwelling—at 6½ per cent per annum. For full particulars call on P. J. Russell, 25 and 26 Reckitt block, Crookston, Minn. [47tf]

I need money and will sell you goods at greatly reduced prices.

A. CHABOT.

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, April, 25th 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Steffen P. Nerland deceased:

On reading and filing the petition of C. O. Christianson administrator of the estate of Steffen P. Nerland deceased, representing among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

In is ordered, That said account be examined, and petition heard by this Court, on Monday the 29th day of May A. D. 1893 at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate office in the City of Crookston in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 25th day of April A. D. 1893.

By the Court,
C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.
[3-5]

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, April, 29th 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Margaret McLennan deceased:

Letters testamentary on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Jennie Miller of said county.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court, for examination and allowance, at the Probate office in the City of Crookston on Monday, the 6th day of November, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock, a. m.

It is further ordered, that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless, for cause shown, further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said County.

Dated at Crookston the 29th day of April A. D. 1893.

By the Court,
C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.
[3-5]

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, City of Crookston—ss

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 12th, 1893, and terminating on May 12th, 1894, by the following persons and at the following place as stated in said application, to-wit: Peter Stuhr and John Waterstant in the corner store room on lot one (1), block sixteen (16), in the original townsite of Crookston, Polk County Minnesota.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the city of Crookston, at the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 27th day of April, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.)
E. C. CARRUTH
City Clerk.
[2-4]

THE CROOKSTON

GROCERY CO.

W. E. SLOCUM, Manager.

IS NOW

OPEN FOR BUSINESS.

BIG
BARGAINS IN—

GROCERIES, CROCKERY AND LAMPS.

AT THE OLD STAND
—OF BARNES & SLOCUM

On Robert Street, Crookston, Minn.

THIS SPACE
BELONGS TO

L. I. BENOIT,

—THE—

Cheap Cash Grocer

Who will use it to keep Journal readers posted on the BARGAINS HE OFFERS.

Don't take our word, but call and see

L. I. BENOIT,

At the New Store on Broadway, - - Crookston, Minn.

A MOTHER'S DEFENSE.

Dead! my wayward boy—my own—
Not the law's! but mine—the good
God's free gift to me alone,
Sanctified by motherhood.

"Bad," you say; well, who is not?
"Brutal!"—"with a heart of stone"
And "red handed." Ah, the hot
Blood upon your own!

I come not with downward eyes
To plead for him shamedly:
God did not apologize
When he gave the boy to me.

Simply, I make ready now
For his verdict. You prepare—
You have killed us both—and how
Will you face us there?
—James Whitcomb Riley.

Collecting Chinese Coins.

"The earliest Chinese coins that I have heard of," said Consul Bedloe, "date from the dynasty which ruled from 255 to 207 B. C.

"From that time until today these useful little coins have been used by every monarch, no matter whether he was an emperor of the entire country or king of one of the petty principalities into which from time to time the Chinese empire was broken. There have been over 1,200 occupants of the various thrones, royal and imperial. In addition to these regular issues, if such they may be called, there have been special issues from time to time and also special local issues. A wealthy mandarin in Canton is said to have the finest collection extant, containing 25,000 specimens of different kinds."

The cost increases as you go backward in time. The cash of this century can be secured at their nominal face value. Those of the eighteenth and seventeenth centuries bring from 1 cent to 10 cents each. Those of the Han dynasties bring $100 each when in fine state of preservation.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Artificial Maple Sugar.

Decoctions or extracts of the wood or bark of trees are frequently used for flavoring sirups or sugars. Different extracts differ in taste. The hickory tree, it is said, yields an extract that will impart the flavor of the maple, and Daily's method of producing artificial maple sirup of sugar is as follows: Make an extract of hickory bark or wood by allowing water to percolate through the same. The bark or wood may be ground, or sawdust therefrom used. Hot water may be used, or the material boiled in water. The strength of the extract may be increased by increase of the quantity of the wood or bark. To one gallon of hot or boiling sugar sirup add, say, three tablespoonfuls of the hickory extract. It is said the effect of the extract is to produce a flavor that renders the sirup indistinguishable from genuine maple sugar. If the sirup is boiled down, a sugar resembling maple sugar in taste is produced.—London Public Opinion.

Poverty and Clothes.

One marked difference between the very poor in the English cities and the corresponding class in American towns is that the latter buy their clothing of tailors and manufacturers, and therefore get it new, while the English poor, and particularly the English women of low estate, prefer the castoff finery of "the quality" that is sold at the secondhand shops. The result is that the American laborer and his wife make a better appearance in their cheap but simple and suitable garments than the London navvy or hawker, with a shiny, ill fitting broadcloth, and his wife in a garish hat with broken feathers and unfashionable, not to say bedraggled, skirts.—New York Sun.

Thackeray In Conversation.

Mr. Sala says that when Thackeray was not in "a tetchy temper caused by extreme physical anguish" he was one of the most delightful talkers it is possible to imagine. "There were very few subjects indeed on which he could not talk and talk admirably. He was as proficient in the French and in the German as in the English language. He was never tired of discoursing about books and bookmen, about pictures and painters, about etchers and engravers and lithographers, and, moreover, he was a born wit and a polished epigrammatist."—New York Tribune.

An Anecdote of Ben Wade.

"In the early winter of 1861" bluff Ben Wade, the Ohio senator, is credited with saying, "When Chief Justice Taney was ill, I used to pray daily and earnestly that his life might be preserved until the inauguration of President Lincoln, who would appoint a Republican chief justice, but when I saw how complete his recovery was and how his life was prolonged I began to fear that I had overdone the business!"—Chittenden's "Personal Reminiscences."

Defining a Kleptomaniac.

Teacher—What is a kleptomaniac?

Pupil—One who steals things for which he has no use.

Teacher—Very good. Can you give me an illustration?

Pupil—Charley Jones says my sister has stolen his heart, and Lil says she has no use for it.—Boston Transcript.

The habitual care of the hair should include a thorough brushing as well as combing. Much soap and water are not needed. Combs which have teeth with sharp or split edges should be avoided.

The temple of Diana at Ephesus was 425 feet long, 225 broad and with statues and columns innumerable. Of this magnificent structure not a trace remains, even of the foundations.

Man is marvelously made. Who is eager to investigate the curious and wonderful works of omnipotent wisdom, let him not wander the wide world around to seek them, but examine himself.

The motion of the earth around the sun is 68,305 miles an hour, over 1,000 miles a minute, or 19 miles a second.

Slave ants and working ants have lost their wings through being kept entirely to a life on the ground.

A Terrible Habit.

"Were you ever troubled with the thought while you walked along some street," said Charles Ebert, "that somehow you ought not to step on the cracks that separate the flagstones of the pavement or the boards of the walk? You have been th—well, then you know. That is the meanest habit to form. Cigarette smoking is bad, and cigars are expensive and so bad also. Tobacco chewing is abominable and drinking is killing, but the crack dodging habit is the worst of all. If I could exchange this miserable feeling that possesses me when I walk along the streets for any one of those habits—providing I didn't possess all of them already—I would do it instantly.

"I will start out of a morning for a pleasant stroll, just to see the beauty of nature, and unconsciously I will begin to step over all cracks. Then I will accidentally step on one, and all my prospective pleasure is gone—simply dispelled and driven away by that one miserable thought of utter uselessness that I have stepped on a crack. I have started for home of a nighttime fairly tired and conscious of duties well done, purposing to enjoy a long, sound sleep. Again I fall into the desire to avoid stepping on those miserable partition lines.

"If I succeed in avoiding all of them, I rest beautifully, but if not then I go home and have a restless, nervous sleep in which there is no satisfaction whatever. Of all the diabolical mental inventions that go to break up a man's happiness and peace of mind this one mental status of avoiding cracks is the most consummate that any evil genius could afflict a man with."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Sandwich Islanders and Their Ills.

When a Kanaka feels a bit out of sorts he imagines that he has not been diligent enough in his devotions to some particular god. He immediately procures a bunch of awa or something in the nature of a comforting drink, and after a short prayer to his mountain or river deity he murmurs apologetically, "Here's your food" or "Here's your drink," as the case may be. Then he devours the solids or liquids himself. If the Kanaka's health improves, the god is appeased. If sickness still creeps over him, he turns to the Kahuna. One of the guild is immediately hunted up and approached with a bunch of awa or a pig. Then the Kanaka dilates upon his infirmities, and the Kahuna begins preparing to drive out the sickness or the evil spirit.

The patient is stripped and laid flat, and with a bunch of ti leaves the Kahuna rubs him all over, murmuring meaningless words the while. If the Kanaka gets well, the Kahuna's influence is increased. If the Kanaka dies, he was a doomed man anyhow, and the Kahuna did his best. Such of the Kanakas as patronize a Kahuna nowadays do it covertly, and the Kahunas keep under cover.—Honolulu Cor. Chicago Tribune.

An English Duke Receives a Tip.

The English journals mention an amusing epilogue of a pilgrimage to Rome. Just after the last train which brought the pilgrims back to London had entered the Victoria station an old lady burdened with packages was with difficulty trying to find a carriage when a middle aged man, simply dressed, approached and offered his services.

Thinking she had to do with one of the employes, the good woman gave him her bundles, which the obliging man carried to the end of the station and then, hailing a cab, placed the old lady and her impedimenta within, and giving the driver the address she had indicated, called to him to drive on. As the carriage was about to roll off the woman placed a fee of twopence in the hand of the man who had rendered her the service.

He was simply the Duke of Norfolk. The duke pocketed the twopence, thinking the adventure very original. Moreover, it was the first time in his life that he had ever earned any money by his own labor.

Model City to Be Built.

A "City of the Future," such as Bellamy dreamed of, will be shown at the World's fair of Paris, which is planned for the year 1900.

The Inventions Nouvelles proposes a departure from the usual toy arrangement of miniature models, Eiffel towers, etc., and advocates the erection of a city on a site sufficiently large to illustrate practically all the most prominent new inventions, as well as the fruits of modern electro technique. The cost of erecting this future model city is to be covered by renting out the houses, hotels, etc., as well as all the stores to the exhibitors. At the close of the exposition the entire site, with buildings, etc., will be utilized as the nucleus for a new quarter of the city of Paris.—Philadelphia Record.

Now Mutely Disagreeing.

Beside the highway that leads from Bridgton to Norway are two burial plots upon opposite sides of the road. Here are interred the Woodsum brothers, and of course every one who passes that way is anxious to know why there is this division. The stage driver can tell you. The Woodsum brothers could never agree. They disagreed in religion, politics and every conceivable point that could be brought up between them. Oh, their disagreements in story form, as told by the neighbors, would make a tale of prickly interest. Of course they couldn't agree to repose their bones upon the same side of the road, and hence these two graveyards, the stones glaring across at each other through rain, snow and sunshine.—Lewiston Journal.

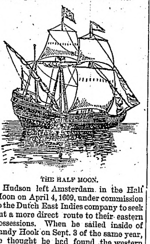
A Philosophic Youngster.

A youthful correspondent writes as follows: "The reason why elephants is so smart is because they is like women. Elephants is afraid of mices, and so is women. Women is smarter than men, and as elephants is like women, some elephants must be smarter than some men." Such logic cannot be overcome. No doubt there are a good many elephants smarter than some men.—New York Tribune.

HENDRIK AND THE HALF MOON.

Hudson's Life and Voyages to Be Illustrated at the World's Fair.

New Yorkers love to honor old Hendrik Hudson, the intrepid Dutch navigator who discovered, explored and stood sponsor for their great and picturesque river, and they will see to it that in the glorification of Columbus' greater and earlier discovery of a new world Hudson's lesser and later discovery of their particular part of it is not overlooked. They have a bronze statue of him in their state building at Jackson park, and on the walls thereof are to be seen large pictorial representations of notable incidents in his life. One of the scenes chosen shows Hendrik's 60-ton ship, the Half Moon, at anchor off the highlands of the Hudson. The painting is an enlargement of an old wood cut, and the picture of the old round prowed Dutch galiot is said to be authentic.



THE HALF MOON.

Hudson left Amsterdam in the Half Moon on April 4, 1609, under commission to the Dutch East Indies company to seek out a more direct route to their eastern possessions. When he sailed inside of Sandy Hook on Sept. 3 of the same year, he thought he had found the western passage he was seeking, and his hopes ran high for the next two weeks as he continued his exploration of the picturesque "River of the Mountains," as the Manhattan Indians then called the Hudson. By Sept. 19 he had reached a point opposite the site of the present city of Albany, where he lay at anchor for four days, going ashore in the canoe of an old Indian chief and visiting his tribe.

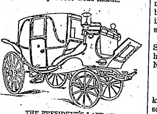
On Sept. 23 Hudson, realizing that the great river he had discovered was not the westward passage he had imagined, began his return trip to the ocean and back to Holland, where he arrived in November. Sailing again in the following year he discovered the great bay which bears his name, in what is now British North America, and there he was set adrift by his mutinous crew with his son and five or six seamen disabled by scurvy, none of whom was ever again heard from.

Australian Beef In England.

The English trade in frozen beef from Australia, like that in frozen mutton, has increased enormously during the past year—the export, 80,000 hundredweight, being almost double that of 1891. The Australian frozen beef has to meet the competition of the chilled beef from the United States. Although freezing is not supposed to injure to any serious extent the finer grained mutton, yet it is admitted that the complete freezing which is necessary to enable beef to cross the equator in safety is detrimental to the condition of the larger fibers and blood vessels, resulting in the loss of a certain amount of the natural juice during the process of cooking. The cost of production, however, is said to be in favor of the Australian producer, as beef in Queensland is valued at $2.50 per hundredweight, and in America at about $5 per hundredweight.

The President's Landau.

Strength, roominess and freedom from conspicuous ornamentation are the characteristics of the new carriage which the president has recently received from New York for use in Washington. It is a big landau, of the round bodied kind in use 25 years ago. The body is dark olive green, with black moldings, picked out with fine lines of apple green, and the wheels are black striped with apple green on spokes and hub. On each of the doors and on the rear panel is the monogram "G. C." in apple green letters not over an inch long. The top of the landau is of enameled leather and can be folded down to make an open carriage for the summer weather. The carriage is nearly 4 feet wide inside.



THE PRESIDENT'S LANDAU.

The doors are of more than the ordinary width and have silver handles and hinges. There are silver guards to the steps and silver bands about the stems and tops of the lamps, which are of the cylinder style, with beveled plate glass lanterns. The fifth wheel is made double to increase its strength, and the springs are also made extra strong and padded with rubber to reduce the amount of noise and jarring. In the interior the same dark green color prevails in the morocco cushions, the edges of the seat cushions being faced with apple green silk. The front and side windows are of quarter-inch plate glass. The cost of the carriage was $1,800.

Danced From London to Norwich.

The longest dance on record is probably that of William Kemp, an actor of some celebrity in the reign of Queen Elizabeth. He was a comedian and danced all the way from London to Norwich in a week. He was attended by a tabourer, a servant and an overseer.

The Queen's Vacation.

It is estimated that Queen Victoria's continental trip will cost about $50,000.

LAW THAT IS QUEER.

A Decision Which Practically Makes a Nom de Plume Common Property.

A very interesting claim, in which every author who uses a signature is more or less concerned, was ignominiously dismissed by Judge Lacombe in the United States circuit court. As I understand it, a mediocre book was published in this city purporting to have been written by Alan Dale, the nom de plume of one of the brightest and cleverest of New York's younger literary men. As a matter of fact, Mr. Cohen (Alan Dale) did not write the book, and when he heard of its publication protested against the use of his name. Protest being unavailing, through his counselor, Mr. Steckler, he sued the publisher, claiming $1,000 damages. After hearing Mr. Cohen's testimony, Judge Lacombe virtually informed the jury that there was no necessity of further evidence, as it could not be shown that the plaintiff's salary on a daily paper in this city had been decreased by reason of the publication, or that he had had any subsequent trouble with publishers.

That may be law; it's not justice.

Mr. Cohen could have proved by George Alfred Townsend, A. C. Wheeler, Samuel L. Clemens and other writers of national repute that the signatures over which they are known to the world of readers—Gath, Nym Crinkle, Mark Twain—mean a fortune, and that any use of those signatures by other parties was not only an abuse but a traverse of equity, dishonest and cruel. I can't understand Lacombe's action in the matter. It virtually says to irresponsible publishers: "Go ahead, publish what you please, lyingly announce that the matter is written by any author whose name you may prefer. He has no remedy unless he can prove that he has lost an engagement or is in disfavor with the publisher."

I wonder how Lacombe would like to see decisions, purporting to have been rendered by him, signed with his name, circulated in the community. And I also wonder whether it ever entered his somewhat interesting mind that it is advisable to mulct thieves, liars and bearers of false witness, for the protection of the community in general and of men as well to whom reputation is worth much more money than the circuit court could possibly collect.—Joseph Howard in New York Recorder.

Churches as Places of Refuge In War.

Our ancestors transacted a good deal of business of one kind or another in and about their churches. To begin with, the churches of old England in turbulent times were regarded as places of safe custody for public and private property. In the border land of England and Scotland the idea was carried out still more completely, and churches, or at least their towers, became regular fortresses and not infrequently were objects of offenses and defense. We may note in rural England that in the cases of ancient churches the towers are often not merely disproportionate in size to the rest of the church, but are carefully and strongly built, evidently with an object.

Even in peaceful Surrey and Sussex the belfries are veritable strong rooms with barred windows and massive doors and often contain a massive treasure chest. Hither, at the first alarm, money and valuables were hurried, for beyond the security of thick walls and bars and bolts there was an ægis of sanctity which in a superstitious age protected the building from the most ruthless of foes. The fortresslike construction of many of the border land churches is an interesting study to antiquarians.—London Standard.

A New Type of Girl.

I met a new type of girl the other day, and she was certainly refreshing. Girls are all a good deal alike as a general thing, you know, and one does get so tired of the same old stereotyped girl—sweet enough in her way, I grant you, but with an eternal sameness that grows rather irksome.

She is a little witch to begin with. She will steal a man's heart before he knows it and then pretend not to know it herself. This damsel is most attractive to men, for, spite of her originality, she is adaptability personified. She seems to be able to converse intelligently with all sorts of men and gets each fellow's fad at her finger tips too. She knows more than many of her men friends, but she never lets them suspect it. She makes each believe that she learns so much from him and depends so much on him. She is a very feminine, unassuming, natural sort of little woman, with something appealing about her.

But down under it all she is artful. She has made a study of men, and she has profited by that study.—Chicago News-Record.

The Earth Will Fall Out of Balance.

Marshall Wheeler, one of the best known of the great army of Pacific coast scientists, claims to have discovered a "third principal motion of the earth," which is this: Every 20,903 years the globe changes its north and south poles on account of the attraction the earth has for its own magnetism. The sun, too, strongly attracts one of the poles and repels the other. This being the case, it only takes the short space of 20,903 years for the double attraction to careen it over to such an extent that it suddenly "flops" 90 degrees. Mr. Wheeler says that one of these grand "flops" occurred 6,000 years ago, at the time set down by the geologists as the "glacial epoch."—St. Louis Republic.

An Easy Way to Keep Insects Off Trees.

To trap various insects in the open air, half fill wide necked bottles with sirup or sweetened water, adding enough arsenic to make the liquid poisonous. After a rainstorm the bottles should be emptied and refilled, as before mentioned. Hang the bottle on the branches of the trees and among the bushes, etc. This is a ready and simple method of trapping all insects that prey on sweets, consequently keeping the trees free from many noxious pests that prey annually on shade and fruit trees.—Cor. Brooklyn Eagle.

AT THE "SOO" JUNCTION.

The Pathetic Lament of a Father Whose Son Ran Away From Home.

The time was a cold October afternoon.

The place was a lonely junction waiting room in northern Michigan.

The people of the drama were an old lumberman in "store clothes" and a young man whose apparel proclaimed the city.

And then there was a rough pine box, about six feet long, on a truck outside. Perhaps that might have been called "the properties."

There is no more desolate place than the Sault Ste. Marie junction, and it was raining that afternoon. There is a dirty little station and the train dispatcher's house on one side of the main track. Opposite is a deserted log cabin. There is nothing else to be seen. In summer the commonest flowers shun the spot. The old man with the crape on his hat sat looking out at the box on the truck. The young commercial traveler or advance agent, or whoever he was, stared vacantly at his companion. The time passed slowly and drearily. Once a freight train rattled by. The young man got all the enjoyment he could out of that and ruefully viewed the caboose fading away into the fog.

At length, as if compelled to speak, the old man said: "Say, I hate t' see th' rain fall on that 'ere coffin so. They oughter made th' eaveses t' this yere station bigger. I tried to bring him in, but that truck's too wide. Jim was a fine boy, he was, afore he went up t' Marquette. That's him out there. It warn't onnateral fer him t' want ter go. There hain't nothin to keep a bright boy t' home in a town what's got nothin in it but my ole sawmill an th' store. But, O Lord, I wisht he'd a staid—I wisht he'd a staid! A country boy ain't got no show in 'one o' them tough iron towns. I ain't a-blamin Jim fer leavin me. But he was all I had. He didn't know how much I wanted him t' stay or he'd 'a done it. He didn't have no sort o' raisin. His mother died when he was just a little feller.

"When he growed up, nothin 'ud do but he mus' go away. He goes up t' Marquette an gits him a good job on th' ore docks, bein strong an handy. He uster write me th' fines' letters you ever seen ev'ry Sunday reg'lar. He was up there jest four month when he quit writin. I stood it a month, an then I went up. He was sick in a measly boardin house. He was consider'ble sick, but we fetched him through, an I took him home. He got good an well again. He said he'd stay with me t' home. But he didn't. He runned off one night. I didn't care fer what he took, if he'd only a com' back. He kep' a-writin fer money t' come home on, and I kep' a-sendin it—but I had ter go fer my boy. He was shot through the heart in a saloon at the Soo. That's him out there. I ain't a-blamin him. I didn't raise him as I'—"

Then a whistle was heard. It was the awaited train. With careful hands the father, the train dispatcher and the young man wheeled the coffin to the baggage car. Gently the burden was lifted within. The old man climbed in, to be by his dead. The door was shut, and in a moment the train was lost in the burned pine barrens.—Harper's Weekly.

The Future of Greece.

It is impossible to have intercourse with modern Greeks without being touched with some degree of the enthusiasm which inspires them in discussing the future of their country, or without sharing the confidence with which they approach it. It may be true that the people are of hybrid race, that little of the old Hellenic blood flows in their veins, but few European nations of note, our own perhaps least of all, can boast unmixed descent. There is that in the air this people breathe, in the language they speak, the land they live in, which is of the very spirit of liberty.

One meeting a countryman on the road accosts him as "patriote," a term of more significance, of larger meaning than "citizen." But they are a people deeply democratic and require gentle handling to steer liberty clear of the shoals of license. Murmurings against the growth of taxation are already heard, and the extraordinary activity of the press insures the publicity of every unpopular act of the administration.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Astrology of the Day.

Astrology seems to be gaining in popularity, and many are turning to it for pointers concerning the fate that is in store for them. Meteorologists are consulting the planets in relation to changes in the weather, and scientists are seriously discussing the probability, or even possibility, of the larger planets exerting an influence on the earth sufficient to affect conditions of life or health.

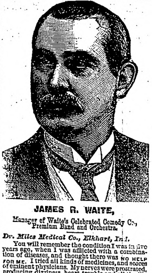
Astronomers do not believe in astrology, but are willing to give the unique science credit for assisting to develop the science of astronomy. Long before there was an interest taken in astronomy there were many careful observers of the heavenly bodies. The names chosen by these men for stars and constellations remain unchanged.—Edgar Lee in Arena.

The Date For the Millennium.

Charles T. Russell of Allegheny, Pa., announces that the millennium will surely arrive in October of 1914. We are now in the "lapping time," between the hay of the gospel and the grass of the millennium era. This "lapping time" began in October of 1874 and will last 40 years. During this period the kingdoms of the world will be overthrown by the anarchists, nihilists, socialists and nationalists. At the same time the Hebrews will all be gathered in Palestine.—Chicago Herald.

The Shamrock.

Those who believe that one of the 10 lost tribes of Israel settled in Ireland lay stress on the fact that "shamrakh" is the Arabic word for trefoil, which, under the name of shamrock, has been made the national bloom of Ireland.—Philadelphia Ledger.



JAMES R. WAITE,

Manager of Waite's Celebrated Comedy Co., Premium Band and Orchestra.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

You will remember the condition I was in five years ago, when I was afflicted with a combination of diseases, and thought there was NO HELP FOR ME. I tried all kinds of medicines, and scores of eminent physicians. My nerves were prostrated, producing dizziness, heart trouble and all the ills that make life miserable. I commenced to take and in three months I WAS PERFECTLY CURED. In my travels each year, when I see the thousands of physical wrecks, suffering from nervous prostration, taking prescriptions from local physicians who have no knowledge of their case, and whose death is certain, I feel like going to them and saying, "GET DR. MILES' NERVINE AND BE CURED." In my profession, where there are so many sufferers from overwork, mental prostration and nervous exhaustion, brought on by the character of the business engaged in, I would recommend "MILES' NERVINE" as a sure cure for all suffering from these causes.

DR. MILES' NERVINE

JAMES R. WAITE.

HAS CURED THOUSANDS

SOLD ON A POSITIVE GUARANTEE.

TRY DR. MILES' PILLS, 50 DOSES 25 CTS.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure at Druggists.

Just as Sure as Preaching

is it that the best of current fiction appears

IN THESE COLUMNS.

We leave no stone unturned to make this a

HOME PAPER

in every sense of the word. Are you a subscriber?

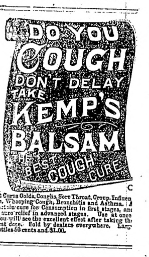
St. Vitus' Dance cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine.



It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

AT BEDTIME
I TAKE A PLEASANT
HERB
DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1.00 a package. If you cannot get it, send your address for free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary. Address, ORATOR F. WOODWARD, LeROY, N. Y.

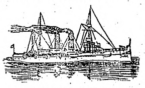
SWIFT DESTROYERS.

FASCINATING FIGURES ON THE NEWEST WARSHIPS.

How Our New Navy Has Been Built Up. The Detroit Is a Pleasing Surprise—Argentina's Crack Cruiser, the Nueve de Julio, Eclipses All Records.

The recent growth of the United States navy is justly a matter of pride and joy to all of us, and since the recent opportunity for comparison with other nations—in New York harbor—our pleasure is by no means lessened. At the great naval review the Argentine Republic rather astonished the rest of mankind by appearing with a cruiser that can make 23½ knots an hour and is therefore claimed to be the fastest afloat. The United States, however, held her own handsomely in the general exhibit, but for a full appreciation of the comparisons to follow a few words of history must be prefaced.

When the civil war was officially declared at an end, the government had 469 vessels, of which 101 were originally merchant vessels and were soon restored to that service. Many others were sold and refitted for the merchant service, and so rapid was the decay as well as the change in naval warfare that nearly all the others were soon reduced to the value of old junk. In truth, the navy was got rid of only a little less rapidly than the army, and all at once the country woke up to the fact that it was practically without a modern navy.



THE NUEVE DE JULIO.

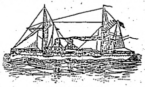
In 1881 a naval advisory board was created, which reported that for proper defense in time of war this nation absolutely needed 21 armored vessels, 70 unarmored cruisers, 5 rams, 5 torpedo gunboats and 20 torpedo boats. On March 3, 1883, the act was passed ordering three cruisers and one dispatch boat. The contract was awarded to John Roach & Sons, and so the reconstruction of the navy began. These three cruisers were the Boston, Atlanta and Chicago, and the greatest speed averaged by any of them was 15½ knots.

Secretary Whitney then took control in the Cleveland administration and was confronted at the start with the fact that a complete revolution had taken place even while the Roach vessels were being finished. Compound engines had given place to twin screws, and twin screws were fast giving place to triple expansion engines. The first result was the Newark, built by the Cramps at a cost of $1,248,000, with triple expansion engines which maintained 19½ knots per hour for four hours. Then came the Baltimore, at a cost of $1,325,000, with engines which outdid those of the Newark by a very slight fraction. And so the improvement went on till the San Francisco was put afloat with a horsepower of 10,400 and a speed of 20.17 knots. And now we are promised three more at an early date which will maintain a speed of 21 knots for some hours, and after that still further advances.

In the meantime, here is the Nueve de Julio, which can go at the rate of 23½ knots per hour and slipped across the Atlantic so quietly that her arrival at New York was a complete surprise. Though an Argentine ship, she is English built and came fresh from the famous yards of Sir William Armstrong, Mitchell & Co., Newcastle. Her name means 9th of July, which is independence day to the Argentines. She went first to the Azores, and her trip thence to New York eclipsed, for a continuous run, the best showing of the fastest Atlantic liners. No other cruiser in the world can compare with her on a long run, but Italy and Spain have gunboats which can outdo her for a short distance.

She is a large steel unprotected cruiser, driven by triple expansion engines which revolve twin screws. The speed guaranteed by her builders was 22.7 knots. She has 3,500 tons displacement, a horsepower of 14,500 and carries 12 long and 24 quick firing guns. At first view it seems incredible that such a bulk on so yielding a surface as that of salt water could go at almost the average speed of a passenger train, but what is seen must be believed.

About the time of the Nueve de Julio's arrival the new United States cruiser Detroit made her trial trip in front of New London, Conn., and was at once pronounced the fastest in the world of her class. Her contractors, the Columbian Iron Works and Drydock company of Baltimore, had guaranteed 17 knots per hour, and she made nearly 19, so they will receive a premium of about $300,000, the largest ever paid by any government on the completion of a vessel.



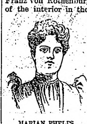
THE DETROIT.

The Detroit is a 2,000-ton steel twin screw cruiser. Length on mean load water line, 257 feet; beam, extreme, 37 feet. In her construction nothing but steel was used. The machinery consists of two vertical, inverted cylinder, direct acting, triple expansion engines, and the cylinders have a 26-inch stroke. Her battery consists of two 6-inch and eight 5-inch rapid fire breechloading rifles, six 6-pound and two 1-pound rapid fire cannon and two gatling guns. All her shafting is hollow, and her 4-bladed propeller wheels, 11 feet in diameter, are of manganese bronze. Verily it takes talent and money to produce such commerce destroyers.

S. P. ROSSELLE.

ANOTHER INTERNATIONAL MARRIAGE.

The Daughter of William Walter Phelps Betrothed at Berlin.



MARIAN PHELPS.

The wedding of Miss Marian Phelps, only daughter of William Walter Phelps, our late minister to Germany, to Dr. Franz von Rothenburg, under secretary of the interior in the German government, will be in striking contrast to many of the recent so called "international marriages," both in its freedom from vulgar ostentation and in the fact that the bridegroom, though of a distinguished family, is a man of scholarly attainments and without a title. The marriage is to take place in Berlin and will be as entirely unostentatious and private as though neither of the high contracting parties was known beyond a limited circle of personal friends.

Miss Phelps is a very popular young woman in New Jersey, especially in the vicinity of Teaneck, her father's magnificent estate in Bergen county, where she was born and where her friends hoped she would one day return to permanently reside. It seems to be a settled arrangement now, however, that except for an occasional visit to her childhood's home Miss Phelps will reside abroad after her marriage. Her husband's official duties will of course make this necessary, and it is extremely unlikely that he will abandon his brilliant prospects in the emperor's service.

Dr. von Rothenburg has been in the German interior department for a number of years and was Bismarck's first lieutenant during the last 12 years of his premiership. Although his connection with the Iron Chancellor was intimate, he was selected for advancement by Chancellor Caprivi and would have been promoted to a cabinet position before now but for an inopportune illness. The doctor is scholarly and refined, has an ample fortune and is about 40 years of age.

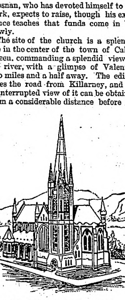
The bride is a young woman of many accomplishments and rare good sense. She speaks many languages and by her tact and womanly modesty won her way into the favor of every one connected with the diplomatic corps. She has been her father's constant companion for years and has always sympathized with his political aspirations, so she has kept herself well informed on matters connected therewith. Her knowledge of politics and her natural diplomacy are said to have been of great assistance to Mr. Phelps, who was accustomed to say that she "ran the legation."

THE O'CONNELL MEMORIAL.

The Beautiful Church to Be Shown In Miniature at the Fair.

A miniature model in carved stone of the Daniel O'Connell Memorial church at Cahirciveen, County Kerry, Ireland, is among the interesting objects to be found in the Irish village at the World's fair. Though the church is not itself completed, the model will of course represent it as it is intended to be when finished, when it will unquestionably be one of the handsomest structures in the world. It is now built up to the roof, but it is estimated that it will take about $50,000 more to finish it and properly furnish it. This sum the Rev. Canon Brosnan, who has devoted himself to the work, expects to raise, though his experience teaches that funds come in but slowly.

The site of the church is a splendid one in the center of the town of Cahirciveen, commanding a splendid view of the river, with a glimpse of Valentia, two miles and a half away. The edifice faces the road from Killarney, and an uninterrupted view of it can be obtained from a considerable distance before entering the town. The length of the nave and chancel combined is 152 feet and the width at the transepts 102 feet. The roof ridge is 70 feet high, and the spire of the tower will reach an altitude of 168 feet above the ground when it is completed. The liberator's son began the erection of the church in memory of his father and carried on the work very successfully until his death, since when it has made very slow progress and would have languished entirely but for the untiring energy of Rev. Canon Brosnan.



O'CONNELL MEMORIAL CHURCH.

A Warning to Complaisant People.

Here is a warning to people who give letters of recommendation indiscriminately to discharged servants: A few weeks ago an English lady was obliged to pay $20 as damages for having given a good "character" to a servant whom she knew to be unfaithful. Her written recommendation of the servant enabled the latter to get a place which she could not have obtained without the recommendation and in which she proved unfaithful and detrimental to the lady who employed her.

Information For Romantic Girls.

It is related that five girls who successively played the part of Tony in the "Trip to Chinatown" made runaway marriages.

Women Will Vote

as usual at the next school election—but for many candidates. They give a unanimous vote—every day in the week—in favor of

KIRK'S WHITE RUSSIAN SOAP

because they know it has no equal as a labor and temper saver on wash-day. The "White Russian" is a great soap to use in hard or alkali water. Does not roughen or injure the hands—is perfectly safe to use on the finest fabrics.

JAS. S. KIRK & CO., Chicago.

Dusky Diamond Tar Soap. Makes the Skin Soft and Smooth.

Something New in Train Equipment to Chicago.

The "Limited" train on The Northwestern Line," leaving Minneapolis 7:30 p. m., St. Paul 8:10 p. m. and arriving Milwaukee 7:25 a. m., Chicago 9:30 a. m., is now equipped with Wagner Compartment Cars in addition to Standard Sleepers, and also with Buffet Smoking and Library Cars.

This is the finest equipped train in America, is the only train of its kind west of Chicago, and no extra fare is charged on this "Northwestern Limited."

By "The Northwestern Line" you also have advantage of fast day train, leaving Minneapolis 7:20 a. m. and St. Paul 8:30 a. m., arriving Milwaukee 7:55 p. m., Chicago, 9:35 p. m., also an afternoon train, leaving Minneapolis 5:00 p. m., St. Paul 5:35 p. m., arriving at Chicago 7:45a. m

"The Nortwestern Line" is also the only Pullman Car Line from St. Paul and Minneapolis, Sioux City, Omaha, Kansas City, Duluth and Ashland.

For luxury and comfort, best equipment and road bed, secure ticket via "The Northwestern Line," they are on sale at all stations. Illustrated Map Folder free on application to

T. W. TEASDALE
Gen. Pass. Agent,
[32tf] St. Paul, Minn.

Cheap Fuel.

From a limited amount of wood, I will deliver to any part of the city four foot dry soft wood at $4.00, four foot dry hard wood at $5.50, sawed as you want it for 50 cents extra.

W. H. NORRIE,
Successor to Priester & Co.
Corner Main and Third streets.

Don't forget my feed mill—feed ground every week day during February either for cash or trade at rate of one sack for seven or ⅛ bushel per bushel ground. Special contract for large quantities. Call on me.

W. H. NORRIE,
Successor to Priester & Co.,
Corner Main and Third streets.

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block, } CROOKSTON, MINN.

The Farmers' Tribune

THE Best Newspaper.
THE Best Agricultural Paper
THE Best Editorials.

THE BEST MISCELLANEOUS READING.
THE BEST SKETCHE OF TRAVEL.
THE BEST ESSAYS AND SERMONS.

Should be read in every home in the Northwest.

LIBERAL PREMIUMS.

Each subscriber who pays arrearges and one year in advance, or each new subscriber who sends one dollar for one year's subscription between Feb. 15th and May 1st, 1893, will receive as a premium their choice of either

No. 1—12 Packages Vegetable Seed.

No. 2—12 Packages Flower Seeds.

No. 3—25 Strawberry Plants.

No. 4—1 Lb. Farmers' Tribune Pedigreed Seed corn.

Remember, $1.00 for the Farmers' Tribune one year, with choice of either of above premiums. Or the

POLK COUNTY JOURNAL
ONE YEAR
AND EITHER OF THE ABOVE PREMIUMS,
For $2.00.

Address
THE JOURNAL,
Crookston, Minn.

A ◎ GOOD ◎ STORY

is as much the part of a Home Newspaper as the news. Therefore the choice fiction from leading writers constantly appearing in these columns.

If you are not a regular subscriber enter your subscription at once for

THE HOME PAPER

NORTHERN PACIFIC R.R.

Is the only line running
THROUGH PULLMAN CARS
BETWEEN
Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis
AND
NORTH PACIFIC COAST POINTS.

THE DINING CAR LINE
Dining Cars on all through Trains.

THE YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
This marvellous Wonderland reached only by this line.

THE PEOPLE'S LINE
The people's highway from Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and West Superior to Winnipeg, Helena, Butte, Missoula, Spokane, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and Puget Sound.

THE TOURISTS' LINE
The popular line to reach Lakes Pend d' Orielle Cœur d' Alene, Kootenai, Chelan, the Hot Springs and Mountain Resorts of the Northwest and to Alaska.

DAILY EXPRESS TRAINS
Have Pullman Palace Cars, Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Free Colonist Sleeping Cars.

THROUGH TICKETS
Are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and West, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave	For St. Paul, Minneapolis Chicago, Duluth and West Superior.	7:12 p.m.
Crookston
Daily	For Grand Forks, Grafton, Brandon and Winnipeg,	8:19 a.m.

For rates, maps, time tables, or special information, apply to

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.,
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, county of Polk,—ss. In Probate Court, special term, April 21st, 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Charles W. Wright, deceased:

On reading and filing the petition of A. M. Childs administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Charles W. Wright, deceased representing among other things, that he has fully administered said estate and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

It is ordered, that said account be examined, and petition heard by this court on Monday the 22nd day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate office in the city of Crookston in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 21st day of April A. D. 1893.

By the Court,
C. M. BENSON,
(2-5) Judge of Probate.

Come quick and get some of my A No. 1 dry maple before it is all gone. I have green ash, also that cannot be beat. Prices of dry oak, birch, tamarac and poplar still very low. All kinds of wood sawed as you want it at very cheap rate. My feed mill runs every day until April 1st and longer if necessary. Feed ground for cash or toll. Low rates for large quantities. Call and see me.

W. H. NORRIE,
Corner Main and Third Streets.

The Crookston Belle—Kœppe's new cigar, is as fine as silk. Try it.

SAAKE

Is still doing business at the old stand and selling

WATCHES,
CLOCKS
JEWELRY.

CHEAPER
THAN EVER.

☞ WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. ☜

ROBERT STREET,
CROOKSTON, MINN, C. H. SAAKE.

If you want a
STOVE OR RANGE
——FOR WOOD OR Coal, see the——

FAMOUS
BRAND
STOVE

BRAND'S FAMOUS Stoves AND Ranges BEST ON EARTH

AT ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER'S.

They are the finest line of stoves ever brought to Crookston, and are sold at

REASONABLE PRICES.

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPENS MAY 1ST.

Are You Going? If so be sure and take out a Membership Certificate in "The Chicago Entertainment Bureau." It will save you Worry, Time and Money. Respectable and well located rooms at moderate prices guaranteed. Send for descriptive circulars to the

Minnesota and Dakota Headquarters, 618 AND 619 PIONEER PRESS BLDG., ST. PAUL,
N. T. HALL, Manager.

Partial List of References: HON. KNUTE NELSON, Gov. of Minnesota; HON. A. R. McGILL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; HON. W. R. MARSHALL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; RT. REV. W. N. GILBERT, Ass't Bishop, Diocese, Minn., and many other equally well known names.

MORTGAGE SALE.

(First publication April 13th, 1893.)
(Last publication May 25th, 1893.)

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage, containing power of sale, dated November 30th, 1885, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on December 4th, 1885, in book 23 of mortgages, on pages 99, 100, 101, whereby Jean B. Lelande and Cleophie Lelande, his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to Mary E. Towle, mortgagee, all those tracts of land described as follows, to wit: The southeast quarter of the northeast quarter, and lot one; all in section four, in township one hundred and fifty-one, of range forty-five, in Polk county, Minnesota, containing eighty acres more or less, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice $141.50, including interest and principal and taxes on said lands for the years 1885, 1886, 1887, 1888, 1890, 1891 and 1892, paid by the mortgagee

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be fore closed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county or his deputy, on June 19th, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m. at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any and $25 attorney's fees, and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated April 20th, 1893.

MARY E. TOWLE,
Mortgagee.

MONTAGUE & BUCKLEY,
(52-6) Attorneys for Mortgagee.

M. LeGUEE.
Veterinary Surgeon
Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

JOHN CROMB,
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

MARTIN O'BRIEN,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
{I. O. O. F. BUILDING.} Crookston, Minn.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

An even mouthful of Climax Plug gives more satisfaction than a bulging mouthful of any other tobacco for the reason that Climax Plug is much the best

GREAT NORTHERN
Railway
TIME CARD.

MONTANA EXPRESS—Daily.

West				East
7:40 p m	De.	St Paul	Ar.	6:55 a m
2:50 a m	"	Fergus Falls	"	11:25 p m
4:47 a m	"	Glyndon	"	9:36 p m
7:20 a m	"	CROOKSTON	"	7:25 p m
8:40 a m	"	Grand Forks	"	6:20 p m
9:45 a m	"	Larimore	"	5:06 p m
2: 1 p m	"	Devils Lake	"	2:55 a m
7:00 p m	Ar.	Butte	De	7:30 a m

ST. VINCENT BRANCH—Daily except Sunday
Depart 7:30 a m Arrive 6:30 p m

FOSSTON BRANCH—Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Depart 8:00 a m Arrive 5:30 p m

ST. HILAIRE, Thief River and Red Lake Falls Branch—
Monday, Wednesday and Friday,
Depart 9:00 a m Arrive 6:50 p m

GRAND FORKS' ACCOMMODATION.
Arrive 9:50 a m Depart 7:55 p m

The scenic route to Spokane, Helena, and Butte on the west, and St. Paul, Minneapolis-Duluth and West Superior on the east. Dining and sleeping cars on all through trains. Tickets on sale to all principal places. Baggage checked through to destination.

W. W. FEGAN, Agent.

THE MARKETS.

[Corrected weekly by the Crookston Hay and Commission Co.]

RETAIL PRICE.

Hay, per ton	$6.00@$10.00
Butter, per lb	20c@25c
Eggs, per dozen	15c
Hogs, dressed, per cwt	$6.00@$7.00
Beef, hind quarters	4c@5c
Beef, fore quarters	2½c@4½c
Potatoes	65c

Wheat—1 Hard 53.
1 Northern 51.

'Round Home.

Hugh Thompson went to St. Paul this week.

G. H, Fargo, of Euclid, was in the city Monday.

Halvor Steenerson went down to Fargo on Monday.

Wm. Donaldson commenced seeding on his farm in Andover on Monday.

Commissioner Rhinehart came down from the Reservation for a few days.

Attorney Averill of Fosston went up to Argyle last Monday on legal business.

United States District Attorney Eugene Hay of Minneapolis, was in the city last Tuesday.

J. W. Peterson went up to McIntosh on Tuesday. He is ever on the alert for business.

The Crookston Laundry has been running a little sidewalk wagon during the muddy season.

Do not miss the bargains at the
NEW YORK STORE.

Geo. B. Winship, of the Grand Forks Herald, spent Monday night in the city, a guest of the Commercial.

Attorney Steenerson went over to Grand Forks last Thursday to argue in a case against the city of Grafton.

The Scandia Furniture Company have removed their stock into the store in the Fournet block formerly occupied by Chabot as a clothing store.

At and below cost, my big and well assorted line of Dry Goods, Clothing and Boots and Shoes.

NEW YORK STORE,
A. CHABOT, Proprietor.

Thos. Montgomery of St. Paul, who is a past grand commander of the Knights Templar of Minnesota, arrived in the city last Tuesday to inspect the Crookston commandery.

Commissioner McDonald is busy with a force of men helping Nature get the streets into passible condition by cutting out the ice in the gutters so that it can thaw out more readily. A few days of nice weather would work a marvelous change.

Chris. Hanson, who has been with the Scandia Furniture Company since its organization, has severed his connection with that institution and expects to leave for Duluth shortly. O. R. Miller and A. P. Hanson now control the business of the furniture company and Mr. Miller will be the manager.

The most painful cases of rheumatism may be relieved by a few applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm; its continued use will cure any case, no matter of how long standing. It is equally beneficial for lame back, pain in the side, pain in the chest, lameness, and in all painful affections requiring an external remedy. A piece of flannel saturated with Pain Balm and bound on over the seat of pain is superior to the plaster. for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

Rev. R. H. Battey went up to Stephen to hold services on Sabbath day.

Chas. Vine's new residence in Jerome's addition begins to show what like it will be. It will be a neat and tasty house.

The interest in the revival meetings at the M. E. church keeps up well. The attendance is large and much good must result.

When you feel all tired out and broken up generally, you need a good tonic. Hood's Satsaparilla is the best. Try it.

The family of O. R. Williams left last week for Irondale, Minn., to join Mr. Williams, who is in the general merchandise business there.

Chas. Lanman, of the McIntosh Times, was in the city on Thursday last. He says that newspaper work and other things keep him busy these days.

Parisian novelties and all late millinery at Mrs. Sempf's Broadway shop. Owing to the lateness of the season will be glad to get cost for my goods, call and be convinced.

Geo. R. Roberts and John P. Lunden came down from Stephen last Friday, remaining over Sunday to attend the meeting of the chairmen of the county commissioners held here on Monday.

J. W. Strawbridge, of Baltimore, Md., a cousin of Prof. B. Strawbridge, will remain in the city this summer and teach music. He has already secured a number of scholars for the piano and organ.

E. M. Stanton went up to Argyle Monday, where he appeared in Justice court for the Minnesota Fire association in an action which that company brought against about 75 farmers of Marshall county, who refuse to pay their notes given the company for insurance. At the request of the plaintiff the cases were continued one month.

Flax seed for sale, farmers wishing to put in flax this spring can be supplied with the best seed in any quantity by the Crookston Hay & Commission Co. They will also pay you the highest cash price for your butter, eggs and Produce. [2-3]

If you are looking for a snap in farms call and look over that bargain that the Red River Land and Investment Company offers in another column. A good improved farm all ready for business at about the bare cost of improvements is a snap not to picked up every day. For full particulars call on or address August George, Opera house block.

A telephone exchange for Crookston is an assured fact. Already over 50 business houses and professional men have subscribed for the service, and Mr. Von. Schriltz, the gentleman who represents the Northern Telephone Exchange Co., of Minneapolis, is well satisfied with the success he has had, and says the company will be warranted in putting in the service here. He guarantees a first-class service in every respect, and as it will be better patronized than the former concern, it cannot help but be a success.

A meeting of the chairmen of the various boards of county commissioners in the counties interested in the appropriation under the drainage bill was held in the office of the chairman of the Polk county board, M. E. Kirsch, on Monday for the purpose of electing a member of the board of commissioners. Six counties were represented but no choice was made, from the fact that every county had a candidate for the position. We understand that in case the commissioners fail to select a man it shall be the duty of the governor to make the appointment.

From Thursday last until Tuesday of this week the ground has dried up more rapidly than during the whole spring time generally and if Hicks does not spring some more of his horrid weather upon us the seeders will be generally busy throughout the county by the last of the week. Some few commenced seeding last week and many were intending to do so on Monday morning, others thought that they would get at it about the middle of the week in case we get no more bad weather. Everybody is hoping that Hick's predictions for May will prove to be largely over-drawn—he predicts a stormier month than April.

DR PRICE'S
Cream Baking Powder.
The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

Judge C. S. Spendley is quite seriously ill.

A. Burnam commenced sowing wheat last week.

Martin Swanson informs us that he started his seeders on Tuesday morning.

E. C. Murney was down from Euclid last week to attend the Salvation Army.

Mrs Joseph Hoch and family leave this week to join her husband at Astoria, Oregon.

E. M. Stanton has been asked to deliver the Decoration Day oration. A good selection.

Ed. Erickson has sold his interest in the Frickson & Carlson meat market to B. Sampson.

Otto Donaldson and bride will leave for their new home at Spokane the last of this week.

T. B. McMahan was down from Stephen last week to look after his Polk county farm.

The Great Northern will sell round trip tickets to Chicago on Mondays and Thursdays at $32.55.

C. Snyder reported to us on Tuesday that he intended to commence dragging on Wednesday.

Marlan Hart returned last week from a visit in the southern part of the state. Says everything is fully as backward there as here.

Attorney Hatlestad is beginning to get around after a serious illness of four or five weeks' duration. He is about as fat as a match.

We are constantly receiving mail orders for the JOURNAL which is an encouraging sign of the times that we can heartily appreciate.

Owing to the condition of the roads very little hay finds its way to market, but what little does come seems to find a ready market.

A. K. Austin intends to engage in the furniture business, and will occupy store in the opera block made vacant by the Scandia Furniture Company.

The country roads are said to be rapidly getting in nice condition for travel—a state of things highly desirable and very much appreciated by all concerned.

Landlord Stoeser lost a valuable stallion last week. It was an animal that he had sold sometime ago, but for some reason had to take it back again. The animal was insured for $500.

Prof. Wishard went up to Fosston on Tuesday. All along the route he saw many of the farmers busy seeding. The wagon roads appeared to be getting in good condition for traveling.

The fishing season has begun in earnest. Every day numbers of young men and boys may be seen going to the river and they seldom return without a nice mess of fish. The largest fish taken from the river thus far is a 61 pound sturgeon. The largest last year was 75 pounds.

The more Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used the better it is liked. We know of no other remedy that always gives satisfaction. It is good when you first catch cold. It is good when your cough is seated and your lungs are sore. It is good in any kind of a cough. We have sold twenty-five dozen of it and every bottle has given satisfaction. Stedlman & Friedman, druggists, Minnesota Lake, Minn. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist, Crookston, Minn.

Now would be a good time for all who have good seed oats, barley and potatoes to have them in the market as the demand for those things is now greater than it will be a few weeks later when everything is supplied. There is now a good demand and the shrewd farmer will not wait until the demand is fully supplied before he offers his goods for sale.

A bevy of little girls invaded the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Palmer about 8 o'clock on Saturday, singing a fairy song and marching through the hall, circled about Mr. Palmer, who was holding little Ada, when one of them placed a wreath of beautiful flowers upon the child's head. It then dawned upon Mr. and Mrs. Palmer that this was the anniversary of the birth of their little one, and they then entered fully into the spirit of the thing and heartily welcomed the little folks and began to arrange to entertain them, which they did right royally until 10, when the little fairies departed for their several homes after wishing their little hostess many happy returns of the day.

Reports come from Drayton, N. D., Pembina and down river points of great devastation by high water. Near the former point hundreds of acres are from two to six feet under the water, and the probability is that much of it cannot be seeded this spring. Buildings and stock have been swept away and in some cases the settlers barely escaped with their lives, being obliged to flee to higher ground with no time to save their personal property. Talk about high water at Crookston! We would do much better to wait till we get it.

A. M. Stewart has rented the McGrew house to Mr. Raymond.

Netzer & Miller have bought out Peter Stull's saloon in the Germania house.

Nearly all of the city churches joined in the exercises at the M. E. church on Sunday evening.

The JOURNAL was mis-informed in relation to Mrs. Chas. Vine's going to Canada. It transpires that she did not go.

The water cart now makes its daily rounds with four horses attached to it. Such roads are very unusual in Crookston.

Mrs. J. G. McGrew, Miss Edith and Willie departed on Sunday evening for their new home in Duluth accompanied by the best wishes of many friends.

Mr. Welter was up from Edna last Thursday and bought a fine span of colts of M. R. Brown. A carload of horses, of Mr. Brown's selection don't have to wait long for purchasers.

Col. Cobham Post is arranging the Memorial Day program. Rev. Smith has invited the post to attend services at the Congregational church on the Sabbath preceding.

R. S. Hurd was rejoicing in the fact that he was recovering from the effects of a kick from a vicious horse. What made him feel as good as anything else was the fact that he carried a policy in an accident insurance company.

Hicks second of May rain-storm evidently was not intended for Polk county and we hope this will hold true of every one of his predictions during the month. There were storms, however, in other portions of the country.

The E. D. Childs milk company have been obliged to substitute a large lumber wagon and four horses for their usual two horse delivery rig during the muddy season and this requires two men. There would not be much money in milk at present prices if this sort of thing had to be perpetual.

Mrs. A. Blanchard writes from Hays City, Kansas, to have her JOURNAL sent to that place. Her husband, Elmer Blanchard, is traveling for a nursery firm down there. Mrs Blanchard thinks that, everything considered, there is no place like Polk county, Minn.

The Perham Bulletin says that the latest reports from the sick bed of A. McCrea, at Spokane Falls, are to the effect that his death is daily expected, It will be remembered that Mr. McCrea was state senator from this district years ago when Otter Tail county was a portion of it. If Mr. McCrea should die the body will be brought to Perham, his old home, for burial by the side of his first wife.

Last Friday morning, at 5 o,clock Undertaker Wyatt received a telegram requesting him to bring a child's casket to the morning train on the Great Northern. When the train arrived he found a dead child on board and placed it in the casket. The mother of the child was Mrs. John Jones, the wife of a Butte hotelkeeper. While visiting in the east last winter she had given birth to twins, and was on her way home last week when one of the children died on the train between St. Paul and Crookston.

A Railroad train 200 feet long consisting of an Engine, Baggage car, Coach, and Sleeper, crossing stage in 10 seconds. The wonderful saw mill scene, sawing lumber in view of the audience with a 48 inch buzz saw, the boiler Explosion, Bartholdi Statue, New York Harbor, Brooklyn Bridge is what packs the theatres nightly to see Uncle Hiram. This company will be the attraction at the Opera House Friday evening, May 5th.

Last week the JOURNAL contained a clipping from the Minneapolis Journal which gave on account of some sharpers in Chicago who sent out circulars to farmers offering, if the farmer would send a bushel of his best wheat, charges prepaid, to place said wheat on exhibition at the World's fair with the name and residence of the grower attached by tag. When the wheat arrives in Chicago the parties to whom it is addressed will take out a small sample, put it in a phial with a tag attached for exhibition and the balance of the wheat is taken to an elevator and sold. It is said that Ole Hoven sent a bushel of his choicest wheat in this way and he will probably be entitled to a phial on exhibition. A good round price to pay for a little fame.

The promptness and certainty of its cures have made Chamberlain's Cough remedy famous. It is intended especially, for coughs, colds, croup and whooping coughs and is the most effectual remedy known for these diseases. Mr. C. B. Main, of Union City, Pa., says: "I have a great sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I warrant every bottle and have never heard of one failing to give entire satisfaction." 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.
Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

Fred Reyer seems to think it is harvest time—at least he bought a cradle instead of a self-binder.

A. E. Brush returned last week from a visit to Kansas. Says they are needing rain there as badly as we don't need it up here.

Money to loan. Farm and city lots for sale. Please call at R. R. V. Loan and Investment Co., Opera Block, Crookston Minn.

Drayman Joe McMahan is dandling a wee bit baby girl on his knee since last Wednesday week. Says its the most precious freight he has handled this year.

Charlie Vine's delivery horse took a whirl about noon on Tuesday, regardless of mud. All he seemed to care for was to get to his stable in time for dinner. No damage done.

Miss Veronneau's Parisian millinery parlors on Second street still continue to be the centre of attraction in the display of the spring fashions. And she is kept busy supplying the wants of her customers. She invites our lady readers to call and see her stock.

Assignee Wheeler sold the Sylvester & Finseth hardware stock to Tom Bjoin, who will open a hardware store in the opera block, in the room formerly occupied by Locken & Holmboe. Mr. Bjoin intends to put in a large stock of new hardware in addition to the stock he has purchased, and will keep a first-class store.

H. W. Cleveland came in from Mentor Tuesday night. He has rented the Date place at Maple Lake, has thoroughly renovated the house papered and painted it, and is cleaning up the grounds as fast as the snow will permit, and as soon as the ice is all out of the lake will open up that famous resort for summer boarders. He will open up with a dance on May 17th. He will put the boats in thorough repair and will spare no pains in his efforts to care for his guests. Grand Army men will always find comrade Cleveland at his post ready to give them all a hearty greeting and he invites all JOURNAL readers to give him a call.

Capt. E. C. Davis: "What do I think of this kind of weather? Why sir, I think it is all right—a real blessing in disguise. The fact of the matter is that we have too much wheat on hand already and if we had had fine weather the result would have been every farmer in the country would have sown a larger area than ever before and the inevitable result would have been a lower price than ever before. I think that if our wheat-raisers get a chance to sow wheat three or four days it will be all they should do and if they get any more time they had better sow barley and oats and other stuff. Time was when this was the best wheat country in the world and then there was money in raising it because there was not so much wheat in the world, but the conditions are now changed and we must calculate accordingly. Once it would pay to raise wheat for the English market, to-day all we should calculate on should be to raise enough for home consumption. Why? Because other countries that have just begun to raise wheat can produce it so much cheaper than we can that we cannot compete with them. When the India wheat-raiser pays only ten cents per day for labor the wheat-raiser in the Red River Valley has to pay from $2.00 to $2.50 and even allowing that the laboring man here will do more than the laboring man in India will, there is such a vast difference between the wages paid that the balance will always be largely in favor of the India wheat-raiser. No, this country is all right for farming but it is not all right for wheat-raising alone because we can raise wheat enough to keep the market continually glutted, and I believe that an all-wise Providence in ordering this kind of weather is doing only just what man ought to have sense enough to do for himself, that is, cutting down the supply of wheat. I tell you the country is all right for farmers, but a man must use his brains if he expects to keep up with the procession in any pursuit in these days. Business rules just as surely govern farming as anything else whether we will acknowledge it or not, and just as soon as we tumble to that fact you will see one of the most prosperous countries on the footstool. The country is all right and this weather is all right, I tell you!"

Weather and Crops.

The following summary of the weather-crop bulletin for the week ending April 29th; issued by the Minnesota weather bureau, will be of interest, as it shows the conditions of the weather and the prospects for seeding throughout the state:

NORTHERN DISTRICT.

Season very backward and no seeding has been done except in patches of sandy soil, The Snake river at Warren reached a higher stage on the 26th than during the previous ten years. The precipitation has been greater than the average, with a deficiency in temperature and sunshine, but snow has practically all disappeared, and with warm, drying weather, seeding will become general within a week or ten days.

CENTRAL DISTRICT.

Owing to wet, cold weather and lack of sunshine, all farm work has practically been suspended during the week. The seed sown on low lands is in danger of rotting. The rivers are very high, the Minnesota being over its banks in Carver Co., and the marshes are flooded. The excess of precipitation, a portion of which was in the form of snow, has caused the roads to become almost impassible, and the farmers are feeling despondent. Warm, bright sunshine for a few days is greatly needed to dry the soil.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

The conditions in the Southern district are about the same as above. The week has been too cold and wet, preventing the germination of the seed already sown, and increasing the danger of rotting on the lowlands. Seeding is about half done, and but little progress has been made during the last two weeks. The weather, owing to the absence of warmth and sunshine has had a very depressing effect upon the entire community, and the farmers feel discouraged. A few bright sunshiny days will reverse these conditions, and with the abundance of moisture now in the soil, insure a rapid growth in vegetation of all kinds.

FREE HOMESTEADS

In the Saskatchewan Valley.

160 acres free to all males over 18 years of age in the beautiful Saskatchewan valley, where wheat goes 40 bushels to the acre and potatoes 600 bushels, and hay cuts from three to four tons an acre. Plenty of timber for buildings, fencing and fuel. First-class soil and water. Good railroad facilities. Fine climate and good markets and where taxes are only for school purposes. For full information apply to

C. A. MUNSON,
Colonization Agent,
Commercial Hotel, Crookston.

Amusements

The comedian Aaron H. Woodhull will present that laughable comedy Uncle Hiram at The Opera House Friday evening, May 5. He is supported this season by an excellent company of players including Miss Troyja Griswold the pretty and charming soubrette whose singing of topical songs, together with her character changes have made her a prime favorite throughout the States and Canada. Mr. Woodhull, the comedian, is well known everywhere and there isn't any need of commenting upon his unique and entirely original creation of Uncle Hiram; suffice to say he stands without an equal in his particular line. Regarding the mechanical and scenic effects introduced in the new Uncle Hiram since last presented here, Mr. Harry Hardy who is directing Mr. Woodhull's tour to the Pacific slope promises the theatre going public of Crookston, that the entire production with every mechanical and scenic effect advertised will be presented Friday evening, May 5th. The mechanical and scenic effects are the wonderful Saw Mill scene consisting of a complete Saw Mill outfit with a 48 inch Buzz Saw sawing lumber in view of the audience. The Boiler Explosion, the great Railroad Scene which positively surpasses all others consists of a train 200 feet long, an Engine, Baggage car, Coach and Sleeper crossing the stage in ten seconds. Reserved seats can be secured at Morris' Jewelry store.

Storage Warehouse.

Parties wishing to store household furniture or other articles of any kind, should call on the Hay & Commission Company, Vance Block. [2-4]

Historical Society

Polk County Journal.

VOL. XVII. CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, MAY 11, 1893. NO. 4

Crookston Furniture Co.
FURNITURE, CARPETS,
BURIAL SUPPLIES.

$1.35.
Antique Oak Finish.

$19.50.
Solid Oak,
Large Glass,
Plush-lined Drawers.

8-ft. Oak Table,
42x42, only
$7.90.

WE ARE NOT DOING
Much Blowing
At this time of the year, and it is not bragging to say that
OUR MAMMOTH STOCK
was never more complete than this spring, and that you can find no greater bargains in the city than we are giving. There is an old saying to the effect that

"THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING IS IN CHEWING THE STRING."

This applied to the old-fashioned steamed Indian Pudding that was put in a bag and tied with a string, which string no doubt retained enough of the pudding to furnish a sufficient sample.

We don't claim to have a "string" on the public, but it is a fact that when a man once comes into our store and taades he always comes again. s the pudding was supposed to speak for itself, so our goods speak for themselves every time.

☞YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

OFFICIAL DIRECTORY.

State.

Governor	Knute Nelson.
Lieutenant Governor	David M. Clough.
Secretary of State	F. P. Brown.
Attorney General	H. W. Childs.

Congressional.

Member of Congress, 7th Dist.	Haldor E. Boen,

Legislative.

Senator, 51st Sen. Dist	E. E. Lommen.
Representatives, 51st Sen. Dist.	John D. Knuteson, B. M. Chesley and Hans Juelson.

Judicial.

Associate Justices Supreme Court	Thomas Canty, Daniel Buck, Wm. Mitchell and Loren W. Collins.
Judge 14th Jud. District	Frank Ives.
Clerk of Court	Nils Muus.

County.

Auditor	C. U. Webster
Treasurer	J. T. Beaudry
Register of Deeds	John Amundson
Attorney	A. R. Holston
Sheriff	Arny Grundysen
Judge of Probate	C. M. Benson
Supt. of Schools	A. A. Lommen
Surveyor	O. L. Hamery
Court Com'r	W. H. Averill
Coroner	Henry Shepard

County Commissioners.

First District	John E. Oppegaard
Second District	Anton Linden
Third District	M. E. Kirsch
Fourth District	C. P. Demers
Fifth District	A. C. Rhinehart

Of Course You Read

The testimonials frequently published in this paper relating to Hood's Sarsaparilla. They are from reliable people, state simple facts and show beyond a doubt Hood's Cures. Why don't you try this medicine? Be sure you get Hood's.

Constipation and other troubles with the digestive organs and the liver are cured by Hood's Pills. Unequalled as a dinner pill.

The Grand Central Railroad Station Chicago

is being fitted up for hotel purposes during the Wold's fair. This magnificent fire proof structure located at the corner of Harrison street and 5th avenue in the very heart of the city, will devote the 3rd, 4th, and 5th floors to this purpose. It will be run on European plan. Each room will have hot and cold water, electric lights and be steamed heated. The office and ladies parlors, etc., will be located on the 3rd floor and the building will be supplied with all modern conveniences. There will be from 100 to 200 rooms for guests.

This acquisition to the hotel facilities of Chicago will be appreciated by those who wish to be safely housed in a fire proof building, conveniently located in the city itself. Those desiring accommodations can secure them by addressing Mr. T. C. Clipford the manager at Chicago. The hotel will be opened May 15th, 1893. The grand central station is the Chicago depot of the Northern Pacific railroad, Wisconsin Central Division, and by taking that through car line to the World's fair city, visitors will avoid the discomfort of transfer of themselves and baggage through the city. [4-6]

Advertised Letters.

List of letters remaining unclaimed at the Crookston postoffice for the week ending May 5th, 1893.

Karlson Salve   Smith, E. D. 3
Warren Frank 2

Persons calling for the above letters please say advertised.

Wm. B. Dawley, P. M.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

The Progress Made in Seeding Last Week.

The following is a summary of the weather and crop conditions throughout the state for the week ending May 8th, 1893, as compiled by the state weather bureau:

NORTHWESTERN DISTRICT.

The weather during the week has been just what was needed and seeding is under good headway in all the counties except Becker and Hubbard, where the soil is reported as still too wet for seeding to become general. The floods are subsiding, but the snow drifts and ice have not entirely disappeared.

CENTRAL DISTRICT.

The rainfall was below the normal and the temperature and sunshine very nearly the average-conditions much more favorable for farm work. The soil rapidly dried during the last half of the week and every county reports seeding in progress and about two thirds completed in in the southern and western portions of the district, where the early sown grain is generally reported to be doing well. Seeding in the eastern and northern portions is just fairly under way, but the timber lands are still too wet to permit any work being done. Some gardens in favored localities are being plowed, and the ground is fast getting into fine shape.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

The damage to early sown grain by rotting, generally feared in the last report, proves to have been slight, and only a few fields will have to be re-sown. Winter wheat in the southern portion is doing nicely; also the grass wherever started. Bottom lands in the north and east portion are still too wet, but seeding is in full blast. Corn planting is reported and the wheat is beginning to sprout in some counties. The outlook is altogether favorable and scarcely a discouraging report was secured from the entire district.

Gospel Meetings.

The Congregational and Presbyterian churches of this city will unite next week in a series of special religious services. The aim of these services is to promote a fuller spiritual life in Christians and to help others to Christ. We believe that there is a spirit of thoughtfulness resting upon our community, and that the time is favorable for special labors for Christ. The meetings will begin in the Congregational church Sunday evening, May 14th. A cordial invitation is given to the pastors and members of other churches to come in with us whenever consistent with the work of their own churches. "The Spirit and the bride say, come. And he that heareth, let him say, come. And he that is athirst, let him come. He that will, let him take the water of life freely." Signed,

O. H. Elmer,
Jonathan G. Smith.

FREE HOMESTEADS.

In the Saskatchewan Valley.

160 acres free to all males over 18 years of age in the beautiful Saskatchewan valley, where wheat goes 40 bushels to the acre and potatoes 600 bushels, and hay cuts from three to four tons an acre. Plenty of timber for buildings, fencing and fuel. First-class soil and water. Good railroad facilities. Fine climate and good markets and where taxes are only for school purposes. For full information apply to

C. A. Munson,
Colonization Agent,
Commercial Hotel, Crookston.

Cheap Fuel.

From a limited amount of wood, I will deliver to any part of the city four foot dry soft wood at $4.00, four foot dry hard wood at $5.50, sawed as you want it for 50 cents extra.

W. H. Norrie,
Successor to Priester & Co.
Corner Main and Third streets.

World's Fair Rates.

Northern Pacific Railroad Co. has made rate of $32.55, Crookston to Chicago, and return on sale daily with final limit of November 15th.

C. A. Sharkey,
[4tf] Agent.

A Pointer.

Potatoes for seed are selling for one dollar per bushel—a hundred bushel at that rate would go a long way toward a trip to the World's Fair. Now while potatoes do not always sell like that in the spring they have always been better property than wheat and will be no doubt for several years. Oats, barley and potatoes will be good crops for this year. Mark that prediction.

IMPORTANT

Accession to the Breeding Interests of Polk County.

On Friday Hugh Thompson received two thoroughbred stallions from C. M. C. Stewart, of Mason City, Iowa, which are now at home at the stables of Lancaster & Arries on Fifth street. "Maleon," a three-year-old colt, is a direct descendant from old Hambletonian 10, which horse was one of the most noted breeders of trotting horses ever in existence. This colt, of course, is too young to have made a record, but he has the blood of the best trotters living and will make his mark in due time.

The other stallion, "Keota Garfield," No. 7,587, is from one of the best families of Norman Percherons, a finely built fellow, only three years old and one of the best formed animals ever brought into Polk county. Breeders and lovers of good horses would find a visit to the stables to see these horses a visit of great interest. Mr. Thompson justly feels proud of these fine animals, and well he may, for they are hard to beat.

Round Him Up, Girls.

One of the most industrious institutions in Crookston is the new office on Second street, where free farms, located in the Canadian Northwest, are advertised to be given away. Mr. C. A. Munson, who has charge of the agency here, hustles around as though he were one of the fixtures of the city and intended to do a land office business. He kisses the babies, makes love to the girls, and stands in with "the boys." While we do not approve of the business carried on by Mr. Munson, we are glad to find in this representative of the Manitoba and Northwestern Homesteading company a gentleman as genial as he proves to be, and if he would only stop trying to unsettle the minds of our farmers with his fabulous stories about his Canadian Northwest we might forgive him. But one of our Crookston girls may yet annex him to this country.

"I Am so Tired"

Is a common exclamation at this season. There is a certain bracing effect in cold air which is lost when the weather grows warmer; and when Nature is renewing her youth, her admirers feel dull, sluggish and tired. This condition is owing mainly to the impure condition of the blood, and its failure to supply healthy tissue to the various organs of the body. It is remarkable how susceptible the system is to the help to be derived from a good medicine at this season. Possessing just those purifying, building-up qualities which the body craves, Hood's Sarsaparilla soon overcomes that tired feeling, restores the appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, imparts vigorous health. Its thousands of friends as with one voice declare "it makes the weak strong."

The Enterprise of Miller & Foote.

McIntosh Times: The contract for building the new five thousand dollar Citizens Bank building was awarded to L. H. Walker and Wm. Marin, on Wednesday last and work on the same has already been commenced, and will be rapidly pushed to completion. The building is to be a two story brick, twenty-four by fifty, and will be furnished in the most complete and modern style.

E. Lanctot informs the Journal that he has been seeding for several days—does not intend to put in as much wheat as usual, but will calculate to have a plenty of barley, oats and potatoes. He also intends to be "long" on pork and will have a plenty of festive grunters to supply the markets next fall. Incidentally he will pay some attention to poultry-raising and butter-making, but the wheat crop will not be in it to a very large degree this year. We think his head is decidedly level.

At and below cost, my big and well assorted line of Dry Goods, Clothing and Boots and Shoes.

New York Store,
A. Chabot, Proprietor.

There is nothing I have ever used for muscular rheumatism that gives me relief as Chamberlain's Pain Balm does. I have been using it for about two years—four bottles in all—as occasion required, and always keep a bottle of it in my home. I believe I know a good thing when I get hold of it, and Pain Balm is the best liniment I have ever met with. W. B. Denny, dairyman, New Lexington, Ohio. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

THE WEEK'S NEWS.

Wednesday, May 3.

The river Hongho in China has flooded 400 villages, causing great loss of life.

Isaac Pusey Gray, the United States minister to Mevico, arrived in the City of Mexico Tuesday.

Nineteen thousand working people employed in the Jule mines at Dundee have gone out on strike.

Nineteen thousand working people employed in the jute mills at Dundee, Scotland have gone out on a strike.

The gold in the treasury is increasing and the situation is regarded by the treasury department as satisfactory.

Two hundred and fifteen Chinese actors en route for the world's fair have been denied admission by the collector of customs at Tacoma.

The Spanish officials in Cuba and the Brazilian government have violated the conditions of the reciprocity treaty with the United States, giving our government apparent reason to abandon the policy.

Thursday, May 4.

Damage to the amount of $200,000 was done by a cloudburst at Oxford, N. C.

The gold reserve figures are $97,005,000, leaving the reserve invaded by about $2,000,090.

The office of the United Paper company, New York, the tissue trust, has been seized by the sheriff on an attachment.

It is officially announced that the Duke of York has been betrothed to the Princess May of Teck, with the queen's consent.

Captain Pratt, superintendent of the Carlisle (Pa.) Indian school, will be awarded $1,600 to make an exhibit at the world's fair of a large number of Northwestern Indian children attending school.

The trustees of Lane Theological seminary have accepted the resignation of Professor Roberts, one of the prosecutors of Professor Henry Preserved Smith in his trial for heresy. The trustees also re-elected Professor Henry Preserved Smith for the ensuing year.

Friday, May 5.

The president has appointed Jeremiah W. Coveny postmaster at Boston, vice T. N. Hart, resigned.

Domingo Gana, the new Chilian minister to the United States, will sail for New York early in June.

A. A. Hopkins of Lake Forest university, Illinois, won the first prize at thd interstate oratorical contest at Columbus Thursday night.

A new bank to be known as the Bank of Wisconsin, has been organized at Madison with Senator William F. Vilas as president. The capital stock is $100,000.

The boundary dispute between Chili and Argentine has finally been settled. The protocol was signed in Santiago Monday, and the people of Argentine publicly celebrated the event.

Saturday, May 6.

Edward W. Lecompte, secretary of the State of Maryland, is dead.

Three murderers were taken from jail at Las Lunas, New Mexico, and lynched.

Musical Director Thomas is charged with boycotting harps at the fair and may be deposed.

The meeting of the international monetary conference has been postponed until November.

Steps have been taken looking towards a general combination of all trades unions in Great Britain.

Knox and wife, who were sentenced to imprisonment for forgery at the City of Mexico, have been pardoned by President Diaz.

World's fair restaurant keepers have been warned by the council of administration that they must cease their extortion or get out.

It has been discovered that Chinamen in Denver have registered twice, securing an extra certificate which is to be used to smuggle more Chinese into the country.

Monday, May 8.

A brick wall 50 feet long was blown down in Brooklyn during a storm.

The official maps of Long Island city are missing and an investigation is to be made.

President Peixoto of Brazil in his annual message says that country wants immigrants.

J. Henry Stickney, a retired Baltimore iron merchant has left half a million dollars to churches and charities.

Two prominent Mexicans fought with knives at Fresnillo. The quarrel was about a woman. One is dead and the other dying.

New York detectives have gone to Richmond after the cashier of the Madison Square bank, who is charged with forging a check for $3,800 and other irregularities.

Tuesday, May 9.

Navigation has opened at Duluth.

Michael Davitt is bankrupt. He will resign his seat in parliament.

H. H. Warner, the Rochester (N. Y.) patent medicine man, has assigned.

The pope will issue an encyclical counseling peace among the nations.

It is reported on apparently good authority that the Navajoes have killed Agent Plummer.

It is rumored that Scott Wilke of Illinois will succeed Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Spaulding.

Mr. Gladstone has appointed John Ruskin, the art critic, poet laureate, to succeed the late Lord Tennyson.

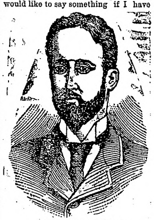
Lizzie Borden has been arraigned at New Bedford, Mass., on the charge of murdering her father and mother. She plead not guilty.

Governor Nelson has appointed R. D. Russell of Minneapolis, judge of the district court, in place of Judge Lochren, resigned.

HARRIS DEAD.

Last Chapter in the Famous New York Tragedy Enacted.

Sing Sing, N. Y., May 8.—Carlyle W. Harris, the convicted murderer of Helen Potts, was electrocuted at 12:40. The execution was entirely successful. As Harris seated himself in the chair he began to talk in a low voice. He said: "I have a word to say if the warden will permit." He paused and repeated: "I would like to say something if I have the warden's consent." Warden Durston stepped over to the chair and said: "What did you wish to say?" Harris then in a weak voice, as though each word cost him a powerful effort, said, "I have no further reservation to make. I desire to say that



CARLYLE W. HARRIS.

I Am Absolutely Innocent."

These were his last words. After uttering them he seemed relieved and settled back in the chair and was quickly pinioned. A current of 1,700 volts was turned on for two seconds and then reduced to 150 volts. After 55 3-4 seconds the current was turned off and upon examination the prisoner was pronounced dead.

There was great interest in the execution and thousands watched on the hills above the prison for the hoisting of the death flag.

JUST MISSED LYNCHING.

A Wisconsin Man Given Thirty Years For Assault on a Little Girl.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 6.—William Dukelow, the man who assaulted little 4-year-old Agnes McSheffrey, was taken before Judge Bailey during the afternoon and plead guilty, and was sentenced to 30 years in the state penitentiary at Waupun, five days of each year to be passed in solitary confinement. He was at once placed in a hack and taken outside the city limits, where a train was boarded and a start for Waupun was made. It is since learned that a well-laid plan had been formulated with a view to killing him upon his first appearance in public, and only the prompt action of the authorities averted a tragedy. The father of the little girl was furious when he heard what had been done, and he and many who were openly in sympathy with him were not backward in expressing their disgust when they learned how cleverly they had been outwitted by the authorities.

REICHSTAG DISSOLVED.

The Army Bill Defeated by a Vote of 210 to 162.

Berlin, May 8.—The army bill was defeated in the reichstag by a vote of 210 against the bill to 162 in favor of the bill The rescript signed by the kaiser dissolving the reichstag was immediately promulgated and the reichstag is now dissolved.

Booth Continues to Improve.

New York, May 10.—Owing to the continued improvement in Edwin Booth's condition, Dr. St, Clair Smith announces that no more bulletins will be issued from the sick room, unless there is some unfavorable change.

Ingenious Methods of Smuggling.

Some very ingenious methods are employed for transmitting dutiable articles by post. Not very long ago a package from Germany was found to contain a small roll of butter. A wire passed through it met with an obstruction, which proved to be a tin box filled with valuable jewelry. Probably a dozen silk handkerchiefs are found wrapped up in newspapers in every mail from China.

The skill exhibited by the postal clerks in detecting such contraband inclosures is wonderful. It seems to partake of the nature of intuition. They say that they do not know themselves how they do it, but that a newspaper with a silk handkerchief in it has a sort of gritty feeling when manipulated. Silk stockings are mailed from France in the same manner.—Washington Cor. Boston Transcript.

Notice.

To whom it may concern:

The undersigned has lost the following described promissory notes, to-wit: one note for $400 given November 28th, 1892, due Dec. 1st, 1893; one note for $300, same date, due Dec. 1st, 1894. and one note for $400, same date, due Dec. 1st, 1895, all given by Onizime Capistran to A. O. Danielson.

Now, therefore, all persons are hereby warned not to purchase or negotiate said notes, they being the property of the undersigned.

[3-5] A. O. DANIELSON.

There is nothing I have ever used for muscular rheumatism that gives me relief as Chamberlain's Pain Balm does. I have been using it for about two years—four bottles in all—as occasion required, and always keep a bottle of it in my home. I believe I know a good thing when I get hold of it, and Pain Balm is the best liniment I have ever met with. W. B. Denny, dairyman, New Lexington, Ohio. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

A Snap.

The Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company has for sale a half section of land situated two miles from the city limits, good buildings, artesian well, 80 acres fenced, land all broken except about 10 acres in grove. Been used as a stock farm and admirably adapted for that purpose, as being close to the city it is available as a milk and dairy farm. Improvements upon the farm alone cost over $4,000 and it can be had for $6,400. A cash payment of $2,000 will secure the place and purchaser can have a reasonable time on the balance, or for cash a liberal discount will be made. Owner desires to invest his means in other business. Inquire of August George, opera house block. [1-tf]

Farmers,

I am now making arrangements to buy wood from you. Call on me and we can agree. W. H. NORRIE,
Wood yard corner Main and Third streets, Crookston. [48-3]

Swedish Lutheran Jubilee.

Northern Pacific make reduced rates to Minneapolis, for the Swedish Lutheran Jubilee Festival, to be held at Minneapolis, May 22nd and 23rd, we make rate of fare and one-third on certificate plan, provided there are one hundred or more in attendance, who have paid full fare on the going trip.

C. A. SHARLEY,
Agent.

World's Fair Rates.

The Northern Pacific railroad company has made a rate of $32.55 from Crookston to Chicago and return. Dates of sale, every Monday and Thursday. Tickets will be limited to continuous passage in each direction with final limit of November 15th. C. A. SHARKEY,
[3 tf] Agent.

Of Interest to Breeders.

Dr. J. Warninger, V. S., has just received a set of the latest improved parturition instruments. With the aid of these instruments he can deliver the foetus in short order without injury to the animal. The instruments are the most serviceable where the colt or calf is dead and so located that it becomes necessary to remove it in sections. This is not often the case and for this reason very few practitioners are prepared with the proper instruments to meet a case of this kind. [2-5]

Money to Loan

On city property, business and dwelling—at 6½ per cent per annum. For full particulars call on P. J. Russell, 25 and 26 Reckitt block, Crookston, Minn. [47tf]

Lane's Medicine Moves the Bowels Each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary.

Something New in Train Equipment to Chicago.

The "Limited" train on The Northwestern Line," leaving Minneapolis 7:30 p. m., St. Paul 8:10 p. m. and arriving Milwaukee 7:25 a. m., Chicago 9:30 a. m., is now equipped with Wagner Compartment Cars in addition to Standard Sleepers, and also with Buffet Smoking and Library Cars.

This is the finest equipped train in America, is the only train of its kind west of Chicago, and no extra fare is charged on this "Northwestern Limited."

By "The Northwestern Line" you also have advantage of fast day train, leaving Minneapolis 7:20 a. m. and St. Paul 8:30 a. m., arriving Milwaukee 7:55 p. m., Chicago, 9:35 p. m., also an afternoon train, leaving Minneapolis 5:00 p. m., St. Paul 5:35 p. m., arriving at Chicago 7:45a. m

"The Nortwestern Line" is also the only Pullman Car Line from St. Paul and Minneapolis, Sioux City, Omaha, Kansas City, Duluth and Ashland.

For luxury and comfort, best equipment and road bed, secure ticket via "The Northwestern Line," they are on sale at all stations. Illustrated Map Folder free on application to

T. W. TEASDALE
Gen. Pass. Agent,
[32tf] St. Paul, Minn.

Ripans Tabules cure constipation.

Ripans Tabules cure dyspepsia.

Ripans Tabules cure the blues.

MRS. DEPEW DEAD.

The Wife of the Noted Orator Dies Suddenly in New York.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Elise Hegerman Depew, wife of Chauncey M. Depew, died at her home, 43 West Fifty-fourth street, at 12:30 p. m. Although Mrs. Depew was known to be seriously ill this sudden termination of her illness was not expected by her family and those who were most intimately connected with her. Her condition seemed to be continually improving, but during the morning she was taken worse. Her relatives were called to the sick room and were all present when the end came.

Mrs. Depew, whose maiden name was Miss Elise Hegerman, was married to Mr. Depew Nov. 4, 1871. They have one child, Chauncey Depew, Jr., who is now 14 years of age. With the opportunities which her fortune gave her Mrs. Depew cared little for society and devoted herself mainly to charitable and church work. During the past six years Mrs. Depew has been an invalid. No arrangements have been made for the funeral, but it is probable that it will be held from St. Bartholomew's Episcopal church, of which she was a member.

COLONEL LAMON.

Lincoln's Private Secretary Crosses the Dark River.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—News has been received here of the death at Martinsburg, W. Va., of Colonel Ward H. Lamon a few minutes before midnight. He was President Lincoln's private secretary and enjoyed the most confidential relations with him. He was a man of brilliant attainments and his prominence in politics in the stirring days of the civil war gave him a national reputation. He continued to live in Washington long after President Lincoln's death and here he wrote the greater portion his life of Lincoln.

GENERAL GONZALES DEAD.

The Ex-President of the Republic of Mexico Is No More.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 9.—General Manuel Gonzales, ex-president of this republic and governor of the state of Guanajata, died during the afternoon. He was president from 1880 to 1884.

TO TEST THE LAW.

Three Chinamen to Be Arraigned in New York.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Three Chinamen will be arraigned as prisoners in the United States circuit court in this city in a day or two, whose cases it is proposed to make use of for the purpose of testing the constitutionality of the Chinese exclusion law. It is a matter which has been amicably arranged between the Chinese Six Companies of California and the United States government, and that a decision may be reached the United States supreme court will convene at Washington Friday next for a final argument.

Judge Lochren at Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Judge Lochren, the new commissioner of pensions, has arrived here. He called at the White House during the evening and had a lengthy conference with the president regarding the policy of the administration, about which, of course, he would say nothing.

NEW RULE PROMULGATED.

Fourth Class Postmasters to Be Removed For Cause Only.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 6.—The Tribune's Washington special says: Postmaster Bissell has announced a new rule relating to fourth class postmasters, and where known has raised a howl. The new policy is not to remove fourth class postmasters except for cause, regardless of length of time in office. Bissell announced this immediately after the cabinet meeting, and it spread consternation. Cleveland is being cursed without reservation by patriots here anxious to serve the government, but whose hopes grow less daily.

COMPELLED TO SUSPEND.

Chemical National Bank of Chicago Closes Its Doors.

CHICAGO, May 9.—The Chemical National bank of this city, which established a branch at Jackson park where world's fair concessionaires have been depositing their cash, has closed its doors. It is said the depositors will lose nothing. The deposits of its world's fair branch have been secured.

Left a Bank Account.

OSHKOSH, Wis., May 9.—George Carroll, aged 24, has been mysteriously missing from his home in this city since April 28. The police think he has committed suicide. He was engaged to a young lady at Fond du Lac and the wedding was set for last week. His friends advance the theory that he met with foul play, as he took several hundred dollars to purchase household goods for his new home. He left a good sized bank account untouched. The young lady is prostrated with grief.

Telephone Over 3,500 Miles.

OTTAWA, May 8.—The Automatic Telephone and Electric Company of Canada, incorporated by the Dominion parliament last month proposes to run a copper metallic trunk line direct from Halifax to Vancouver, over 3,500 miles long. Local plants will also be established in towns and cities en route.

Reduction in Wages.

PITTSBURG, May 6.—According to the statement of an employe of the Pennsylvania railroad the wages of the men working in the Wells shops have been reduced from 30 to 40 per cent. It is said that about 600 men are affected.

Distinguished People to Wed.

CHICAGO, May 9.—Thomas Nelson Page of Richmond, the well known story writer will shortly marry Mrs. Henry Field, widow of Henry Field, one of Chicago's millionaires.

Hood's Cures

Saved From the Grave

Scrofula in Face and Neck—Blind at Times

Hood's Sarsaparilla Restored Health—Gained 33 Pounds in Weight.

Mr. Wm. Erick
West Duluth, Minn.

"I have been a very great sufferer from a serious case of scrofula. First, a large bunch came in my neck growing as big as a good sized apple. It was as hard as bone, and after drawing it to a head the doctor lanced it, and for two years

It Was a Running Sore.

Then we succeeded in healing it up, but the disease began to appear in my face, which would swell up and affect my eyes so that every morning they were so inflamed and swollen that I was blind. The swelling would subside in the middle of the afternoon so that I could see a little. Well, I was in this condition for about a year. I went to every physician in my town, all of whom failed to help me and said nothing could be done to cure me. But I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had used a bottle and a half, the swelling in my face had entirely gone down. I kept on taking the medicine, and gained 33 pounds in weight.

I Have Been Perfectly Cured

am now in good health, and confidently say Hood's Sarsaparilla saved me from the grave. Today I am looking as stout and hearty as ever

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

in my life, and I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to anyone suffering from blood diseases." WILLIAM ERICK, West Duluth, Minn.

Hood's Pills do not purge, pain or gripe, but act promptly, easily and efficiently. 25c.

Fits.

All fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St. Phila., Pa. For sale by all druggists; call on yours.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal. They are the best family cathartic.

Notice of Final Proof.

LAND OFFICE AT CROOKSTON, MINN., May 3d, 1893.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on June 19th, 1893, viz: Jacob Weidenhoefer, Hd. 12,056, for the ne¼ sec. 30, twp. 151, range 47.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Julius Radl, William Senske, Julius Zachge and George Bassler, all of Fisher, Postoffice, Minn.

[4-9] HUGH THOMPSON, Register.

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, April, 29th 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Margaret McLennan deceased:

Letters testamentary on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Jennie Miller of said county.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court, for examination and allowance, at the Probate office in the City of Crookston on Monday, the 6th day of November, A. D. 1893, at 10 o clock, a. m.

It is further ordered, that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless, for cause shown, further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said County.

Dated at Crookston the 29th day of April A. D. 1893.

By the Court,
[3-5] C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, City of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 12th, 1893, and terminating on May 12th, 1894, by the following persons and at the following place as stated in said application, to-wit: Peter Stuhl and John Waterstant in the corner store room on lot one (1), block sixteen (16), in the original townsite of Crookston, Polk County Minnesota.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the city of Crookston, at the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, on Tuesday, the 9th day of May, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 27th day of April, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH.
[2-4] City Clerk.

MORTGAGE SALE.

(First publication April 18th, 1893.)
(Last publication May 25th, 1893.)

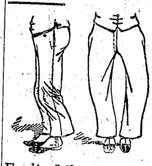
DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage, containing power of sale, dated November 30th, 1885, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on December 4th, 1885, in book 23 of mortgages, on pages 99, 100, 101, whereby Jean B. Lelande and Cleophie Lelande, his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to Mary E. Towle, mortgagee, all those tracts of land described as follows, to-wit; The southeast quarter of the northeast quarter, and lot one; all in section four, in township one hundred and fifty-one, of range forty-five, in Polk county, Minnesota, containing eighty acres more or less, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice $444.50, including interest and principal and taxes on said lands for the years 1885, 1886, 1887, 1888, 1890, 1891 and 1892, paid by the mortgagee.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county or his deputy, on June 10th, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m. at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, and $25 attorney's fees, and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated April 20th, 1893.

MARY E. TOWLE,
Mortgagee.
MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
[52-6] Attorneys for Mortgagee.

IT'S TH



Fault of the Merchant

IF YOUR

CLOTHING

DOESN'T FIT.

There's nothing extraordinary about your figure. It's an easy enough matter to take your measure, and it's just as easy to cut cloth according to the measure when taken. We can take your measure and cut the cloth without the possibility of a mistake.

YOU MUST SELECT THE MATERIAL however, and much depends upon the good taste you display in making a choice. It's no case of Hobson's choice in our store either, because our stock embraces all the materials

SANCTIONED BY FASHION.

and if there is not something in it perfectly appropriate to you, then the appropriate fabric has not been made yet. We are showing the LATEST NOVELTIES FOR SPRING WEAR.

BOSTON

ONE PRICE

Clothing House,

Mossefin & Lindell, Proprietors.

King David.

This celebrated Clyde Stallion will stand for the season of 1893 as follows: Monday, J. B. Roome's; Tuesday, L. H. Judson's; Wednesday, Helmich Bros.; Thursday, John Sylvesterson's; Friday and Saturday at S. L. Collins' Stable, Crookston.

This full blooded Clyde Stallion was purchased of an old reliable firm who make a specialty of importing the best stock and blood that can be found in the old country. This horse was bought by the Andover Stock Company two years ago at a large expense and can show more A No. 1 colts than any other horse ever brought to Polk county. He is a round bodied, heavy limbed, horse of dark bay color and weighs over 1,700 pounds.

TERMS—Insure, $15; Season, $10.

For further particulars enquire of

A. E. HELMICH,
(1-8) Manager.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,

Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

FITS STOPPED FREE

Marvelous success.
Insane Persons Restored
Dr. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER
for all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure cure for Nerve Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No Fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send names, P. O. and express address of afflicted to Dr. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. See Druggists. BEWARE OF IMITATING FRAUDS.

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, April, 25th 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Steffen P. Nerland deceased:

On reading and filing the petition of C. O. Christianson administrator of the estate of Steffen P. Nerland deceased, representing among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

In is ordered, That said account be examined, and petition heard by this Court, on Monday the 29th day of May A. D. 1893 at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate office in the City of Crookston in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 25th day of April, A. D. 1893.

By the Court,
[3-5] C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.

"Sure will the Harvest Be!"

And it depends to a great extent upon the machine you use to do your seeding with, whether it will be a full harvest or not. To insure this buy a

Dowagiac Shoe Drill

—THE MOST—

SIMPLE,
PRACTICAL,
DURABLE,
EFFECTIVE.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS of uninterrupted success has placed this KING OF DRILLS at the head. Investigate its style of spring pressure and the independent, solid bottom steel shoe before buying.

We also sell a complete line of FARM IMPLEMENTS, Boss and Steel Lever Harrows, Rushford Wagons, and a complete line of all styles of Harness. We are also agents for the VICTOR BICYCLE, the best wheel made, and invite you to call and see them.

MERIT WINS.

Larsen, Carpenter & Co.
Broadway and Robert street, - Crookston, Minn.

CHRISTIANSON BROS.,

Abstracters of Title, Loans, Real Estate and Insurance

N. B. FARM LOANS a specialty. Terms, three to five years. Lowest rate of interest, payable annually at our office.

☞ Choice FARM LANDS for sale cheap, on terms to suit purchasers. ☜

Office on Robert Street. CROOKSTON, MINN

McKINNON BROS.,

—DEALERS IN—

ALL OF THE LEADING

Agricultural Implements

MAIN STREET. McKINNON BLOCK.

☞ Before Purchasing, Give Us a Call. ☜

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPENS MAY 1ST.

Are You Going? If so be sure and take out a Membership Certificate in "The Chicago Entertainment Bureau." It will save you Worry, Time and Money. Respectable and well located rooms at moderate prices guaranteed. Send for descriptive circulars to the

Minnesota and Dakota Headquarters, 618 AND 619 PIONEER PRESS BLDG., ST. PAUL,
N. T. HALL, Manager.

Partial List of References: HON. KNUTE NELSON, Gov. of Minnesota; HON. A. R. McGILL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; HON. W. R. MARSHALL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; RT. REV. W. N. GILBERT, Ass't Bishop, Diocese, Minn., and many other equally well known names.

THE PRESS

(NEW YORK)

For 1893

Has a larger Daily Circulation than any other Republican newspaper in America.

DAILY. SUNDAY WEEKLY.

The Aggressive Republican Journal of the Metropolis.

A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES.

Founded Dec. 1st, 1887.

Circulation over 125,000 copies daily. The most remarkable Newspaper Success in New York. The PRESS is a National Newspaper. Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of the the PRESS.

The PRESS has the brightest Editorial page in New York. It sparkles with points. The PRESS Sunday Edition is a splendid paper, covering every current topic of interest. The PRESS Weekly Edition contains all the good things of the Daily and Sunday editions.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM

The Press has no superior in New York.

THE PRESS

Within the reach of all. The best and cheapest Newspaper in America.

Daily and Sunday, one year....$5 00
" " 6 months....2 50
" " 1 "....45
Daily only, one year....3 00
" " 4 months....1 00
Sunday, one year....2 00
Weekly Press, one year....1 00

Send for Press circular. Samples free. Agents wanted everywhere. Liberal commissions.

Address THE PRESS,
38 Park Row, New York.

THE NEW NORTHWEST

Home seekers will find the last of the public domain of agricultural and grazing value along the Great Northern Ry. in North Dakota and Montana. FARM LANDS

NEW TOWNS 100 or more, along the Great Northern Railway Line. Business chances. Write F. I. WHITNEY, St. Paul, Minn., for Books, Maps, &c. Write now.

Settlers on free Government lands along the Great Northern Ry. Line in North Dakota and Montana get low rates and fine markets for products. LOW RATES

Montana produces the finest Horses and Cattle. Free ranges yet in Mouse, Milk and Sun River Valleys and Sweet Grass Hills. Horses, Cattle.

Health, Wealth. In the Northwest. Free Lands. New Towns, New Railways, New Mines, Low Rates. Largest area of good vacant land.

Sweetest Grass Hills, Milk and Sun River Valleys, Montana, reached only by the Great Northern Railway Line. The stock raisers' paradise. Sheep, Hogs.

Herds, Mines These have made Montana the richest State per capita in the Union. Plenty of room for more miners and stock raisers. Now is the time.

The Farmers' Tribune

THE Best Newspaper.
THE Best Agricultural Paper
THE Best Editorials.

THE BEST MISCELLANEOUS READING.
THE BEST SKETCHE OF TRAVEL.
THE BEST ESSAYS AND SERMONS.

Should be read in every home in the Northwest.

LIBERAL PREMIUMS.

Each subscriber who pays arrearges and one year in advance, or each new subscriber who sends one dollar for one year's subscription between Feb. 15th and May 1st, 1893, will receive as a premium their choice of either

No. 1—12 Packages Vegetable Seed.

No. 2—12 Packages Flower Seeds.

No. 3—25 Strawberry Plants.

No. 4—1 Lb. Farmers' Tribune Pedigreed Seed corn.

Remember, $1.00 for the Farmers' Tribune one year, with choice of either of above premiums. Or the

POLK COUNTY JOURNAL
ONE YEAR
AND EITHER OF THE ABOVE PREMIUMS,
For $2.00.

Address
THE JOURNAL,
Crookston, Minn.

you see what a cheap, simple, little thing it is? It is almost worthless; yet it has had a terrible effect on me. It has brought me to a sudden halt in my career. It has set me to thinking. It has made me want to die.

"The trusting old soul I took that from," he continued, after a momentary pause, "is my grandmother, and practically any mother. Old and feeble as she is, she left her home in the east and came west in quest of me. She has passed through months of suffering, hardships and disappointments, all in the hope of seeing me again. And at last her love conquers her weakness and bears down every obstacle, and her purpose is accomplished. She finds me, but how? She finds me a highway robber. I whom she has loved and nurtured, and for whom she has sacrificed everything, reward her love by stealing from her that trinket which she valued equal to her life because it was mine. She was hunting her father, and she found him. Yes, she found him. She found him a highwayman, a robber, a thief."

Mart Thompson walked the floor for a moment with his head hung down and his hands clutched nervously. Suddenly he stopped in front of the two miners, and with startling vehemence cried:

"Do you think I should want to live after that? Do you suppose I could find any pleasure or satisfaction in living when I know what a miserable wretch I am? Never, never! That old lady and that child by their simple faith and innocent trust have stabbed me through and through. They have cut my heart deeper than any assassin might have cut it with the sharpest steel. My God, men, I wish I had the power to tell you what I felt last night when I examined that locket and realized what I had done; but I can't do it. I can't find the language."

Mart Thompson again paced the floor for almost a minute; then growing calmer he came and sat down near the table.

"Do they know what I am?" he asked.

"No, they have no suspicion," Jack replied a little softly.

"I am glad of that," said Thompson, "and I have one request to make, or rather one favor to ask of you—that is, that they may never know. Will you grant it?"

"Yes."

"Very well. Now let the miners know I am here, and let them do their work. I am ready."

With that Thompson folded his arms and sat grimly silent. His face, a little flushed now, still retained its drawn, sunken look, and his eyes, though they flashed with the fire of a certain sort of defiance, were still hollow and dark. His whole appearance denoted keen suffering—physical as well as mental.

Jack, without a word, went out and informed some of the leading men of the Flat of Mart Thompson's presence in the camp, and also of the conversation that had taken place down at his and Joe's cabin. Within a quarter of an hour a dozen men had gathered, and again Thompson stated why he had come in and surrendered. Those who heard the story were touched by it, and strong, rough men as they were, there was deep down in their hearts a feeling of pity for the highwayman.

Ab Johnson was the acknowledged leader in the camp, and his companions were anxious to hear him speak; so when Thompson had finished, and a moment had passed in silence, some one said:

"Ab, what is your idea in this case?"

Ab did not answer immediately, but he shifted his weight from one foot to the other and scratched his head thoughtfully. At last he spoke, though with hesitation. He said:

"I hardly know what to say, men, for this is a peculiar case. For the sake of the old lady and the little girl I would like for us to let Mart Thompson go. I would like to do it, too, on account of his coming in and surrendering himself. For these two reasons I wish we might spare him, for if we did he would lead an honorable and honest life."

"I believe he would," some one murmured, and Thompson quickly raised his eyes to see who it was.

"I know he would," Ab went on. "He would never have come here if he had not experienced that change of heart."

There was an awkward silence, during which the miners shuffled about uneasily. Mart Thompson was the calmest man in the room. Finally some one haltingly said:

"Well, if Ab is right, I believe I would favor letting Thompson go—on account of the mother and child, you understand. It would about break their hearts if we—you know what I mean."

"Yes, we understand," replied Ab. "If robbery was the only charge against the man," he continued, "I think we could afford to let him go free. But perhaps you didn't all hear about it. Jim Main was shot and killed by the bandits last night as he was coming up from the post, and from what I have been able to gather it seems that Thompson is the man who shot him."

"Is that a fact?" Jack asked.

"It is. A man who was with Jim and who escaped unhurt came in this morning before daylight and told me."

"Then Mart Thompson is a murderer?" somebody exclaimed.

Mart raised his head, fixed his eyes on the speaker and moved his lips as if in the act of saying something. But he did not utter a word.

"What have you to say as to the charge, Thompson?" Ab asked.

"Nothing," Thompson answered.

"Then we are forced to suppose it true."

Thompson merely bowed his head.

"In that case, men," continued Ab, "there is no question as to what our duty is. We might, for the sake of the lady and the child, spare this man's life, even though he is a robber, but for the sake of no one and nothing can we spare his life when we know him to be a murderer. He must hang."

Thompson said nothing, and he did not move, except to shrug his shoulders slightly. Once or twice his lips moved as if framing words, but no sound escaped them. There was a whispering among the miners, and then some one went out and after awhile returned with a piece of new rope.

"Thompson," said Ab, "you understand what our decision is, I suppose?"

"Yes," Thompson replied.

"Then have you anything to say before we proceed further?"

"No, nothing except to ask that you never let mother and my child know."

"They shall never know. I pledge you my word of honor for that."

"Very well. Then that is all." Then after a short pause he continued: "I would like to see them once more, and if I could only kiss them I would die happier, but to spare them I must deny myself that pleasure. Go on with your work. I am ready."

They prepared to take him from the room, but as they advanced to the door the latch was lifted and a man staggered in. It was Jim Main, white, pinched and bloody, looking like a man risen from the dead. He stopped on the threshold and in a voice scarcely more than a whisper, yet imperious, cried:

"Stop, stop, I say, for God's sake. That man must not be hung."

"Why, what does this mean?" Ab asked.

"It means that he must not be hung," Jim Main repeated. "It was he that saved my life. It was he who after I had received one shot came before me and received the second one in his own breast. Even now he bears a ghastly wound and is suffering more than I."

"Is this true, Thompson?" Ab asked.

Thompson made no answer.

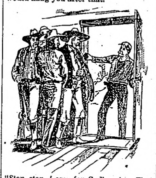
"It is true," Jim cried. "Look for yourselves and you will find the wound in his breast."

They did so, and sure enough the wound was there. It was deep and dangerous, but he had bandaged it himself so as to check the flow of blood. As it was, he was exceedingly weak, and it was only by the exertion of his great will power that he bore up.

"Why didn't you tell us about this?" Ab inquired.

"I did not think it worth while," Thompson replied.

"But it was worth while. It is enough to save your life. Did you suppose we would hang you after that?"



"Stop, stop, I say, for God's sake. That man must not be hung.

"No. I thought likely if you knew you would spare me through pity, but I did not want any of that. I have forfeited my life and I am willing to let it go."

"You forfeited it, but you have redeemed it. We are not going to hurt you, but instead are going to send for a doctor. When your wound is dressed we will send for your mother and child, but they shall not know of the past. You will get well, and you will live a long and honorable life."

"No, not after what I have done. I have robbed. I have gone too far to ever return to an honorable life. I could reform, but I could never get rid of the stain of the past. That is indelibly fixed."

"No, I think not," said Ab. "I don't know much about Scripture, and I'm hardly fit for a preacher, but I remember that somewhere in the Bible it says that there is more rejoicing in heaven over one sinner who returns to the fold than over ninety-nine who never went astray. And for that matter I reckon there's precious few of us who haven't at some time in life gone astray, and the most of us keep going astray. My soul, Mart, how many people would there be in the world now if all the big and little sinners were killed off? I don't think we'd be crowded with population any."

The doctor came and dressed Mart's wound, and then the old lady came with the child to see "her boy." No one told her that Mart had been a robber, and the trusting, confiding old soul never had a suspicion of the truth.

"You see," Ab said to her, "Mart was up in the mountains last night and one of the robbers shot him."

"Yes, I know," she replied, "and I wouldn't be surprised if it was the man who took my locket."

"Yes, ma'm," said Jack unblushingly, "it was, and your son took it back. Here it is," and he stepped forward and laid it in her outstretched hand.

"Oh, I am so glad," she cried in a sort of ecstasy. "It was so brave and good of Mart to take it for me."

"Mother, for God's sake, don't," Mart said, as if her words hurt him through and through.

"Very well, Mart," she replied, "I'll say no more about it. You were always so modest that you could not bear to have your praises sung."

After many days Mart Thompson became a well man, and then he and his old mother and his child left Poverty Flat for the east. Back there at his old home he began a new life, and in all the country where he was known he was a respected and even a loved citizen. He was kind and generous, seeking no doubt to make up in good deeds for the evil of his past.

He was an honorable man and a Christian, loved by the poor and lowly, to whom he was kind, worshiped by his old mother, who in the simple goodness of her heart never suspected the truth in regard to his past, and who never dreamed what a wonderful influence her visit to the west had, nor what a great work of regeneration it accomplished. For her sake and for his child's sake Mart Thompson kept his sins and crimes a secret from all save God, who knew and forgave.

THE END.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."

BEECHAM'S PILLS

COVERED WITH A TASTELESS AND SOLUBLE COATING.

A WONDERFUL MEDICINE FOR

Indigestion, Want of Appetite, Fullness after Meals, Vomitings, Sickness of the Stomach, Bilious or Liver Complaints, Sick Headache, Cold Chills, Flushings of Heat, Lowness of Spirits, and All Nervous Affections.

To cure these complaints we must remove the cause. The principal cause is generally to be found in the stomach and liver; put these two organs right and all will be well. From two to four Pills twice a day for a short time will remove the evil, and restore the sufferer to sound and lasting health.

Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box. New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication May 11, 1893]
[Last publication June 22, 1893]

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Joseph Falardeau and Cizarie Falardeau his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 31st day of December, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 31st day of December, A. D. 1887, at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 33 of mortgages, on page 416.

Whereas, such default consists of the failure to pay certain installments of interest when due and the principal sum, $700, that became due December 31st, 1892.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum, to wit; Nine hundred eighty-eight and 40-100 ($988,40-100) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The northeast quarter (ne¼) of Section twenty-eight (28), Township one hundred and fifty (150), Range forty-one (41), containing 160 acres more or less according to the government survey thereof; all of said premises situate and being in the county of Polk, state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty (50) dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 26th day of June, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 27th, A. D. 1893.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON,
Attorney for Mortgagee. [4-10] (N. G. 148)

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication May 11th, 1893.]
[Last publication June 22d, 1893.]

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Cyprien Gosselin and Perpitus Gosselin his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 30th day of April, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 4th day of May, A. D. 1887, at 9 o'clock a. m., in book 29 of mortgages, on page 420 to 422.

Whereas, default consists of the failure to pay the principal sum, $300, that became due April 30th, 1890.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum, to-wit: Three hundred twenty-two and 58 100 ($322 58-100) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section seven (7), Township one hundred fifty-one (151), Range forty-two (42), containing 160 acres more or less according to the government survey thereof; all of said premises situate and being in the county of Polk, state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five (25) dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 26th day of June, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 27th, A. D. 1893.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON,
Attorney for Mortgagee. [4-10] (N. G. 149)

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE OFRECLOSURE SALE.

First publication April 6th, 1893.
Last publication May 18th, 1893.

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly made and delivered by Pierre Lemieux and Philomine Lemieux, his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 22d day of December, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 23d day of February, A. D. 1888, at 10.40 o'clock a. m., in book 34 of mortgages, on page 598, etc. Whereas default consists of the failure to pay the following installments of interest to-wit: $35.00 that became due June 22, 1889; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1889; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1890; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1890; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1891; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1891; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1892 and $35.00 that became due December 22, 1892, and whereas the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, holder of said mortgage, has elected to declare, and hereby does declare, the whole principal sum in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum to-wit: Thirteen hundred forty-two and seventeen hundredths ($1342.17) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof:

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The northwest quarter (nw¼) of section thirteen (13) township one hundred fifty (150) range forty-five (45) containing 160 acres more or less according to the government survey thereof, all of said premises situated and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public aution, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State on the 22d day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'cock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 30th, A. D. 1893.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON,
Attorney For Mortgagee.
[51-7] N. G. 136.

Scandia-American Bank,

C. HENDRICKSON, President.
L. ELLINGTON, Vice President.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier.
H. STEENERSON, 2d Vice President.
A. P. Hanson Assistant Cashier.

Of Crookston, Minn. Organized 1877 under the State law. Capital $50,000. Surplus, $5,000. Undivided profits, $15,000. Special attention given to collections.

DIRECTORS— C. Hendrickson, Grafton, N. D. C. O. Christianson, Halvor Steenerson, Max Ericsson, J. W. Wheeler, E. P. Pierce, L. K. Aaker, D. H. Turner, A. G. Gallasch, Lewis Ellington, J. H. Locken, O. H. Lucken.

First National Bank
OF CROOKSTON.

Commenced Business October, 1881.

PAID IN CAPITAL........$100,000
SURPLUS.................. 15,500

Interest on certificates of deposit. Accounts of farmers and business men solicited.

GEO. Q. ERSKINE, President.
WM. ANGLIM, Vice President.
CHAS. E. SAWYER, Cashier.

DIRECTORS:
Wm. Anglim, K. D. Chase, F. D. Childs
Geo. Q. Erskine, J. R. McKinnon, A. A. Miller
E. M. Walsh, Chas. E. Sawyer, W. H. Crosby

S. L. COLLINS,
Proprietor of Main Street
Livery and Feed Stables,

Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., west side,
CROOKSTON, - - MINNESOTA.

Horses bought and sold on commission. Everything neat and nobby. Feeding a specialty.

FINE HEARSE

in connection, which I will attend to in person.

Valley Roller Mills,
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Manufacturers of

FINE FLOURS

MADE FROM SELECTED RED RIVER HARD WHEAT.

BRANDS:
Patent: Lee & Herrick's Best.
Straight: North Star
Bakers': Fife.
Low Grade: Skip Jack.

BRAN, SHORTS
AND SCREENINGS,
Always on hand at reasonable prices.

John Wyatt
THE UNDERTAKER,
EMBALMER AND
FUNERAL DIRECTOR.

Besides carrying a full and complete line of
COFFINS,
CASKETS
AND BURIAL SUPPLIES.
has the largest and most complete stock of

Pictures, Picture Frames,
AND
Picture Framing Material
In the city.

Special discount During the Holidays.

Office 105½ Broadway.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINNESOTA.

THE PIONEER
HARNESS SHOP,
M. RAUENBUEHLR, Proprietor.
A full supply of everything kept by the trade.
Cor of Broadway and Third Sts,
CROOKSTON. . . . MINN

NEW BARBER SHOP.
On Main St. C. E. MISNER, Prop
Invites your patronage. Everything in the very latest style of the art.

RAZORS HONED.

If you desire your Razor Honed and cannot bring it, send it to me with 30 cents and your name and address and I will hone and return it.
Yours Respectfully,
C. E. MISNER.

NEW CIGAR STORE
SIGN OF THE BIG INDIAN.
H. F. BROWN, Proprietor,
Second Street,
CROOKSTON, MINN

Cigars of every known brand, from a cheroot to a 25 center. Cigarettes, Chewing and Smoking Tobaccos of all kinds, Snuff, Pipes to suit the fancy of all, from a corn-cob pipe to a meerchaum.

CALL IN.

A Dollar Saved
IS A Dollar Earned.

DO YOU
WANT
TO EARN A
FEW DOLLARS?

IN THE SPRING OF THE YEAR everyone requires some Garden or Flower Seeds, and we have made arrangements with the Weekly Pioneer Press of St. Paul, whereby we are enabled to distribute

SEEDS
FREE
OF
COST.

And we can also furnish THE WEEKLY PIONEER PRESS cheaper than it can be got any other way.

HERE IS THE OFFER we are prepared to make.

ul

For $2.00 we will send

The Weekly Pioneer Press one year.....	$1 00
Polk County Journal 1 year...............	1 50
20 packages Garden Vegetable Seeds, retail price..................................	1 25
	$3 75

THIS offer is good to New Subscribers, or to Old Ones paying all arrearages and one year in advance. Cash must accompany the order in every case.

Another Offer.

For $1.85 we will send you

	Regula price.
The Weekly Pioneer Press, one year...	$1 00
The Polk County Journal 1 year.......	1 50
An "up to date" Pocket Map of any State in the Union..................	1 00
	$3 50

These maps are reliable and "up to date," and the map of Illinois includes a map of Chicago, which is valuable to any one contemplating a visit to the World's Fair.

Address
Polk County Journal,
Crookston, Minn.

Polk County Journal.

BY COOKE & HAMMOND.

Devoted to the Welfare of Polk County.

OFFICIAL PAPER, CITY OF CROOKSTON.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

SOME of the farmers near Fisher are talking of building a grist-mill at that place. If properly managed the plan would be a good one.

ANOTHER session of the international reciprocity convention will be held in St. Paul during the Hill celebration in June. Delegates to be elected in the same way they were to the Grand Forks convention last September.

IT is said that Commissioner Blount is laying the wires for the restoration of queen Lilioukalani to the throne in Hawaai. This in the face of the fact that a majority of the people prefer annexation to the United States.

THE federal supreme court has just handed down a decision, in which it is held that an employee injured through the negligence of a co-laborer cannot recover damages from the employer. The case in point was that of a locomotive fireman who brought suit to recover damages for an injury sustained while working under the orders of the engineer.

CONGRESSMAN H. E. BOEN has a scheme for preventing the disastrous spring floods that are liable to occur in this country. His plan is to turn the headwaters of the Red River into the Mississippi, and competent engineers say the idea is a good one. Our new congressman seems to be an improvement over his predecessor, who never seemed to have even an idea of his own on any subject.

CARLYLE W. HARRIS, the young student convicted of poisoning his girl wife was electrocuted in Sing Sing prison, New York on Monday. Herculean efforts had been made in his behalf by his relatives but all to no effect. The governor refused to interfere and the sentence of the law was carried out on Monday. His last words were "I desire to say that I am absolutely innocent." Public opinion sustains the verdict and the execution.

A GREAT deal of dissatisfaction exists over the way the affairs on the World's fair grounds are managed. Reports say that the restaurants are charging exhorbitant prices for everything they sell—25 cents for a cup of coffee with cream in it or ten cents without the cream, 25 cents per quarter for a pie and everything else in proportion. If this state of things exists there it would be the part of wisdom for people to stay away until the management learns a little sense.

THE JOURNAL has received a sample of the binding twine that is made in the states prison at Stillwater. The establishment of a twine factory at Stillwater was a grand good thing for the farmers of Minnesota and they should show their appreciation by patronizing it. This twine is of excellent quality and is delivered f. o. b. in Stillwater at 8 cents per pound in carload lots or 9 cents in smaller quantities. As long as this institution can be kept running no Minnesota farmer need fear the twine trust.

THE Chinese registration act is proving a boomerang, and thousands of Mongolians are likely to gain admission to the United States through the cunningness of the "heathen Chinese." The Chinese have been registering two and three times, and the extra certificates which they get are to be sent to the celestial empire to be used by other Chinese. It doesn't speak well for the ability of a congress which passed a law which furnishes the means of invalidating existing laws, and accomplishes no good.

SPEAKING of Halvor Steenerson's argument before the North Dakota supreme court last Saturday, in the case to test the constitutionality of the prohibition law of that state, the Bismarck Tribune pays our townsman the following compliment:

> Prohibition was knocked out yesterday in one time and two motions—perhaps. The arguments in the Larabee case were very ably presented before the supreme court by Hon. Halvor Steenerson on behalf of the relator, the prisoner Larabee, and contradicted by the attorney general and Hon. Chas. A. Pollock. It was listened to by a very large audience and the very able and learned discussion by counsel lasted all day. Whether Mr. Steenerson wins the case or not, he will go away knowing that he presented the matter in a very superior manner. The defense of the statute by the attorney general showed a deep research into constitutional law and may be set down as an argument exceedingly hard to controvert.

GOV. NELSON has appointed Robert Russel to succeed Judge Lochren on the bench. A good appointment.

JUDGE LOCHREN packed his grip for Washington, D. C., last week where he goes to assume his duties as commissioner of pensions. This is the best appointment that Grover has made.

THE villages of Fosston and McIntosh, by a vote of the people, decided to be separated from the townships in which they are interested. This gives the villages control of their own election matters.

THE Minnesota editors start for Chicago on Sunday evening next. Circumstances are such that this paper will not be represented, yet we hope the boys will have a grand good time and we have no doubt they will. They will be in Chicago about ten days.

AN Ohio applicant for office happened to remark in the presence of Grover II that he was an ardent supporter of David B. before the convention but after that he had worked hard for Cleveland. His majesty turned on his heel in a flash remarking that the Ohio man might go to—Ohio or anywhere else; he would get no office under this administration.

VARIOUS state papers are commenting upon an expression said to have been made by Bob Dunn, of the Princeton Union, to the effect that he would not go back to the legislature for $10,000 per annum. We can see Bob's point plainly enough. He believes that a representative should accomplish something for his constituents and his recent experience on the re-apportionment question shows him how utterly impossible it is for the northern portion of the state to get simple justice from the south part and this fact makes him weary. We feel a good deal that way ourself, but when you come to see northern representatives work right in with the south cabal to bind the chains tighter—and don't seem to know enough to know better what words can be found strong enough to do justice to the subject?

SOME crank—or anarchist, has written a letter to Governor Nelson threatening to kill him, alleging that the governor is not running things in the interest of the people. If the writer is in earnest in the matter he has probably been reading the anarchistic teachings of some paper like the Grand Forks Independent. Not all populist papers are like that, but there seem to be enough to stir up all that is base and ignoble in mankind inciting them to deeds of bloodshed and riot. Anarchy can never cure the ills men complain of and if allowed a footing on this free soil can only intensify those evils and result in woe to all who are led away by its false teachings. It does not require a very deep mind to figure out that such breaks as the letter aforesaid are wholly uncalled for and entirely out of place. They belong to the dark ages—to uncivilized communities and not to a free an enlightened people and it is a matter of surprise that any man, claiming protection under the American flag can indulge in such foolishness. The governor keeps right along in the even tenor of his way way uninfluenced by such cowardly threats and no one would have known anything about this affair had not the writer sent copies of his brilliant production to the city papers of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

THE Hon. John D. Knuteson is the subject of scathing comments from papers of all classes in the district for his boyish attack on the senior editor of this paper in the vain attempt to excuse himself for his action on the re-apportionment bill. A private letter to us from a member of the legislature says: "It is damnable to be obliged to fight the solid south, (Southern Minnesota) and then have traitors in the north." This is pretty rough on the Hon. John D., who, no doubt simply did not know that he had no earthly right to vote against the constitutional rights of his constituents, as he is a very "honest" man is John D. He admits that himself. It is his trade-mark. Why he would not cheat a brother farmer on buying a bushel of wheat, or oats or a pig or a cow or a horse because he understands that sort of thing, but when it comes to the constitutional rights of every one of his constituents he can vote to deprive them of just representation and calmly try to excuse himself for the nefarious action. It seems this is not a question of honesty but of ability as he is no doubt honest in the belief that he did just right, but it is just as rough upon his constituents as though the deed were done dishonestly or for pecuniary reasons. It is another case of "fun for the boy but death to the frogs."

GROVER II has issued a proclamation ordering all office-seekers to "keep off the grass," or in other words keep away from the white house. The election is a thing of the past—Grover has the office for the last time and now he don't want to be bothered. Some of the faithful begin to wish they had stuck by David B.

WE have just received a copy of the re-apportionment bill and substitute Nos. 1 and 2 and from a somewhat hasty glance over them several discrepancies in the Hon. John D. Knudson's so-called defense are apparent. He says that he was in favor of the bill—the original—and "worked hard" for it. Yes. He then says that when substitute No. 1 appeared he worked against it because it gave the cities of Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis a greater representation than they were entitled to. The bill and substitutes before us show that those cities actually get LESS representation under substitute No. 1 than under the original bill and yet he says he supported the first and could not support the substitute." How does HE reconcile that?

A Necessary Correction.

My attention has been called to an article published in the Red Lake Falls Gazette in which it is made to appear that I have misrepresented the facts relative to the amount due the State of Minnesota by this county on account of the seed-grain loans of 1889 as being between four or five thousand dollars instead of $1954.87 as quoted by the above mentioned paper. The facts in the case are these: There is due the county by individuals on seed-grain loans at the present time an amount of about $2,000 in round figures and the county is indebted to the state to the same extent on account of principal, besides about $2,000 due as interest on bonds issued by the county to secure the payment of these seed-grain loans. So when I informed the county board of our county's indebtedness to the state, to be an amount slightly in excess of $4,000, I simply stated the naked truth. The county has no other alternative than to pay its obligations and it has to meet them by the levy to be extended this year. It has always been my custom when acting as clerk of the board or otherwise, to furnish as complete a statement as is obtainable from the records of the office, but it would certainly not have been an open and true statement if I should have given the amount of principal only, and omitted to mention the amount of interest, which forms as much of an indebtedness as the principal does in reality.

Yours for truthfulness,
M. CORNELIUS.

A Dead Duck.

Speaking of Knuteson's wonderful attitude on the re-apportionment bill the Ada Index says: "Representative Knuteson is making a sorry attempt to explain why he voted against the re-apportionment bill, which would have given his county (Polk) two more representatives. He says that the three large cities would have also gained to the extent of five senators and three representatives. In other words he considers it the proper thing to down his own constituents in order to spite some other locality! Knuteson is a dead duck in this district."

Exortation at the Fair.

Rumors of exhorbitant charges for everything on the World's fair grounds reach us and people are warned to keep away from there until this state of things is changed. A writer in the St. Paul Globe says:

> "Only arrogant millionaires and the Duke of Veragua, who doesn't have to pay his own bills, have any business at the World's fair. For the rest of us it is a thing to dream about, but not to see. The cheapest thing about the fair is the admission. That is a mere bagatelle compared with what it costs one really to see the show. In the first place, only a man with seven-league boots can get about the grounds on foot before October. The distances are simply appalling, and if one doesn't walk one must hire a chair, which includes the services of a theological student in an artistic blue uniform and be pushed about at 75 cents an hour. The chairs are pushed with decorous slowness, of course, and one's pocketbook grows lean and lank long before even one building is seen. You are obliged to buy a catalogue, or guide book, or map, or something of the sort, at every turn, from boys elaborately arrayed in gaudy red flannel of a hue not usually worn—at least not for outer garments. You pay to enter various buildings, you pay for drinking water, and when you go to lunch—well, a friend of mine was actually charged 10 cents for the plate he ate off. That sounds like exaggeration but it isn't. It seems the solemn truth. Steaks have become luxuries, and coffee far more precious than champagne."

If you are tired and never hungry, Hood's Sarsaparilla will make you feel strong and well and give you a hearty appetite.

A TOUR OF THE WORLD.

An International Show in Fact as Well as Name.

FIFTY COUNTRIES REPRESENTED.

How the Nations of the Earth Are Arrayed Along Columbus Avenue—Seventeen Countries Have Erected Their Own Buildings—Among the Foreign Villages and Curiosities.

WORLD'S FAIR, May 10.—[Special.]—A visit to the exposition is like a tour of the world. Not only are the nations of the earth here, but they are here with their best foot foremost. They show the best they have, and to the best advantage. Not content with the products of their soil and forests, their workshops and fisheries, their mines and studios, they show native life and architecture in whole villages caught up on the other side of the water and dropped down here at Jackson park. They display not only the houses, temples and goods of all nations, but their men and women as well. Hence it is that a week at the fair is as good as six months spent in a voyage round the world. In fact, the odds both in point of interest and education are in favor of the fair.

It is perhaps too early to say which of the foreign countries has made the best showing here. One excels here and another takes the lead elsewhere. In the huge main building the Germans are clearly in the superiority in the beauty of their display if not in its solid worth. Such an imposing and artistic front as that presented by the German pavilion, with its marble columns, its iron gates, its bronze warriors, its magnificent tapestry and hangings for the exterior, and the gorgeous interior ablaze with paintings, statuary and mural decorations of all ages, was perhaps never before seen in an exposition. Good judges say that this German pavilion beats all records, and that even the French, who are near by and who have a beautiful structure now just finished, admit that for once they have been outdone by their rivals from the other side of the Rhine.

In considering what the nations of the earth have done at this exposition one naturally turns first to the displays made in the main building. Here he finds the foreigners occupying the principal posts of honor, as becomes their station as guests of America. The center of the huge building, whose vastness grows upon the visitor day by day, is a clock tower as high as a tall building even in Chicago. The great central aisle, called Columbus avenue, runs under the spreading foundations of this tower, and along one side or other of the avenue may be seen the structures and the exhibits of the principal foreign countries. Germany, already spoken of as having the most notable exhibit, occupies the northwest corner, and its pair of monumental towers, almost as high as the clock structure itself, and surmounted by the golden eagles, attract attention from a great distance. In the background, but still higher, stands the bronze German warrior, like a sentinel on the mountain top guarding the valley beneath, in which industry and art are showing their perfections and accomplishments.

Just across the intersecting aisle, and occupying the southwestern corner, is Great Britain. The display at first sight is not impressive, because there is no great towering structure, no characteristic save that of quiet, conservative solidity and elegance in the modest pavilions erected principally by firms. There are many beautiful wares within the English section, and the whole will well repay a day's inspection. The most noteworthy structure here is the reproduction of the splendid banqueting room of famous Hatfield hall. Beyond great Britain are the displays of Canada, Denmark, Italy, Brazil and Spain.

Facing Great Britain next to the central clock tower, and on the opposite side of Columbus avenue, stands the white, marble-like structure of France. It is a copy of one of the famous facades at Versailles, and has a splendid arch 100 feet across. Within are wares and fabrics for which the French are famous, with a profusion of tapestry, of decorative work, of paintings and statuary. Beyond France is the tasteful and light colonnade erected by Belgium, one of the prettiest structures in the building. Here are about the finest specimens of the potter's glorious art to be found in the whole exposition. Beyond Belgium are Russia and Norway, who are late in getting their works on the ground.

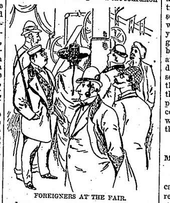
If one takes up position in the great clock tower, where the building is divided into quarters, he will see spread out before him the nations of the earth. In addition to those already mentioned, the colors of Austria, Japan, Jamaica, India, New South Wales, Switzerland, Mexico, Persia and others are within plain view. Not only the goods and wares of these countries, but their officials, merchants, and artisans are at hand to lend color and human interest to the fascinating scene. The foreign displays occupy the frontage on Columbus avenue and the open spaces at the clock tower throughout three quarters of the building. The remaining quarter, the northeast, is occupied by the exhibits of the United States. Here there is no national tower or pavilion, no characteristic device, and by the side of the spectacular German display, which it faces, our showing seems rather simple and plain. But this is only the impression at first glance. Careful scrutiny demonstrates that though two or three private firms were left to present the facade which should in a manner compete with the more costly structures of Germany on the west and France on the south, we are not so far behind. Prettier displays than those which occupy the post of honor for the United States, Tiffany and the Gorham company, it is impossible to find among the efforts of firms or individuals. As a rule, however, the American exhibits are not so well installed as those of foreign exhibitors. While there are notable exceptions, the average of taste and impressiveness in the manner of display is below that of our friends from across the sea.

One of the handsomest displays among the foreign section is that of Switzerland, where the products of the little mountain republic are screened on the three sides by a panorama of the Alps, strikingly preserving the illusion that here is Switzerland, with her homes and her industries, and there the mountains towering over the peaceful valleys. One may almost imagine himself among the Alps.

It is not alone in the main building that one is impressed with the fact that foreign governments are making a great effort at this exposition. All over the grounds, in almost every department, the handiwork of our world-cousins is seen. Omitting the vast sums which foreign private exhibitors have spent here, a compilation just made by the managers of the fair shows that foreign governments appropriated more than $6,000,000 for the purposes of this exposition. Inasmuch as the grand total of expenditures in the whole enterprise by the Chicago corporation, by the national government, by the various states and by foreign governments is a little more than $33,000,000, it will be seen that the foreign governments have furnished more than one-fifth of the entire capital. This fact indicates more graphically than any description can depict the prominent part borne in this grand affair by the people of Europe, Asia, Africa and South America.

No more beautiful and interesting structures are to be found in the grounds than those erected by the chief European and other nations. Seventeen nations in all have their own buildings here, a few of them serving to house the entire exhibit of the country, but the most of them being simply offices, with parlors for rendezvous of their countrymen and friends, and designed as exponents of the architecture and decorations typical of the lands whence they came. All but one of these seventeen structures are massed together in the northern part of the enclosure, Great Britain, France and Germany and Spain having the choice location, facing the shores of Lake Michigan. Here as in the main exhibition hall the Germans appear to be in the lead. At least their national house is more spectacular, the walls being brilliantly ornamented with color, and the gothic windows and peaks being almost innumerable.

Nothing could exceed the beauty of this part of the exposition. There are winding roads among the palaces, leafy walks and blooming flowers. One is not surprised that large throngs of visitors leave the more sensational parts of the show and come here to study international architecture and decoration and to rest from the fatigues of sight-seeing amid the confusion and movement of the more frequented highways. The nations which have buildings of their own are Germany, Great Britain, Spain, Italy, France, Canada, Hayti, East India, Sweden, Venezuela, Turkey, Brazil, Colombia, Guatemala, Costa Rica, Ceylon and Japan. The last named stands apart from the others, occupying the prettiest spot in the whole enclosure, the wooded island which rests within the water space almost in the center of the grounds. Here the Japanese have built what is one of the greatest attractions to the fair, the Hooden palace, modeled after the famous Hoo-doo palace which stands near Ko Kioto. Every day thousands of visitors cross the bridges to see the temple, and the thrifty Japanese, the Yankees of the Orient, carry on a flourishing business in tea and curios.



FOREIGNERS AT THE FAIR.

As I have said, the foreign exhibits are everywhere. In the Women's building the women of Great Britain have a most interesting exhibit, in the Horticultural and Agricultural halls the foreigners are almost as conspicuous relatively as they are in the great main structure, and in the Electricity and Machinery departments they are lively rivals for supremacy. The best display in the Mining building is made by a German house, and outside the principal departments there is no single exhibit that compares in popular interest with that of Krupp and his great gun. In the Transportation building the English show their locomotives and coaches, their switching and other devices, and the display of models of ships and steamers, of boats and vehicles, is world-wide in its scope.

But for our foreign friends the most novel and picturesque feature of the fair, the Midway plaisance, would be rather dismal. This stretch of ground is a sort of side-show, and of the forty concessions more than one-half are for foreign curiosities or aggregations. Here is the true Cosmopolitanville. A simple list of the shows, and this an incomplete one, is sufficient to indicate to the reader that if he wishes to see the world and its people he need not spend a thousand dollars in circumnavigating the earth, but simply come here and spend a five-dollar note in admission fees. Here are the international beauty show, the Irish village, the German village, the Tyrolese, the Japanese bazar, the Fiji islanders, the men from Borneo and New Zealand, the street in Cairo with shop and mosque, the Chinese village, the Turkish bazaar, a model of St. Peters at Rome, the Dahomey village, the Laplanders, Buffalo Bill's American Indians, an Algerian temple and theater, a French cider press, a Vienna cafe, a Moorish palace, two crack military bands from the German army, and Hagenback's aggregation of the animals of all climes and lands will make a fitting complement of this most complete display of international life, industry and trade ever brought together. These are all money-making devices, and an admission fee is charged to see most of the sights, but the fees are moderate and all the regulations and the police control are under the management of the exposition.

Taking the exposition as a whole, the latest official figures show that fifty foreign nations and thirty-seven of their colonies are participating in one way or another. They have together made the Columbian exposition notable for the number, the richness and interesting character of the international exhibit. Not even at Paris, it is said, was the cosmopolitanism more conspicuous or picturesque.

ROBERT GRAVES.

Texas Building at the Fair.

CHICAGO, May 9.—Texas expects to be in line with its splendid building and ready for the reception of visitors within the next thirty days. When completed the Lone Star state structure and its inside features will compare favorably with the exhibits offered by any other state. The building would have been completed long ago had it not been for the delay in the granting of the appropriation for pushing the work. President Tobin, of the Texas commission, reached the city a few days ago and has been urging thing forward.

LIVES CRUSHED OUT

A FRIGHTFUL RAILROAD ACCIDENT AT LAFAYETTE, IND.

Air Brakes Refuse to Work and a Train Crashes Into the Depot, Killing Ten People—Six Persons Killed and Many Injured by an Explosion on the Ohio.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May 8.—Ten lives were crushed out and 11 persons badly injured at 1:15 a. m. in the worst accident known in the history of Lafayette. The Big Four train, No. 12, from Chicago, came in on time and its engine, baggage car, postal cars and an express car were totally wrecked immediately at the south end of the passenger station. The accident was caused by a failure of the brakes to properly work. The killed are:

MICHAEL WALSH, engineer, Indianapolis.
STERLING M'INNIS, fireman, Urbana, Ills.
THOMAS M'MAHON, Bellevue, O.
A. R. CHADWICK, postal clerk, Shelbyville, Ind.
JESSE H. LONG, postal clerk, Lebanon, Ind.
R. B. MYERS, postal clerk, Walton, Ind.
JOHN LENNON, mail wagon driver, Lafayette, Ind.
CHARLES CAHILL, moulder, Indianapolis.
CHARLES M. YERRS, baggage handler, Lafayette, Ind.
OTTO GERRELSON, theatrical agent, Chicago.

Was a Runaway Train.

John Lennon and Charles Yerrs were at the depot waiting for the train. They were killed by the train striking them in its mad rush. Otto Gerrelson was about to take the train for Indianapolis when he met his death. The train tore away a portion of the handsome union depot and the wreckage was piled in a confused mass in the yards. The train was a runaway. Engineer Walsh, it is said, applied the brakes but they did not work properly and the impetus given on the heavy down grade approach to the station sent the doomed train off the track on the sharp curve a little distance beyond the south crossing. Railway officials place the loss at about $50,000. The company and the coroner of this county will begin an investigation at once as to the cause of the accident.

THE BOILER BURST.

Many Killed and Injured on the Ohio River.

CAIRO, Ills., May 8.—One of the worst catastrophes which has occurred in this region for years took place on the Mississippi river at Wolf Island, 24 miles below this city, at 7:45 a. m. A rear end of one of the boilers of the steamer Ohio, a Cincinnati and Memphis packet, blew out, scattering steam and boiling water. Several of the deck hands, who were eating at the time, were literally burned alive. The following is the list of dead:

WILLIAM HURSTMAN, colored fireman, St. Louis.
HAMPTON COLLINS, colored, Memphis.
THOMAS WOODS, colored, residence unknown.
CYRUS MEYERR, white, second mate, Cincinnati, jumped into the river and was drowned.
TWO COLORED MEN, unidentified.

Following is a list of injured, many of whom will die:

R. W. CROMS, Danville, Va.
FRED NEAL, Columbus, O.
CHARLES JACKSON, fireman, Cincinnati.
JAMES HOWARD, Roebloom, Mo.
GILBERT CHILDRES.
COLDER TATE, Memphis.
WILLIAM JACKSON, Washington, Pa.
F. M. HENRY, Memphis.
GILBERT ROBINSON, Cincinnati.
GEORGE WASHINGTON, Memphis.
JOHN BALTON, Cincinnati.
WILLIAM H. HICKEY, white, deck hand, Newport, Ky.

There were 22 injured and six of them died on the way to the hospital. The physicians say that 10 of 16 injured will die. The boat was badly disabled by the accident. Her passengers will be forwarded to their destination by rail. The cargo consisted largely of livestock and many head were killed.

EIGHT MORE DEAD.

List of Victims by the Ohio Explosion Swelled to Fourteen.

CAIRO, Ills., May 9.—The results of the disaster on board the steamer Ohio become more apparent hourly. Fourteen of the victims are now dead and there are three in the hospital who cannot live.

Death to Five Tramps.

DAYTON, O., May 8.—The wrecking of a freight train on the Dayton and Michigan railroad near Tadmor caused the death of five tramps.

SENT BACK TO CHINA.

A Lot of Alleged Actors and Merchants Ordered Deported.

TACOMA, Wash., May 10.—Two hundred and ninety-three alleged Chinese actors and merchants were turned over to the steamship Victoria, which brought them over, to be deported to China by order of Collector Wasson. Wah Yung company, of Chicago, importing the actors, sent a telegram to the steamship's agent to hold the ship 24 hours and they would furnish proof sufficient to land them. The agent wired back that they would retain the ship for $1,000 per 24 hours. To this message no reply so far has been received, but it is thought the ship will be detained.

Before the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The records of the proceedings in the federal courts in New York on Saturday, in what are known as the Chinese exclusion cases, were filed in the supreme court by Mr. T. D. Riordan of San Francisco, counsel for the Six Companies.

Novel Wall Paper.

BLUE LICK HILLS, Ind., May 9.—Jonathan Stanhone, a wealthy farmer, has ordered $3,800 worth of Columbian stamps with which to paper his parlor.

Insurgents Surrender.

MADRID, May 6.—It is announced officially that the rest of the Cuban insurgents have surrendered.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

Euclid Items.

From our regular correspondent.

EUCLID, May 9th, 1893.

H. Cronkhite was down from Argyle Tuesday. He says a great many of the settlers west of there have lost their seed and feed by the high water.

Dennie Losey was one of the first ones to commence seeding in this part of the county.

George LaBarron came up from Minneapolis and went out to do some mill-wrighting on the Keystone elevator.

W. C. Kelso, of Hallock, came down Tuesday to look after his farming interests here.

John Shultz of Ada, has moved his family up here. Mr. Shultz expects to work for the R. R. Co. They will occupy John Tiedeman's house.

Stewart Chapin and D. Farrell came down Friday evening.

Miss Zona Wilkins of Red Lake Falls, has been visiting with friends and relatives here.

John Breem who purchased the southwest one-quarter of section twenty-eight, Euclid township, has taken possession and commenced spring work.

There was a dance given at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Willis Saturday night. The usual good time was had.

L. S. Johnson shipped a carload of cattle to St. Paul Monday.

Coleman Keeley, Sr., who has taken a layoff through the winter has been reinstated to his former position as section boss here.

Charles Lindman who has made his residence here for two years, has been transferred to Northcotte and John Hanson takes his place as section foreman.

Miss Daisy Fargo returned home Monday morning from a very pleasant visit at Crookston.

We have been informed by the manager of the Kilreany farm that they will probably divide their farm into sections and build farm buildings on each section and rent or sell.

The First Pacific Railroad.

Just after the Mexican War had given the United States a new empire on the Pacific Coast, the great Daniel Webster, said, in comment on a prophecy of new states to be carved from that magnificent domain, that "it is so far away that a member of congress elect would not get to Washington before his term had expired." Webster was a great statesman, but his imagination was not equal to the fact of twenty years later. Work on the Union Pacific Railway was begun in 1863, congress having granted subsidies of $16,000 a mile from the Missouri River to the Rocky Mountains, $48,000 a mile for 300 miles through the mountains, $32,000 a mile from the Rockies to the Sierra Nevada, and $16,000 a mile for the remaining distance to the coast. In 1865 forty miles had been finished west from Omaha, 265 miles in 1866, 350 in 1868, and on the 12th day of May, 1869, the last rail was laid on the 1029 miles of road. The cost, counting capital, stocks, mortgage bonds, and land grant, was $112,259,360. The cost of the 881 miles of the Central Pacific was $139,746,311. Total cost of a road from the Missouri River to the Pacific Ocean wrs thus $252,005,671. Since that time, four other transcontinental lines (including the Canadian Pacific) have been built, and for the transfer from east to west or vice versa the Burlington Route is the favorite connecting link, being the the leading railroad between Denver, Omaha, Kansas City, St. Paul and Minneapolis (at which cities several of the transcontinental lines terminate) and Chicago and St. Louis, terminals of eastern and southern lines. For tickets, rates or any information, call on any ticket agent of this or connecting lines, or address W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

While Mr. T. J. Richey, of Altona, Mo., was traveling in Kansas he was taken violently ill with cholera morbus. He called at a drug store to get some medicine and the druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy so highly he concluded to try it. The result was immediate relief, and a few doses cured him completely. It is made for bowel complaint and nothing else. It never fails. for sale by S. A. Wallace. Druggist,

Of Interest to Breeders.

Dr. J. Warninger, V. S., has just received a set of the latest improved parturition instruments. With the aid of these instruments he can deliver the foetus in short order without injury to the animal. The instruments are the most serviceable where the colt or calf is dead and so located that it becomes necessary to remove it in sections. This is not often the case and for this reason very few practitioners are prepared with the proper instruments to meet a case of this kind. [2-5]

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Grand Rapids has voted $15,000 for waterworks.

Kenyon will have a cigar factory employing 20 men.

County commissioners have ordered a new [illegible] at Mankato.

The Ramsey county grand jury is considering the coal combine cases.

The state high school board and the normal school board meet at the capitol this week.

Several vessels at Duluth were unable to clear for several days on account of the coal famine there.

The St. Paul board of education has decided to investigate the sanitary condition of the city schools.

The Hill celebration at St. Paul is assuming gigantic proportions. Over 150 floats will be in the parade.

The Minnesota University ball team was badly beaten by the Wisconsin University boys at Madison.

The St. Paul-Duluth canal scheme is off until congress acts on the right of way through Indian reservations.

Secretary Hart of the state board of corrections and charities, reports insanity on the increase in Minnesota.

The graduating exercises of the Winona normal school will be held May 25. There are 90 in the graduating classes.

Frank Robinson and Peter Lebeau have been released from Stillwater on parole. Both terms had nearly expired.

The president has appointed John P. Rea one of the board of visitors of the West Point Military academy for 1890.

He-Who-Hunts-at-Night, an Indian soldier, was struck by a Milwaukee train at Fort Snelling. His recovery is doubtful.

At Kasson Joseph Hemingway and his aged mother were asphyxiated by coal gas. Mrs. Hemingway is unconscious and may die.

The body of an unknown man was found in the woods near Grand Rapids. He evidently died last winter and had been partially eaten by wolves.

At Fairfax the family of Mr. Thomas Greer suffered great agony by being poisoned, caused by using sour milk in new tinware. Antidote succeeded in relieving them.

Governor Nelson has received a warning signed "No. 13," telling him he has forfeited his right to the governorship and warning him to make his peace with his Maker.

At Renville William Horr, while blasting boulders, was seriously injured by a premature explosion. He is thought to have lost his eyes. One finger was blown off.

Assignee Brown of the Bank of Fairfax has sold the bank property to Albert E. Clark and W. F. Booth of Minneapolis for $2,500. The new bank will be started with a capital of $25,000.

The New York Sun publishes a long article by its Washington correspondent detailing a scheme of prominent Minneapolis Republicans to defeat Senator Washburn for re-election in 1895.

On a bluff near Montevideo 19 skeletons have been unearthed. One is of gigantic stature, and was buried sitting in a stone chair. The others were of all sizes and seemed to have been buried in any position it happened.

The governor has appointed the following board of veterinary medical examiners: B. W. Kirby, St. Paul; C. H. Pierce, Minneapolis; William H. Scruby, St. Cloud; William Standish, Mankato; J. J. Finley, Duluth.

Mrs. Olive Colby, widow of Gideon Colby, died of pneumonia at Minneapolis Thursday. The deceased was 100 years of age and had been in the city about 10 years. She was a relative of Israel Putnum, of revolutionary fame.

Sarah J. Galloway of Wisconsin who was hit on the leg by a flying mail sack at Durand, Wis., has secured a verdict against the Milwaukee road for $10,000 damages. It was the third trial of the suit, all being heard at St. Paul.

John Domeau was lynched by a mob near Mountain Iron, a small village on the Mesaba range. He had enticed a 6-year-old child into the woods and outraged her. Public sentiment sustains the actian of the mob and there will probably be no arrests.

The question of county division is again being agitated by a number of Polk county towns, of which Thief River Falls and McIntosh are the principal ones, each looking toward having a county seat at their respective village. Red Lake Falls is also looking for it.

L. P. Powers, commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, has prepared a review of the labor legislation enacted by the legislature just adjourned. The legislature passed 10 distinctly labor measures and three other laws which had received great attention from organized labor men.

Secretary Hart, of the state board of corrections and charities, reports the following census of state institutions taken April 30: Soldiers' home, 188; school for the deaf, 205; school for the blind, 65; School for the feeble minded, 333; state public school, 141; state reform school, 308; state reformatory, 147; state prison, 399; total, 1,741

The following officers were elected by the grand lodge A. O. U. W. at Duluth last week: Judge J. E. Porter, Mankato, grand master; W. B. McCormack, Minneapolis, grand foreman; F. M. Lloyd, St. Paul, grand overseer; Olaf Olson, Wilmar, grand recorder; J. J. McCardy, St. Paul, grand receiver; Alfred Anderson, Red Wing, grand guide; George Gisher, Winona, inside watch. Grand lodge sessions will hereafter be held at St. Paul. The annual report showed 165 lodges in the state, with a membership of 11,407.

LOCKED IN A TOMB.

In a small village of New Hampshire lived Darby Tibbs, a genial, good natured fellow, somewhere between forty and fifty years of age, with a wife and six children, and very poor. His occupations were as various as there were laboring wants in the village. He was a very useful individual, and the people of the village would sooner have parted with their doctor than with Darby Tibbs. And then Darby was a bit of a doctor too. He could compound many vegetable panaceas; he knew how to dress and heal wounds, and with the diseases of animals he was familiar.

And yet Darby Tibbs had one alarming fault—he was in the habit of getting very drunk very often.

Now the people were very anxious that Darby should reform. It was getting so that there could be no dependence placed upon him. He disappointed them when they most needed his assistance. But all their efforts proved unavailing. He laughed and joked at their arguments and entreaties, and just so surely as he received a serious overhauling for his fault would he go off and get helplessly drunk.

One season Mr. Dean, a leading citizen of the village, had engaged Darby to help him through haying. He was to commence on the Monday next following the Fourth of July. But an unfortunate event interrupted the arrangement. Mr. Dean was taken sick, and on the 5th day of July he died. His funeral was on the very day which had been fixed upon for the commencement of haying, so of course there was no work done upon the farm that day. In the morning Darby went forth with the intention of attending the funeral, but before the hour for the service had arrived he had contrived to get very drunk. Some of his friends succeeded in getting him into a stable, where they left him apparently fast asleep.

Toward the latter part of the day, when the funeral services had been performed and the people had returned to their homes, two men went out to the stable for the purpose of arousing Darby, but no Darby was to be found on the premises. They supposed he must have got up and staggered home, so they gave themselves no uneasiness. Late in the evening, however, Mrs. Tibbs came down to the store to inquire for her husband. She had not seen him since morning. A general search was made, but he could not be found. "Never mind," said some; "he'll turn up in the morning." And they finally prevailed upon his wife to go home.

Morning came, but Darby Tibbs did not turn up. By the middle of the forenoon his wife was down again, and when she learned that nothing had been seen of her husband she became alarmed. They searched along the hedges and in the bushes, through every barn and shop and shed, and through the fields and the woods, but not a sign of a Darby Tibbs could they find, and the only thing they could learn of him after his being left in the stable upon the straw was from a boy who happened to be late at the funeral. He said he saw Darby stagger across the road from the store, and that he left him trying to get over the fence. The boy offered to help him, but Darby didn't want any help. He said he was going to the funeral, and he'd like to see anybody with wit enough to stop him.

Night came again, and Darby was still missing. The pond was dragged by the light of lanterns, and parties followed up and down the stream. Wednesday morning came, and when the various parties who had been engaged in the search met at the store and compared notes the idea prevailed that Darby Tibbs had run away.

"He'll come back—never fear," they said to his sorrowing wife, "and when he does come we'll bring him to you.' And they made her up a little purse, and finally prevailed upon her to go to her home and make the best of it.

Early in the evening Sam Broughton and Seth Garmon, who had been at work in the great meadow beyond the brook, came running into the store pale, frightened and out of breath. Deacon Brown kept the only store in the village, and it was also the only place of public resort, so that quite a congregation of citizens were to be found there, especially after the labors of the day were over.

"What is it?" asked the deacon after a dozen others had asked the same.

"Oh!" gasped Sam Broughton.

"Some dead man's come to life or else a ghost has broken loose!"

Finally Seth made out to tell the story direct. He and Sam had taken their way home from the meadow through the graveyard, which was the shortest route. They came along by the tombs which were built near the wall, and when about midway of the range they were startled by a succession of deep groans which seemed to come from a grave close by. They listened a moment, and then they started for the store.

"Which tomb was it?" asked Deacon Brown.

But they could only tell that it was about in the center of the row.

"It must have been Mr. Dean's tomb," added the deacon. "That's nearly in the center, and is the only one which has been lately opened. Major Dean may have been buried alive!"

Uncle Ben Moulton was the sexton, and a rush was at once made for his house. The alarm spread like wildfire. Major Dean had been buried alive! Men, women and children hurried into the street, and when the sexton finally made his appearance, with his great bunch of duplicate keys, they gathered after him and followed in his lead. It was now quite dark and several of the men provided themselves with lanterns, and thus they took their way toward the burying ground.

At length the long row of tombs was reached, and above the dim of many voices could be heard a deep groan from the sepulcher where the body of Major Dean had been placed. Many of the people shrank back in terror—nearly all the women and children, and some of the men—as though they expected to see a ghost. Uncle Ben trembled violently, but he finally managed to get the key into the old rusty padlock, and while Deacon Brown held a lantern for him he contrived to get the link clear from the staple. Then he pushed the door slowly open.

A deep groan followed, and something came staggering out from the darkness and fell upon the rough steps at the sexton's feet. He held his lantern down, and when he had seen the sunken, haggard features, he started up and called for help.

"Come here!" he cried. "Come quickly! It's Darby Tibbs!"

They lifted the now inanimate form, and bore it up into the world of living things. It was Darby sure enough, but he was sadly changed. His flesh was bruised and blackened, and his raiment all torn and bloody.

They bore him as speedily as possible to the doctor's house, and ere long they succeeded, under direction of the physician, in restoring him to animation. He was conveyed to his home, where he was sure of faithful attention.

Yet Darby was sick for a long time. The shock had been a most terrible one, and it had come upon a constitution already shattered. He never could tell the full measure of horror of the eight and forty hours he spent in that house of death, but he could tell enough to startle all who heard it. He could not tell exactly how he came there, though the truth was evident enough. He had an idea of going to the funeral, and he probably entertained the cunning plan of reaching the place of sepulcher in advance of the rest of the company. He had a faint recollection of reaching the graveyard and seeing a tomb open, but beyond this his memory failed him.

The sexton had opened the tomb at noon to let some of the noxious air escape, and the boy whom he had left to keep watch over it must have been picking berries by the wall when Darby came up, as he afterward acknowledged that he was thus engaged a good part of the time that he was there.

When the harvest time came Darby was able to work again, and before winter set in he was stronger and healthier than he had been before for many years. Not a drop of strong drink had he touched since that July day, and not a drop did he touch again. The very thought of the fiery dram startled him. He never could think of that season of horrors in the tomb without a quaking painful shudder.—New York News.

Skunk and Rattler.

While camped over on Oak creek in the summer of 1888 I was an eyewitness to one of the most novel of combats. At noon one day as I was coming down from the mine for dinner I spied a skunk shifting itself about in a strange manner. Thinking he was performing some acts that were unusual and not becoming to one of his race, I sat down, and with my powerful marine glass I soon found the reason. Before the skunk upon the ground lay a huge rattlesnake coiled up for business, his massive flat head presenting a most savage aspect.

Now and then raising his head as the skunk would come within reach, he struck it again and again. The skunk, as if anxious to continue the duel, would pounce upon the back of the snake until driven off by the powerful swaying to and fro of its body. This was repeated again and again until finally with one heroic spring the skunk landed upon the snake, and in the twinkling of an eye almost had bitten the head from the body, save a shred of skin which held together. Being satisfied with the result, I hastily picked up a rock and throwing it at the skunk routed him, leaving me in full possession of the field.

On examination I found the hide of the rattlesnake uninjured save where the skunk had given it its death cut in the neck. The same evening and for six consecutive evenings I saw the skunk, and on the seventh evening shot it after it had scampered around for that length of time. This satisfied me that rattlesnake bites do not materially retard the progressive life of a "polecat," to say nothing of proving fatal thereto. The snake was 3 feet 6 inches in length, with nine rattles. The snake's hide I kept until recently—wore it out as a hat band. The rattles I still have. The skunk is the only animal (to my knowledge) that will not succumb to the deadly bite of the "rattler" unless medical aid is invoked.—Forest and Stream.

LATEST MARKET PRICES.

St. Paul Union Stock Yards.

SOUTH ST. PAUL, May 9, 1893.

HOGS—Strong at yesterday's prices, a couple of loads bringing 10c higher; quality medium.

CATTLE—Strong: there is fair demand for butcher stuff, but not much offered; stockers and feeders in fair demand. Prime steers, $4.25@4.75; good steers, $3.75@4.15; prime cows, $3.25@3.75; good cows, $2.75@3.20; common to fair cows, $1.75@2.50; light veal calves, $3.00@4.50; heavy calves, $2.00@3.00; stockers, $2.40@3.25; feeders, $3.00@4.00; bulls, $2.00@3.00.

SHEEP—Steady. Muttons, $3.75@4.75; lambs, $4.00@5.25; stockers and feeders, $3.00@4.50; shearlings, $4.00@4.25.

Receipts—Cattle, 125; hogs, 100; calves, 5.

Minneapolis Grain.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 9, 1893.

WHEAT—May opened, 67¾c; highest, 67¾c; lowest, 67¾c; close, 67⅛c. July opening, 67¾c; highest, 72⅝c; lowest, 70⅝c; close, 71⅛c. On track—No. 1 hard, 71c; No. 1 Northern, 68¾c; No. 2 Northern, 66¾c.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO UNION STOCK YARDS, May 9, 1893.

CATTLE—Weak, 10c lower.

HOGS—Strong, 15c higher. Heavy, $7.65@7.85; mixed and medium, $7.55@7.80; light, $7.45@7.70.

SHEEP—Weak, 10c lower.

Receipts: Cattle, 18,000; hogs, 17,000; sheep, 14,000.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, May 9, 1893.

OPENING PRICES.

WHEAT—July, 78½c; September, 81⅝c.

CORN—May, 46½c; July, 45¾c; September, 46⅝c.

OATS—May, 32⅞c; July, 31½c; September, 28⅝c.

PORK—July, $20.50; September, $21.85.

LARD—July, $10.75; September, $10.90.

SHORT RIBS—July, $10.27; September, $10.3.¼.

CLOSING PRICES.

WHEAT—May, 74⅛c; July, 78⅜c; September, 8 ⅜c.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

[First publication May 11, 1893]
[Last publication June 22, 1893]

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Joseph Falardeau and Clzarie Falardeau his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 31st day of December, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 31st day of December, A. D. 1887, at 8 o'clock a. m., in book 33 of mortgages, on page 416.

Whereas, such default consists of the failure to pay certain installments of interest when due and the principal sum, $700, that became due December 31st, 1892.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum, to wit: Nine hundred eighty-eight and 40-100 ($988.40-100) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The northeast quarter (ne¼) of section twenty-eight (28), Township one hundred and fifty (150), Range forty-one (41), containing 160 acres more or less according to the government survey thereof; all of said premises situate and being in the county of Polk, state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty (50) dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 26th day of June, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 27th, A. D. 1893.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY, Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON, Attorney for Mortgagee. [4-10] (N. G. 148)

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Cyprien Gosselin and Perpitus Gosselin his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 30th day of April, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 4th day of May, A. D. 1887, at 9 o'clock a. m., in book 29 of mortgages, on page 420 to 422.

Whereas, default consists of the failure to pay the principal sum, $300, that became due April 30th, 1890.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum, to-wit: Three hundred twenty-two and 58 100 ($322 58-100) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The southeast quarter (se¼) of Section seven (7), Township one hundred fifty-one (151), Range forty-two (42), containing 160 acres more or less according to the government survey thereof; all of said premises situate and being in the county of Polk, state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five (25) dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 26th day of June, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

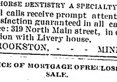
Dated April 27th, A. D. 1893.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY, Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON, Attorney for Mortgagee. [4-10] (N. G. 149)

WANTED SALESMEN TO represent us in the sale of our well known hardy and choice Nursery Stock for the North and west. Local or Traveling. Work every day in the year. Special inducements to beginners. Stock guaranteed. Good pay weekly. Apply quick, stating age, and obtain good territory.
ST. PAUL NURSERY CO., St. Paul, Minn.
[4-7]

E. D. SCHRAEDER,
VETERINARY SURGEON.



HORSE DENTISTRY A SPECIALTY.
All calls receive prompt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed in all cases. Office: 319 North Main street, in connection with Livery house,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE OFRECLOSURE SALE.

First publication April 6th, 1893.
Last publication May 18th, 1893.

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly made and delivered by Pierre Lemieux and Philomine Lemieux, his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 22d day of December, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 23d day of February, A. D. 1888, at 10.40 o'clock a. m., in book 34 of mortgages, on page 598, etc. Whereas default consists of the failure to pay the following installments of interest to-wit: $35.00 that became due June 22, 1889; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1889; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1890; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1890; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1891; $35.00 that became due December 22, 1891; $35.00 that became due June 22, 1892 and $35 00 that became due December 22, 1892, and whereas the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, holder of said mortgage, has elected to aeclare, and hereby does declare, the whole principal sum in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum to-wit: Thirteen hundred forty-two and seventeen hundredths ($1342 17) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof:

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The northwest quarter (nw¼) of section thirteen (13) township one hundred fifty (150) range forty-five (45) containing 160 acres more or less according to the government survey thereof, all of said premises situated and being in the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public aution, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State on the 22d day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'cock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 30th, A. D. 1893.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY, Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON, Attorney For Mortgagee.
[51-7] N. G. 138.

THE CROOKSTON
GROCERY CO.
W. E. SLOCUM, Manager.
IS NOW
OPEN FOR BUSINESS.
BIG
BARGAINS IN
GROCERIES, CROCKERY AND LAMPS.
AT THE OLD STAND
OF BARNES & SLOCUM
On Robert Street, Crookston, Minn.

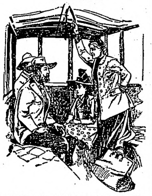
THIS SPACE
BELONGS TO
L. I. BENOIT,
THE
Cheap Cash Grocer
Who will use it to keep Journal readers posted on the BARGAINS HE OFFERS.
Don't take our word, but call and see
L. I. BENOIT,
At the New Store on Broadway, - - Crookston, Minn.

The Bandit of the Sierras

By THOMAS P. MONTFORT.

[Copyright, 1892, by American Press Association.]

CHAPTER I.



"Did you say he was a road agent?"

A dilapidated, weather stained old stagecoach, which had evidently seen many years of rugged service, bounded along the rough track that wound up a deep, dark gorge in the Sierra Nevada mountains. Now it swung to the right, now to the left, now giving a great lurch forward as the front wheels dropped into a rut, now creaking and groaning like some live thing in terrible pain, and ever and anon tipping up on one side and threatening to turn over and roll down some steep embankment.

There were four passengers in the coach, two of them men of about the middle age, whose appearance and garb showed them to be frontiersmen, evidently miners, and a very old lady, who was exceedingly small and nervous, but patient and good natured withal, and the other a little girl of perhaps seven years, very beautiful and demure, and seemingly very much afraid.

There was not much opportunity for conversation, for the stage made enough noise to drown any ordinary tone of voice, and then the passengers had all they could do to keep themselves seated. Once or twice the men had attempted to exchange a word or so, but scarcely had they begun to speak when the stage gave a sudden lurch and cut their remarks short.

The old lady, although she was thin and frail and nervous, bore all the rough jolting and bumping uncomplainingly, and as often as the men turned their eyes toward her they saw a happy, satisfied smile lighting up her wrinkled features. Where could she have come from? they wondered, and where could she be going—she and the child? It was evident that they did not belong there in that rough new country; that they were strangers to the rugged habits and semi-civilized life of the western miners. They were delicate, refined and well dressed—attributes that did not belong to those who had been long in a mining camp in the far west.

The two men scrutinized their fellow passengers silently and intently for a long time, and once or twice something like a sigh escaped them. Finally the stage reached a stretch of comparatively smooth road, where it was possible to converse with tolerable ease. The men drew closer together, and one of them said:

"Jack, the sight of that old lady and child makes me sad; yet it does me good. It takes my thoughts right back to the old home in the east, and brings up remembrances of the friends I have not seen for so long."

"Just what I was thinking, Joe," the other replied. "The old lady reminds me of mother, and somehow I can almost imagine that it is she. Poor old mother; it's been a long time since I have seen her, and I have not thought of her very often the last two or three years; but, Joe, I love her yet above everything on earth. I haven't written to her for two years, and I know how anxiously she has watched the mails, and how disappointed she has been, and how she has wept and suffered. The sight of this old lady has brought it all back to me, and tomorrow I am going to write a good, long letter. The dear old soul will be so pleased."

The two men were silent for some time, each looking straight out before him, their lips slightly tremulous, while a moisture gathered in their eyes. They were rough, sun bronzed men with calloused hearts, but the remembrance of the old homes and the old mothers they had left there touched them and awoke in them the better part of their natures.

After awhile one of the men suddenly straightened himself up as though he had just awakened out of a reverie, and turning to the other said:

"Was there anything new up at the Flat when you left this morning?"

"No," the other answered, recalling his wandering thoughts. "Nothing of much importance. They had a couple of road agents under arrest, and were going to try them this afternoon and hang them tonight."

"So? You don't know who the two are?"

"No; they brought them in just as I was leaving. They were Mexicans, though, I think."

"Then Mart Thompson is not one of them?"

"No; more's the pity. But they'll get him"——

The old lady had suddenly sprung to her feet, and now stood before the miners holding to a strap for support, her face pale and cold, her eyes fixed in a searching gaze on the two men, her lips twitching and her whole frame wrought up to the highest pitch of nervous tension.

"What was it you said about Mart Thompson?" she cried in an eager yet stifled voice. "Did you say he was a road agent and that he was to be arrested and hung? Tell me, did you say that?"

The men were startled by the old lady's voice and manner, and for an instant they gazed at her in stupid amazement. She repeated her question with more eagerness, more vehemence, and one of the men, recovering from his surprise, replied:

"Perhaps you misunderstood me, lady, or perhaps I misspoke the name. I should have said Mark Thompkins."

As the man spoke he secretly nudged the other with his arm, and the other, understanding, kept quiet. The smile returned to the old lady's face and she sat down satisfied. After a short pause she said:

"The two names are so much alike that it is no wonder I misunderstood you. Yet I might have known that it was not Mart Thompson. He would never do anything wrong, even the least little thing, and I was foolish to think you could have meant him."

The men exchanged a glance, and the one who had spoken last spoke again.

"Do you know Mart Thompson?" he asked.

"Do I know him?" she repeated, while a proud, happy smile wreathed her thin features. "Aye, I raised him from a baby and I kept him with me until he was almost a man grown. He is my grandson, and his mother and father died when he was only a year old, so I took him and raised him."

The good old lady, glad of an opportunity to speak of "her boy," continued in her childish simplicity to narrate his history.

"When he was almost a man," she said, "he went away from home, and after awhile he married. His wife was not strong, and in a year or so she died, leaving a child, this little girl here, and I took her to raise, as I had taken him.

"Then he became restless, and when so many were coming to California he came too. That was five years ago. I got a few letters from him the first year, but after that he quit writing. I suppose he has been very busy and hasn't had time to write, and then he may have forgotten about it. He was always a little forgetful about such things, and then he was a little wild.

"He wasn't evil disposed, though," she hastened to add, "and he never done anything real bad. He was just a little wild, like young men often are, you know, but he never meant any harm by it. He was good and kind, only sometimes he was a little thoughtless."

It was really pitiful to note how the honest, simple old soul excused and sought to wipe away the faults of "her boy." Her tone was so apologetic, and her manner so childlike and innocent, that a heart of stone must have been touched by it. It was plain that she saw "her boy's" faults and realized the extent of them, else she would not have taken such pains to excuse and shield them, yet she did not admit to herself that she saw and understood anything of the kind. For his sake she denied and disputed the evidence of her own senses.

"For four years," she continued in her simple way, "I have had no letter from Mart, and so one day I concluded to take his child and go in search of him. You see, I didn't know but he might be sick or in trouble or something, and I felt as though I ought to go and see.

"When we came to California and went to the place where he was when we heard from him last he was gone, and nobody there knew anything about him. I was a little discouraged, because California is a large place and I didn't know where to go in search of my boy. I didn't have much money and we couldn't go very far, but I thought I could go as far as my money and strength would permit.

"But God helped me, and before my little money was all gone he directed me to the post down there where the stage started. I heard of Mart down there, and they told me he was up in the mountains somewhere near the Poverty Flat mines, so now I shall soon find him."

There was a short silence, after which the old lady suddenly said:

"I never thought to ask you, but I expect maybe you two gentlemen live at Poverty Flat. Isn't it so?"

"Yes, ma'am," one of them replied hesitatingly.

"Then you know Mart?" she cried with eagerness.

The two men exchanged a quick glance, moved a little in their seats and appeared greatly embarrassed, but neither of them spoke. The old lady thought they had not heard her and she repeated her question.

"Yes, ma'am," said one, seeing that an answer must be given, yet speaking with great reluctance; "I know Mart Thompson, or, more correctly speaking, I know of him."

"Do you?" the old lady cried, a smile of happy anticipation lighting up her features. "I am so glad, because then you can tell me about him. Is he at the mines now, do you think?"

"Why—no, ma'am; I don't think he is just now. You see," the man went on hesitatingly, "he don't just stop at the mines. He's out in the mountains most generally."

"Is he? What does he do out in the mountains? Is he mining?"

The men exchanged another glance, appeared very restless and exceedingly disturbed, and remained silent. The old lady waited a moment, then again said in a little louder tone:

"What does Mart do in the mountains?"

"Why—I—you see," began the miner in a reckless way, but he got no further.

At that instant there was a firing of pistols, and the old coach, giving a lurch, came to a halt. A moment later the door was thrown open and a masked face looked in.

"Now step out here you folks inside," a gruff, unnatural voice commanded, "and we'll proceed to unload you of any burdens you may happen to have in the shape of money or valuables. Here, you," he continued to the miners, "you needn't be fumbling for your shooters, for we've got you covered, and any smartness on your part will only compel us to waste a bullet or two on you. Now come out quietly and gentlemanly and we'll not detain you a moment."

The passengers all left the coach and formed in line under the cover of a half dozen pistols. Night was just coming on, and it was scarcely dark, but the robbers were all masked, so that nothing of their features showed, and when they spoke they disguised their voices, so that they were safe from recognition.

One of the highwaymen went through a search of the passengers, beginning with the two men, from each of whom he took a few dollars, a silver watch and a pistol. When he came to the old lady he said:

"Now, then, ma'am, I'll trouble you for any little change and trinkets that you may happen to have about you."

"Here is my purse," she said, extending it in her open hand. "There is not much in it now, for I have spent pretty near all my money searching for my boy. That is all I have that you would want."

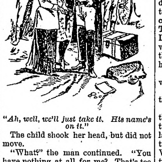
"I don't know about that. We are not hard to please, and rather than hurt anybody's feelings we accept the commonest kind of gifts. Have you no jewelry, old lady? No watch or anything like that?"

"Nothing but a little locket," she replied, "and I cannot give that up. You would not take that from me, for it is not mine. It belongs to my son, whom I am going to find. He left it with me when he went away, and it has his picture in it and a lock of his hair, and his name is cut on the case."

"Ah, well, we'll just take it. His name's on it, so if we happen to meet your son we'll just hand it to him perhaps."

And the man broke into a coarse laugh, at the same time placing the locket in his pocket.

"Sis, I reckon you haven't much wealth," he said, turning to the little girl. "If you've got anything just hand it over, and I won't search you."



"Ah, well, we'll just take it. His name's on it."

The child shook her head, but did not move.

"What?" the man continued. "You have nothing at all for me? That's too bad. You might give me a kiss at least, for the sake of a little girl I have somewhere back east."

The outlaw's voice softened just a little as he said that, but it was only for an instant, and recovering his former tone, half jocular, half brutal, he commanded the passengers to re-enter the coach, then ordered the driver to proceed.

It was not far to the Flat, and the distance was soon covered. The two miners talked but little, and the few words they exchanged were spoken in low tones and heard by no one save themselves. The old lady lamented the loss of her locket, and all the way she was lost in thought of it. She even forgot to renew the conversation regarding "her boy," in which she had been so interested a little while before.

When the stage stopped before the little hotel at Poverty Flat the miners hurried out and attempted to evade the old lady. She saw them, however, and called to them as they were walking away. They could only turn back, though they did it with the utmost reluctance.

"You did not tell me where Mart is," she said, "nor what he is doing."

"No, ma'am, I believe not," one of the men answered.

The old lady waited a moment for the man to proceed, but as it became plain that he was not going to do so she resumed, saying:

"Will you please tell me what you know about him. You see I am so anxious to find him, for I have not seen him for five long years."

"Well, ma'am, I can't tell you much," the miner said haltingly, as though he was on dangerous ground. To a close observer it would have been apparent that he wished to conceal something, but the old lady saw nothing of that. "I can't tell you much more than I have told you already," he said. "Mart Thompson is somewhere in the mountains, but just where he is or what he is doing right now I can't say." Then after an awkward pause he went on: "If I was you I'd be easy about it tonight. I know you must be tired. Just you stop here and rest tonight, and I'll inquire around about your son, and tomorrow morning I'll come to tell you what I learn."

The old lady was loath to accept this arrangement, but after a great deal of talk she consented. The miners went into the hotel, called the proprietor aside and spoke a few words to him in a low tone, now and then casting a glance toward the old lady and the child. The hotel proprietor nodded his head, and the miners went away.

When they were outside of the hotel the two men began to talk. One of them said:

"Jack, what are we to do? That old lady will give us no rest until we tell her all we know about her son, and who is to do that? I can't tell the innocent, trusting old soul that the man she has come all the way out here to find is a highway robber. Can you?"

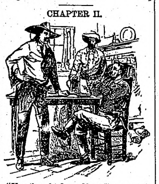
"No, Joe, I can't. I'd rather be hung than to do that."

"And me too. I believe it would kill her, Jack. The innocent, unsuspecting old soul is so trustful. She has the greatest confidence in the onery scamp, and she loves him. I don't know what to do."

"I don't either. But, say, I believe that the man who lifted our valuables down the road there is Mart Thompson."

"I know it. It was him, and the sneak robbed his own mother, or what was the same thing. The rascal deserves to be hung to the nearest limb."

CHAPTER II.



"You thought I was Mart Thompson."

The old lady sought for information regarding Mart Thompson from the proprietor of the hotel, but he evaded her questions and gave her no satisfaction; so at last she resigned herself to wait till morning, and retired.

The mining camp had just begun to stir after a night of slumber. There was a rattling and clattering of furniture and dishes in the cabins, showing that the people were up, but there was no one in the streets. Outside all was silent and deserted.

Jack and Joe were dressed and were sitting quietly discussing the events of the evening before, and trying to devise some plan by which they might extricate themselves from the difficulty which lay before them.

"I'll tell you what," said Jack, "I wish now I had not promised that old lady to call at the hotel this morning. I don't know what in the world I am going to say to her when I do call."

"I don't know but that if I was you," said Joe, "I wouldn't call."

"I have half a mind not to, but still I dislike to lie that way. I half way lied to her down there in the stage when I changed Mart Thompson into Mark Thompkins. Still I didn't just see how I could do otherwise then. I think it was better to stretch the truth a little than to have broken that innocent old heart, don't you?"

"Yes, it was, because as it is there wasn't anybody hurt."

"No, that was all right. But about the rest of it I don't know what to do."

Just then there was a slight noise at the door, and as the two miners turned to see what it meant a man lifted the latch and came in. Jack and Joe sprang to their feet and started back in alarm. Was it really a man or was it an apparition that stood before them?

"Don't be alarmed," said the one who had just entered. "You have nothing to fear from me. I suppose you know whom I am?"

"No," replied Jack, "not certainly. And yet I thought"——

"You thought I was Mart Thompson," the other interrupted. "Isn't it so?"

"Yes, it is."

"Then you thought right. That is who I am."

The miners were a little recovered from their astonishment by this time and were able to think and speak connectedly. The one called Jack, always the spokesman of the two, said:

"I believe that you speak the truth and that you are really Mart Thompson."

"Of course I am. Do you think that mine is such a proud, enviable name that any one would care to claim it who was not entitled to it? Do you think the character that name represents such that any one would want to steal it? Do you think any innocent man would care to come into this camp and say his name was Mart Thompson? Do you think any of those things likely?"

"No, I do not. But why do you come here? Don't you know that you are in the greatest danger?"

"Yes, I supposed I was. I supposed that to be caught in this camp meant death for me. It was my impression that the miners here had declared my life forfeited, and had pledged themselves to take it on the first oportunity. Am I right?"

"Yes, you are. We have long since decided that your life was forfeited, and we have only waited the chance to take it."

"So I thought, and for that reason I am here."

"I do not understand," Jack said, looking at Thompson in blank amazement.

"Don't you?" Thompson replied quietly. "What I say is plain and simple, and it ought not to be hard to understand it. You people here have said that you would hang or shoot me if you ever had a chance. I supposed that you had said that, and for that reason I came to this camp. I know that the men of this place are people who keep their word and who never abandon a purpose."

Jack, still astonished, shook his head, but remained silent. Mart Thompson's words and actions were beyond his comprehension. He could not fathom the man's meaning. He might have thought that Thompson was feigning had he not seen his face and noted how pale and wan it was, and how sad and sunken were his eyes. That face, those eyes, a very picture of despair and dejection, precluded all doubt of the man's earnestness.

"Don't you understand me yet?" Thompson asked after a short pause. "Then I will be plainer in my speech. I have come here because I want you men to take my life. I surrender myself into your hands. Take me and do with me as you please, only so you take my life."

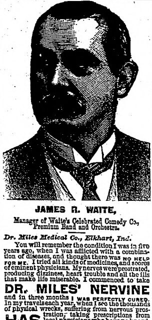
"Why do you say such things?" Jack asked.

"I say what I do because I feel it, and I feel it because of what happened yesterday. You were in the stage yesterday evening when it was robbed?"

"Yes, we were there."

"So was I. Here are your pistols, your money and your watches. It was I who took them and I restore them. But that is nothing; look here at this. Here is the locket I took from the old lady. Do

[CONTINUED ON PAGE 3.]



JAMES R. WAITE,

Manager of Waite's Celebrated Comedy Co., Premium Band and Orchestra.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

You will remember the condition I was in five years ago, when I was afflicted with a combination of diseases, and thought there was NO HELP FOR ME. I tried all kinds of medicines, and scores of eminent physicians. My nerves were prostrated, producing dizziness, heart trouble and all the ills that make life miserable. I commenced to take DR. MILES' NERVINE and in three months I WAS PERFECTLY CURED. In my travels each year, when I see the thousands of physical wrecks, suffering from nervous prostration, taking prescriptions from local physicians who have no knowledge of their case, and whose death is certain, I feel like going to them and saying, "GET DR. MILES' NERVINE AND BE CURED." In my profession, where there are so many sufferers from overwork, mental prostration and nervous exhaustion, brought on by the character of the business engaged in, I would recommend "MILES' NERVINE" as a sure cure for all suffering from these causes.

JAMES R. WAITE.

SOLD ON A POSITIVE GUARANTEE.

TRY DR. MILES' PILLS, 50 DOSES 25 CTS.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure at Druggists.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE

The Great English Remedy.

Before and After.

Promptly and permanently cures all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses. Been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for Wood's Phosphodine; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, leave his dishonest store, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlet in plain sealed envelope, 2 stamps. Address THE WOOD CHEMICAL CO., 131 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.

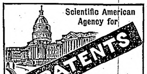
Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

Cook's Cotton Root COMPOUND.

A recent discovery by an old physician. Successfully used monthly by thousands of Ladies. Is the only perfectly safe and reliable medicine discovered. Beware of unprincipled druggists who offer inferior medicines in place of this. Ask for COOK'S COTTON ROOT COMPOUND, take no substitute, or inclose $1 and 6 cents in postage in letter, and we will send, sealed, by return mail. Full sealed particulars in plain envelope, to ladies only, 2 stamps. Address Pond Lily Company, No. 3 Fisher Block, Detroit, Mich.

Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, S. A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

Scientific American Agency for

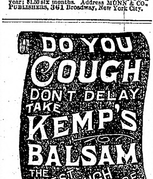


CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.



It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

AT BEDTIME
I TAKE A PLEASANT
HERB
DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1.00 a package. If you cannot get it, send your address for free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary. Address, ORATOR F. WOODWARD, LeROY, N. Y.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

First publication May 11th, 1893.
Last publication June 22d, 1893.

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE IN the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Lottie Larson and Ole B. Larson, her husband, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 28th day of August, A. D. 1889, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 6th, day of September, A. D. 1889, at 9:35 o'clock A. M., in Book 47 of Mortgages, on page 38.

Whereas, such default consists of the failure to pay the following installments of interest, to-wit: $12.75 that became due November 1, 1890; $12.75 that became due May 1, 1891; $12.75 that became due November 1, 1891; $12.75 that became due May 1, 1892, and $12.75 that became due November 1, 1892.

And whereas, the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, holder of said mortgage has elected to declare, and hereby does declare, the whole principal sums in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default, the following sum to-wit: Five hundred, eleven and 10-100 ($511 10-100) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter (SW¼) of section eleven (11) township one hundred fifty-three (153) range forty-four (44) containing 160 acres more or less according to the government survey thereof, all of said premises situate and being in the county of Polk, State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five (25) dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 26th day of June, A. D. 1892, at 10 o'clock A. M., of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 27th, A. D. 1893.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
[4-10] N. G. 147.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

First publication May 11th, 1893.
Last publication June 22d, 1893.

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Anson Bancroft and Ann Eliza Bancroft, his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 14th day of December, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 20th day of December, A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock A. M., in Book 33 of Mortgages, on page 410.

Whereas such default consists of the failure to pay a certain installment of interest when due and the principal sum, $900, that became due December 14th, 1892.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum to-wit: Nine hundred, fifty-six and 30-100 ($956 30-100) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said Mortgage, viz: The northwest quarter (NW¼) of section twenty-four (24) township one hundred forty-eight (148) range forty-seven (47) containing 160 acres, more or less, according to the government survey thereof, all of said premises situate and being in the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty (50) dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 26th day of June, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock A. M., of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 27th, A. D. 1893.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
[4-10] N. G. 152.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

First publication May 11th, 1893.
Last publication June 22d, 1893.

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by John Baumann and Josephine A. Baumann, his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 30th day of July A. D. 1886, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 2d day of August, A. D. 1886, at 10 o'clock a. m. in book 25 of mortgages, on pages 150 to 153.

Whereas such default consists in the failure to pay certain installments of interest when due and the principal sum, $600, that became due July 30th, 1891.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum, to-wit: Seven hundred twenty-one and 25.100 (721.25-100) dollars; and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter (sw¼), Section four (4), Township one hundred forty-seven (147), Range forty-five (45), containing 160 acres; more or less, according to the government survey thereof, all of said premises situate and being in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty (50) dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 26th day of June, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 27th, A. D. 1893.

NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON,
Attorney for Mortgagee. [4-10] (N. G. 150)

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, county of Polk,—ss.
In Probate Court, special term, April 21st, 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Charles W. Wright, deceased:

On reading and filing the petition of A. M. Childs administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Charles W. Wright, deceased representing among other things, that he has fully administered said estate and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

It is ordered, that said account be examined, and petition heard by this court on Monday the 22nd day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate office in the city of Crookston in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 21st day of April A. D. 1893.

By the Court,
C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.

(2-5)

FOR FAVORED FEW.

THOUSANDS TURNED FROM THE WORLD'S FAIR SUNDAY.

Those Lucky Enough to Have Passes, However, Allowed to Enter—The Matter of Closing to Be Tested in the Courts This Week.

CHICAGO, May 8.—The rule to close the gates of the wold's fair on Sunday was rigidly enforced yesterday, at least so far as the ticket purchasing public was concerned. The fortunate hundreds who hold passes were admitted, however, and allowed to wander about the grounds at their will. It was a beautiful day, and thousands of workingmen, some of them with families, went to the fair grounds under the apprehension that the gates were to be open. And when these toilers were turned away they left in anything but a good humor. It was highly aggravating to them to see the favored hundreds, even thousands, enter the grounds on passes while they who worked all the week were excluded. The validity of the law of congress closing the gates is to be Tested in the Courts

this week. Charles W. Clingman, who is a stockholder in the fair, has served notice on Secretary Edmonds that he will appeal to the courts to open the fair Sunday. In his letter he, in the interest of the working people, and as representative of other stockholders, demanded that people be admitted Sunday the same as every other day in the week.

"I demand this," continued he, "not only for my interest financially as a stockholder, but more especially for the people who could not see the exposition on any other day except Sunday. Having made this demand on you in writing, I have placed the matter in the hands of my attorney, who will commence legal proceedings at once against the exposition if my demands are not complied with."

EXCITING DAY.

Panic in Wall Street Friday—Some Large Failures.

NEW YORK, May 5.—The day was one of exceptional activity and intense excitement at the stock exchange. The great slump in prices during the last half hour of business Thursday and the further break next morning was explained by the failures of S. V. White, Ferris & Kimball and W. L. Patton & Co. Large amounts of stocks were sold out for the account of these houses, and the avalanche of offerings created a more panicky condition of affairs than has been experienced since the time of the Baring panic. According to those who passed through the Black Friday troubles and all the financial upheavals since then, there has never been a time when stock exhange houses were so completely demoralized as was the case during the day. The situation resolved itself into a matter of selling for practically any price obtainable. The enormous shrinkage shows plainly how acute the panic had become.

The Drop in Quotations

over night was equal to 1 to 24 points, and, had the pressure to sell continued a short time longer, there is little doubt that other houses would have been forced to the wall. As it was, London turned up as a heavy buyer, and, according to competent authorities, took upwards of 100,000 shares, and at the same time home investors who have not put in an appearance in Wall street for years back took round amounts of both the railroad and industrial stocks. The buying power thus exhibited turned the tide, but not until American Sugar had dropped 25 points, the preferred, 17; General Electric 22, American Cotton Oil 8, Chicago Gas 15 3-4, Edison Illuminating 6 1-2, Manhattan Elevated 10 1-2, National Cordage preferred 25, National Lead 7, preferred 11, Omaha preferred 6, Rubber 6 3-5, Wheeling and Lake Erje preferred 6 3-4, and Big Four 5 3-4. The drop in other stocks was 1 to 5 points.

PRESIDENTIAL APPOINTMENTS.

A Minister to Persia and a Batch of Consuls.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The president has announced the following nominations: Alexander McDonald, of Virginia, minister to Persia; Wallace S. Jones, of Florida, consul general at Rome; Steven Bonsale, of Maryland, secretary of the legation to China. Consuls of the United States—James B. Taney, of West Virginia, at Belfast; Alfred D. Jones, of North Carolina, at Shanghai: Charles T. Lyons, of New York, at Zanzibar; Harvey Johnson, of Georgia, at Antwerp; Benjamin Lenthier, of Massachussetts, at Sherbrooke; Harrison B. Williams, of Missouri, at San Jose, Costa Rica; Ralph Johnson, of New York, at Fort Erie; Henry P. Du Bellet, of Texas, at Rheims, James C. Monaghan, of Rhode Island at Chemnitz.

One More Case of Smallpox.

WINNIPEG, May 6.—Another case of suspected smallpox has been found in Central park. The patient was a young man who has been employed as a carpenter. The boardinghouse in which he lived and all its inmates have been quarantined.

The Relay Race Ended.

CHICAGO, May 5.—The Relay bicycle race ended at 8:46 a. m. The time from Boston was 112 hours and 49 minutes. It would have been much less but for muddy roads.

Switchmen Strike.

COLUMBUS, O., May 6.—All switchmen in the Panhandle yards went out during the morning. About 50 men picked up along the line arrived early and with some clerks and other persons are working the switches.

A Diabolical Soup Bone.

"Yes," meditatively said the bachelor to the other man, "I would have been a prosy old married man like you by this time if it had not been for the meddlesome intervention of a soup bone. Some months ago I was very much impressed with a little typewriter girl in our office. She was bright, pretty, had a dainty figure and wore such neat toilets that half the men in the place were more or less daft about her. I was too bashful to ask her if I might call on her, and one night over my late cigar I evolved a business method of settling my fate. I would go early to the office next morning—she was usually the first clerk down—I would send the porter out upon an errand and then dictate a letter to her asking her to marry me. Wasn't that a brilliant scheme? But she was not there and did not come in until 9 o'clock.

"Later in the day I overheard her tell another girl what had detained her. The cook at her boarding house had gone out to buy meat for breakfast. She entered the butcher shop just as the butcher in anger threw a soup bone at his assistant. The cook intercepted the soup bone, was felled insensible, and being unknown to the butcher was carried off to the hospital. The boarders waited for their breakfast, and my romantic intentions were chilled beyond resuscitation. So here I am, a dismal bachelor, the victim of a contemptible, mean, little 5-cent soup bone."—Indianapolis Journal.

Perpetuation of Physical Defects.

Diseases of malnutrition, such as gout, scrofula, cancer and tuberculosis, require several generations for their full evolution, and this evolution may be retarded or even wholly arrested by intermarriage with healthy persons of another nonrelated family. Acquired constitutional taints and abnormal habits, as alcoholism, kleptomania, when once firmly rooted in an individual organism tend to propagate themselves like family features and become hereditary for several generations, even when the original factors have ceased to act. Thus the acquired habit of the father may become a natural feature in his son or daughter, just as the puppies of a well trained pointer or setter require but very little training to "point" or "set."

Deformities, superfluous digits or toes and malformations in general may be caused by accident to the mother, by powerful mental impressions arresting or altering the development of the unborn child, and the child born with any of these defects may become the parent or grandparent of an infant having an exactly similar abnormality.—Homœopathic Review.

How Fast Does Thought Travel?

Professor Donders of Utrecht has made some interesting experiments in regard to the rapidity of thought. By means of two instruments, which he calls the "neomatachograph" and the "noematachometer," he obtained some important results. His experiments show that it takes the brain .067 of a second to elaborate a single idea. Writing in regard to this Professor Donders says: "Doubtless the time required for the brain to act is not the same in all individuals. I believe, however, that my instruments may be perfected until we will be able to determine the mental caliber of our friends without our friends knowing that we are testing their aptness." The professor further says: "For the eye to receive an impression requires .077 of a second, and for the ear to appreciate a sound .049 of a second is necessary. These curious experiments have established one fact at least—viz, that the eye acts with nearly double the rapidity of the ear."—Philadelphia Press.

A True Goldfish Story.

At the New York hospital they relate a curious occurrence bearing on the hibernation of fishes. In the conservatory in the upper part of the building they had several glass jars in which were goldfish, which is a species of carp. One morning the caretaker found a jar broken and the water frozen through and through, the fish of course being as rigid as ice. The lump was taken away and thrown into an old rubbish barrel, where it remained several weeks.

One March day the sun was unusually strong, and it split the cylinder of ice, but what was the astonishment of the caretaker to see the tail of a fish wriggling out of a part of the broken block. The actual freezing had not killed the fish, which was removed to another tank, where it swims about as if nothing had befallen it.—Our Animal Friends.

Demoralizing the Busy Bee.

As the magpie is notorious for stealing glittering objects, so we find the parallel among savages who have been known to help themselves on shipboard to all the movables, being fascinated by mirrors, cutlery and jewelry. Sometimes bees, in order to save trouble, attack in crowds well furnished hives and carry off the provisions; they gradually acquire a taste for this and form companies and colonies of brigands. If bees are given a mixture of honey and brandy, they can acquire a taste for it and become irritable under its influence, drink and cease to work, and like men fall from one vice into another.—Current Literature.

The Small "Life" of a Great Man.

The New York state library has in its possession one of the smallest books in existence. It contains 14 pages, each of which measures 1¼ inches. On the flyleaf are the words: "Life and Service of General Pierce. Respectfully dedicated to General Lewis Cass. Concord Press, 1852." From its text it would seem that the little book was a vest pocket campaign document, issued during the Pierce campaign.—St. Louis Republic.

A Passion For the Antique.

Little May—Auntie loves you, don't she, and wants you for her own?

Colonel Goldlead (who has lost an arm)—Why do you think so, dear?

Little May—Oh, you are all old and broken up like the Venus de Milo; that's what she loves.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

If Your Cistern
Is Out of Order

or Soft Water is scarce,

don't worry yourself for a moment—go right ahead and use hard water with

KIRK'S
WHITE RUSSIAN
SOAP

and you'll never know the difference.

The clothes will be just as white, clean and sweet-smelling, because the "White Russian" is specially adapted for use in hard water.

JAS. S. KIRK & CO., Chicago.

Dusky Diamond Tar Soap. Best Soap for the Hands.

MILLER & FOOTE,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW.
McKinnon Block, - Crookston, Minn.

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block } CROOKSTON, MINN.

W. A. ROBERTSON
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.
N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.
OFFICE. IN McKINNON BLOCK.

A. H. DUNLAP, M. D.
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS, QUEBEC.
Office in McKinnon Block.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist,
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank.

M. LeGUEE.
Veterinary Surgeon.
Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

JOHN CROMB.
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

MARTIN O'BRIEN,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
{ I. O. O. F. BUILDING. } Crookston, Minn.

"In no way can Americans so effectively inform themselves on the subjects that claim public attention from one month to another as by reading the North American Review."

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

THE TOPICS are always those which are uppermost in the public mind—in morals, politics, science, literature, business, finance, industrial economy, social and municipal affairs, etc.—in short all subjects on which Americans require and desire to be informed. No magazine follows so closely, from month to month the course of public interest. All subjects are treated of impartially on both sides.

THE CONTRIBUTORS to the Review are the men and women to whom the world looks for the most authoritative statements on the subjects of the day. No other periodical can point to such a succession of distinguished writers. The list is a roll of the people who are making the history, controlling the affairs, and leading the opinion of the age, such as Mr. Gladstone, the Prime Minister of England; Mr. Blaine, Signor Crispi, Ex-Prime Minister of Italy, Baron Hirsch, H. R. H. the Count of Paris, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishops Potter, Doane, Mallelieu, Foss, etc., etc

THE TIME when these subjects are treated of by these contributors is the very time when the subjects are in the public mind—not a month or two after people had ceased to think of them. The promptness with which the Review furnishes its readers with the most authoritative information upon the topics of the day is one of its most valuable features.

Subscription Price, $5.00 a year,
THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW,
3 East 14th Street, New York.

A
◎ GOOD ◎
STORY

is as much the part of a Home Newspaper as the news. Therefore the choice fiction from leading writers constantly appearing in these columns.

If you are not a regular subscriber enter your subscription at once for

THE HOME PAPER

NORTHERN
PACIFIC R.R.
Is the only line running
THROUGH PULLMAN CARS
BETWEEN
Chicago, St. Paul,
Minneapolis
AND
NORTH PACIFIC COAST POINTS.

THE DINING CAR LINE
Dining Cars on all through Trains.

THE YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
This marvellous Wonderland reached only by this line.

THE PEOPLE'S LINE
The people's highway from Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and West Superior to Winnipeg, Helena, Butte, Missoula, Spokane, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and Puget Sound.

THE TOURISTS' LINE
The popular line to reach Lakes Pend d' Orielle Cœur d' Alene, Kootenai, Chelan, the Hot Springs and Mountain Resorts of the Northwest and to Alaska.

DAILY EXPRESS TRAINS
Have Pullman Palace Cars, Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Free Colonist Sleeping Cars.

THROUGH TICKETS
Are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and West, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave	For St. Paul, Minneapolis Chicago, Duluth and West Superior.	7:12 p.m.
Crookston
Daily	For Grand Forks, Grafton, Brandon and Winnipeg,	8:19 a.m.

For rates, maps, time tables, or special information, apply to
CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.,
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn

THE DUAL
MEAT MARKET.
oOo
CHARLEY VINE
Is Headquarters for all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats.
Highest cash price paid for cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry and hides.
SHOPS
Corner Broadway and Robert street,
and on Second street, in Reckitt block,
Crookston, - - - Minn.

IF YOU ARE GOING EAST
OR SOUTH ASK YOUR NEAREST AGENT FOR TICKETS VIA THE
AND TAKE NO OTHER LINE. BURLINGTON

SCHMIDT THE PAINTER
IS NOW ON DECK
AT THE OLD STAND ON SECOND STREET,
WITH A FULL LINE OF
PAINTS, OILS, GLASS
AND
WALL PAPER.
Ready for anything in the line of Painting or Papering. Be sure and get an estimate from me before you contract your work.
A. C. SCHMIDT.

SAAKE
Is still doing business a
the old stand and selling
WATCHES,
CLOCKS
JEWELRY
CHEAPER
THAN EVER.
☞ WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. ☜
ROBERT STREET,
CROOKSTON, MINN.
C. H. SAAKE.

If you want a
STOVE OR RANGE
FOR WOOD OR Coal, see the

BRAND'S
FAMOUS
Stoves and Ranges

FAMOUS BRAND
STOVE
AT ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER'S.
They are the finest line of stoves ever brought to Crookston, and are sold at
REASONABLE PRICES.

ASTHMA CURED BY
DR. TAFT'S
ASTHMALENE
Instead of flying to the door gasping for breath, seeming as if each one would be your last, you have only to take a few doses Asthmalene when the spasm is broken, the breathing becomes easy and you feel as if an angel of mercy had unloosed the iron grasp of the fingers of death. The happiest moment of your life will be when you have used a few bottles of Dr. Taft's ASTHMALENE and it has cured you of Asthma. We mail to any Asthma sufferer a trial bottle FREE and prove that it does Cure Asthma.
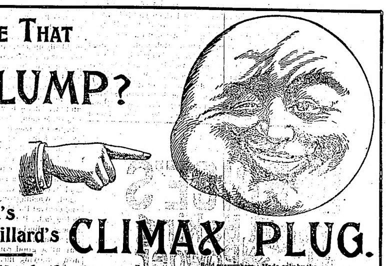
Sold by druggists. Dr. Taft Bros. M. Co., Rochester, N.Y



That's Lorillard's CLIMAX PLUG.
It's Much the Best.
Sold everywhere. Made only by the
P. LORILLARD COMPANY.
The oldest tobacco manufacturers in America, and the largest in the World.

GREAT NORTHERN

Railway

TIME CARD.

MONTANA EXPRESS—Daily.

West		East
7:40 p m Dc.	St Paul	Ar. 6:55 a m
2:50 a m "	Fergus Falls	" 11:25 p m
4:47 a m "	Glyndon	" 9:36 p m
7:20 a m "	CROOKSTON	" 7:25 p m
8:40 a m "	Grand Forks	" 6:20 p m
9:45 a m "	Larimore	" 5:06 p m
2: 1 p m "	Devils Lake	" 2:55 a m
7:00 p m Ar.	Butte	De. 7:30 a m

ST. VINCENT BRANCH—Daily except Sunday.
Depart 7:30 a m Arrive 6:30 p m

FOSSTON BRANCH—Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Depart 8:00 a m Arrive 5:30 p m

ST. HILAIRE, Thief River and Red Lake Falls Branch—
Monday, Wednesday and Friday,
Depart 9:00 a m Arrive 6:50 p m

GRAND FORKS' ACCOMMODATION.
Arrive 9:50 a m Depart 7:55 p m

The scenic route to Spokane, Helena, and Butte on the west, and St. Paul, Minneapolis-Duluth and West Superior on the east. Dining and sleeping cars on all through trains. Tickets on sale to all principal places. Baggage checked through to destination.

W. W. FEGAN, Agent.

THE MARKETS.

[Corrected weekly by the Crookston Hay and Commission Co.]

RETAIL PRICE.

Hay, per ton	$6.00@$10.00
Butter, per lb	15c@20c
Eggs, per dozen	12½c
Hogs, dressed, per cwt	$6.00@$7.00
Beef, hind quarters	4c@5c
Beef, fore quarters	2½c@4½c
Potatoes	65c
Wheat—1 Hard	55.
1 Northern	52.

'Round Home.

R. A. Wilkinson was in the city on Wednesday.

Hugh Douglas was in from Euclid on Monday.

Felix Fournet went up to McIntosh last Saturday.

Wall paper from 5c. to $2.00 per roll at Schmidt's 2nd street. [4-6]

M. H. Engen opened his new restaurant in the opera house block on Wednesday.

Jim Mead and wife came down from Red Lake Falls on Sunday, returning on Monday.

E. C. Murney was down from Euclid on Monday with a sick colt for Dr. Leguee to mend up.

The masons commenced laying brick for George Vine's new block on Wednesday morning.

Get your job work done at the JOURNAL office. Latest styles, all of modern improvements.

Judge Benson's little child has been very ill which has kept the Judge away from his office for a few days.

Hugh Thompson has received a set of pneumatic wheels for his trotting sulky and will be right in it on the turf this season.

You should have seen that little two-year-old colt that Eben Lancaster was trying to break on Monday; it took two to lead the filly and one to drive.

Rev. R. H. Battey drove up to Mentor last Saturday to preach in the Mentor church on Sunday morning. In the afternoon he went to Fertile where he preached Sabbath evening.

The late purchase of Hugh Thompson makes a valuable addition to the trotting stock of the county. He has a fine Hambletonian that would be a credit to any stable. The colt has not made a record as yet, but when the time comes he will be right at the front.

The ladies of the W. R. C. contemplate holding a shadow social in the near future, the proceeds to be applied to the purchase of flowers for Decoration Day.

Meetings will be held in the Congregational church every evening next week except Saturday evening. Union meetings. Everybody cordially invited.

Rev. Geo. W. Willis left for his home on Monday evening after a fortnights' series of very interesting meetings at the M. E. church in this city. The Rev. gentleman made many warm friends here.

"Too busy to write an ad this week," said Miss Veronneau when our reporter called on Wednesday, "but you must invite the ladies to call and see my spring display," saying which she turned to wait upon several customers who dropped in at that moment.

Marcus Johnson was in the city last week.

The drying weather of last week produced a wonderful change in the face of nature.

Peter Stull has bought out Fred Rauch and took possession on Monday morning.

Ex-mayor Anglim has sent his bonds as receiver of this land office to Washington for approval.

Sheriff Grundysen went to Fergus Falls last Thursday evening with Herman Krouse, an insane man from Euclid.

The Great Northern will sell round trip tickets to Chicago on Mondays and Thursdays at $32.55.

Money to loan. Farm and city lots for sale. Please call at R. R. V. Loan and Investment Co., Opera Block, Crookston Minn.

Wall paper, paints, oils, glass room and picture moulding, largest assortment in the city. A. C. Schmidt, 2nd street. [4-6]

Street Commissioner McDonald has been doing excellent work on the streets dragging and leveling off with a grader. The streets are now in excellent condition.

Such lovely weather for seeding has never been surpassed in the valley and the farmers are improving it to the utmost. A great deal of wheat will go in this week.

Landlord Barholtz was up from Fertile last Saturday. Says seeding was well commenced in that vincinity last week. He told of one farmer who had 300 acres sowed to wheat by Saturday night.

Parisian novelties and all late millinery at Mrs. Sempf's Broadway shop. Owing to the lateness of the season will be glad to get cost for my goods, call and be convinced.

And now the merry ice man maketh his daily rounds getting in his work all the same like unto ye hot summer day. This evidence of spring hardly ever fails.

Viava remedies for sale by Mrs. John Wyatt, sole agent for Polk county, Sano, sure cure for piles. I. O. O, F. block, or 105½ Broadway. [39-tf]

C. C. Knappen of Detroit, was up on Monday to inspect George H. Thomas Camp, Sons of Vets. Knap was formerly engaged in the newspaper business in Polk county—proprietor of the Fisher Bulletin.

May seems to be trying to make up for the inclement weather of April by just supplying the loveliest article of weather in the shop—that is, so far, but Hicks says "look out for storms later." We hope he misses it this time.

Halvor Grundesen was up from Fisher last week to see about a lawsuit in which the town of Bygland is interested. County Commissioner Anton Lindem brings an action in a road matter.

S. L. Collins has bought one of the Beecher houses, corner of Elm and 4th streets, and will hereafter dwell 'neath his own vine and fig tree. Collins says he is weary with renting and fixing up the other fellow's house and will do a little fixing up for himself now.

W. F. Arnold returned from McIntosh last week where he has been laying out Miller & Foote's new bank site. The bank building is to be a two story brick, 24x50 and will cost $5,000. Mr. Arnold says that farmers were commencing seeding quite generally, and very many of them will finish this week with good weather.

If you are looking for a snap in farms call and look over that bargain that the Red River Land and investment Company offers in another column. A good improved farm all ready for business at about the bare cost of improvements is a snap not to picked up every day. For full particulars call on or address August George, Opera house block.

The more Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used the better it is liked. We know of no other remedy that always gives satisfaction. It is good when you first catch cold. It is good when your cough is seated and your lungs are sore. It is good in any kind of a cough. We have sold twenty-five dozen of it and every bottle has given satisfaction. Stedlman & Friedman, druggists, Minnesota Lake, Minn. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist-Crookston, Minn.

DR. PRICE'S
Cream Baking Powder.
The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum.
Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

W. O. Wilson sports a fine rig in those days.

Pete Stull is papering his place in elegant shape.

Supt. Scott was over from Grand Forks on Tuesday.

Chris. Hanson has gone to Duluth to engage in business.

M. Mercil takes a month's vacation from the cares of business.

Comrade L. Walker is nursing one of Job's comforters on his hand.

Do not miss the bargains at the NEW YORK STORE.

Mrs. J. B. Copeland and Miss Edith visited friends in Grand Forks last Saturday.

The little two-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Saake is very ill with brain fever.

Call at the JOURNAL job rooms for plain or fancy job printing of all kinds.

Everybody busy in the fields this week. Lots of seed will go into the ground.

There is yet time to sow too much wheat if farmers crowd in all they can before June 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Leguee welcomed the arrival of a little girl at their residence on Thursday of last week.

Wm. Bloom, who broke his leg at the Last Chance fire this spring was down town on crutches on Saturday.

Uncle Hiram's advertising man made lots of fun on the streets on Friday. He was not half so green as he looked.

S. L. Collins is building a large addition to his machinery hall. Looks for a big summer's trade evidently.

M. W. Jenson, of McIntosh, was in the city on Wednesday. Says farmers are improving the fine weather to rush in the wheat.

W. E. McKenzie and Adolph Bydal will represent the newspaper fraternity of Crookston, at the World's Fair next week.

J. F. Creamer is away off to the great World's fair. Reckless man! He must have simoleons to throw away to take such chances.

S. L. Dobson, the oat meal man, wants farmers to sow oats enough to supply his mill for a fall and winter's run. There is more money in it than in raising wheat. Will the farmers do it?

Judge Ives and Stenographer Strawbridge went to Marshall county on Monday for a short session of court. Owing to the fact that seeding is now on, the regular term will not occur until later.

At the Baptist church next Sunday morning the pastor will speak on the subject "Your Ears a Grave Yard" or "He was as Though he had been Deaf." The evening "Happiness" or "The Sunny side of Life."

Before buy any paper, you will make no mistake by looking over my fine line of pressed papers, finest goods ever brought to the northwest, no trouble to show goods. A. C. Schmidt, 2nd street. [4-6]

Ed. Love came back from the World's fair last week swearing great big swears under his breath, says that a fellow can't even turn 'round twice down to the windy city but what some feller will charge him fifty cents for it. Says it beats any extortion he ever met anywhere and if it keeps on pretty quick nobody will go.

A strike occurred on the gravel train on Monday morning. The men were informed that hereafter their pay would be $1.25. They had been getting $1.50 and did not wish to "see" the "ante" in that direction. So they struck. Several men however were willing to work for the price offered and Agent Fegan said he had no doubt the quota would soon be filled.

Deputy coroner John Wyatt went out to McIntosh on Thursday morning to hold an inquest upon the body of one Olsen who was killed on Wednesday by being run over. Together with others he was on his way home decidedly under the influence of liquor, fell out of the wagon and the wheels passed over his neck, killing him. The body was taken to his home and the coroner summoned.

Peter Beauchemin, with his wife and two little boys arrived in the city on Monday morning and left for Argyle on Tuesday morning to see Peter's folks. They will be in the city for a few days visit in a week or ten days. Later on they go to Canada to see her parents, then they will take in the great fair at Chicago and return to their home in Great Bend, Washington, via the Union and Central Pacific to San Francisco, in the fall. Peter has been in the grocery business out there, has coined much shekels and finally sold out at a good round figure and is now enjoying life. He intends to embark in the dry goods line on his return to Washington. He has not lost his love for old Polk county yet however he has made lots of money out there.

Prof. Drew has analyzed for the Minn. State Dairy and Food Commission every brand of baking powder found

ROYAL,
The Superior Baking Powder.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., February 17, 1893.

I have, within the last month, purchased at the leading retail stores twenty-five samples of Royal Baking Powder, in original sealed packages, and have submitted each one to a careful chemical analysis as to its character, purity and efficiency.

They have been found to be cream of tartar powders entirely free from ammonia and all forms of adulterations and impurities, and to be of the very highest leavening power.

I have never examined a large line of samples obtained by purchase upon the retail market which have shown anything like the uniformity of composition and the very high degree of leavening power which is shown by these samples.

CHARLES W. DREW, Ph. B., M. D.,
Formerly Prof. of Chemistry, Minn. Hospital College, and Chemist to the Minn. State Dairy and Food Dep't.

for sale in the State. With such evidence as this, no careful housekeeper can use any baking powder but Royal

Notices have been posted notifying the public that the pound master is open for business.

Thos. Rutherford of Beckersville, was in town doing business with our merchants, Monday.

Stewart Chapin came down from Argyle on Friday evening to take in "Uncle Hiram."

A. C. Schmidt has been painting a fine sign for Christianson Bros.' office windows.

L. L. Blood & Co's ready mixed paint a pure lead and oil paint at A. C. Schmidt 2nd street. [4-6]

Edmund Krouse a farmer living east of Euclid. was adjudged insane and sent to the hospital at Fergus Falls.

COUGHING LEADS TO CONSUMPTION
Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

Christianson Bros. have ordered an elegant office desk of Woodham and will put on lots of style in their new office with their new desk.

Miss Ellen McDonald came up from Ada last week for a visit with the family of her brother, Street Commissioner Dan McDonald.

Mrs. Lawrence Larson presented her husband with a bouncing boy last Thursday, and Larson has been selling machinery at cost ever since.

T. G. Thompson feels as proud as a boy with a little red wagon—all because he has as fine an office desk as can be found in a day's travel.

More bicycles on the sidewalks than anywhere else just now. Say fellows the streets are getting purty good now a days aint it?

Our agent, E. B. Ballou, has branched out into the stock business. Any one having any stock to offer will do well to write or call on the above named person.

Don't forget my feed mill—feed ground every week day during February either for cash or trade at rate of one sack for seven or ⅛ bushel per bushel ground. Special contract for large quantities. Call on me.
W. H. NORRIE,
Successor to Priester & Co.,
Corner Main and Third streets.

Halvor Steenerson returned from Bismarck on Sunday morning looking as meek as though he was not the most talked about man in Minnesota and North Dakota to-day. Whether he succeeds in knocking out the prohibition law or not, he will be the best advertised lawyer in the Northwest, anyhow.

Casper Sands has traded his Angus farm for a three-year-old Shire stallion, "Invincible" 4510. Tommy Johnstone, who is well posted on Shire horses, says that "Invincible" is from one of the very best families of Shire horses, and the appearance of the colt itself speaks volumes for its breeding. He weighs 1,700 pounds in his three-year-old form, and will easily go to 2,000 at maturity. This fine animal may be seen at Wm. Kruger's stable on Main street. If you are interested in good horses, call and see "Invincible."

The Crookston Belle—Kœppe's new cigar, is as fine as silk. Try it.

House-cleaning is the order of the day—and everybody seems to be right in fashion.

T. H. Bjoin commenced on Monday to remove the Sylvester & Finseth hardware stock into the new store in the opera block.

The sheriff has fewer delinquent personal taxes to collect this spring than usual. This speaks well for the condition of the country.

Larsen, Carpenter & Co. report the largest sale of drills of any year yet—and a few going out every day. It looks like some grain would be sowed.

P. S. Ware and wife came down from Thief River Falls on Monday evening. Mrs. Ware was enroute to New York to see her sister who is very ill. P. S. remained in the city until Wednesday morning when he returned to his home.

Pete Beauchemin says that our old-time friend, John McLean, is quietly acquiring wealth in real estate out in South Bend, Wash. Just at the present time real estate is at a rather low ebb but the prospects indicate a boom later on.

Farmers, bring your dressed hogs during the summer months to the Crookston Packing House and we will tell you the truth how you can realize the most money out of them.
[4-11] ROBERT STANTON.

S. C. Johnson says that the feed business was never better than this spring. What a comment upon farming methods. Most of their feed is shipped in. Should be raised here. When will farmers take a tumble and let up on "all wheat?"

Will Himmelsbach informs the JOURNAL that there seems to be a singular fatality among pigs this spring that bids fair to affect the price of pork next fall. Out of 16 he has only two or three left and this is about the way they seem to average. It looks as though pork would be out of sight next fall.

Come quick and get some of my A No. 1 dry maple before it is all gone. I have green ash, also that cannot be beat. Prices of dry oak, birch, tamarac and poplar still very low. All kinds of wood sawed as you want it at very cheap rate. My feed mill runs every day until April 1st and longer if necessary. Feed ground for cash or toll. Low rates for large quantities. Call and see me.
W. H. NORRIE,
Corner Main and Third Streets.

Examiner Knappen paid the boys of Geo. H. Thomas Camp, Sons of Vets., very high complements on the proficiency of their work and drill. He says they went from 3rd to 2nd class easily and only lacked five points of going to 1st class. He says they passed a very creditable inspection indeed. The camp has increased 28 in the last year. Several members of the G. A. R. Post signed the articles on Monday evening. The inspector says that in Detroit nearly every old Vet belongs and that it is a great help to the Sons. He thinks it would be an element of strength to the association here if the G. A. R. boys would take hold of it generally.

A great many fish are taken from the river daily—but the nets seem to be more responsible than the fishhook. The law against taking fish by net seems more honored in the breach than in the observance.

Tom Morris returned on Tuesday morning from a hurried trip to Chicago and to the World's Fair. Says if a person has an idea that he can see it all in a week, he is apt to be badly left as it is "the biggest show on earth." Tom says Ira De Camp has a nice hotel near the grounds and that he will take care of all Polk county people who apply in a right and acceptable manner. It is located at the corner of 64th street and Lexington Ave., one block from the elevated railroad and is called Hotel Hayes. Tom said he did not see evidences of such wonderful extortion as he has read about but a man must have his head on his shoulders or he might get beat—just like he might anywhere else where there is a big crowd. He thinks the trip well worth making and says be sure and stop at Hotel Hayes, then you are all right.

Storage Warehouse.

Parties wishing to store household furniture or other articles of any kind, should call on the Hay & Commission Company, Vance Block. [2-4]

RED RIVER VALLEY
LOAN AND INVESTMENT COMPANY.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON REAL ESTATE.

FARMS AND LANDS
For Sale in nearly all
the Towns of Polk
County.

CITY LOTS
In Crookston and Thief River Falls.
List your Lands and Lots with us and effect quick sales.
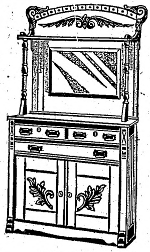
OFFICE IN OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.

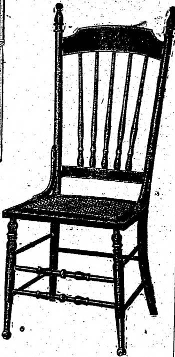
A. G. GALLASCH, Pres.
J W. WHEELER, Vice Pres.
W. H. MATHEWS, 1st Vice Pres.
A. F. GEORGE, Sec.
O. H. LUCKEN, Treasurer.

Historical Society

Polk County Journal.

VOL. XVII. CROOKSTON, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, MAY 18, 1893. NO. 5





Crookston Furniture Co.
FURNITURE, CARPETS,
BURIAL SUPPLIES.

$1.35.
Antique Oak Finish.

$19.50.
Solid Oak,
Large Glass,
Plush-lined Drawers.

8-ft. Oak Table,
42x42, only
$7.90.

WE ARE NOT DOING
Much Blowing

At this time of the year, and it is not bragging to say that

OUR MAMMOTH STOCK

was never more complete than this spring, and that you can find no greater bargains in the city than we are giving. There is an old saying to the effect that

"THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING IS IN CHEWING THE STRING."

This applied to the old-fashioned steamed Indian Pudding that was put in a bag and tied with a string, which string no doubt retained enough of the pudding to furnish a sufficient sample.

We don't claim to have a "string" on the public, but it is a fact that when a man once comes into our store and taades he always comes again. s the pudding was supposed to speak for itself, so our goods speak for themselves every time.

☞YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED.

FONTAINE & ANGLIM.

OFFICIAL DIRECTORY.

State.

Governor	Knute Nelson.
Lieutenant Governor	David M. Clough.
Secretary of State	F. P. Brown.
Attorney General	H. W. Childs.

Congressional.

Member of Congress, 7th Dist.	Haldor E. Boen,

Legislative.

Senator, 51st Sen. Dist.	E. E. Lommen.
Representatives, 51st Sen. Dist.	John D. Knuteson, B. M. Chesley and Hans Juelson.

Judicial.

Associate Justices Supreme Court	Thomas Canty, Daniel Buck, Wm. Mitchell and Loren W. Collins.
Judge 14th Jud. District	Frank Ives.
Clerk of Court	Nils Muus.

County.

Auditor	C. U. Webster
Treasurer	J. T. Beaudry
Register of Deeds	John Amundson
Attorney	A. R. Holston
Sheriff	Arny Grundysen
Judge of Probate	C. M. Benson
Supt. of Schools	A. A. Lommen
Surveyor	O. L. Hamery
Court Com'r	W. H. Averill
Coroner	Henry Shepard

County Commissioners.

First District	John E. Oppegaard
Second District	Anton Linden
Third District	M. E. Kirsch
Fourth District	C. P. Demers
Fifth District	A. C. Rhinehart

There is nothing I have ever used for muscular rheumatism that gives me relief as Chamberlain's Pain Balm does. I have been using it for about two years—four bottles in all—as occasion required, and always keep a bottle of it in my home. I believe I know a good thing when I get hold of it, and Pain Balm is the best liniment I have ever met with. W. B. Denny, dairyman, New Lexington, Ohio. 50 cent bottles for sale by S. A. Wallace, Druggist.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, city of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 10th, 1893, and terminating on May 10th, 1894, by the following person and at the following place, as stated in said application, to-wit: Gaarder and Sundet in the two story frame building on the east 20 feet of lots 11 and 12, block 3, Fletcher & Houston's addition to Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council in the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, Minn., on Tuesday, the 13th day of June, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and the seal of said city this 5th day of May, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH.
City Clerk.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, City of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on July 1st, 1893, and terminating on July 1st, 1894, by the following person and at the following place as stated in said application, to-wit: N. Rapin, in the two story frame building on lot 5, block 1, original townsite city of Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the city of Crookston, in the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, on Tuesday, the 13th day of June, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 9th day of May, A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH.
City Clerk.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, City of Crookston—ss.

Notice is hereby given that application has been made in writing to the City Council of said city of Crookston, and filed in my office, praying for license to sell intoxicating liquors for the term commencing on May 10th, 1893, and terminating on May 10th, 1894, by the following persons and at the following place, as stated in said application, to-wit: Bergquist and Morberg in the one story frame building on lot 9, block 3, Fletcher & Houston's Addition to the city of Crookston.

Said application will be heard and determined by said City Council of the city of Crookston, in the city hall in said city of Crookston, in Polk county, on Tuesday, the 13th day of June, A. D. 1893, at 8 o'clock p. m. of that day.

Witness my hand and seal of said city this 4th day of May A. D. 1893.

(SEAL.) E. C. CARRUTH,
City Clerk.

It is not what its proprietors say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures.

CITY COUNCIL.

Official Proceedings of the Regular Meeting held May 9th.

Resolutions Passed, Remonstrances Heard, Bills Allowed, Reports Made.

Proceedings of a regular meeting of the city council of the City of Crookston held in the city hall on Tuesday evening, May 9th, 1893.

Meeting called to order by Vice-president Morrisey.

Roll called.

Aldermen present:—Anderson, Childs, Jennings, Jerome, Marlette, Norrie, Simmons, Watts, Morrisey.

Aldermen absent:—Cromb, Walker.

Minutes of previous meetings read and approved.

Aldermen Morrisey and Anderson as a committee to whom was referred the matter of protecting the city property during the high water, reported that they had worked upon the ice in cutting it away from under the bridge, had made things ready so as to raise the bridge if necessary and done other work in connection therewith. On motion the report was accepted and adopted.

The finance committee reported favorably upon the following bills:

D. F. McDonald, labor in First Ward	$22 87
" " " labor in the Second Ward	29 62
" " " labor in the Third Ward	12 00
" " " labor in the Fourth Ward	68 62
" " " labor in the Fifth Ward	9 00
" " " general labor	2 25
L. H. Brengman labor in the Fifth Ward	4 15
D. F. McDonald, general labor	94 88

Moved by Alderman Anderson, seconded by Alderman Jennings, that the report be accepted and the bills paid. Carried.

The committee on poor reported that since the last meeting of the council they had discharged two of their patients from the hospital, one of them going to Europe. Report accepted.

Moved by Alderman Norrie, seconded by Alderman Anderson, that an order amounting to $61.00 for full amount of the bill for patient's ticket to Europe be drawn from the poor fund. Ca[illegible]

The com[illegible] upon making some necessary changes in the council room asked for further time; same was granted.

The committee appointed on looking up the matter of sewer assessments reported as follows:

Your committee appointed to consider the matter of assessment for the construction of sewer on Front street in the City of Crookston respectfully report that in their opinion the assessment made is inequitable and improper as to some of the parties affected by the same and recommended that the city engineer make an estimate as to what would be a proper re-assessment of the property chargeable with the cost of such sewer.

Dated May 9th, 1893.

Wm. Watts,
W. H. Norrie,
Committee.

Report accepted.

Moved by Alderman Jennings, seconded by Alderman Norrie, that when we adjourn, we adjourn to meet again on Monday evening next at the usual hour. Carried.

The matter of the assessments for sewer was mentioned and any persons present who wished to say anything were asked to do so. Mr. J. Carter, who represented the property owners living along Front street, arose and made a decided objection on the amount of the levy for sewers to be built there.

A remonstrance from the same parties was read to the council. On motion same was laid on the table until after the report of the engineer was heard on the matter.

The committee appointed to look up the matter of having the city represented in the celebration to be given in St. Paul on June 7th in honor of the completion of the Great Northern road to the coast, reported as follows: We believe that the city should be represented in the celebration and that the amount of money necessary to do so should be taken from the city's funds. We have had a drawing of a float made and would therefore suggest that a float be ordered and recommend that the amount of money required for the representation be paid from the city funds.

Moved by Alderman Childs, seconded by Alderman Anderson, that the report so far as it recommends our representation at the celebration be accepted, providing the means can be raised by private subscription to accomplish the result.

Alderman Watts moved to amend, seconded by Alderman Jerome, that all the words after the work, "providing" be stricken from the motion.

Alderman Childs raised a point of order, it being that the amendment changed the motion throughout. Chair declared the point not well taken.

The vote was then taken on the amendment and resulted as follows: Aldermen voting in favor of the amendment; Jerome, Norrie, Watts. Voting against the amendment: Anderson, Childs, Jennings, Marlette, Simmons.

Amendment declared lost. The vote was then taken on the motion and declared carried.

A bill from the Great Northern railway company for gravel used in filling up the sink hole at the mouth of the main sewer was read and on motion was referred to the finance committee.

A communication was read from A. C. Schmidt, appointing W. F. Arnold as deputy assessor for the city. On motion the appointment was duly confirmed.

Larsen, Carpenter & Company sent in a request asking that they might widen the sidewalk in front of their place of business three feet. On motion the request was laid on the table.

A petition was sent in asking that the city take the necessary steps to continue the present sewer from Fletcher street down Broadway to Loring street and that as soon as the sewer was completed the property owners would pay their share of the expense.

Wilfred Page asked that his saloon license be changed from the building that was destroyed by fire, to the building on lot 18, block 16, original townsite. Same was granted.

A communication from the committee in charge of the reciprocity convention, which will be held in St. Paul on June 5th and 6th, was read.

The finance committee report they have examined the statement of the city treasurer referred to them at last meeting of council and that they find the same to be full and correct except that city order No. 2476 for the sum of $15.80 appears twice paid in said report, and the city treasurer credits himself with having twice paid the same which is evidently a mistake on the part of the city treasurer.

Dated May 9th, 1893.

Wm. Watts,
R. G. Marlette,
Finance Committee.

On motion the report was accepted and the ex-treasurer requested to explain the same. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Childs, seconded by Alderman Marlette, that the financial statement of the city for the last fiscal year be published in the official paper. Carried.

N. K. Olson appeared before the council and asked that the assessment on certain sidewalks which he had built himself, but by some error had been assessed, be rebated.

At a regular meeting of the city council of the City of Crookston, held the 9th day of May 1893, Alderman Childs offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Jennings:

Resolved: That the petition of N. K. Olson asking that his sidewalk tax againt lot 3 of block 3 South Crookston, be rebated and said tax stricken from the roll; be allowed and the county auditor notified of this action and that the proper officers of the city issue to said N. K. Olson a refunding order for said amount to be received by the county treasurer in payment of said assessment.

Upon the call of ays and nays, the vote stood as follow:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative: Anderson, Childs, Jennings, Jerome, Marlette, Norrie, Simmons, Watts, Morrisey.

Aldermen voting in the negative: None.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 9th day of May, 1893.

Jas. E. Morrisey,
Vice-President of the Council.

Approved this 11th day of May, 1893.

A. D. Stephens,
Attest: Mayor.
E. C. Carruth,
Clerk.

On motion the street commissioner was instructed to notify the persons who had built their own sidewalks, but had been assessed for them by the city, to send in their names to him.

At a regular meeting of the city council of the City of Crookston, held the 9th day of May, 1893, Alderman Watts offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Childs:

Resolved: That the proper city officers of the City of Crookston issue to James Muir a refunding order for the amount of twenty-three dollars for sidewalk tax illegally levied against lot 4, block 3, in South Crookston, said sidewalk having been paid for by Jas. Muir when said sidewalk was built.

Upon the call of ays and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative; Anderson, Childs, Jennings, Jerome, Marlette, Norrie, Simmons, Watts, Morrisey.

Aldermen voting in the negative: None.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 9th day of May, 1893.

Jas. E. Morrisey,
Vice-President of the Council.

Approved this 11th day of May, 1893.

A. D. Stephens,
Attest: Mayor.
E. C. Carruth,
Clerk.

At a regular meeting of the city council of the City of Crookston, held the 9th day of May, 1893, Alderman Watts offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Jennings.

Resolved: That whereas there has been levied for street improvement the following assessments against the tracts of land hereinafter named:

LOCATION, FLETCHER & HOUSTON'S ADDITION.

Name of Owner.	Blk.	Lot.	Front.	Cost.
Geo. W. Peake	5	1	25	$ 3 25
John Alderman	5	2	25	6 50
Anderson & Olson	5	3 & 4	50	3 25
Walter Alderman	5	5	25	3 25
F. H. Thomas	5	6	25	3 25
John C. Ormstad	5	7	25	3 25
H. Halvorson	5	8	25	3 25
Felix Fournet	5	9, 10, 11, 12	100	13 25
Fontaine & Anglim	5	13	140	18 20
City Hall and Alley	5	19	160	20 80

And whereas all the owner of said tracts of land individually paid their proportion of the costs of said improvements and the said taxes have been erroneously assessed against said several tracts of land.

Resolved: That refunding orders be issued to the abovenamed persons by the proper officers of the City of Crookston of the respective amounts assessed against their said lands to be received by county treasurer in lieu of said assessment.

Upon the call of ays and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative: Anderson, Childs, Jennings, Jerome, Norrie, Marlette, Simmons, Watts, Morrisey.

Aldermen voting in the negative: None.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 9th day of May, 1893.

Jas. E. Morrisey,
Vice-President of the Council.

Approved this 11th day of May 1893.

A. D. Stephens,
Attest: Mayor.
E. C. Carruth, Clerk.

At a regular meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston, held the 9th day of May, 1893. Alderman Norrie offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Watts.

Resolved: That the City Treasurer of the city of Crookston pay all interest on city bonds, as soon as the same becomes due.

Upon the call of ays and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative: Anderson, Childs, Jennings, Jerome, Marlette, Norrie, Simmons, Watts, Morrisey.

Aldermen voting in the negative: none.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 9th day of May, 1893.

Jas. E. Morrisey,
Vice-President of the Council.

Approved this 11th day of May, 1893.

A. D. Stephens,
Mayor.

Attest: E. C. Carruth, Clerk.

Your committee to whom was at last meeting referred protests against construction of sewer along Second and Ash Streets and sewer along Third, Broadway and Fourth Streets reports, that in their opinion it is advisable that the proposed sewer along Second and Ash Streets be made this season, that it may at once be connected with the school privy, and that the construction of the proposed sewer along Third, Broadway and Fourth Streets be deferred until some future time, and tax levied therefor be refunded.

Felix Fournet asked permission to put in a cross-walk across Broadway opposite his building at his own expense.

The following liquor bonds were received and ordered examined by the city attorney:

A. J. Johnson, with W. H. Norrie and George Vine as sureties.

L. M. Bergquist, with John Alderman and B. Sampson.

Hans E. Erickson with G. L. Mattson and Wm. Creighton.

Gaarder & Sundet, with T. O. Sundet and L. I. Benoit.

Duble & Bergstrom with Hans Larson and Julia Walter.

Bergquist & Morberg, with J. J. Ide and L. O. Tonmedahl.

The following applications were received to sell intoxicating liquors: Stuhl & Waterstadt, Bergquist & Morberg, N. Rapin, Gaarder & Sundet. Same were ordered published.

At a regular meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston, held the 9th day of May, 1893, Alderman Anderson offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Norrie:

Resolved, That the sewer be constructed along the centre of Broadway street in the city of Crookston from the middle of Fletcher street to the middle of Loring street and that the city engineer be instructed to make the estimates for the same as required by law and report the same to the city council at first adjourned meeting.

Upon the call of ays and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative: Adderson, Childs, Jennings, Jerome, Marlette, Norrie, Simmons, Watts, Morrisey.

Aldermen voting in the negative: none.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 9th day of May, 1893.

Jas. E. Morrisey,
Vice-President of the Council.

Approved this 11th day of May, 1893.

A. D. Stephens,
Mayor.

Attest: E. C. Carruth, Clerk.

Moved by Alderman Watts, seconded by Alderman Jennings, that the purchasing agent be instructed to dispose of the wood belonging to the city, which is now at the place where the engine stood while pumping out the sewer, to the best interests of the city. Carried.

Chief McKinnon of the fire department presented himself and asked that the city take steps to furnish the department with a supply cart and some other necessary apparatus. On motion the matter was referred to the fire committee.

Bids for doing the city printing and job work were opened.

Bids were received from the Journal, Tribune and Times. On motion the bids were referred to Aldermen Watts, Jennings and Norrie with instructions to report at the next meeting.

Aldermen Anderson, Norrie and Marlette were appointed a committee to assist the city attorney in drawing up an ordinance governing the use of bicycles upon sidewalks.

Moved by Alderman Childs, seconded by Alderman Marlette, that a committee of three be appointed by the chair to confer with the mayor in regard to the appointing of a committee to attend the Reciprocity convention to be held in St. Paul in June. Carried.

Chair appointed as that committee: Aldermen Childs, Jerome and Simmons.

Moved by Alderman Anderson, seconded by Alderman Jerome, that a salary of $300 be voted to the mayor.

Alderman voting in the affirmative: Anderson, Jennings, Jerome, Norrie, Simmons, Watts, Morrisey.

Aldermen voting in the negative: Childs.

Alderman Marlette not voting.

Motion declared carried and salary so fixed.

At a regular meeting of the city council of the city of Crookston, held the 9th day of May, 1893, Alderman Watts offered the following resolution, which was seconded by Alderman Jerome.

Resolved, That the sum of one hundred dollars be transferred from the Improvement Fund to the General Fund for the purpose of paying labor bills allowed against the General Fund.

Upon the call of ays and nays, the vote stood as follows:

Aldermen voting in the affirmative: Anderson, Jennings, Jerome, Marlette, Norrie, Simmons, Watts, Morrisey.

Aldermen voting in the negative: none.

Alderman Childs not voting.

Upon this vote the resolution was declared carried by the president of the council.

Passed this 9th day of May, 1893.

Jas. E. Morrisey,
Vice-President of the Council.

Approved this 11th day of May, 1893.

A. D. Stephens,
Mayor.

Attest: E. C. Carruth, Clerk.

On motion council adjourned.

E. C. Carruth, Clerk.

Rich Red Blood.

As naturally results from taking Hood's Sarsaparilla as personal cleanlines results from free use of soap and water. This great purifier thoroughly expels scrofula, salt rheum and all other impurities and builds up every organ of the body. Now is the time to take it.

The highest praise has been won by Hood's Pills for their easy but efficient action. Sold by all druggists. Price 25 cents.

Advertised Letters.

List of letters remaining unclaimed at the Crookston postoffice for the week ending May 15th, 1893.

Bernier, Joseph
Hunt, M P.
Logen, Peat
Sagon, Anton J.
Forrester, Stephen
Johnson, Lena
Sorenson, Hans C 2
Schjerden, C.

Persons calling for the above letters please say advertised.

Wm. B. Dawley, P. M.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Of the City Treasurer of the City of Crookston for the Year Ending March 31st, 1893.

BALANCE ACCOUNT.

Sinking fund		$736 18
Special sinking fund		432 92
First ward fund		106 94
Second ward fund		234 36
Third ward fund		14 88
Fourth ward fund		266 85
Interest fund		2008 66
Park fund		509 65
Improvement fund		831 85
Poor fund		329 16
Fifth ward fund		367 42
General fund	$903 27
Cash	5025 55
	$5928 82	$5928 82

GENERAL FUND.

1892. April 11	Balance		$1536 68
	By C S Spendley, fines, etc		1348 81
	By liquor licenses		12000 00
	By drays and hacks		215 00
	By interest on daily balances		122 98
	By Ringling's circus		100 00
	By candidates' contribution		120 00
	By Kickapoo medicine		25 00
	By dog licenses		154 00
	By county subscription		300 00
	By shooting gallery		15 00
	By McMann's show		10 00
	By Uncle Tom's show		5 00
	By pedlars' license		5 00
	By Hamlin Bro's, medicines		15 00
	By horse show		10 00
	By merry-go-round		10 00
	By circus		10 00
	By park fund (borrowed)		808 09
	By June settlement		3277 37
	By November settlement		321 58
	By March settlement		3735 56
	By C O Christianson, fines, etc		51 00
			$23191 07
	To orders	$22094 34
	To improvement fund, (borrowed money returned	2000 00
	By balance overdrawn		903 27
		$24094 34	$24094 34

SALOON LICENSES.

Hanson & Johnson	$500 00
Dahle & Bergstrom	500 00
Asselin & Sylvester	500 00
Bergquist & Morberg	500 00
Sundet & Gaarder	500 00
H E Ericson	500 00
E Ralsch	500 00
A Brosseau	500 00
Hoch Bros	500 00
K K Austin	500 00
Henry Burkhardt	500 00
Wilson & Thompson	500 00
M Mercil	500 00
A P Anderson	500 00
Fred Reyer	500 00
J J Molstad	500 00
W Page	500 00
N Rapin	500 00
B Duntley	500 00
Joseph Netzer	500 00
M J Halla	500 00
T. G. Thompson	500 00
F Sargeant	500 00
F Rauch	500 00
	$12000 00

HACK AND DRAY LICENSES.

W H Creighton, dray	$10 00
S L Collins, hack	10 00
E Brosseau, dray	10 00
A Bloom, dray	10 00
Sargeant Bros., dray	10 00
Sargeant Bros., dray	10 00
Sargeant Bros., dray	10 00
Sargeant Bros., hack	10 00
Stone & Columbus, dray	10 00
I Heldstab, dray	10 00
C Bailey dray	10 00
T Young, dray	10 00
T Young, dray	10 00
G Young, dray	10 00
E M Lancaster, hacks	10 00
Job Dougherty, dray	30 00
E Walker, dray	10 00
Cahoon & Lytle, dray	5 00
S Brooker, dray	10 00
—— Arnold, dray	10 00
Bergquist Bros., dray	10 00
	$215 00

FIRST WARD.

1892. April 11	By balance		$245 86
	By June settlement		185 42
	By November settlement		17 22
	By March settlement		98 64
			$547 14
	To orders	$350 20
	To balance	196 94
			$547 14

SECOND WARD:

April 11	By balance		$96 45
	By June settlement		120 98
	By improvement refund		200 00
	By November settlement		15 30
	By March settlement		163 26
			$595 99
	To orders	$361 63
	To balance	234 36
			$595 99

THIRD WARD.

April 11	By balance		$61 65
	By June settlement		60 69
	By November settlement		6 62
	By March settlement		40 70
			$169 66
	To orders	$154 83
	To balance	14 86
			$169 66

FOURTH WARD.

April 11	By balance		$383 76
	By June settlement		141 78
	By November settlement		16 70
	By March settlement		99 37
			$640 61
	To orders	$373 76
	To balance	266 85
			$640 61

FIFTH WARD.

April 11	By balance		$204 58
	By June settlement		69 91
	By November settlement		2 93
	By March settlement		114 54
	By Fifth ward interest		262 70
			$654 61
	To orders	$287 19
	To balance	367 42
			$654 61

POOR FUND.

April 11	By balance		$473 83
	By June settlement		425 60
	By November settlement		49 35
	By March settlement		264 38
			$1218 16
	To orders	$499 12
	To orders committee on poor	384 88
	To balance	329 16
			$1218 16

SINKING FUND.

April 11	By balance	$343 61
	By June settlement	189 62
	By November settlement	21 53
	By March settlement	181 42
		$736 18

SEWER FUND.

April 11	By balance		$385 90
	By June settlement		31 05
			$416 95
	To refund to Co. Treasurer per H Nolan	$22 50
	To balance lent improvement fund	394 45
			$416 95

FIREMEN'S RELIEF FUND.

April 11	By balance		$86 25
Aug. 9	By remittance from State Auditor		152 82
			$239 07
	To fire department order 2,849	$239 07

SPECIAL SINKING FUND.

April 11	By balance		$1908 56
	By June settlement		73 76
	By November settlement		11 44
	By March settlement		18 47
			$2012 23
	To sinking fund com's to take up due bill	$300 00
	To sinking fund com's to take up due bill	279 51
	To balance	432 92
			$2012 23

FIFTH WARD INTEREST FUND.

April 11	By balance		$262 70
	To Fifth ward fund, transferred	$262 70

INTEREST FUND.

April 11	By balance		$2440 80
	By June settlement		2603 89
	To November settlement		293 86
	To March settlement		2215 46
			$7552 51
May	To Hanover Nat. Bank, N. Y. for int. on bonds	$1120 00
June	To Nat. Park Bank, N. Y. for int. on bonds	2310 00
Aug	To Hanover Nat. Bank, N. Y. for int. on bonds	2100 00
	To commission paid to banks	13 85
	To Balance	208 66
			$7552 51

PARK FUND.

By June settlement	$759 70
By November settlement	48 39
By March settlement	509 65
	$1312 74
To general fund, loan	803 09
To balance	$509 65

GENERAL FUND ORDERS.

Apl	2439	L Gonyea, March salary	$75 00
	2440	D A Robinson, March salary	55 00
	2441	A J Ellingbo, March salary	55 00
	2442	G A Ralph, March salary	25 00
	2443	D F McDonald, March salary	25 00
	2444	M O'Brien, March salary	25 00
	2445	E M Walsh, March salary	25 00
	2446	L C Couvrette, March salary	25 00
	2447	E Ruckhaber, March salary	25 00
	2448	A McKinnon, March salary	10 00
	2449	E C Carruth, March salary	33 33
	2450	Fontaine & Anglim, mdse	11 09
	2451	Aldermen's salaries	74 00
	2452	H A Mason, rent room for elect'n	10 00
	2453	J E O'Brien & Co., hardware	19 65
	2454	C S Spendley, justice fees	1 90
	2455	J H McGlogan, judge of election	9 00
	2456	F Jerome, rent for election	11 00
	2457	E Munn, judge of election	3 00
	2458	E C Carruth, stationery and ballots for election	22 75
	2459	A C Schmidt, judge of election	6 00
	2460	H E Cooke, printing	12 40
	2461	John Carter, constable at elect'n	2 00
	2462	V D Carruth, clerk of election	3 00
	2463	S L Collins, judge of election	9 00
	2464	L E Gossman, clerk of election	3 00
	2465	E A Childs, clerk of election	9 00
	2466	W J Bivins, clerk of election	6 00
	2467	H E Stansbury, clerk of election	3 00
	2468	C H Mix, judge of election	9 00
	2469	E M Walsh, clerk of election	3 00
	2470	M Lally, judge of election	3 00
	2471	M Losey, judge of election	3 00
	2472	E P Bancroft, clerk of election	3 00
	2473	W E Walker, sign for maps	2 50
	2474	G O Buhn, repairing	8 65
	2475	Ireson & Rolstad, meals to pris'n's	8 10
	2476	W E McKenzie, record for city	15 80
	2479	O Vian, attending fire apparatus Fifth ward	50 00
	2480	C E Dampier, med attendance	10 00
	2481	H E Cooke, printing	26 40
	2482	W E McKenzie, job work	10 00
	2483	J H McGlogan, electric bell	5 00
	2484	Crookston Fire Dept, attendance at fire Jan 18th, 1892	41 00
	2485	Same, Dec 22d, 1891	89 00
	2486	C E Dampier, med attendance	6 00
	2487	G H Holt, special police	2 00
	2488	H A Stone, clerk of election	3 00
	2489	Crookston Fire Dept., account fire apparatus	4 00
	2490	Crookston fire apparatus	6 00
	2491	Crookston Fire Dept., fires	54 00
	2493	Ole Ingebretson, team at Walker's fire	8 00
	2494	G Ralph, type writing ordinances	3 00
	2495	E M Lancaster, use of hack	28 75
	2496	McKinnon Bros., coal	61 80
	2503	D F McDonald, labor	31 50
	2504	M E Farwell, clerk of election	9 00
	2505	G O Buhn, judge of election	9 00
	2506	C E Dampier, med attendance	6 00
	2507	Cahoon & Lytle, drayage	50
May	2508	L Gonyea, April salary	80 00
	2509	D A Robinson, " "	60 00
	2510	H N Tweten, " "	30 00
	2511	G A Ralph, " "	29 10
	2512	D F McDonald, " "	25 00
	2513	M O'Brien " "	25 00
	2514	E M Walsh, " "	25 03
	2515	L C Couvrette, " "	25 02
	2516	E Ruckhaber, " "	5 13
	2517	P Connors, " "	12 62
	2518	Wm Anglim, " "	10 00
	2519	E C Carruth, " "	33 33
	2526	M O'Brien, disbursemens	41 74
	2527	H E Cooke, printing	83 40
	2528	Arne Grundysen, Sheriff's fees	8 05
	2529	I U Jennings, judge of election	9 00
	2530	L H Walker, " "	3 00
	2531	F Gravel, clerk of election	3 00
	2532	J A Bemis, rent of room	5 00
	2553	R G Marlette, judge of election	9 00
	2534	I C Stewart, " "	9 00
	2535	M O Saterdahl, clerk of election	3 00
	2536	M O'Brien, balance on salary	10 68
	2537	D F McDonald, labor	21 00
	2540	A J Ellingbo, 4 days in April	7 32
	2541	L Fontaine, clerk of election	9 00
	2542	C E Dampier, med attendance	8 00
	2543	Louis Boisvert, asst engineer	7 00
	2544	J E O'Brien & Co., hardware	9 35
	2545	A Grundysen, burying dead animals	12 00
Jun	2546	Louis Gonyea, May salary	80 00
	2547	D A Robinson, " "	60 00
	2548	H N Tweten, " "	60 00
	2569	G A Ralph, " "	29 16
	2550	D F McDonald, " "	25 00
	2551	M O'Brien, " "	41 66
	2552	E M Walsh' " "	25 00
	2553	L C Couvrette, " "	25 00
	2554	Wm Anglim, " "	10 00
	2555	E C Carruth, " "	33 33
	2556	W F Arnold, assessor's fees	150 00
	2560	L Godbout repairing pump	1 00
	2561	H N Tweten, special police	8 00
	2562	C P Cahoon, drayage	50
	2563	M O'Brien, printing	15 95
	2564	Mosseein & Lindell, police uniforms	114 00
	2565	M H Iveson, meals	22 00
	2566	D F McDonald, labor	31 75
	2567	D F McDonald, labor	52 75
	2570	Louis Boisvert, asst. engineer	5 00
	2571	Cooke & Hammond, printing	5 80
	2572	H E Cooke, printing	13 10
	2573	E D Childs & Co., rent for elect'n	5 00
	2574	L Boisvert, asst engineer	12 00
	2580	Louis Gross, killing dogs	29 50
	2581	Wm Anglim, mayor's salary	500 00
	2582	Wm Anglim, salary as purchasing agent	300 00
	2583	Wm Anglim, freight on monuments	21 60
July	2584	L Gonyea, June salary	80 00
	2585	D A Robinson, " "	60 00
	2586	H N Tweten, " "	60 00
	2587	G A Ralph, " "	29 16
	2583	D F McDonald, " "	25 00
	2589	Martin O'Brien " "	41 66
	2590	E M Walsh, " "	25 00
	2591	L C Couvrette, " "	25 00
	2592	Wm Anglim, " "	10 00
	2593	P Connors, " "	20 00
	2594	E C Carruth, " "	33 33
	2595	A Grundysen, sheriff's fees	27 36
	2597	Levi Ladecke clearing and fencing dumping ground	34 00
	2598	Fontaine & Anglim, mdse	54 60
	2599	Cooke & Hammond, printing	10 50
	2600	Cooke & Hammond, printing	33 25
	2601	Louis Boisvert, ast'g engineer	22 00
	2602	Ole Martinson, special police	4 00
	2603	A W Raymond, special police	6 00
	2604	C H Jefferson, cement	2 00
	2605	O Ducharme, jailor	8 00
	2606	J A Kyle, special police	8 00
	2607	O Paulsrud, special police	8 00
	2608	Crookston W W P & L Co. rent of hydrants for 6 months ending June 30th	2020 00
	2609	F Creamer, special police	8 00
	2610	F Creamer, special police	4 00
	2611	E Gross, special police	12 00
	2612	B B Ralph, as't city engineer	17 00
	2618	Wm R Lame, ass't city engineer	4 00
	2614	H A Mason, mdse	4 55
	2615	Geo Young, burying dogs	7 50
	2616	C E Dampier, med attendance	14 00
	2617	Chas Duval, special police	2 60
	2618	Geo Vine, " "	8 00
	2619	" "	4 00
	2620	Ole Bjoin, livery	20 75
	2622	Geo Young hauling lumber	5 25
	2628	D F McDonald, labor	28 38
	2629	W E McKenzie, stationery and printing	17 45
	2630	W F Arnold, in full for assessor	150 00
	2631	Crookston W W. P & L Co. electric light	1506 77
	2632	Fontaine & Anglim, decoration	12 25
	2634	J Nevins & Sons, granite workers	33 60
Aug	2635	Louis Gonyea July salary	80 00
	2636	D A Robinson, " "	86 00
	2637	H N Tweten, " "	60 00
	2638	G A Ralph, " "	29 16
	2639	D F McDonald, " "	25 00
	2640	E M Walsh, " "	25 00
	2641	L C Couvrette. " "	25 00
	2642	M O'Brien, " "	41 66
	2843	Wm Anglim, " "	10 00
	2644	E C Carruth, " "	33 33
	2645	Aldermen's salaries	232 00
	2647	C S Spendley, justice fees	17 20
	2852	D F McDonald, labor	43 50
	2653	Louis Boisvert, assist'g engineer	8 00
	2654	Emond & Vian, repairs	11 25
	2655	Munn Brothers, repairs	2 00
	2657	M O'Brien, stationery	2 25
	2658	L D Marshall, equilization board	9 00
	2663	E C Carruth, filing deeds	2 25
	2664	O Vian, fire apparatus, 5th ward	25 00
	2667	J E O'Brien & Co., hardware	46 34
	2668	A C Cowing, hardware	20 70
	2669	" wire	9 16
	2670	Ben Ralph, assisting engineer	25 00
	2671	Wm Marsh, " "	29 00
	2672	O Hinds, " "	15 00
	2673	C E Dampier, med attendance	6 00
	2674	Rasmussen & Frankenfeld, hardware	16 80
	2677	D A Robinson, bal salary	24 00
Sep	2680	L Gonyea, August salary	80 00
	2681	D A Robinson, " "	60 00
	2682	H N Tweten, " "	60 00
	2683	G A Ralph, " "	29 16
	2684	D F McDonald, " "	25 00
	2685	J Dainard, " "	60 00
	2686	E M Walsh " "	25 00
	2687	L C Couvrette, " "	25 00
	2688	M O'Brien, " "	41 66
	2689	Wm Anglim, " "	10 00
	2690	E C Carruth, " "	33 33
	2691	Ben Pierce, " "	20 00
	2695	A C Wilkinson, brief on contract	150 00
	2696	Chas Vine, meat to dogs	5 65
	2697	E Ross, assist'g city engineer	30 00
	2698	Cooke & Hammond, printing	16 40
	2699	A C Schmidt painting	20 80
	2700	Christianson Bros., insurance	15 00
	2701	Wm Marin, labor and lumber	67 70
	2702	Louis Rivard, plastering	16 00
	2703	A C Schmidt, painting	7 95
	2706	Carl F Schmidt, labor	7 00
	2707	Geo A Ralph, chain for engineer	12 80
	2708	W E McKenzie, advertising	10 40
	2709	Ralstad & Ralston, meals to pris.	42 30
	2710	Ralstad & Engen, " "	7 85
	2711	E Rolsch, lumber	1 80
	2712	W W Marsh, ast'g city engineer	46 00
	2713	W D Stoner, assist. engineer	25 00
	2714	O Hinds, labor	9 00
	2715	C E Dampier, medical attendance	6 00
	2721	D. F. McDonald, labor	51 62
Oct.	2724	L Gonyea, September Salary	80 00
	2725	D A Robinson, " "	60 00
	2726	H N Tweten, " "	60 00
	2727	Geo. Ralph, " "	29 16
	2728	D F McDonald, " "	25 00
	2729	E M Walsh, " "	25 00
	2770	L C Couvrette, " "	25 00
	2731	M O'Brien, " "	41 66
	2732	W Anglim, " "	10 00
	2733	E C Carruth, " "	33 33
	2734	B Pierce, " "	20 00
	2735	John Dainard, " "	60 00
	2737	J R McKinnon, labor on dump	14 60
	2739	D F McDonald, labor	93 62
	2740	C S Spendley, justice fees	8 80
	2741	" " "	5 70
	2742	" " "	5 70
	2743	" " "	5 70
	2744	" " "	3 80
	2745	" " "	5 70
	2746	Emil Moeckel, assist. city engineer	9 00
	2747	O H Mortinson, special police	10 00
	2748	Cahoon & Lytle, drayage	1 50
	2749	Ben Ralph, assist. engineer	13 00
	2750	M D Stoner, " "	17 00
	2752	Rolstad & Engen, meals to prisoners	10 00
	2753	Crookston fire department, fires	97 00
	2754	Geo. O Buhn, repairing	1 50
	2755	C E Dampier, medical attendance	6 00
	2760	E Ross, assist. engineer	10 00
Nov.	2763	L Gonyea, October Salary	80 00
	2764	D A Robinson, " "	60 00
	2765	H N Tweten, " "	60 00
	2766	Geo. Ralph, " "	29 16
	2767	D F McDonald, " "	25 00
	2768	E M Walsh, " "	25 00
	2769	L C Couvrette, " "	25 00
	2770	M O'Brien, " "	41 66
	2771	Wm. Anglim, " "	10 00
	2772	E C Carruth, " "	33 33
	2773	Ben Pierce, " "	20 00
	2774	J Dainard, " "	60 00
	2775	Fire department, fires	54 00
	2776	Fire department, fires	104 00
	2777	G Halvorson, lunches firemen	5 00
	2778	Rolstad & Engen, meals to prisoners	24 25
	2779	D. F. McDonald, labor	58 57
	2780	M D Stoner, map	8 00
	2787	A J & A McKinnon, repairs	58 00
	2788	J Monroe, judge of election	15 00
	2789	R G Marlette, " "	9 00
	2790	W Watts, " "	9 00
	2795	Cooke & Hamm[illegible]ng	31 45
	2796	O H Bjoin, [illegible]	15 00
	2801	J E O'Brien & Co[illegible]re	19 55
	2802	O Vian, valve	3 00
	2803	W E McKenzie, stationery	11 45
	2804	Jas. McKenzie, rent	9 00
	2805	E C Carruth, labor	16 25
	2806	E Ross, assist. engineer	21 00
	2807	J E Fisk, judge of election	15 00
	2808	E M Walsh " "	15 00
	2812	E G Storaasli, " "	9 00
	2813	J F Creamer, " "	15 00
	2814	F Bivins, " "	9 00
	2815	F Jerome, rent	11 00
	2816	Fontaine & Anglim, merchandise	45 53
	2817	H Wilson, labor	3 00
	2818	J E Morrisey, judge of election	21 00
	2819	H A Stone, " "	9 00
	2820	Jas. Greenhalgh, " "	12 00
	2821	I N Simmons, " "	15 00
	2822	A J & A McKinnon, repairs	9 00
	2823	E. P. Bancroft, clerk	3 00
	2824	C E Dampier, medical attendance	2 00
	2825	W F Hitchcock, clerk	9 00
	2826	J Ward, clerk	6 00
	2827	Brown, Treacy & Co., booths and boxes	119 00
	2831	L Fontaine, judge of election	15 00
	2832	W Marin, " "	15 00
	2833	W F Arnold, clerk	9 00
	2834	Fontaine & Anglim, freight	12 24
Dec.	2835	Louis Gonyea, Nov. Salary	80 00
	2837	D A Robinson, " "	60 00
	2838	H N Tweten, " "	60 00
	2839	John Dainard, " "	60 00
	2840	G Ralph, " "	29 16
	2841	D F McDonald, " "	25 00
	2842	E M Walsh, " "	25 00
	2843	L C Couvrette, " "	25 00
	2844	M O'Brien, " "	41 66
	2845	W Anglim, " "	10 00
	2846	B Pierce, " "	20 00
	2847	E C Carruth, " "	33 33
	2852	J E O'Brien & Co., hardware	6 23
	2853	W E Kelsey clerk	6 00
	2854	W E McKenzie, clerk	6 00
	2855	W E Walker, merchandise	22 45
	2856	M R Brown, judge of election	12 00
	2857	Geo. Vine, judge of election	9 00
	2858	Geo C Wilde, clerk	3 00
	2859	Crane Co., water mains	25 65
	2860	Sylvester & Finseth, hardware	4 69
	2861	C Anderson, repairing plow	3 50
	2863	McKinnon Bros., coal	57 87
	2864	N P Stone, wood	3 00
	2865	J Heldstad, draying	14 50
	2866	Thos. Young, drayage	10 25
	2867	Thos. Young, labor	2 50
	2868	Priester & Co., wood	25 25
	2869	C T Schmidt labor	2 25
	2870	Cooke & Hammond, printing	14 50
	2871	Engen Evertson, meals prisoners	9 00
	2872	Red River Lumber Company, lumber	33 82
	2383	G W Banks, labor	27 50
	2881	D F McDonald, labor	16 12
	2884	D F McDonald, labor	59 00
	2885	O Hinds, assist city engineer	5 00
	2886	R Kittleson, labor	23 43
	2887	E D Childs, repairing well 5th Ward	11 44
	2888	W Anglim, freight	2 22
Jan.	2889	L Gonyea, Dec. Salary	80 00
	2890	D A Robinson, " "	60 00
	2891	H N Tweten, " "	60 00
	2892	John Dainard, " "	60 00
	2893	Geo. Ralph, " "	29 16
	2894	D F McDonald, " "	25 00
	2895	E M Walsh, " "	25 00
	2896	L C Couvrette, " "	25 00
	2897	M O'Brien, " "	41 66
	2898	W Anglim, " "	10 00
	2899	B Pierce, " "	20 00
	2900	E C Carruth, " "	33 33
	2901	Sylvester & Finseth, coal and hardware	10 75
	2903	E C Carruth, aldermen's salaries	228 00
	2904	D F McDonald, labor	107 87
	2909	E C Carruth, rent	8 00
	2910	Diebold Safe & Lock Co., 6 lockers	80 00
	2911	C S Spendley, justice fees	3 80
	2912	" " "	3 80
	2913	" " "	3 80
	2914	" " "	3 80
	2915	Sargent Bros., dray and freight	21 50
	2916	J E Greenhalgh, labor	44 00
	2917	Geo Castle, wood	183 00
	2918	D F McDonald, labor	28 00
	2919	Robinson & Carey, merchandise	199 82
	2920	Fire department, fires	128 00
	2921	" " "	109 00
	2922	M O'Brien, expenses to St. Paul	24 00
	2923	Engen & Evertson, meals to prisoners	7 15
	2924	Arries & Lancaster, hack hire	14 50
	2925	Cooke & Hammond, printing	7 50
	2926	Munn & Ellistrault, merchandise	2 75
	2927	Sargent Bros., drayage	10 25
	2928	D F McDonald, labor	121 74
	2929	J E Morrisey, merchandise	28 72
	2930	D F McDonald, labor	136 00
Feb	2931	L Gonyea, Jan. Salary	80 00
	2932	D A Robinson, " "	60 00
	2933	H N Tweten, " "	60 00
	2934	J Dainard, " "	60 00
	2935	G Ralph, " "	29 16
	2936	D F McDonald, " "	25 00

(CONTINUED ON PAGE 5.)

LOUIS D. VANDERVERE,
One of the best-known business men in Chicago, representative of the great Bradstreet Co.

HEADACHE, SLEEPLESSNESS, NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Gentlemen: I take pleasure in informing you of the very beneficial results which have followed the use of DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE in the case of myself and wife. For a year I was subject to a distressing pain at the base of the brain and upper portion of the spinal cord. I lost flesh and was greatly troubled with sleeplessness. Your Nervine was highly recommended to me. My case had been so obstinate that I had no confidence in the efficacy of any medicine. Yet as a last resort I consented to give it a trial. Much to my surprise, I experienced marked benefit; my sleeplessness disappeared; my headache was removed; my spirits and general health greatly improved. I soon gained twenty pounds. All this occurred after learned and well known physicians had failed. My wife is taking the Nervine with the best of results. LOUIS D. VANDERVERE.

CURED THOUSANDS

SOLD ON A POSITIVE GUARANTEE

TRY DR. MILES' PILLS, 50 DOSES 25 CTS.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure at Druggists.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE
The Great English Remedy.

Before and After.

Promptly and permanently cures all forms of Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhea, Impotency and all effects of Abuse or Excesses. Been prescribed over 35 years in thousands of cases; is the only Reliable and Honest Medicine known. Ask druggist for WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE; if he offers some worthless medicine in place of this, leave his dishonest store, inclose price in letter, and we will send by return mail. Price, one package, $1; six, $5. One will please, six will cure. Pamphlet in plain sealed envelope, 2 stamps. Address THE WOOD CHEMICAL CO., 131 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.

Sold at Crookston by A. G. Anderson, A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound

Cook's Cotton Root COMPOUND.

A recent discovery by an old physician. Successfully used monthly by thousands of Ladies. Is the only perfectly safe and reliable medicine discovered. Beware of unprincipled druggists who offer inferior medicines in place of this. Ask for COOK'S COTTON ROOT COMPOUND, take no substitute, or inclose $1 and 6 cents in postage in letter, and we will send, sealed, by return mail. Full sealed particulars in plain envelope, to ladies only, 2 stamps. Address Pond Lily Company, No. 3 Fisher Block, Detroit, Mich.

Sold at Crookston by A. C. Anderson, S. A. Wallace, F. L. Durand and druggists everywhere

Scientific American Agency for

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

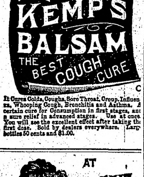
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.



AT BEDTIME I TAKE A PLEASANT HERB DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

LANE'S MEDICINE

All druggists sell it at 50c. and $1.00 a package. If you cannot get it, send your address for free sample. Lane's Family Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy, this is necessary. Address, ORATOR F. WOODWARD, LeROY, N. Y.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

First publication May 11th, 1893.
Last publication June 22d, 1893.

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE IN the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Lottie Larson and Ole E. Larson, her husband, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 28th day of August, A. D. 1889, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 6th, day of September, A. D. 1889, at 9:35 o'clock A. M., in Book 47 of Mortgages, on page 38.

Whereas, such default consists of the failure to pay the following installments of interest, to-wit: $12.75 that became due November 1, 1890; $12.75 that became due May 1, 1891; $12.75 that became due November 1, 1891; $12.75 that became due May 1, 1892, and $12.75 that became due November 1, 1892.

And whereas, the said Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, holder of said mortgage has elected to declare, and hereby does declare, the whole principal sums in said mortgage set forth due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default, the following sum to-wit: Five hundred, eleven and 10-100 ($511 10-100) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter (SW¼) of section eleven (11) township one hundred fifty-three (153) range forty-four (44) containing 160 acres more or less according to the government survey thereof, all of said premises situate and being in the county of Polk, State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five (25) dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk County, at the front door of the court house, in the City of Crookston, in said County and State, on the 26th day of June, A. D. 1892, at 10 o'clock A. M., of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 27th, A. D. 1893.
NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
[4-10] N. G. 147.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

First publication May 11th, 1893.
Last publication June 22d, 1893.

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Anson Bancroft and Ann Eliza Bancroft, his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 14th day of December, A. D. 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Polk and State of Minnesota, on the 20th day of December, A. D. 1887, at 9:30 o'clock A. M., in Book 33 of Mortgages, on page 410.

Whereas such default consists of the failure to pay a certain installment of interest when due and the principal sum, $900, that became due December 14th, 1892.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum to-wit: Nine hundred, fifty-six and 30-100 ($956 30-100) dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said Mortgage, viz: The northwest quarter (NW¼) of section twenty-four (24) township one hundred forty-eight (148) range forty-seven (47) containing 160 acres, more or less, according to the government survey thereof, all of said premises situate and being in the county of Polk and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty (50) dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Crookston, in said county and State, on the 26th day of June, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock A. M., of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law

Dated April 27th, A. D. 1893.
NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
[4-10] N. G. 152.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale.

First publication May 11th, 1893.
Last publication June 22d, 1893.

WHEREAS, DEFAULT HAS BEEN MADE in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by John Baumann and Josephine A. Baumann, his wife, mortgagors, to Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company, mortgagee, bearing date the 30th day of July A. D. 1886, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, on the 2d day of August, A. D. 1886, at 10 o'clock a. m. in book 25 of mortgages, on pages 150 to 153:

Whereas such default consists in the failure to pay certain installments of interest when due and the principal sum, $600, that became due July 30th, 1891.

And whereas there is actually due and payable at the date hereof upon the premises in said mortgage described upon which there is default the following sum, to-wit: Seven hundred twenty-one and 25.100 (721.25-100) dollars; and whereas the said power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter (sw¼), Section four (4), Township one hundred forty-seven (147), Range forty-five (45), containing 160 acres; more or less, according to the government survey thereof, all of said premises situate and being in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty (50) dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Polk county, at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Crookston, in said county and state, on the 26th day of June, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated April 27th, A. D. 1893.
NORTHWESTERN GUARANTY LOAN COMPANY,
Mortgagee.

S. M. HOUGHTON,
Attorney for Mortgagee. [4-10] (N. G. 150)

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, county of Polk,—ss. In Probate Court, special term, April 21st, 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Charles W. Wright, deceased:

On reading and filing the petition of A. M. Childs administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Charles W. Wright, deceased representing among other things, that he has fully administered said estate and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

It is ordered, that said account be examined, and petition heard by this court on Monday the 22nd day of May, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate office in the city of Crookston in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested; by publishing a copy of this order, once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 21st day of April A. D. 1893.

By the Court,
C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.
(2-5)

RELICS OF COLUMBUS

To Be Seen at the World's Columbian Exposition.

ANCIENT CONVENT OF LA RABIDA.

It Is Reproduced in Exact Size at the World's Fair and Is an Object of Special Interest to Visitors—Homage Paid to Columbus in the Way of Statuary.

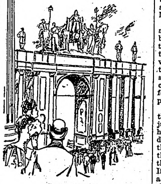
WORLD'S FAIR, May 15.—[Special.]—If Christopher Columbus could return to earth and pass a day in Jackson park he would forgive those ungrateful countrymen of his who put him in chains and the ungenerous world which was so slow in acknowledging his unparalleled service to civilization. Not only is this great exposition named after the discoverer, and held to commemorate the fourth centenary of his momentous voyage, but his spirit dominates everything; it is to him that these moderns turn in adoration and praise with their paint brush and modeling tool, their painting and statuary. It is indeed the Columbian fair. Pleasant indeed to the eyes of the Duke of Veragua must have been these manifestations of homage to his great ancestor.

When the visitor who comes by elevated railway or excursion train leaves the magnificent terminal station and first casts his eager glance about the White City, his attention is at once attracted by the golden models of the caravels which brought Columbus to these shores, now poised high in the air at the top of enormous poles in the court surrounding the crown-like Administration building. Gaily they ride the breezes or the gales on their lofty perches, reminding the visitor at the very outset of the historical event in whose honor this whole enterprise was conceived. From other poles fly the yellow and black banners of Castile and Aragon, the principalities which formed their union in royal Ferdinand and Isabella and thus prepared the way for Columbus and his guest in the service of those sovereigns. In front of the Administration building stands a statue of Columbus upon a lofty pedestal, in the proudest spot of the great central court whose beauty all the world will soon be praising.

Chicago, in her eagerness to build, conquer, attract and profit has by no means forgotten Columbus. She is grateful if Spain were not. In the most conspicuous public plaza of the central part of the city of Chicago, in the "lake front" park which was originally designed to be the site of this exposition, directly in front of the famous Auditorium, stands a bronze Columbus unveiled two weeks ago. It was the work of a successful American sculptor, Howard Kretchmar, and its cost was defrayed by the municipality and the management of the exposition jointly. In front of Chicago's city hall stands a handsome drinking fountain named for Columbus and ornamented with another statue of the discoverer.

Returning now to the exposition, the sculptured or painted Columbus is seen on every hand. His bust is in niche, his portrait in art hall, his full figure reproduced in marble, or his discovery portrayed in mural painting. Columbus is a favorite theme with artists from all over the world—the nations vie in rendering him homage.

At the most impressive portal of the exposition, the water entrance, stands still another Columbus. Crowning the noble Columbian arch of the peristyle, surrounded by heroic figures typical of the races of man, is the Quadriga, already known far and near as one of the most beautiful art creations in the exposition. He is here represented as riding in the chariot of a conqueror drawn by four horses, each animal led by a goddess. Victory, history, art and industry join to lead Columbus in triumph back to the world which his faith and daring brought within the domain of civilization. It was a beautiful conception and has been splendidly executed.



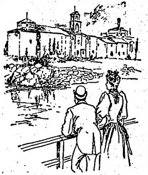
THE QUADRIGA.

Within gunshot of the Quadriga stands one of the most interesting structures in this aggregation of the marvelous. It is the Convent of La Rabida, reproduced here in a full-sized and accurate model. So well has the work been done that at first glance travelers who have visited Spain are startled at what seems to them to be the old convent itself transplanted by some modern legerdemain from its rocky home in Spain to the shore of Lake Michigan. It stands just south of the great pier and east of the Agricultural building, occupying a little corner of its own where it was believed it would be comparatively safe from harm by fire should the disaster of a general conflagration ever overtake the World's fair. This precaution was taken on account of the precious nature of the Columbus relics and documents which the convent is the repository. The same anxiety to guard against accident led the United States authorities to promise Spain that if the precious relics were sent across the sea they should be guarded by military—a promise that has been faithfully kept and night or day Uncle Sam's blue-coats patrol the ancient structure, indoors and out.

La Rabida has a history not less stormy than that of Columbus himself. According to tradition it was built in the halcyon days of Rome to commemorate the virtues of a daughter of the Emperor Trajan, and it was for a long time a noted retreat of criminals or persecuted persons fleeing for life. Once a year two maidens were sacrificed on the altar, and from an examination of their entrails the soothsayers were able to foretell famine, war or pestilence. It was in time a Christian church, a Moslem mosque, and a chapter-house of the Knights Templar. In the present century it degenerated into a resort for gypsies, beggars and all sorts of vagrants and wanderers. Finally it became a sort of sheep-fold, and was not restored to its present state of good preservation till the Queen Dowager of France, visiting it forty years ago, started a subscription list for its redemption.

Four hundred and eight years ago occurred the most memorable event in the history of the ancient monastery. Columbus and his son Diego, then nine years old, paused before its walls. They were weary and hungry, and the boy fainted at the door. Juan Perez, the prior, gave them shelter, and becoming interested in his guest's project of a western passage to Cipango lent him assistance in obtaining audience at court. The visit of Columbus to Rabida was a crisis in his career and in the history of the world, and therefore appropriate it is that a model of the monastery should serve here as a sort of Columbian museum.

No visitor will want to leave the World's fair without seeing these relics. It is surprising that so many souvenirs of the discoverer could have been gathered together at this late day. The anchor which Columbus says he lost in the harbor of San Domingo, and which was afterward recovered from the ocean bed, is here. During one of his first voyages Columbus founded in the West Indies the first American city and named it Isabella. The United States government sent a commission to look up the site of Isabella, restore as much of it as might be possible, and reproduce the whole at the fair. There was little difficulty in finding the site, but there were no remains of sufficient form or interest to be worth restoration or reproduction. Nothing was found but the foundations of a few rude stone walls, and these were in a sadly scattered condition. Some of these stones were brought away and may be seen in Rabida—mute witnesses of the first known efforts of Europeans to construct a town in the western world.



THE CONVENT OF LA RABIDA.

There are many other relics of Columbus, among them a bell which he brought from Spain to hang in a chapel he proposed building at Isabella, a stone anchor of the sort used in boats, autograph letters written by the discoverer, armor, equipments and articles of personal use. An assortment of the trinkets used by him in his barter with the Indians is not without interest. These are beads, knives, nails, mirrors, cloths and coins. There are models of the house in which he died, and of the coffin in which his remains are now believed to repose in the cathedral at Santo Domingo. A report was published a few days ago that an attempt had been made to steal the remains of Columbus from Rabida, but this was an obvious error, for the remains of Columbus are not at the exposition and no pretense has ever been made that they are here.

There is a model of the house in which Columbus was born, and a series of pictures representing every important incident of his career. Among these, in striking contrast, are the scene of Columbus' appearance before the royal court on his triumphant return from the discovery, and the same Columbus returning from a later voyage in chains.

In another part of the convent is shown a fac simile of the room in which Columbus and his son rested on the occasion of their memorable visit in 1485. Near by are the cells which the monks occupied, their walls artfully discolored in imitation of the stains of antiquity. The illusion is somewhat marred by the use to which the cells are now put; they are sleeping rooms for the soldiers who stand guard over these precious relics.

If any one wishes to select for himself the portrait of Columbus which in his judgment is most likely to be the true one, he may do so from an array of half a hundred aspirants. As is well known, no authenticated portrait of Columbus exists, though in favor of one or two paintings there is strong circumstantial evidence. If one could discover in some Spanish ruin a portrait of Columbus about whose authenticity there was no lingering doubt, he could consider his fortune made, for probably he could sell it for half a million dollars. The chances are that if such a discovery were made and the painting brought to Chicago it would never be suffered to leave. If money could buy it, in Chicago it would remain.

Even now there is discussion of a proposed temple to the memory of Columbus to be erected in Chicago, either on the site of the present exposition or elsewhere in the city. The designs for the temple have been prepared in Italy, and photographs of them are now in Chicago. If erected it will at once take rank as one of the most beautiful structures in the world. It will be a marble colonnade of chaste design, and in and about it the progressive story of Columbus' great career will be told in a series of sculptured figures. This temple will not be erected till after the exposition shall have closed. While not much is known as yet as to the plans of its projector, it is believed the beautiful memorial will be presented to Chicago by King Humbert of Italy as a mark of the pride felt in the discoverer's fame by the land of which he was a native.

ROBERT GRAVES.

Viking Ship En Route.

Twelve hardy Norwegian sailors under an experienced navigator are now piloting across the Atlantic a reproduction of the Viking ship of old, the peculiar craft in which the warlike Norsemen gained naval renown. The vessel is designed for exhibition at the World's fair, and will come to Chicago by way of the Erie canal and the lakes. She is an exact copy of an old ship literally unearthed in Norway, when an inquisitive native, being anxious to discover the contents of a mound, dug it up, and brought to light the rotting hull of a Viking ship, with the armor-clad skeleton of its owner on the inside. The warrior had been buried with his warship and the find interested all Europe. The Norwegian government has had the navigable copy made and the movement to send the ship to Chicago proved very popular in Norway.

Women
Will Vote

as usual at the next school election—but for many candidates. They give a unanimous vote—every day in the week—in favor of

KIRK'S
WHITE RUSSIAN
SOAP

because they know it has no equal as a labor and temper saver on wash-day. The "White Russian" is a great soap to use in hard or alkali water. Does not roughen or injure the hands—is perfectly safe to use on the finest fabrics.

JAS. S. KIRK & CO., Chicago.

Dusky Diamond Tar Soap. Makes the Skin Soft and Smooth.

MILLER & FOOTE,
ATTY'S-AT-LAW,
McKinnon Block. - Crookston, Minn.

H. STEENERSON
ATTORNEY AT LAW
CROOKSTON. - MINNESOTA

L. E. GOSSMAN,
Attorney-at-Law,
No. 2 Fournet Block } CROOKSTON, MINN.

W. A. ROBERTSON
D. D. S.
Graduate of Dental Department of the University of Maryland.
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL
DENTIST.
N. B. Nitrous Oxide Gas, (Laughing Gas) administered for the painless extraction of teeth.
OFFICE, IN McKINNON BLOCK.

A. H. DUNLAP, M. D.
Graduate McGill University, Montreal.
LICENSED COLLEGE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS. QUEBEC.
Office in McKinnon Block.

G. G. HENAULT
Practical Dentist,
SECOND STREET,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN
OFFICE IN DOBSON'S BLOCK,
☞ All work in my line skilfully and promptly performed. Give me a call.
G. G. HENAULT.

P. J. RUSSELL,
Attorney-at-Law
CROOKSTON, MINN.
Next to Merchants' Bank.

M. LeGUEE.
Veterinary Surgeon.
Residence and office on Jerome's Addition.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

JOHN CROMB.
Attorney-at-Law.
SECOND STREET. CROOKSTON

MARTIN O'BRIEN,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
{ I. O. O. F. BUILDING. } Crookston. Minn.

"In no way can Americans so effectively inform themselves on the subjects that claim public attention from one month to another as by reading the North American Review."

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

THE TOPICS are always those which are uppermost in the public mind—in morals, politics, science, literature, business, finance, industrial economy, social and municipal affairs, etc.—in short all subjects on which Americans require and desire to be informed. No magazine follows so closely from month to month the course of public interest. All subjects are treated of impartially on both sides.

THE CONTRIBUTORS to the Review are the men and women to whom the world looks for the most authoritative statements on the subjects of the day. No other periodical can point to such a succession of distinguished writers. The list is a roll of the people who are making the history, controlling the affairs, and leading the opinion of the age, such as Mr. Gladstone, the Prime Minister of England, Mr. Blaine, Signor Crispi, Ex-Prime Minister of Italy, Baron Hirsch, H. R. H. the Count of Paris, Cardinal Gibbons, Bishops Potter, Doane, Mallelieu, Foss, etc., etc.

THE TIME when these subjects are treated of by these contributors is the very time when the subjects are in the public mind—not a month or two after people had ceased to think of them. The promptness with which the Review furnishes its readers with the most authoritative information upon the topics of the day is one of its most valuable features.

Subscription Price, $5.00 a year,
THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW,
3 East 14th Street, New York.

A
◎ GOOD ◎
STORY

is as much the part of a Home Newspaper as the news. Therefore the choice fiction from leading writers constantly appearing in these columns.

If you are not a regular subscriber enter your subscription at once for

THE HOME PAPER

NORTHERN
PACIFIC R.R.
Is the only line running
THROUGH PULLMAN CARS
BETWEEN
Chicago, St. Paul,
Minneapolis
AND
NORTH PACIFIC COAST POINTS.

THE DINING CAR LINE
Dining Cars on all through Trains.

THE YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE
This marvellous Wonderland reached only by this line.

THE PEOPLE'S LINE
The people's highway from Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and West Superior to Winnipeg, Helena, Butte, Missoula, Spokane, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland and Puget Sound.

THE TOURISTS' LINE
The popular line to reach Lakes Pend d' Orielle Cœur d' Alene, Kootenai, Chelan, the Hot Springs and Mountain Resorts of the Northwest and to Alaska.

DAILY EXPRESS TRAINS
Have Pullman Palace Cars, Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Free Colonist Sleeping Cars.

THROUGH TICKETS
Are sold at all coupon offices of the Northern Pacific Railroad to points North, East, South and West, in the United States and Canada.

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave Crookston	For St. Paul, Minneapolis Chicago, Duluth and West Superior,	7:12 p.m.
Daily	For Grand Forks, Grafton, Brandon and Winnipeg,	8:19 a.m.

For rates, maps, time tables, or special information, apply to
CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.,
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn

THE DUAL
MEAT MARKET.
oOo
CHARLEY VINE
Is Headquarters for all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats.

Highest cash price paid for cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry and hides.

SHOPS
Corner Broadway and Robert street,
and on Second street, in Reckitt block,
Crookston, - - Minn.

IF YOU ARE GOING EAST OR SOUTH ASK YOUR NEAREST AGENT FOR TICKETS VIA THE BURLINGTON AND TAKE NO OTHER LINE.

SCHMIDT THE PAINTER
IS NOW ON DECK
AT THE OLD STAND ON SECOND STREET,
WITH A FULL LINE OF
PAINTS, OILS, GLASS
AND
WALL PAPER.
Ready for anything in the line of Painting or Papering. Be sure and get an estimate from me before you contract your work.
A. C. SCHMIDT.

SAAKE
Is still doing business at the old stand and selling
WATCHES,
CLOCKS
JEWELRY
CHEAPER
THAN EVER.
☞ WATCH REPAIRING A SPECIALTY. ☜
ROBERT STREET,
CROOKSTON, MINN, C. H. SAAKE.

If you want a
STOVE OR RANGE
FOR WOOD OR Coal, see the
FAMOUS
BRAND
STOVE
AT ALDERMAN & SYLVESTER'S.
They are the finest line of stoves ever brought to Crookston, and are sold at
REASONABLE PRICES.

ASTHMA CURED BY DR. TAFT'S ASTHMALENE
Instead of flying to the door gasping for breath, seeming as if each one would be your last, you have only to take a few doses Asthmalene when the spasm is broken, the breathing becomes easy and you feel as if an angel of mercy had unloosed the iron grasp of the fingers of death. The happiest moment of your life will be when you have used a few bottles of Dr. Taft's ASTHMALENE and it has cured you of Asthma. We mail to any Asthma sufferer a trial bottle FREE and prove that it does Cure Asthma. Sold by druggists. Dr. Taft Bros. M. Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Every Body Who Chews, Should Chew Climax Plug For it is so Much the Best
Sold everywhere. Made only by The P. Lorillard Co., The oldest tobacco manufacturers in America and the largest in the World.

Polk County Journal.

BY COOKE & HAMMOND.

Devoted to the Welfare of Polk County.

OFFICIAL PAPER, CITY OF CROOKSTON.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Dollar and Fifty Cents, if paid in advance to any address inside of Polk County. If outside of Polk County 15 cents must be added for postage. If not paid in advance $2 per annum to any address.

MUST REGISTER OR REMOVE.

The Geary registration and exclusion law has been declared constitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States. The opinion, which was rendered by Justice Gray, sets forth that the United States has the right to make laws to exclude or remove aliens, and to fix the conditions under which they shall remain in the country. As to the justice or wisdom of the act in question he did not pretend to say, as that was beyond the province of the judicial branch of the government. Justices Brewer and Field dissented from the majority opinion, claiming that the law was unconstitutional on the ground that it was inhuman and brutal, and that the exclusion of foreigners is a dangerous precedent to establish. If the law is enforced it will drive thousands of Chinese out of the country, but if they will not comply with our laws they deserve to be driven out. If China should retaliate by driving the Americans out of China, they could probably find homes in this country—the best country on earth.

The free-for-all, everybody-come policy which the United States has pursued heretofore in encouraging every class of immigrants to this country should be changed. Immigration should be restricted more, and the United States should devote herself to taking care of her own people rather than encouraging others to come here. The Chinese are anything but a desirable class of immigrants. They never can be Americanized, or affiliate with our people. They bring the most loathsome diseases and degrading habits, without a single redeeming feature. Wherever they come in competition with American labor the wages of the latter are reduced.

Sentimentalists may talk about the infringement on American liberty, etc. Let them talk. There's been too much freedom in this country. It's time we put into practice the policy of "America for Americans," instead of "America for all creation."

IT is said President Cleveland expects to imitate Grant by taking a trip around the world after his term expires, and is already making plans for the contemplated journey. If Grover is expecting as much homage from the crowned heads of Europe as Grant received he is likely to be disappointed.

THE meeting of the Republican League Clubs at Louisville, Kentucky, last week showed that the republican party has a very great deal of life and vitality yet, notwithstanding his accidency happened to be elected last fall. The republicans will be right on deck again at the next election—and they will win. The administration is making republican votes as rapidly as could be wished.

The Indianapolis Journal is making extensive preparations to give the Grand Army Encampment the biggest send-off that ever an encampment had. Aside from the usual routine matter, they will make an effort to secure the portrait and a brief biography of each delegate as well as that of every comrade of note. The Journal ill be of great interest to comrades during the encampment, and every comrade should arrange to see it at that time.

AND now the Donnelly-Fish imbroglio bids fair to have an airing in the courts. Donnelly squarely charges Dr. Fish with taking various and sundry sums from the Republican state central committee and dares the doctor to bring a libel suit. The doctor says through the daily papers that he will at once bring suit against Donnelly for $25.000 and a criminal libel suit against Stoughton, editor of the Representative. There will be fun in those days if he does for what Donnelly and Fish don't know about each other no feller need try to find out.

THE Minneapolis Times is printing each day a portrait of some Minnesota editor, and intends to produce the features of every newspaper man in the state if they'll only send in their photos. In speaking of this feature the Times pays the country editors the state the following tribute:

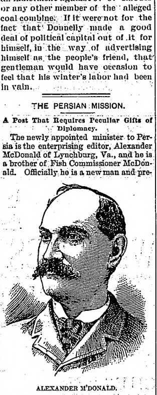
They are making the state and they are receiving not half as much recognition as the politician who gets into office for no other reason than that some editor took him up and made him by minimizing his faults and enlarging on his virtues. It is time the editor came to the front and the Times proposes to do all in it's power to bring the modest fellow forward.

THE end of the coal combine investigation has been reached, and like many legislative investigations it has come to naught. The Ramsey county grand jury failed to bring in an indictment against J. J. Rhodes or any other member of the alleged coal combine. If it were not for the fact that Donnelly made a good deal of political capital out of it for himself, in the way of advertising himself as the people's friend, that gentleman would have occasion to feel that his winter's labor had been in vain.

THE PERSIAN MISSION.

A Post That Requires Peculiar Gifts of Diplomacy.

The newly appointed minister to Persia is the enterprising editor, Alexander McDonald of Lynchburg, Va., and he is a brother of Fish Commissioner McDonald. Officially he is a new man and presumably, therefore, brave, for no other kind of a man will accept the Persian mission. It is an odd fact, and yet quite a natural one, that the ten years or so of this mission have given us a series of most interesting sketches of wild life and adventure, and a very entertaining book of comedy, pathos and drama might be compiled out of the reports of Ministers Benjamin and Winston and the latter's secretary, Count Wolf von Schierbrand.



ALEXANDER M'DONALD.

When during President Cleveland's first administration the Hon. Bayliss W. Hanna of Indiana was offered the Persian mission, he replied with somewhat profane emphasis, they say, that it was not fit for an Indiana man and went to Argentina instead. To journey for many days together over rugged mountains and then across a desert so horrible that only the Jornada del Muerto in New Mexico and Death valley in the Yuma desert can be compared with it, only to find that his chief duties at Teheran are to make presents to officials and listen to the complaints of missionaries, is certainly trying. Our commercial relations with Persia are not more important than with Kamchatka, and while two or three Americans per year may call on the minister they are usually of a kind who do not care to talk about their past.

Samuel Greene Wheeler Benjamin, who established the United States legation at Teheran in 1883, was remarkably well qualified, for he was born at Argos in Greece. His father was a missionary in the orient—died, in fact, in Constantinople—and there was a family sympathy with the people of that region. Nevertheless, Mr. Benjamin resigned in 1885. Colonel Frederic S. Winston in a moment of recklessness, according to his statement, "accepted the honor and suffered accordingly." He grew tired of it very soon, got away by a worse trip from Teheran than he made in getting to it and is now a prominent and wealthy citizen of Chicago. President Cleveland next appointed Dr. Spencer Pratt of Alabama, also a new man, young and brave, and he got hard hit by one of those "concessions" (for mints, railroads, etc.) which the shah issues to foreigners when in a good humor and quietly cancels after they leave the country and are invoking capital at home.

To him succeeded Hon. Truxton Beale of California, son of the brave General E. F. Beale, who was such a favorite with General Grant. Mr. Beale came home as soon as he could get leave and was transferred to Athens.

Hon. Watson R. Sperry of Delaware was the latest minister and is now succeeded by Mr. McDonald. The salary attached to the place is $5,000 a year. Mr. Sperry had made a record as an enterprising and successful journalist and fully sustained the reputation of our ministers to Persia for talent and bravery.

Catholic Temperance Congress.

The week beginning June 5 will be devoted to temperance gatherings at Chicago, one of which will be the Catholic temperance congress to begin Thursday, June 8, and to continue until June 10. The first day's session will be devoted to the reading of papers on the various phases of the temperance question. It will be held in a hall capable of seating 5,000 delegates, fully that many being expected in representation of the Catholic dioceses, abstinence societies, colleges and temperance unions in the states and Canada. Prominent churchmen from Europe will also participate, and all clergymen are invited to attend as delegates. The following days will be devoted to meetings to be held in three smaller halls, and at these meetings there will be free discussion of the papers read at the first session.

The Russian Spoon.

That Russian spoon, with its [illegible] our New [illegible] gold and costs a [illegible]. The bottom of the bowl is made of Russian enamel in green and red [illegible] appearance of being [illegible] with [illegible].—Once a Week.

REPUBLICAN CLUBS.

NATIONAL LEAGUE CONVENTION OPENS AT LOUISVILLE.

More People Present Than Could Find Even Standing Room—President Clarkson Delivers His Annual Address.

LOUISVILLE, May 12.—Undismayed by the rout of a few months ago, when their political adversaries, for the first time in nearly three decades secured control of every branch of the government, but full of enthusiasm and hope for the future, the representatives of the young Republicans of the United States assembled in annual convention in McCauley theatre.

After the welcoming speeches General Clarkson, chairman of the league clubs, made his annual address, speaking for an hour.

Cheers repeated for several moments rewarded the speaker when in concluding he brought the gavel down upon the desk and declared the convention in order. Committees on resolutions and other matters were appointed and at 1 o'clock the convention adjourned for the day.

The special committee on the place and date for the next meeting of the league selected Denver. The convention will be called for the second Wednesday in May, 1894. Milwaukee and Omaha were the contestants for the honor.

THE PLATFORM.

Matters Recommended For the Consideration of Republicans.

LOUISVILLE, May 13.—The second day of the convention of the League of Republican clubs was much better attended than the first, but there was a great deal of complaint from the rank and file that more of the national party leaders were not present. The convention was called to order at 10:30 by President Clarkson. E. M. Smith of Alabama was appointed sergeant-at-arms. The committee on resolutions then made its report, which was received and read. Several sections caused considerable discussion but the report was finally adopted, as follows:

The Resolutions.

We, the representatives of the Republican League clubs of the United States in national convention assembled, reaffirm devotion to the principles of the Republican party as enunciated by the national Republican convention of 1892.

We point with pride to the passage of a general law for the safety of life and limb of railroad employes, on recommendation to President Harrison, by a Republican congress and in conformity with the expressed pledge of the national Republican convention.

We declare that we are in hearty sympathy with every legislative enactment which will promote the interests of the wage earners and tend to equalize conditions and harmonize relations between labor and capital, always regarding the moral and material welfare of the great body of the people as the primary object to be attained and recommended as one of the most efficient means to attain this and the establishment of a system of arbitration for the adjustment of differences arising between labor and capital.

Commend the Secret Ballot.

We declare our faith in genuine secret ballot laws fortified by efficient acts for the suppression of corrupt practices in elections. We demand the enforcement of existing laws by the duly instituted officers of the law and demand the abolition of the system of private armed forces represented by the Pinkerton and like detective agencies. We demand the suppression of all public gambling whether in food products or by means of lottery tickets. We heartily urge an amendment to the constitution making the president ineligible to a second successive term.

Favor Woman Suffrage.

We recommend to the favorable consideration of the Republican clubs of the United States as a matter of education the question of granting to the women of the state and nation the right to vote at all elections on the same terms and conditions as male citizens.

The foreign policy of Benjamin Harrison and James G. Blaine deserves and receives the commendation of all Americans who believe in preserving the rights and dignity of the United States, and in extending the scope of its influence. In accordance with that policy we reaffirm our determination to encourage the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine, not only as it applies to North and South America, but also those lands on the Atlantic and Pacific which are or may become necessary to the protection of our coast line and our trade. When the American flag covers American interests and American honor, it Must Never Be Lowered.

The Democratic party having for the first time in 32 years succeeded to power in both the executive and legislative departments of the government, we now direct attention to the fact that it should either give the people a fair trial of the policies advocated in its last national platform or admit that it gained its supremacy by gross misrepresentation and hypocrisy.

Tracey Elected President.

When the report had been adopted President Clarkson directed the secretary to call the roll of states for nominations for the office of president. Illinois was the first to respond, when Representative O'Connell of Bloomington, Ills., placed in nomination William W. Tracey. New York responded by placing William Hastings of Pennsylvania in nomination. Delegate Campbell of New York nominated M. H. De Young, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle. Tracey was elected on the first ballot, receiving 902 votes, De Young 404 and Hastings 413.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

Proposition to Change Basis of Representation Defeated.

LOUISVILLE, May 12.—The National Republican central committee has put a temporary quietus upon the proposition to change the basis of representation in the next national convention. A motion was made to table the resolution, but finally it was decided to indefinitely postpone final action in order that the sentiments of representative Republicans throughout the country might be ascertained.

Vice Chairman M. H. De Young presided at the opening of the meeting. The resolution adopted by the caucus recommending that Mr. Carter be made chairman of the national committee was called up, but Mr. De Young called it out of order for the reason that Mr. Campbell's resignation had not been accepted and that he was, consequently still chairman. The resignation was then duly accepted and Mr. Carter was regularly and with practical unanimity elected chairman of the national committee. Joseph H. Manley of Maine was selected as permanent secretary. Mrs. J. Ellen Foster of Iowa was permitted to occupy fifty minutes in telling of the work of the Woman's Republican club in the last campaign. When she concluded it was within an hour of Derby time and the committee adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

WEEK'S PECULATIONS.

It Is Claimed That They Will Reach Over $1,000,000.

NEW YORK, May 14.—It is now estimated that the indebtedness of Francis H. Weeks, against whom a suit was begun for trust money alleged to have been misappropriated by him, will be more than $1,000,000. William Nelson Cromwell, of Sullivan & Cromwell, attorneys for the Superior Land and Improvement company, in which Mr. Weeks had held the office of president, secretary and treasurer, said that the company would lose nothing of the $550,000 that Mr. Weeks took without the authority of the company. The attachment which Mr. Cromwell placed on the West Superior Steel company amply secured the Land and Improvement company, as the plant is valued at $2,000,000. Of the $550,000, Mr. Weeks, Mr. Cromwell declared, had beyond question pocketed $150,000, and was an embezzler to that extent at least.

ARCHBISHOP HENNESSY.

The Bishop of Dubuque Raised in Rank—Kendrick's Coadjutor.

BALTIMORE, May 14.—Cardinal Gibbons has received a cablegram announcing the election of Rt. Rev. Bishop Kain of Wheeling, to be coadjutor to the archbishop of St. Louis, with the right of succession, and the erection of Dubuque to an archepiscopal see, with Rt. Rev. Bishop Hennessey, the present bishop of the diocese, as its first archbishop; also the translation of Bishop Burke from Cheyenne to St. Joseph, Mo.

BLOUNT NAMED.

The ex-Congressman Gets a Permanent Sit in Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The president has appointed James H. Blount of Georgia envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the Hawaiian Islands, succeeding John L. Stevens, resigned. Mr. Blount's commission bears the date of Tuesday and it will be sent him by the next mail to Honolulu.

No Longer a State Secret.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The president and Mrs. Cleveland have moved out to their country house. The Star says that a secret which has been whispered around some time, and about which, naturally, members of the president's household do not care to talk, is now no longer a secret, as it has been given considerable publicity. The expected event explains why the president and Mrs. Cleveland have been somewhat anxious to get into their own country home for the summer.

Land Office Appointments.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—C. R. Martin, of Illinois, has been appointed land examiner in the mineral division of the general land office. Andrew Douglass, of Wisconsin, has been appointed an examiner of Chippewa Indian lands in Minnesota.

DEAD IN THE ROAD.

Clearwater Agitated Over the Fate of a Young Lady.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., May 16.—The coroner at this place has just been telegraphed for to go to Clearwater and investigate the fate of an 18-year-old girl named Larkins, found dead in the road at Clearwater under suspicious circumstances. Clearwater is greatly agitated over the event.

Undid a Grand Jury's Work.

PIERRE, S. D., May 16.—The Prohibition grand jury, which has been in session the past week examining nearly 100 witnesses and returning a number of indictments against saloons and drug stores, has been discharged by Judge Fuller and its acts declared void on the ground that the panel was found to be illegally drawn.

Young Ladies Expelled.

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 14.—Ten young lady members of the Marquette high school have been expelled for insubordination. Trouble arose in a dispute with the principal of schools about class markings in algebra. The expelled pupils have appealed to the board of education.

Five Business Places Burglarized.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., May 16.—Five burglaries were perpetrated in this city during the night, the work evidently being done by an amateur armed with a chisel. In no place did the amount of money taken exceed $10.

Hickey Ordered Released.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 12.—Sheriff White of Conway county states that he has received instructions from Prosecuting Attorney Davis to release Frank Hickey, the alleged murderer of Colonel John H. Clayton.

Rate War Ended.

CHICAGO, May 16.—The Colorado war of rates is ended. The rates in the state and those to Southern points will be raised as soon as such action can be legally taken.

GEARY'S LAW GOOD

SUPREME COURT DECLARES THE CHINESE MUST GO.

Uncle Sam Held to Have Power to Prohibit or Restrict Immigration. Justices Brewer, Field and Chief Justice Fuller Dissent.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The supreme court of the United States has affirmed the constitutionality of the Geary Chinese exclusion and registration act. The opinion was announced by Justice Gray, Justice Brewer dissenting. Justice Gray said in announcing the judgment of the court that the power of this nation to restrict or prohibit the immigration of any aliens into the country or to require such aliens already in the country to remove herefrom was of international law and was confirmed by an unbroken line of decisions in this court. The legislative power of the government had not transcended any of its constitutional limitations in the act under consideration. It was within its power to determine the regulations under which these aliens should be permitted to remain in the United States, or, failing to observe these regulations, they should be required to leave the country.

A Well Settled Principle

Justice Field and Chief Justice Fuller also dissented.

Moved a Rehearing.

After the court had concluded the announcement of opinions, Mr. Ashton, of counsel for the Chinese, moved a rehearing of the case and an argument before a full bench at the next term of the court.

EFFECT OF THE DECISION.

No Money to Deport the Almond-Eyed Individuals.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—No orders had been issued at the treasury department at the close of business as to the deporting of Chinese under the Geary act. The instructions under which collectors of internal revenue and United States marshals are now operating direct them to make no arrests of unregistered Chinamen until further orders. Secretary Carlisle, soon after he heard of the decision of the supreme court, went to the executive mansion and had a conference with the president on the subject. He remained for an hour or more. Attorney General Olney said until the line of action to be pursued by our government was mapped out he could say nothing on the subject, except that the department of justice had no money available for deporting Chinese.

FORMER ACTION REVERSED.

Directors of the World's Fair Decide to Open all Buildings on Sunday.

CHICAGO, May 16.—The local directory of the Columbian Exposition have decided to open the fair on Sunday in all departments. At a meeting to be held in the morning the directory will adopt a resolution reversing their former action in closing the building to the public and then submit the amended rule to the national board for approval. This decision has been arrived at in view of the extraordinary pressure brought to bear upon them by the people who demand the absolute freedom of the great show.

EDITORS AT CHICAGO.

The National Convention Will Be In Session Two Weeks.

CHICAGO, May 16.—Handshaking, sight seeing about the town and visits to the world's fair, made up the day's program of the National Editorial association. Some 500 delegates are in the city ready for the convention. Between 10,000 and 12,000 admission tickets to the world's fair have been placed at the disposal of the editors and their families. The convention will be in session two weeks. The second week's sessions will be held at the Art institute in connection with the press congress.

New $25,000 Building.

YANKTON S. D., May 16.—Arrangements have been completed by which Yankton college will have a new $25,000 building this season, the gift of Dr. Pearsons of Chicago. The cornerstone will probably be laid commencement day, June 21, and the building completed for the opening of the fall term.

Fifty Houses Destroyed.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., May 12.—Half of the village of Spring Lake, a short distance from here, was destroyed by fire during the day. The steamer Barrett, in passing up the river at 7 a. m., set fire to a sawdust pile by sparks from her smokestack.

Catholic Knights of America.

CHICAGO, May 14.—The Catholic Knights of America, after being in session four days have concluded their labors. Ex-Treasurer O'Brien's offer of compromise stands rejected, and prosecution of the matter is left with the executive committee.

Children Cremated.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 16.—The residence of Mrs. Frank McCabe at Banff Springs has been destroyed by fire. Mrs. McCabe was taken out alive, but her two children, aged 2 and 7 years, perished in the flames.

Editors Visit the Fair.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, May 16.—The State Press associations of North Dakota, Minnesota, Texas and Florida visited the fair during the day.

North Dakota Building Opened.

CHICAGO, May 16.—The North Dakota exhibit was completed and thrown open to the public Monday.

THE WEEK'S NEWS.

Wednesday, May 10.

The first of the two vessels of the American line, now building in Philadelphia, will be named the St. Louis.

The national banks have been called on to furnish a statement of their condition at the close of business on May 4 last.

S. H. Ernst Waters, the well known mining engineer and manager of mines, was found dead in his bed at the Denver club house Tuesday.

The authorities of Bremen have ordered a quarantine against all vessels arriving from French ports. This action is due to the spread of cholera in France.

The destitution which exists in the rural districts of Central and Southeastern Russia has extended to the province of Simbersk in Central Russia, where great suffering and distress prevail.

Thursday, May 11.

Lookout won the Kentucky derby.

Queen Victoria opened the British Imperial institute in person.

Sir Charles Russell has begun his address before the Behring sea court of arbitration.

Immigrant Inspector Conkling has made a report, in which he shows up the evils of the padrone system.

The Irish village, Lady Aberdeen's interesting exhibit at the Midway Plaisance, was dedicated Wednesday.

The chamber of deputies has passed the bill raising the French legation in Washington to the rank of an embassy.

George J. Gould has been elected president of the Missouri Pacific and the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern roads.

The cold spring and late rains in Egypt have compelled the cotton planters to sow their cotton over again. The crop will be a month late.

Friday, May 12

Thirteen business houses at Cranberry, Man., have been burned. Loss, $35,000.

The president has appointed J. Hampton Hoge of Virginia to be United States consul at Amoy, China, vice Edward Bedloe of Philadelphia.

Three German men, aged 56, 40 and 20 years respectively, have just arrived at Winnipeg from New York city, having walked the entire distance in exactly 37 days.

W. B. Doddridge, formerly general manager of the Cotton Belt route, has been appointed general manager of the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain railway system.

Saturday, May 13.

Edward O. Leech, director of the mint at Philadelphia, has resigned.

The rumor that President Cleveland would make a tour of the world has been confirmed.

The case of Musical Director Thomas of the world's fair will probably not be decided before June.

President Gleveland has directed that hereafter fourth class postmasters be not removed except for cause.

Mr. Cleveland is credited with a desire to have Secretary Lamont succeed Flower as governor of New York.

Indiana Republicans believe that ex-President Harrison will be the Republican nominee for president in 1896.

F. H. Weeks, former president of the Land and River Improvement company of West Superior, is reported to be a fugitive from justice and now in Canada.

The new Cunarder Campana made the trip from New York to Queenstown last week in 5 days, 17 hours and 42 minutes, the quickest eastward trip ever made.

Monday, May 15.

The treasurer of Putnam county, O., is said to be $25,000 short in his accounts.

Twenty-seven Italians were found stripping a vacant house in New York city, but all escaped except two.

In trying to arrest eight timber thieves, United States Deputy Marshal Reddock, of Jackson, Miss., was almost killed.

The Countess Evelyn was sunk by the steamship City of Hamburg in a fog off Cornwall. Sixteen of the crew and nine passengers were drowned.

A small Russian ferryboat on the River Mesta became unmanageable and dozens of passengers jumped into the river and were drowned. Those who remained on board were saved.

It is stated that the president and Democratic leaders in congress will agree upon a programme comprising the repeal of the Sherman law and the federal election laws, the removal of the tax from state bank currency, the imposition of the income tax and a reduction of all tariff duties.

Tuesday, May 16.

The Infanta Eulalie sailed from Havana for New York Monday.

President Lincoln's private car is to be taken to the world's fair for exhibition.

Diablo, a 20 to 1 shot, won the great Brooklyn handicap, Lamplighter, a strong favorite, coming in second.

Governor Flower has refused to appoint delegates to the anti-trust convention called by Governor Nelson.

The United States supreme court has decided the hat trimming cases against the government. The loss to the government will be from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000.

The Women's congress, the first of the large number of world's congresses to meet this summer at Chicago, is now in session in Columbus Hall, in Memorial art palace.

Mary McCann, the servant girl who has been unconscious for 26 days in a hospital at Orange, N. J., as the result of a fall from a trolley car, has recovered consciousness.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 2)

	2937	E M Walsh, " "	25 00
	2938	L C Couvrette, " "	25 00
	2939	M O'Brien, " "	41 16
	2940	W Anglim, " "	10 00
	2941	Ben Pierce, " "	20 00
	2942	E C Carruth, " "	33 33
	2951	J R McKinnon, labor on dump	18 00
Mch	2952	L Gonyea, Feb. Salary	80 00
	2953	D A Robinson, " "	60 00
	2954	H N Tweten, " "	60 00
	2955	J Dainard, " "	60 00
	2956	Geo Ralph, " "	29 16
	2957	D F McDonald, " "	25 00
	2958	E M Walsh, " "	25 00
	2959	L C Couvrette, " "	25 00
	2960	M O'Brien, " "	41 16
	2961	W Anglim, " "	10 00
	2962	B Pierce, " "	20 00
	2963	E C Carruth, " "	33 33
	2964	Thos. Young, freight and dray	3 77
	2965	A M Silver, express charges	30 00
	2966	A C Cowing, hardware	20 90
	2967	Rob. Kittleson, labor	9 00
	2971	H M Sorlie, ice	4 60
	2973	Crookston Water Works, light and water	1567 22
	2974	Crookston Water Works, water	2020 00
	2975	O Vian, labor	11 85
	2976	Geo Young, drayage	5 50
	2978	McKinnon Bros., coal	163 80
	2982	J E O'Brien & Co., hardware	83 90
	2983	Crookston Plumbing Co., hardware	23 75
	2985	Jas. E Greenhalgh, labor	62 00
	2986	I N Simmons, dray	4 00
	2987	Cooke & Hammond, printing	7 50
	2988	D F McDonald, labor	21 37
	2991	W E McKenzie, printing	6 20
	2992	Fred Anderson, judge	15 00
	2993	Cooke & Hammond, printing	3 50
	2994	O Vian, labor	55 00
	2996	E D Childs & Co., lumber	443 30
	2997	C E Dampier, medical attendance	26 00
	2998	C T Schmidt, labor	2 25
	2999	Anton Netzer, labor	15 00
	3000	Geo. Castle, wood	115 00
	3001	Jas. E Greenhalgh, labor	56 00
	3002	Engen Evanson, board prison's	8 75
	3003	D F McDonald, labor	49 25
	3004	" " "	264 75
	3005	" " "	92 12
	3006	" " "	19 50
	3012	Rasmussen & Frankenfield,	10 63
	2478	W E McKenzie, record for city	15 80
	2968	Fontaine & Anglim, merchandise	16 70
	2969	Rasmussen & Co., hardware	21 95
	2970	F L Durand, medicine	4 80
	2972	S Lusian,	2 50
	2977	E Barrette, merchandise	4 20
	2984	Chicago Fire Hose Co., rubber hose	434 50
	2989	Fire department, fires	58 00
	2990	" "	76 00
	2995	Stewart Lumber company, lumber	21 04
	2981	Fire department, fires	57 00
	2980	" "	72 00
	2979	Priester & Co., wood	20 25
	2863	Alderman & Sylvester,	37 20
	2902	A C Cowing,	6 05
		Interest on loan from First National Bank	16 28
			$22094 34

IMPROVEMENT FUND

Apl	2502	D F McDonald, labor,	$ 3 00
	2544	J E O'Brien & Co. hardware	18 30
June	2557	Red River Lumber Co. lumber,	65 03
	2558	" " " " "	142 19
	2568	D F McDonald, "	17 25
	2569	" " "	24 00
July	2621	E D Childs Co., "	48 23
Aug	2666	L Singer, "	7 81
	2695	Red River Lumber Co., "	190 96
	2676	" " " " "	257 10
	2678	J R McKinnon, grading,	1380 00
	2679	Wm Anglim, sewer pipe	81 25
Sep	2682	J R McKinnon, grading	650 00
	2693	H R Nolan, Sampson's addit'n bridge,	293 60
	2704	H R Nolan, labor,	54 46
	2722	D F McDonald, labor,	55 98
Oct	2736	John Wilcox, grading,	150 00
	2738	D F McDonald, labor,	130 13
	2721	Stewart Lumber Co., lumber,	143 66
	2759	Red River Lumber Co., "	135 73
Nov	2783	John Wilcox, grading,	473 71
	2784	John McKinnon, grading,	1079 87
	2785	John Wilcox, labor,	82 60
	2791	D F McDonald "	32 00
	2792	" " "	14 25
	2793	" " "	154 13
	2794	" " "	87 75
	2799	Carl Nelson, "	12 00
	2800	Dan McCarty, labor on bridge	8 00
	2801	J E O'Brien & Co., hardware,	44 65
	2809	Red River Lumber Co., lumber	166 78
	2810	Stewart Lumber Co., "	55 13
	2811	" " " "	117 70
	2829	H Nolan, piling,	79 50
	2830	" " labor,	19 00
Dec	2835	G N R R Co., freight,	65 58
	2850	Fontaine & Anglim, sewer pipe	72 00
	2851	Stewart Lumber Co., lumber,	111 69
	2882	D F McDonald, labor,	12 75
	2883	" " Rep. sidewalk,	16 00
Jan	2906	" " labor,	24 75
	2907	Louis Charpentier, labor.	8 00
	2596	Red River Lumber Co., lumber,	197 90
		Refunding order paid Co. Treas,	22 50
		Transferred to 2d ward,	200 00
			$6960 75

1892.		Cr.
Apl 11	By balance,	$1547 28
	By June settlement,	738 18
	By gen'l fund (money returned)	2000 00
	By sinking fund commissioners, money borrowed,	2000 00
	By November settlement,	206 69
	By sewer fund, money borrowed	394 45
	By March settlement,	591 80
	By A Clements for drain pipe	11 70
	By Jas Muir, sidewalk assessment,	23 00
	By Commercial hotel, grading,	25 62
	By J E O'Brien & Co. drain pipe	37 80
	By Crookston Plumbing Co., drain pipe,	5 00
	By Jas McKenzie, grading,	9 10
	By C E Dampier, "	26 00
	By First Nat'l bank, "	52 00
	By D McDonald, sewer pipe,	50 73
	By refund on freight,	43 00
	By C H Saake, grading,	7 80
	By E Rolsch, grading,	10 40
	By A Braley, grading,	9 10
		$7792 60
	To orders,	6760 75
	To Second ward,	200 00
	To balance,	831 85
		$7792 60

FIRST WARD,

Apl.	2497	D F McDonald, labor,	47 25
May	2525	" " "	65 38
June	2575	" " "	74 25
July	2623	" " "	46 08
Aug.	2648	" " "	17 00
Sep.	2716	" " "	11 37
Oct.	2756	" " "	14 88
Nov.	2780	" " "	25 75
Dec.	2876	" " "	45 87
Jan.	2908	" " "	1 12
Feb.	2948	" " "	2 25
			$350 20

SECOND WARD.

Apl.	2498	D F McDonald, labor,	$28 50
May	2524	" " "	33 38
June	2579	" " "	57 01
July	2624	" " "	79 62
Aug	2849	" " "	15 88
Sep.	2717	" " "	98 62
Oct.	2757	" " "	8 12
Nov.	2781	" " "	26 00
Dec.	2877	" " "	3 00
Jan.	2905	" " "	10 00
Feb.	2949	" " "	1 50
			$361 63

THIRD WARD.

Apl.	2499	D F McDonald, labor.	$15 75
May	5539	" " "	18 25
June	2578	" " "	60 77
July	2625	" " "	27 25
Sep.	2718	" " "	10 43
Dec.	2878	" " "	5 00
Aug.	2646	" " "	17 38
			$154 83

FOURTH WARD.

Apl 2	2500	D F McDonald, labor	$23 25
May	2522	" " "	43 25
June	2576	" " "	81 63
July	2626	" " "	51 00
Aug,	2650	" " "	43 25
Sep.	2719	" " "	24 48
Oct.	2758	" " "	89 25
Nov.	2782	" " "	85 00
Dec.	2879	" " "	15 00
Feb.	2950	" " "	17 65
			$378 76

FIFTH WARD.

Apl.	2492	E D Childs & Co., lumber,	$12 85
	2501	D F McDonald, labor,	15 45
May	2523	" " "	10 50
June	2577	" " "	96 25
July	2627	" " "	14 88
Aug.	2651	" " "	71 87
	2656	E D Childs & Co. lumber	37 40
Sep.	2720	D F McDonald. labor.	3 49
Oct.	2723	O Johnson, labor,	2 50
Dec.	2880	D F McDonald, labor,	5 00
Aug	2665	O Johnson, labor,	17 50
			$287 19

POOR FUND

Apr.	2476	C E Dampier, medical attendance	22 00
	2477	C E Dampier, med attendance	18 00
May	2520	S A Wallace, medicine	12 45
	2521	" "	32 15
	2538	Doctor Watts, medical attendance	10 00
June	2559	John Cromb, sheets for hospital	2 50
July	2633	Fontaine & Anglim merchandise	3 65
Aug.	2660	A Holmboe, merchandise	6 95
	2659	E Allard, board	21 00
	2661	Barnes & Slocum, merchandise	6 95
	2662	W W Fegan, tickets to St. Paul	8 77
Sept.	2694	E Allard, board	15 50
	2705	Fontaine & Anglim, merchandise	17 15
Oct.	2761	W W Fegan, fare for Thompson	13 87
	2767	E Allard, board P Rosler	15 00
Nov.	2707	E Allard, board pauper	15 50
	2798	County Hospital, board pauper	7 66
	2816	Fontaine & Anglim, merchandise	17 82
	2828	W Watts, medical attendance	24 00
Dec	2848	T Bjoin, rent	20 00
	2874	E Allard, board	15 00
	2875	C H Denniston, medical attendance	2 03
Feb.	2943	A H Dunlop, medical attendance	16 00
	2944	F L Durand, medicines	20 70
	2945	Emma Austin, assistance	27 25
	2946	Tweedten Bros., assistance	16 00
	2947	E Allard, assistance	31 00
Mch.	3010	T Bjoin, rent	30 00
	3007	L Gonyea, conveying children to Minneapolis	17 00
	3008	E Allard, boarding pauper	14 00
	3011	Emma Austin, boarding pauper	17 25
	3009	W H Norrie, wood	2 50
			$499 12

COMMITTEE ON POOR.

1892 Mch. 25	58	I U Jennings faver T Young	$1 25
	59	" " " L I Benoit	9 55
	60	" " " Mrs Durkee	12 00
Apr.	1	B Surprenant	8 00
	2	Gus Scoberg	3 00
	3	Mary Brigman	30 00
	4	W W Fegan	6 68
May	5	Mrs Durkee	12 00
	6	Fontaine & Anglim	7 50
	7	S M Brengman	21 40
	8	McKinnon Bros.,	4 50
	9	B Surprenant	8 00
	10	Mrs Bayer	5 00
	11	Mrs Durkee	12 00
	12	Mr Allen	12 00
	13	Mrs Durkee	12 00
	14	E Berquist	3 50
	15	Mrs Bayer	8 00
	16	Mrs Durkee	12 00
	17	Mrs Bayer	8 00
	18	Mrs Durkee	12 00
	19	Mrs Bayer	8 00
	20	Mrs Durkee	12 00
	21	Mrs Bayer	8 00
	22	Mrs Durkee	12 00
	23	Mrs Bayer	8 00
	24	Mrs Durkee	12 00
	25	Mrs Bayer	10 00
	26	Priester & Co.,	8 50
	27	Mrs Durkee	12 00
	28	Mrs Bayer	10 00
	29	Mrs Durkee	12 00
	30	"	12 00
	31	Nic Surprenant	10 00
	32	Mr Burt	15 00
		Mrs. Bayer	10 00
		"	10 00
		Mrs Durkee	12 00
			$384 88

To the Honorable Mayor and City Council:

GENTLEMEN: I submit herewith the annual statement of balances in the different funds for the year ending March 31st, 1893.

Funds.	Debit.	Credit.	Bal.
Park fund,		509 65	509 65
Special sinking fund,	$ 1579 31	$ 2012 23	$ 432 92
Sinking fund,		736 18	736 18
Improvement fund,	7034 49	7866 34	831 85
Interest fund,	8643 85	10652 51	2008 66
Poor fund	914 50	1243 66	329 16
City Treasurer,	14807 76	9766 64	5041 35
First ward fund,	350 20	547 14	196 94
Second " "	361 36	595 99	234 36
Third " "	154 83	169 66	14 83
Fourth " "	373 76	640 61	266 85
Fifth " "	287 19	654 61	367 42
General "	24120 04	23232 57	887 47
	$58629 29	$58627 79	$5886 09

General Fund Expenditures are as follows:

Sewer work department,	$2498 88
Engine house "	620 45
Constable "	8 05
Board of health "	90 00
Prisoner "	166 76
Hydrant & lights "	7118 99
Fifth ward engine house department	184 34
Bridge repairs,	105 48
Police department,	3107 51
Justice department,	64 70
Salaries department,	3284 78
Printing department,	377 95
Incidental,	703 16
Mayor's allowance,	800 00
Election department,	604 25
Fire department,	1363 50
General labor,	962 88
Dumping grounds,	63 96
Paid loan to improvement fund.	2000 00
	$24126 04

Receipts of the General Fund for the year ending March 31st, 1893.

Liquor licenses,		$12000 00
All other licenses		574 00
		$12574 00
Justice fines	$ 399 81
Interest on daily balances	122 98
		522 79
June settlement Co, Treas'r	$3277 37
Dec. " " "	321 58
March " " "	3735 56
		7334 51
		$20431 30
County subscription,	$ 300 00
Candidates' contributions,	120 00
Loan from park fund	803 09
Bal on hand Apl 1st, 1892	1536 68
		2759 77
		$23191 07

IMPROVEMENT FUND.

To bal on hand at this date		$790 11
Due from 2d ward, per loan		200 00
		$990 11
Due from improvement fund to the sinking fund commissioners		$2000 00
Leaving a shortage in this fund of	$1009 89

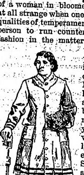
Submitted this 18th day of April, 1893.

E. M. WALSH,
Comptroller.

IN BLOOMER RIG.

Miss Prescott Has Worn Skirts Only an Hour In Twenty-five Years.

That fortitude, individuality and originality should be marked characteristics of a woman in bloomers does not seem at all strange when one reflects upon the qualities of temperament necessary for a person to run counter to the general fashion in the matter of dress. And these are very prominent traits in the character of Miss Emeline Prescott of Hallowell, Me., who adopted the bloomer costume more than 25 years ago and has worn it constantly and consistently ever since. She declares that she clung to the pantalettes and short skirts of her childhood as long as possible, and that when she was finally forced to put on long skirts she hated them heartily, as they seriously interfered with her participation in the boyish sports of which she was very fond. She kept on wearing them and hating them, however, until one day she made a visit to Franklin, N. H., and met several women wearing bloomers. They suited her, and she immediately became an enthusiast. She has never since worn long skirts except for an hour when on a visit to her sister, when she donned a long dress to save her costume while doing some kitchen work. That hour, she declares, was the most uncomfortable one she has spent in many years.



MISS PRESCOTT IN BLOOMERS.

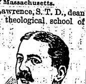
Miss Prescott undoubtedly presents a remarkable picture, and one that many people find it difficult to become used to no matter how frequently they see her. One of her house costumes consists of trousers, skirt and jacket made of blue checked gingham, but she has others in great variety and all with trousers—house trousers and street trousers, summer trousers and winter trousers, everyday trousers and Sunday trousers—and she makes them all herself. In the winter she wears a fur cap upon her head and in summer a sailor hat of straw trimmed with a band of ribbon. She is good looking and intelligent, and despite the wonder and amusement her costume creates she wins the respect of every one and the esteem of many by her kindly manner.

Miss Prescott has had her romance in her time, having been twice engaged to be married. Her first fiance she did not care for, and he went west and finally married there. They had been engaged only to suit their families. The man she loved and would have married died of consumption, and she has remained single. She has a comfortable home and has amassed a snug fortune selling salve. She has published several poems which are said to be very original and striking.

HE SUCCEEDS PHILLIPS BROOKS.

The Career of William Lawrence, the New Bishop of Massachusetts.

Rev. William Lawrence, S. T. D., dean of the Episcopal theological school of Cambridge, who has been elected bishop of Massachusetts to succeed the late Phillips Brooks, is truly an original Bay State man and comes from one of the very best families. His father was the famous Amos A. Lawrence, principal founder of the city of Lawrence and promoter of its industries, and his mother was a daughter of the late William Appleton.



REV. WM. LAWRENCE.

The new bishop was born near Boston in 1850 and was graduated from Harvard in the class of 1871. On leaving college Mr. Lawrence prosecuted his theological studies at the Episcopal schools at Andover and Philadelphia. His last year was taken at the Cambridge Theological school, from which he was graduated in 1875. He was appointed to the rectorship of Grace church in Lawrence, which post he retained for several years. He then took the post of vice dean and the professorship of homiletics and pastoral care in his alma mater, the Cambridge school. In 1889, on the death of Dean Gray, he became dean, retaining the professorships also until chosen bishop. His wife was Miss Julia Cunningham of Boston, granddaughter of Bishop Parker, and they have three daughters and one son.

Dean Lawrence represents the "broad church" party. Being in the very prime of life and having had a great success in other work, Bishop Lawrence will, the Episcopalians believe, prove fully equal to all the requirements and a most worthy successor of Phillips Brooks.

The Woman's Dormitory.

The Woman's dormitory at Chicago is equipped to accommodate 1,000 visitors to the World's fair and had about 500 guests on May 1. The dormitory was built by a stock company, which sold shares at $10 each. The rate per day to stockholders is 40 cents and may be reduced to 35 cents. A generous breakfast is served for 25 cents and a dinner with courses of meat for 50 cents.

The Enterprising Anglo-Saxon.

When it is known that during the last 60 years more than 9,000,000 people have emigrated from England, of whom 10 per cent have returned, we are not surprised to learn that one-fourth of the land surface of the globe is occupied by English speaking people.

John M. Bruner of Chicago has a clock made in Bruatorp, Sweden, in 1528.

The use of drapery in ideal art is as purely for artistic reasons as is its absence and has nothing to do with the propriety of clothing.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

The Mississippi rose two feet at Aitkin Friday.

The new capitol commission met at the capitol Saturday.

The Pillsbury-Washburn company has passed its annual dividend.

A lodge of Modern Woodmen has been organized at Fairmont.

The elevator owned by Stair, Christensen & Case at Johnson, has burned.

Farmers in the vicinity of Rushmore are subscribing money for an elevator.

Ex-President Harrison has been invited to address the reciprocity convention in St. Paul.

At Stewartville Owen Palten had his shoulder broken and got badly bruised up by a gun kicking.

The Evangelical parsonage at Le Sueur was struck and considerably damaged by lightning.

Wind wrecked the circus tent of the Great Eastern show at Slayton. No one was seriously hurt.

Goodhue county farmers have a million bushels of wheat stored in their granaries from last year.

The Ramsey county grand jury failed to find an indictment against John J. Rhodes, of coal combine fame.

The Mills revival commenced in the St. Paul Auditorium Wednesday night and will continue for two weeks.

The Great Northern depot at Waverly, Minn., was totally destroyed by fire between the hours of 12 and 1 a. m.

The postoffice at Frank Hall, Winona county, Minn., has been ordered discontinued. Nobody wants to be postmaster.

The president has appointed Adolph R. Gordon postmaster at Warren, and Michael T. Brady at Winnebago City.

Representatives of St. Paul commercial bodies will take action toward cleaning up the city, with a view to prevent a cholera epidemic.

The Minnesota commandery of the Loyal Legion met at St. Paul and elected officers, General Edwin C. Mason being chosen commander.

The date of dedicating the Minnesota building at the world's fair has been changed from May 18 to June 1, by order of Governor Nelson.

Secretary J. Fletcher Williams of the State Historical society has resigned on account of illness, but the society declines to accept the resignation.

The Minnesota Canal company has applied for $600,000 aid from St. Louis county. The question of issuing the bonds will be voted upon May 28.

An effort is being made at Worthington to obtain the Wilder Farm college. A committee of leading citizens has been appointed to look after the matter.

It is reported at Washington that Norman Perkins, superintendent of the railway mail service at St. Paul, will have to make room for a good Democrat.

Work of enlarging the Mankato normal school will begin immediately after commencement exercises. Two large wings will be added to the present structure.

An unknown man was struck near Hokah by a passenger train and was instantly killed. There was nothing about his person to identify him, so he was placed in the potters field and marked "tramp."

Thirty-five thousand dollars alimony has been awarded by Judge Otis of Ramsey county to Mrs. Helen Johnson, who in 1870 at Lake City, was married to Alexander M. Johnson, the wealthy Chicago steamboat man.

Friends of Jesse Crump of Redwood Falls who was found drowned in the Gulf of Mexico on Tuesday, have received communications which lead to the belief that there was foul play. Valuable papers which he is known to have had were missing.

Herman Stone, a St. Paul pawnbroker, while looking over some unredeemed pledges found a valise containing between $600 and $700 in coin. The valise was pawned by a young man giving the name of Henry Johnson.

James Leicht, editor of The Westlicher Herold of Winona, who is collecting the state newspaper exhibit for the world's fair, has over 400 different papers and magazines in his possession. They are being bound into four volumes of papers and three of magazines, and will be sent to the fair during the week.

Governor Nelson has issued a call for an anti-trust convention at Chicago June 5 and 6. Nearly all the states will be officially represented. Minnesota delegates are: J. B. Wakefield, Blue Earth City; U. B. Shaver, Kasson; Frank F. Davis, Minneapolis; James A. Tawney, Winona; Ignatius Donnelly, Hastings; A. E. Rice, Willmar; H. B. Strait, Shakopee; C. A. Gilman, St. Cloud; W. P. Murray, St. Paul; J. F. Jacobson, Madison.

The state grain and warehouse commission is in a quandary. The act ordering a state elevator at Duluth provides that it shall be paid out of funds collected for the inspection of grain. There can be no funds collected until the warehouse is built, and it can't be built without funds. There is now on hand in the inspection fund $70,000, while the estimated cost is $200,000. Governor Nelson is said to be considering the propriety of borrowing the money necessary for its erection.

Rivers Overflow.

ISHPEMING, Mich., May 16.—Damage from the flooded rivers is reported at nearly every point in the upper peninsula.

Bulkhead Gone.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., May 16.—The bulkhead of the flume at the pulp mill has gone out.

About Mills and Millers.

When man solved the queston—"How did the milk get into the cocoanut?" may not have been long ago, but it was in very ancient time that man became a miller—that is found out how to get at the inside of a wheat kernel and separate the flour from the bran. Handmills with revolving buhr-stones were used in early Bibical times, as appears from the allusions to it in Holy Writ. At that time woman did the world's menial work, and the fatigue of milling methods was not consideed. In later centuries and in European nations this labor fell on man, and he soon harnessed the wind and then the waterfall to do his work. As commerce grew between nations, milling became a recognized industry and an indispensably necessary one. The greatest milling centre in the United States is Minneapolis, and no man engaged in milling is as widely known as Mr. Chas. A. Pillsbury, the managing head of the largest flour-milling plant in that city. The opinions of a man so successful in his business must have weight even about other things than milling. At the close of an interview in the Minneapolis Evening Tribune, Jan. 31st. last, on business matters Mr. Pillsbury said: "Another thing which gratefied me on returning home, was the magnificent train service on the Burlington road. I found on the Eastern roads a class of cars which the Northwest had discarded years ago, and I found some new compartment cars on the Burlington which surpass in elegance anything I have seen in the world." For tickets, maps, time-tables, etc. apply to any ticket agent of the Burlington Route or connecting lines, or address W. J. C. Kenyon Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

Carleton College.

Carleton College has just issued its annual Catalogue,—a neat pamphlet of 68 pages, bearing the college seal, and giving cuts of the college buildings lists of trustees, teachers, and students, and full information concerning equipment, courses of study and other items of intrest to its friends and the public. The college is Christian but not sectarian. It is also coeducational, all its courses, privileges and honors being offered to young women on the same terms as young men an opportunity of which, as the name-list shows, the ladies have freely availed themselves. The College provides three courses of four years each, designed to meet the various needs and preferences of students, each course including a wide range of optional and elective studies. There are also post-graduate courses for those who desire them. An Academy is maintained in connection with the College, giving full preparatory courses and special English studies; and there is a finely equipped school of music. Seven buildings, four of them substantial structures of brick and stone, are devoted to the various uses of the College. During the coming year the science building is to be doubled in size; and a fine fire proof library building is soon to be erected. The enrollment for the present year is 337. The President is Rev. James W. Strong, D.D., Northfield, Minn., who will answer all inquiries concerning the College and send copies of the Catalogue to any who desire it.

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term. May 15th, 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Anne J. Ose deceased:

Whereas, an instrument in writing, purporting to be the last will and testament of Anne J. Ose deceased, late of said County, has been delivered to this court;

And whereas, Edward P. Manson has filed therewith his petition, representing among other things that said Anne J. Ose died in said county, on the 19th day of April 1893, testate, and that petitioner is the executor named in said last will and testament, and praying that the said instrument may be admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be issued thereon to Edward P. Manson.

It is ordered, that the proofs of said instrument, and the said petition, be heard before this court, at the Probate Office in the City of Crookston, in said county, on Tuesday the 13th day of June A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when all persons interested may appear for or contest the probate of said instrument;

And it is further ordered, that notice of the time and place of said hearing be given to all persons interested, by publishing this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 15th day of May A. D. 1893.

By the Court,
C. M. BENSON,
Judge of Probate.

[5-7]

REPORT OF THE CONDITION
—OF THE—
Scandia-American Bank
At Crookston, in the State of Minnesota, on the 6th day of May, 1893.

RESOURCES

Bills receivable	$226,660.77
Overdrafts	1,913.34
Due from other banks	7,151.70
Furniture and fixtures	1,000.00
Current expenses and taxes paid	3,596.40
Cash on hand	11,650.09
Total	$251,972.30

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$50,000.00
Surplus	5,000.00
Undivided profits	25,778.95
Individual deposits subject to check	51,845.67
Demand certificates of deposit	75,847.68
Bills Payable	43,500.00
Total	$251,972.30

I, J. W. Wheeler, Cashier of the Scandia-American Bank, of Crookston, Minnesota, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

J. W. WHEELER, Cashier.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk, } ss.

Sworn and subscribed to before me this thirteenth day of May, 1893.

{SEAL.} A. M. CHILDS, Notary Public. Polk County, Minn.

Correct—Attest:
L. ELLINGTON,
O. H. LUCKEN, } Directors.

THE CROOKSTON
GROCERY CO.
W. E. SLOCUM, Manager.
IS NOW
OPEN FOR BUSINESS.
BIG
BARGAINS IN
GROCERIES, CROCKERY AND LAMPS.
AT THE OLD STAND
OF BARNES & SLOCUM
On Robert Street, Crookston, Minn.

THIS SPACE
BELONGS TO
L. I. BENOIT,
THE
Cheap Cash Grocer
Who will use it to keep Journal readers posted on the
BARGAINS HE OFFERS.
Don't take our word, but call and see
L. I. BENOIT,
At the New Store on Broadway, Crookston, Minn.

FREE HOMESTEADS

In the Saskatchewan Valley.

160 acres free to all males over 18 years of age in the beautiful Saskatchewan valley, where wheat goes 40 bushels to the acre and potatoes 600 bushels, and hay cuts from three to four tons an acre. Plenty of timber for buildings, fencing and fuel. First-class soil and water. Good railroad facilities. Fine climate and good markets and where taxes are only for school purposes. For full information apply to

C. A. MUNSON,
Colonization Agent,
Commercial Hotel, Crookston.

A Snap.

The Red River Valley Loan and Investment Company has for sale a half section of land situated two miles from the city limits, good buildings, artesian well, 80 acres fenced, land all broken except about 10 acres in grove. Been used as a stock farm and admirably adapted for that purpose, as being close to the city it is available as a milk and dairy farm. Improvements upon the farm alone cost over $4,000 and it can be had for $6,400. A cash payment of $2,000 will secure the place and purchaser can have a reasonable time on the balance, or for cash a liberal discount will be made. Owner desires to invest his means in other business. Inquire of August George, opera house block. [1-tf]

Of Interest to Breeders.

Dr. J. Warninger, V. S., has just received a set of the latest improved parturition instruments. With the aid of these instruments he can deliver the foetus in short order without injury to the animal. The instruments are the most serviceable where the colt or calf is dead and so located that it becomes necessary to remove it in sections. This is not often the case and for this reason very few practitioners are prepared with the proper instruments to meet a case of this kind. [2-5]

Swedish Lutheran Jubilee.

Northern Pacific make reduced rates to Minneapolis, for the Swedish Lutheran Jubilee Festival, to be held at Minneapolis, May 22nd and 23rd, we make rate of fare and one-third on certificate plan, provided there are one hundred or more in attendance, who have paid full fare on the going trip.

C. A. SHARLEY,
Agent.

World's Fair Rates.

The Northern Pacific railroad company has made a rate of $32.55 from Crookston to Chicago and return. Dates of sale, every Monday and Thursday. Tickets will be limited to continuous passage in each direction with final limit of November 15th.

C. A. SHARKEY,
[3 tf] Agent.

Notice.

To whom it may concern:

The undersigned has lost the following described promissory notes, to-wit: one note for $400 given November 28th, 1892, due Dec. 1st, 1893; one note for $300, same date, due Dec. 1st, 1894. and one note for $400, same date, due Dec. 1st, 1895, all given by Onizime Capistran to A. O. Danielson.

Now, therefore, all persons are hereby warned not to purchase or negotiate said notes, they being the property of the undersigned.

[3-5] A. O. DANIELSON.

Money to Loan

On city property, business and dwelling—at 6½ per cent per annum. For full particulars call on P. J. Russell, 25 and 26 Reckitt block, Crookston, Minn. [47tf]

Lane's Medicine Moves the Bowels Each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary.

The Grand Central Railroad Station Chicago

is being fitted up for hotel purposes during the Wold's fair. This magnificent fire proof structure located at the corner of Harrison street and 5th avenue in the very heart of the city, will devote the 3rd, 4th, and 5th floors to this purpose. It will be run on European plan. Each room will have hot and cold water, electric lights and be steamed heated. The office and ladies parlors, etc., will be located on the 3rd floor and the building will be supplied with all modern conveniences. There will be from 100 to 200 rooms for guests.

This acquisition to the hotel facilities of Chicago will be appreciated by those who wish to be safely housed in a fire proof building, conveniently located in the city itself. Those desiring accommodations can secure them by addressing Mr. T. C. Clipford the manager at Chicago. The hotel will be opened May 15th, 1893. The grand central station is the Chicago depot of the Northern Pacific railroad, Wisconsin Central Division, and by taking that through car line to the World's fair city, visitors will avoid the discomfort of transfer of themselves and baggage through the city. [4-6]

World's Fair Rates.

Northern Pacific Railroad Co. has made rate of $32.55, Crookston to Chicago, and return on sale daily with final limit of November 15th.

C. A. SHARKEY,
[4tf] Agent.

MET A FEARFUL DEATH.

Accident in a Michigan Mine Results In the Loss of Ten Lives.

HOUGHTON, Mich., May 15.—Ten timbermen were dashed to pieces in Red Jacket perpendicular shaft of the Calumet and Hekla mine at noon. The miners were coming up in the cage to dinner and the engineer hoisted the cage against the timbers of the shaft. The coupling pin broke and the men and cage dashed downward over 3,000 feet to the bottom.

The cause of the accident was a faulty indicator which did not show the brakeman in charge of the apparatus when the cage reached the top in time and when the iron car struck the beams at the top the iron rod by which it was suspended snapped, letting the cage and its occupants to the bottom

ONE SOLID BANK.

A Run Begins on the Farmers and Mechanics at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 16.—A run on the Farmers and Mechanics bank began immediately on opening, and at 11 o'clock there was a line of 100 small depositors waiting to draw their money. The bank is one of the most prosperous and solid in the state and no fears are entertained for its safety. The officers have $800,000 in cash in the vaults, and $2,000,000 more in easily convertible bonds now quoted at a premium. It is not possible to draw out more than $100,000 a day, so that the bank is able to stand a run for a month. The same bank had a run six years ago and withstood it well. It has now over 22,000 depositors.

ANOTHER AT CHICAGO.

The Columbia National Bank Forced to Suspend Payment.

CHICAGO, May 12.—The Columbia National bank has suspended. In a report of the bank's condition made by its officers at the close of business, May 4, the deposits were stated to be nearly $1,500,000. The capital stock of the bank is $1,000,000.

CHICAGO, May 12.—As a consequence of the suspension of the Columbia National, the following banks, all controlled by it, have also failed: Commercial bank of Brockston, Ind., (copartnership concern); Bank of Dunkirk, Ind., (co-partnership); Bank of Greenwood, Ind., (not incorporated); Commercial bank of Morristown, Ind., capital $25,000; Commercial bank of Russiaville, Ind.; City bank of Edwardsburg, Mich.; Union bank of Richland, Mich.

Bad Failure at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 12.—The Capital National bank of this city has suspended.

The Columbia Will Resume.

CHICAGO, May 16.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Columbia National bank during the day it was unanimously resolved to resume business at an early date.

Plankinton Scare Over.

MILWAUKEE, May 16.—The Plankinton bank opened its doors at 9 a. m., one hour earlier than usual. There was only a small crowd waiting for their money. There is no excitement and the flurry has completely subsided.

THEY MADE MONEY.

Sioux City Salvation Army Men Confess to Counterfeiting.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., May 15.—George Hellett and George Mason, Salvation Army men, were arrested here with counterfeit silver dollars, quarters and halves in their possession. Hellett confessed that he and Mason, with three McCarty boys at Council Bluffs, belonged to a gang that have passed large amounts of counterfeits in Omaha, Lincoln, Council Bluffs and this city. They took the police to a house on Lafayette street fitted up for their business, where a large number of dies and a quantity of metal and tools used by them were found and confiscated.

Quarreled Over a Ball Game.

WINNIPEG, May 16.—During a base ball game on a farm near Deloraine two players, named Greenway and Walton, quarreled, and the former drew a knife and stabbed the latter 11 times. Walton's condition is critical.

LATEST MARKET PRICES.

St. Paul Union Stock Yards.

SOUTH ST. PAUL, May 16, 1893.

CATTLE—Quiet: best butcher cattle in good demand; others slow; stockers and feeders steady. Prime steers, $4.25@4.75; good steers, $3.75@4.15; prime cows, $3.25@3.75; good cows, $2.75@3.20; common to fair cows, $1.75 @2.50; light veal calves, $3.00@4.50; heavy calves, $2.00@3.00; stockers, $2.40@3.25; feeders, $3.00@4.00; bulls, $2.00@3.00.

HOGS—Not enough received to make a market, and receipts will be held over.

SHEEP—Steady. Muttons, $3.75@4.75; lambs, $4.00@5.25; stockers and feeders, $3.00@4.50; Receipts: Cattle, 35; hogs, 47.

Minneapolis Grain.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 16, 1893.

WHEAT—July opened, 69⅛c; highest, 69⅛c; lowest, 68⅝c; closed, 68⅝. September opening, 73c; highest, 71⅝c; lowest, 71⅝c; close 70⅝c. On track—No. 1 hard, 69⅛c; No. 1 Northern, 67⅛c; No. 2 Northern, 65⅛c.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO UNION STOCK YARDS, }
May 16, 1893. }

CATTLE—Market about steady.

HOGS—Market weak. Heavy, $7.30@7.50; mixed and medium, $7.25@7.50; light, $7.15@7.50.

SHEEP—Firm.

Receipts: Cattle, 14,500; hogs, 29,000; sheep, 14,500.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, May 16, 1893.

OPENING PRICES.

WHEAT—July, 76⅜c; September, 79⅛c.
CORN—July, 43⅛c; September, 44⅛c.
OATS—July, 29⅝c; September, 26⅞c.
PORK—September, $20.35.
LARD—July, $10.20; September, $10.72½.
SHORT RIBS—September, $10.02½.

CLOSING PRICES.

WHEAT—May, 73@73¼c; July, 75⅞c; September, 78¾@78⅞c.
CORN—May, 43c; July, 43⅝c; September, 44⅛c.
OATS—May, 29⅝c; July, 28¾c; September, 26⅞c.
PORK—May, $20.00; July, $20.25; September, $20.50.
LARD—May, $10.42½; July, $10.65; September, $10.92½.

Hood's Cures

Miss Edna Kyle
Chamberlain, South Dakota.

Works Like Magic

Rheumatism—Internal Pains and Aches—Perfectly Cured

"I must say that Hood's Sarsaparilla works like magic. I have for two years been very seriously troubled with rheumatism, suffering intense pains and aches. I tried all the remedies I could get, but all failed, until, having heard so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, I thought I would try it. The very first bottle did me a great deal of good, and I thought I must continue. I have been using regularly, and am now as well as anyone." MISS EDNA KYLE, Chamberlain, South Dakota.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, constipation, billiousness, jaundice, sick headache, indigestion.

Fits.

All fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St. Phila., Pa. For sale by all druggists; call on yours.

Farmers, bring your dressed hogs during the summer months to the Crookston Packing House and we will tell you the truth how you can realize the most money out of them.

[4-11] ROBERT STANTON.

WANTED SALESMEN TO represent us in the sale of our well known hardy and choice Nursery Stock for the North and west. Local or Traveling. Work every day in the year. Special inducements to beginners. Stock guaranteed. Good pay weekly. Apply quick, stating age, and obtain good territory.

ST. PAUL NURSERY CO.,
[4-7] St. Paul, Minn.

E. D. SCHRAEDER,
VETERINARY SURGEON.

HORSE DENTISTRY A SPECIALTY.

All calls receive prompt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed in all cases. Office: 319 North Main street, in connection with Livery house,

CROOKSTON, - - - MINN.

Notice of Final Proof.

LAND OFFICE AT CROOKSTON, MINN., }
May 3d, 1893. }

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register or Receiver U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on June 19th, 1893, viz: Jacob Weidenhoefer, Hd. 12,056, for the ne¼ sec. 30, twp. 151, range 47.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Julius Radl, William Seneke, Julius Zachge and George Bassler, all of Fisher, Postoffice, Minn.

[4-9] HUGH THOMPSON, Register.

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, April, 29th 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Margaret McLennau deceased:

Letters testamentary on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Jennie Miller of said county.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court, for examination and allowance, at the Probate office in the City of Crookston on Monday, the 6th day of November, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock, a. m.

It is further ordered, that six months from the date hereof be allowed to creditors to present their claims against said estate, at the expiration of which time all claims not presented to said court, or not proven to its satisfaction, shall be forever barred, unless, for cause shown, further time be allowed.

Ordered further, that notice of the time and place of the hearing and examination of said claims and demands shall be given by publishing this order once in each week, for three successive weeks prior to the day appointed for such examination, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said County.

Dated at Crookston the 29th day of April A. D. 1893.

By the Court,
C. M. BENSON,
[8-5] Judge of Probate.

MORTGAGE SALE.

(First publication April 13th, 1893.)
(Last publication May 25th, 1893.)

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE condition of a certain mortgage, containing power of sale, dated November 30th, 1885, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Polk county, Minnesota, on December 4th, 1885, in book 23 of mortgages, on pages 99, 100, 101, whereby Jean B. Lelande and Cleophie Lelande, his wife, mortgagors, mortgaged to Mary E. Towle, mortgagee, all those tracts of land described as follows, to-wit: The south east quarter of the northeast quarter, and lot one; all in section four, in township one hundred and fifty-one, of range forty-five, in Polk county, Minnesota, containing eighty acres more or less, by which default the power of sale has become operative, and no proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice $144.50, including interest and principal and taxes on said lands for the years 1885, 1886, 1887, 1888, 1890, 1891 and 1892, paid by the mortgagee.

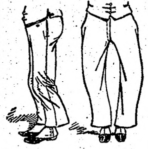
Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power said mortgage will be foreclosed and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of said county or his deputy, on June 10th, 1893, at ten o'clock a. m. at the front door of the Court House in the city of Crookston, in said county, to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, and $25 attorney's fees, and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated April 20th, 1893.

MARY E. TOWLE,
Mortgagee.

MONTAGUE & BUCKLEN,
[52-6] Attorneys for Mortgagee.

IT'S THE



Fault of the Merchant

IF YOUR

CLOTHING

DOESN'T FIT.

There's nothing extraordinary about your figure. It's an easy enough matter to take your measure, and it's just as easy to cut cloth according to the measure when taken. We can take your measure and cut the cloth without the possibility of a mistake.

YOU MUST SELECT THE MATERIAL however, and much depends upon the good taste you display in making a choice. It's no case of Hobson's choice in our store either, because our stock embraces all the materials SANCTIONED BY FASHION.

and if there is not something in it perfectly appropriate to you, then the appropriate fabric has not been made yet. We are showing the LATEST NOVELTIES FOR SPRING WEAR.

BOSTON
ONE PRICE
Clothing House,
Mossefin & Lindell, Proprietors.

King David.

This celebrated Clyde Stallion will stand for the season of 1893 as follows: Monday, J. B. Roome's; Tuesday, L. H. Judson's; Wednesday, Helmich Bros.; Thursday, John Sylvesterson's; Friday and Saturday at S. L. Collins' Stable, Crookston.

This full blooded Clyde Stallion was purchased of an old reliable firm who make a specialty of importing the best stock and blood that can be found in the old country. This horse was bought by the Andover Stock Company two years ago at a large expense and can show more A No. 1 colts than any other horse ever brought to Polk county. He is a round bodied, heavy limbed, horse of dark bay color and weighs over 1,700 pounds.

TERMS—Insure, $15; Season, $10.

For further particulars enquire of

A. E. HELMICH,
(1-8) Manager.

A. A. JUST, M. D.,
Homoeopathic Physician and Surgeon
OFFICE IN
McKinnon Block, Crookston

FITS STOPPED FREE
Marvelous success.
Insane Persons Restored
Dr. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER
for all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure cure for Nerve Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No Fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send names, P. O. and express address of afflicted to Dr. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. See Druggists. BEWARE OF IMITATING FRAUDS.

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, County of Polk—ss. In Probate Court, Special Term, April, 25th 1893.

In the matter of the estate of Steffen P. Nerland deceased:

On reading and filing the petition of C. O. Christianson administrator of the estate of Steffen P. Nerland deceased, representing among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

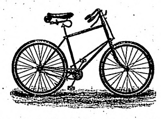
In is ordered, That said account be examined, and petition heard by this Court, on Monday the 29th day of May A. D. 1893 at 10 o'clock a. m., at the Probate office, in the City of Crookston in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the POLK COUNTY JOURNAL a weekly newspaper printed and published at Crookston in said county.

Dated at Crookston the 25th day of April A. D. 1893.

By the Court,
C. M. BENSON,
[8-5] Judge of Probate.

BUY A WHEEL EARLY



And get the benefit of full riding season. The Victor is the leader wherever known. Call and see one. We sell on terms to suit. We also have a line of low and medium priced wheels. We can suit anybody's pocket.

The Rushford Wagon still stands at the head; best material, best finish, best ironing, best paint, in fact it can't be beat.

Our usual line of Buggies, Carts, Harness, and other seasonable goods is complete, and prices right. Call and see.

MERIT WINS.

Larsen, Carpenter & Co.
Broadway and Robert St, Crookston, Minn.

CHRISTIANSON BROS.,
Abstracters of Title, Loans, Real Estate and Insurance

N. B. FARM LOANS a specialty. Terms, three to five years. Lowest rate of interest, payable annually at our office.
☞ Choice FARM LANDS for sale cheap, on terms to suit purchasers. ☜
Office on Robert Street, - - - - CROOKSTON, MINN

McKINNON BROS.,
—DEALERS IN—
ALL OF THE LEADING
Agricultural Implements
MAIN STREET. McKINNON BLOCK.
☞ Before Purchasing, Give Us a Call. ☜

THE WORLD'S FAIR OPENS MAY 1ST.

Are You Going? If so be sure and take out a Membership Certificate in "The Chicago Entertainment Bureau." It will save you Worry, Time and Money. Respectable and well located rooms at moderate prices guaranteed. Send for descriptive circulars to the

Minnesota and Dakota Headquarters, 618 AND 619 PIONEER PRESS BLDG., ST. PAUL,
N. T. HALL, Manager.

Partial List of References: HON. KNUTE NELSON, Gov. of Minnesota; HON. A. R. McGILL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; HON. W. R. MARSHALL, Ex-Gov. of Minnesota; RT. REV. W. N. GILBERT, Ass't Bishop, Diocese, Minn., and many other equally well known names.

THE PRESS
(NEW YORK)
For 1893

Has a larger Daily Circulation than any other Republican newspaper n America.

DAILY. SUNDAY WEEKLY.

The Aggressive Republican Journal of the Metropolis.

A NEWSPAPER FOR THE MASSES.

Founded Dec. 1st, 1887.

Circulation over 125,000 copies daily. The most remarkable Newspaper Success in New York. The PRESS is a National Newspaper. Cheap news, vulgar sensations and trash find no place in the columns of the the PRESS.

